NOBLE TO RESIGN AS SCHOOL HEAD

Committee Has Successor In Mind Will Elect Member to Fill Sedgely's Place.

Hon. N. P. Noble, who has been superintendent of the Phillips schools for a number of years, will resign his position at the head of the schools as soon as he finishes his work for the present season.

Mr. Noble, in an interview with a Maine Woods reporter, said that his reason for taking this step was the large amount of time required to successfully superintend the schools and the cares of business affairs.

The school committee, which will soon elect a member to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of George Sedgely, has a man in view to elect as superintendent of the schools, it is said. The election of this man will probably be announced in Maine Woods next week.

There has been considerable regret expressed at the resignation of Mr. Noble, for he has worked long and hard to upbuild the schools of this town, introducing modern methods and insisting that the work of the various schools should be conscientiously performed by both pupils and teachers.

BURNED TENT TO ANNOY THE BOYS

An Investigation Will Be Made by the Boy Scouts—Tramps Seen Near Place.

Rev. Mr. Hutchins is of the opinion that the Boy Scouts tent that was burned to the ground, with all its contents early this (Thursday) morning, at the island by the salmon hole, was set on fire by some person who wished to annoy the boys.

The tent was discovered in flames in the early forenoon by Arthur Aldrich who chanced to be passing that way. He threw what was left of it into the river and thereby saved two other tents from burning.

Tramps were seen near the river recently and were driven away by Colby Whittemore. It is thought possible that they may have had some hand in the burning of the tent and its contents.

Mr. Hutchins is sure there were no combustibles in the tent in the shape of matches or other material that would easily ignite. He is more of the opinion that some person attempted a vicious joke on the

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION.

Judge James Morrison, who has made a careful study of fire conditions in Phillips, has in mind a series of articles on this important question, which he has promised to use in Maine Woods.

There are some startling risks existing in Phillips, according to Judge Morrison. In the articles to come he will tell the story of what he says is rank negligence and also show how preventative measures may be adopted.

These articles are bound to attract widespread attention, for every Phillippian is interested in these matters.

RAIN IS FATAL TO PURPLE MARTINS

"Their Enemy, the English Sparrow, Should Be Killed," Says Naturalist.

Basil H. Newell.

If one is interested in birds at all, the purple martin, with a song, call or note for every emotion, cannot fail to be a favorite. They are of gregarious, social habits and their happy disposition and harmonious adjustment of family and neighborhood life at once engages the attention of the observer. Their notes are full and melodious, with all the changes from joy to expostulation, but they seldom sound in anger except at the intrusion of some enemy. In the latter case the martins are very fearless and courageous, and the only birds with the exception of the barn swallows which will venture to attack the small hawks. In doing this the brave birds sometimes come to grief. I have seen two of them caught by hawks which suddenly turned on their backs and caught the attacking martins in their talons, both falling to the ground. On one of these occasions I happened to be near enough to rescue the martin, but on the other the birds fell too far away for the result of the struggle to be seen by me.

Food of the Martin.

The food of the martin consists of flying insects, and ranges from moths and dragon flies to mosquitoes. The color of the birds until they are a year and a half old, is a dull purplish blue above, and brownish gray below. During the second winter in their southern home in Mexico, nearly the entire plumage of the male bird is changed to a rich purplish blue while the female retains her duller garb.

The old martins arrive about the last of April and begin to build about the twentieth of May. The younger birds arrive about the middle of May and sometimes start nesting as late as the twentieth of June. There are many more males than females, which is probably due to the fact that the female is caught or trapped on her nest by cats or other enemies. As a rule it is difficult to suit the martins in a nesting site. For twenty years I have tried to get a colony of them to build and return the succeeding season with their augmented families. They would start the first year with one pair of year-old birds, hatch, rear their young, depart, return the next year and be joined by several more pairs, only to leave suddenly, deserting their eggs, nests and even their partly grown young. There seems to be no satisfactory explanation of this unnatural condition and it has never been clear to naturalists.

Rain Kills Birds.

I have however noticed that this early desertion of their nests has occurred after a long period of cold, rainy weather, when the birds have been wet or chilled through. On the twentieth of May, 1902, a cold rain storm killed a dozen or more of the birds at my houses. Upon taking down the martin houses after an early exodus, I have sometimes found one dead martin inside, which may have been enough to frighten the rest of the birds away. Another possible explanation lies in the fact that the martins are very early migrators, but whatever it is that causes the desertion of their nests, it renders them suspicious, and no martin appears until June of the following year, when a lone young male will stay around for a few weeks, then return the next summer with a mate and thus start again.

I have now had the martins four successive years and at this early date, (May 25th,) there are thirty pairs building while more are arriving daily. The largest colony in Maine is said to be in Presque Isle and to consist of 60 pairs.

