

WINCHESTER REPEATING RIFLES

There are many makes of hunting rifles, but only one that is reliable; that's the Winchester. Winchester rifles repeat. They don't jam, catch or fail to extract. From the eleven different models of Winchester Repeaters, you can easily select a rifle adapted for hunting your favorite game, be it squirrels or grizzly bears. Winchester rifles are made for low, medium or high power cartridges in all desirable calibers from .22 to .50, and in styles and weights to suit everybody. No matter what Winchester you select, you can count on its being well made, safe, accurate and reliable.

Winchester guns and Winchester ammunition—the Red W Brand—are made for each other and sold everywhere.

MORE THAN A MILLION WINCHESTERS ARE IN USE

RANGELEY HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING ALL DESTROYED

At about 7:30 P. M. Sunday fire was discovered in the basement of the school building at Rangeley village. A stream from the hydrant was turned upon the blaze and it was supposed the fire was extinguished, but in a short time flames burst through the roof, the fire having worked its way up between the partitions. Despite the efforts of the fire department the building was practically destroyed together with all of its contents. The house was built in 1903.

A large addition was made and a steam heating plant installed in 1909.

The building contained rooms for all grades from the sub-primary to the High school, also a finely equipped laboratory. All the rooms were fully supplied with appliances for up-to-date school work. The loss includes beside a large number of town books, valuable papers and books belonging to several teachers. The loss is estimated at $15,000, insured for $12,500.

The superintendent and members of the school board met early Monday morning and made arrangements for the continuation of the school which will begin Monday, Nov. 6. They will be housed as follows: High school in Board of Trade rooms, grammar and intermediate in Town House, primary over A. M. Hoar and Son's store, sub primary in church vestry.

CHILDREN'S NIGHT OBSERVED

Phillips, Maine, November 1.—The Rebekahs very pleasantly entertained their families at the Odd Fellows hall Saturday night.

At 6:30 a baked bean supper was served, then later in the evening the children furnished an entertainment, consisting of violin solo, Mildred Smith; recitation, Ruth Morton; organ selections, Getrude Dunham; recitation, Clarice Davenport; recitation, Berilla McKenzie; recitation, Getrude Dunham; solo, Louise Davenport; character sketch, Harlan White; solo, Florian Wheeler.

After the entertainment the remainder of the evening was spent in playing games.

The committee on arrangements were Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Will Dill, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Graffam, Mrs. Eva Toothaker.

MASQUERADE SKATE

Phillips, Maine, November 1.—A masquerade skate was held at the pavilion last Tuesday evening with a very good attendance. The rink was decorated with lanterns. Those masking and the characters represented were: Queen of hearts, Doris Haley; clown, Seward Hoyt; Grecian girl, Mildred Mahoney; old woman, Dolly Frazier; painter, Bert Welch; quilt girl, Freeda Hoyt; old man, George Hanscom; an aged couple, Levi Leavitt and Ralph Trecartin; Dutchman, Billy King; red man, Robert Presby.

BADGER--OAKES

Rangeley, Maine, October 30.—A pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Oakes on Pleasant street at 8.30 o'clock Wednesday evening, Oct. 25, when their daughter, Ila E. Oakes, was united to Henry W. Badger of Phillips.

The bride was charming in her gown of white lansdowne trimmed with silk trimmings and chiffon; the single ring service was used and the ceremony was performed by Rev. L. A. White. The bride carried a bridal bouquet of cream roses.

The parlor was prettily decorated in green and white. The couple stood in the bay window under a bell of green and white.

There were 50 guests, besides the family. Mr. and Mrs. Badger were remembered with many beautiful and costly gifts.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Badger, Mr. Frank and Miss Elsie Badger and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlton of Phillips and Miss Sawyer of Waterville. Ice cream and assorted cakes were served and all wished Mr. and Mrs. Badger a happy and prosperous life.

ABBOTT 6. F. H. S. 5.

Farmington, Maine, October 29.—Dingley and doughnuts were the two causes of defeat for the F. H. S. foot ball team on Pratt Field last Saturday afternoon. Dingley, who has been the star of the High school athletic teams for four years past, is now the head coach of the Abbott and the result of his work showed in the game. The doughnuts were served by the sophomore class at the Hallowe'en dance given by them which was attended by many of the team. Sixteen of the Abbotts declined invitations, giving as their reason the game of the following day.

It was a hard fought game. Swallow and Lockwood for the Abbotts and Schugler Tardiff for the High school being the stars. Lull made a touchdown and Swallow kicked the goal for the Abbotts. Thomas made the touchdown but Knowlton failed to kick the goal for the High school. During the second half Harry Piedra, right end, injured his knee and his place was taken by his brother, A. Piedra. The injury is not permanent but will keep him confined to the house for sometime. A large crowd was out not only members of the schools but townspeople and friends of the teams, who aided in the cheering and school yells.

HUNTING, FISHING, TRAPPING and OUTING NOTES.

Walter D. Hinds, the taxidermist, received four moose and three deer heads for mounting recently says a Portland exchange. Two of the moose were killed in this State while the other two were New Brunswick heads.

Up to the present time Mr. Hinds has received at his Portland shop an even hundred deer heads.

One of the Maine heads was from H. B. Haring of Emerson, N. J., and it was in prime condition with many points on the broad bladed antlers; the other was the property of P. L. Schelling of Danforth.

The woods are fairly soaked with rain water and the hunters are in their glory, and from reports received direct from the big hunting region this morning, sportsmen were out in the woods at an early hour.

It is expected that there will be many deer brought into Portland after the few days of rain, and it is also expected that there will be more moose brought down.

The veteran hunters are beginning to make their preparations to enter the timber, but they will not depart from the cities until the cold weather sets in earnest, and it is far too warm yet for them to start. Men now in the woods are beginning to worry about their game keeping through this warm weather.

The new game warden at Bangor, Harry Stewart is complying with the law relating to the disposal of condemned game. The late warden held up two deer that came to Bangor last week and his successor has given them to the Bangor Children's Home and the Home of Aged Women. According to the new law confiscated game must be given to public institutions instead of being sold as formerly.

"It's a story in a nutshell, said Warden George Cushman at the Union Station last evening in Portland, "the deer are not coming out of the woods as fast now as they did at first, simply because they are a bit wild. They have been gunned by sportsmen and have been in the habit of hearing the firing of shotguns by partridge hunters and will strike for the deep timber when they hear a report of a rifle or shot gun."

Wednesday and Thursday of last week only four deer passed through the Union Station, Portland, and one of this number belonged to a Portland party. Friday there were 10 deer and yesterday 17 were brought in. R. D. Libby, R. P. Swan and Samuel Clark all of this city returned home last evening from Lobster lake each having one deer. Charles H. Johnson of Kennebunk was another fortunate hunter having one fine deer in his possession.

There were also six bunches of partridges which were consigned to Massachusetts parties.

Up to the present date there has been but one moose brought into Portland on the trains from the eastern part of the State, while the animal was not an extra large one it had a very even head of antlers and was in good condition. It was the property of a Mr. Adrian of New York City. Mr. Adrian passed through Portland the first of last week and purchased his license to hunt in this State at the Union Station from Warden Cushman, the first of the week he brought down his moose while hunting with a party of Maine friends in the woods back of Mattawamkeag.

Hunters are passing through Portland and Bangor in numbers every day now. Bangor game wardens are said to be complaining about the falling off of the game receipts in that city. This is due to the opening of the so called Kineo Line on the Somerset Branch of the Maine Central. Many hunters are branching off into the woods before reaching Bangor this year and a majority of the sportsmen are stopping off at the small stations along the Somerset railroad, while others are penetrating into the Rangeley region.

Lyman C. Fowler, Thomas H. Randall and W. A. Darrah are enjoying a gunning trip in Northern Maine for a few days. Mr. Randall who was formerly a resident of Aroostook county is well acquainted with that region and his friends are anticipating bringing home some excellent trophies as the result of his knowledge of the country.

Thomas H. Pratt, Isaac Haines and Edward A. Chaplin of Portland and J. F. Libby of Brighton very prominent sportsmen will leave tomorrow morning for their annual two weeks' hunting trip into the woods about the Forks of the Machias river. They will have as guests John L. Moulton, E. P. Getchell, Mr. Hunt and William F. Chaplin of this city. Messrs. Haines, Pratt, Chaplin and Libby have been going to the forks of the Machias and in the woods about Masardis for the past nine years and are thoroughly familiar with the woods in many sections of the State. Last year they had one of the finest displays of deer which has been brought into the city for many years, a photograph of their trophies being taken as they hung in front of the Edwards and Walkers store in Monument Square.—Portland Press.

STEVENS FIREARMS ARE IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Each recurring Christmas season emphasizes the great popularity of Stevens rifles, shotguns and pistols as Christmas gifts. The Stevens is the largest and most varied line of firearms before the public and all wants in rifles, shotguns and pistols—no matter how diverse in range—can be supplied from the Stevens output. The time honored and reliable Crack Shot and Favorite single shot rifles appeal to all live, outdoor boys and there is wider latitude than ever to utilize the Stevens for Christmas present purposes because of the addition of visible loading, repeating and high power repeating rifles, new double barrel hammer and hammerless models and repeating shotguns. All eminently suitable for man or boy.

For an ideal, permanent Christmas gift there is nothing that surpasses the Stevens. All up-to-date hardware and sporting goods merchants can quote attractive prices and Stevens quality and Stevens inflexible guarantee are known everywhere.

