MASTER MERLE GETS FIRST PRIZE

Second and Third Well Along In the Run.

Master Merle Smith held his place at the head of the list in the Boys' Contest and receives the first prize, which is a first baseman's mitt; V. Whittemore has second, a fielder's glove and Richard Field a base ball.

The boys were very enthusiastic and put in a lot of work, which we hope will result as well for Preble and the Grange as for the boys.

If Merle shows the same enterprise in business in future years that he has shown in gathering votes he will "get there" all right.

Richard Field did good work until he went to camp, where he remained for two weeks and then went to Boston, so that very little work was done by him for the last two weeks of the contest.

Mr. Preble does not expect to hear the result of the contest for several days yet.

Following is the standing of the boys at the close:

M. Smith,	4,149,725
V. Whittemore,	1,574,925
D. Field,	1,569,925
R. Leavitt,	396,700
H. Davenport,	395,150
G. Thompson,	289,575

WEATHERBEE GIVES HIS VIEWS

Wishes to Set Himself Right With His Old Phillips Friends.

Lincoln, Me., August 1.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

I thank you for the copy of the Maine Woods of July 23rd, containing an announcement of my nomination as candidate for representative to the legislature on the Progressive ticket. You have published a fact but that publication nevertheless places me in an untrue light before my old friends in Phillips, who may think that I am a member of the Progressive party, and out of respect for the consideration of my Phillips friends, I would set the matter right.

The fact is I am a believer in the great principles of Republicanism, and that I have not yet seen the wisdom of dividing the forces of protection and good government in the very face of the assailing forces of Democracy. Neither does the recollection of the wonderful achievements of the Republican party, the history of which is the history of the greatest prosperity this or any other nation ever knew, convince me that the name is no longer a symbol standing for principles of righteous and correct government. I have not yet been led to believe that the Republican party, the greatest constructive party of modern times which safely led our nation through many perils, keeping abreast of the times and meeting new issues as they arose, is now unfit for further activity.

It is idle and false for politicians to say that the party is no longer the party of Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft, and that it is now dead to those living, burning issues essential to a strong, honest government of free people.

The rank and file of the party today are in a great measure the men who have been drawn into its councils because it represented those ideal principles in which they believed, and the ideals of government of that great body of men cannot be quickly changed from the commendable to the objectionable. Officials elected to maintain the great principles of republicanism may be false to their trust, the opposition may harp of the decadence of the party, and easily frightened people may cry for a new party, a new name; but resolute Republicans will say: "We will rid ourselves of objectionable officials, and again place the party of Lincoln and Garfield at the helm of the ship of State where in this year of our Lord she should be."

There is certainly no excuse, excepting what a Democrat might give, for the Progressive party in Maine. Maine Republicans are progressive; we are not boss ridden; the people and not the ring select the nominees. We are standing for constructive, progressive government more today than ever, and there should be no division in our ranks. The principles live, and around the name Republican clusters too many a sweet recollection of a glorious past to be buried and forgotten. And the history of that past so forcibly shows the imperative present need of the institution of Republican principles that Americans are but waiting the opportunity to again place the party in national control. I cannot accept a nomination which means the division of Republican forces, nor vote for a Democratic government in Maine, and the only way to prevent the latter is to vote the Republican ticket.

Artemus Weatherbee.

SHIP BOUND FOR HALIFAX

Exciting Experiences Taking Place All of the Time.

The following interesting letter was received by Mrs. Albert Worthley from her daughter, Mrs. Edna Worthley Underwood:

Friday morning, August 7.

We are just off Halifax where we are landing instead of New York. From Halifax I will send you a wire. We have had an exciting trip. We did not know that we were going to be permitted to sail until the last minute. Germany stopped all German ships. We left England on the last ship and people who had booked on the Imperator and German lines were begging to be taken away in the steerage. When we had been out 24 hours we were told that we might be recalled to England. An airship came out from the Irish coast and flew over us for ten miles or more. Then we were told that war had been declared between England and Germany and that we might be taken by German torpedo boats. The next wireless said that German warships had left Mexico and were after this ship—it is one of the finest and fastest ships in the world. They put out every light on the steamer, enclosed all the decks with canvas, closed the portholes with steel, shut off searchlights and submarine signals, took down the English flag and tried to make a fast dash through the night to New York. About 9 o'clock we found that an American battleship was near. What this message was we do not know, but the ship turned and made for Halifax. They will not tell us much.

I should have sent you a wireless two days ago, but it was forbidden. We were not in our course and nobody but the Cunard Company knew where we were. We have answered no messages for days, to keep from being caught. There are 12 guns on this ship and trained gunners to mount them. Guns were mounted on the Aquitania when we left Liverpool. We got out of France just in the nick of time and England too.

Hundreds of Americans are left and cannot get home, nor can they get any checks cashed. The Lusitania is passing us, escorted by men of war. At Halifax there are six English men of war. Marlowe and Southern are on this ship. She looks terribly ill. Dr. Mayo and Dr. Murphy (two greatest surgeons in America) and Lord Stuart Worthley.

The lack of air last night was terrible; we were all shut up in the dark with every porthole closed and we went like a bird flying through space. We can see land now. I'll write the minute I get to New York. There isn't a ship in the world fast enough to catch this steamer. That is what got us across. We sailed from Liverpool at 3.30 or 4.00 on Saturday last. Now it is Thursday morning early and we are in sight of land—Nova Scotia—about 5 days. Record time.