Anyone interested in having these birds nest near them should build rain-tight bird houses with only one door to each room. If on poles, the houses should be sixteen or more feet from the ground, with tin around the poles as a protection from cats. A house built in this way will probably have a few of the birds in a year or two, if other birds, particularly the English sparrows, can be kept out.

Sparrow Enemy of Martin.

The following incident gave me an insight into the nature of the English sparrow. A large number of eave swallows were nesting under the eaves of the barn. One day I noticed some of their eggs on the ground and was unable to determine the cause of such an accident, until suddenly there emerged from one of the eave swallow's nests a female English sparrow, with her bill driven into an egg, which she dropped at my feet. This destruction of their eggs caused the departure of the eave swallows, and they have never returned. A shot gun seems to be the only satisfactory riddance of the English sparrows, which if left alone will keep up a continual struggle to gain possession of the martin houses and will sometimes succeed in driving away the martins.

The interest in the purple martin is wide spread, as is evidenced by the houses built for them throughout the country, and to those who are successful in establishing a colony of the birds the study of their habits will afford many a pleasurable and delightful hour.

TRUE FOX STORIES.

A man was travelling afoot on one of the wooded highways of Otisfield, when he was very much surprised to be confronted by a young fox that came out of the woods barking and snarling furiously as a baby fox could.

The man was not greatly affrighted of course at this sudden attack of so wild an animal, and instead of running away, he ran toward the creature and succeeded after a chase in capturing him alive and well.

At the last accounts the two were journeying along together.

One Sunday not long ago two gentlemen were riding along a somewhat lonely road through woods, when what should jump into the road directly in front of the horse but an old fox with two woodchucks in her mouth.

But she was so frightened by the team that she dropped the woodchucks and disappeared into the woods. The "chucks" were dead so presumably old Reynard returned in due season to carry them to her crying children.

NOTES FROM LIFE.

By F. L. Butler.
(In Seven Parts.)

No. 2.

Dynamite vs. Fishing.

The boys and men around here are kept busy now days paying fines and costs for dynamiting fish, and the rest for fishing on Sunday. Other business goes on at full swing all day Sunday and the law says nothing.

Canadian Lynx.

Last winter two lynxes came across the ice from Canada. They have since been seen in various parts of this state, and New York state. An auto also went the icy way, this on lake Erie. Mr. Somebody's biplane got lost in the ice.

The Cost of Living.

A man will do well to look sharp after his meat the coming fall. Skunks are said to be very palatable when properly cooked so why not fill the pork barrel in advance of trust meat and prices. How long will it be before the polecat goes on the list as game?

The Dog.

The dog as a rule, gets more kicks and cuffs than his proverbial bone. A dogs are not capable of earning their own living, nor can they pay the proposed $2 tax on themselves, nevertheless the owners of such dogs generally think as much of their dog as any dog in the pound.

Wild Ginseng.

Years ago the woods of Pennsylvania, so the old timers say, were just full to running over with this Chinese tobacco, that is known in export trade as wild American ginseng. Pennsylvania is not alone in this product, because this root may be found in almost every state in the Union, barring a few, or could be once upon a time. The last prices I got on ginseng were prices of food stuffs. There was equal, if not more than the high prices for, prongy roots, smooth roots, darkly colored roots, chumped roots, wild roots, tame roots, and burnt roots, and roots with and without fibres. What will come next?

Under the Eye of the Telescope.

Why should a man be watched with a telescope? Either he is naturally bad and the neighbors are afraid of him, or else the neighbors are bad themselves, and judge others by themselves. I have lived under these circumstances and find it galling to the extreme. My friends, the neighbors or telescope users will bear watching by officers of the law.

The Woodsman.

The woodsman is a man who has a chance to see sights and wonders of nature which outlive even New York's skyscrapers or the Brooklyn bridge, and other places of note. Nature is ever producing some new wonders, look where you may. The careful observer will find a hidden partridge nest here, and a black or gray squirrel's nest in a hollow log or tree. A little further and he sees a hidden stream "neath" the shade of some forest monarch, and he knows just where to find the best trout fishing in this stream, and so it goes from one thing to another in countless numbers.

Along Lake Erie.

The outing season is on in full blast out along the lake, and things are doing nowadays at such places as "Waldamere," Orchard beach, Four Mile creek, and other summer resorts.

FLY ROD'S NOTE BOOK

One day recently I accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. White to take dinner with them at Camp Dudley, their log camp on the shore opposite Mountain View House where they are spending the summer.

I was surprised to find they were in the center of a colony of camps along the shore that have been built within the past five years. Just above is "Camp Laura," where Mr. and Mrs. Lester Penley of Auburn spend several months, while Mr. Penley acts as mail clerk on the Portland and Rumford railroad division.

Mrs. Penley caught a 3½-lb salmon in her door yard one morning this week.

The next camp is Mrs. Mary Porter's of Rumford and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Porter live there while Fred Porter is assistant at Oquossoc fish hatchery.

