

SEARLES GETS LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Dramatic Murder Case Preceded by Spicy Bigamy Case In Which C. C. Whitney Is Discharged.

Aged Mother of Harvey A. Searles Tells of Peculiar Mental Traits of Her Boy. She Is Mother of Thirteen Children and Nearly Seventy Years Old. Jesse Searles Chief Witness For State Against His Brother. Prisoner Sits Stolidly Gazing Into Space.

The continued term of the Supreme court opened at Farmington, Monday, Judge R. Savage presiding and the first case taken up was that of the state versus C. Carroll Whitney of Farmington charged with bigamy.

HARVEY A. SEARLES

On Tuesday the jury returned a verdict not guilty. It was rather a dramatic trial and there was a semblance of hissing in the audience when the report of the jury was given which was quickly suppressed.

E. E. Richards represented Whitney and made an able defense his closing argument being of superb diction and masterly in the marshalling of facts.

The court was crowded to hear the case of the state vs. C. Carrol Whitney, accused with bigamy. At the last term of court an indictment had been found against him based upon his marriage with Miss Justine Ripley on August 4 last, and a previous marriage, claimed to have been performed on board the steamer Bay State in Boston harbor on July 18, 1904.

Whitney denied that he had ever been married to the woman who brought this prosecution, who claimed that she was before her marriage to him Miss Melvina Boleau of Stafford Springs, Conn., and said in his defence that before the alleged marriage he had been unduly intimate with her and those relations had continued from their departure from Boston and their residence in Farmington, Temple, Strong, Kingfield and other places where they have lived as man and wife.

He boasted in cross-examination that his pretended wife and himself had fooled the people of these towns. He said that she had yielded to him and that for that reason he had brought her to Maine.

In outlining the prosecution the story was unfolded that Miss Melvina Boleau had met C. Carroll Whitney through an advertisement in a matrimonial paper and had invited him to her home, where he remained several days. On July 18, on his suggestion, she went to Maine with him, a previous engagement of marriage having been consummated at her home. They went aboard the steamer Bay State where tickets were purchased for Portland. Then Whitney borrowed all the money, five dollars, that this woman had. When she found that she was penniless she said that she consented to a marriage with him because he said that if she did not marry him then he would never see her again.

Whitney then left the steamer and returning in 15 minutes, presented to her a man who he claimed, was a minister, J. H. Griffin. She says there was no wedding ring, no prayer book, but that the man she claims as her husband asked her the loan of the ring she wore, which he presented to her as a wedding ring.

She says that she cried during the ceremony. Then they came to Maine and at Farmington he had told her that on account of his finances he would not acknowledge her but as his lady friend because the boys would like to have a celebration. She also told that on her way from Connecticut to Maine her husband, she now claims, had been drinking and that at various times since she had suffered from his intemperance.

The following witnesses were introduced by the state to prove relationship of wife between defendant and the woman: Anna A. Chandler of Temple said that he had introduced her as his wife and J. H. Wright of Temple testified that Whitney had told him that his wife, referring to the woman in the case, was dead. Several other witnesses were introduced who testified that Whitney had told them that his wife was dead and there were several men, among them, Wallace G. White and C. F. Myers of Kingfield, officials of the turning mill, who said that Whitney had applied to them for positions for himself and wife and that her name appeared on the pay roll as Mrs. C. C. Whitney. J. C. Terrill of Strong, superintendent of the toothpick factory, said that Whitney and wife, whom he recognized in court, registered at his hotel and were employed by him in the toothpick factory.

The state piled up cumulative evidence concerning Whitney's recognition of the woman as his wife.

After they left Maine evidence showed that Whitney had followed her to Hancock, Mass., where she was employed and there were directed the several letters, introduced by the state, to her to prove that he regarded her as his wife.

In one he said that his tears were falling so fast that he could not see the thread with which he was trying to sew on buttons, and in another that he wished that he had thrown himself from the roof of the hotel at Strong. In all of the several letters of which the court asked only as samples to be read, he addressed her as "your dear husband," "your tearful hubby," or "your loving Carroll."

In her cross examination by E. E. Richards she was unshaken and proved to be an excellent witness. She confessed that her parents were Catholics, but that she was not now because she had broken the tenets of her church. When Mr. Richards asked her if she still wore the ring that Whitney had given her, which he claimed was found while they were living in Strong, and approached her asking for it, she quickly drew it from her finger and proffering it to him, dramatically said: "Give it to him, this might be his ring. I don't want it."

She said that she had left him on account of his cruelty and his intemperance.

had been with this woman at her home in Stafford Springs and heard her tell her parents the same thing.

A most sensational admission on the part of Whitney was when County Attorney Blanchard asked him, "Did you intend when taking this girl from her home in Connecticut as your pretended wife, to travel through the little towns of Franklin county and to continue your nefarious life in the eyes and face

THE SEARLES CHILDREN, EMMA AND SHERWOOD

The question of the destruction of the marriage certificate was an important one in the case. She claimed that on Oct. 28th at Kingfield, after he had returned intoxicated from a baseball game, he had drawn out from his pocket the marriage certificate, which she said he had always carried and tore it into pieces; also overturning the stove and tearing his clothes frantically.

This Whitney denied saying that it was a letter he had torn and admitted that he was intoxicated on that day.

It was also brought out that when Whitney called at Hancock, Mass., where his alleged wife was living that he was arrested for intoxication and he admitted it.

Tuesday morning E. E. Richards, counsel for Whitney, rather surprised the state by the presentation of a deposition from Flora C. Larrabee of Hancock, Mass., who said that one day in August, 1905, while walking with the woman claiming to be Mrs. Whitney the latter said that she had been married to Carroll Whitney in Stafford Springs, in August, 1905. Mrs. Whitney no 2 recalled by the state admitted having known Mrs. Larrabee but denied having told of her marriage.

The defence alleged through Whitney that the woman, Boleau, had written her parents that she was married by a Catholic priest in Farmington in 1905 and Whitney on the stand said that he

of the public?" To this Whitney answered "Yes."

In explanation of his addressing her as "wife" Whitney explained that his reason for doing so was because he feared that she would destroy the home in Hancock, Mass., where she resided, and used those terms of "wife," to coax her back to Maine.

At this the court turned towards the prisoner and Judge Savage asked him in caustic language what he meant. The respondent gave confused answers.

The trial of Harvey A. Searles, of Rangeley charged with the murder of his wife, Phyllis, July 14 last in Chesterville by shooting, occupied the center of the stage in Maine this week and Judge A. R. Savage presided at the special adjourned September term of court at Farmington.