If German ships had taken us we should have all been taken to Hamburg as prisoners of war. There has been all kinds of excitement on board. I have not been at all afraid, nor have I been seasick. You see torpedo boats have no speed far out at sea and we had so many days' start that I was sure we were O. K.

CANOEING IS VERY POPULAR

A Day's Fishing Trip Results in a Trio of Handsome Salmon.

(Special Correspondence.)

Mountain View,
Rangeley Lake,
August 9, 1914.

"Delightful cool nights and mornings and the days we wish were longer, there is so much we want to do and so many places we plan to go while here," is the way one of the newcomers puts it.

Last Thursday Robert H. Hawkins of Providence, R. I., was much surprised to see among the evening arrivals his cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Whitaker and son, W. H. Whitaker, of Mannatee, Fla., who were motoring through Maine and thought they would tarry here for the night, but are so much pleased with the hotel they are to remain for some time.

The flag is again flying from Rouge-et-noir, as Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Johnston and two children and Mrs. Johnston's mother, Mrs. C. Murray, of Boston came Friday to occupy it for August days.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Greenia and son, John E. Greenia, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Naughton and son of Richmond Hill, L. I., who are in camp on Molly-chunkamunk, were here on an excursion trip Saturday.

Hon. and Mrs. Harry A. Furbish of Rangeley entertained the following friends at their camp at Kennebagog, who spent the week end here, coming by automobile: Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Stinchfield, Mrs. Edna Page Smith, Mark Emery of Skowhegan and F. W. Bunker of North Anson.

Coming from Brockton, Mass., in their touring car Dr. G. H. Thatcher, Horace Richmond, E. L. Bonney and Bernard Saxton remained here for several days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Montgomery of Boston were among the motoring parties to arrive this week.

Arthur Sylvester of Montclair, N. J., on Saturday joined his wife and children for the remainder of their stay.

Charles F. Cotter, who came on the Friday night Pullman, spent the week end with his family and leaving by tonight's Pullman will be in Lynn, Mass., in time for business tomorrow morning.

Canoeing is very popular with the young folks. Commander F. A. Newlin of Boston often adds to the pleasure of his friends by a sail in his boat to Rangeley and different places on the lake.

The Shaker Sisters from Sabbath Day Lake, who on Wednesday will be here with their dainty pretty hand made baskets and other articles, will be welcomed as they always are.

The past week has been one when everybody "was happy just to sit on the veranda and do nothing."

The lovers of tennis enjoy an hour on the court now and then, and the children are never happier than when they have an invitation to go with George or Carl on the teams and at milking time to watch the pails fill with the white creamy fluid.

Mrs. W. Roger Fronefield and daughter, Miss Betty, with Eben Harnden guide took a camping trip up Kennebagog stream Thursday and were joined by Morris DeBoer and Russell A. Clapp, two New York boys who are camping on the lake shore by South Rangeley.

The "Lone Fisherman," Robert B. Hawkins, and son, Roy, went off today in the early morning hour, and just as the sun went down and the guests were going in to supper they came back with three handsome salmon weighing 4 3-4, 3 and 1 1-2 pounds each, and as they were on the grass by the piazza they received much admiration. There are others in the lake.

Fish and Game Notes.

Deputy Game Warden Colin McRitchie of Haleb reports to the Fish and Game department the collection from one H. S. Hatch a fine of $14 for illegally having in his possession four short trout.

The Fish and Game Commission's department had as guests Wednesday of last week, F. W. Gardiner and Charles E. Tribou, wardens connected with the Massachusetts Fish and Game department, who are on a tour through Maine visiting the various hatcheries and gaining points from our Maine system of work. They, accompanied by Warden Briggs, visited the Auburn and Monmouth hatcheries that day and proceeded to Portland to meet Warden Cushman, wishing to make inquiries concerning and witness the operation of Maine's enforcement of the fish and game transportation law. They will also probably meet Mr. Woodbury of the sea and shore fisheries department.

Home.

This is the true nature of home—it is the place of peace; the shelter not only from all injury, but from all terror, doubt and division.—Ruskin.

BEAUTIFUL CORNER IN THE WOODS

Those Who Go Fishing Get Sufficient for Table Use.

Bald Mountain Camps, Mooselookmeguntic Lake, Aug. 8.—The August rush is here, and it is now like putting a square peg in a round hole to find a place for the late comers, and as fast as one person goes another comes to take his place and from now until after Labor Day the camps will all be taken.

Those who go fishing always come in with all they want for the table. Dr. John A. Horgan, one of Boston's best known physicians who has been here for nearly a month with his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Trigue, regrettably leaves for home today. The big salmon on Mrs. Trigue hooked and played with for nearly an hour, is still in the lake. The Doctor's largest this season is a three-pound salmon.

Coming via Berlin, N. H. through the chain of lakes, Mr. and Mrs. R. Roesch of Cleveland, Ohio, who came for their first fishing trip, were accompanied by S. A. Morley of Fulton, N. Y. and M. S. Flint of New York City. They had Sunset Camp and great luck fishing although the box they took home to Ohio had none over three pounds.

Mrs. C. R. Hoopes of Elkins Park, Penn., and her sister, Mrs. Lila C. MacMillan of Pittsburgh, Penn., after several weeks in camp, left Thursday for a visit to the seashore.

Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Flint and daughter, Miss Kathryn Flint of North Attleboro, Mass., are occupying Camp Earl for the seventh season, and are accompanied by Miss Florence Bodell of Providence, R. I.

The following party of Mechanic Falls people, coming in an automobile have been spending the week at these camps: T. R. Penney, T. R. Penney, 2nd, F. L. Perkins, Mrs. Mary R. Burke and Miss Dorothy Penney.

Miss Harriet Hubbell and friend, Miss Fanny M. Osborne of New York City are here for their eighth summer and as usual they have changed their cabin into a most beautiful corner in the woods, for from the forest and mountain side they have gathered evergreens, ferns and wild flowers for decorations. They have been joined by Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hubbell and children, Master Wakeman and Edward Hubbell and nurse of St. Davids, Penn., who come for the first time and were so much pleased with the place they sent for their friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. A. Taylor of New York, who came Wednesday for a stay of several weeks.

Camp Ellis is taken for another season by Mrs. A. H. Eldredge and three daughters, Miss Ruth, Miss Esther and Miss Emily Eldredge of Melrose, Mass.

For a month's stay Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schlockow and daughter, Miss Ruth and Miss Fanny Strauss of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived on Saturday.

Mrs. C. A. Bryant and daughter, Miss Marion and son, Walter T. Bryant of Newton, Mass., have returned for another season.

Edwin C. Foss of Boston is one who appreciates the night Pullman and comes each Saturday morning for the week-end.

At Ellisdale farm the haying is over, and more than 30 tons of good hay in the barn.

Coming in their Cadillac touring car, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Pomeroy, Stanley B. Pomeroy, Mrs. E. E. Pomeroy of Lewiston, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Hathaway of Madrid and Mrs. I. H. Bickford of Boston, were here over Sunday.

Stanley Bisbee of Rumford, who with his family, is at Oxford Bear camp caught a 5 1/2-pound salmon one day this week.

E. L. Hixon of North Attleboro, Mass., on Wednesday caught all the fish the law allows, the largest a 3-pounder.

FISHING NOTES AND OTHER NEWS

Arrivals at Ox Bow, Several to Tarry Some Weeks.

Ox Bow, Me., August 3, 1914.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

The day starts with a temperature of 56 and heavy rainfall. The sun is southing fast; the days are now 50 minutes shorter than in the week of June 21st ult. Our home camp is open to the breeze, though shaded by groves on two sides. From our front piazza we can mark the course of the "King of Day" from sun-up to sun-down. Nature's great cloud factory dominates the whole northern half of Maine. In early morning the whole country wide is often covered, out of sight, with a thick blanket of fog. It looks like the ocean; especially as the tops of the tallest trees standing just above the fog, look like clusters of islets. The illusion is at once satisfying and passing strange. Old Sol tackles his job of dispersing the enemy by peaceful meditation, aided by radiation, and in about the time it takes to write this letter the great mall of fog is lifted, routed and broken into fleecy summer clouds to come back some fine day condensed to cool, refreshing rain. The circulation is perfect.

"Rivers to the ocean run,
Nor stay in all their course;
Fire ascending seeks the sun;

Each hies them to their source."

He who could not write a letter seated at this "Table of the Lord," must be devoid of imagination or plagued with indigestion—in either case he's to be pitied. Having soared, we come down to the hum-drum and beat it.

Recent arrivals at the Bow are: J. W. Droogan, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Nat Carr, guide; E. C. Thayer, (return visit) Brooklyn, N. Y.; E. S. Fassett, J. N. Pope, Portland; F. Moore, Worcester, Mass.; G. Busby, Atlantic City, N. J.; L. Childs, H. Kattenthaler, W. S. Cowing and N. V. Cruikshank, all of Philadelphia, Pa. M. B. Stone of Ox Bow will guide Mr. Thayer.

The Philadelphians have just come from Camp Megunticook, Camden, Me. all bound for camps up stream.

The scum on the logans is fast turning into greenbacks, the more the better, the sooner the quicker.

I shall never forget a night on Metal-luc brook, lower Richardson, Rangeley Lakes; George Thomas, guide. We pushed in from the lake about 4 p. m. After pitching a lean-to just below the rips we built a fire, cooked tea and went to bed.

That night the wind blew and the rains descended upon our lean-to and around our heads and feet; but George kept the fire going in spite of the weather. We fished, at intervals, all through the night in the tiny pool covered with a greenish scum, and at day-break we had laid out on the bank, a baker's dozen of 2-pound square tails. George is still alive and in the same business, hailing from Andover, the last I heard of him.

We camped a couple of days at Upper Dam where some cows broke in and ate all our bread and potatoes. We got some milk that night to offset our loss.

My chum, Mr. Joseph Morton, of Wakefield, Mass., a native of South Paris, Me., passed into the "Happy Hunting Grounds" several years ago. I miss his enthusiasm and genial comradeship. One other, a man of superior qualities, Major William S. Greenough of Wakefield, reeled in his lines, unstrung his rods, folded his tent, and confidently entered upon an endless hike full of surprises and untold delights in the kingdom of his God. It was with him that I first saw the lights and shades of a new life in the woods of Maine.

A very singular and painful accident happened to the Major which I would like to put on record. He was fly fishing with Henry Lane, I think, now of Carry Pond Camps. He struck a fish; the fly came back and embedded itself in one of his eyes. They were many miles from a doctor, but with the fortitude and courage of a wounded civil war hero, which he was, he finally got relief, though he lost his eye. A well mated glass eye covered the loss completely.