F. O. Walker, the hardware dealer of Rumford, is in Roxmont Cottage below where Mrs. Fred Smith and son, Mrs. Jennie Noyes, Mrs. Robert Percy of Rumford are guests.

Dr. Bisbee of Rumford owns the the next cottage and below is Camp Tillicum where Conductor Berchard Tainter and bride are now housekeeping.

Below Camp Dudley, Wm. Burt of Rumford owns the next camp.

Chief of Police Cobb of Rumford has rented his cottage to Lew Merrill and family of the same town.

Andrews' life has been passed in Cooper, Northfield, Grand Lake Stream and Calais.

One fall he shot 38 deer, and it was a common thing to kill a moose. Once he was cornered in a group of six bears and but one got away, but that was an oversight on Mr. Andrews' part. It must be remembered that these events took place in 1844 when he was a young man of 20 and the country was largely primeval forest. Mr. Andrews states that when he was a little boy in the Cooper woods there were no wolves. They came in 1861. These pesky critters infested the woods near Cooper for a few years, eating the sheep and dogs, and disappeared just as suddenly as they appeared. It is an accepted fact that to Mr. Andrews belongs the credit of killing the last wolf killed in Washington county. Mr. Andrews states that the sight of a wolf is no more fearful than a 'meechin dog.' They are lean and slouchy looking but he says that their cries in the forest on a dark night are terrifying indeed.

Mr. Andrews had a great local reputation as a crack shot at the "Stream" and it is recalled that just previous to his coming to Calais in 1892, when he was 68, he saved the day for his side in a memorable shooting contest at the "Stream." The sharpshooters of the village had chosen sides for a competition shoot. The opposite side was leading strong, when the captain of Mr. Andrews' side said to him: 'Israel you are the last man on our side to shoot. We are behind, but if you can make a big score we can beat them,' and Mr. Andrews shot at a target the size of a silver dollar at 100 yds, struck the center twice, and just ticked the rim on the third shot.

LOCAL NOTES

The King's Daughters held their annual in Wilbur hall Tuesday evening, June 25, it being the last meeting for the summer months. Only nineteen members were present but a very pleasant evening was passed by all. A short business meeting was held, after which the evening was turned over to the entertainment committee who had arranged a very unique program. Slips of paper with short printed sketches of the different flowers were read and then came a series of stunts to be performed, the first one being to register one's name in a mirror. This seemed easy but proved a difficult task and one that would require a great deal of practice to accomplish in good shape. There were 12 slips in this series and the one who completed the number in the shortest time was given a prize. Miss Celia Whitney won the first prize, a bow of blue ribbon, and Mrs. Alberta Parker the second, a bow of red ribbon. As this was a flower party a poem entitled "A Flowery Romance," was passed each one and they were to fill in the blanks with the proper flowers. This made a very pretty poem when completed. Miss Cora Wheeler favored the company with a vocal solo and responded to an encore. Lemonade was furnished throughout the evening. A tasting party closed the evening's entertainment and many were the good things to eat placed on the table. The ladies departed at 11 o'clock, having passed a very enjoyable evening.

Emery Bubier's commission as a game warden expired June 15.

The Christmas Present club was entertained by Mrs. D. F. Field last Tuesday afternoon. The day was very warm so the ladies gathered on the lawn for their work and with the delightful breeze and the delicious punch served by the hostess were most comfortable. At 4.00 refreshments were served in the dining room. The next meeting will be with Mrs. N. H. Harnden in two weeks.

Many old friends are pleased to meet Mrs. Raymond Toothaker of Auburn, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Howland for a few weeks.

Mrs. Samuel H. Beedy, who died June 22 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. N. Kewley of South Paris, was 78 years old and for many years had been a highly respected citizen of Phillips. Mrs. Beedy's death came very unexpectedly, for she had been in apparent good health for years. Saturday morning she arose and said that she did not feel well. Mrs. Kewley summoned a physician, but Mrs. Beedy passed away during the afternoon. She was born in Avon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Haines. Her girlhood days were spent in Avon, but practically all her life was lived in Phillips. She was married to Samuel H. Beedy February 28, 1858. There were four children, Mrs. George A. Trumbull of Lawrence, Mass.; Mrs. T. N. Kewley of South Paris; Harry Beedy and Arthur Beedy. The funeral was held from her late home Tuesday, the Rev. Mr. Millett, assisted by Rev. Mr. Hutchins, conducting the services. There was a large attendance of friends and many floral tributes were left on the bier. Miss Mildred Mahoney sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Crossing the Bar."

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bean left for Bethel last Saturday. Mr. Bean purchased a store with a line of groceries and dry goods and will begin business at once in Bethel. It is hoped that he will decide to continue his instructions in the grammar school in this town, but he was undecided when he left town.