After the Searles case had proceeded until 10 o'clock Thursday morning, Dr. Sanborn of Augusta taking the stand testified that Searles, in his opinion, was sane at the time of the commitment of the crime.

Upon advice of counsel Searles retracted his plea of not guilty and plead guilty.

He was thereupon sentenced to Thomaston State's prison for life.

It took about an hour to empanel the jury which was chosen as follows:

W. W. Small, Farmington, Foreman
George Ramsdell, Weld.
E. C. Judkins, Carthage.
Daniel P. Hobart, Farmington.
B. Erank Savage, Avon.
Manning E. Titcomb, Farmington.
C. E. Berry, Salem.
A. V. Hinds, Kingfield.
Dennis L. Nile, Dallas Plantation.
S. G. Woodcock, Farmington.
E. M. Gile, Rangeley Plantation.
Dennis H. Smith, Farmington.

Attorney E. E. Richards, counsel for the prisoner challenged 15 and the state 9. Grouped inside the court rail were many leading attorneys of the state and among the distinguished listeners were Drs. Sanborn and Mitchell of Augusta under whose observation Searles had been five weeks.

Their report after hearing the evidence will have a bearing upon the fate of the prisoner.

The defense was insanity, Attorney Richards presenting its outline in a series of questions to the panel of jurors.

In the course of the trial the defense called Mrs. Annette Searles, mother of the prisoner, who remained on the stand over an hour and who caught the sympathies of the jury. She had given birth to 13 children she told the jury and several of them had shown peculiar mental traits. Harvey had always been a victim of fits and had frequently violent attacks. He frequently would show a disposition to sleep for hours in an unnatural manner.

His temper was abnormal and his peculiarities were always a cause of worry to his parents. Mrs. Searles gave testimony concerning others of her children who had developed signs of insanity and said that one had died in the insane asylum. She burst into tears when under cross-examination by Assistant Attorney General W. C. Philbrook who called her attention to testimony given at the hearing last July in which she said that Harvey had an ugly temper to which all his troubles were due.

JESSE SEARLES

Jesse Searles, brother of the prisoner, who was shot in the head in the course of the tragedy and who is said by Harvey to be the cause of the troubles, after telling the story of the tragedy for the State, admitted on cross examination that Harvey had frequent violent attacks of fits and that he would frequently sleep for 24 hours and would become numb. He was of an extremely jealous disposition and had from the day of his marriage with Phyllis Batchelder been extremely jealous of her.

Women Avoid Operations

When a woman suffering from female trouble is told that an operation is necessary, it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the hospital, the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart.

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after an operation has been decided upon as the only cure. The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who by taking made from native roots and herbs, have escaped serious operations, as evidenced by Miss Rose Moore's case, of 307 W. 26th St., N. Y. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me of the very worst form of female trouble and I wish to express to you my deepest gratitude. I suffered intensely for two years so that I was unable to attend to my duties and was a burden to my family. I doctored and doctored with only temporary relief and constantly objecting to an operation which I was advised to undergo. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it cured me of the terrible trouble and I am now in better health than I have been for many years."

This and other such cases should encourage every woman to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before she submits to an operation.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.

MISS ROSE MOORE

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Sunday at the Union church was preached the farewell sermon of Rev. G. H. Woodward.

The sermon, which was an especially helpful one, was from the text, 1 John, iii, 11. "For this is the message . . . that we should love one another."

The aged disciple, John, had outlived all the companions of his young manhood, he was the sole survivor of that happy band of those who had lived with the Christ, hung breathless upon this teaching, witnessed the awful tragedy on Calvary, rejoiced in the triumph of His resurrection.

When John began to follow Jesus, the world had not heard of Him, Christianity was a term as yet unknown. Now, the Christian church had spread far and near upon three continents. The aged disciple had witnessed all this change and growth; he had been a part of it.

He knew of the conflicts waged between the church and paganism, he had witnessed the vengeful attempts of Judaism to crush its hated rival, he had seen turmoil and strife within the church itself; errors had arisen, heresies had taken root, false teachers had led astray the flock, jealousies and strivings had engendered bitterness and yet the church survived.

Though these things were true it was also true that the church had blessed the world, wicked communities had been regenerated, warped and crooked lives been straightened, slaves been freed, darkness had been driven away. And now, the beloved disciple, enriched by these wondrous experiences, his intellect made keen by much prayer and thought, his heart mellowed by long companionship with his Master was writing his farewell message to the world, yes, it was more than his farewell message, it was the final word of God to man, for these short letters of John really close the Bible, they were written after Revelations itself.

It was fitting then that these letters should express simply and concisely the whole essence of Christianity, and they do so, through them runs one theme, one central message summing up the whole.

The pastor in closing his message to his church attempts to sum up his message, and it is altogether appropriate and right that he copy the words of John—"For this is the message . . . that we should love one another."

Christian love is the fundamental doctrine of true religion, all things else are secondary.

Let us notice the lack in all other principles.

For a while he kept his eyes closed, refusing to look upon the awful scenes of cruelty, at last when the almost breathless tension became unbearable he yielded, opened his eyes and gazed upon the gladiators locked in their deadly embrace, their life blood streaming from their wounds upon the ground around, and in the awful intensity he forgot his loathing inspired by love and became again the cruel Roman.

There is the belief that doctrine is the centre of religion, that the most important thing in the world is to be able to subscribe to a long creed expressing minutely and heavily one's entire belief. But doctrine has miserably failed to transform lives. In Egypt of old, doctrine was given the preeminent place, their system of belief was the

THIS FAMILY RECOMMENDS THEM

Richmond, Me., Nov. 12, 1906. "Your Bitters have been used for a great many years in the family, and we highly recommend them."

Yours truly, L. A. Thurlow.

most ponderous and elaborate ever evolved, they had one whole system of religious philosophy for the upper classes, and an altogether different one for the common people, yet their lives were not ennobled.

Nor is ritual or ceremonial the necessity of true religion. The Ancient Hebrews had probably the richest ceremonial religion ever offered to the world as a substitute for true piety, nothing could be more awe-inspiring than the vision of the high priest clad in robes of regal splendor, in rhythmic stateliness having the smoking censor to and fro, meanwhile slowly leading the assembled priests around the sacred enclosure, but these same priests would go out to devour the heritage of the widow and orphan.