"Hullo John" said a Portland man to a friend of his whom he met on Exchange street the other morning. "I was just reading in the Press that you had got back from your hunting trip. Did you have a good time?"

"Fine," said his friend enthusiastically.

"How did you make it?" inquired the other.

"I made it fine," said John "until the last night. I was fifteen dollars ahead up to that time and just before we quit I run up against a straight flush with fours. What do you know about that? ain't that hard luck?"

"I should say so," said his friend, "I should try another locality another year."

TRAPPING

By GEORGE J. THIESSEN

ARTICLE 1. Primitive Methods of Trapping.

ARTICLE 2. Miscellaneous Information will appear in our Issue of November 16.

Just a word in regard to the author of these articles which are to appear in MAINE WOODS: Mr. Thiessen is one of the best known writers on traps and trapping in America; he is known wherever there are trappers, and comes to us recommended by some of the best fur men in the business. He conducts departments in "Successful Farming," the "Farmer and Breeder," "Farm Life," etc. For a time he was special writer for the "Fur News" magazine. Therefore, we are congratulating ourselves on being able to secure him to write for us.
The Editors.

INTRODUCTION.

America furnishes more furs than any other continent in the world. All over its vast area, men engage in the pursuit of fur bearing animals. Their habits are studied; trapping has become a science as the result. And the big prices paid for pelts richly recompenses the man who traps them.

During the past few years, an interest in trapping has increased. Those who live in rural districts—I refer particularly to farmer boys, etc., spend several months each year after furs. It pays them well, too. And now there is a demand from the readers of agricultural publications for articles on the use of traps. Most of these papers have met the demand or have made arrangements to do so. These facts show that aside from the professional pelt hunters, there are thousands of amateurs interested in the capture of fur-bearing animals.

In writing these articles for "MAINE WOODS," I am coming in contact with many of my new class—professional trappers. A few of you have read some of my trapper's guides, no doubt, so with these I feel well acquainted. The others I desire to know, and in order to do so I am going to join those around the camp fire and make myself one of the party.

A few words more: The object of these articles is to sincerely aid the trapper. I care not how expert you may be; if I can teach you one new thing or show you a new set, then the time you spent reading my writings will not be lost. With this constantly in mind, I shall work.

PRIMITIVE METHODS OF TRAPPING.

Among the first things which the early New England settlers noticed when they landed in America, were the beautiful furs which the Indians wore. Further investigation proved the country to abound with animals from which pelts could be taken. Many, realizing the value of these skins, set out to procure them. But what did they have to do it with? Until the time of Samuel Newhouse, but two primitive devices were employed—the Deadfall and the Snare. These were crude, and yet so skillful was the old time trapper that the effectiveness of neither could be questioned. And I might also add that there are many today who use both methods of trapping with good results. Yet since the steel trap, practically speaking, the Deadfall and Snare have been relegated. Most are familiar with both, so no time will be devoted to an explanation of them.

NOTE—The lynx trapper uses the Snare very frequently, and with good success. When I stated that both it and the Deadfall had gone out of use, practically speaking, I meant that the majority of trappers do not use them.

BAIT; NATURAL AND PATENT.

The question of bait is one of great importance. Meat has been used for years, and will in most cases prove a "draw" for flesh eating fur bearers. But now in many localities settlements are so thick that the animals are furnished with more than they can eat. To meet this situation, many patent baits were placed upon the market. Chief among these was Funstons' Animal Bait. It was compounded with a view to arousing the sexual passions of animals. And the scheme worked, as testified by trappers all over the world.

For muskrats, corn, apples, carrots, beets, parsnips, etc., are good. Aside from meat—I refer to the flesh of poultry, cattle, and the like—fish, clams, honey and crabs make excellent decoys for the raccoon. Honey will not attract the mink, but the other bait I have named will.

Meat bait after being frozen does not prove a good decoy, in most cases. The Whiskey Jack, a bird which will eat the meat placed near sets as fast as the trapper leaves it, is also bothersome. That is why patent decoys is used so universally by trappers. Cold does not affect it; birds do not destroy sets made with it. Funsten's Bait is compounded for all fur-bearing animals.

NOTE: The next article by Mr. Thiessen entitled, "Miscellaneous Information," will appear in our November 16th issue. Don't miss it.

DON'T FORGET.

Whenever you write to one of our advertisers, don't forget to mention Maine Woods. It is important to you to do so; important to us and the advertiser naturally wants to know where you found his name. Tell him, and thus do a good turn for all concerned.

Russian Oysters Poor.

Moscow's oysters come from the Black sea. They are not larger than the end of one's thumb and cost five cents apiece. Very few are eaten.

RARE SPECIMEN OF DEER.

The remains of a species of deer, exceptionally rare, in this State was found by William A. McIntire and Bert Brown of Foxcroft while hunting near the Fern place near Sebek Lake several days ago. The deer had evidently been wounded in the jaw and had met death by starvation. The animal was perfectly white with the exception of the head and neck which were slightly tinged with gray.

AN UNUSUAL FEAT

Two Bangor Hunters Shoot Big Moose Near Glenburn.

ONLY 12 MILES FROM CITY

Edwin S. Wilson and Charles A. Robbins the Fortunate Sportsmen. Will Weigh Over 700 Pounds.

Local sportsmen who have been in the habit of seeking their hunting grounds far up in the wilds of Maine and especially those who have tramped forests and meadows in distant sections and returned home without their quota of deer—not to mention moose—will be somewhat abashed to learn of the good fortune of two Bangor hunters in bringing down a moose not more than a dozen miles from the city.

The time was at about daylight one morning recently, the place Marston's meadow, between Glenburn and Hudson and the principals in this little story Edward S. Wilson, a well known Bangor insurance agent in the Merrill Trust building and Charles A. Robbins of the Nichols Dry Goods Co., of the same city and these gentlemen are now receiving congratulations from their friends on their good fortune and ability as hunters. Some of their friends—their incredulous ones—have intimated that they would have to be shown and have suggested that a taste of the meat or an invitation to a barbecue, would be the only animal was travelling.

Mr. Robbins was met at the Larry place, Mr. Peavey being forced to return to Bangor to keep an engagement, and the two started out on the hot foot for what was said to be the biggest moose that ever stalked the woods of Maine. They failed to sight the moose that afternoon and when darkness shut in, not daunted by their poor fortune, decided to spend the night in an old barn on the meadow and left word with Mr. Larry to be called at daylight. When the first light of day began to throw a little light inside the barn the hunters turned out and were putting on their shoes when Larry came running in with the breathless information that the moose had returned to the meadow and was grazing not far down the line. The two hunters were away in an instant and within five minutes Mr. Wilson had fired the first shot, at a distance of about 300 yards, it taking effect in the breast coming out at the left hind hip.

The moose crashed off through the woods but it had been fatally wound-thing to overcome their skepticism. However that may be the feat was accomplished and the facts may be related as follows:

Mr. Wilson and Howard Peavey sought out their favorite bird hunting ground on the Marston meadow near Glenburn and were soon bagging birds here and there. Late in the morning Mr. Wilson learned from some sectionmen working near there of the presence in the vicinity of a moose and as Mr. Wilson is a good sportsman as well as a good hunter, and not going to let such a chance get by him, telephoned in to Bangor and by 2 o'clock that afternoon Mr. Robbins was on his way to the Marston meadow with Mr. Wilson's repeater which was destined to lay the moose low. In the meantime Mr. Wilson took up a zig zag course from the railroad toward the Larry place on the meadow and was fortunate enough to find fresh moose tracks which verified the sectionmen's statement and gave him an idea as to the direction which the moose was found a couple of rods distant staggering along about ready to fall. Two shots each from Mr. Wilson's automatic repeater and Mr. Robbins' shotgun finished the animal and no more elated hunters have ever stood over their game than did these two local sportsmen, who had succeeded in bringing down, almost in their own back door yards, the biggest game that stalks the Maine wilds.

The moose will weigh between 600 and 700 pounds, being plump and fat and several local marketmen put in bids to purchase it for local trade. Mr. Wilson says that there are more moose in that vicinity, as well as deer and that it is one of the best hunting grounds near Bangor.

This moose is the first one killed within a radius of a dozen miles of Bangor, at least for some time, and both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Robbins are deserving of the many congratulations which they are receiving. They also brought home six woodcock and five partridges.

A BLOODTHIRSTY EDITOR.

An editor has drawn up some new game laws which he wants adopted. The following is a summary:

"Book agents may be killed from Oct. 1 to Sept. 1; spring poets, from March 1 to June 1; sandalmon-gers from April 1 to Feb. 1; umbrella borrowers, from Aug. 1, to Nov. 1 and Feb. 1 to May 1, while every man who accepts a newspaper two years and upon being presented with his bill, says 'I never ordered it!' may be killed on the spot without reserve or relief."

PARTY AT SEBEC LAKE.

Messrs. S. T. Mansfield and H. H. Maguire gave a number of Odd Fellows an outing at their cottage at Sebec lake Oct. 14 and 15. The party included C. F. Palmer, W. H. Bartlett, G. W. Harvey, E. D. Noyes, A. G. Brown, G. R. Foss and E. P. McPherson. The gentlemen were conveyed in buckboards to the landing, and across the lake in row boats. The time was spent in hunting, story telling, enjoying graphophone music and eating. Among the good things provided by the host was a fine rabbit stew, of which all partook heartily. It was reported that one of the party was hungry all the time and all the amusement that he asked for was to eat. At a late hour Sunday afternoon the party broke up. A vote of thanks was extended the hosts and the occasion was pronounced one of the pleasantest of the season.