Miss E. A. Hammond, assistant in the High school has gone to Kennebunk for the summer.

Major and Mrs. Bates and Mr. and Mrs. Menzor Will, of Strong, were in town Tuesday and attended Mrs. Beedy's funeral.

F. J. D. Barnjum and his five children were in town Wednesday in Mr. Barnjum's big automobile. While here they called on Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Beal.

POTTLE-CORDEN.

A very pretty home wedding occurred Saturday morning at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Pottle, of Cumberland avenue, west, Portland, when their son, Irving W. Pottle and Miss Elizabeth M. Corden of Lewiston were united in marriage. Rev. A. W. Pottle of Waterville, great uncle of the groom, and who officiated at the marriage of the groom's parents thirty-seven years ago, officiated, the double ring service being used. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white crepe-de-meteor with picture hat to match. Miss Cora E. Pottle, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and wore a gown of white serge with black trimmings and picture hat. George H. Corden of Boston, brother of the bride was best man. The presents from the bride and groom to the maid of honor and best man were gold pins. Mr. and Mrs. Pottle, parents of the groom assisted in receiving. Mrs. Pottle wore black lace over black messaline. Immediate relatives and a few intimate friends were the witnesses of the happy event. Beautiful decorations were tastily arranged in the residence to accompany the bright sunshine and general bright features of the day. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. The gifts were many and beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Pottle left on the noon train for Montreal and thence to attend the races in Ontario. The bride's travelling gown was of mode whip cord, trimmed with brown strappings, and hat to match. Mr. Pottle is a member of the Portland tinware firm and a well known follower of the Maine races. Mr. and Mrs. Pottle are to be at home to their friends after October the first at 469 Cumberland avenue. Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Pottle of Waterville, George H. Corden of Boston and Miss Helen Pottle of Farmington were out of town guests at the wedding.—Portland Press.

THE MAN ON THE JOB

There have been a trio of expert women operators of automobiles in town during the past few weeks and these include Mrs. Don Harden of Brownville, Mrs. W. J. Roberts of Rochester, N. H., and Miss Lucille Stevens of Farmington. In each instance the women were as proficient operators as members of the sterner sex.

Those who are interested in the number of inches of rainfall that has been precipitated in Avon last year will learn with surprise, perhaps, that Mr. Benjamin Kennedy of that town has kept what he considers an accurate record. It shows that that there has been from June 10, 1911, to June 10, 1912, a fall of 65 inches of rain and 128 inches of snow. Mr. Kennedy uses for purposes of observation a tin bucket that is just the same size at the bottom that it is at the top. He says that he has kept a careful record and feels sure that his report is very accurate.

With the coming of real summer days the agitation for a street sprinkler has been taken up with renewed interest. All the sprinkling that is done at present is accomplished with the hose owned by various individuals. This is a cumbersome and unsatisfactory method. George Sedgeley says that his offer of $25 for the starting of a street sprinkler fund still holds good. Who will be the next to come forward with a donation and thereby hasten the day when the dust evil in Phillips may be done away with?

"Billie" King, who is a machinist at the International Mfg. Co.'s mill, is in daily training now to reduce weight. If you see a white clad figure swiftly passing over the landscape in the early hours of evening you may safely guess that it is Billie, out sprinting for the prize of lessened weight.

The worm will turn! When some of the delegates returned from the Bangor convention there was placed on the stairway leading to a certain lawyer's office this sign: "Taft headquarters upstairs." But recent developments in Chicago have caused the placing of another sign, in another locality, that reads as follows: "In memoriam to the late Teddy Roosevelt." Over the inscription is placed what is labelled as a "weeping willow." The latter sign has attracted considerable attention and a great deal of good natured joking.

This part of the country thawed out Monday. With heated brows and coatless backs men walked about and complained of the heat. Just a day or two before they had said: "Oh, if this cold spell will ever let up!" Down at the Phillips station, which is the Man on the Job's station for meteorological observations, the thermometer rose to a height of 94 degrees. And there might have been other places in the county where the weather was still warmer.

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

Doctors Could Not Help Mrs. Templeton—Regained Health through Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Hooper, Nebraska.—"I am very glad to tell how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me. For five years I suffered from female troubles so I was scarcely able to do my work. I took doctors' medicines and used local treatments but was not helped. I had such awful bearing down pains and my back was so weak I could hardly walk and could not ride. I often had to sit up nights to sleep and my friends thought I could not live long. At my request my husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I commenced to take it. By the time I had taken the seventh bottle my health had returned and I began doing my washing and was a well woman. At one time for three weeks I did all the work for eighteen boarders with no signs of my old trouble returning. Many have taken your medicine after seeing what it did for me. I would not take $1000 and be where I was. You have my permission to use my name if it will aid anyone."—Mrs. SUSIE TEMPLETON, Hooper, Nebraska.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair.