And law is not the essence of religion, the laws of Rome were noble, they became the foundations for almost all modern law, and yet the noble Roman senators would basely sell themselves to any debauchee who chanced to occupy the imperial throne.

But Christian Love had been successful where all these had failed, even in Nero's household—that abode of wickedness—there were saints, transformed by Christian love.

So let us today remember the impossibility of any of these other things transforming the world.

The church needs doctrine, but doctrine will never save.

Beautiful ceremony may sometimes help, but ceremony will not enlighten the mind.

Knowledge is a great good, but knowledge will never enkindle the heart.

Law is sometimes a helpful restraint, but law can never arouse the will.

Love is the one thing needful to both the church and the individual.

In the days of Rome a young nobleman was converted to Christianity, he gave up attendance upon the brutal gladiatorial contests, for a long time he withstood all the entreaties of his former companions, finally they seized him and carried him bound into a seat overlooking the arena.

Such a sight would not tempt us, we would never endure to look upon it, for we have behind us nineteen centuries of the tender influences of Christian love.

Love has transformed the world, is ever now transforming, and will continue its gracious work into the blessed future until righteousness and peace shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

Love in the heart—right love toward others is practically the only help toward personal regeneration, as the love of Jesus transformed the demoniac so today does love transform the brute, the tyrant, the debauchee, the cynic.

Let one of us leave home, join the army, go to a far heathen country where we have no obligations imposed by love towards others and the chances are, we will revert to brutes.

Love is the basis of true politeness—better than a library on etiquette. Love broadens our minds infinitely, for we enter others minds thereby.

Especially is love needed in the church. The need is not for noble and imposing architecture, not for the sweetest choir, not for learning and eloquence in the pulpit, the one great need of the church of today is for genuine Christlike love.

Let that love come, then will strife and discord be allayed, then will the church life be pleasant, then will its open doors shed abroad a light of compelling invitation, then and only then will it fulfil the purpose of its Divine Founder. "For this is my message—that we love one another."

Dancing Proves Fata

Many men and women catch colds at dances which terminate in pneumonia and consumption. After exposure, if Foley's Honey and Tar is taken it will break up a cold and no serious results need be feared. Reed's Mill.

There was no Sunday school last Sunday on account of the rain.

The recent rain raised the streams so that it was feared at one time the bridges over the Conant stream would go out.

Mrs. Warren Young entertained the young people at her home on Halloween evening in a delightful manner. People were somewhat startled on their way thither to meet spectres all in white, but in spite of all this, each arrived safely at his or her destination and were greeted by goblins both small and great. Projects of all sorts were tried, even the witch fortune teller was present dispersing fortunes both bad and good to all who cared to run the risk of entering her abode. After an evening spent in merriment all returned to their homes unanimously voting Mrs. Young a delightful entertainer and regretting that she is soon to leave us to make her home on the Pacific coast.

Miss Ella Conant spent several days at Andrew Davenport's last week caring for Miss May Davenport who is so very sick. Miss Davenport has the sympathy of the entire community by whom she is kindly remembered as a successful teacher.

Rev. M. S. Hutchins will preach at the church next Sunday at 2.30 o'clock. Remember the Sunday school at 1.30.

The community was somewhat startled Friday afternoon of last week to learn over the telephone that William Dunham's buildings were on fire. Every one who could be of any assistance rushed to their aid and by working hard with pails of water passed from one to another, the fire was kept from the house and barn, although the house was cleared of nearly all its contents. The stable and hog house near it were burned, one hog perishing in the flames. It is a great mystery how the fire originated, it first being discovered breaking out through the roof of the hog house.

Nelson—Libby.

On Sunday evening, Nov., 3, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Nelson, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Linnie, to Harold Libby, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Libby. Rev. M. S. Hutchins performed the ceremony using the simple ring service. Only the immediate relatives of both parties were present.

The bride looked charming in a dress of pale blue danish cloth, trimmed with white lace and wore white pinks in hair and on her left shoulder. The groom wore the usual black.

After the ceremony ice cream and cake were served and music on the graphophone enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Libby are both well-known Phillips young people, Mr. Libby having lived here all his life and is popular with all in town. Mrs. Libby has not lived in Phillips but three years but she has made many friends, and is much liked by all who know her. They will spend their honeymoon at H. F. Beedy's cottage at Long pond and will make their home at the residence of the groom's parents.

The couple received many beautiful and useful gifts.

MAINE WOODSMAN joins with a host of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Libby a long, happy and prosperous wedded life.

A Hard Debt to Pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equalled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips, L. L. Mitchell of Kingfield, Charles E. Dyer of Strong, E. H. New Vineyard Suicide

After leaving a note for his father reading: "I am worth more to you dead than alive," Frank Daggett of New Vineyard committed suicide by blowing off the top of his head with a shot gun in his room. The cause for the act and the explanation of the expression in the note were a mystery. He was the son of John Daggett.

The note which was written to the boy's father, was unsigned and was spattered with blood. The boy's father recognized the writing.

The boy had been ill some time ago with scarlet fever and his father had told him that the must get to work as soon as he could to help pay some bills. The boy seemed willing to do this. In his pocket was found $10.75.

rap at the outer door was the password for admission and the little ghost who answered the door did his part right nobly as did, also, the one in the upper hall who showed the guests in a ghostly manner where to dispose of their wraps. The entire house was lighted by the flickering gleam of the Jack-o'-lanterns. The lady ghosts were bid off at auction to the gentlemen paying the largest sum of peanuts. This was followed by a grand march after which goblins and ghosts reigned supreme. Many a tangled web was straightened, many a dark future made bright by the fortune teller who won fame at every step of Fortune's wheel as at the last happiness was assigned to each and all. Letter reading and many other games suitable to the occasion were indulged in. Refreshments were served and in the early dawn of November 1 a happy crowd wended their sleepy way homeward to live over in dreams the pleasures of the Hallowe'en eve of 1907.

An interesting session is reported by the superintendent and teachers who attended the convention at Farmington last week.

Rev. L. A. White, pastor of the F. B. church, was unable to attend service on Sunday, as he was suffering from a severe cold. In the morning at the F. B. church Miss L. B. Treadwell gave an interesting address on the interest of the Children's home in Augusta, which was followed in the evening by a union service.

Master Donald Norton was ill several days last week.

Sunday morning next in exchange with the pastor of the Grace Universalist church, Rev. J. S. Leiby, pastor of the Unitarian church, Farmington, will occupy the pulpit.

