

MAINE WOODSMAN

VOL. XXX. NO. 17.

PHILLIPS, MAINE, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1907.

PRICE 3 CENTS

THEY WANT TO BUY.

PHILLIPS CITIZENS FAVOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP WATER WORKS.

Believe That Right of Appraisal Should Be Given Before Price Is Fixed or Suggested—Important Topic For Taxpayers to Consider.

The article in MAINE WOODSMAN last week in regard to our local water works fight attracted considerable attention throughout the state and particularly in Franklin county.

Farmington has been through an experience like what Phillips is beginning on, and Kingfield, Strong and Rangeley are expecting something similar at a later date.

A prominent Phillips taxpayer said to the MAINE WOODSMAN this week: "A good deal has been said here about the probability of the corporation buying the water works if the price is low enough. Now, the fight will eventually be right there, on the ownership of the plant. I favor municipal ownership because I have seen enough of the way it works in other towns to make me a firm believer in the proposition. Furthermore, I do not expect the corporation to be able to buy this valuable plant at a price that will sacrifice the interests of the stockholders to any great extent. The only point for the corporation to decide is whether or not they want the plant at a fair price and they will have ample time to decide that if allowed the same privilege that that Farmington had viz., the right to appraise the property and then bargain for it. I believe in municipal ownership anyway and I propose to push the idea from now out.

The value of the water plant at Livermore Falls has been fixed by the appraisers at $117,698, $99,000 less than the price the water company claimed it was worth. It is about $32,000 in excess of the figures of the civil engineers.

There are outstanding $32,000 in bonds which the water district assumes and the balance or $35,693.46 is necessary for the water district to take over the property. The water commissioners, viz., Mr. A. C. Hutchinson, George W. Treat and I. B. Clary, esq., will probably secure short term notes.

WAS PAINFULLY HURT.

William Martin Met With Bad Accident at Eustis.

William Martin of Portland, who started to work Monday for the Berlin Mills Co., at their operations in Eustis met with a painful accident which necessitated his removal to the hospital in Portland that day.

Martin slipped on the ice and a small sapling entered his body penetrating the bowels and causing excruciating pain and serious loss of blood.

The unfortunate man was carried into the office of the American Enamel Co. at Eustis Junction, where everything possible was done for him in the absence of a surgeon. He passed through Phillips in the afternoon for Portland.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR.

Frank A. Emery Representative From North Jay Makes Announcement.

Mr. Frank A. Emery of North Jay writes us in effect that he wishes to announce his candidacy for Senator from Franklin county and that he will be a candidate at the next Republican county convention.

Mr. Emery is a representative citizen and as a member of the House of Representatives made a good record.

AURORA GRANGE MET.

An Interesting Program Carried Out Successfully.

A regular meeting of Aurora Grange of Strong was held on Tuesday evening, Nov. 19th, which was well attended by Patrons. After the business was completed, the following program was enjoyed:

Music by the choir; Reading a selection, "Well done" by Sister Georgie Wilbur; paper, "Birds in their relation to agriculture," Brother Dana Sweet; selection, Sister Flora Norton; organ solo, Lida Mitchell. Discussion of Current events by nearly all present was an instructive and pleasant change from the usual discussion of a question. A visiting member of Seaside grange, Lincoln county, Brother Hunter, made a few remarks.

Work on the outside of Grange stable is nearing completion, and will much improve the looks of the Grange property.

The Farmers Institute meetings were held in Grange hall, Wednesday the 20th and were well attended. Our people were much pleased with the speakers and with the subject matter presented by them.

Thursday the 21st., North Franklin Pomona grange held a regular meeting with Aurora grange. The dull day was in sharp contrast to the beautiful weather we have been enjoying, still such a small matter as a rain doesn't keep at home the Patrons of North Franklin and they arrived in goodly numbers. We were pleased in having Brother Torrey of Dixfield, Deputy for Oxford county with us, and the able and interesting address he gave was listened to with marked attention. Selections were read by Sisters Hamlin and Page; music by the choir; a song by Sister Lelia Luce; and after a spirited discussion of the question "Is the telephone of sufficient benefit to the average farmer to warrant the expense," opened by George Wilbur, it was decided in the affirmative 31 to 1. Brother Clifford contributed to the general good time with pleasant and pithy remarks. The Pomona grange was given cordial welcome by Ernest Vining, and W. Barker of Lemon Stream grange fittingly responded.

December 3rd is the next regular meeting of Aurora grange, and election of officers.

Flagstaff.

There has been several days of warm weather which makes the roads muddy and hard traveling.

Glen Viles and Alton Burbank returned home from Bliss Business college at Lewiston last week. They have been there the past three months.

Spring Lake camps are closed for the season. 14 cans of young fish were put in the lake last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wing were home from their camps at Black Brook Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. Herbert Rogers who has been lame through the summer, has been much worse the past week at the home of his grandfather, Sylvester Durrell in this village.

Mr. Pe cy Taylor, who has been laid up with a cut on his foot is able to walk to the village on crutches.

J. E. Burbank is able to work in his blacksmith shop once more.

Miss Ella McVoy is working for Mrs. Carl Savage, while Mrs. Savage works in the store.

Mr. Sherman Lisherness moved to Stratton Nov. 18. All were sorry to see them go, but wish them prosperity in their new home.

Mr. Warren Dyer has moved to the rent vacated by Leo Standish, in Rufus Taylor's house.

The schools are closed for two weeks' vacation. Will open Monday Dec. 2nd for the winter term.

Mrs. Marshall Niles has been visiting her father, Wm. Wyman at New Portland for a few days.

Mr. Jacob Kershner suffered from a hemorrhage of the lungs last week and is quite ill at this writing.

Miss Sarah Blackwell is working in the novelty mill.

On Friday afternoon Nov. 22nd, the remains of Mrs. Eunice R., wife of John Sedgely of Stratton, were brought to this village for interment. She was the daughter of the late Myles Standish of Flagstaff, and was a resident of this village for many years, both before and after marriage, where she has many friends and relatives who remember her with love and respect.

On Thursday, Nov. 14, Thomas, the four-years-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wahl was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a brother a few years older. The parents were at one of the neighbors, and just how the gun and cartridge were obtained and what happened will never be known.

NOTED SON OF SALEM.

D. C. HEATH LEADING BOSTON PUBLISHER RECALLS BOYHOOD.

Father Was Village Blacksmith and Publisher Was Reared Among Homely Surroundings. Recalls His Poor Knowledge of Spelling In Little Red School House.

D. C. Heath, the well-known Boston school text book publisher, was born 64 years ago in Salem, Franklin county, and speaking recently of his boyhood days on the farm there he said of his family who are well remembered by the old residents of Phillips: "My father was the village blacksmith and his shop was a part of my home. To my youthful mind it was a most interesting place, a sort of paradise, and out of school hours I was always found playing there. At about this time the Crimean War was being fought. I heard my father and the neighbors talk about the fighting and storming of forts so I used to fight battles and storm forts among the rubbish in the shop, with an iron rod for a gun and a horse-shoe nail for a bayonet and a hammer for a 'tommy-hock.'

"In those days I went bare-foot and I remember how I used to prick my feet on the nails and bits of iron on the floor of the shop.

"From the time where I was old enough to walk I watched my father shoe horses and oxen and when I got bigger I helped him. I think, if necessary even now I could shoe a horse in pretty good shape.

"At Salem there was an old saw-mill and that made an ideal place for us boys to play 'I spy.'

"The millpond was often full of logs and we used to run on them. Once I slipped off and went in over my head but I could swim out all right.

"Besides the shop my father had a little farm, which my brother and I had to care for, where we raised food for the table. I have spent many an hour hoeing the old garden. Then I thought it drudgery but today it seems far from it.

Stratton.

The village schools closed Nov. 15th for a two weeks' vacation. Miss Charlotte Whitney the teacher of the Grammar school is visiting at her home in Brunswick.

Will Sedgely of Greene was in town last week, called here by the serious illness and death of his mother, Mrs. John Sedgely.

Rev. L. K. Schafer of Kingfield was called here Nov. 22nd to preach the funeral sermon of Mrs. John Sedgely.

Mr. W. B. Hoyt of Phillips was a business caller in town last week.

School closed at No. 4, Nov. 15th, after a term of twelve weeks taught by Miss Hattie Lombard of Auburn.

L. O. Durrell and Will Hobbs of Allen's Mills were at Russell Bros., mill a few days last week.

Mrs. Sewell Vose of Strong is boarding at L. T. Hinds's.

Sewell Vose is driving the tote team for E. L. Hinds.

John Butterfield of Farmington is at the Russell Bros., birch mill where he has a crew of men cutting birch.

West's Mills.

I. T. Smith is on the sick list and was attended by Dr. Hunnewell Sunday.

L. M. Chapman is in poor health of late. An abscess seems to be the worst trouble at present.

We had lovely weather all last week. A little snow storm visited us Sunday night, so the ground was white Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Upham of Farmington were in town last Saturday.

Wyett Huff of Anson killed a hog recently, ten months old which dressed 360 pounds.

Henry Oliver has put in electric lights in his mill and is doing a big business this fall in the apple and lumber line.

Pratt's apple shop in this place will soon close for this year.

There was a pie sociable at Mr. Ficketts in the union district last Friday evening. A good attendance and over $10 was obtained by selling pies which went for the benefit of the school. This was the close of the term taught by Ross Chamberlain of Pittsfield.

MAINE GRANGE PROSPEROUS.

IN 1907 INCREASED 2500 IN ITS MEMBERSHIP.

Twelve New Granges Established. Ten New Grange Halls Built Total Value of Property Over One Million Dollars. Total Membership 56,447. Houlton Has Nation's Largest Grange.

During the Grange year which ended the first of October the order of Patrons of Husbandry in Maine has enjoyed a continuation of the splendid prosperity and substantial growth which has marked it in recent years. During the year 12 new granges have been established and one reorganized, giving the order at the present time in this state 418 subordinate and 26 Pomona Granges, with a total membership of 56,447. The increase of membership during the year was 2500. Ten new Grange halls have been built and dedicated during the year, and now no fewer than 366 of the 418 subordinate Granges own the halls which they occupy, representing a total value of close to $1,000,000. During the year 17,875 subordinate Grange meetings were held and 260 Pomona meetings.

The extent to which the Grange engages actively in business is indicated by the fact that the cooperative store of Houlton Grange, the Grange by the way which is the largest in Maine or in the country for that matter, has done a business of $110,000 during the present year. The store of the Penobscot Pomona in Bangor has done a business of $60,000 and there are a number of other similar stores which will make the amount of cooperative business done in Maine for 1907 at least $500,000, exclusive of that done by the Grange Fire Insurance companies. These companies are as sound as they can be made by good management and represent millions of dollars in fire risks.

TWENTY FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Wilkins of Kingfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Wilkins celebrated the twenty fifth anniversary of their marriage at their home on lower Main street Monday evening Nov. 25, from half after seven to ten o'clock. In a general good time was the silver jubilee observed, while the relatives and friends of the family took advantage of the occasion to substantially remember this popular couple. Fully 100 were present from surrounding towns.

The house was tastefully decorated with potted plants, palms and cut flowers.