It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

THE DELIGHTS OF CONCORD POND

Located In the Heart of the Oxford Hills, Far from Carking Care.

In Woodstock, 'mid the mountains, fields and valleys, 1,000 feet above the level of the sea, Concord pond ripples and sparkles in glimmering aboen, surrounded by wondrous scenic pictures such as can only be painted by the hand of God.

On the north side rises Davis Mountain, with its four peaks, beyond which the famous Mt. Zircon looms still higher. On the eastern side, back of high hills, lies Little Concord pond, beyond which the end of Speckled Mountain is distinctly discerned.

Spruce Mountain, the highest point in Oxford county, towers on the south side. This mountain is thickly wooded. At the foot of Davis mountain, near the pond, is the Davis farm, where the famous Ben Davis apples originated, says Agnes L. Morton in the Lewiston Journal.

West of this farm, on the edge of the woods, Camp Concord is situated on the shore of this beautiful pond, which is about three-quarters of a mile across the centre and one mile in length. This camp, noted for its hospitality, is owned by four Morton brothers of South Paris. They purchased this strip of land about 11 years ago. Since that time many parties upon pleasure intent have Dove," are kept in use most of the On a rocky point on the opposite shore from Camp Concord is a cottage owned by Mrs. Leon Fairbanks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Crockett of South Paris, where the Crocketts and Mr. Fairbanks of Newton, Mass., spend the summer, and where many other relatives and friends while many happy hours away. At one point the sandy shore affords much pleasure for those who enjoy bathing.

Fishing is much enjoyed upon the pond, pickerel and bass being plentiful, and from nearby brooks many basketsful of trout have been caught, dressed, displayed, counted, admired and eaten until hunger was appeased.

The air is clear, bracing and healthgiving, and the nights in summer are cool, inducing sleep. The ride to and from is all interesting, for the public highway is arched with branches intertwined, and from all sides Nature seems to smile.

'Tis pleasant to think of this sequestered spot, where the whisperings of the leaves, the sweet song of the birds and the lapping of the water on the shore are the only sounds to be heard. In summer, 'tis surely a haven of rest, and the camp, like the pond, is appropriately named, for Webster says Concord means har-mo-ny.

SPORTING NOTES

According to report the work of depositing fish from the U. S. hatcheries, this spring, has been completed in Maine. Among the places to which fry have been sent are

SHAW FORGETS HIS CARES IN WOODS

Bath, Me., June 22.—It is not every man with Gubernatorial aspirations who will leave home a month before the primaries and go into the deep woods to enjoy the spring fishing, yet that is just what Hon. Albert H. Shaw, better known in Maine as "Al Shaw" of Bath did.

Mr. Shaw made a good fight for the republican nomination for governor of this state.

Evidently Mr. Shaw was satisfied, for recently in company with Mrs. Shaw and two others, he left for his camp, Forest Park, at Moosehead lake. Here he has one of the finest bungalows to be found in the Maine woods, and as both he and Mrs. Shaw were born within sight of old Moosehead, they both love the great body of water and its mountains.

Every spring for years they have gone back there and again every fall. Mr. Shaw is an expert fisherman and gunner and in the past five years he has secured from the national fish hatcheries more than 80,000 salmon and trout, which he has had placed in the big lake. During his gunning trips he has shot about every kind of game to be found in the woods of Maine and Canada.

How He Shot the Big Moose.

In his den in his beautiful mansion in this city is the enormous head of a bull moose with which there goes a story showing his characteristic tenacity when after game. It was one time in the late fall that he had gone into the woods for moose and finding a place where he felt sure on would come to the shore of the lake he hid in a thicket. For five hours he waited before he was rewarded by the sight of an animal. All at once he saw the enormous antlers through the bushes some 200 yards away. No other part of the animal was in sight, but in a moment he figured the location in which the animal's shoulder ought to be so closely that after firing one shot he proceeded cautiously to the spot where he had seen the antlers, and within 150 feet from the place was Mr. Moose put completely out of commission.

At one time, when a youngster, Mr Shaw, in company with another boy started out on a bear hunt, and when night came put up in an old deserted camp. The mercury was below zero and there were several feet of snow on the ground. They built a fire in the camp on the ground, which was bare, and after supper rolled themselves in their blankets and went to sleep. In the night they were awakened by the roaring of flames and found the camp on fire. The flames had shut off all chance of escape by the door and they had to force an exit through a place in the rear, where they had managed to push out a log.

Turned out of doors in the wilderness with the mercury at 30 below zero, and in the middle of the night was no joke. They were miles from any habitation and finally they scooped, with their snowshoes, a hole in the snow about 10 feet long, 6 feet wide and 4 feet deep, covered one end with boughs placed on poles which they cut, and then built a fire in the end which was left open. Here they passed the remainder of the night "as snug as a bug in a rug."

He is a Tireless Walker.

