DOC TQM at a glance

Wide range of topics discussed at DOC Quality Council meeting

• Training, budget issues, a report from the Communications PAT, and bureau TQM activities were among issues discussed at the Department of Conservation Quality Council meeting on April 12. Meeting highlights included:

- Marc Loiselle told council members that the DOC Communications PAT hopes to finalize its report at their April 19 meeting and present their findings and recommendations to the DOCQC at their May 3 meeting. Marc said comments and suggestions provided by employees through the PAT's survey provided important information. He said the group's report will address mistrust, lack of communications guidelines, delays, training and technology needs, and communications with seasonal employees.

- John Titus, BPR, and Tim Spahr, LURC, were among twenty-two participants at the state quality management facilitator's course in March. The training was developed as part of a program for certifying state meeting facilitators under the TQM model, which will also involve practical experience and follow-up seminars. John and Tim will be invited to apply their new skills as guest DOCQC meeting facilitators.

Bureau council highlights

• In March, the LURC Quality Management Council (LQMC) further refined meeting procedures, identified an initial list of council tasks, and had preliminary discussion on the nature of a vision statement that will relate well to the commission. The LQMC will begin drafting a vision statement on April 25.

• Public Lands staff are reviewing a draft vision statement, and offering suggestions for PAT topics in preparation for BPL's April 20 council meeting.

• The Bureau of Parks and Recreation Quality Council will meet on May 2. The agenda includes a discussion of the TQM session scheduled for BPR's spring meeting and continued work on the bureau's vision statement.

Ancyl Thurston receives SAF Award

Ancyl Thurston has received the Ernest M. Gould, Jr. Technology Transfer Award. The award was presented at the meeting of the New England Chapter of the Society of American Foresters in Burlington, Vermont. The award is made annually to a New England SAF member who has made outstanding contributions to natural resource science and management through education, extension or youth service. Ancyl was selected from several nominees by a panel of foresters representing all New England States and by his colleagues in Maine.

Ancyl, who recently retired, was hired as a Maine Forest Service "Farm Forester" thirty-three years ago this month. He worked as a forester until 1974- one year after the Department of Conservation was formed-when he was promoted to DOC's regional director in Island Falls. Following departmental reorganization in '77, Ancyl served the department in a number of administrative and technical forestry positions.

Merle Ring commended

Maine Forest Service Forester Merle Ring's customer service drew a recent commendation from a landowner in his district who was planning a timber harvest. Merle talked the landowner through the proper steps, directing him to professional help. "I do not think I have ever met a state employee that was as accessible and helpful as Mr. Ring," the landowner wrote.

Summer events planned

Spring may just be budding out at Maine's state parks and historic sites, but plans are already being made for a summer season filled with special events. Here are just a few:

- Fort Popham SHS - Aug. 10, Phippsburg Thanksgiving Dinner;
- Montpelier SHS- throughout the summer, events commemorating the arrival of the Knox family to live at Montpelier;