A collation consisting of assorted cakes, creams and punch was daintily served by Misses Susie Stanley, Myra Butts, Happie Vose and the host and hostess were showered with congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins were married in Kingfield, Nov. 25th, 1882, by J. H. Thompson esq. formerly of this town but now of Farmington. Mrs. Wilkins was Miss Lizzie C. Mayo. They have two children, Leslie M. Wilkins, Principal of the Kingfield High school, and Miss Doris E. Wilkins a pupil in the same school. Mrs. Wilkins has a mother, Mrs. Eunice V. Mayo, one sister and three brothers.

She is a member of the Pythian Sisterhood.

Mr. Wilkins has three sisters and one brother, all of whom were present, and belongs to Franklin lodge, No. 58, I. O. O. F.; Mt. Abram lodge, F. & A. M.; Alhambra lodge, K. of P. He has also served on the board of selectmen, school committee and as census enumerator and is manager of the firm of the Mayo & Wilkins Mfg. Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins are prominent workers in the Universalist church, of which they have been members many years. Mr. Wilkins has been superintendent of the Sunday school 15 years and Mrs. Wilkins a teacher. That they may live to enjoy the golden anniversary of their marriage is the wish of their scores of friends.

Gifts included from Kingfield friends a silver dollar for each year of their married life, much solid silver, cut glass punch bowl, etc.

ARTICLES OF INTEREST.

LOCAL STORIES THAT APPEAR IN MAINE WOODS THIS WEEK.

Newspapers That Are Unequalled In the United States When Figured Collectively With Their 20 Pages, Nearly Every Page Containing Live Up to Date Local Reading Matter.

A reader writes us that he is very fond of MAINE WOODSMAN but he does not care for MAINE WOODS. On the other hand a citizen of Rangeley informs us that he reads both papers thoroughly each week and he values them equally. He says he likes to keep in touch with the great fish and game and outing interests of the state and especially in the Rangeley and Dead River districts. He notes the great increase in the wealth of North Franklin and the marked prosperity of her narrow gauge railroads that he hopes can some day be standard gauge, largely as a result of the fish and game and outing interests that have been fostered and boomed by MAINE WOODS and its forerunner the PHILLIPS PHONOGRAPH for 25 years past.

If any readers of this article have ever felt that they did not care for the MAINE WOODS we commend to their careful attention this week the following articles, every one of them strictly local and of especial interest to local readers, besides being of the kind to serve well for advertising the great attractions of Franklin county and the near by district to the outside world.

Page 7, Snow for Gameland, a story of wonderful deer shooting in the Dead River region; first real snow storm, a Franklin county weather story; Phillips hunter gets a bear; Phillips rifle club, revival of range work shows renewed interest; birds in their relation to agriculture, by Dana Sweet of Avon.

Page 8, Tom Riley, human dynamo, a story of Phillips and the Berlin Mills company's lumbering at No. 6, in which a Phillips attorney figures; Sheriff Bal-lou got one.

The above are all local stories and we hope every person who has a chance to read them will do so and remember that they all have 50,000 readers whose attention is thus drawn to the natural resources of the locality where MAINE WOODSMAN is printed and published.

Also please note that MAINE WOODSMAN is 12 pages this week instead of eight as usual and it will remain 12 until Christmas, four weeks. This, with eight pages of the WOODS, chock full of local interest as we have shown you above, makes a 20-page local newspaper that cannot be equalled in a town of equal population in the United States.

Now everybody please sit up and take notice of the above assertion and the subscription price for the above until 1909 is $1.50.

Kingfield.

Mrs. Benjamin McKenney of Kingfield passed to the higher life at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Lendall Carville, Monday, Nov. 18, 1907, aged 87 years, six months.

She had lived with her children in this town several years, coming here from New Portland where, after the death of her husband, five years, ago she had made her home with her son, Charles. For many years the deceased was a Christian, having united with the Baptist church in early life. She leaves two aged sisters and six children to mourn her loss.

Rev. L. Arthur White of the Free Baptist church officiated at the funeral service. Gospel solos were pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Florence Webb of East New Portland. The remains were interred in the family lot at East New Portland.

W. D. Page has purchased the Kingfield House of J. W. Jordan and will take possession this week. For more than 12 years "Willis has run a first-class house and been a highly respected landlord by the traveling public and will be greatly missed by them. Mr. Page has for some time been proprietor of the Page house opposite the station and in this new venture friends wish him success.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

At the Union church Rev. Mr. Hutchins took for the text of his morning sermon words from I Chron. xi, 21. "The first three." In preceding verses of the chapter are given names of the captains in David's army which was gathered to fight the battles of Israel under the banners of the new king. There are illustrious names in this catalogue of warriors. Yet you will notice as you read the chapter, that of some it is said after their deeds of valor and loyalty are recounted that they did not attain unto, the "three mighties," who were honored as the "three mighties" we do not know. What special work was wrought by them we can not tell. But whatever the cause of their greatness these unnamed warriors did well their part in overcoming the enemies of their people and their king, in strengthening the kingdom of David in enlarging its bounds, and in making Israel a power toward which was turned the attention of the world.

In the past there have been causes which have worked together to make this a great nation and to make it fitting that we should have set apart a day to commemorate with Thanksgiving that greatness and the causes united to produce it. I wish especially this morning to consider three of those causes, those that we may term the first three.

First is the church. I do not mean to claim now that the church has been chief of the three in bringing about our national glory, or that it has been the most powerful factor in producing that result. There are many who make these claims for the church. I would separate no one as the chief cause for all together have united to make of this people a nation to which turns the world in acknowledgement of its greatness.

Learning, alone, does not create permanent greatness. Greece long ago made learning her foremost ambition, and her intellectual brilliancy shone upon a world that did her homage. But her glory of learning has disappeared. Neither is it law and government, for Rome was the synonym for these, and they did not insure her existence when the Northern Invaders swept over her land. We may point to Judea and to Rome as evidence that other forces must cooperate with the church in building up a civilization whose beneficent influence shall be enduring. Yet it is a power which may not be overlooked or despised.

Were I to give an address or the church, I think I should tell of a little town of this state whose history is known to me. It is somewhat isolated from larger communities and shut out from their society. Thirty years ago there was no church in the town; 35 years ago there was no school for the education of its young people; 40 years ago no traveller having goods of value in his possession would dare pass a night within its borders, for it was a community of violence and theft. Less than 40 years ago a travelling Methodist preacher came to the town and preached to its people. He did not convert the entire population, but the seed was sown and it has borne fruit in that community until today, instead of a people feared and scorned by those of surrounding towns, its population has the respect and confidence of neighboring regions. One finds there church and school and law abiding citizens. And all these marks of improvement are traceable to a work of a servant of the church, and the receiving of the truth for which the church stands.

Mrs. McClintock Testifies.

That Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy Cured Her.

"Age No Impediment."

Mrs. Mary A. McClintock, of 1032 Spring Garden Street, says: "I consider Munyon's 3x Rheumatic Remedy the safest and best cure for rheumatism ever offered a suffering public. I have been afflicted with the most painful and distressing rheumatism imaginable for upwards of three years. I was so bad with it that I suffered agonies when I was moved. It affected my back, shoulders and neck, and nothing gave me relief. When I was lifted up in the morning I screamed with pain. I got a bottle of Munyon's 3x Rheumatic Remedy and began taking it. I took one pellet every hour and the second day I felt relieved. I have now taken but one bottle and every phase of pain has left my back and neck and I feel that it will never return. I am in my seventy-second year and can positively say that age is no impediment in the wonderful curative powers of Munyon's Remedies."

It was not simply a company of Puritans that left Scrooby, England and established themselves for a time in Holland. It was a church, and it was a church which finally found their way back from Holland and came to the shores of New England. It was a church that endured the hardships of that first strange winter, laying its members one by one in the first filling churchyard. It was a church, narrow sometimes in its doctrines, condemned sometimes by the unthinking, that left in the inheritance of the New England conscience, stern and perhaps sometimes mistaken, but which the foundation of a sturdy integrity which has blessed all the world. It was the New England conscience which in 1776 compelled the people to rise in protest against the infringement of liberties which they saw to be wrong. It was the influence of the New England conscience which carried the men of the Revolution through difficulty and discouragement till liberty was secured.

It was the New England conscience controlling men that bade them to destroy the curse of slavery in the land. It is the New England conscience which working as the heaven that leavens the lump has brought to pass, from Maine to California a general protest against the corruption and wickedness so prevalent in public affairs. The church has been, and is, a mighty agent in determining the history of this land of ours.

The second cause of American greatness to which I wish to direct your attention is like the land or the vineyard uncultivated. Education is the pruning knife taking away the useless growths, resulting from ignorance and lack of culture. Education makes wise and understanding citizens. It should be a test having a place in determining the rights and responsibilities of citizenship. Probably the greatest mistake the statesmen of this country ever made was that shown at the close of the Civil war, when the colored man, ignorant, without adequate understanding of the principles of government were given the privileges of electors. The ill-advised action has resulted in much sorrow and much conflict which might have been averted, had instruction first been given the negro.

West Point had prepared generals for the Civil war, Grant, Sherman and Sheridan; but the common soldier also had his West Point in the little red schoolhouse that opened its doors to him from many a hillside and plain. The Old World long ago had its schools for the wealthy and the higher classes, but to us of America, belongs the glory of bringing education to all.

Our schools today are threatened by two evils. The first, resulting from greed which would rob the child of its right to education that its time might be made to yield revenue by labor, is being met and overcome by agitation and legislation. The second results from the coming to our land of throngs of immigrants, bringing the traditions of their own homes, wishing to teach the children in the ways of their fathers. Any people or any church coming here who wish to provide schools for their children have a perfect right to do so. The danger is here: The pupils of parochial schools do not catch the spirit of American institutions and patriotism. There should be legislation compelling attendance upon the public schools as well as upon their own end that they imbibe the spirit of loyalty to America and her institutions and receive such instruction as is needed in the making of good citizens.

The third of the three mighty causes of American greatness is the home. It has been said that the strongest forts of a nation are her homes. Greece and Rome with all their power and all their culture lacked the home life and their fate was disintegration. No other thought will nerve a man to fight for his country as will that of the home—his home—that is there. Compare the history of England and France. England through many centuries has been shining with constantly increasing light. France, to be sure, has had periods of brilliancy and greatness, but her history fails to call for the thankfulness and pride with which England may be contemplated. England is a nation of homes; France a nation of hotels.

A person without a home will fail of developing the highest attainments or usefulness otherwise possible to him. He is like a grape vine that instead of being planted in the ground with environments to favor its growth and fruitage, is planted in a dish and carried from place to place. As well expect abundant fruit from the one, as the highest and most symmetrical development from the other.

Our picture of home of the early settlers shows the family gathered around the blazing fire of the hearthstone above whose broad chimney could sometimes be seen the light of the stars. And like the beckoning stars have ever been the homes of the land. This is the explanation of the national patriotism. The glory of conquest will sometimes make brave warriors, but defensive warfare is strong only where there are homes to defend. Americans

A Hard Debt to Pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips, L. L. Mitchell of Kingfield, Charles E. Dyer of Strong, E. H. Whitney of Rangeley, druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

have proven their strength in both classes of warfare. We have multitudinous demands upon our time and interests that were not known to the pioneers of the land. Society has many claims upon us. Yet our homes should always be first. Our thoughts should center. Bring to the house those things that will make it pleasant and inviting, opportunities for music if music will be enjoyed; the best and most inspiring literature possible. We have no curfew law, but let the attractiveness of home be a curfew calling all to its safe pleasures.