Yesterday, Walter D. Hinds, his son "Buster," Miss Anna Wagg and Frank Lynch, all of Portland, came by auto to the Hinds Camp at the Bow. Miss Wagg and Master Walter expect to stay with us through August and will sit at our table.

A party, the E. L. Kents of Chestnut Hill, Mass., will arrive for the season next Wednesday week. They will go to Billy's camp at Lake Millmasset.

Libby's Camps are also getting busy, some eight or ten sportsmen having gone up stream in the last few days. The weather has been fine; plenty of light showers, but sunshine enough for hay making which is now nearly finished. All other crops promise a good harvest.

The gaieties of the season were amply supplied by a general all around good dance in Walter Swett's sled shop, on the ridge, last Saturday night. Among many others, three generations of the Anderson family were seen on the floor at the same time. Music was furnished by two violins, cornet and organ; Miss Eva Rafford of Ashland, organist.

Last Sunday morning Mr. Edward H. Emery, representing the Maine Civic League, gave a very patriotic and interesting address on Civic Responsibility in our little church on the hill. The pastor, Rev. M. M. Smyser, led the service.

Ladies Get Good Snap Shots of a Black Bear.

(Special Correspondence.)

Attean Camps, Jackman, Me., August 4—As we look across the water so quiet and so blue,

In the west the sun is sinking while the sky's of amber hue;
We listen to the music made by the song birds' chants,
And say! Its awful comfy by Attean at the camp.

Everybody is enjoying the splendid weather and the exceptional bathing privilege at Attean. Mrs. Carroll Perry and daughter Therodora of Boston, Mass., with Mr. John Rowe as guide, are bringing home catches of trout every day, while Mr. W. R. Hoyt made an excursion to one of the outlying ponds and returned with a landlocked salmon and a fine catch of trout.

Miss Mary Huston and Mrs. H. C. Judkins of Skowhegan, on a trip around the Bow had the good fortune to get some good snap shots of a black bear along the bank of Moose river.

The camps are rapidly filling and the latest arrivals are: Thornton C. Merriam, Ralph Foster Merriam and Charles C. Smith of Skowhegan; Mrs. Charles L. James and Miss C. James of Brookline, Mass.; Miss Ethel Hobart of Plymouth, Mass.; Miss Ester Conant, Duxbury, Mass.; Mrs. Carroll Prery and Miss Theodora Perry of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. FISH AND GAME NOTES FROM
THE INDUSTRIAL JOURNAL

The Bangor salmon pool has had one of the poorest seasons for many years. The catch at the Bangor pool has been less than fifty and well fishermen have likewise reported an unusual scarcity of fish.

In the vicinity of Portage Lake in Aroostook county frog hunters have this season been doing a large business and it is estimated that between two and three tons of frogs have been shipped from there to New York markets.

Dr. George A. Phillips, of Bar Harbor, who released several pairs of Hungarian partridge near his farm in North Ellsworth last fall, reports that they are apparently doing well, and increasing. The birds wintered about some of the buildings on the farm, and were seen frequently. In the spring they took to the woods. Several flocks of young birds have been seen this year.

Raymond Douglass of West Gorham and Herbert Townsend of Cumberland Mills recently discovered a colony of foxes near Gorham. With the assistance of a dog they attempted to get the foxes from their hiding places. Though not successful in driving out the foxes, Mr. Townsend succeeded in reaching into one of the holes and captured a large fox which he secured alive.

Carl A. Weston of Madison captured a 11-pound land-locked salmon recently in his hands in a shallow pool in the Kennebec river on the Anson side below the bridge and the fish is now on exhibition in the large tank at the J. R. Emery store. Mr. Weston captured a 12-inch trout in the same way about two weeks ago at a few yards above the place where the salmon was captured.

James W. Sewall and his assistant James Connors were exploiting a tract of land in the town of Andover, Me., recently. While standing on a ridge they looked down and not over four rods distant was Mrs. Bear and three cubs. The mother bear on seeing her observers, without any pomp or ceremony made after them. Mr. Connors took to a tree and was safe. Mr. Sewall struck for the road, his knowledge of the country and wild life stood him in good stead for he knew that a bear is handicapped when running down hill and he struck immediately for some down grade, found it and thus escaped. Mrs. Bruin collected her family together and made for her den.—Old Town Enterprise.

PURCHASE FROM
ART GALLERY

Notable Gathering of Clergymen.

Catch of Bass Totals 58 Pounds.

(Special Correspondence)

Poland Spring, August 8—The latest development of the facilities for the health and comfort of visitors at Poland Spring is the installation of machinery and rooms for hydro-therapeutic treatments. Electric light, Scotch, rain and Needle douche, and Nauhelm baths are now given.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ladd of New York have distinguished themselves among the anglers at this resort this week, having secured catches of bass which total 58 pounds, and number 24 fish. Other fishermen who have been in luck are Messrs. Geo. W. Elkins, J. G. Lindsay and S. B. Stinson of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hayward of Uxbridge, Mass., who are spending several weeks at the Poland Spring House, have purchased two pictures both of which they first saw in the Poland Spring art gallery. One "An Old Homestead, Byfield, Mass." by John J. Enneking of Boston, was on exhibition last year, and an illustration of it was used in the 1913 catalog. The other, a water color called "Rhododendrons" by Henry W. Rice of Boston, is now on exhibition at the Maine State Building. These two will make a total of nine pictures which Mr. and Mrs. Hayward have purchased from the Poland Spring gallery.