LYNN HUNTER, AGED 88, STARTS FOR MAINE WOODS.

John W. Hodgkins of 94 Lexington street, Lynn, Mass., aged 88 years, veritable Daniel Boone with the rifle, has gone on a hunting trip into the Maine woods. He will stay until late in November and promises to bring his son-in-law, Street Commissioner George McPhetres of Lynn, some venison to go with the turkey at Thanksgiving.

Mr. Hodgkins, who expects to demonstrate that his fingers is as steady and his eye as keen as ever, has gone to Pistol lake, 60 miles above Bangor, where moose are plentiful. He will be met and accompanied by his two sons, Sanford and Silas Hodgkins, experienced woodsmen. John's shooting box at Pistol lake will be the headquarters. The place is reached by a 20-mile drive and a long canoe trip.

Mr. Hodgkins has made more than 70 hunting expeditions in his day, and attributes his long life and health to the time he has spent in the woods. He has lived with Mr. McPhetres eight years.

SNAPPERS.

Philadelphia furriers and other epicures in that city are remarkably fond of real snapping turtles as food, and obtain the bulk of their supply of this delicacy from Mercer and Hunterdon counties, New Jersey. The Jersey turtle hunters obtain an average of about seventy-five cents per turtle, and make good money during the summer season, and would make more if they did not all too frequently gather the eggs as well as catch the snappers that lay them.

EEL STORY.

An eel caught in the neighborhood of Sydney, B. C., measured three feet, seven inches long, and seven inches in girth.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

New Brunswick has long had an unchallenged reputation among sportsmen as a land of proved desire and known delight. One-third of the Province is good hunting ground.

STATE OF MAINE.

Treasurer's Office.

Augusta, Oct. 13, 1911.

Pursuant to Chap. 9, Sec. 44 of the Revised Statutes, as amended by Chap. 226 of the Public Laws of 1909, I will at the Treasurer of State's office at Augusta, on the twenty-second day of November next, at 11 o'clock A. M., sell and convey by deed to the highest bidder, all the interest of the State in the tracts of land hereinafter described, lying in unincorporated townships, said tracts having been forfeited to the State for non-payment of State, County and Forestry District Taxes, certified to the Treasurer of State for the year 1909. The sale and conveyance of each tract will be made subject to a right in the owner or part owner whose rights have been forfeited, to redeem the same at any time within one year after the sale, by paying or tendering to the purchaser his proportion of what the purchaser paid therefor at the sale with interest at the rate of twenty per cent. per annum from the time of sale, and one dollar for release, or such owner may redeem his interest by paying as aforesaid to the Treasurer of State as provided in Chap. 9, Sec. 46, of the Revised Statutes.

No tract, however, will be sold at a price less than the full amount due thereon for such unpaid State, County and Forestry District taxes, interest and costs, as described in the following schedule:

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1911.

A WORD FROM THE EDITORS.

Have you looked at the new features that we have added to this already popular paper this week? We have just begun, and hope that we may have many more new features to add during the coming winter months. We are trying to make this the leading sporting paper in the United States and Canada, but we cannot do this without the aid of our many advertisers and readers.
You say, "What can I do to help you?" This is what you can do, dear reader. You can write us and tell us what you think of the paper and tell us what part of it you like and what part you do not like. You can send us photographs of some of your hunting, fishing trapping and camping trips, accompanying such photographs with a brief sketch of the trip represented. All of you readers that are in arrears on your subscription account can help us a great deal by remitting to us the amount already due. These accounts do not amount to much when taken singly, but when you stop to think that we have many on our list that are in arrears, you will see that it is necessary for us to keep them collected up as far as possible. Will you help us? The Editors.

HUNTING ON OTHER PEOPLE'S PROPERTY.

No doubt most hunters have always been under the impression that any farm or land owner could, if he was so disposed, exclude any one from hunting, trapping or fishing on his premises.

It seems, however, that this is a matter in dispute. In fact, only recently the highest courts of two states ruled adversely on the game and fish laws.

A section of the game laws of Illinois gives the owner of land the right to prohibit hunting on his premises, and this section was upheld by the supreme court of that state.
The question was put up to the court squarely in a recent case, and the judge in delivering his opinion said:

"No one has immunity to privilege to trespass upon the land of others for any purpose."

On the same day, however, the supreme court of Maine handed down a decision that lakes and ponds held by private individuals or clubs are public places and free to all citizens for hunting or fishing. Even if a club or individual owns all the land surrounding the pond, the public has a right to cross and use the pond, according to the opinion held by this court.

Of course there will be a difference of opinion as to the justice of this decision, as some will say that any property owner should enjoy the right to exclude any person from trespassing upon his premises for any purpose whatsoever. Some of the Maine fishermen, however, were no doubt rejoiced over the decision, and will lose no time in taking advantage of the privilege accorded them.

It is advisable for sportsmen of other states, however, not to jump at conclusions, and on the strength of this decision, defy the game laws of their own state.

The courts of most of the other states would, no doubt, render opinions favorable to the land owners, and it is advisable for sportsmen to continue to heed the warning sign,
"No Hunting Allowed," when and wherever they may encounter it.

"Mistaken for a deer" and "shot by a companion" continue to lead as a reason for the shooting of hunters.
It is small wonder there are so many cases of hunters being mistaken for game, as, not only in Maine but in many other states, the woods are alive with hunters during the hunting season. Reliable officials estimate that there are at least 20,000 hunters in the woods of Maine this season.

TOO HASTY.

The practice of wearing clothing which made a striking contrast with the prevailing surroundings does not seem to have accomplished the expected results. A red sweater and cap should be conspicuous enough to save the wearer from being a deer, but the trouble is that with the modern, high power rifles, sportsmen do not wait to see the object fired at. In spite of fatalities of other years of the persistent warning of friends and the public press, the hints of guides, local assistants, etc., who know the ground, the game and the danger, in spite of all this, knowing that their rifles will easily pass through small limbs or be but little affected by limbs, leaves, weeds, etc., they fire at the moving object without knowing what it is.

CARELESSNESS.

There is a carelessness which one might forgive. A man enters the house with a loaded gun which, accidentally discharged, kills some one. Another drags a weapon across the fences, catching the hammers and killing a friend near. Such act is gross carelessness but of a different kind from that of the man who shoots and then looks to see what he has shot. We have heard such shooting palliated by saying that the sportsman was undoubtedly on his first trip, and seeing the movement in the brush where he has been told that he would find deer, he naturally thinks that he has found the game, and knowing that his rifle has power enough he shoots through the brush, waiting not an instant for fear the animal might take fright and escape. Bosh! What sort of a man is he who knowing that the woods is full of hunters all stealing through the brush anxious to hide as well as himself, that many deaths occur in this way every year, yet for a mere chance of a shot which by perfect silence he would have gotten had it been a deer, knowing all this, fires and takes human life?
It may not be crime, may be only carelessness, but it certainly is criminal carelessness which deserves punishment by the law.

DON'T FORGET.

Whenever you write to one of our advertisers, don't forget to mention Maine Woods. It is important to you to do so; important to us and the advertiser naturally wants to know where you found his name.
Tell him, and thus do a good turn for all concerned.

ONE FROM CUBA.

Lewiston, Cuba, Oct. 20, 1911.
To the Maine Woods:

I am a little girl, 10 years old. I live in Lewiston, Cuba. I have two brothers, father and mother and my father's parents. We have been here eight years. My father has charge of four cattle ranches. It gets pretty hot here some days. It is 90 degrees in the shade today. I speak Spanish which I have learned since I came here. Perhaps you would like to know what kind of plants grow here. We have platinos, bananas and oranges.
We have beautiful flowers the year around because we never have frost. I have for pets, 2 parrots, 2 cats, 2 deer, lamb and a horse that I ride. I like horseback riding. We also have chickens, geese and ducks.
I am very fond of animals because they are God's creatures.

Our neighbors are all colored people. I am very much interested in reading MAINE WOODS and hope to see this little letter printed. Well I guess I will close and feed my pets. Good bye, from,

NEW YORK MAN'S OPINION
ABOUT FOOL HUNTERS.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 23, 1911.
To the Editor of Maine Woods:
Don't you think that it's about time this slaughter of guides in the Maine woods was stopped? I do. A guide at three dollars a day is not supposed to act as a target for the d—d fool man whom he guides. Be that man a fool doctor from New York or some one else. There is no excuse at all for this murder of Hight. Any one who is not a born fool would never think of shooting at a "movement in the brush." I hope that the law will make an example of this doctor fool from New York, and fine him ten years at least in prison.

I hope also that Hight's family will sue for heavy damages. Make this gun fool pay for his folly. I am a New York man, visiting at present in Alabama. I can not tell you how wrought up I am over this slaughter of Hight, whom I know.

LOCAL NOTES

Mrs. O. H. Hersey and daughter, Miss Avilla, returned Tuesday night from a week's visit in Buckfield.

Quite a little fire scare occurred Wednesday noon when an alarm was given from C. E. Barker's residence.
Fire caught around the kitchen chimney but was very soon put out by the fire company, who responded very quickly. Quite a bit of damage was done in the ell part.

the village for a week with his grandson, Donald Hodges, who is attending school.

