Hollis Merry, who has been braving out of Rockland the past eight years, is soon to have a new position with the Maine Central, and will be succeeded by F. H. George A. Dudley, conductor on the Bath-Lewiston branch of the Maine Central, has been assigned to the run between Waterville and Portland and commences duties on his new position next Monday. Roy Young, at present baggage master on the Bath-Lewiston branch, will run the train between Bath and Lewiston temporarily until a regular conductor is assigned.

Drivers of the American Express Co., who have served in that employ five years, are now entitled to wear a star on their caps, and an additional star is presented to them for each extra five years. Rockland has two drivers in the "star" class, George O. B. Crockett who gets four and will be entitled to another next May; and Raymond Stewart, who gets one star. Mr. Crockett is believed to be the oldest express driver in point of service in this division of the American Express Co.

Gov. Plaisted Wants Submitted to the People Another Prohibitory Amendment—Country Towns Must Not "Persist in Forcing Impracticable Policy Upon Cities," He Says

In our Tuesday issue was briefly announced the decision of the governor and council relative to the special election of Sept. 11, showing that Maine had retained its prohibitory amendment. The announcement was accompanied by the following statement from Gov. Plaisted:

The original returns forwarded to us were subject by law to corrections according to certain prescribed forms and methods.

Errors in the returns were early called to our attention and application was made to us to permit corrections.

We were obliged to wait 30 days for such applications to be filed. We were then entitled to a reasonable time during which to consider the applications and to decide the questions raised by them. In the cases of the towns of Limestone, Westfield and Athens, and Matineus plantation the corrections of the returns by the peculiar records presented raised certain legal questions which have never been passed upon by the courts of this state and upon which eminent legal counsel do not agree. It has required some thought and study on our part to arrive at a conclusion concerning them and no reasonable man will criticize us for having reached our decision deliberately.

Our effort has been to arrive at as nearly a correct conclusion as possible under the limitations placed upon us by the law, and to give life to the will of the people as it appears to have been expressed by their ballots. In reaching the result we have reached in permitting the correction of the returns from the four towns which I have mentioned from the evidence submitted to us we have been forced to overlook some apparent gross violations of law by election officers. Following the general rule that voters should not be disfranchised because of wrongful acts on the part of those entrusted with official duties, we are to declare the result as it "appears."

That is all we can do. It is exactly what we have done. We are not a canvassing board. We have no authority to examine the recount ballots or to revise the work of election officers excepting in cases where formal application is made to us to do so. The result as it appears is what we are called upon to declare and we have made this declaration.

Other and various important questions raised by the recent election remain for our consideration. In the first place the resolve submitting the prohibitory amendment to popular vote is so worded that it seems to be made to "the legislature." It will be noticed that the other resolves submitted at the same election were not so worded. The resolve relating to the state capital and that relating to the limit of municipal indebtedness both required a report to "the next legislature." The omission of the word "next" in the resolve under consideration may have been either inadvertent or intentional. However, that may be, we must take it as it reads and it calls in terms for a special session of this legislature for the purpose of receiving our report.

There are strong reasons why the legislature ought to assemble before another general election is held. Our laws relating to the conduct of elections needs revision. The irregularities connected with the last election are nothing short of scandalous. There is no doubt but that attention was not called to them because the majorities on one side or the other were so decisive that a few hundred votes made no difference. A close election has revealed weaknesses in connection with our election laws and lax methods in the conduct of our elections of which none of us suspected the existence. Legislation on this subject is imperatively demanded. Unless we are willing to permit our elections to become a farce and take the chance of the will of the people being thwarted by careless, ignorant or unscrupulous officials. I should feel it my duty to call the legislature together for this purpose if there were no other reasons for doing so.

The recent election has left the matter of the regulation of the liquor traffic in an even worse position than it was before the election was held, if such a thing is possible.

An analysis of the vote shows a majority against prohibition in the cities and a large but greatly reduced majority for prohibition in the towns. There is now ample evidence as revealed by the vote that a large number of the towns pretty evenly divide on the question of prohibition through constitutional prohibition.

There is no question about the desire of the country towns to retain prohibition. There is no question about the desire of the cities to endeavor to improve conditions by adopting some other method of dealing with the liquor traffic. It is not hard to find the reason for this. Prohibition can be enforced with reasonable success in the country. It cannot and never has been successfully enforced in the cities. It is useless to expect enforcement in the cities now after the people in them have so emphatically declared against prohibition. No law can be enforced in communities in which two men out of every three are opposed to the law.

There are two courses open to us. One is to permit the continuation of that policy of nullification which has existed ever since prohibition began or to find some common ground upon which country and city can honestly meet and provide a law which shall be satisfactory to both. The situation must be met in a spirit of the broadest tolerance and earnest thoughtfulness. Fanaticism, bigotry, desire to gain temporary political advantage must yield to the ultimate good of the whole great state of Maine. The country must not persist in forcing upon the cities an impracticable policy. The cities must not insist upon changes in the law which are objectionable to the country.

