CHEMICAL EMBOCATION

OR WHITWELL'S LIQUID IMPROVED OPODELDOC.

THE article here enumerated must not be considered as adding one more number to the already extensive catalogue of advertised Medicines; it is in fact an important improvement only, in a well known composition.

The Embrocation contains three of the most valuable articles to be met with in the whole circle of Medicine, never before employed in any other Opoelidoc, in addition to the other ingredients usually made use of in the hard kind, and will be found on experiment at least of three times its strength and effect. The money will be cheerfully refunded to those who, after having used one bottle, may think differently.

The Hon. Samuel L. Mitchell, M. D. LL. D. one of the first Medical Professors in the State of New York, has given a certificate.

Certificates also from several respectable citizens are annexed to the directions, who have received the greatest benefit from the Improved Liquid Opoelidoc, when they had previously used the hard kind to no purpose whatever.

This article is asserted to be a sovereign remedy in Bruises, Sprains, Gout, Rheumatism, Cramp, Numbness, Stiffness or Weakness of the Neck or Joints, Slight Burns, Scalds, Fresh wounds, Chilblains, &c.

For the use of horses and cattle in these cases, it may be considered as inestimable.

As the whole family of mankind are liable to these casualties, no prudent person should be without a bottle of it in their house.

It is prepared by J. P. WHITWELL, whose name is impressed on each bottle, without which it is not genuine.

N. B. In cases of acute Gout and Rheumatism, a tea spoonful on going to bed, taken inwardly, in a wine glass of cold water, has in conjunction with the external application of it, performed some most extraordinary cures.

CAUTION. Be on your guard against counterfeits, as spurious and vile imitations are in existence, manufactured by other people to their own names. Therefore be sure to ask for and receive "WHITWELL'S LIQUID IMPROVED OPODELDOC" which words are stamped on each bottle—Or you assuredly will be imposed upon.

Also may be had, that valuable and popular article, AROMATIC SNUFF, recommended by Doctor Waterhouse, which Snuff is so celebrated throughout the American continent, in cases of catarrh and head-ache, & which possesses that desirable property of sensibly stimulating the spirits without subsequent depression.

The above valuable Medicines may be had of RICHARD M. BARTLET, Agent, at the New Druggist Store nearly opposite Capt. Pine's Hotel, where also may be had DRUGS & MEDICINE, warranted of the first quality. All orders faithfully attended to and with dispatch.—Medicine Chests for vessels put up and replenished at short notice. Every favor gratefully received.

WHEATON'S Itch Ointment,

WHEATON'S Noted ITCH OINTMENT, which has stood the test against all other ointments, the price of which is now reduced from fifty cents to thirty-seven and a half.

ALSO—Wheaton's Jaundice Bitters, Davenport's BILIOUS PILLS

OR DEOBSTRUENT PHYSIC FOR the time these Pills have been offered to the public the sale of them has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the proprietor, which may be fairly considered an acknowledgment of their many virtues.

They are very justly esteemed for their mild and safe operation as a cathartic in all cases where one is necessary—they are a safe and sovereign remedy in all bilious fevers, pains in the head, stomach and bowels, indigestion, loss of appetite, dizziness, worms and bilious colic—they are likewise an antidote against infectious diseases, removing obstructions of every kind by dissolving and discharging the morbid matter, helping digestion, restoring a lost appetite—a sure relief for costive habits. They are so accommodated to all seasons and hours, that they may be taken in summer or winter, at any time of the day, without regard to diet or hindrance of business. Their operation is so gentle and effectual, that by experience they are found to excel any other physic heretofore offered to the public.

It will be proper here to notice, those only are genuine which are covered with a check-plate, with the design of the Good Samaritan, and the agent's name thereon.

50 bundles SHEATHING PAPER, for sale by LEAVITT & LAMPREY, Oct. 11. No. 2, Market Wharf

To the Honorable the Justices of the Court of Sessions within and for the County of Washington—