Elwin Webber, who has been ill with pneumonia and has had two operations for water on the lung is reported as quite comfortable although not gaining as fast as his friends wish he might.

Miss Vesta Phillips received word recently of the death of her brother, Mr. Stephen Phillips, who died, Sunday, October 8th, at Oakland, Cal.
Mr. Phillips has not been in this section for many years, but is pleasantly remembered by many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Toothaker went to Portland this week, Monday, where Mrs. Toothaker will remain for awhile on account of ill health.

HUNTING NEWS FROM PERU.

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Nov. 1, 1911.

We are well pleased with the improvements in the Maine Woods.

Partridges are quite plenty in this vicinity.

Last Saturday, D. W. Walker and John Frost secured a fox and three coons in the vicinity of Speckled Mountain. Mr. Frost killing the coons at one shot.

Mr. Walker has a very promising young hound bred by Arthur Stowell of Dixfield and out of his noted fox hound bitch "Gyp" one of the best fox dogs ever owned in this vicinity.
This dog is a peculiar red fawn color and has a very keen scent and a great starter, getting his fox up nearly every time he starts out.
He recently followed a fox for 28 consecutive hours.

Marshall Babb wounded a deer last Saturday but was unable to secure the game.

Carl Holman of Dixfield caught one of the largest foxes ever secured in this vicinity, weighing 15-lbs and the pelt measured 58 inches in length.—Next.

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood.
Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by all dealers.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate, and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of

Owner Of Greenwood Cottage

The following sketch is taken from a recent copy of the Portland Evening Express and it is by the courtesy of that paper that we are able to reproduce the photographs.

the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerve and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They

THE PRESENT GREENWOOD COTTAGE

The original house, now remodeled and called Greenwood cottage, was built by J. W. Brackett's mother, Mrs. James S. Brackett in 1847.

The house was built of hewn timbers which was cut on the island. On each floor are four square rooms, the two front rooms on the first floor being separated by a hall and the stairway. In three of the rooms are fireplaces, the kitchen having a fire place and connected with it an old fashioned brick oven and ash hole.

A few years after the house was built, an addition was made to the house and for a number of years it was let and served as the Methodist parsonage. Probably more marriages have taken place there than in any other house on the island. It was the first house built on Brackett's Point, and was built when there were very few houses on the island.

When J. W. Brackett sold Greenwood Garden, about three years ago, he moved the old house which stood in one corner of the garden, west, and remodelled it retaining many features of the old house. The ell was at that time joined onto the house. The house has now all modern improvements, hot and cold water, bath, steam, is wired for electricity, and piped for gas. Broad verandas, eight feet wide, were built on the south and west sides.

The view of the harbor from the verandas of Greenwood cottage is especially beautiful and from the chamber windows there is a grand panorama from Great Diamond around to White Head.

The National Grange

IS NOT TO BE MISUNDERSTOOD

Grange No Exception to Other Organized Movements in the Matter of Being Misrepresented.

All organized movements have from time to time been misrepresented and misunderstood and the Grange is no exception. There are critics who declare it to be merely political, altogether selfish or so wrapped up in financial gain as to lose sight of any other objects or purposes.

It is therefore illuminating, as well as instructive, to read the following from the fundamental principles of the order, in which its objects and purposes are clearly set forth. It reveals a side of Grange effort that is not always realized or understood.

"To develop a better and higher manhood and womanhood among ourselves. To enhance the comforts and attractions of our homes, and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits. To foster mutual understanding and co-operation. To maintain inviolate our laws and to emulate each other in labor, to hasten the good time coming. To reduce our expenses both individual and corporate. To buy less and produce more, in order to make our farms self-sustaining. To diversify our crops, and crop no more than we can cultivate. To condense the weight of our exports, selling less in the bushel and more on hoof and in fleece; less in lint, and more in warp and woof. To systematize our work, and calculate intelligently on probabilities. To discountenance the credit system, the mortgage system, the fashion system, and every other system tending to prodigality and bankruptcy.

"We propose meeting together, talking together, working together, buying together, selling together, and in general, acting together for our mutual protection and advancement as occasion may require. We shall avoid litigation as much as possible by arbitration in the Grange. We shall constantly strive to secure entire harmony, good will, vital brotherhood among ourselves, and to make our order perpetual. We shall earnestly endeavor to suppress personal, local, sectional, and national prejudices, all unhealthy rivalry, all selfish ambition. Faithful adherence to these principles will insure our mental, moral, social and material advancement."

SOME GREAT FIELD MEETINGS

Value of Summer Gatherings Has Been Admirably Demonstrated in Massachusetts This Year.

The value of Grange summer Field meetings, when held on a good farm rather than at some big lake or shore resort, has been admirably demonstrated in Massachusetts this year, in a series of such meetings that breaks all records of interest and attendance in that state. There were twenty-three meetings in the series and with two or three exceptions all were held on well-titled farms of the state, where something was to be learned by seeing as well as by listening. In many cases improved methods, modern machinery and intensive farm cultivation were greatly in evidence and much that was new and valuable was carried away from the trip. The speaking was all of a high order and the crowds which gathered were enthusiastic and wide-awake. Rain interfered with the attendance on several occasions, particularly at Newburyport, where a perfect deluge flooded that entire section.

In order that a better idea may be had of this series of field meetings, when held on Massachusetts farms, a table is given below of the various meetings, with the attendance at each, as well as the number of different Granges and the various states represented at each:

THE 1912 SPORTSMEN'S SHOW

Will Take Place in Sixty Ninth Regiment Armory
New York, March 2 to March 9.

American hunters of big game and small, anglers, campers and all good lovers of life-out-of-doors, will be enabled to enjoy a really great sportsmen's exposition next March. The demolition of New York City's big show house, historic Madison Square Garden, which will begin February 5, necessitated the search for a new home for the Sportsmen's Show. The Second Annual International Trap Shooting Tournament and Sportsmen's Exhibition will therefore open Saturday, March 2 and close Saturday night, March 9 at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory, Lexington Avenue, 25th and 26th Streets, within a stone's throw of Madison Square Garden. The Broadway and Lexington Avenue's surface cars heavy traffic passes the building's main entrance which is nearer the Twenty-third Street subway station than the Garden, while the Madison Avenue cars pass within a few feet of the armory's western entrances. The Sportsmen's Show offices are at No. 339 Fifth Avenue, where Stephen M. Van Allen and William J. Poth its managers are busy with plans which will make the 1912 show memorable for its scenic and spectacular attractions and ceaseless action. Besides the showing of the latest novelties and fads in guns, and ammunition, fishing tackle and artificial bait, nets, canoes and every kind of sportsmen's equipment through the trade exhibits made by leading American and foreign manufacturers and dealers, there will be exciting trap shooting and fancy rifle and shotgun stunts by world famous shots, including Annie Oakley, who was a popular star of last year's exhibition. The anglers will have full scope for their fly and bait casting contests. The interior of the Sixty-ninth's drill hall will be so transformed by the arts of interior decorators and scene painters and constructors that the results will prove a case of bringing outdoors indoors. At the western end of the arena will be a stage 150 feet long, its back drop showing wing shots in the field in a charming sylvan scene with a long perspective; foaming over a cliff's edge will tumble a cascade, its flood pouring into a little river running lengthwise of the Armory's floor; from rustic bridges spanning the stream of living water the supply wristed anglers will compete in casting. On the stage competitions and exhibition of shooting with shotgun and rifle will alternate with tableaux and spectacles in which the action will be furnished by hunters, guides, campers, Indians and dogs and horses. Boy campers will repeat the exhibit made in 1911 with improvements and extensions. The Motor Boat Show of 1912 will in its prior occupation of the same arena blaze the way for the Sportsmen's Show, the boat show closing Saturday night February 24, thus affording time for both shows to get out and in. The announcement of the dates and home of the 1912 Sportsmen's Show to its field of patrons elicited immediate responses in applications for exhibition space from its family of exhibitors in last year's show and from others who were attracted by the success which marked the exhibition of 1911. Preparations are being made to repeat the coming Sportsmen's Show in the Mechanics Building in Boston in April.

QUESTION—Will you please explain how a dog acts when he has been given a dose of ground glass?

R. C., Providence, R. I.

ANSWER—We cannot answer this question. Probably some of our readers can.

QUESTION—Does a mink live in a den? (2) Do muskrats build houses here? (3) How long can a mink or muskrat remain under water alive?

ANSWER—(1) Yes. (2) Muskrats build houses in ponds and lakes where the water is shallow and there is no rise and fall; in rivers where the storage of the water is uncertain they burrow in the banks. (3) About five or six minutes.

QUESTION—What animal makes a track like the one I will describe? A friend out looking for sheep found it by a woodchuck hole. It had four front toes which were just as round as could be and the ball of the foot was two inches across it, and it had two toes behind just like the front ones and it measured five inches from the front toes to the hind ones. Another man saw the same kind of a track in his potato patch.

C. T.

ANSWER—From your description, I should judge it was a bobcat or wildcat. I think it was stepping around some and that the two extra toe marks were an imperfect foot print.

QUESTION—(1) Would it hurt any shotgun to use 3% dr. powder and 1½ oz. B. B.? (2) Can any money be made from pictures of nature? (3) Does a person have to be a certain age to be a government trapper or forest ranger? (4) How do you become a government trapper?