PASSAIC YOUNG LADY GOOD SHOT

Southard Good Fisherman as Well as Author.

(Special Correspondence.)

The Tavern, Rangeley, August 9—Mid-summer has come and often during the past month every room in this hotel has been taken and this tells of the popularity of the Tavern, both with the local and the tourist travel. Even now some of the city folks are talking about coming up for a snowshoe trip in mid-winter, when The Tavern with steam heat will be as comfortable at Christmas time as on the glorious Fourth.

Charles Z. Southard of New York, whose new book on "Trout Fly Fishing in America" has recently been published and that all who angle for the speckled beauty are reading with interest, left here this morning for a trip through the lakes before he settles down in a log cabin on the shore of Kennebec lake until the end of September. Mr. Southard is known to be one of the expert fly fishermen of the United States and has the art of casting the fly and hooking them, although he does not often kill a fish.

While stopping here, on Haley pond he caught three trout of a pound each. Over in Quimby pond he had good sport taking 53 good-sized trout off his hook. Two days he spent at York Camps, Loon Lake, where he caught a number of fine fish including a 3-pound rainbow trout in Cow pond, the only place where these fish are in this region. Mr. Southard proved there is good fly fishing for those who cast the fly.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy E. Wilmont of Wayne, Penn., came today for a stay of two weeks.

The following are among this week's automobile parties: Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Green, Miss Marion Green of Madison; M. W. Green of Philadelphia and Mrs. F. W. Harding of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Wolf of Mount, Ill. are pleasantly located here for part of August; also Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rogers and son, Edwin H. Rogers of Portland.

Miss Emma L. Mitchell and Miss Lucille M. Wilson of Suffield, Conn., who are spending the season at Kennebec Lake House, took a walk from there and dined here today.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Rainsford of New York, who have been here for a week, are now making a tour of the lakes.

Mrs. A. W. Seaton of New York and her son, G. A. Seaton of Crescent City, Fla., who are touring New England in their auto came here from Bar Harbor and Moosehead Lake, and are now taking trips to the different places of interest, planning to return home via Poland Spring and up through the White Mountains.

Charles C. Woodruff of Bridgeton, N. J., who was here 20 years ago, finds many changes and greatly enjoys his stay.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Beach of New Haven, Conn. have returned home after a pleasant week's stay.

Rev. Fr. T. J. McLaughlin of Farmington when in town is always a welcome guest at this hotel.

Miss Kathleen J. Dyer of Passaic, N. J., who is spending the summer here and at Lake View Farm, is proving herself a real sport, for with her 22 Winchester she shot 34 frogs and missed but two, over in Haley pond, Wednesday morning and in the afternoon she went up to Quimby pond and caught "the limit" of good sized trout on the fly.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Frankson of Brooklyn, N. Y., who came in July, are so much pleased with the place they will make an extended stay.

Coming by auto Messrs. Edward Calvin, H. G. Smith, Albert Hedges and H. B. Lewis of Foxboro, Mass., spent several days here last week.

B. E. Woodward of Woonsocket, R. I. is among those who are spending a few weeks here.

The travel has been very good for the last few weeks and there is prospect for it to continue until late in the season.

NATIONAL GAME
NOT FORGOTTENA Happy Company of College Boys
Making Others Happy.

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Lakewood Camps, Middle Dam, Aug 8—These are the days when one is glad to be far from the heat and noise of the city, and wise are those who are taking life easy at this wilderness spot.

Our National game is not forgotten up here, and when the fish refuse to bite the teams "I-want-tos" and "I-did-it" with A. L. Perry of Westley, R. I., for umpire play ball. There is "some ball" as the sportsmen, guides, boatmen and all others who can handle a bat or toss a ball get into the game, and the chef cannot only cook a fish, but catch a fly as well. The "grandstand" is occupied by an enthusiastic crowd of ladies who cheer and shout and don't know what they are cheering for. The first three games were won by the "I-did-its" and the "I-want-tos" won Friday with a score of 14-11, and there are other games to play.

L. H. Hallock and Mrs. Ellen M. Hallock of Lewiston walked from Sunday cove and spent the night here on their way up the lake last Friday.

Coming for a month's stay, Waldo V. Lyon, Mrs. H. N. Clark of Boston and Miss Sarah Wales of Woonsocket, R. I., are having a delightful outing.

Mrs. M. G. Jones of Rochester, N. Y., and Louisa J. Starkwater of Orange, N. J., after a tour of the lake went from here through the Dixville Notch en route for home the first of this week.

Robert A. Sasseen and family of New York when en route for home via the White Mountains, stopped here long enough to land several record fish.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Klett of New Britain, Conn., who were here last year were so much pleased with the place they have returned for another season.

Dr. and Mrs. R. B. McKeago of Scranton, Penn., coming from Rangeley on their way to Umbagog Lake, registered here on their way to Brown's Island Saturday.