THE undersigned inhabitants of Houlton Plantation in said county, represent, that the settlement of the land within this state is believed to be a principal and important object with its government—that the affording the means of approaching these lands by opening roads through them, would greatly facilitate the attainment of that object—that the only means by which a considerable part of those lands lying on the river St. Croix or Schoodiac, can be approached, are, by passing through a trackless wilderness, or the slow, laborious and expensive one of ascending the river in boats—that there are now many persons ready and anxious to become settlers on those lands, and would be contented to settle there, if there were any tolerable convenient means of approaching them—that there is at Houlton Plantation, a large settlement the usual route to which is by entering the British Province of New Brunswick, ascending the St. John's river a great distance and thence crossing the country to said plantation—that there is at Limerick plantation also a settlement to which the route is similar and equally expensive and circuitous—that settlements are commenced on the Baskahagan stream—that the connecting the above named settlements with those on the tide waters of the St. Croix or Schoodiac by roads would greatly encourage and facilitate the settlement of the intermediate country—that the citizens of Houlton and Limerick plantations have no roads by which they can approach the shire town of the county; nor go to any place of market within the United States, nor receive the public papers and documents to which, as plantations, they are entitled—nor to return their votes for the state and county officers, whereby they are, in a degree, disfranchised—that there is a road commenced, leading from said plantations, southerly, towards the Baskahagan stream, and opened nearly or quite to it—that it is of the utmost importance to this county to have a communication by means of a road, from the tide waters of the St. Croix or Schoodiac river to said plantations.—Therefore, to facilitate the attainment of an object, great and important to the state: to increase its riches, strength and importance: to restore to a portion of our fellow citizens the enjoyment of those rights of which they are now, in a degree, deprived and to encourage and advance that is of special interest to this county. We pray that a public highway or road may be laid out from a point in the line between plantations number six and seven, where the road, leading from plantation number sixteen to number six, crosses said line, or from some other point in said line, in the most convenient, direct and suitable route to the road leading southerly from Houlton plantation to the said Baskahagan stream.—And as in duty bound will ever pray.

Signed by JOSEPH BOULTON, and 29 others.

WASHINGTON, 22.

Court of Sessions, Sept. Term A. D. 1823.

Upon the foregoing Petition, Ordered, that the Petitioners notify all persons interested, by causing an attested copy of said Petition and this Order thereon, to be published three weeks successively, in the Eastern Argus printed in Portland, and the Eastport Sentinel printed in Eastport, the last publication to be three weeks before the term of this court next to be holden at Machias within and for the county of Washington, on the first Tuesday of March next: that they may then and there shew cause, if any they have, why the said petition should not be granted.

To the Hon. Justices of the Court of Sessions for the County of Washington began and holden at Machias within and for said county on the third Tuesday of Sept. A. D. 1823—

WE the undersigned inhabitants of said county, beg leave to represent to said court, that a new road or public highway, from the county road (leading from Machias to Calais) near the dwelling house of John Cooper, in Cooper, through a part of said Cooper, and through a part of plantation number nineteen, and through a part of plantation number twenty, to intersect the road leading from Penobscot to Schoodiac (commonly known by the name of Black's road) near the dwelling house of Aaron Hanson in said plantation number twenty, would be of public utility and of great convenience to us. We therefore pray that a committee be appointed to view lay out and locate a public highway on said road—And as in duty bound will ever pray.

Signed by SIMEON FOSTER, and five others.

WASHINGTON, 22.

Court of Sessions, Sept. Term A. D. 1823.

Upon the foregoing Petition, Ordered, that the petitioners cause the town clerk of said town of Cooper to be served with an attested copy of said petition and this Order thereon, and also cause a like copy to be published in the Eastern Argus printed in Portland, and the Eastport Sentinel printed in Eastport, three weeks successively, the said personal service to be three weeks at least before the term of said court to be holden at Machias within and for said county of Washington on the first Tuesday of March next: that all persons interested may then and there appear and shew cause, if any they have, why the said petition should not be granted.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Court of Sessions within and for the County of Washington—

THE undersigned inhabitants of Cooper Plantations number six, seven, sixteen, twenty in said county, represent, that there is on public highway or road from within the limits of the town of Calais in said county direct to any of the plant's on the west or north of said town: that the inhabitants of several of said plantations and of several townships yet unincorporated, must, from their relative situation to Calais, go there as a market and outlet for all the surplus produce of their soil and other articles, and also must go there as the inlet and place of deposit for all their articles of importation; that there is, at present, considerable intercourse and trade between said Calais and said plantations, though from the want of a public highway it is much restrained, slow, tedious, expensive and circuitous: that the only mode of communication between said Calais and said plantations is by passing without the limits of the United States into the British Province and over the roads within that Government, or else by procuring boats, and passing on the river St. Croix or Schoodiac, and even then the citizens are obliged to pass without the United States into the British waters; that the same evil attends the ministerial officers of Government; that there is now a road or highway from Machias into the town of Cooper, that there is now a committee appointed to lay out a road from said road in Cooper to Calais, but as they are not authorized to pass within the limits of Calais which it is verily believed, was expected by the petitioners on whose petitions said committee were appointed, they have declined acting under their commission.—Wherefore we pray that a road may be laid out from said road in Cooper, to that public highway within Calais which lies on the river St. Croix or Schoodiac, and at some point on said highway at or near the village called Milltown to said Calais—And as in duty bound will ever pray.