An amendment to the constitution should be submitted to the people to be voted on next September under the terms of which cities should have the right to invoke and enact local regulations within their limits subject to the laws of the state which regulations in some instances would doubtless mean prohibition but in any event would mean majority rule and respect for law. Such an amendment would still leave prohibition in full force in the country and in any of the cities where public sentiment upholds prohibition.

I believe that the legislature ought to submit such an amendment at once. For these three reasons, therefore the result of the recent vote having been announced, I shall deem it my duty at an early date to call a special session of the legislature.

First, to receive the report of the last election as required by the resolve under which the election was held.

Second, to revise the laws relating to the conduct of our elections in order that the will of the people as expressed by their ballots may be accurately determined and promptly declared.

Third, to submit an amendment to the constitution which will permit the enactment of laws concerning the liquor traffic which are capable of honest enforcement because sustained by the sentiment of the several communities to which they will be applied.

Sorrento
The faithful gods who ruled o'er Great Greece
Created this fair land in some high mood
Of frolic joy; the smiling heavens brood
Over a scene soft-whispered in joyful peace.
Gay clasp, odorous breathings never cease
From laughing cypress, limogrore and olive wood;
Sweet fashers sing from out the sparkling flood
Where once the sirens sang in luring ease.
The curved beach awakes with brown-skinned boys and girls
Dancing the tarantella on the sands,
Their limbs alive with music's jollity
And ever, where the warm wave leaps and swirls
With glad embrace clasping the bowery lands—
Breaks the tumultuous laughter of the sea.

A Helpless Invalid

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is, it would almost seem, to blame for her own wretchedness. Read what this woman says:

Richmond, Mo.—"When my second daughter was eighteen months old I was pronounced a hopeless invalid by specialists. I had a consultation of doctors and they said I had a severe case of ulceration. I was in bed for ten weeks, had sinking spells, and was pronounced to be in a dangerous condition. My father insisted that we try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and brought me six bottles. I soon began to improve, and before it had all been taken I was as well and strong as ever—my friends hardly recognized me so great was the change."—Mrs. Woodson Branstetter, Richmond, Mo.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read what another woman says:—

Jonesboro, Texas.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for myself and daughter, and consider it unequalled for all female diseases. I would not be without it for anything. I wish every mother in America could be persuaded to use it as there would be less suffering among our sex then. I am always glad to speak a word of praise for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you are at liberty to use this testimonial."—Mrs. James T. Lawrence, Jonesboro, Texas.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

Every one of your hens will lay "Golden Eggs" if you feed them The Park & Pollard DRY-Mash and Scratch Feed.

No side stepping or excuses—they LAY OR BUST, and they don't bust.

Get their Almanac and Yearbook, and learn all about a wonderful feed that is sold on the "money back plan."

Feed the maturing pullets GROWING FEED and DRY-MASH mixed, but as soon as they begin to lay, give them the DRY-MASH straight.

Don't delay, get them started now and you will have eggs all winter. There are no "just as good" feeds and you have no time to try them—eggs are too high.

HOME DECORATIONS

The decoration of a room may be based upon some special feature of the room—a piece of furniture, a bit of choice china, the coloring of the rug or planned to harmonize with the adjacent rooms.

WALLS—Rich, flat effects are secured by use of Flat-tone finishes. These materials are durable, sanitary and most practical in the home. Used over the old paper, you get the color desired and a durable surface that can be washed with soap and water like the paint on the wood work.

A FLAT-TONE treatment of the old curtains makes them look like new and gives them a color to harmonize with the room.

FLOORS—By using filler stains, wax or varnishes, any shade or finish may be given. For old sort-wood floors, our floor paint or varnish stain may be used to give a lasting surface.

We have finished over 100 rooms the past few months with FLAT-TONE. The first cost is less and being durable, it's the most economical finish all around.

to barrel is another entirely new Glenwood idea and is very ingenious. The Ash Chute is sold complete with barrel and all connections, as illustrated, at a moderate price to fit any cabinet style Glenwood. Miss Ethel Avis Haines, elder daughter of Hon. and Mrs. William T. Haines of Waterville and Percy Atwood Crafts of Auburn were married Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents. The bride was beautiful in a creation of white chamuse with duchess lace collar, yoke and sleeves with no veil. The couple stood beneath an arch from which a fringe of similar garlands hung. The decorations were exceedingly beautiful, the color scheme being green, pink and white. Envoies in the form of the rear of the hall-way were a member of a picked orchestra of 12 pieces.