Remember and cherish these things which make our country great; the church, the school, the home. Thus shall we go on to the realization of the dream.

"These things shall be! A loftier race Than ere the world hath ever known shall rise, With flame of freedom in their souls And light of knowledge in their eyes."

They shall be gentle, brave and strong, Not to spill human blood, but to dare All that may plant man's lordship firm On earth and fire and sea and land.

There shall be no more sin nor shame, And wrath and wrong shall fettered lie; For man shall be at one with God In bonds of firm necessity.

Nation with nation, land with land Unarmed shall live as comrades free; In every heart and brain shall throb The pulse of our fraternity.

New arts shall bloom of loftier mold And mightier music thrill the skies; And every life shall be a song, When all the earth is paradise."

INSURANCE

IS IMPORTANT

It is doubly important to insure with the best and strongest companies. I give the promptest attention to the adjustment of laws and represent such companies as the following:

The Aetna Assurance Co. of Hartford, Conn.
The Phoenix Assurance Co. of Hartford, Conn.
The Home Assurance Co. of New York.
The Niagara Fire Assurance Co. of New York.
The New York Underwriters Assurance Co. of New York.
The Fire Association Assurance Co. of Philadelphia.

Those who realize what a vast difference there is in Companies, in their standing in the business world and in their methods of doing business know that the companies named above stand for the very best that there is in insurance.

PRISONER HIS OWN JAILER.

Amusing Story of a Murderer Who Refused to Be Released.

Monaco has no guillotine and no executioner and, indeed, no arrangements for dealing with criminals.

It is the place to recall the amusing story told by Maupassant about a murderer who was tried, convicted and sentenced to death in Monte Carlo. The authorities asked France to loan them M. Deibler and his little instrument, the "red widow." The French government consented to oblige for the consideration of £1,000. The prince thought this too dear and so applied to his brother of Italy. Italy offered to do the thing, all included, for £680. This again was found too dear. "The man is not worth it," said the Monegasque authorities.

So the sentence of death was commuted to one of life imprisonment. But there was no prison in Monaco, and a gaol had to be erected for the express purpose of confining this murderer, and a jailer had to be appointed. This state of things lasted for some months, and then the jailer died.

The authorities at Monte Carlo, when considering the appointment of his successor, came to the conclusion that the man, the one prisoner, was costing the state a great deal of money. So a commission visited him and told him that in future he would be required to act as his own jailer. He grumbled a bit at this increase of sentence, but complied. His meals used to be sent down to him from one of the hotels in the town, but one day the scullion who brought him his dinner did not turn up to time, and so the prisoner walked up to the hotel and took his meal there. After that he got into the habit of going up to the hotel for his meals. Then, after a stroll on the front, he used to return to his prison and shut himself in, carefully bolting the door inside.

But again the authorities found that he was costing them too much, and so one day they called him up and told him that they were sick of seeing him about the place and that he must clear out. He emphatically refused to do anything of the kind. "You sentenced me to penal servitude for life," he argued, "and I expect to work out my sentence. I have no means of earning a livelihood since you created all the bother, and it is to you that I look for my sustenance."

To cut a long story short, the principality of Monaco was obliged to settle an annuity of £24 a year upon the convict before he would consent to accept his freedom and leave the country. As soon as this was arranged he took up his abode in a little cottage just over the Monaco border.

This is a true story, and the document fixing the man's pension, together with details about the payments, may be seen in the Monaco archives.

The late Prince de Monaco was fond of telling this story in Parisian drawing rooms, and, if I remember aright, I heard it on the same occasion as did the late Guy de Maupassant.—London Mail.

Irish Legal Wits.

The mots of the celebrated wits—Harry Deane Grady, Lysaght and Keller—of the Irish bar early in the last century are now in large measure forgotten. Some few are, however, on record. Harry Deane Grady, a leader of the Munster bar, voted in the Irish house of commons to support the union against the wishes of his constituents, one of whom remonstrated indignantly with him on his intended course of action. "What, do you mean to sell your country?" "Yes," was the cool reply. "and very happy I am to have a country to sell."

Ned Lysaght, a celebrated wit and poetaster of the period in very embarrassed circumstances, applied to Mr. La Touche, the well known banker, for a place in his establishment. "What situation, my dear Lysaght, could possibly suit you?" said his friend, who felt himself in a difficulty. "Not only one, but two," was the reply. "Pray, what are they?" "If you will only, my dear La Touche, make me cashier for one day I'll become runner the next day."—London Mail Notes.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

ICE HAD PRESERVED MAMMOTH.

Remarkable Discovery Made in Frozen Siberian Bog.

Sixty-one years ago a young Russian engineer, Benkendorf, saw the River Lena in Siberia release a dead mammoth frozen ages ago in the bog. There had been exceptionally warm weather in the north of Siberia, and the river, swollen by melting snow and ice and torrential warm rains, swept out of its old channel and carved a new one, carrying to the sea vast quantities of its former banks and furrowing up the thawing bogs over which it raced. As he made his way in a steam cutter against the current Benkendorf saw the head of a mammoth appear above the flood. Rush upon rush of water more and more released the body. Its hind legs were still imbedded when he saw it, but 24 hours liberated these. The mammoth had sunk, feet first, into a bog. The ooze had frozen over it; successive tides had heaped soil and vegetation upon it. Bone and flesh and hair were perfect. They secured it; they cut off its tusks; they dissected it and found in its stomach the last meal it had eaten, young shoots of the fir and pine and masticated fir cones. They were still at work when the river, spreading farther, engulfed them. The men escaped, but the waters surged over the mammoth and carried it for carrion to the sea.

Longfellow's School Days.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, the poet, received his early education in a school in Portland, Me. He was pronounced by the master to be "one of the best boys in school." He was a studious child and preferred the company of books to lively companions. He passed the entrance examination to Bowdoin college at 14. He graduated fourth in his class in 1825.

Reducing Ocean Record.

The first steamer that ever crossed the Atlantic took twenty-four days to make the trip, and the early boats of the Cunard line, organized in 1840, made the transatlantic trip in fourteen days, or in about the same time as the best of the clippers of the Black Ball and other lines. In 1860 the sailing ship Dreadnought made the passage in nine days and seventeen hours, and it was a long time before a steamer beat that record. It is nearly two decades since the five-day ship came upon the scene, and ever since then the record has been lowered by hours rather than by days.

In London Town.

While shopping in London an American school teacher was very much taken with a pair of beautiful lace curtains. The price of them, however, seemed prohibitive. "Being only a teacher," she said, "I am not, of course, wealthy, and I fear that I cannot afford them." "If you will wait a moment," replied the saleswoman, "I will see if I may give you a reduction on them." Then she called to a superior and said: "This person would like to have these curtains, but she says she is not a lady and cannot afford to pay the marked price."

Keeping Off Trespassers.

How to warn off trespassers without spring guns has been discovered by a canny peasant in the south of France. His woods were invaded by nut pickers. He asked a botanical friend the Latin name for the hazel nut, and put up the following notice: "Caution—All persons entering this wood do so at their own risk. The Corylus Avelana abounds here, as well as other equally venomous snakes." Not a trespasser was entered into the wood.

Not to Be Thought Of.

"You should sleep on your right side, madam." "I really can't do it, doctor. My husband talks in his sleep, and I can't hear a thing with my left ear!"—Stray Stories.

Stands For Prohibition.

PHILLIPS, Nov. 25, 1907.

To the Editor of MAINE WOODSMAN: After reading the communication of Mr. Farmer in last week's issue of MAINE WOODSMAN entitled "Successful Sons of Weld," he said, "The only thing I am ashamed of Maine for is a Prohibition law that has been in force for 50 years and never prohibited intemperance at all." Instead I wish he had said I am proud because I was born in a Prohibition state.

Of course we are troubled that drinking goes on in states which are under prohibitory laws, and people who are not in sympathy with temperance work say, "These temperance laws are useless, for people are still drinking. They might as well be repealed."

But when we think about it, if we take any city in the country, we find that laws against murder are not a total failure because men still kill one another.

There are also laws against stealing but we do not feel sure that there are no burglaries in that city. The law against stealing does not make everybody honest and no one supposes that things would be any better if such laws were repealed.

Prohibitory laws are still a power even though some wrong-doer evade or defy them.

"'Tis better to have tried and failed than never to have tried at all." We are all sufferers together from intemperance. It makes poverty and crime and while some suffer more than others no life is as happy as it might be if this curse were wiped out and we should be united in our work for its overthrow. Many noble men and women are giving their time and money for the enforcement of this law. The temperance cause is marching on. Keep step with it.

Thanksgiving.

HAVE you anything to be thankful for? is the eternal question at this season. If you haven't given in charity measured by a monetary standard be assured that you have given charity in words or thoughts to fellowman.

That is the cheapest and best giving. If you cannot help the poor, enrich the needy by a kind word. That don't cost you a cent.

Don't put an extra burden on your neighbor by speaking unkindly.

Remember they will have occasion to speak something of you very soon.

You may not be here another Thanksgiving Day. As the old Quaker said:

"If there is any good I can do, let me do it now, for I will not pass this way again.

The author of this is anonymous, yet there are millions who would like to know his name.

Let your charity be anonymous and your Thanksgiving will be always a day of pleasant memory all through the year.

Prohibition Is Gaining.

OKLAHOMA is the forty-sixth state and has state wide prohibition in its constitution. However, Maine may regard prohibition after half a century's trial there is no gainsaying the fact that the idea is rapidly spreading throughout the nation and seven-eighths of the Southern states is dry today.

A summary of what this prohibition movement in the South has accomplished in the past few months is interesting.

Georgia will become a prohibition state simultaneously with the coming of the new year. In North Carolina more than 95 per cent of territory has barred liquor.

In South Carolina nearly one-half of the counties have done the same.

Virginia and West Virginia have each considerably more than half their territory "dry."

In Florida liquor is prohibited in three-fourths of the state.

Mississippi's prohibition percentage now is 90, and is steadily growing.

Louisiana allows saloons in only one-third of the state.

Arkansas has 58 "dry" counties out of 75.

In Texas liquor is sold in only 47 counties while in 51 others it is partially prohibited, this out of a total of 243.

In Tennessee only four counties will allow the sale after April 1, 1908.

Finally in Kentucky, long famed for its whiskey, 97 per cent, of the territory is "dry."

Maryland thus far is the only southern state which has not taken a decided step for prohibition.

WE certainly had cause to be thankful for the beautiful weather which shortens the long winter coming.

MAINE WOODS and WOODSMAN for $1.50 to new subscribers. Think of a sixteen page combination offer, state and local for that price. It is the best kind of a holiday gift to absent friends. Dr. A. M. Ross and wife were in Phillips Wednesday and attended the drama. The doctor returned Thursday, while Mrs. Ross remained a few days the guest of relatives.

