individual referred to the chemist, purchased a bottle of the medicine, and then followed a process such as that of an evanescent, which was done by boiling the mixture in a kettle over a three-penny fire. The result was a clear liquid, which was then poured into a glass, and the patient was allowed to drink it. The appearance of the liquid was that of a clear water.

STOVE

and do your cooking with Stove Gasoline

You can do anything on a Vesper Stove that you can do on any other stove, and do it better, with less expense and trouble. It's safe as a seal stove, and the cost of operation is so small it is hardly worth considering. It will not heat the room. You light it in an instant, turn it out the moment you are done cooking.

If your dealer does not have Vesper Stoves and Stove Gasoline, write to the Standard Oil Company, New York City.

liquor, stirring often with a fork, not enough to break the rice. Add a quarter of a cup of butter, and cook back where it will keep hot, but burn, for twenty minutes or until the rice is perfectly tender. Remove cover to let the steam escape and broil the rice lightly with a fork. Serve as vegetable or as a border for curry.

APPLE MERINGUE.

Parse and core five or six apples, put them in a shallow baking-dish. Mix one tablespoon of cinnamon with half a cup of sugar, and fill the cores with it. Put a bit of butter over each apple, and one or two tablespoonsful of water in the dish. Bake until apples are soft, and frost with the whites of the eggs, one cup of powdered sugar, the juice of one-half a lemon; is brown slightly in the oven, and serve hot or cold, with sugar and cream.

well to see our last night out.

With the radiant moon above our heads, shining, woolly clouds all around the horizon and air of dice floating over us we moved through the harbor waters and the dock at 1 o'clock in the morning. Our voyage to Honolulu was ended.

At 8 o'clock we were on shore in the city. The first spot we reached was the market. Our noses guided us, fish being on sale in abundance, heathen looking things, boiled eggs and cooked sweet potatoes up in banana leaves were choicest delicacies.

But what impressed me most was the dress of the native Hawaiians. It was a Mother Hubbard, and it was not Lilianbel's kind of President's or emperors' dress.