Signed by W. M. VANCE, and 32 others.

To the Legislature of the State of Maine, to be convened at Portland on the first Wednesday of January A. D. 1823—

THEY with others were incorporated by an Act of the Legislature passed on the seventh day of February A. D. 1822, into a body politic by the name of the Proprietors of the East Meeting in Machias. That said law is so far deficient and inadequate to answer the purposes of the proprietors that they have never organized themselves under said Act.—They therefore pray that said Act may be repealed, and a new law passed incorporating them as aforesaid with such privileges and powers as are usually granted to similar associations.

TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Supreme Judicial Court.—On Tuesday last came on the trial of HITTY WILSON, indicted for the murder of JOHN VALENTINE.

It appeared in evidence that the deceased, whose parents reside in Boston, came to live at the prisoner's house in the summer or fall of 1822, at which time he appeared to be 6 or 7 years old, and was remarkably healthy and active. No marks of ill treatment were observable in the boy's appearance, till Feb. last, when some of the neighbours remarked a severe contusion under one of his eyes, appearing to have been occasioned by a blow. One of them observed scratches and wounds on his face and neck, and on examination found his back bruised in a cruel manner. The skin was broken in many places, some of the wounds were fresh, others appeared to have been inflicted some days previous. Several of the witnesses had observed similar marks of ill treatment, but in general were unable to state how they were received. Throughout the months Feb. and March, the boy had every appearance of being treated with extreme cruelty and neglect. He was obliged to go without shoes or stockings, in consequence of which his feet were badly frozen. He was often so hungry that he would devour any thing of the nature of food, and on one occasion was seen to eat a mixture of bran and brickdust that had been prepared for fowls. The prisoner confessed to one of the witnesses, that having missed some corn from a pot that was boiling over the fire, she accused the boy of having stolen it, and on his denying the charge seized him by the throat and choked him till the corn came out of his mouth. She sometimes listened the house against him in the coldest weather. Some of the witnesses had seen her beat him—one of them saw her knock him down. For a month or two before his death he was observed to be in a very languishing state, and it appeared to the witnesses that he could not exist much longer under such treatment.

On Saturday, the 12th of April, the boy was missing. The prisoner stated to some of the witnesses that he left the house early that morning, to carry some old iron to the river, and that she suspected he was drowned. Search was made, and his hat found floating among the ice. J. Stockbridge, who lived with the prisoner, and was uncle to the boy, stated that he was absent from home on Thursday the 10th of April—that he returned on the afternoon of Friday, and was informed by the prisoner that the boy was dead—that he proposed calling in the neighbors—that she told him he had better not do so, as she had already been threatened with a prosecution for ill treatment of the boy, that she had been absent from the house, and on returning found the boy dead, and that she tried to restore him by giving him herb drink, but to no purpose—that he was advised by the prisoner to put the body in a sack with some stones and throw it into the river, which he accordingly did on Friday night, throwing the hat among the ice, that it might be supposed the boy was drowned.

To show the murderous intentions of the prisoner, it was proved that she often used menacing and opprobrious language in reference to the boy, such as the following, "If he does not die before spring, I will kill him." "If he had been my own child, I would have killed him before now." "He is not a human being, he is one of the devil's imps. It would be no more harm to kill him than a black snake." "It would be doing God a service to kill him," &c. &c. But it also appeared, that she was in the habit of using vile language when in a passion.

The cause was conducted by Mr. Foote, Attorney Gen. and the prisoner was defended by Messrs. Bond and Orr.

Verdict—Not Guilty.

NEW-YORK GRAND CANAL.

This herculean undertaking—devised and recommended by the gigantic mind of one of the first statesmen of the age, whose persevering industry, enlightened and expanded views, have been nobly seconded by the public spirit and munificence of his native State—is now opened and navigable for 360 miles! Thus, in a little more than six years, at an expense of about six millions, this prosperous Sister of our Republican Family, has been able to open a capacious Canal, thereby connecting our vast inland seas with the Hudson's majestic stream, making those wastes of water on the west lave the shores of the Atlantic, and affording an easy and direct communication between them.

The entrance of the first boat from the Grand Canal into the Hudson, was celebrated at Albany on the 8th inst. with every demonstration of joy and gratulation. Business was entirely suspended in the city during the day, the whole population, together with a vast number of spectators, collectively amounting to about 50,000 persons, being intent alone on witnessing the sublime spectacle. A deputation of 72 of the most respectable citizens of the city of New-York arrived in the steam boat, about 8 o'clock, accompanied by the officers of the Military Academy of West Point, and its excellent band of music, led by Willis. After being introduced to the Governor and other officers of the State, a procession was formed, and moved to the basin in the Hudson, at the termination of the Canal. At 12 o'clock the superb Canal Boat De Witt Clinton appeared, having the Canal Commissioners, and others, on board: followed by four other boats with ladies and gentlemen: when the top-stone of the Canal was laid by the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of the State, in ancient and ample form, bearing the following inscription:

ERECTED SEPT. 1823. DE WITT CLINTON.