Miss Florence Wilbur of Rangeley Dies In Phillips.

Miss Florence Wilbur, daughter of Warren Wilbur, of Rangeley, a young woman about 30 years of age, arrived in Phillips on November 20th, and the following day was taken ill with what appeared to be a severe cold.

She complained for several days and said that she had tonsillitis or an aggravated form of throat trouble.

Monday last she went to the home of Mrs. A. O. Freese, a relative, and Saturday morning at 4 o'clock Dr. E. B. Currier was called hurriedly. Dr. Currier thought best to summon another physician and called Dr. C. W. Bell from Strong who consulted with him on the case.

Saturday afternoon, the mother of the young woman was called from Rangeley, the father was present and at 4 o'clock that afternoon death came. Death was due to hemorrhage.

The body was sent to Rangeley on a special train Sunday afternoon where the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon.

Deceased leaves a father and mother besides four sisters, Della, Georgia, Margaret and Addie.

Rangeley House Warming.

Wednesday evening, Oct. 23, was the scene of a very pretty occasion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bemis at South Rangeley, it being a reception given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huntoon. The house was decorated with ferns and tissue paper, giving a very pretty effect. About 30 neighbors and friends were present and dancing was enjoyed by all, music being furnished by H. Plummer and Walter Hodges of Phillips, first and second violin. Ice cream and cake were served during the evening.

A beautiful lamp was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Huntoon, showing the esteem in which they are held by their many friends. Fitting remarks were made by Walter Hodges at Mr. Huntoon's request, thanking the people for their kindness.

Mr. Huntoon has formerly filled a position at South Rangeley for Frances Shaw, but has resigned much to the regret of all and moved his family to Rangeley village, where he has bought a place.

When the Stomach, Heart, so Kidney nerves get weak, then there organs always fail. Don't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is simply makeshift. ## The Advantage of RUBBER HEELS.

It has been estimated by eminent scientists, after careful figuring that the average person of 150 pounds weight, who walks three miles per day, lifts daily 1,188,000 pounds.

It stands to reason that the weight of the body even of no more than 150 pounds, coming down at each step on hard leather heels, paved with iron nails, unnecessarily jars at each step, whereas, if the same weight comes down on a cushion of rubber the impact is less and the fatigue less. Rubber heels also eliminate the noise nuisance on public walks and in public places. It is objectionable to wear Leather heels on highly polished floors in sick rooms, school rooms, etc. In some apartment houses real estate dealers have ordered the occupants to have all their shoes equipped with heels of rubber so that the noise of walking overhead will not annoy the tenants underneath.

We put on rubber heels at the

Cured of Bright's Disease

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50 cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease. W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips; L. L. Madrid.

Sylvina Wells is quite well but is lame at times. She rode to Phillips a few days ago and purchased her winter supply of medicine and returned and was not much tired. She is 93 years old.

Mrs. Joel Wells enjoyed a few days' visit with relatives and one day with Milton Bean's family in Phillips.

The ladies' circle meets with Mrs. J. C. Wells, Dec. 4.

Fred Pearson is in failing health and is tenderly cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Otis Witham at their home.

Mrs. Willard Littlefield and Joel Wells were callers at Mrs. Otis Witham's recently.

Hunters are now getting encouraged. Will Locklin shot a big buck last Friday. Gilbert Voter was gone from home 15 minutes and shot a nice deer.

George Dunham and friend were amongst the lucky ones, as they, too, got deer.

WANTED NO MORE SISTERS.

One Girl Had Had Enough of Censorious Remarks.

"I didn't think you'd get so angry because I said I thought you ought to wear gray suede shoes with your gray dress instead of white ones. I didn't mean to offend you," her friend very sweetly apologized. "Never mind," she returned softly. "It was all right, but it made me angry for two reasons. First, because I had to wear the white shoes because I didn't have any others that were presentable, and, secondly, because when I left my family of sisters, who made every possible sort of comment on my clothes, I declared I would never stand it from anybody else. I said to myself that whenever a friend got so friendly that she thought she could treat me like a sister I'd shake her."

Worship the Cow.

In the Nilgiri hills of southern India there dwells a race of men, the Todas, who devote the whole of their career to the worship of the cow or, to be precise, of the buffalo. Their most sacred temple is a cow house, and the whole life of the people is governed by the most rigid observance of the routine of dairy work, every detail of which is performed with the most elaborate ritual. They alone can perform the duties of milking and butter making who have been duly consecrated for this work by fasting and the performance of mysterious rites. Representing the only priesthood, they are compelled after their initiation for the rest of their days to play the role of the dairyman. The lesser priests may marry, but the high priest must be celibate, at least for a given period of years. Polyandry is the family rule, but divorce is unknown.

Never Go Empty Handed.

"That is what mother used to say to me many times when I was a child. If I was going upstairs, I must look about me and see if there wasn't something downstairs that belonged upstairs that I could carry up and put into its place; and so on from one part of the house to another. She always said it would be a great help in one's housekeeping and save lots of unnecessary steps, if people would just remember that little rule, and although I fail in many ways to practice all the good things she taught me, I very often find myself saying to the children as they help about the house: 'Never go empty handed.'"

WEATHER FOR DECEMBER.

What It Has Been In Portland For the Past 35 Years.

The following data, covering a period of 35 years, have been compiled from the weather bureau records at Portland for the month of December.

Temperature—Mean or normal temperature, 27 degrees; the warmest month was that of 1876 with an average of 41 degrees; the coldest month that of 1890, with an average of 17 degrees; the highest temperature, 59 on 4th, 1895; the lowest temperature, 17 degrees below on 25th, 1872.

Precipitation (rain or melted snow.)—Average for the month, 3.68 inches; average number of days with .01 of an inch or more, 12; the greatest monthly precipitation, 7.14 inches in 1901; the least monthly precipitation was .97 inches in 1874; the greatest amount of precipitation recorded in any 24 consecutive hours, 2.58 inches on 10th, 1878; the greatest amount of snowfall recorded in any 24 consecutive hours (record extending to winter of 1884-85 only) was 12.4 inches on 3d and 4th, 1901.

Relative humidity—Average, 8 a. m., 78; average, 8 p. m., 72.

Clouds and weather—Average number of clear days, 8; partly cloudy days, 12; cloudy days, 11.

Polite English Shop Girls.

"I wish you would import more English shop girls," said the inveterate shopper, according to the New York Press. "I came across one yesterday. I was buying a little white evening dress. There were about a hundred styles to select from and I think I looked at fifty. I looked at so many that after an hour, when I had at last selected one, I said to her with an apologetic laugh: 'I've been an awful lot of trouble to you, haven't I? I think you'll wish I'll never come again.' 'Indeed, I will not,' she answered in her pretty English way. 'It was no trouble. None at all. It has been a pleasure to wait on you.'"

Monkey's Intelligence.

In the Breslau Zoological Garden a monkey of rare intelligence was discovered to be suffering from defective eyesight, caused by a cataract. A surgeon performed an operation relieving the trouble somewhat, but the eyes were still weak, and it was decided that the monkey must wear glasses to keep him from losing his sight eventually. At first he fought the keepers when they attempted to put on the glasses, but ultimately he learned the value of the lenses so thoroughly that he now puts on his "specs" every morning and lays them in a safe place at night before he goes to sleep.

A New Version.

After hard study Hilary felt sure that he had the parable of the prodigal son by heart. All went well in the recitation until he came to the prodigal's return, which he described in this way: "But when he was yet a great way off his father saw him and had compassion, and ran and fell on his neck and broke it." But, my son," explained the mother, "he fell on his son's neck and kissed him." "Oh! I thought he ran and fell on his own neck, and because he was an old man he must have broken it!"—Harper's Magazine.

Attempted Poisoning.

M. F. Wilder of Boston has been stopping in Temple for a time and had with him a very fine dog, an Esquimaux collie whose father was imported from Hudson bay and was worth over $200. Last Thursday the dog was taken suddenly and violently sick. Dr. Stevens was sent for who discovered that the dog had been poisoned with a piece of meat loaded with Paris green. The dose was so large that it saved the dog's life, as vomiting was induced and the poison thrown off.

Owing to Thanksgiving the regular meeting of Phelan lodge, No. 30, D. of H., will be postponed.

B. F. Beal's big flock of 600 sheep was one of the Sunday sights being driven to Farmington. It was one of the largest flocks ever seen on Phillips streets at one time and attracted great attention. They were driven Sunday as far as Strong, continuing the journey Monday in the snow storm.

A party composed of J. S. Hennings, Wm. G. Hill the crack rifle shot of Portland, George D. Bangs, Frank Haley, John Russell and I. L. Belyea, passed Sunday at Haley's camp, Sandy River pond.

A gang of toughs much the worse for liquor did considerable damage in the hallways of Beal block Saturday night about midnight. This is the second time that signs have been torn down and the floor littered with cigarette stubs and if it occurs again the parties will be prosecuted.

George L. Lakin, Esq., of Phillips will give a talk Friday evening, Nov. 29, at 7.30 p. m., at the Grange hall in Strong on "Fraternity and Protection," especially of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, what they stand for. Other speakers will be present. All are cordially invited.

Fred C. Robinson, who has been in town for the past few weeks working on the residence of H. H. Field, returned to his home in Farmington last Thursday noon.

Miss Mamie Thomas of Kingfield has been visiting friends in town.

From now till Christmas the MAINE WOODSMAN will contain 12 instead of 8 pages, thus affording customers ample space for holiday advertisements. Send in your copy early.

Mrs. Josephine Nile of Farmington visited Cora Wheeler Sunday.

Mr. Harry F. Beedy has had recently completed a fine log camp near his Long Pond cottage and now that the snow has come will spend several days hunting big game up there.

We have been surprised and gratified by the large number of new subscribers received since our offer was made public to send the MAINE WOODSMAN and MAINE WOODSMAN, both until Jan. 1, 1907, to new subscribers for $1.50.

Henry W. Carter, superintendent of the Eustis branch of the American Enamel Co. was in town Monday on his way home to Providence to spend Thanksgiving.

Last Monday morning after the first real snow storm of the season a robin perched in a tree near W. A. D. Cragin's house on Pleasant street, and sang a good, strong song indicating apparently that this particular robin enjoyed the winter as well as the good old summer time.

Mrs. L. T. Allen and Master Stanley went to Strong Saturday, where they will spend Thanksgiving with Mr. Allen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen. Mr. Allen joined her Saturday night where he will remain for a week's vacation.

Mrs. M. S. Kelley and daughter, Floy, were in Farmington Saturday afternoon.

THE ILLS OF WINTER.

The Easiest Thing in the World to Overcome Them If You Know How.

No season of the year has greater variety or more acute ills than the months from October to April.

The winter bruises and sprains or the serious colds that lead to pneumonia, can all be readily cured by Neuralgic Anodyne. There is not a home in the Northern states that will not get many times its value at this season from the Anodyne.

Rheumatism, neuralgia, headaches—in fact, aches and pains of every description are quickly and positively cured by this valuable household remedy. Even the sore chilblains will quickly disappear when Neuralgic Anodyne is rubbed on.