Coming in their touring car, from Waterbury, Conn., to South Arm, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Jones and their five children, Wm. H., Samuel, Miss Margaret, Oswald and Edwin Jones, who came last year for the first time, enjoyed their stay so much they are again happily located in Camp Comfort and Mr. Jones said "we go somewhere every year and this is the only place my boys were anxious to return to, and here we are," and the boys, with George York, guide, are having the time of their lives, fishing and tramping, and are sure they will want to come back in 1915.

F. M. Tibbott of Boston, who came the first of the season was so much pleased with the place he has returned for an extended stay.

Ralph F. Dana of Brookline, Mass., has come for another "happy stay."

"The evenings are now as short as the days, for our College Boys, with their Toodle-Bug orchestra make merry the hours," said one of the ladies, and not often is there such a happy, jolly company of boys who are popular with everyone as are spending this month at Lakewood camps.

Fred M. Ambrose of New York and Charles N. Ingham of Boston, who is his guest, with W. W. Cutting, guide, registered here Wednesday en route for Magalloway on a fishing trip.

"How is the fishing," I asked Mr. Van Roden, the Philadelphia gentleman who with his family is spending two months here. "Why I caught a number of two-pound trout and several three-pound salmon on the fly since you were here last," was his answer, but fishing is not the principal amusement in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jordan, after a week in Boston are happy to be back again and everyone is glad to have them return.

Charles Z. Southard of New York and guide, John L. Philbrook, are now on a camping trip to B pond, where, no doubt, Mr. Southard will have his usual good luck tempting the trout and salmon to take the fly.

NEW FOREST LOOKOUT TOWERS

Land Commissioner Blaine S. Viles is pleased at receiving word of the arrival of 10 steel lookout towers for our Maine forests. They are of the new design, having a portable house erected on the top. The towers loom up in the air from 15 to 65 feet and the house will add some 8 feet to that. They will be located on the following mountains:

Mattagamon, Trout Brook and Beetle, on the east branch of the Penobscot; Mattamiscontis, on Penobscot waters; Three Brooks, in the Squaw Pan lake country; Lawler Hill, in southern Aroostook; Kennebag, near Rangeley; Mulhedus, on the west branch of the Penobscot, above Moosehead; Ragged and Sourd-nahunk, in from Norcross, on the west branch.

This makes a total of 30 steel and three wooden towers put up this year, beside 10 portable houses located in places where towers were unnecessary. The grand total of lookout stations in our state is now 55 and Commissioner Viles is justly proud of the permanent work accomplished this year. From $12,000 to $15,000 will be used this year in the permanent improvements.

The steel towers are built and shipped direct to their locations by the Canton Bridge Co. of Groton, N. Y., and the portable houses by Isaiah Crowell of Brooks.

The Maine system is said to be the most complete and best in use in the whole country. It started about 12 years ago when Wm. M. Shaw of Greenville and W. J. Lanigan of Waterville erected the first tower on Squaw mountain. It has been enlarged to the figures just stated and has been used as a model by many other states, the officials of which recognizing its value.

In addition to the above, from 150 to 200 miles of telephone line has been put into commission, connecting the stations and by which the wardens and fire patrol can keep in touch with each other and the outside world.

"And," said Mr. Viles, "the work has hardly more than started. We hope in a very few years to see 100 lookout stations. They are needed."

Modern Education.

A prominent school principal lately told us some of the answers found in pupils' examination papers. Here are two of them: "What is a volcano?" "A volcano is a mountain that sometimes blows the equator off." "What is the difference between a mountain and a hill?" "A hill is like a mountain, only a mountain is a little more hillier."

Jim Brown lives in a community noted for the corruption of its politics. He drove into town the other day with an old horse. "Hello," said his friend Bill. "That horse of yours looks almost old enough to vote." "Ye-as," drawled Jim. "He has voted two or three times." — Everybody's Magazine.

IN AND ABOUT PHILLIPS

The Republican mass meeting to have been held at Farmington on Thursday at which meeting Congressman Julius Kahn of California and Governor Haines were to speak, was postponed, as the Republican state committee cancelled all meetings for the week as evidence of the sympathy felt for President Wilson in his present affliction.

There will be a sale of ice cream and cake under the auspices of the Epworth League on the lawn of Harry E. Beedy, Esq., on Friday afternoon and evening of this week. If it should be stormy then the sale will take place on Saturday.

The Madrid schools will begin Monday, Aug. 17.

Mrs. Guy Harden of Boston, who underwent a surgical operation early in July has been critically ill since. Last reports state that the physician advises that she is now out of danger, and the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harden hope for a full recovery.

Miss Lizzie Greenwood of Haverhill, Mass., and Miss Emilie Greenwood of Kirksville, Mo., were the guests last week of their brother Edward Greenwood and wife. Miss Lizzie is a teacher in Haverhill and Miss Emilie is a student of osteopathy in Missouri.

Mrs. S. G. Haley accompanied her father to Augusta last week.

Mrs. W. S. Skolfield and daughter Wilhelmina are expected in Phillips to-day or to-morrow and will spend the summer with her father, Mr. E. J. Ross. Mr. Skolfield will come a little later.

Dana Aldrich, engineer on the Sandy River & Rangeley Lakes railroad, is having a week's vacation.

The Phillips base ball team went to Rangeley Wednesday, and played the Rangeley Lake House. They got beaten 12 to 2.

All members of Dunham and Kinney families and relatives remember the reunion to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dunham, Thursday, August 20.