President, Stephen Van Rensselaer, Samuel Young, Mycon Holley, Commissioners. H. Seymour, Secretary. William C. Bourk, Benjamin Wright, Chief Engineers. George W. Young, Assistant. And Peter Stewart, Builder.

Then followed the ceremony of pouring into the Canal a bottle of water from the Pacific, and another from the Atlantic ocean, with an appropriate address from Dr. Samuel L. Mitchell: when the lock was opened, and the boat De Witt Clinton passed through, towed by twelve full-manned barges, and piloted into the river by Capt. Dagget, aged 84, and who piloted the fleet of Count De Grasse into the Chesapeake previously to the capture of Lord Cornwallis. She was saluted by a general discharge of artillery, and the loud huzzas of the assembled thousands. After the boat was towed through the basin into the North river, she was again saluted from the steam boats, &c. elegantly decorated for the occasion, and again welcomed with enthusiastic cheers.

The Commissioners then landed, when a grand procession was formed, embracing the City and State Authorities, Canal Commissioners, Members of Congress, United States Officers, Military Association, Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, the Society of Cincinnati, and seven other Societies, citizens, and strangers. The Canal Commissioners, &c. were then conducted to a pavilion, where prayers were offered by the Rev. Dr. Chester, an address delivered by Mr. Dudley, Mayor of Albany, to which Mr. De Witt Clinton replied. An address from Wm. Bayard, Esq. Chairman of the New-York delegation, and a reply by Wm. James, Esq. in behalf of the citizens of Albany, succeeded. Entertainments were provided at several places; and in the evening there was a splendid ball, and a brilliant display of fireworks.

The London Times, in giving a very flattering notice of this "monument of public spirit and national prosperity," asks—When shall we see the inhabitants of a small province of any of the torpid and priest-ridden monarchies of continental Europe execute such a work by their own spontaneous act, and with their unassisted resources?—The canal, which extends from Black Rock at the east end of Lake Erie; to Albany, will render the Hudson river the chief—almost the sole outlet, and New-York the great emporium of a fertile country extending along the lakes, much larger than the British Isles, and fast filling up with inhabitants. Proceeding eastward from Lake Erie, the Canal rises 43 feet, and from the summit's level falls 601 feet to the Hudson, make an aggregate rise and fall of 644 feet, which is effected by 77 locks. Two levels or reaches extend over 65 and 70 miles without a lockage, a circumstance perhaps without parallel, except in China. The stimulus it gives to improvement is already seen in the villages and towns which are springing up with astonishing rapidity along its whole course.

It is not difficult to see that this Canal, with the one connecting Lake Champlain and the Hudson, will even have a certain political effect on the British American possessions. These two canals afford a much readier channel than the St. Lawrence for the exportation of wood, flour, and other articles, from the Canadian as well as the American side of the Lakes, and with this farther advantage, that they are shut by ice only three months and a half, whereas the St. Lawrence is shut nearly six months in the year. They will therefore connect the Canadians more closely with the Americans by the ties of mutual intercourse and interest, and even render the former in some measure dependent on the latter for their produce.—*Hav. SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

On Sunday evening last, between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, the horse of Mr. JOHN WHITMAN, of Milburn, was discovered to be on fire; and, awful to relate, all his children, 5 in number, perished in the flames. The parents were from home at an evening lecture. It is supposed that the children retired early to bed, and were all insensible of the danger that awaited them till too late.

The scene was truly appalling; to see the bodies of the unfortunate children, enwrapped in flames, falling from the chamber into the cellar, while the parents, distracted with grief, were with difficulty kept from rushing into the fire. Their names were as follows.—Betsy aged 20, Warren, 19, Mary, 16, Orinda, 12, and Ascenith, 6 years. Their remains were interred on Tuesday in one grave. A very solemn and appropriate discourse was delivered by Elder Joseph Merrill, from 1 Peter 1. 24, 25, to a large and attentive collection of people.

EASTPORT:

SATURDAY, NOV. 1, 1823.

LAUNCH.—On Saturday last was launched from the Ship-Yard of JOHN BREWER, Esq. in Robbinston, the elegant copper-fastened ship GEM, of 325 tons, owned by JOSATHAN BARTLETT, Esq.

Latest from Europe.