If you use a bottle of Anodyne and do not think you have gotten more than 25 cts. value from it, take back the empty bottle to your dealer, and he will refund the money to you, and the proprietors, The Twitchell-Champlin Co., of Portland, Me., will reimburse him.

Phillips and Vicinity.

The following Rangeley residents took advantage of the special train down on the evening of the local drama's presentation and attended the meeting of the Blae Mountain lodge, No. 67, enjoying a hot supper afterwards: A. S. Arnburg, Melvin D. Tibbetts, G. M. Estey, J. Lewis York, W. D. Quimby, Albert Haley, Sylvader Hinkley, Chas. L. Harden, Jas. Mathieson, W. J. Weld, G. H. Snowman, A. B. Cragin, G. L. Kempton, E. I. Herrick, C. W. Barrett. Frank C. Porter and Leon D. Haley were given the second and third degree.

Skates in windows were the only reminders of winter Saturday with the thermometer at 60 degrees.

Autos instead of sleighs have been the popular vehicles these Indian summer days for hunters going up the line, before the snow came Monday.

The Northeastern Telephone Co. has issued a new book with corrected numbers of its subscribers. There are about 175 local and over 100 rural subscribers in Phillips and vicinity.

A Phillips milkman has on his horse a set of sleigh bells and as he passed through the village before sunrise ere snow fell, they gave a shock to those awake when they jumped out of bed to look for the snow and found none.

It cannot be said that all Phillips ladies are afraid of mice. During the play, On the Frontier, last Wednesday evening a mouse appeared in the auditorium of Lambert hall and was seen by dozens of the fair sex. No one screamed or fainted and the mouse disappointed at the reception soon made his exit.

Everyone is talking rifles and rifle shooting in town since the exhibition of William G. Hill, representative of the Union Metallic Cartridge Co., and the Remington Arms Co., last Saturday and boys shooting at tin cans thrown in the air is one of the results of his visit.

All citizens who are interested in the Phillips Public library are earnestly requested to be present at a business meeting to be held in the library room Wednesday Nov. 27 at 2 p. m.

It would perhaps, interest the taxpayers of Phillips to call their attention to two very important new laws enacted by the last legislature as follows: That on and after January 1, 1908, all municipal officers of cities and towns in making out their yearly report, shall cause to be published in said report, the names and amounts of all delinquent tax-payers which have been committed to the treasurer or collector for collection. The failure for non-performance of this duty shall not be less than $5 nor more than $25. (Approved March 27, 1907.) This law requires that all personal tax must be paid before January 1, 1908, and that all real estate tax must be paid before December 20, 1907, in order to save cost of advertising, which must be done before the first Monday of February 1908.

WORMS IN CHILDREN 6 YEARS SUFFERING RELIEVED IN 8 HOURS

DANVILLE.

DR. TRUE, DEAR SIR:—One of my boys had been troubled for about six years with cramp in the stomach, and suspecting that it might be brought on by worms, we gave him different medicines, but without effect. Last January he had a more severe attack than usual, and hearing of the almost miraculous effects of your Elixir, we gave him about a teaspoonful, and in about eight hours it brought from him a living creature about eighteen inches in length. He has had no return of them since, and is now very hearty.

G. W. VICKERY.

Thousands of people have worms and don't know it, yet the symptoms are easily recognized. Even though worms might not be present this extraordinary remedy will effect wonderful changes in the run-down system. It is a great stomach and liver tonic and regulator.

Worms in adults and children can be readily detected from the following symptoms: Indigestion; a variable appetite; offensive breath and foul tongue; eyes heavy and dull; itching of the nose; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; starting during sleep; slow fever and often, in children, convulsions and bed-wetting; looseness; hard, swelled bowels. No matter how pronounced or how light the symptoms, will restore the patient to normal health again.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

TURNER, MR.

DR. J. F. TRUE, DEAR SIR:—Having used your Elixir in my family for many years, after having satisfied myself of its superior merits, I recommended it to my neighbors, who now very generally use it. I consider it the very best medicine now in use, especially for children.

Very truly yours, JOB PRINCE.

NEW GLOUCESTER, MASS.

DR. TRUE, DEAR SIR:—The Elixir I purchased of you cured my boy, who had been troubled with worms ever since he was a child. He had tried many other medicines, and I had employed physicians until I found it of no use. I despaired of his being restored to health till I heard of your Elixir, which, I am happy to say effected a speedy cure.

Very truly yours, W. C. COOMBS.

Dr. True's Elixir is sold by druggists every where at 35c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. A booklet entitled "Children and Their Diseases" will be sent free by simply addressing Dr. J. F. True & Co., Auburn, Me. We have a special treatment for tape-worm. Send for free book.

Thanksgiving odors are on the breeze. The Thanksgiving thrkeys and chickens strut no more. The busy house mother has no time to be thankful or otherwise while she prepared the savory roasts, toothsome puddings and delicious pies.

Indian summer weather prevails and we cannot but wear cheerful countenances no matter how heavy the load of carking care. We hope this delightful weather will last until some one with corners of mouth drawn down exclaims, "A green Xmas makes a fat grave yard."

We are glad to see that the fence around the cemetery at Maple Grove farm has been put in place making a much neater looking resting place for the silent occupants. Now if owners of lots will take a little pains to straighten headstones where needed, grade the lots and otherwise beautify them it will no longer look as if the dead were forgotten.

Charles Foss and son Gilbert, are building a sawing machine that will make the sawdust fly when it gets down to business a little later on.

Our schools closed this week with an interesting entertainment, showing much pains taken in the work on the teacher's part as well as the pupils.

Mr. Bartlett, who is general superintendent of mills for the Berlin Mills Company said in answer to a question by a MAINE WOODSMAN reporter, that his company has sawed out the lumber spruce at Berlin and shut down the mill, the first time for years. They have been running their two saws night and day and sawing 500,000 feet of lumber a day. The company has also been working up 700 cords of pulp wood every 24 hours. It would require 290 Sandy River railroad cars every day to move 700 cords.

Ardene Blake, of Farmington was in town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Bartlett of Berlin N. H., have been visiting their son and his wife Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bartlett at Madrid Station.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to allow the Messenger of Death to enter our ranks and remove from us our esteemed sister, Mae Davenport, therefore be it Resolved, That we, the members of Hope Rebekah Lodge, No. 89, I. O. O. F., do deeply feel the loss of a sister, who was ever faithful to her obligations in this fraternity and of whom it may be said "The world is better for her having lived in it."

Resolved, That we as a lodge, extend to the relatives and friends of the deceased member our most sincere sympathy in this, their hour of sorrow.

Resolved, That the charter of our lodge be draped in mourning for a period of 30 days, as an expression of love and respect for our deceased sister, that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the bereaved relatives, entered upon the records of our lodge and also published in the MAINE WOODSMAN.

Resolutions of Respect.

At its regular meeting Saturday evening, Nov. 23, 1907, Lemon Stream Grange, No. 216 (New Vineyard) unanimously adopted the following resolutions of respect:

Whereas, the reaper, Death, for the first time has entered our Grange and removed our worthy brother, J. Frank Daggett, and

Whereas, we fully realize that by his removal Lemon Stream Grange has lost a faithful member, therefore,

Resolved That while we mourn the loss of our beloved brother, we bow to the will of the Great Master who sees where we see not, and in His infinite wisdom and guidance we trust also.

Resolved, That to the bereaved family of our departed brother we extend our sincerest sympathy and may they feel that "There is no death, the stars go down To rise upon some fairer shore. And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown They shine forevermore."

Also, Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning for 30 days, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, a copy entered upon our records and a copy sent to the MAINE WOODSMAN, Phillips, for publication in its columns.

APPLES HIGH IN KANSAS.

Letter From Sam Farmer, Tells of Western Land.

To the Editor of MAINE WOODSMAN:

ARKANSAS CITY, KAN., Nov. 4, 1907.

A. D. Prescott and F. C. Deering, both Maine men, have returned from old Mexico about two thousand miles from here, where they have been in company with several other gentlemen with the view of buying a large tract of timber land on which some very valuable gold mines have been discovered.

Apples are apples this year and were never so scarce here with prices as high as oranges, five cents each for the best, and from two to three dollars a bushel. This is the result of hard frosts in the spring. Penn., Northern New England and Canada have nearly the whole swing.

Aunt Debora Whitney is failing and nearly helpless. She weighs less than 100 pounds and cannot speak a word but has a good appetite.

Suppose you have the same kind of banking in Maine that we have here. We think it is mighty poor. No one knows when their savings are safe. Would it not be better to have the government to handle the banking same as the post office?

SAM FARMER.

A NEWSPAPER BARGAIN.

Maine Woods and Woodsman, Sixteen Pages, $1.50.

Attention is called to the combination of MAINE WOODS and WOODSMAN, 16 pages, state and local, all for $1.50 a year, decidedly the best newspaper bargain in Maine.

MAINE WOODS covers the great game-land section of Maine and is the only newspaper in Maine or New England of its kind whose circulation covers all sections of the country with a class of well to do readers, sportsmen and those interested in game who come to Maine annually and thus contribute to her prosperity and who sing her praises.

The MAINE WOODSMAN covers the fertile field of Franklin county thoroughly. It has a list of over 2000 subscribers. MAINE WOODSMAN has over 5000 circulation. The combination of MAINE WOODS and MAINE WOODSMAN presents an attractive newspaper proposition and the price for both is but $1.50 yearly—16 pages covering county and state.

As an advertising medium both present opportunities unequalled for certainty of returns from large fields.

Prepare for the new year by sending in your subscriptions now.

Emphasize the fact why the public should trade at your store by telling what you've got to offer and why and how.

Liquor She Floated In.

On their arrival in New Zealand, according to London Tit-Bits, a party of English people drank the health of the vessel which had brought them safely to their destination. One of the gentlemen who was asked to join in this ceremony replied: 'No, I am a teetotaler; but I'll willingly drink success to the ship in the liquor she floats in.' A friend disappeared and returned with a glass of water. After a complimentary apostrophe to the ship, the recipient tossed the water off at once, but immediately spluttered: 'Ugh—ah—oh—this is—oh—what on earth is this?' 'That?' said his friend. 'Why, you've drunk success to our noble ship in the identical liquor she floats in.'

Aggravating Man.

"I don't see how you can have any fault to find with him." "Why Not?" "Because he appears to be a man who is absolutely without faults of any sort." "That's just it. That's his worst fault."

HAVE VARIETY OF NAMES.

Numerous Appellations Bestowed on Race of Gipsies.

The gipsies, interest in whom is revived by the appearance of the first issue of the revived Gipsy Lore society, has passed under a variety of names, arising either from their supposed original country or the calling and characteristic of the race. The Old English Egyptian, the Spanish Gitana and the Magyar Pharas nepek (Pharaoh's people) all point to an Egyptian origin; the Scandinavian Tatars identifies them with the Mongolian hordes which terrorized early Europe, while the French Bohemian suggests yet another country as their cradle. As to the names bestowed by their supposed character, the Arab boldly calls them Harami (a villain), the Dutchman Heydens, or heathens, and the Persian takes his name from their complexion, and dubs them Karachi, or swarthy. A charter of William the Lion, as early as the twelfth century, mentions their Scotch name of Tinklers, which is commonly supposed to be a corruption of tinker, although possibly the substitution of "t" for "z" has produced this form of the Italian Zingaro, one of the most widespread of gipsy appellations.