"Hawkeye."

ANSWER—(1) We do not think it would hurt a good gun, but it may be too much for a cheap one. (2) For an artist, yes; an amateur, no. (3) Twenty-one years or more. (4) If you will write to Vernon Bailey, Washington, D. C., you could get the information desired.

QUESTION—(1) Would mittens made of muskrat or otter fur, if tanned properly, be waterproof, pliable and durable and would human odor pass through them? (2) Would the Gabriel Big Fish and Animal trap be strong enough to hold an otter under water? Is it only made in one size? (3) What is the greatest age that the muskrat attains?

G. F. W.

ANSWER—(1) I do not know of any method of tanning furs that will leave the skin waterproof. Such gloves would not be satisfactory. Muskrat skin would not wear well and human odor will go through the same as with any leather glove. (2) No, I think not. The otter is a very strong animal and it requires a powerful trap to hold him. I believe the trap is only in one size. (3) I cannot answer this question.

QUESTION—(1) What is the best bait or scent for skunk, civet and opossum during the month of February and March? Please tell me a good cheap scent for these animals and the way to prepare it; also where it can be obtained. (2) How can you tell whether a hole is inhabited by a rabbit or a fur-bearing animal? (3) Is the oil of anise a good scent? (4) What is musk and where can it be obtained? Is it very expensive?

A. F., Nashua, N. H.

ANSWER—(1) The best scent for skunk and civet is that of the animal itself. No scent needed for opossum, a piece of chicken or rabbit for bait; no preparation of scent needed. (2) By the hair and claw marks at entrance. (3) No; not of any great value, but sometimes attractive to coon and bears. (4) Musk is obtained from the glands of the Siberian musk-deer, now very rare; none to be obtained in this country; imitation in form of crystals is to be had at $32 per ounce; Chinese musk, 35c per ounce; essence of musk at $10 per ounce, the latter a good general scent.

GEMS IN VERSE

IN OCTOBER.

(Written for Maine Woods.)

The merry bobolink is here no more,
No more the strawberry blushes on the hill,
At evening when I linger for the sun's good-night
The sweet voice of the hermit thrush is still.

The cricket chips in tones more sad and slow,
When once the night was thrilling with his song;
He feels the frosty air and creeps away
To sleep and dream through all the winter long.

No more the robin calls with mellow notes,
When first the faint light glows of breaking day;
As summer sped, he southward turned his course,
And hastened like the summer flowers away.

Yet autumn stands in colors bright and gay
And offers up her treasures rich and rare,
Her out-stretched hands are full and brimming o'er,
And all her days are glorious and fair.

YOUR HUNTERS.

(To opponents of the chase.)

(Written for Maine Woods.)

Who kills your meat for you, and how?

Are your meat-men your hunters?

Any of the sport left for you—going to market, looking over the cuts, and ordering the roast?

Do you like the chicken's neck?

Does ham ever taste of the dirk-knife to you?

Ever dream of all your meat being butchered in your own dooryard?

If deer-steak was cheaper than beef-steak would you stick to beef?

If all the wild game had been driven into Armour and Co's stockyards, would it be right for them to slaughter and sell?

Have you admitted the claim that all animals are your brothers, from the bull down to the flea?

What is your opinion of singing on tanglefoot?

Does the heat from your furs remind you of a warm time in the trap?

Why did you purchase that alligator-skin pocket-book or shopping-bag?

When did you eat a fish that was not a cannibal?

If a watermelon could run like a hare would you swear off on watermelon?

If apples could fly like the woodcock would you continue to have apple-pie?

If potatoes could hop like toads would you cover the bin?

If hens grew on bean-poles would the white-meat taste any better?

Given the microscope, does the vegetarian take life?

Remember that game shot in the field and forest saves murder in the barn.

And that other animals cannot devour the game that you eat.

MY OLD NEW ENGLAND HILLS.

As I watch the golden sunset slowly sinking in the west

When the burdened day is ended and the birds have gone to rest

Once again my thoughts go roaming to the woodland and the hills

And I seem to hear an echo from my old New England hills.

Western breezes cool my forehead, western breezes tan my hair,

But with all these soft caressing, cannot draw my thoughts from there,

And as I close my eyelids, this fair vision comes to me;

I can see as in my childhood, this dear old elm tree;

And as children as we played in the cool and restful shade,

By its green branches made.

And the wild birds in the branches sing their songs so loud and shrill,

That the notes seemed to echo, through the old New England hills.

Once again I roam the pasture, Where the fragrant breezes blow,

Or I spy the first blue violet peeping from the winter snow,

And I linger by the brookside to where the robins sing.

Oh! what place on earth is brighter than New England in the spring.

As I grew up like a wild flower in tall New England grass,

Not to be cut down and withered, but keep struggling to the last;

But for each God has his purpose; let our restless hearts be still,

As we listen to the echo from my old New England hills.

In my dreams I hear the ripple of the pond close to the mill;

And see my dear old mother waiting for her wanderer still;

But she will return some day and will watch the sunshine play,

And hear the birds sing again, Among the old New England hills.

Advertising Talks

THE VALUE OF A FOLLOW-UP SYSTEM

If a man lambasted you on the eye and walked away and waited a week before he repeated the performance, he wouldn't hurt you very badly. Between attacks you would have an opportunity to recover from the effect of the first blow.

But if he smashed you and kept mauling, each impact of his fist would find you less able to stand the hammering, and a half-dozen jabs would probably knock you down.

Now, advertising is, after all, a matter of hitting the eye of the public. If you allow too great an interval to elapse between insertions of copy, the effect of the first advertisement will have worn away by the time you hit again. You may continue your scattered talks over a period of years, but you will not derive the same benefit that would result from a greater concentration. In other words, by appearing in print every day you are able to get the benefit of the impression created the day before, and as each piece of copy makes its appearance the result of your publicity on the reader's mind is more pronounced—you must not stop short of a knock-down impression.

Persistence is the foundation of advertising success. Regularity of insertion is just as important as clever phrasing. The man who hangs on is the man who wins out.

The advertiser who does not let a day slip by without having his say is bound to be heard and have his influence felt. Every insertion of copy brings stronger returns, because it has the benefit of what has been said before, until the public's attention is like an eye that has been so repeatedly struck that the least touch of suggestion will feel like a blow.

Where Bank Advertising Paid.

Does it pay bankers to advertise? Apparently it does in Cleveland. According to Finance, published in that city, the six leading banks that are systematic and persistent advertisers show a growth of deposits during the seven years from 1904 to 1911, of no less than $57,873,308. The largest gain among the banks is that of the Citizens' Savings and Trust company, a very large advertiser, which contributed $16,076,923 of the above total.

As a noticeable contrast to the gain of the banks using modern methods of advertising is the gain of those institutions that, practically speaking, no no advertising at all except to publish their statements as required by law. The six leading banks in this class show a gain during the seven years of only $11,965,359, which is less than 20 per cent. of the gain of the banks which advertise.

It would probably be unfair to attribute this showing solely as the result of advertising since the bank advertising is usually active in all business-getting departments; nevertheless the figures are extremely interesting.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATOR, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Fly Rod's Note Book

BY FLY ROD

St. Anthony's Cottage,

Phillips, Maine, Oct. 31, 1911.

Recently it has been my pleasure to entertain the Chief of the Penobscot Tribe of Indians, Peter Nicolai and his wife of Indian Island, Oldtown.

Among my true friends I am proud to number good, noble braves of the tribe, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicolai, whom I have known for years.

Chief Peter Nicolai or "Governor" as he is called, was chosen to that office by the Penobscot Tribe at their last election and will continue to hold the office until 1913. He is a man who stands high by all who know him and has the perfect confidence of the Tribe, and whatever he says is law, and fully accepted without any doubt or question by them, and all are justly proud of their chief.

I visited Mr. and Mrs. Nicolai last March at their home, a comfortable, well finished and furnished two and a half story house on Indian Island not far from the ferry landing. Here in the winter time they are busy and keep several others at work making all kinds of useful and beautiful baskets that in summer they find a ready sale for at their store in Rangeley.

All the sportsmen and tourists who come to the Rangeleys know Peter and his good wife, and a welcome visitor is this chief to all the camps and hotels in the Rangeleys when he brings his baskets, crossing the lakes in his canoe.

Mrs. Nicolai a quiet, lady like and industrious person, has made some of the most wonderful baskets and very beautiful ones.

Last summer one of her baskets that she made at Rangeley and was bought by one of the city ladies, was filled with fruit and at a charity fair bought by President Taft, who was greatly pleased and interested to know that the basket was woven by the wife of the chief of the tribe in Oldtown, Maine.

Only two years ago they wove most wonderful baskets that Bishop Walsh of Maine took with him to Rome and presented to the Holy Father, Pope Pius X.

It was also my pleasure to take with me from the island last spring a most beautiful basket of royal purple and sweet grass as a gift to one of the most distinguished persons in the country, Rt. Rev. Archbishop Wm. H. O'Connell of Boston, who expressed much delight on receiving the gift, and it is now by the side of his desk in his private office in daily use.

Many are the Rangeley tourists who have taken to their homes and friends baskets made to order, and that are among the much prized gifts in the homes of many a millionaire of our country.

A little Indian history is well worth a place in the MAINE WOODS and no doubt will be read with interest by thousands. The Penobscot Indians at present number about 300. They have not varied from this figure more than a dozen either way for 25 years past and there is apparently but little danger of the tribe becoming extinct.