Friends of Mr. Shaw, who go to camp with him report him a tireless walker on foot or snowshoes, and this is no doubt due to his early training. In those days his father owned a farm some 30 miles from Greenville, and Shaw as a boy often was obliged to cover the distance on foot, or snowshoes in a day, going by trails or along the surface of the lake when it was frozen. When only 13 years of age he was sent on these trips alone in the woods in the dead of winter.

This early life in the woods and on the streams made him a great lover of that sort of life, and that is why, when the news comes that the ice is going out that he begins to get his fishing tackle ready and with Mrs. Shaw for a companion goes up into the great forests of Maine to forget for a while all of his troubles in business and politics.

TROUT AND SALMON IN CONVENTION

Hold Interest at Upper Dam, Even Now In Days of Political Talk.

Upper Dam, June 20, 1912.

There is more interest among the guests at this hotel over the big trout and salmon that are holding their June convention in the pool, than over the Chicago one.

Among those here are gentlemen from New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Massachusetts, several who have won the "Hon." for their title and not one is shouting "Teddy" and I am more proud to say not one of the ladies are suffragettes "God bless them," a Bostonian remarked as the question came up.

It is in the pool that the fly fishermen from now until the last day of September will "worry the poor fish" as they try every known fly made in this and foreign lands.

There has been the lucky number of seven record trout taken from the pool the last week.

Hon. Arthur B. Calkins of New London, Conn., Chairman of the Connecticut fish and game, landed three of them. The first, a 3-lb. 1-oz., salmon, taken on Silver Doctor No. 6 hook. The next weighed 7 lbs. 5 oz. No. 6 hook, Silver Gray fly. On Saturday morning he was on the pool early, and before breakfast landed a 5-lb. 2-oz. silver beauty, using a No. 8 hook.

John Chadwick and Ernest Grant guided Messrs. Calkins and Barber for a two days' trip to Richardson pond and T. L. Barber of South Framingham, Mass., caught a 3-lb. trout on the fly which is a big one for the pond.

The flag is flying for three months from the first cottage below the hote and that tells the good news of the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Doane of Boston. Mr. Doane intend to keep up his reputation as a fisherman and the day after he came had a battle of over an hour with a 6-lb. 5-oz. salmon. The fly was a new one, Morning Glory, tied on No. 8 hook by Dr. F. A. Crossman of Boston. As usual Orin S. Dyke guides Mr. and Mrs. Doane.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Palmer of Milford, Penn., who came last year for the first time, were so pleased with the place, that they have taken a cottage for the summer, arriving his week accompanied by their daughter, Miss Louise, and two sons, George V. and Stephen H. Jr., and Miss A. B.

Palmer of Montclair, N. Y. Mr. Palmer took his first record fish the day after he came, a 3-lb. 5-oz. salmon and his son, Stephen, Jr., yesterday, one weighnig 3-lb. 6-oz.

"The best bushel we ever guided," said Ernest Grant, "Yes, four Pecks make a bushel," added Geo. Thomas, "Where do I come in," added Clayton Swett, the third guide, in answer to my question, "Who are you guiding boys?" The Peck party are from Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Peck, their son, Kenneth and daughter, Miss Peck, also Miss Abbott and Mathew Van Siden of New York. Kenneth has done the party honor by taking a 4-lb salmon on the fly from the pool. "We are having the time of our lives," remarked one of the ladies, as they started off this morning for a day on the lake, with the guides to cook their dinner. They have been camping at Richardson pond, where they took 248 trout on the fly in three days, but others can have the same luck as only a few were saved for the fry pan. While there they watched the deer feeding around the pond, for it is real wilderness life there.

Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Stevens of Cambridge, Dr. L. H. Spooner, Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Toby, Jr. and Dr. Arthur H. Crosbie, of Boston, returned home Monday, after a week's fishing. They had excellent fishing, trolling, taking all the law allows, but none over 4 lbs.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Dougherty of Syracuse, N. Y., are among the annual comers everyone is glad to see.

Sheriff and Mrs. F. N. Abbott of Lawrence, Mass., return home today after a ten days' sojourn, Chester Swett was their guide. "We have had all the fish we wanted, but none of those 5 or 8-pounders come to our net," said the Sheriff.

Mrs. George E. Bearce of Lewiston is at home in Camp Kirk, Mr. Bearce having returned home.

SPORTING NOTES

"Bill," as he was known, a trout which was placed in a private pond at Oyster Bay, L. I., when three years old, died recently at the age of fifteen years, says the Fishing Gazette. He was 2½ feet long, weighed 9-lbs., and had learned to come at the call of his name.

enjoyed the hospitality of the camp which the Mortons built.

The camp is surrounded by trees, whose shade in the noon time heat is appreciated by all. Pleasant memories hover round and about this humble abode.