London papers to the tenth of September have been received at St. John. C. diz still holds out, and if we can determine any thing, says the "Star", amid a variety of contradictory statements, we may infer that it will not easily be brought to surrender. The affairs of the Greeks, are in a prosperous state. Notwithstanding the representations of the Turks to the contrary we have every reason to believe that they are in a state of union, and that with a determination and success which have seldom been paralleled they make common cause against the enemy.

Sir HOWARD DOUGLAS is appointed Lieutenant Governor of the Province of New-Brunswick.

THANKSGIVING DAYS.—In this State, Massachusetts, and New-Hampshire on the 29th Nov. In Connecticut, 27th Nov. In New-York, 16th Dec.

IMPORTANT FROM PERU.

The brig Cora, arrived at New-York, sailed from Callao on the 29th of June. Capt. Baldwin, commander, informs, that the Spanish forces under CANTERAC and VALDIZ, about 7000, entered Lima on the 13th of that month. The Peruvian troops about 4000 strong, and many of the inhabitants had retired from the city, and no resistance was made on the entrance of the enemy. The patriots fled for Callao, with the most valuable part of their goods and property.

On entering the town, Gen. Canterac demanded of the inhabitants 300,000 dollars in money, and a quantity of deck clothing and arms for his troops.—The money and clothing were furnished, but the arms were not supplied.

On the 25th June, the Spaniards made an attack on Callao, but were repulsed with some loss.

At the departure of the Cora, the Peruvian Congress was about leaving Callao for Huanchaco, which place was to be the seat of Government during the occupation of Lima by the Spaniards.—The Patriots were fitting out another expedition to reinforce Gen. St. Cruz at Arica. Gen. Sotomayor, a Colombian officer, was appointed commander in chief at Callao, and invested with the entire command during the absence of the Congress.

The Cora left Rio Janeiro Aug. 29th. During her stay there, the ship Fanny, Basset, of New-York, arrived in 33 days from Callao, with advices to the 10th of July. At that time, Gen. Canterac had withdrawn about half his troops from Lima, who had marched for the interior, to meet the Patriots under St. Cruz.

The Congress had been in secret session for three or four days, and great anxiety existed among the people.

ARRIVAL OF COM. PORTER.

The Savannah papers of the 9th inst. announce the arrival there of the Steam Galliot, Sea Gull, Com. Porter. She left Thompson's Island on the 16th September, and after experiencing a series of heavy N. and N. E. gales, being nearly out of provisions and reduced to a quart of water per man, put into Amelia Island for a supply on the 3d of ultimo.—She was piloted from St. Mary's through the inland navigation in 37 hours, by Lieut. Payne, of the Charleston station.

Commodore Porter, we regret to state still labors under the effects of the severe illness with which he has been afflicted, which has affected one of his arms at the upper joint, in a painful manner. In other respects however, we are happy to state, he enjoys health. The remainder of the officers and crew are in the best health—not a case of sickness being reported by the surgeon.

On the 15th of September, there were 18 sick in the Hospital, at Thompson's Island—26 in the Marine Garrison, and about the same number of the Bargemaster—mostly malignant fever.

Dr. Conway, second acting surgeon of the Hospital, was the only medical man on the Island not down with the fever.—The Sea Gull left there with a surgeon and mate, both down with the fever.

The disease originated in the rapid decomposition of vegetable matter on the Island, during the hot weather, and after the heavy rains.

The crews were no doubt predisposed to receive it, from their having for nearly eight months been, (by some Custom-House regulations there) deprived of refreshments of all kinds. They have had, during that time, no fresh meats, and fruit and vegetables only twice.

The squadron has been ever since it left the U. States wretchedly off for medical aid. None of the small vessels have any whatever.

The disease at its commencement was found to be very much under the control of medicine; but several died, who, for the want of surgeons, could receive no medical aid whatever—some of them without seeing a Dr. from the time they sickened until they died.

New Post-Office Regulation.

Since the appointment of the new Post Master General, the concerns of that office are administered with a vigilance and attention which reflect the highest credit on Mr. McLean, and which, we have no doubt will operate much to renovate and increase the sunken revenues of the department.

By a circular, issued from the General Post Office at the commencement of the present month, we find that the publishers of newspapers and periodical works are required to make a return, under oath, at the end of every quarter, of the number of papers transmitted through the post office, and the places where sent to.

Although this regulation will impose some additional trouble on the publishers of newspapers, we look upon it as one of great propriety, and which will soon tend to prevent the many losses to which printers are now subject in sending newspapers to distant offices, where they are not taken out, and of which they are not apprised frequently until a considerable time has elapsed.