Mrs. D. L. Steine of Toledo was called here by the illness of her sister, Mrs. Wm. T. Blunt.

Hallowe'en eve Miss Gladys Pennell most pleasantly entertained a party of nine little friends at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Pennell. Dainty refreshments of homemade candies and fruit were served, and games appropriate to the occasion were much enjoyed.

E. M. Crocker and family have taken a rent in the B. P. Stevens house.

Signal Light Chapter, No. 81, O. E. S., was inspected by D. D. G. M. Mrs. Jennie E. McKenny of Livermore Falls at their regular meeting Wednesday evening of this week. They also entertained Somerset Chapter, No. 80, O. E. S., of Flagstaff. A banquet was served.

Farmers' Institutes In Franklin County.

Farmers' institutes for Franklin county will be held as follows: Monday, Nov. 18, Grange hall, East Wilton, at 1 p. m.; Tuesday, Nov. 19, Grange hall, Rangeley, at 10 a. m. and 1 p. m.; Wednesday, Nov. 20, Grange hall, Strong, at 2 and 7 p. m.; Thursday, Nov. 21, Grange hall, West's Mills, at 10 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Prof. F. W. Card, Sylvania, Pa., and Mr. Andrew Elliott, Galt, Ontario, the speakers who are being listened to with so much interest in other parts of the state, will attend these meetings.

Hon. D. H. Knowlton of Farmington, secretary of State Pomological society, will also be present. Some of the subjects which will be discussed are dairying, fruit culture, soil fertility and management, sheep on the farm, clover as a feed and fertilizer, opportunities for young men and women in agriculture.

Fire In Madrid.

The stable and shed adjoining the house of William Dunham in Madrid caught fire in some mysterious manner Friday night and were destroyed together with a quantity of hay, farming tools and a pig. The house was saved. The total loss is about $500 on which there was an insurance of $300.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak Nerves. The kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell.

NO PROSECUTION

Of Gentlemen Who Accidentally Killed a Cow Moose.

There will be no prosecution against Messrs. A. B. Thompson of Pittsfield, superintendent of the Seabcook & Moosehead railroad, S. C. Smith, a well known business man of Portland, and John H. Burleigh, a civil engineer of Waterville, who accidentally killed a cow moose when bringing down a bull near Moxie pond, Somerset county, recently, the commissioners being satisfied that there was no intent to break the law.

Immediately after the killing Mr. Burleigh reported the matter to Commissioner J. W. Bracket, who happened to be on a train on the Somerset railroad at the time and he pointed out the course which was to promptly report the matter to the chairman of the commissioners who has charge of prosecution.

VOTING CONTEST

for
A MODEL HUB RANGE.

The MAINE WOODSMAN has purchased a handsome $72.50 Model Hub Range and will give it away absolutely free to the lady receiving the largest number of votes.

The Model Hub Range is unexcelled as a sure and easy baker and cooker, and an economical consumer of either coal, coke or wood. The Model Hub Range is world-famous, and is well-known to the good cooks of New England, who have always lead and will lead the world. This Range is made by the Smith & Anthony Co., of Boston, which, in itself is a guarantee of good faith, and is sold by leading dealers everywhere.

This range will be given to the lady in Kingfield or New Portland who receives the most votes.

Conditions of the Contest.

The Model Hub Range will be given to the lady receiving the highest number of votes. There must be two or more contestants.

Vote coupons can be obtained only by payment of yearly subscriptions, old or new, at the office of the MAINE WOODSMAN or sent in by mail. To prevent trading among contestants, those receiving coupons should fill them out at once, preferably with pen and ink. No coupon will be counted upon which two names have been written, even if one of these has been erased.

Any contestant, or any friend of contestants, is at liberty to canvass for subscriptions, no matter where they may reside.

Collections may be made on old subscriptions by contestants or their friends and a certificate will be issued for every dollar so collected or turned in.

Subscription blanks, receipt blanks and other printed matter will be furnished the contestants for use in making a canvass or for making a collection, as well as lists of old subscribers, free of charge upon application.

The Range to be given away is a full size Model Hub Range, of the latest pattern, and will be delivered at the freight depot nearest the residence of the winner. The value of this range, at retail, is $72.50.

Don't wait for somebody else, but send in your votes at once and hustle for a range that is well worth your effort. Begin today.

One of the principal objects being the securing of new subscribers, we will give double value or forty coupons on every dollar paid on all new subscriptions. No coupons will be printed in the MAINE WOODSMAN. The only way to get votes will be by payment of subscriptions. If you pay at the MAINE WOODSMAN, office ask for your coupons. If you send by mail request that the coupon be sent you.

The date of the close of the contest will be announced later. Address all inquiries to Contest Department, MAINE WOODSMAN, Phillips, Maine.

THE apple crop in Franklin, Oxford and Androscoggin counties, despite the killing frosts, will be a bumper one. The export of Maine apples this year will be a record one. Franklin as well as Oxford, will put thousands of barrels of its frost bitten apples into vinegar. Thousands of barrels of apples are still unpicked in Franklin county. Many apple growers found themselves without barrels for the big crop.

Dorchester Daughters of Maine.

The Dorchester Daughters of Maine, held a very enjoyable meeting Oct. 24 and a large number were present and several names presented for membership. The first of a series of papers on the "Native Town" of the members, was read by Mrs. W. E. Pierce (Sarah Sanborn Pierce), president of the Weld club.

Her subject was "Weld" and the description she gave of her old home "Lea Meadow farm," once owned by the well-known Abbott family and beautiful picturesque Weld was very entertaining. As the motions for these papers were presented by Mrs. Pierce she received a hearty vote of thanks for the enjoyment they received. Mrs. Warren S. Perkins, followed with a short sketch of Pembroke, that proved very interesting. The next meeting of the club in November, will take the form of a luncheon and entertainment, at the home of Mrs. Anna McKenney 134 Babcock street, Brookline, Mass.,

I'm Falling

Thus cried the hair. And a kind neighbor came to the rescue with a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. The hair was saved! This was because Ayer's Hair Vigor is a regular hair medicine. Falling hair is caused by a germ, and this medicine completely destroys these germs. Then the healthy scalp gives rich, healthy hair.

A Queer Servian Belief.

To hatch a chicken by holding an egg for the allotted time in the left armpit is believed in Servia to be a certain charm against violent death, more especially if the bird be swallowed whole forty days after it comes to life. A robber who had devastated the district of Kolubara for many years was, writes a Belgrade correspondent, known to have accomplished both these feats, which accounted for the apathy of the peasants in pursuing him, persuaded as they were of his invulnerability. He was finally, however, killed by the mounted police, thus discrediting a time honored Servian superstition.