Although they intermarry extensively, many of the braves bringing wives to the island from the Passamaquoddy tribe at Pleasant Point near Ellsworth, it is by no means uncommon for the young men to find helpmates among the Canadian Indians across the border.

These marriages bring new blood into the tribe and are looked upon with favor. It is seldom one of the Oldtown Indian maidens marries into another tribe, however.

The Indians own all the island in the Penobscot river between Old Town and Mattawamkeag Point. This tribe are by far a greater number, sober, self respecting industrious men. Besides working on the drives and in the lumber woods, they find employment as guides, in the lumber mills, and on the booms in the river. Some of them spend their winters hunting and trapping in the deep far away forest.

As river drivers, the Indians are hard working and daring to a fault. They take to the work naturally and possess a certain dash and disregard for danger which renders them invaluable in the perilous task of breaking log jams, and many a brave has lost their lives while on the drive.

The Indians are accomplished hunters and trappers and each fall with their families spend weeks camping and at present Governor Nicolai and wife are miles away up the Penobscot camping and on a hunting trip, while Peter is looking after white ash.

This kind of wood is what is used for baskets and while in the past it was easy to get, year by year the amount needed has been harder to find and more expensive.

"We want about 40 or 50 good sticks, it must be the right kind" said Peter, who while in Phillips spent several days in the woods, looking after the kind used. Although he found many ash trees, and traveled miles, among the number there were but three trees of the kind used for baskets.

Practically all of the women of the tribe, and many of the men as well, are accomplished basket makers, and the revenue which the Indians derive from the sale at the summer resorts, Bar Harbor, Kineo, Kennebunk and Rangeley amount to hundreds of dollars.

They use tons of sweet grass that they collect along the sea coast that they dry and bring to the island, and when they wish to braid it they wet it so that it bends without breaking.

As I entered the home of the basket makers where a welcome always waits me, the perfume of the sweet grass pervades their rooms.

From the Indians I learned much in woodcraft, and to follow the trail as quietly as they do is an art of itself. They are most excellent guides and seem to know instinctively when the game is found, and are even thoughtful for the comfort of those they take into the pathless forest.

No white man, no matter how expert can ever quite equal an Indian in following the trail in a canoe. They seem to possess an aptitude in these frail crafts which has come down to them through the ages.

Most of the members of the Penobscot tribe are devout Catholics and their church, St. Ann's is a most attractive one, in which they take great pride and willingly make many a sacrifice, that tells more than words of their real love for their religion.

They also have a nice, modern convent, St. Ann's completed last year and the Sister of Mercy who live there teach their children, visit their sick and aged and indeed are sisters of mercy to them, even performing acts of love and charity.

The school I found a most interesting place, for the children are bright and happy, and many of them excel in their studies, while in drawing of maps etc, they took the first prize at our State Fair, when their work was on exhibition.

On Sunday while the Chief and his good wife were with me we drove to Farmington to attend mass. Nat Wells, with one of his fine spans was at the door at 7 o'clock in the morning, and the drive was a most delightful one.

When we came to the wire bridge I said, "I'll show you where Pierpole, the last Indian of this section and his wife, Hannah, lived."

"Why, Pierpole was my own grandfather" said Mrs. Nicolai.

MAY HAVE SHOT PASSENGER PIGEON.

Dwight P. Cushman of Hebron has notified the department of inland fisheries and game at Augusta that he has shot a strange bird which he believes to be a passenger pigeon, and will have the same mounted and sent to the department. The passenger was once a great pest to Maine crops, but has been supposed to be extinct for the past 20 years and the American Ornithological Society has offered a reward of $1000 for the finding of a passenger pigeon nest with live birds in it. The bird is somewhat larger than the domestic pigeon. A local naturalist who has heard of the find believes that it is possible that the bird which Mr. Cushman thinks is a passenger pigeon is a mourning dove, a somewhat smaller bird, which does not usually find its way north of Massachusetts.

RANGELEY.

Rangeley, Maine, Oct. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlton of Phillips have been visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. C. C. Murphy returned last week from Hampden where she was called some weeks ago by the illness of an aunt.

Reed H. Ellis is teaching the school at Dead River.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pearson of Boston are guests of Mr. Pearson's sister, Mrs. Merchant Gile.

Leona Oakes is working for Mrs. George Hoar.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Case are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a baby girl, Oct. 25.

Mrs. Lilla Spencer and little son of Madison are visiting at Ed Spencer's.

Mrs. Sylvader Hinkley entertained her mother and sister, Mrs. F. H. and Miss Sarah Toothaker of Phillips a few days this week.

H. A. Furbish was in Portland the first of the week.

Mrs. F. B. Colby was given a surprise party Saturday evening. About forty of her friends arrayed in sheets and masks headed by James Mathieson, who carried a large jack o' lantern, presented themselves at the door asking admittance. The evening was the occasion of much merriment, one of the features being the trimming of hats by the gentlemen. W. S. Tibbets was declared to be the best milliner and was given a prize. Mrs. Colby was presented with several gifts, among them being a cut glass fern dish. Refreshments were furnished by the guests.

Mrs. Maggie Soule entertained a few friends at whist Friday evening. The prize was won by Mrs. Anson M. Hoar.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY A SUCCESS.

Farmington, Maine, October 29.—The Hallowe'en masquerade dance given by the class of 1914, F. H. S., last Friday evening in the school hall, to invited schoolmates and friends was a decided success. Nearly all came in costume and when unmasked at the end of the third number a great many complete surprises were given. There were some very petty and elaborate as well as several comic ones. Among the most noticeable were: "His Satanic Majesty," the dude, "Jim Blaine" with his tall hat and cane, two Sisters of Charity, the summer girl, clowns, male and female; painters and Indian maidens; Dutch Gretchen with her big cap and wooden shoes; Samantha and the old fashioned girl; a Spanish girl with her tambourine; a little Scotch lassie in her tartan; a game at cards, the cow boy, an Indian brave, a ducky girl, a pumpkin girl and boy; costumes trimmed with black cats, witches and Jack o' lanterns besides many fancy ones.

All took part in the fancy march led by Miss Margaret Moore and Dana Robinson and the spectators had a chance to see and admire (?) them all.

The hall, with its floor cleared of seats, the electric lights draped in crepe paper which was hung from the corner lights to the centre and the candles in Jack o' lantern holders made a pretty setting for the scene.

The march began at 8 o'clock and continued until 10:30 with a short intermission when refreshments of new cider, doughnuts, cookies, saltines and pop corn, apples and peanuts were dispensed liberally by Miss Georgia May Coolidge and her assistants.

As nearly all young people in these days are taught to dance the floor was filled nearly all the time with the happy couples, who kept time to the music of the piano and violin.

The class may congratulate itself upon the complete success of the evening which was due to the hard work of the committee chosen.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH.
L. Mock, of Mook, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la-grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well to-day because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it's the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by W. A. D. Cragin's, Chas. E. Dyer's of Strong, L. L. Mitchell's of Kingfield, Riddle's Pharmacy of Rangeley.

Obituary

CHARLES H. HAMMOND.

Charles H. Hammond, the subject of this sketch was born in Kingfield, the son of Faunce J. and the late Mrs. Mary Hinds Hammond, and died at his home in Coplin, Oct. 2, of heart failure. He had been in his usual health and was planning on going to Farmington the next day. He retired about the usual time and soon dropped asleep but awoke in a short time and spoke about his little grandson being sick. His wife noticed a quick, short breath and spoke to him but receiving no reply got up and lighted a lamp and found that he was dead.

He leaves a wife and six daughters, the two oldest daughters are Mrs. A. C. Vaughan, and Mrs. Alton Jones, of Stratton; he also leaves a father, two brothers and two sisters, besides a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss.

The funeral took place Oct. 4 at the church in Stratton, conducted by Rev. Howard Gillpatrick. The services were largely attended which showed in part the esteem in which he was held by his host of friends.

The interment was in the Stratton cemetery.

The sympathy of all go out to the bereaved family. His age was 52 years, 1 month and 2 days.

KINGFIELD.

Kingfield, Maine, Oct. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Champagne have returned from Sugar Island camps, Moosehead.

A. V. Hinds is very sick at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wallace Safford.

Bob Sterling won from Wm. J. Heynes in two heats Wednesday, October 25, in a lively local race which drew a good crowd.

Mrs. Emma Wyman is visiting relatives and friends at Rumford and Mechanic Falls.

The Junior class of the High school are to give a Halloween party at French's hall October 31, with a box social and dance.

Ralph Nichols exhibited a white deer, shot on the Taylor place, last week. It was for sale.

Frank Hutchins is building a new paint shop near his residence.

Mrs. Milton Curtis has been very sick but is somewhat better.

The MAINE WOODS is on sale at I. L. Eldridge's store. Subscriptions, either new or renewal may be left with W. P. Watson.

S. J. Wyman, H. P. Wood, A. G. Winter L. L. Mitchell and A. C. Woodard have purchased cash registers this season.

New buildings to be seen on Salem street are the stables of Frank Weymouth, Milton Curtis and Herbert Walker. The two latter are in the process of erection.

Fire escapes and fire extinguishers have recently been added to the equipment of both the school buildings.

Gene Perry is spending a few days home from Boston.

D. M. Rand, of Portland, has charge of the drug store at present. L. L. Mitchell, the proprietor, is going to be out for a while on account of his health.