EXPERIMENT WAS A FAILURE.

And Now Uncle Hezekiah Is Down on Washington Officials.

"By gosh, but Uncle Hezekiah is down on them Washington officials," said the old farmer with the big scythe. "What is the trouble?" inquired the windmill repairer. "Why, you see, them Washington folks sent out a circular saying that 'skeeters' could be killed with kerosene." "What happened then?" "Most everything happened, stranger; 'most everything. You see, Uncle Hezekiah tried the experiment. He hunted around half the morning and broke his suspenders before he could catch a live 'skeeter. Then when he did catch one he took him out in the yard and ducked his head down in a big can of kerosene. While Uncle Hezekiah was bending over the sun reflected through the corner of his spectacles and set fire to the oil. Before Uncle Hezekiah could get away is burned off half his whiskers and exploded his celluloid collar. And worst of all, Uncle Hezekiah isn't sure whether the 'skeeter was killed or not."

Effect of Sun Baths.

"The taking of sun baths is one of the most healthful things in the world," said Evan T. Roberts, of Cincinnati. "Several years ago I visited Germany, and while there was taken down with nervous prostration. I called in the best specialists of Berlin. They told me I needed more exercise, more fresh air and more sunlight. The first thing they made me do was to take sun baths. I stripped and would go out in the yard every morning and lay for 40 minutes in the broiling sun. It was not so hot, but felt so to me, as I was unprotected. Well, sir, in a few days I began to feel better. In three weeks I was pronounced a well man. The sun baths certainly did the trick for me."

Church Built by One Man.

Stivchall, near Coventry, England, possesses a piece of worship unique among English churches. In 1810 John Green, a mason of a strongly religious turn of mind, laid the first stone of the edifice, and seven years later he completed the building. In all that time he had no assistance, doing all the work with his own hands until the church was ready for its interior fittings. The building accommodates a large congregation. The church derives a considerable revenue from the contributions of sightseers who are drawn to the place by curiosity.

"Roosters" Barred in Waltham.

The board of health is determined to have its rules relative to the keeping of fowl lived up to, as was shown at the meeting last night, when a man living in the west end had his license revoked because he kept a rooster, which is contrary to the rules of the board. A man may keep a few hens, but roosters are excluded. It is understood that the rooster in question was a bantam, but in the eyes of the health board a rooster is a rooster, no matter how large or small he may be.—Waltham Letter to the Boston Globe.

The Cutting Retort.

"You don't have to brag of success," declared the big woman when she had listened to the little woman's account of how well she was doing with her work; "it shows for itself." "And you don't have to tell outright of the decline of success once you have been successful," remarked the little woman, who had listened first to the big woman's talk; "it shows in the bitterness with which you complain of existing circumstances."

Use of Adjectives.

Certain adjectives are reserved for men and others for women. A man is never called "beautiful." Along with "pretty" and "lovely" that adjective has become the property of women and children alone. "Handsome" and the weak "good-looking" are the only two adjectives of the kind common to either sex. Even "belle" has no real masculine correlative in English, since "beau" came to signify something other than personal looks. It is singular that "handsome" should have become the word for a strikingly good-looking person, since its literal meaning is handy, dexterous. But "pretty" likewise comes from the Anglo-Saxon word meaning "sly."

Lost a Good Thing.

Formerly a telephone had stood on the bracket in the corner. The bracket had been made expressly for the 'phone. It had been so exceedingly convenient to call up her friends that the woman immediately noticed the change; for on the bracket in place of the telephone stood a statuette that she didn't much care for. "What have you done with it?" she asked of them. "The company tried to collect the bill," they said. "I am sorry," the woman sighed, because at that moment she thought of about a dozen to whom she would have liked to telephone. "So are all our friends," said they pointedly.

House Fly a Common Enemy.

Although the mosquito specializes on yellow fever and malaria and is universally recognized as an enemy to be fought outright, scientists have come to regard the common house fly as the more dangerous. The mosquito will spread only one or two diseases, but the house fly's only specialty is filth. Typhoid germs, tuberculosis germs and a hundred other germs that drops its load of refuse in the butter or milk.

Both Old-Fashioned.

An old physician of the last generation was noted for his brusque manner and old-fashioned methods. One time a lady called him in to treat her baby who was lightly ailing. The doctor prescribed castor-oil. "But, doctor," protested the young mother, "castor oil is such an old-fashioned remedy." "Madam," replied the doctor, "babies are old-fashioned things."

These Were Big Hailstones.

The weirdest storm story in years comes down from the Downieville and Snow Tent country, where it is alleged that chickens were killed by hailstones and a horse was knocked senseless. The storm is said to have been the fiercest in years. Four chickens are said to have been killed by the hail and many knocked down. Lightning struck a tree on the Goodyear bar grade, and it was still burning today. At George Cooper's ranch, near Snow Tent, the hailstones were reported as large as small eggs, and one of these knocked the horse senseless.—Nevada City Correspondent San Francisco Call.

Two Sure Cures.

"If you want to know a sure cure for rheumatism," said the pretty woman, "take a long piece of twine and tie it around your waist, up under your arms and down again around your wrist, and let it stay there. In three days you will be perfectly cured." "I know a better cure than that," said the tall, thin boy. "Take a black cat out to a graveyard on a dark night and cut off both its ears and a piece of its tail. Put the ears and tail on the roof of the house to sun, and when there's nothing left of them you'll quit having rheumatism."

Vegetable with Old Lineage.

Asparagus is the aristocrat of the food plants. None other has so distinguished a lineage, for its records reach back almost to the beginning of authentic history. It is mentioned by the comic poet Cratinus, who died about 425 B. C. The Romans hold asparagus in the highest esteem, the elder Cato treating at length, in his "De re Rustica," still extant, of the virtues and correct cultivation of the plant. Pliny, writing about 60 A. D., has a great deal to say of asparagus. He says: "Of all the products of your garden your chief care should be asparagus."

English a Puzzling Language.

A Frenchman in conversation with a friend said: "I am going to leave my hotel. I paid my bill yesterday and asked the landlord: 'Do I owe you anything?' He said: 'You are square.' 'That's strange,' said I, 'I have lived long and never knew I was square before.' Then, as I was going away, he shook my hand, saying: 'I hope you'll be round again soon.' I said: 'I thought you said I was square.' He laughed and replied: 'When I said I hoped you'd be round again soon I meant I hoped you wouldn't be long.' English is a difficult language."

CURE FOR MUSCULAR FATIGUE.

Best Method of Obtaining Sound and Refreshing Sleep.

Real fatigue may be divided into the mental and muscular varieties. The latter is decidedly the simpler of the two. Where one has so overworked physically that one cannot sleep, the first thing to do is to learn to relax. In such a case the first thing to do is to take a warm bath, into which a little rock salt has been dropped to counteract the weakening effect of hot water. Then shut out every ray of light from your bedroom and lie flat on your back. Do not close your eyes and think desperately of going to sleep. Instead, devote yourself entirely to the subject of keeping your eyes open. If they close, open them; if necessary, even prop them open with your fingers; whatever you do, continue to stare wide-eyed into the darkness, and most important of all, think of that one question only. In about five minutes you will be so sleepy that no will-power on earth could keep you awake. The one cure for fatigue is rest, and after prolonged physical effort, the paramount issue is to get to sleep immediately, and to sleep as long as possible.

AS EXPLAINED BY THE EDITOR.

Drastic Action Evidently Was Necessary, and It Was Taken.

The Buie's Creek (S. C.) Index to the Times recently came out with a double-leaded editorial as follows: "We wish to make our abject apologies to Hon. Hezekiah E. Kinney for having said of him in our last issue that he 'fumigates his garments.' What we meant to say was 'fulminates his arguments.' We have had our eye on the printer ever since he twisted a phrase which appeared in an editorial of ours from 'full of internal rottenness and dead men's bones' into internal rattlesnakes and dead wren's tones.' And as soon as our eye lit upon this gratuitous insult above to the Hon. Hezekiah E. Kinney we armed ourselves with our repeating shotgun, sought out the guilty party and shot him down in cold blood, notwithstanding the fact that the now deceased was the only support of a widowed mother and possessed a large and flourishing family. We wish to assure the Hon. Hezekiah E. Kinney that in the future his person and his speeches will be handled in these columns with respect."—New York Press.

Life's Sails.

Some day when you go down to the shore of a large body of water, make a little study of the sailing vessels you see. Of course the wind blows in the same direction over every part of the water, but you'll notice that some vessels go one way and some another. This because the sails are set in different ways. Set your life sails—your ideals, purposes, estimates of what is most important to you—in one way, and life's experiences will send you on the rocks of destruction. Set them in a different way, and the same experiences will send you into the harbor of heaven.—Wellspring.

If You Read This

It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants as bronchitis, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Dillingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

"The Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous, harmful or habit-forming drugs and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable. A booklet of extracts from eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

VOTING CONTEST

A MODEL HUB RANGE.

The MAINE WOODSMAN has purchased a handsome $72.50 Model Hub Range and will give it away absolutely free to the lady receiving the largest number of votes.

The Model Hub Range is unexcelled as a sure and easy "baker" and "cooker," and an economical consumer of either coal, coke or wood. The Model Hub Range is world-famous, and is well-known to the good cooks of New England, who have always lead and will lead the world. This Range is made by the Smith & Anthony Co., of Boston, which, in itself is a guarantee of good faith, and is sold by leading dealers everywhere.

This range will be given to the lady in Kingfield or New Portland who receives the most votes.

Conditions of the Contest.

The Model Hub Range will be given to the lady receiving the highest number of votes. There must be two or more contestants. Collections may be made on old subscriptions by contestants or their friends, and a certificate will be issued for every dollar so collected or turned in. Subscription blanks, receipt blanks and other printed matter will be furnished the contestants for use in making a canvass or for making a collection, as well as lists of old subscribers, free of charge upon application.

The Range to be given away is a full size Model Hub Range, of the latest pattern, and will be delivered at the freight depot nearest the residence of the winner. The value of this range, at retail, is $72.50.

Don't wait for somebody else, but send in your votes at once and hustle for a range that is well worth your effort. Begin today.

One of the principal objects being the securing of new subscribers, we will give double value or forty coupons or every dollar paid on all new subscriptions. No coupons will be printed in the MAINE WOODSMAN. The only way to get votes will be by payment of subscriptions. If you pay at the MAINE WOODSMAN office ask for your coupons. If you send by mail request that the coupon be sent you.

The date of the close of the contest will be announced later. Address all inquiries to Contest department, MAINE WOODSMAN, Phillips, Maine.

NAVAL MYSTERIES.

War Vessels of the United States That Have Disappeared.

Curious disappearances and accidents to our warships characterized the early history of our navy, and in spite of all the efforts of the navy department to explain the cause of the disasters many of them are as absolute mysteries to-day as when they happened.

When the government built ten new gunboats to prosecute the war against Tripoli in 1805, they were sent out as soon as they were finished and before they were named. Each one was given a number and dispatched to the seat of the war. No. 7 sailed from New York July 20, 1805, under the command of Lieutenant Ogilvie, and after she cleared Sandy Hook light she was never heard from again. She went down with all on board before she had even been named.