WELD GRANGE'S ANNUAL.

Harvey, however, admitted having loaned Phyllis money with which to leave Rangeley and gave the impression that he had more than a brotherly interest in her. He admitted that he had been ordered by his brother Harvey to stay away from his house, but he did not do so.

The recital of the story of the tragedy was most dramatic and was listened to with intense interest by the crowded court.

Especially was the interest great when Jesse told of Harvey meeting the team in which rode himself, Phyllis with Harvey's 18 months old baby Sherwood and 12 year old Bernice Morrill, on Sunday afternoon July 14 last. Harvey asked that he might kiss the baby which Phyllis refused. They had angry words and Jesse said that he left the team, leaving his bicycle and was recalled by Phyllis. Returning to the wagon he saw Harvey, with the baby in his arms, pull a revolver.

Harvey fired and the bullet struck Jesse back of the right ear. He partly fell and ran. In passing Harvey he saw him fire at Phyllis who had started to run away. Three shots were fired at her, Jesse said and she fell face forward near the edge of the woods.

Jesse then ran to Elias Batchelders where later Harvey came with the baby in his arms, which he left on the doorstep and then he saw him running down the roadway like a crazy man.

Jesse's admissions regarding the peculiar fits that came over Harvey were regarded as very important.

Throughout the trial Harvey sat immovable and with face immobile his head resting on his right hand.

Even during the recital of the story by Jesse, the chief witness against him, he never looked up. When his mother was telling the story of his childhood he glanced once at her and brushed away tears. This was the only emotion or interest he showed in the proceedings Wednesday.

THE BIG STORM.

Unprecedented Flood in Sandy River and Much Damage.

The unusual flood and storm that struck Franklin county last Saturday night did considerable damage and the Sandy river rose to a height unequalled since 1869. Thousands of dollars worth of damage was done to the line of the Phillips & Rangeley road and all trains were cancelled. Superintendent Lawton thought that by Monday traffic could be resumed as usual.

There were numerous washouts along the line and at Madrid a trestle was carried away. To the roads of the towns along the line the damage was great.

The unusual rise of the Sandy river was caused, many think, by a series of cloudbursts which descending through the valleys where from six to eight inches of snow lay, produced a freshet not seen in Phillips or vicinity since 1869.

The upper and lower villages in Phillips were separated by the rising water for several hours Sunday.

On the Franklin & Megantic road a bridge at Hammondsfield was taken out and the Carrabassett river rose to such a pitch that connection with Bigelow was cut off.

Peculiar also was a repetition of the storm during Wednesday night when at Rangeley there was a terrific wind and rain storm which caused great damage, hundreds of trees being blown down along the shores of Rangeley lakes. Plate glass windows in Rangeley village were blown in. Part of the building owned by Mrs. Sylvader Hinkley was blown down. Reports from the Rangeley section show that there was much damage done by the terrific wind.

In the intervals there was a loss of sheep because the storm came during the night and between Phillips and Farmington the flood covered the fields and the sheep and cattle huddled on knolls above the waters. The waters fell as quickly as they rose and all danger was passed early Sunday morning.

The most serious loss was to the Phillips & Rangeley railroad and Superintendent Lawton has had a big wrecking crew at work all along the line repairing bridges and washouts.

No storm since 1869 did so much damage in this section and there was never a November storm of such proportions, say the oldest residents.

At Pickford's Camps, Rangeley, and in the vicinity of the cottage of N. P. Noble of Phillips, great destruction of trees was wrought.

In Dallas Plantation fences and buildings were wrecked among them a building owned by Stanslo Oakes and a carriage house by Herbert Spiller.

PULLED OUT HORSE'S TONGUE.

JOHN SYLVESTER OF EUSTIS ARRESTED FOR CRIME.

Dr. J. H. Rollins, as Officer of Humane Society, Investigated Case—Horse Balked, Owner Tied Cord to Tongue Then Traded the Horse.

Dr. J. H. Rollins of Portland, state agent for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, returned here Saturday from Eustis where he had been called on information that a certain well-known man of that town had been guilty of the almost unbelievable crime of pulling out his horse's tongue by the roots in a fit of anger because the horse balked.

Dr. Rollins found the story to be true and Thursday there was a hearing before Trial Justice DeBerna Ross here in which John Sylvester, member of the well-known general grocery firm of Sylvester Bros. of Eustis had been summoned to appear as respondent to answer to the charge. A warrant was served upon Sylvester in Eustis late Saturday afternoon.

The case is unparalleled in the history of Maine, Dr. Rollins says, and the evidence obtained by him reveals a set of facts almost incredible in civilization. It is the most brutal case ever brought before the society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in Maine. Dr. Rollins said: "I went to Eustis and interviewed several, among whom was Nelson Brackett, Jr., who lives on Eustis Ridge, and who now owns the outraged animal. I examined the horse's mouth and found to my horror that only the butt of the poor animal's tongue remained. At least eight inches of it had disappeared. The horse was unable to eat solid fodder and it was this that led Mr. Brackett to examine the horse's mouth and the dreadful truth of the missing tongue was revealed to him.

"He told me that a fortnight ago he had obtained the horse in a trade with John Sylvester, a well-known Eustis merchant, and that it stood him about $80. Sylvester, whom he knew well, told him, Brackett says, that the animal was sound. He took his word for it and did not make a critical examination as he had known the horse and Sylvester said he parted with it at a low price because it balked.

"I next interviewed Joseph Prevost, a former employee of Sylvester Bros., who I found was an eye witness to the outrage on the horse by Sylvester. Prevost said that on or about September 25th, last, he was sent by his employers to Bigelow station with a truck wagon and a pair of horses, one of which was the horse now owned by Brackett. It was a balky animal and he had frequently had trouble with him and complained to his employers. When he reached Bigelow station, a distance of fourteen miles, he met John Sylvester, who had also driven over in a meat cart. He told Sylvester that he would not drive the balky horse and that he would leave his job rather than do it.

"Sylvester then exchanged horses saying that he would drive the balky one back in the meat cart. Both teams started back and when ascending a steep hill, Prevost says, the horse balked. Sylvester sprang from the meat cart and taking a piece of stout cord tied it around the tongue of the dumb beast and grasping the other end attempted to drag the horse forward.