From the veranda in front the mountains are reflected in the pond. The everchanging light causes one to realize that in order to appreciate the sunshine, one must have the shadow. By moonlight, too, words cannot express the grandeur of the scene.

In the early part of each summer, parties in the three-seated camp coach, drawn by a large pair of black horses, are seen winding their way to this camp and nearly every Saturday this same team takes in a new party, returning with the old.

Strawberries, raspberries, blueberries and blackberries are plentiful in their season, as are green peas, string beans, green corn, cucumbers, etc., from the Davis farm. Fried trout, fried pickerel, bass chowders, combined with good things taken from home, make a bill of fare "fit for a king."

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN MAINE WOODS. LOW ADVERTISING RATES.

The J. Stevens Arms & Tool Company, Chicopee Falls, Mass., is furnishing a hunting telescope similar to its No. 4253 telescope, but designed especially for Savage and Marlin rifles. These telescopes can be fitted with an ordinary screw-driver only—not requiring any other tools.

On the Marlin rifle, the telescope is mounted by setting the front mount in the rear sight slot; the rear mount is screwed to the receiver, taking advantage of the screw holes provided for receiver sights.

On the Savage rifle, the front mount is fitted to the rear slot and a specially designed rear mount is screwed into the tang sight screw holes with which the rifle is regularly provided.

The front mounts on these telescopes are not driven tight, but are held firmly in the slot by means of an expanding screw so that any wear caused by dismounting or changing the mount will always be compensated for and the mount held perfectly tight.

These hunting telescopes have a universal focus and are made with a pin sight, are adjustable for elevation and more readily seen in poor light than cross-hairs. Stevens hunting telescopes require very small mounts with no projecting screws to catch in bushes, trees, underbrush, etc. These telescopes are very solid and compactly made and can be held in a scabbard of case without being injured. The list price is $16.00.

FOR SALE

AN ISLAND CAMP. Only camp on Lake, 9 miles long by 5 miles wide at widest.

FISHING Good fly and bait fishing. Nothing in Lake but red spot trout and white perch. No pickerel or bass,— just trout, and some "lunkers" too—up to 6 lbs., average nearly 2 lbs.

MOOSE AND DEER Moose and Deer are often seen from Camp veranda.

HOUSE Frame house facing the west, six spring beds, mattresses, blankets,—best wool—not "comforters," nor of coton—but of light, warm wool. Sheets, pillow slips, table dishes, bocking chairs, hammocks, doors and windows screened, though roth flies and mosquitoes are scarce (being on Island.)

ISLAND About six acres, covered with a beautiful growth of very tall white Birch, sprinkled plentifully with Spruce, Fir and Pine. Beautiful trails to different parts of Island, left in virgin beauty. Shallow water around Island, except at "The Point," where it falls off quickly into deep water. Fine sandy bathing beach within five minutes in motor boat.

COOK HOUSE Separate from, but connected with main house by covered walk, and containing cook stove and all needed cooking utensils.

WOOD Cut and piled now for both cook stove and for main house. Cut on main land so as to save the beauty of the Island.

ICE HOUSE Now filled with plenty of ice to last two months of summer. Has a cold storage room at back.

OUTHOUSE A sanitary outhouse is also on the Island.

BOATS A practically new Gasoline Motor Boat, which will make 8 miles an hour, and has never given any bother,—will carry 8 to 10 people. One-half interest in boat house at other end of Lake where I store both Motor Boat and Canoe during absence, to be convenient when I go to camp.

A beautiful, high grade, canvas covered canoe, (has not been paddled 100 miles all told) with back rests, back and seat cushions, besides lots of downy ones for comfort, strip carpet for bottom, and plenty of paddles. Three row boats and oars.

WHARF A wharf just in front of Camp, extending 150 feet out into Lake—giving ample room for all boats, and a canoe rest.

BUOY A buoy well anchored for Motor Boat.

Leave Boston 7.30 p. m. A through sleeper right to destination. Off train at 8.30 a. m. An 8-mile drive over good road, and you can drive into Lake if you wish and step from team directly into Motor Boat. An hour takes you the 8 miles to Camp, and believe me, the most restful place I ever found; beautiful views of its wooded shores, beautiful sunsets, and such sleep! A walk of an hour over a log road, rather rough part way, brings you to another Lake where you can have use of an Island Camp and boat, belonging to our guide. In this Lake I NEVER ONCE FAILED to get a good mess of trout on fly—from one-quarter to one pound weight. It is also a good place to see both moose and deer. An hour's walk from this Lake, or 45 minutes from the main Lake, is another Lake with a house and boat to be had under same conditions. This is a smaller Lake, but has the finest of fly fishing in September. Trout are large in size and very plentiful at times, but not to be counted on regularly. Fishing here is uncertain, but once had, will always linger in memory.

GUIDES Are gentlemanly and obliging, good cooks, too. Wages $1.50 to $2.00 per day.