General Jackson is elected a Senator of the United States from Tennessee, in opposition to Colonel Williams, 33 to 25. Many had pledged themselves to Williams before the General was offered as a candidate, which accounts for the smallness of the majority.

FROM DEMERARA.

PORTSMOUTH, (N. H.) OCT. 18.—We have been favoured with the perusal of letters from Demerara under date of the 31st of August, and 1st of Sept. The revolted Negroes were still in force in large bodies. At 1500 were in arms within a few miles of the town, and gave continual alarm to the inhabitants.

Delighted with his sumptuous fare, and casting back his recollections to the potato-feasts of the warm-hearted friends he had left in his native country, he determined to write them a letter and acquaint them with the great improvement of his fortune.

Shocking occurrence.—A letter from a lady in Paris, Oneida County, to her friend in Whiting, (Vt.) states that while four ladies were taking tea together near that place, two of them sickened and died at the table, and the other two died the next morning. On examination of the tea kettle it was found that a hard worm had been boiled in it, the poison of which was the cause of their death.—Com. Adv.

From the Farmers Journal. There is one gentleman among the candidates of whom it may be truly said, that he takes not one step from his ordinary course to obtain the suffrages of the people, and that gentleman is JOHN QUINCY ADAMS. Intent only on the faithful discharge of the duties of his present station, he seems totally unconscious of the contest which rages around him, and absorbs the attention of all the rest of the community.

George Johnson (an interesting young man, apparently about 21 or 22 years of age) was put to the bar. He had pleaded guilty to the indictment against him. It appeared he had robbed a gentleman at Mr. Banker's Tavern, in Broadway, of upwards of two thousand dollars.

JAMAICA, Sept. 6. By an advertisement in this day's paper, our readers will perceive, that a meeting has been called by his Honor the Custos of St. Ann's, for the purpose of taking into consideration the present state of this Island. An example which we think ought to be generally followed. It is not enough for the people of this colony to wait for the deliberation even of their representatives, at a time when their destruction has been threatened.—When the officers of the crown have broken thro' the most solemn duty of the Crown of the people, the protection of their property, and for which they ought to be impeached. At such a time the people are called upon to express their opinion boldly; it will tend to remove doubt, and to confirm resolution.

THE FOREST WARRIORS. A TALE.

"O, war! one of my wretched wrecks
Behold!—My soul with horror starts;
For not the least of thy effects,
Are ravaged feelings—broken hearts."

Such simple tales as the Forest Warriors, have often been told, and perhaps in a much better manner. Many affecting instances have been recorded, of the fatal effects of a ruthless war, and many more yet remains to be told. We need not go back to the grave of ancient years, nor seek them in foreign countries, when our own affords us so ample a share.

The characters introduced into this little story, are now "gathered into their fathers," and their bones are reposing among the congregations of the silent dead. And, although they once resided in this country, their history is known only to a few surviving friends.

William Belgrave had scarcely attained his twentieth year, when the late war between the United States and Great Britain commenced. He was respected by all who knew him, for his amiable manners and generous disposition; and but few young men possessed a greater share of strength and activity, or more intellectual talents and genius. He was born and brought up in one of the forests of which this state is so conspicuous, but a few miles from the spot where Columbus now rears her lofty head, which then contained but a few log buildings. He ardently loved the young and beautiful Lucy Chapin, and had solicited her hand in marriage, which was granted, and the day appointed for the solemnization of the nuptial ceremony. They were preparing for, and anxiously awaiting its approach, when he was called to defend his native state from the barbarous savage and the haughty Briton.

The rapid strides which they were making into our territory, compelled him to take a sudden leave of his home and friends.—He imparted the sorrowful news to his intended bride, in as tender a manner as possible, and encouraged her patiently, for he hoped soon to return again in peace and honor. The color fled from her beautiful cheek, and a tear bedewed her lovely eye, as he talked of leaving her; but it was of short duration; for she immediately formed the heroic resolution of following him to the martial camp, and share his fortune in the chances of terrific war. He endeavored to dissuade her, by portraying in the most glowing colors, and with faithful exactness, the hardships and trials which awaited her, in the event of her accompanying him; but she was inflexible in her purposes, and after various entreaties, on both sides, he reluctantly gave his consent.

Her fine auburn tresses, which hung in careless simplicity on her snowy neck were trimmed short, and the garments which designated the sex, were exchanged for a suit of men's apparel. But even in this disguise, a kind of native innocence and beauty was pictured in her countenance, which could never belong to the masculine sex; and, so much so, that after her enlistment, she was commonly called the "handsome recruit," by her military companions;—none ever even suspected her being any thing but a man.

When her parents discovered that she was missing, they made the strictest search and enquiry for her, but in vain, as no one could inform them of their fate.

