Former Vassalboro Minister's 'Phone Power' Book Published

VASSALBORO — The Rev. Augustus W. Dowdy Jr., formerly pastor of North Vassalboro and Center Vassalboro Baptist Churches has completed a book entitled "Phone Power, Using the Telephone in Ministry" which has been published by Judson Press.

The book lists ways churches are expanding their ministry by using the telephone and related equipment.

THE REV. MR. DOWDY is a graduate of Northeast Bible Institute, South-Eastern Bible College, Andover-Newton Theological School and Gordon Conwell Theological Seminary. He served as moderator of the Kennebec Baptist Association of the American Baptist Churches of Maine and as pastor of the North and Center Vassalboro Churches for four years prior to moving to Vermont.

He has served for the past two years as president of the Vermont Baptist Minister's Council. Presently he is Vermont Field Representative for the Academy of Parish Clergy, and pastor of the First Baptist Church in Bristol, Vt.

Married to the former Margaret Seaney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Seaney of North Vassalboro, the Rev. Mr. Dowdy has two sons, Jonathan and Jason. Mrs. Seaney was formerly music instructor in the Winslow public schools and at Houlton elementary schools.