Milk, cream, berries, vegetables, chickens, meats, etc., etc., can be had where boat house is located, and makes a delightful run daily in Motor Boat. They are connected by telephone and telegraph.

Some last year's prices—same now: Wild strawberries, 15 cents per quart; raspberries, 10 cents, blueberries, 6 cents cream, 25 cents per quart; eggs, 15 cents per dozen; chicken 12 cents per pound, dressed; sirloin roast, 15 cents per pound
A whole spring lamb $3.50 and everything else in proportion.

A delightful place for ladies as well as men. You are the only people on the whole Lake. It is virgin ground. No tourists there. It's yours. Everything named and warrantee deed of Island and house, $1200.

Address; MAINE WOODS. Phillips, Maine.

BACKWARD SPRING IS FELT BY TROUT

New York Speckled Beauties Forced to Feed on Bottom Insects.

New York City—A backward spring and heavy rains have forced the trouin our swollen streams to live on crawfish and bottom insects. The recent warm wave, however, has started the fish toward their favorite food at this season, the flies and worms that now come down stream in great quantities, says a writer in the New York Sun.

It is remarkable what a quantity of living things a good sized, hungry brook trout can swallow in an hour's time. The angler who notices everything will find that trout are now taking ants, bugs, crickets, bumble and honey bees in large quantities, and where fruit trees abound the fish, especially in shallow place-es among good sized boulders, often take nothing but "apple tree worms."
I have noticed trout watching these worms which had fallen from the limbs of self-planted apple trees and were trying to cross stream from stone to stone. A hungry fish would occasionally make a splash, causing the incautious caterpillar to lose its hold and fall an easy prey.

It has often been questioned by anglers whether trout would follow an insect onto dry land. From a personal experience I know this to be a fact. I was once fishing in a small meadow brook fed by ice springs which gushed forth where the mountain water struck the clay strata near a lake. This stream was known to contain a few large trout, but they were very wary, and the owner of the land, while not exactly forbidding his neighbors to fish in waters stocked carefully by the state, yet accomplished his purpose quite effectually by turning into the brook lot an old Durham bull which struck terror to the heart of us young ang-lers. Fishing that stream one day, and keeping a watchful eye on that vicious beast, I made a cast under the overhanging branches of an alder which shaped a deep hole under a high bank where the brook made a sudden turn. The fly struck water well beneath the foliage, and I repeated my cast. Finally, just as the lure was lazily nearing the stream's margin, a great speckled trout sprang savagely from his lair among the tangled roots at the tempting object. He missed, and so great was the force of his rush that it carried him a foot or two onto the sandy shore. I lost no time in dropping my rod and capturing my game, cat fashion.

Once on shore your fish is always in great haste to return to the water and he generally manages to get there with a few convulsive turns.

The brook trout has also a well developed bump of locality or direction, equal possibly, to that of the cat or dog. You will notice that quality the very first time that you throw a small one far away from the brook by the spring of your rod.
Carefully mark down where he struck in the meadow grass. As you approach he will lie quiet for a moment to elude your search, just like any wounded game, but if you conceal yourself he will soon begin to rustle the grass, making his way unerringly back to his home in the cool water. And he will reach the stream, unless the distance be too great or some obstacle like a log or rock intervene, for he is direct in his methods, is the troutlet, and he knows not circumnavigation.
His bold, straight rush at his floating prey in the swift rapids shows this.

I have sometimes had two small "throw-outs" in the lush grass at a time, and have let them work toward home for a while before putting them into the water. It is sometimes hard to find them, for they have a way of getting into the sunken footprints of a horse or ox in marshy places. Trout at such times are greatly aided by moisture in the grass, caused by rains or heavy dew. They soon perish on dry sand or if left in the blazing sun. I have never seen a trout working away from a stream when thrown on a bank, but they invariably try to return, even when fifty feet or more from the water.

FARMINGTON SHOW A ROUSING SUCCESS

Mrs. Temple's Telegram Scored a Big Hit although the Crowd Was Small.

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram," given by Farmington amateur and professional talent Saturday night in Lambert hall, proved a great success in everything except attendance. Many regret that there was not a larger turn out for this production, for it was well worth a house full of people.

The members of the company had their respective parts well in hand at all times and received many generous and deserved rounds of applause. And they entertained their audience, which is something that is not always accomplished in these days of critical show goers.

The work of Charles Lake and Miss Florence White, both professionals, was highly complimented, as was that of other members of the cast.

Following are those who appeared: Wigson, Archie Roderick; Mrs. Jack Temple, Florence White; Dorothy, Lucile Stevens; Jack Temple, William Barton; Mrs. Frank Fuller, Rose Grounder; Frank Fuller, Chas. Lake; Capt. Sharp, Joseph Linscott; John Brown, Stanley Moore; Mrs. John Brown, Olympia Marwick.