But at length a letter was found, written by her, informing them that she expected to be absent a short time, when she would return, and entreat their forgiveness for her mysterious conduct; she concluded by requesting them not to be uneasy about her situation, as she was with a friend, who would protect her until they should meet again.

But, alas, poor deluded girl! how little did she think that their next meeting would be in another and better world; how little did she think in a few more revolving weeks, the blighted hand of death would lay her fondest hopes in dust;—or, that instead of the bridal bed, she should occupy the lowly mansions of the grave.

The company to which they belonged was soon marched to the lines. Lucy, who passed by the assumed name of James Thornton, had already become expert in all the manouvres and duties of a soldier; and she was often placed on some dangerous outpost as a sentinel. It was quite painful to the feelings of Belgrave, to see her exposed to so many hardships, altho' she bore them with the utmost patience; but it could not be remedied without exposing her real character, and endangering her unsullied virtue and integrity. They fondly anticipated the time, when their term of service would expire, which would be ere long, and leave them free to consummate their happiness at the altar, amidst the congratulations of their friends.—They were fortunate enough, however to be placed in one tent, which rendered the hours less tedious, and their duties less fatiguing.

On a dark tempestuous night, just before the memorable battle of Chippewa, Lucy was appointed to one of the furthestmost outposts of the American camp.—Ever faithful to her duty, she thought that she could distinguish the rapid, and almost silent approach of footsteps; as usual, on such occasions, she demanded in an austere voice "Who's there;" no reply was made, and according to orders, she discharged her musket towards the sound, as a signal, and hastily retreated towards the camp; a few hollow groans announced that she had not fired in vain. The drums immediately beat to arms, but the soldiers had scarcely grasped their deadly weapons, when they were attacked; but the enemy soon repulsed. Thus, by her vigilance, was our noble band of heroes preserved.

Love was the predominant passion of her heart; it had subdued all her feminine timidity, and benumbed all the gentler passions; it was this which had enabled her to enter into the sanguinary battle with calmness.

They were present at the engagement of Chippewa, which was fought on the 5th of July, and escaped unhurt. Nothing material happened to them until the 25th of the same month, when the ever memorable battle of Bridgewater was fought. They were under the command of the generous and gallant Col. Miller, when he received orders from General Brown to storm a battery which the enemy had on a commanding eminence.—This charge is said to have exceeded any thing experienced by the British soldiers even in Europe. Thrice were the Americans repulsed with great slaughter; the fourth charge was made, and they were crowned with victory.—They could not be driven nor withstood; and "had they been conquered, they would yet deserve honor; as victors they covered themselves with glory."

Lucy was among the number of wounded which was conveyed from the field. Upon examination, the wound proved to be in the right breast, and was pronounced mortal. It would almost be impossible to judge the surprise which was depicted on every countenance, when it was discovered that she was a female; an involuntary sigh burst from even the rude soldiers honest hearts. She was almost on the verge of death, when Belgrave rushed into the room like a frantic maniac, and advanced towards the spot where she lay expiring. She cast a look of unutterable tenderness towards him—the pulse of life seemed stayed for a few moments—she gave him her hand, and in trembling accents bade him remember her to her honored parents and friends—and taking a ring from her finger, she placed it on his, and faintly uttered a last farewell—her heart throbbled—ceased—then throbbled again, and ceased—forever!

She was beautiful even in death—a placid calmness pervaded her lovely features—the rosy tinge of youth still dwelt upon her cheek, and she appeared like a fair flower, plucked before its time.

He gazed upon her inanimate form, with the most poignant anguish—but he did not weep—he spoke not a word—but the "silver chord that bound him to existence was loosed," and the tender heart strings were broken;—he seemed like a drooping lily, shrinking before the all withering hand of time.

Shortly after this melancholy event, he obtain'd an honorable discharge and return'd home.—But the sad recollection of the past was deeply engraven on his mind; life became wearisome, and the world like a barren desert, afforded him neither comfort or consolation.—By degrees he lost the use of his natural reason and fell into a lingering disease, of which he died—the victim of a broken heart.

O, sweet be their sleep, and light the sod, that presses the forms of the Forest Warriors!

VELASCO.

Worthington, Sept. 9, 1823.

FRIENDSHIP AND LOVE.

The smiles of the summer no longer are glowing,
And dead are the blossoms which hung from the tree,
And dark from the mountains the streamlets are flowing;
And frozen the dew-drop that spangled the leaf;
But the tempest of winter may strip every bower,
And rife the verdure of garden and grove
We heed not the storm, though around us it lower,
Whilst the heart is devoted to friendship and love.

