

DR. W. N. MINER, CALAIS, MAINE.

A "Simple Life" exponent he,
 Down at Calais by the sea.
 Content is he with pleasures few;
 To ride or hunt or fish will do.
 One spacious home doth quite suffice
 (Supplied, of course, with all that's nice)
 He seldom cares abroad to roam,
 Far from the confines of his home.
 (A trip to Europe, now and then,
 Is relished by the best of men).
 Altho he loves a horse to see
 He keeps not more than two or three.
 Twelve hours per day, with magic skill
 He gives himself to cure the ill;
 This task complete, does what he can
 To serve his town as Alderman.
 His life plan: "Ever busy be!"
 And that is "Simple" you'll agree.