Geo. Townsend is shipping five carloads, or 3000 bushels, of potatoes to Massachusetts.

The sudden death of Cass A. Hutchins, at his home in New Portland, last week was a great shock to friends and relatives here. He was twenty-eight years of age. His sister, Mrs. L. L. Mitchell was unable to reach him before his death which was the result of an injury from a falling limb, hitting him on the head.

FOR SALE—At once, one pair of fat oxen, 7 ft. 1 in. Good workers. Inquire of Ben Dodge. Both telephones.

Utterly Wretched

Nervous Prostration Long Endured Before Remedy Was Found.

Miss Minerva Reminger, Upper Bern, Pa., writes: "For several years I had nervous prostration, and was utterly wretched. I lived on bread and beef tea because my stomach would not retain anything else. I took many remedies, but obtained no relief until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, when I began to gain at once. Am now cured."

Pure, rich blood makes good, strong nerves, and this is why Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and enriches the blood, cures so many nervous diseases. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

EUSTIS

Eustis, Maine, Oct. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. John Day have returned home from New Vineyard where they have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Will Rice. They also visited in several other places.

WEST FARMINGTON

West Farmington, Me., Oct. 30.—Fred Page has been quite sick but is some better.

Nellie Peterson has a very painful swelling on her left arm. The doctors here do not know what it is and last Monday, Dr. Howard took her to the hospital at Lewiston and the doctors there have failed to give it a name. She is coming home next Tuesday. She can straighten her hand out better but that is all the improvement there seems to be. Her friends are hoping she may have the use of her arm in the near future.

Charles Norton from Strong was the guest of his father, S. R. Norton over Sunday.

There was preaching at the Free Baptist church last Sunday. It is expected there will be next Sunday also.

Mrs. Carrie McCally is spending a short time in Lewiston.

School at the red school house had a few days of vacation as the teacher went to the Teachers' Convention.

Mr. McClary is very sick and remains about the same as he has for the past week.

A MAIL CARRIER'S LOAD

Seems heavier when he has a weak back and kidney trouble. Fred Duchren, Mail Carrier at Atchison, Kas., says: "I have been bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and had a severe pain across my back. Whenever I carried a heavy load of mail, my trouble increased. Some time ago, I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills and since taking them I have gotten entirely rid of all my kidney trouble and am as sound now as ever." W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips, Maine.

A HOUSEHOLD MEDICINE

That stops coughs quickly and cures colds is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Mrs. Anna Pelzer, 2526 Jefferson St., South Omaha, Neb., says: "I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as a sure cure for coughs and colds. It cured my daughter of a bad cold and my neighbor, Mrs. Benson, cured her whole family with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Everyone in our neighborhood speaks highly of it." W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips, Maine.

AN ENGLISH AUTHOR WROTE:

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh, and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

The great fire at Farmington is quite likely to boom the lumber interests of north Franklin, and may keep Major Dill from running away to California long enough to assist in supplying the demand.

A memorandum received at this office reports Officer Toothaker as having seized on Tuesday at the express office a package of whiskey containing "two gals." Now, James, you had better stop such work as that. Seizing gals, whether pickled in whiskey, or smothered in their own sweetness, is not a business altogether creditable to a man with a wife and family.

The Phillips postoffice was closed Saturday morning in consequence of the mysterious disappearance of the post master with the key. The mails were delayed, but Brother Pratt doubtless made himself useful at the great fire.

Under some difficulties, including the interruption of the telephone and the absence of the chief of the mechanical department, who "runs the machine," THE PHONOGRAPH office was able to announce by an extra edition on Saturday noon many particulars of the great fire at Farmington on the preceding night, and to send a plentiful supply of the papers by the mid-day train to Farmington. THE PHONOGRAPH was thus the first journal with the news of the fire circulated in Franklin county.

The young man who went to sleep in a buggy Saturday evening and parted company with his hat, a few miles down the road, had spent the preceding night at the fire, but the only fire-water that he saw came through engine hose. This statement is due to our accomplished

WINSHIP DISTRICT.

The fall term of school closed Friday, Oct. 27. As there is no vacation between the fall and winter terms of school, no special exercises were held. This term has been a very successful one, and the teacher, Mrs. Belle P. Adams, is as pleased with the results as are the parents. The number of pupils was 9, and the average attendance was 8.71. During the last three weeks of school not one scholar was absent. Ivous Heath was absent but one day during the term of ten weeks and Florence Heath, Dana Myers, Clarence Myers and Evalyn Parker did not lose a day. All the scholars came from a distance, the Heath children being the farthest away. Evalyn Parker is but 5 and walks a mile and has been carried from home but once, although she has ridden whenever Mr. Wing has taken his daughter, Irene, which is half of the distance. Mrs. Adams had a generous treat of candy and gave each child a large picture of herself. The children all love Mrs. Adams very much and were delighted to have such a remembrance of her.

FARMINGTON.

A terrible disaster has come to our sister town of Farmington. The heart of and business part of the beautiful village of Farmington Hill, including 19 stores, many dwellings, three churches, the old Court house, the old county building, corner of Main street and Broadway, both newspaper offices (Chronicle and Journal) the county jail, post-office, and two hotels are in ashes. The first alarm was given about three o'clock Friday p. m., Oct. 22, caused by a fire in Stoyell's stable, near the depot, and the Phillips fire department was summoned to the assistance of their Farmington brethren; but the fire was so quickly brought under subjection, that the request was countermanded.

But a second fire broke out in Elbridge Gerry's stable about eight o'clock, and immediately Wm. Tarbox's, Mrs. Hunter's, Hotel Marble, Lorin Worthley's, and the Lake House were in ashes.

The fire swept down Main street on the westside, crossing the street, it caught in the Methodist church, taking the dwelling houses as far as D. V. B. Ormsby's. The Baptist church was also burned.

The progress of the fire southward was finally arrested in the second house below F. E. Butler's by the Lewiston steam engine drawing water from the river.

The loss, both on real estate and personal property, is heavy and in the aggregate is variously estimated at from $250,000 to $500,000, the latter figures probably not being far out of the way.

Simon Collins was instantly killed Tuesday morning by a runaway horse, which struck him as he was passing up Front street, near the depot, wheeling a load of boards. His skull was fractured.

CHURCHES

UNION CHURCH.

Melvin Sherburne Hutchins, pastor. Calendar for week ending Nov. 11. Sunday, November 5, 10:45 morning worship, sermon "God's House." 11:45 Sunday school. 7:30 people's service, music by Choral Club. Address "The True Doctrine of Christian Perfection." Tuesday, November 7, 7:30 P. M. Congregational monthly meeting at Mrs. J. W. Brackett's. Thursday, November 9, 7:30 P. M. mid-week prayer meeting.

At the Union church the sermon preached Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. M. S. Hutchins, was upon the subject "Lowered Standards." The text, which was a motto, used to express a contrast with the subject, was from Heb. 12:2, "Looking unto Jesus."

The pastor had been painting, not upon the patrician canvas, while he rose from his work he was sat easily upon his seat before his easel, but down upon his knees, as a preacher should sometimes be, he had been painting the plebeian floor. As the task drew near to completion and the supply of paint had lessened, he had become more economical in its use thinning it from time to time. When he at last chagrined at its appearance. A man who had been a house painter for many years looking at the floor expressed his thought of the undesirable results thus, "When a man begins to skimp, he will skimp more and more, and there's no telling where he will leave off."

The words followed the pastor. He saw they were applicable to other work than painting floors. It is true in building. If a carpenter allows himself to use a piece of lumber not as good as that which should be used, he is less careful than he should be in the fitting or the finishing of any piece of wood he will become more and more careless, less and less unwilling to do poorer work than his best, and to make use of material of poor quality. It is true in every business that when one consciously lowers his standards, they will go lower and lower.

It is not the persons who have not been taught in the right way, not those who by their own efforts have succeeded in teaching themselves that we must often find those who have lowered their standards. Rather is it among those who have been well taught, and who at first did well. In copy books where the learner writes the page from a copy at the top, he often gets farther from the excellence of the copy as he writes farther down the page, finding it easier to follow his own imperfect copy than to make the greater effort to follow that at the top. Thus he is continually lowering his standards. It is often in this way that one finds himself failing to do his best.

As we go across the country knowing the general direction, though not the roads which we wish to take, it is not the roads that turn at right angles to each other that perplex us. It is those roads whose ways deviate but little one from the other at first. The deviation continues to increase as we go on.

One may even get very far astray in the woods when directing his way in a wrong direction and lays his course from that.

Whether we speak of standards or of highways, the deviation at first slight takes us farther and farther from the right as we go on.

Bunyan, though his theology was sometimes like that of the time in which he lived, making God appear too stern and unloving, has in The Pilgrim's Progress illustrated a great truth when he showed the evil that was sure to befall him who left the right way for any of the paths that turned from it. These truths hold through all the affairs of life. They belong to the moral and spiritual life also. In that happy time which we believe to be coming upon which, indeed, we seem to have entered, science and theology, no longer at variance, shall together tell us of God's purpose for mankind as they look down the long, long road over which the race has come, over the long, long road that has brought the race where its feet are stationed today, over the long, long road which lies before it. And that purpose is progress.

To every thinking intelligent person I doubt not has sometime come the vision of the higher things which are the purpose of God for the race and the individual. And I doubt not that the majority of those in civilized lands have at some time consciously longed for and accepted the high ideal of excellency of character. If one follows the vision it becomes clear and plain, beautiful entrancing in its glory.