Dear social affection of Eden, still breathing
Thy magic can teach every landscape to bloom,
The bare waving branches with blossoms enwreathing,
And bid them the tints of fresh roses assume:
Then what! though no verdure embellish the bower,
Nor strains of sweet melody gladden the grove;
We fear thee not, Winter, we'll baffle thy power,
Whilst the heart is devoted to friendship and love.

The seven Wonders of the World!
Were lately exhibited at Washington City, in a new museum of natural curiosities.

- 1st. A widow, who at the age of 60, refused the offer of marriage.
- 2d. A dandy with only five cravats on his neck.
- 3d. A contented old maid.
- 4th. A lawyer of integrity.

- 5th. A moderate doctor's bill.
- 6th. A tailor who was never known to cabbage.
- 7th. A congress man that wished to adjourn the session when there was money in the treasury.—Slang. Her.

IMPROVED SCHOOL GEOGRAPHY.

LATELY published and for sale by RICHARDSON & LORD, No. 75, Cornhill. A new edition (the 23d) of MORSE'S IMPROVED SCHOOL GEOGRAPHY, accompanied with ATLASES. The publishers have now the pleasure of being able to state that the patronage which this work has thus far received has exceeded even their highest anticipation. A very large number has been sold within a short period, and its introduction is continually extending.—Instructors and School Committees who have not yet seen the work, are respectfully invited to call and receive a copy for examination. The plan and general merits of this Compend, have been noticed and approved by the following, amongst many other gentlemen:—E. Porter, L. Woods, and J. Murdoch, of the Andover Institution; Thomas Jefferson and James Madison, late presidents of the U. S.; Capt. A. Partridge, of the Military Academy, Norwich; Rev. J. Lyman, Preceptor, Merristown, N. J.; Professor Silliman, in his Journal of the Arts and Sciences; J. V. N. Yates, and Gideon Hawley, Esquires, late Superintendents of the Common Schools in the State of New-York, and by the latter in his Report, recommended for introduction into the schools throughout that State; Dr. Samuel L. Mitchell, New-York; Rev. Frederick Beasley University of Pennsylvania; Benjamin Farnsworth, Bridgewater Academy; Rev. Wm Allen, Pres. Bowdoin College; Andrew Mack, of the Academy, at Haverhill, N. H.

Parsons Cook, of Westfield Academy, writes thus, "I deem it no disparagement to the excellent systems of Geography now in use, to say that this (Morse's) is superior to any; and I shall accordingly take measures to introduce it into the Academy in this place."

Simeon Colton, Preceptor of Monson Academy, writes as follows, "I have taken some pains to compare it (Morse's Geography) with others of a similar design, and I do not hesitate to say, that in my opinion, this has the advantage over all I have seen. The name of Morse undoubtedly stands at the head of the Geographers of his country."

Letter from Stephen Farley, Preceptor of Atkinson Academy.

"The work (I. & S. E. Morse's School Geography) is one of which I highly approve.—It certainly possesses uncommon merit. In materials, the book is rich; in plan, judicious; in execution, classical, able and happy. The distinctions and classifications, in this work, grounded on natural phenomena and situation, (a point which seems to have been strangely and almost entirely disregarded by Geographers generally) is a peculiar excellence.—The tabular department is a treasure inestimable. Those tables, by which the peculiar productions and the commercial intercourse of the various portions of the globe are indicated, have, in my view, very superior value. The work is worthy of extensive patronage, and will certainly receive it."

From John K. Young, of the Academy at Dover.

"I have examined Morse's Geography and Atlas as far as I have been able, but as they have already been recommended in the highest degree by the ablest judges, all that I could say would be superfluous. I will only add, that I have introduced the work into the academy under my care, because it is decidedly superior to every other of the kind with which I am acquainted, and that I shall take pleasure in improving every opportunity to recommend it."

Extract of a letter from Rufus A. Putnam, of the Academy at New Ipswich.

"I am much pleased with the author's plan. I think it well calculated to make this important science easy and interesting; and to render the knowledge acquired by such study, comprehensive, permanent and useful. On the whole, I feel no hesitation in recommending this book to those who wish to obtain a general and systematic knowledge of the science of geography."

An ancient ATLAS adapted to this work, has just been prepared and is now ready for sale by the publishers, and the booksellers, generally, throughout the country; by Bliss & White, and Messrs. Collins New-York; Carey & Lea and A. Small, Philadelphia; Cushing & Jewett, Baltimore; E. & E. Hosford and Daniel Steele & Son, Albany.

Booksellers supplied by the hundred in sheets. The Geography is sold with or without the Atlas.

The above work is for sale at B. FOLSOM'S and E. LISLEY'S Bookstores. Oct. 11.