Oscar D. Fogg, of Yarmouth, manager of the Phillips Electric Light & Power Co., has hired rent in the Selden Keene house on Dodge street and been joined by his wife and baby and his wife's sister, Miss Gertrude F. Gooch.

Rev. J. B. Coy of Harrison is expected to occupy the pulpit at the Union church, Sunday morning, Aug. 23. Mr. Coy is Assistant State Missionary of the Free Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Norton of Farmington and Mrs. N. U. Hinckley are taking an auto trip this week to several places in the state and New Hampshire. They plan to be away several days and may go to Boston before their return.

Congressman D. J. McGillicuddy will address Democratic rallies in Franklin County on Friday and Saturday as follows: Aug. 14, 2 p. m., Chesterville; 8 p. m., New Sharon; Aug. 15, 2 p. m., Kingfield; 8 p. m., Stratton.

Miss Hilda S. Sewall of Livermore Falls was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan White.

The report that Mrs. N. C. Brackett was on the ship that arrived at Bar Harbor last week was incorrect. The latest news indicates that the Kronprinzessin Cecilie of the Hamburg-American Line on which Mrs. Brackett sailed was captured by a British cruiser and taken to Falmouth, England. It appears that the 300 passengers are being held at the infirmary in Falmouth until transportation can be arranged home.

We are sorry to note that Mrs. Diana Aldrich is in very poor health.

Last Sunday morning Rev. N. J. Horan, the beloved pastor of the Immaculate Conception church at Calais, preached his farewell sermon to his parishioners, with whom he has labored zealously for 13 years. Many will remember Father Horan very pleasantly when his pastorate included Wilton, Farmington, Rumford and Redington in 1892. The Bangor Daily News says: "A man of fervent piety, indomitable courage and indefatigable zeal, his kind and genial manner has won the esteem and reverence not only of Catholics, but of all who know him. May he live many years to continue his apostolic work."

Mrs. Julia Hamblin was a recent guest of her brother, F. B. Pillsbury in Phillips.

We are having more frequent and heavier thunder showers this season than for some years. The crops in Franklin county on the whole are looking better than for a number of years. Although a late spring everything has seemed to grow fast since the start. It has not been especially dry at any time, as we have had frequent showers. The apple crop promises to be good, but reports from other sections say that the crop will be light. Berries of all kinds have been plentiful.

The many friends of Mr. S. W. Parlin much regret his absence from Phillips where he has been for nearly two years since coming from Boston. He has been having much trouble with rheumatism and lameness and he decided to go to Togus for a while to receive attention in the hospital there. He said he should be back to vote.

In the morning he went to the hotel for breakfast leaving Burns locked in, but who had been busy evidently and now worked fast and succeeded in removing the hinges from the cell door, slipped out on the river bank which is well concealed and got away to the woods probably where he remained concealed. The charge against him is larceny of a small article, amounting in all to something like $5.00.

Automobile a Necessity.

That an automobile under certain conditions must be regarded as an economic necessity, in the sense of legal statutes, is the decision of the attorney general of the state of Washington. The county commissioners of Mason county desired to buy a motor car for the transaction of official business, but no authority could be found in the state laws for the purchase and upkeep of a motor car. The attorney general, being asked for an official ruling, declared that the automobile under such conditions is an economic necessity and that the county commissioners are within their rights if they decide to purchase one for official work.

OBITUARY

MRS. JULIA WARREN

Mrs. Julia Warren passed away at her home in Phillips Aug. 6. Mrs. Warren was stricken with a shock July 12, and from that time she was helpless, taking only liquid food, but she retained her mental faculties and patiently waited for the end. Everything was done for her that kind friends could do. Mrs. Warren was a motherly woman and will be remembered for her many acts of kindness. Mr. and Mrs. Warren had no children of their own, but took Lucian Warren at the age of two years, and he never missed a mother's care. Mrs. Warren was 84 years of age. Mr. Warren died 12 years ago.

Funeral services were held at her home Saturday afternoon, August 8, Rev. M. S. Hutchins officiating. Charles F. Chandler conducted the services. Two appropriate selections were sung by Mrs. Frank Davis and Miss Cora Wheeler. The pall bearers were Messrs. Fred Ellsworth, William Babb, Sewell Kelley and Selden Keene. The remains were laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery.

THE CHAMPION FOX TRAPPER

Even Now at the Age of 77 He Shoulders His Rifle.

A man to be just a little bit more intelligent and "foxy" than a fox, must have more than ordinary intelligence, for the fox is considered the cutest animal that walks the wilds of Maine, and a trapper that gets 'em must get down to nature and make a mighty study of this beautiful fur-bearing animal.

While at Lakeville, N. B. recently the editor of the View, Mrs. Lowell and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Morton, who so kindly donated their car for the trip were loyally entertained at tea at the home of W. W. Wilson, probably Lakeville's largest merchant and mill owner, and after tea the editor was introduced to Wm. Plummer, the champion fox hunter of Maine and New Brunswick, and a man now 77 years old and as keen intellectually as a school boy—and a whole lot more "foxy".

We found the old gentleman seated on the veranda of his snug cottage near Mr. Wilson's, smoking the pipe of peace. He impressed us at once as being a very intelligent man and as we sat there enjoying a smoke with him he spun off yards and yards of fox and animal stories, until we began to think that Joe Knowles was several laps behind.

William Plummer was born in Sunbury County, Parish of Sheffield, moving to Waterville, N. B. on a farm when he was 22 years old.