A most extraordinary accident was that which happened to the corvet Monongahela at Santa Cruz in 1867.

While at anchor in the harbor a tremendous tidal wave lifted her upon its crest and carried her clean over the town of Friedrichstadt and back again without injuring the town or the boat to any great extent. The receding wave landed her on the beach instead of in the deep water of the harbor, and it cost our government $100,000 to float her again. Fully as strange was the fate of the sloop-of-war Wateree. She was anchored in the harbor of Arica, Peru, in 1868, when a huge tidal wave swept inland and flooded the whole city. The wave carried the sloop several miles inland and finally landed her in the midst of a tropical forest. It was impossible to release her from such a peculiar position, and the government sold her for a nominal sum. The purchasers turned the vessel into a hotel, and the remains of that once formidable war vessel loom up in the tropical forest today as a monument to the power of tidal waves.

Among the other cases of disaster which are attributed to the violence of the waves or weather there is none more interesting than that of the strange fate of the Saratoga. When she sailed from Philadelphia in October, 1780, under the command of Captain James Young, there was no finer or handsomer war vessel afloat. That she was as formidable as she was attractive was soon demonstrated in a practical way. After cruising around a short time she captured three British vessels in succession, and then, with her prizes, she started to return to Philadelphia, but off the Delaware capes she encountered a British ship of the line. As the Saratoga carried only eighteen guns and the Intrepid was a seventy-four gun ship, Captain Young considered it safer to run away. The enemy did not chase her far, but returned to protect and recapture the British prizes. The Saratoga sailed away in the very teeth of a storm, and she was never heard from again.

Bargain With Death and Win All the Years You Can.

No one of us is so poor or so unworthy that he is not ready to bargain with death. Let the specter name his price and we give up our loves and our tobacco with equal promptness. He may have our fortunes and our homes, our pride and our achievements and aspirations—yea, even our eyes and ears—if he will but smile upon our prayers. Let him so command and we will abide in the wilderness, we will find comfort in husks, we will lie down with the beasts of the field. Better even a browsing Nebuchadnezzar than a moldering Hercules.

It is needless to tell us that death is an arch grafter. We know with whom we are dealing, and we know, too, that he grins in his sleeve at our eagerness to delay the inevitable. What to him are ten more years or fifty years or fifty centuries? Had Sargon, the mighty ruler of the Babylonian world, secured a respite of 5,000 years he would even so have been in his grave for more than a century when Richard of England led the crusaders to the walls of Jerusalem.

An old legend tells us that when Methuselah was 500 years old an angel came to him and advised him to build a house instead of living in the open air, as he had been doing up to that time. The patriarch asked how much longer he had to live. "About 500 years," answered the angel. "Then," said Methuselah, "it is not worth while to build a house."

By this token Methuselah proved himself a pessimist. To Azrael a thousand years may be as yesterday, but it is not for us to follow the example of our antediluvian forefather and view existence through the eyes of death. Every moment added to our earthly tenure is regarded as that much again. The monk Hildesheim, listening to God in the melody of a bird for a space of three minutes, found that in those three minutes 300 years had flown. And so to each of us life means always the possibility of joy and revelation unmeasured by time or space. Therefore let us bargain with death. True, he will claim us at last, but we shall have had the better of the bargain.—Lippincott's.

A Perplexing Bulletin.

In 1876 the late John Hay, who died as secretary of state, and Alvey A. Adee were serving together in the legation at Madrid. They were intensely interested in the outcome of the Republican national convention and spent days wondering who would be nominated. One morning they found this item in a Madrid newspaper: "Rutbart 13. Noyes of America has been elected president of the republic of the north."

That was as near as the Spanish editor could get to the bulletin, "Rutherford B. Hayes has been nominated for president by the Republican national convention," and it took Adee and Hay a week to figure it out.

ALL A MATTER OF INCHES.

Woman's Increased Height Makes Her Superior to Man.

I wonder if the love ideals of womanhood are changing with the sex, which is certainly in a transition state. At one time it was a rare event for a woman to marry a man much younger than herself; now it is a common one. Not so very long ago, in her secret heart, the unattached maiden rather longed for a master to whom she might play the part of admiring and adoring satellite; but in the present year of grace she prefers to be sovereign herself, and to have a prime minister who is useful and subordinate. Can this change be in any way due to the superior inches of the modern woman? A difference must inevitably exist between the day dreams of the six-foot something and the day dreams of five-foot nothing. Only the other evening, at a concert, I was much struck by the imposing manner in which a very tall woman, splendidly gowned, made her entrance into the room. She swept in as if the whole world belonged to her, while behind her followed an insignificant creature in black carrying her costly cloak, her fan and I don't know what else. Honestly, I felt sorry for him, but realized that my pity was wasted. One could see he exulted in his wife's magnificent appearance and his own subjection.—Black and White, London.

GOOD THING TO LEAVE ALONE.

Physicians Advice to Those Who Are Fond of Mushrooms.

It may be possible that when all the boys are dead they will quit eating toadstools and dying in spasms therefrom. The edible and poisonous varieties of these fungi are too close together in general and species for the average youngster to differentiate them. It continues, after many years, to be the same old story: Eat it; if it kills you it is a toadstool; if it agrees with you it is a mushroom. Some years ago the department of agriculture at Washington issued an elaborate and beautiful set of illustrations of mushrooms and "near" mushrooms, labeling one set "edible" and the other "poisonous." The story leaked out that the printers got the labels mixed, and that the transposition was not discovered until the work had been sent broadcast. The officials did some tall hustling in an effort to call in the issue. A well-known physician said to me the other day: "Owing to the very great difficulty in ordinary life of detecting the true from the false, my mushroom advice has usually been 'let both kinds alone.'"—New York Press.

MISS JULIE FLORENCE WALSH

made from native roots and herbs. No other medicine in the country has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female ills.

Miss J. F. Walsh, of 328 W. 36th St., New York City, writes:—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been of inestimable value in restoring my health. I suffered from female illness which caused dreadful headaches, dizziness, and dull pains in my back, but your medicine soon brought about a change in my general condition, built me up and made me perfectly well."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints, such as Backache, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and organic diseases. It is invaluable in preparing for child-birth and during the Change of Life. It cures Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, and invigorates the whole system.

Irs Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

WOMEN SUFFER

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong?

The cause may be easily traced to some feminine derangement which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, dragging sensations, flatulency, nervousness, and sleeplessness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded, a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result. The best remedy for all these symptoms is

ADOLESCENCE OF THE DOLLAR.

Present Unit of Value Has Had Many Forms and Shapes.

The dollar took some rounding, Nor did it formerly ring true, but, much alive, simply gave a bleat or bellow. Cattle, among country folk, at one time constituted the dollar, while primitive man generally made use of any article sufficiently abundant for the standard payment of all merchandise, writes R. Holt Lomax in Harper's Weekly. Thus, in ancient Greece, a large bronze tripod had the value of a dozen oxen. A good hard working woman, on the other hand, was given in exchange for only four such beasts. When metal took the place of money, the dollar clung to its traditions, and coins were still called after live stock. Thus, "pecunia," applied to metal money, derived its origin from "pecus" (cattle). From the custom of counting heads of cattle came the present designation of a sum in cash—capital, or "capita" (heads). In Sanscrit, rounpa, (herd, flock) made roupya, or the Indian rupee, while the ingots of electrum, or admixture of gold and silver, when first in use as money, bore the impress of an ox or cow. Not clumsy, but too fragile, were the shells in use as money by the negroes of Africa, and throughout ancient Asia, where the natives, taken by its beauty, gave the shell a money value.

PERFECT SUBSTITUTE FOR INK.

Signature in Indelible Pencil on Wet Check Will Be Accepted.

"Who has a fountain pen?" asked the nervous man as he fished out his check book. "I have to pay mine host his bill, and as I'm going out of town for a couple of weeks, I want to get the job off my hands. He hasn't a pen and ink here." "Here is an indelible pencil," said a friend, as he reached into his vest pocket. "That won't do," snapped the nervous man. "No bank will take a check written with a pencil." "Oh, yes, provided you wet the check first," said the friend soothingly. "If you can't get water, lick the check as you would a stamp and then do your writing while it is still moist. An indelible pencil is filled with nothing but ink powder, compressed into solidity. When it is moistened it becomes ink. Try it." "I see," said the nervous man as he signed his check with a flourish, "that there are more ways of killing a cat than choking it with hot butter."

Letting Go All Holds.

Once there was a woman who had spent many, many years in making green lampmats—these mats, you know, that have fuzzy borders—you put them on the center of the table as ornaments—and never, never had made them of any other color than green. One day, when in an unusually wicked mood, she shut herself up in her room, locked the door, pulled down the blinds, and then, yielding to an uncontrollable impulse, she dissipated in the most reckless manner by crocheting a red lampmat.

Lost in the Telephone.

Henry Abraham has calculated the maximum effectiveness of the telephone for a sound of given pitch and a current of measured intensity. The result shows that there is great room for improvement in this respect. Notwithstanding the apparent extreme sensitiveness of the best telephones, they are, after all, surprisingly ineffective, since they transmit to the ear in the form of sound-waves less than a thousandth part of the energy received from the line.

PLAY TIME FOR CHILDREN.

First Seven Years of Life Should Be Devoted to Games.

The first seven years of a child's life should be one grand period of play. Games which bring into play all the muscles of the body, and which at the same time divert the mind, should be taught them. Buy him books which have interesting pictures representing the different trades and occupations. These will interest him more and give him more definite ideas than any descriptions. Blocks which have pictures on them of the different animals and flowers will afford him much amusement. When he is a little older a box of the little red kindergarten blocks should be given him. Teach the child to build houses, barns, bridges, etc. Such amusement as that will be instructive. In an older child one should encourage outdoor sports. The Irish mails, which are propelled by the handle which is held in the hands and pushed backward and forward, are to be recommended. They strengthen the back and arms. Of course, a child should be taught to help in the way of putting away his toys and picking up articles. One mother said when sewing she would purposely drop her scissors or spool and explain to her child how much he would help by picking it up. Be extremely pleased when the child performs any little service like this, and this will encourage him more than talking could.

WOMAN WHO IS APPRECIATED.

She of Sunny, Cheerful Temperament Always Popular.

The woman who is appreciated is generous not so much with money as with large-heartedness and thoughtfulness and sympathy. The world loves the one who can find a redeeming quality, even in the greatest of sinners, one who forbears to strike a defenseless soul. The sunny, hopeful woman is ever in request. Every door flies open to her who has a cherry, pleasant word and a bright smile. She is the woman who is always considerate of the rights of others and never attempts to monopolize the conversation or to make herself the center of attraction. She realizes that money will not buy love. That though a woman may enjoy every comfort and luxury obtainable, her home may be absolutely cheerless because of love's absence. She knows that there is no woman living who, deep down in her heart, does not appreciate being cared for, admired and loved by those she comes in contact with.

The Ferocious Mascalonge.