Mrs. William T. Haines wore pearl grey brocaded satin with duchess lace, the waist having narrow bands of chiffon edged with silver lace. Miss Gertrude Haines, sister of the bride, wore a charming gown of white chiffon embroidered with forget-me-nots. The guests passed from the receiving line to the dining room, which was most artistically decorated and charmingly lighted.

Ribbons guarded the doors of the refreshment room, the ribbon girls being Miss Helen Soper and Miss Helen Marr. Miss Soper was dressed in pale pink and Miss Marr in pale green. Mr. and Mrs. Crafts were the recipients of a large number of wedding presents from their friends both far and near. The display of cut glass, silverware and other gifts was the occasion of many expressions of delight and admiration. The presence of the bride's father to the bride was a completely furnished home at 55 Western Promenade, Auburn.

The bride is an extremely talented and popular young lady who has a host of friends. She attended Dana Hall, Wellesley. The groom is inspector for Field Brothers & Gross, shoe manufacturers, of Auburn.

No store in New England outside of the very largest cities shows a more varied and up-to-date stock of seasonable merchandise, from which to supply your Wants for Early Fall and Winter than we.

Our Coat and Suit Department BOASTS of offering Garments second to none made and Prices much below city markings. At this season of the year you will find many odd and desirable garments, purchased not for stock size but for order pieces, that we are willing to reduce in price from the real value—not because of being out of date, but because they have served their purpose and we cannot duplicate them. The above applies very particularly to our stock of 75 Fine Tailored Suits from $35 to $75. Be one of the first to secure one of these garments.

Our Carpet and Rug Department shows many new and desirable things for gifts and many of our customers are thinking of Christmas which will soon be here, and they are picking out the choice things. Are you one of them?

Miss Bachelder has just returned from a special trip to New York where she was fortunate enough to pick up a lot of Choice Neckwear that appeals to the early shoppers.

Every Department of our shop has contributed to the wants of the public.

The Cooks who have used the Single Damper of the

Crawford Ranges

will never go back to the troublesome
two-damper range

The cost of the food spoiled by mistakes in regulating the ordinary two-damper ranges amounts to a large sum.

The Single Damper of the Crawford affords absolute fire and oven control by one motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check," the range does the rest.

The Oven of the Crawford has cup-joint heat flues which heat everywhere alike and make it the quickest and surest of bakers.

The Two Hods (patented) in the base—one for ashes instead of the old clumsy ash pan—one for coal, is a great trouble-saving feature.

Gas Ovens and Broilers above or at end of range, if desired.

Ask the Crawford agent to show you and write us for circulars.

YALE STOCK COMPANY

At Rockland Theatre, Commencing Monday, November 13.

A good big show at little prices will be offered by the Yale Stock Co. at Rockland Theatre for three days, commencing Monday, Nov. 13. Matinees will be given every day, beginning Monday. The plays include "A Jealous Wife," a comedy written by the popular author, Justin Adams; a rattling good comedy, "Hello Bill," full of hearty laughs and amusing situations; a good rural melodrama, "The Traveling Man;" "Princess of Patches;" and "The Village Parson." All the plays are standard successes. In addition to the plays some good vaudeville features will be offered between acts, making a continuous show at each performance. The opening play of the engagement will be "Miss Petticoats." The story of "Miss Petticoats" is a gem of the first magnitude.

A quaint seaport town, once the scene of a great whaling industry, is where the story begins. It carries Agatha Renier, called "Miss Petticoats," a pet name given her by her grandfather, Captain Stewart, to Paris and back again. It is a remarkable story in all respects. Cleverly constructed and brimming over with the sweetness of the true New England life, and all its peculiar and curious types of character, found only among those people who "go down to the sea in ships."

Seats go on sale Saturday morning at the Theatre box office. Prices popular with the people, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A review from the columns of this paper of some of the events which interested Rockland and vicinity for four weeks ending Nov. 9, 1886.

Roberts of the First Baptist church and Rev. L. L. Hanscom of the Methodist church. J. H. Reed, the new general secretary, was presented. L. Wilbur Messer of the Cambridge Association followed with earnest remarks. An evening mass meeting was held in Farwell hall. President Bicknell stated that the total cost of the new building was $7900. The sum of $560 was raised to defray running expenses for the ensuing year.

WET OR DRY

A Courier-Gazette Subscriber in Bethel, Vt., Has Views on Subject.

A subscriber of The Courier-Gazette, who is a boarding mistress in Bethel, Vt., writes as follows:

"When the paper comes I turn first to the Vinalhaven news, then look to see if it is 'wet or dry.' Now it would be a grand thing if it was dry, but my experience has been that it has been dry in name only, and unless the law is enforced give me the bar license where you have to stand and drink in view of all who pass in the street, and can't take it outside or home. I speak from experience as I am running a large boarding house and have had no liquor brought in since Bethel went license, but I don't think the town will vote license again. I think they are getting enough, but as I said before, it would be a grand thing if Maine went dry and kept dry."