"The infuriated horse reared backwards Sylvester still holding the cord. A large part of the tongue was severed and Sylvester, Prevost tells me, threw it into the woods and drove on home. Prevost left his job after that.

"I also found in the village a man who will testify in court that on his return to Eustis John Sylvester told how he had cured the horse of balking forever and boasted of it."

The penalty for this offense is a fine from five to two hundred dollars, or one year in jail. The story of cruelty has created a sensation in the section where Sylvester is well known.

Cured of Bright's Disease

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmore, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50 cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease. W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips; L. L. Mitchell, Kingfield.

Notice of Foreclosure.

Whereas, Wm. W. Butterfield, of Wilton, County of Franklin and Jacob O. Eaton of Dixfield in the County of Oxford in the State of Maine, by their mortgage deed, dated the thirty-first day of July A. D. 1878, and recorded in the Franklin County Registry of Deeds in book numbered 84, page 181, conveyed to Abner Toothaker of Phillips in the County of Franklin, a certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Sandy River Plantation described as follows to wit: Same premises conveyed to us this day by deed of warranty by Abner Toothaker. To wit: Commencing at the south side of the road as now traveled, leading from Madrid to Rangeley, at the northeast corner of the lot on which Freeman Tibbets and Charles Hinkley now lives; thence running south one hundred and fifty rods to the southeast corner of the mill lot so called, thence west one hundred rods to the southwest corner of said mill lot, thence north to the road above mentioned, thence easterly on the line of said road to the point of beginning. Meaning and intending to convey the mill lot so called, as surveyed and run out by John Sargent, with the mill and all other buildings thereon standing. Being the same premises conveyed by the said Abner Toothaker to George Shepard Page by deed dated Sept. 24, 1870, and by said Page conveyed to the said Toothaker.

And whereas, the said Abner Toothaker on the twenty-first day of March A. D. 1880, deceased intestate and whereas, John R. Toothaker and Elias Field were appointed administrators of the estate of the said Abner Toothaker, on the first Tuesday of April 1880, and whereas upon the death of the administrators afore mentioned, D. R. Ross was appointed administrator D. B. N., of the estate of the said Abner Toothaker, on the third Tuesday of April A. D. 1907 and on the twenty-first day of August A. D. 1907, assigned said mortgage to Daniel F. Field and Frank H. Wilbur, both of Phillips in the county of Franklin, which assignment was recorded in the Franklin county registry book 127 page 247; and by virtue of such assignment said mortgage has come into the possession of the said Field and Wilbur, and whereas the condition of said mortgage has been broken, now therefore, by reason of the breach on the condition thereof, the assignees claim a foreclosure of said mortgage.

Dated at Phillips, Maine the twenty-fourth day of October A. D. 1907.

DANIEL F. FIELD,
FRANK H. WILBUR.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wheeler, who recently left Phillips to reside in Massachusetts are located in Somerville, Mass. Mr. Wheeler is employed by Mr. Frank Hubbard in his plumbing establishment in Boston.

We are very glad to report that Mrs. T. N. Kewley, who was reported very ill last week, is now gaining. Mrs. Kewley is at Dr. King's private hospital in Portland instead of the Maine General.

Dr. J. H. Rollins, who practised dentistry here 17 years, is in town for a few days. He is now state officer for prevention of cruelty to animals and makes his headquarters in Portland. It was he who ordered the arrest of John Sylvester of Eustis on the charge of extreme cruelty to a horse, an account of which will be found elsewhere in this issue. Dr. Rollins has the whole state as his field and is doing noble work for the humane cause. Since September 17 he has ordered 17 horses killed in various parts of Maine. The many friends of Dr. Rollins are pleased to renew old acquaintances once more.

REACH THE SPOT.

To cure an aching back,
The pains of rheumatism,
The tired-out feelings,
You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases 'tis the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Charles Bierbach, stone contractor, living at 2625 Chestnut St., Erie, Pa., says: "For two years I had kidney trouble, and there was such a severe pain through my loins and limbs that I could not stoop or straighten up without great pain, had difficulty in getting about and was unable to rest at night, arising in the morning tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were irregular and deposited a heavy sediment. Doctors treated me for rheumatism, but failed to help me. I lost all confidence in medicine, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me so quickly and so thoroughly that I gladly made a statement to that effect for publication. This was in 1898, and during the six years which have elapsed I have never known Doan's Kidney Pills to fail."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Bierbach will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

E. Marchetti, who for the past four years has conducted successfully a fruit store here, has sold his business to his son, Ralph, and Joseph Fabier, who have taken possession and the firm hereafter will be known as R. Marchetti & Co. An entirely new stock has been put in and the many friends of the young man wish him success. Mr. and Mrs. Marchetti intend to remove to Farmington where they have another son in similar trade and may make that town their permanent home.

The peculiar fact was developed Sunday at the height of the freshet when the upper and lower villages were practically cut off by water that there is not a boat in Phillips, at least none could be located by some ambitious young men, who were anxious to start a ferry route for the accommodation of residents.

Dr. J. H. Rollins, who is here in the interest of the society with the long name, went to Rumford Falls Monday, but returned in time for the hearing on the Eustis case Thursday.

Obed Russell celebrated his 82d birthday Monday and as a part of its observance called at this office and paid his subscription for the MAINE WOODSMAN which he has done every year on his birthday since the paper started. Mr. Russell is in fine health and as he expressed it, "I am spry as a cricket."

DELIGHTFUL CHICKEN SUPPER.

Social Union of Congregational Church Score Another Success.

The Ladies' Social Union of the Congregational church Halloween night scored another great success with a chicken supper at Wilbur hall. A large and thoroughly satisfied crowd filled the hall and themselves with the deliciously cooked supper after which there was an enjoyable program.

The supper committee to whom all credit for the affair is due was Mrs. A. F. Hilton, Mrs. C. A. Mahoney and Mrs. J. F. Hough. The supper is generally given at fair time but the change in date was thoroughly appreciated.

There was a reading by Miss Edna True, a duet by Mrs. Coney Allen and Miss Birdena Plaisted and a song by Mildred Mahoney accompanied on the piano by Helen Hilton.

We are all glad to see Mrs. H. N. Luce out once more after her recent illness.

Mrs. A. C. Starbird and mother, who have been spending the summer in Strong and other parts of Maine, started for their home in Florida last week. This was Mrs. A. C. Starbird's first visit to Maine. We all hope she will come again as she made many friends while here.