In the bed of a drained-off lake was found the skull of a mascalonge with a swan's skull inside of it, and the teeth were locked in the bone, showing that the strong, powerful bird had been attacked during a time when its head was under water, and possibly in the fierce battle that must have ensued each combatant drowned the other. The fish was supposed to have been about 70 pounds in weight. Another case on record is that of a five-pound fish being found dead, apparently choked by the partly swallowed body of another fish of three pounds. So voracious is the mascalonge that it will devour any living thing that comes within its vision. Full-grown bullfrogs, good sized ducklings, small aquatic birds, as well as many water mammals, become an easy prey to its yawning sepulcher of a mouth.—Metropolitan Magazine.

The Mildest and Most Effective Laxative Known

No laxative sold in our store can compare with this perfect bowel regulator in gentleness and efficiency. It is not a rearrangement of old laxative and cathartic drugs, but an entirely new laxative and cathartic. All the good points of other laxatives have been carefully preserved in this new laxative, while their faults have been as skillfully eliminated.

Rexall Orderlies

APPRECIATE LAND OF LIBERTY.

Returning Immigrants Go Back With Fond Thoughts of America.

The steerage passengers who sail from America may be roughly divided into two classes—those who go home because they have succeeded, and those who go home because they have failed. The children are always loath to return, says the author of "On the Trail of the Immigrant," especially those who have gone to school in America. Amushka, a bright 12-year-old girl, goes from a Pennsylvania town to the Frenzin district in Hungary. She is dressed "American fashion," has gone to the public school and speaks English fairly well. "Amushka Moya, tell me, do you like to go back to Hungary?" "No, stree. America is the best country. There we have white bread and butter and candy, and I can chew gum to beat the band," and tears fill her eyes at the memory of the American luxuries she has tasted. One of the returning, who had traveled far, and had seen on that journey the galleries of Paris, Munich and Dresden, said: "I tell you, the finest piece of statuary in the whole world is the Goddess of Liberty in New York harbor."—Youth's Companion.

WAS ALMOST TOO PARTICULAR.

Colored Man's Literal Obedience Caused Slight Embarrassment.

An old bachelor, who lives in the suburbs of a southern city, hires a negro to clean up his room, fill the lamp and perform like services. A few days ago the colored domestic, who had been using his employer's blacking, said: "Boss, our blackin' am done out." "What do you mean by saying 'our blacking'?" growled the sordid employer, "everything belongs to me. I want you to understand that nothing belongs to you." The terrified darkey apologized and promised to remember. On the following Sunday the bachelor happened to meet the colored menial, accompanied by a chocolate-colored woman pushing a baby carriage. "Was that your baby in that carriage?" he asked the next day at his home when he was entertaining quite a number of his friends. "No boss, dat's not our chile; dat's your chile. I'se neber gwine to say nuffin belongs to me no moah."

Trying for Faker Prize.

He didn't set himself up to be a nature faker, but he confessed he knew a story which, if not exactly accurate, was at all events somewhat brilliant. "This happened in the cottage of a peasant who had his quiver full of children. When the baby was put to sleep at night every one in the family was enjoined to be quiet. They were, including the dog. One night, however, the dog fancied the room wasn't as quiet as it should be. There was an old-fashioned clock in the corner of the room, which ticked somewhat loudly with its ponderous pendulum. The dog, thinking that this ticking might disturb the baby, went on tip-toe, and, putting his paw against the pendulum, stopped it. And that's a fact—" But even the oysters on the counter gaped with astonishment. —New York Press.

Couldn't Lift Ten Pounds.

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Strength and Health to the Sufferer, Making Him Feel Twenty-Five Years Younger.

Sick kidneys cause a weak, lame or aching back, and a weak back makes a weak man. Can't be well and strong until the kidneys are cured. Treat them with Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's the testimony of one man cured.

J. B. CORTON.

A WORD FOR THE DANDIES.

Fine Clothes and Brave Hearts a Most Effective Combination.

One is sorry for the dandies of our day, because, though their clothes fit ever so well, and are ever so fresh, custom prescribes a dark or subfusc hue, and no lace, no velvet (above all, not on coat collars); no slashes, puffs and vandykings; no pearls and gold; no gules and azure. The common trousers are shapeless things, and, for perfection, you need two pairs every day. Genius is stunted, display is checked, and, though you may wear brilliant hose with knickerbockers in the country, glorious waistcoats are rarely seen except in the windows of tailors' shops at Oxford and Cambridge. The dandy can only cultivate immaculate neatness and perfection of fit. Our officers at Ladysmith, when the place was relieved, looked like skeletons, but were as spruce and neat, I have been told, as ever they showed in the park. They cultivated self-respect, like Stendhal, the celebrated novelist, who was said to have been the only man that shaved every day in the dreadful winter retreat from Moscow. This is the dandyism which we admire, the perfection of personal self-respect exhibited in Julius Caesar, Claverhouse and Montrose, combing his love-locks, like the Three Hundred of Thermopylae, on the morning of his shameful death. He went to the gibbet "like a bridegroom to his bride." History, and "the human heart by which we live," have an immortal tenderness for the great, the wise, the brave, who have died dandies as they lived, gallant hearts and stately gentlemen.—Century Magazine.

MADE HIS BLUFF STRONG.

Trouble Was the Horse Would Not Be Reasonable.

Charles H. Wilson, the superintendent of Alfred G. Vanderbilt's remarkable stables, said at Newport of a groom he had discharged: "The man was a bluff. He pretended to know all about horses, when in truth he could hardly tell a hackney from a cow. We soon got on to him. His case was like the fake blacksmith's. There was a chap who thought blacksmithing looked simple and easy, and so, being out of work, he decided to have a try at it. He went to a smith and asked for a job. 'Well,' said the smith, 'you are a strong, likely-looking fellow. What experience have you had?' 'Eleven years,' was the prompt answer. 'All right, I'll try you,' said the blacksmith. 'Shoe that mare while I go home to dinner.' The smith, on his return from dinner frowned, and said to the new hand: 'What, haven't you got that mare shod yet?' The bluffer bit his lip, flushed and replied: 'I can't get her confounded foot in the vice.'"

HAD NO USE FOR BABIES.

Dog Intended to Be the Only Pet in the Household.

I owned a black and tan terrier from 1874 to 1881. I received him when quite a puppy and he was with me through part of my university and the whole of my seminary terms. In 1880 I married and in 1881 my first child was born. The first time she was brought down into the sitting room I, like a proud father, took the little one in my arm. The dog came in and expressed his jealousy by a series of growls and an attempt to get at the child by jumping. I gave him a hint with my foot and he walked out of the house. We saw nothing of him for over three months. One day while walking near the outer part of the town where we lived we saw old Croaker, as we called him. He took no notice of us, but walked straight to a place where there was a trim-looking garden and a neat-looking house. Upon inquiry we found that it was inhabited by two elderly spinster sisters. The dog had gone to them and could not be induced to leave. He was determined to avoid a similar danger in the future.—Chicago Tribune.

Wrecks in San Francisco Bay.

What a melancholy sight the bottom of San Francisco bay must present. A diver recently told of going down to the City of Chester, sunk many years ago at the mouth of the harbor by one of the large China steamers. He descended with a stout heart and a mind lured to the tragedies of the sea, but when he saw two sisters of charity sleeping quietly in their berths, and nearby a man on his knees, swaying back and forth with the motion of the tide, and a dim, mysterious light over all the somber objects, his heart failed him and he gave the signal to be hauled above. The San Rafael lies there, too. She went down in 1901, sent to the bottom by a collision with another steamer in the fog. The relentless tide runs over her cozy cabins and beautiful stairway, dark with the passage of time.

WATER FROM SAND DUNES.

Source of Part of the Netherlands' Drinking Supply.

The supply of water for Amsterdam and The Hague is collected from sand dunes bordering on the sea. In the dunes near Harlem, where they have a width of nearly two and a half miles, the summits are 20 to 23 feet above the sea level. The quantity of rain water percolating to the ground-water streams is estimated at 1.19 inches per annum. From Amsterdam the water is collected in open canals, which are never excavated below sea level. For The Hague it is collected in stoneware pipes in a bed of shells laid at a depth of 13 feet below sea level. Harlem is beginning to build wells 50 to 60 feet below sea level to collect water. As fresh water is found at such depth under the dunes, while the water at the same depth in the immediate neighborhood is salt, it is thought that the hydraulic pressure of the dune water prevents sea impregnation. The water contains much iron in solution and for this reason, as well as for other reasons, is filtered at the three places mentioned before being pumped into the mains. When the water is collected in wells or pipes it must be aerated before being filtered.

DUCKS ON A SPREE.

Trick of Young Girl Yields Good Financial Returns.

The 15-year-old daughter of a farmer living on the shores of Chesapeake bay, where wild ducks are found in greater numbers than anywhere else in the United States, has proved herself a better hunter than any of the men who make a living by it. She noticed that at one spot hundreds of ducks came ashore to eat the sorrel plant. She got a peck of corn, soaked it for two days in whisky, and then at night scattered it on the ground. Her father laughed at the idea, but he laughed too soon. The next morning a large number of the ducks came ashore for the sorrel, but took the corn instead. The result was that over 50 of them were made so drunk that they were easily captured on the shore or by a boat, and the girl made over $25 at one haul. Perhaps ducks shouldn't be tempted to become drunkards, but it is certainly an easy and profitable way to gather them in for the market. The wonder is if the people who eat them will also become hilarious?

Hourglasses for Pulpits.

The 20-minute sermon is a purely modern invention, as is proved by the number of pulpit hourglasses that are still to be found in many old churches. In the register of St. Catherine's, Aldgate, the following entry, dated 1564, occurs: "Paid for an hour-glass that hanged by the pulpit, where the preacher doth make a sermon, that he may know how the hour passeth away, one shilling." A modern pulpit glass—probably the only one of its kind—is to be found in the Chapel Royal, Savoy. It is an 18-minute glass, and was placed in the chapel on its restoration in 1867.—Westminster Gazette.

Remember the Pioneers.

It may be that some of the younger generation are inclined to forget the debt they owe to the pioneers, and even to scoff at their influence and ideals. If this is true it is unfortunate, and there is all the more reason for the perpetuation of pioneer associations and the wielding of pioneer influence. To belong to such an organization is to be inscribed on a role of honor. In this new country it is almost a title of nobility. The sons and grandsons of these sturdy men and women should cherish their history and traditions and preserve them from oblivion.

Brigand's New Means of Extortion.

Even cremation has been made to subserve the purposes of the brigand in a manner in which those interested ought to take note. At Strasburg there is a crematorium with a depository for urn attached. From this place there disappeared some days ago the urn containing the ashes of two members of a wealthy family named Berle. The police have been quite unable to obtain any clue but the family were called up by telephone the other evening and notified that the restoration of the urn would cost them £5,000.—London Globe.

Decorations Not Necessary.

It was Mr. Hobart's first experience with waffles and he liked the taste of them. When he had been served twice he called the waiter to him and spoke confidentially. "I'm from Pokeville," he said, "and we're plain folks there; don't care much for style, but we do know good food when we get it. I want another plate, full o' those cakes, but you tell the cook she needn't stop to put that fancy printing on 'em; just send 'em along plain."—Youth's Companion.