There are awful pictures of the last judgement. But God is judging us every day, and his judgment is just. It is based not upon what we say, not upon what we do, not upon our successes or our failures, but upon the purpose of our hearts, upon the standards which we make our own and try to reach.

To lower our standards is to lessen our ideals, to scant our duty, to go away from God. This is the saddest thing in life.

If we have the far vision we shall still consider what we have to eat and to drink, we shall enjoy the good things of life. But there will be a great yearning for the higher things. We shall not be satisfied with the lower standards. We shall seek first the kingdom of God.

We need not take the lower standards. Let us say, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth." There may be failures. Look not upon them. "Look unto me, and be ye saved all the ends of the earth."

When tempted, look unto Jesus; when in the way of indecision, look unto Jesus. Looking unto Jesus the way will grow brighter. Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith, he who is our Savior, who by his faithfulness has become our Salvation, we shall keep our high standards, we shall keep near to God.

NO REASON FOR IT.

When Phillips Citizens Show the Way.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of serious kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that these ills can be cured. Read what a Phillips citizen says:

John A. Frazer, Main St., Phillips, Maine, says: "The statement I gave in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago was correct, and I gladly confirm that endorsement. I suffered from pains in my limbs and across the small of my back, so severe at times that I could hardly endure them. I was unable to get relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Cragin's Drug Store. They disposed of my trouble and in a short time after taking them, I was restored to much better health."

CAUSES MUCH DISEASE.

Advice About Stomach Trouble and How to Relieve Them.

Do not neglect indigestion which may lead to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent physician once said that ninety-five per cent of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets lead us to believe them to be among the most dependable remedies known for the relief of indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is very prompt. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time tends to bring about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets help to insure healthy appetite, to aid digestion, and thus promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return without question or formality. They come in three sizes, price 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain them only at our store—The Rexall Store, W. A. D. Cragin,

POULTRY

MOTHER FOR YOUNG POULTS

Most Satisfactory Plan Is to Give First Clutch to Hens and Second to Turkey.

(By BESSIE L. PUTNAM.)

On large farms where black head has not gained a footing, no single branch in the poultry department offers greater possibilities than turkey raising.

Though tender during the first few weeks, they later require little care save regular feeding twice a day as an inducement to them to come home at night.

While many prefer the hen mother, whose brood is less liable to develop into ramblers, it cannot be denied that the turkey best understands the needs of her poults.

Turkeys chafe under confinement. Their wild ancestry is not so remote that they do not love the woods and fields, thriving best on seeds and insect diet.

The old turkey always proceeds leisurely with her flock, intuitively knowing when one is tired, and as speedily settling down to let it rest. The hen, on the other hand, is all hustle, and soon has the tender poults completely tired out. If she is confined in the yard they pine and droop for lack of the necessary insect food.

If her coop is placed in the edge of the field, they soon have the adjacent ground depopulated of insect life; and wandering beyond reach of her voice heads to rambling if they do not fall a prey to hawks.

The most satisfactory plan, however, since the turkey's time is so valuable in the early spring for laying, is to give the first clutch to hens, striving to overcome their defects as much as possible.

She will soon commence laying again, and should be allowed to mother the second brood herself. Many turkeys will even raise the third clutch, so managed, and have the youngest birds ready for the holiday market.

CONFINING GEESE IN A YARD

Yoke Made Out of Common Shingle Slipped Over Head of Bird Will Prevent Crawling Through Fence.

I have had more or less trouble with my geese crawling through fences. Sometimes they get out of the yard that I want to keep them in, then again they get into the garden when I want to keep them out, says a writer in Farm and Home. To remedy this I made a yoke out of a shingle for each goose and slipped this down over its head. This makes it impossible for them to crawl through an ordinary fence. The piece of shingle is about five inches wide by ten inches long and does not weigh very much. It does the geese no harm and is apparently not in their way.

Origin of Black Java.

Electric Bells Protect Orchards.

So familiar have electric bells become to most of us that even their sound at unexpected times or in unusual places rarely startles us. Not so with birds, to which the sudden ringing of a bell on a tree or a post means something far more uncanny than any scarecrow flapping in the wind. Knowing this, the head master of an Austrian school has patented an electric scarecrow system in which a clock makes the connections at irregular intervals to electric bells scattered over the orchard.

Jealousy.

"So you disapprove of the modern drama?" "Yes," said the constable. "I can't help thinking there's something wrong with these plays we've been getting. The public mind is liable to get confused. I never yet saw a play that made a policeman appear as affable or smart or heroic as a burglar or a confidence man."

Watch for Signs of Sickness

Mothers! Never overlook "trifling" symptoms in your children—the "little things" that indicate all too plainly the imminent danger of disease. If your child is listless, or peevish—then it is high time for you to take precautions. A few doses right now of that wonderful family remedy—

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

The Family Laxative and Worm Medicine

may prevent a sickness later. Dr. True's Elixir acts as a gentle laxative to relieve the body of poisonous waste matter from stomach and bowels. Restores appetite. Gives restful sleep and an abundance of healthful blood. It expels all worms from children or adults.

Dr. True's Elixir is a safe and simple vegetable preparation with wonderful tonic properties—a standard family remedy for more than 60 years. Your dealer has it—ask for it to-day.

LOCAL NOTES

Edward D. Small, local manager of the Phillips Electric Light and Power Co., leaves tomorrow, (Friday) for Boston, on business for the company. He will return Monday night.

Mrs. J. W. Brackett and Mrs. B. C. J. Eastman accompanied Mrs. D. F. Field to Weld recently, where they remained for a couple of days at Camp Echo, and closed the cottage for the winter.

Last week the pupils and teachers in the High school remembered the birthday of Miss Lura H. Dennison, the assistant, and gave her a most generous shower of post cards. Miss Dennison has been assistant in the High school for many years and she is much loved and respected by all who have had the happy privilege of being among her pupils.

Edward C. White has moved his family from Mrs. Samuel Harned's house to the upstairs rent in Lee Stinchfield's house on the Dodge road, and E. S. Bubier, who lived down stairs has moved to the Wm. McKee house.

Mrs. E. R. Keene, Master Reno Keene, and Miss Mildred Savage of Temple visited friends in town the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Field, Master Richard Field and Mrs. J. W. Brackett, were at the Field camp at Sandy River pond, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Ella Grover Dow is caring for Mrs. Charles Prescott.

Oscar Aldrich has rented rooms in D. F. Field's house, up stairs.

The district convention of the Junior Order of American Mechanics met at Livermore Falls, Wednesday, October 25. A very large delegation was present from the various lodges in the state. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Councillor, William H. Daisey of Wilton; vice councillor, Mr. Hutchins of Kennebunk; recording secretary, John N. Morse of West Farmington; assistant recording secretary, John S. Wood of Mercer; financial secretary, Henry Brown of Livermore Falls; treasurer, Carl L. Whittemore of Wilton; conductor, M. C. Hobert of Livermore Falls; warden, E. E. Russell of New Sharon; inside sentinel, Howard Leavitt of Phillips; outside sentinel, George L. Laklin of Phillips; chaplain, Rev. Mr. Litchfield of Allen's Mills. After election of officers and other general business a bountiful oyster supper was in readiness served by four ladies. It was not decided where the next meeting will be held, but was left to the decision of the officers. An invitation was extended by Livermore Falls council to meet with them again next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Orren Bridges of Dexter, Maine, and Miss Lydia Jacobs of Kingfield, were this week guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jacobs, and Mrs. M. A. Butts. The trip was made in Mr. Bridges' touring car.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Austin went to Belgrade lakes Monday where they will spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jacobs and daughter Evelyn, were in Kingfield Sunday.

Mrs. D. J. Shepard has been quite ill this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Sweet of Avon returned last week from a visit with their daughter, Mrs. John Bump, in Portland and son, Arthur Sweet, in Bath. The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bump has been quite ill with pneumonia.

Roy Atkinson, formerly connected with the MAINE WOODS, but now staff reporter on the Boston Post, has been assigned to the Richeson case by that paper and in last Sunday's Post may be found two fully illustrated pages, written by him, describing the early haunts of Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, who is being held for the murder of Miss Avis Linnell. This assignment was a much coveted one among the reporters of the different papers and as only one man could receive it on each paper, it shows with what respect Mr. Atkinson is held by superiors.

A most delightful Hallowe'en party was given by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Parker last Tuesday evening. The guests were ushered into a darkened house, lighted only by Jack o' lantern pumpkins. A ghost met them at the door and a witch greeted them at the top of the stairway; grinning skulls and witches were used for decorations. Whist was in order and the place cards were in envelopes decorated with witches and sealed with pumpkins, as was also the score cards. The hostess served ice cream, cake and coffee. Following were the guests who were entertained: Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Graffam, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Beedy, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Morton Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Currier, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Butler.

Mrs. Ella Brackett has been ill at her home on Pleasant street, the past week, with bronchitis.

Mrs. Artens Wing was in Portland last week and was joined there by Mr. Wing, who is teaching in Massachusetts.

Arno Pratt and J. Blaine Morrison have been at the Pratt cottage at Long pond since Sunday.

Mrs. Everett Beede, who has been with her husband at Naples for several weeks returned home Tuesday night. Mr. Beede is still at work on a contract there.