Miss Vera Fogg held a Halloween party Thursday night at her home on Main street. The guests were arrayed in sheets and pillow cases. Ray Starbird acted as Lady Superior. They all say Ray acted the part of lady to perfection. The usual games were played which are always played on that night. Refreshments were served in the dining room, consisting of coffee, cake and ice cream. The party broke up at 1 o'clock all having spent a delightful evening. Those present were Lida and Leola Worthley, Vivian Bates, Ruth Hight, Bertha Guild, Ella Beal, Vera Fogg, Freda Mitchell, Charlotte Burns, Hilda Jones, Farmington; Richard Newhall, George Burns, Russell Lynn, Milo Lewis, Ray Starbird, Verne Richardson, Frank Knowlton, Linwood Foster, Carroll Jones, Ralph Bangs, Clinton Merrow, Herbert Bradford, Farmington.

Messrs. Charles and Manly Whiting, who have been traveling with Al Martz Specialty Co. the past season, returned to Strong Monday night for a short visit with their brother, R. N. Whiting.

Miss Delaine, a missionary from India, gave a very interesting talk at the M. E. church Sunday evening.

The Eastern Star of Boston will give an entertainment in Bell's hall Saturday evening. They will also assist in the services at the M. E. church Sunday morning.

Carroll Whitney of Farmington visited at Mrs. Anna Bangs's recently.

Miss Vera Fogg was in Farmington a few days last week.

There was no school here Friday, it being Teachers' convention at Farmington.

John Anderson has engaged the rent in Mrs. Mattie Gilkey's house which was recently occupied by Stephen Pratt and will move soon.

Mrs. Newhall and Miss Freda Mitchell were in New Vineyard recently.

Miss Alice Vaughan is home from Lewiston.

Mr. P. W. Mason has moved into the vacant rent in C. F. Thompson's house.

Mrs. Myrtle Purington, who has been caring for Frank Clark, was taken with appendicitis recently and was taken to Bell's hospital and operated upon. She is at this writing getting along finely.

Mrs. Hattie Johnson has been ill the past week but is somewhat better now.

E. L. Cook of Rangeley recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at Bell's hospital.

Nelson Walker was in Farmington Tuesday.

At the last stated communication of Davis Lodge, No. 191, held Oct. 25 these officers were installed by Past Master C. N. Shaw, assisted by S. D. Gates as grand marshal: W. M., Leslie A. Vining; S. W., U. G. Weymouth; J. W., Philip D. Stubbs; Treas., Clinton V. Starbird; Sec., Percival W. Mason; S. D., Fred H. McLeary; J. D., Diah Sweet; Chap., Chas. H. Pease; S. S., Chas. B. Luce; J. S., Jesse Hutchinson; marshal, Stephen D. Gates; Tyler, Walter G. Durrell; Finance committee, Diah Sweet, W. G. Durrell, L. F. Hartwell.

Tuesday evening the Knights of Pythias gave their annual supper in Bates hall. It was a chicken supper and was in charge of the Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church. After supper they went to the K. of P., hall and listened to the following program:

Music,	Orchestra
Speech,	Rev. H. A. Clifford
Song,	Leola and Lizzie Worthley
Song,	Mabel Smith
Poem,	Freda Mitchell
Song,	Annie Howard
Speech,	Rev. H. L. Packard
Music,	Orchestra

Among those who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. David Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Richardson, L. A. Worthley and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Bates, Henry Mitchell and family, S. F. Toothaker and wife, Arthur Eustis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dyer, Mrs. C. B. Luce, Mrs. F. H. Daggett, Misses Annie Howard, Helen Richardson, Hattie and Mabel Smith, June Harlow, Avis Welch, Vivian Bates, Bertha Guild, W. L. Guild, John Norton, John Gilkey of Farmington; Martin Connelly, Walter Durrell, Frank Worthley, Verne Richardson, Elmer Gray, Diah Sweet, Mrs. Newhall and Miss Frances Keene.

The following poem was original:

I've just been reading the story
About the fellows, you see,
Sometimes called Knights of Pythias,
Sometimes just the K. of P.
'Tis rather a singular story
Of the way it came about,
That they took this name, 'twas thusly,
As nearly as I can make out.

It seems that way back in the ages
When life was somewhat grim,
As each man felt, that he drew his breath
As some merry Tyrants within,
A fellow named Damon, chanced to offend
His rules, by some of his ways,
And found himself promptly sentenced to die.

No long drawn out trials those days.
But Damon wished, when he found he must die,
That, ere bidding farewell to this life,
He might return home, to adjust his affairs,

Pneumonia Follows a Cold

but never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals and strengthens the lungs and affords perfect security from an attack of pneumonia. Refuse substitutes. W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips; L. L. Mitchell, Kingfield.

And take leave of his child and wife,
While his friend Pythias, offered to take
His place in the dungeon call;
And die in his stead should he fail to return,
Which the Tyrant said was well.

The day for the execution came,
The last hour neared its end,
And Pythias, brave to the scaffold walked
Content to die for his friend,
When Damon in breathless haste, appeared,
His friend, and his honor to save,
While the Tyrant, moved by such mighty love,
Full pardon and liberty gave.

And so, in the early sixties,
When these fellows the K. of P.
Wished, a Brotherhood, to establish,
The object of which should be
Unselfish friendship's brightest type,
For mutual help, and me,
They took the name of that loyal friend
In ancient Syracuse.

They're a singular set of fellows,
These Knights, upon my word,
And they're some of the most contradictory names,
That ever a mortal heard.
There's Dyer; but no one has hinted
That he has a habit of dying.
And Bell; if you think you can ring him
You can learn your mistake just by trying.

There's Gray; but the fellows around him
Say he's usually found true blue.
One Luce; haven't seen any symptoms
Of his falling apart, though, Have you?
Toothaker; don't that sound terrific!
Yet Sam wouldn't, I'll wager my life,
Even wish a poor mortal the toothache,
Any more than he'd horsewhip his wife.

You'd expect something deep, dark and scheming,
Wouldn't you from a pilgrim called Guild?

Mrs. G. says that Win's as transparent
And free from all tricks, as a child,
And there's Sweet; but oh no, there's no contrast.

The ladies say, that name fits neatly,
Too bad; when I'd ground out a couplet
To have finished Diah completely.

Then they have some singular notions.
That is, as notions go.

In this world of ours, where some people's ideal
Seems to be, just a trough, you know,
And a cheer for the gallant porker,
Who first gets his nose in the swill
With high disregard for the other pigs
Whether starving or getting their fill.

But these most singular fellows
Somehow, they seem to feel
That we're here to help; and if brother or friend,
Is getting "way down at the heel,"
Why, the thing to do, is to "give him a lift."

Till his sky again looks clear,
Often with tangible tokens, and oft
With sympathy and cheer.

Then they seem to think of the marriage
rite
As a tender and sacred thing,
That each love should be, as pure from dross.

As the gold in the wedding ring,
That our lives should square by the golden rule;
And be cleanly and temperate, Gee!
If the folks everywhere had these notions
What a singular world this would be.

But burrah for these singular fellows!
May they yet more singular seem,
Their ideals grow still brighter and purer,
Till like jewels, or stars, they gleam.

Till each adds, to his virtues, the graces
Of our brother, who came from above
To labor, and languish, and perish,
In proof of an Infinite Love.

Taylor Hill.

Herbert Parlin has gone to Stratton to work in the woods for F. H. McLain.

John Anderson has secured rent in Mrs. Mattie Gilkey's horse at the village and will move this week.

Our information in regard to Mr. Nutting's portable mill being in process of removal was a little premature. Now it is really being moved back of Taylor Hill pond, but considerably nearer to the Valley road than on previous winters.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies it under oath. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftentimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nerve and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

East Madrid.

On Hallowe'en evening Miss Ethel M. Thorpe, entertained 33 guests. The house was lighted by Jack-o-lanterns, which with the dummies presented a ghostly appearance. Hallowe'en pranks and games were enjoyed by all. Several ghosts were present in their uniforms, while the Gypsy played an amusing part. A light lunch was served, consisting of pumpkin pie, tarts and ginger snaps. The guests departed at a late hour, thanking their hostess for the very pleasant evening.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babes. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems lung-healing mountain shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, n. chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses. "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Al Dealers.

Valuable Pain Reliever that is Especially Needed Now.

Wherever there is pain, there is a nerve, and this explains why Neuralgic Anodyne is of value in so many troubles that are seemingly quite dissimilar. From chilblains to rheumatism, including toothache, headache, neuralgia, colds, sore throat, cuts, bruises, sprains, and in fact every ache or pain, the Anodyne is of the greatest value. Its principle of cure is different from that of the ordinary liniment or medicine, as small doses are taken internally to soothe the nerve centres, and it is also applied externally, giving local treatment to the very spot where there is pain and soreness.

A 25 ct. bottle of Neuralgic Anodyne will do a world of good in any family in curing aches and pains. It is sold everywhere under a guarantee to cost nothing unless it gives satisfaction. Made by The Twitchell-Champlin Co., Portland, Me.

London's Water Supply.

It has been calculated that if a cistern covering 850 acres and 345 feet high could be constructed and the water supply of London for one year turned into it the warships of all the world's navies could ride at anchor there. If we now dig a canal 100 feet wide across Europe, says Tit-Bits, from the extreme north to the south, and empty our cistern into it, we shall find that the water in our canal, which is 2,400 miles long, will rise to a uniform height of ten feet. Every drop of it is consumed by the inhabitants of greater London within a year, while each man, woman and child living today throughout the world could draw fifty gallons from it without exhausting its contents. The mains through which these hundreds of millions of tons of water flow for the use of London are almost long enough to stretch a quarter of the way around the earth at the equator, while it would take a locomotive traveling at the rate of sixty miles an hour more than four days and nights to race from one end of them to the other.

Mrs. Simpson in her "Many Memories of Many People" says of Archbishop Whately: He was utterly regardless of appearance. If he came to us without a servant and perceived a hole in his black stocking he would put a piece of sticking plaster on the corresponding part of his leg to conceal the defect.

We sometimes have those little rubs which Providence sends to enhance the value of its favors.—Goldsmith.

Wedding Bells.

A quiet wedding occurred Oct. 2 at the home of Curtis Stiles, Portland, Me., a cousin of the groom, when Mr. Edgar H. Brooks of Wilson's Mills, Me., and Miss Lillian E. Littlehale of Magalloway Plantation, Me., were united in marriage by the Rev. Irving A. Flint. Miss Alice Maude Graffam was bridesmaid and Mr. George B. Smith best man. The bride was attired in a Princess dress of light blue silk, trimmed with lace. The groom wore a suit of black.

After a wedding trip including Boston, Avon, Lynn, Lewiston and Rumford Falls, the happy couple returned to the home of the bride's parents in Magalloway Plantation and on Oct. 24 gave a reception in the Grange hall at Wilson's Mills. It was a very enjoyable occasion, about 75 being present, and a large number of beautiful presents were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks went to Rangeley Oct. 30 and are now staying with Mr. Brooks's sister, Mrs. Henry Holmes, where Mrs. Brooks will remain for the winter. Mr. Brooks will soon go into the woods to work as usual at scaling lumber. Their many friends wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Fohn Winds.

The Journal of the Meteorological Society of Japan contains an account by Dr. Okada of the occurrence in Korea of those remarkable winds which have been called fohn winds. The winds to which this name was originally given are warm winds blowing down from the snowed mountains of Switzerland and producing extensive meltings of the snow. They have hence been called "snow eaters." The fohn is essentially a phenomenon of mountainous regions, and Wonsan, in Korea, where they have been observed, is surrounded except on the east by high mountains. In this region they are always westerly and cause abnormally high temperatures and dryness of the air. A similar wind in North America blowing down from the Rocky mountains has been called the chinook. Fohn winds occur also in the arctic regions. Blowing sometimes in midwinter they produce a remarkable climatic paradox. As a result of the elevation of temperature caused by them it may happen that northern Greenland, though in winter darkness, is warmer than southern France.

Men Who Help Thieves.

The "rechristener" is the professional name of the man who alters the names and numbers on stolen watches. The rechristener is usually a clever engraver who through drink or other wise has lost the chance of obtaining honest employment and aids the receiver of stolen property. When a watch has been stolen the number or name, or other indication of make or ownership may be forwarded to the police and by them communicated to pawnbrokers. There is consequently an element of risk in attempting to dispose of it. There are various ways of getting over the difficulty, and rechristening is one that is frequently resorted to. The engraver adds or prefixes another figure to the number or he turns the name "J. Robins" into "T. J. Robinson," the extra initial serving to make the name look level and central on the watch case. This is done very cleverly, and the rest of the letters or figures are touched up to make all appear to have been cut at the same time.—London Standard