Later he opened a shoe repairing shop in Jacksonville, N. B., where in 40 years he accumulated a good bank account. Selling out his business he took to hunting, especially foxes, and the success he met with added several thousand more to his account.

In one winter Plummer, who had three fox grounds to look after, snared 205 foxes, doing the work himself. Aside from getting foxes he caught muskrat, mink, weasels; shot ducks and large game. Even today, at the age of 77 years, the old trapper takes his shot gun, an English imported gun, given him by his son, and goes down by the lake and streams in Lakeville and brings down a duck or two at the first pop out of the gun, and this without the aid of spectacles.

The old fellow never trapped many foxes—snared them as we would a rabbit. And this snaring secret he has taught to many men for $25.00 each. He is so well versed in the fox that he can set a snare right where they have their "runs". Along old fences he has set snares, for the fox will travel along a fence until he finds an opening near the ground to get through.

The old trapper here laughed, lit his pipe and told the View editor of how for once a fox got the best of him. He went out one morning on the crust and found a fox in a snare. Just before getting to the fox Plummer thought he saw him move. Going to the fox he tickled his eyelid to see if he would wink. Narry a wink or a movement came from the fox. Taking him from the snare he hitched a rope to his body and to a cane which he carried over his shoulder to carry the fox. He travelled to several other snares with fox number one over his shoulder apparently dead. He climbed over four fences with the fox dangling from his shoulder. Coming to another snare he laid the fox down and went to adjust the snare when, hearing a rustle, he looked around and there was the supposed dead fox cutting across the snowy field at a very lively clip. The cane, which was a heavy one, would jill-poke and throw the fox until at last it stuck in the crust in such a way as to hold Mr. Fox solid and Plummer who was giving wild chase all the time quickly dispatched the fox as did Joe Knowles the bear—by a clip over the nose.

Plummer told of another case of fox cunningness. A trapper he had taught to snare foxes got one which played dead. The man carried the fox, a small one, over his arm, and while going by a house a dog came out and barked. The supposed dead fox on the hunter's arm immediately jumped to the ground and off to the woods in the fraction of a minute.

Plummer is a widower. His wife left him 33 years ago and went to Boston where she conducted a boarding house. Three years ago Plummer got word she had died, and not having heard anything from her he supposed this report to be true. He has one son working in St. John, N. B., who comes home to Lakeville most every summer to see the old gent. This son draws a salary of $40.00 a week and sends his father a check for $25.00 each month for living expenses, although there is no need of it for Plummer, the great fox hunter, has a good bank account in a Woodstock, N. B. bank and wants for nothing.

Plummer also showed the View editor a mink trap, a weasel trap and a mouse trap, all designed to catch them alive. These traps he makes himself and are a mighty skillful contrivance. He sells them from 25 cents to $1.00 each, according to size.

When asked how many foxes he had caught he replied probably over two thousand. When asked about the black fox farms he said there was not a black fox in N. B. Said that people had told him time and time again of seeing a black fox, but they were in all probability fishers, which are about the size of a fox and very black. He has an idea that a black fox can be crossed with the red fox and get a very fine grade of fur.

Plummer gave the View editor valuable hints as to how to catch fish—of how to catch animals, of their habits. He is a mighty interesting man to meet, and of more than ordinary intelligence.—Mars Hill View.

Old talking machine records make very nice table mats for hot dishes. The mats can be made by gluing asbestos on both sides of records and covering with linen or cretonne and binding it with a brass strip with same material sewed into place.

TO SAVE THE MIGRANT BIRDS.

The efforts of the American game protective and propagation association for a treaty between the United States and Great Britain for the protection of birds that migrate between this country and Canada have an excellent prospect of success, says the New York Times in a recently published interview with John B. Burnham, president of the association. If this treaty is ratified it will protect during nearly the complete line of their flight most of the migratory species found in both countries. Such a treaty would take the place of the Weeks-McLean act, if that measure is declared to be unconstitutional.

The Weeks-McLean act, which marks the most radical step ever taken in this country for game preservation, conferred on the department of agriculture the power to make the game laws in the case of migratory birds, and on October 1, 1913, a set of regulations was enacted declaring the open and close seasons in the various states for many varieties of game birds and perpetually forbidding the shooting of migratory birds passing over or at rest on any of the waters on the main streams of the following rivers. The Mississippi, between Minneapolis and Memphis, and the Missouri between Bismarck and Nebraska City.

The fate of Weeks-McLean act is a question of the greatest interest to sportsmen. It has been attacked on the ground that it attempts an unjustifiable extension of the federal control over interstate commerce. Attorney-General Carmody in a recent opinion advised the conservation commission of New York that the act was unconstitutional. It would, however, be beyond the power of any court to declare the same regulations unconstitutional if they were made a part of a treaty.

Similar treaties will be proposed with Mexico and South American countries for the protection of birds, such as the curlew, which makes flights from the Arctic circle to the equatorial zone. "Generous support has been given the association," said Mr. Burnham "by the Canadian officials, sportsmen, and conservationists generally, while in this country, the department of agriculture and, in fact, every arm of the federal government that could be of assistance has responded promptly and efficiently."

A conference was held recently in Washington between the author of the original migratory bird bill, George Shiras, 3d, W. S. Haskell, general counsel for the American game protective association, and Drs. A. K. Fisher and T. S. Palmer, representing the biological survey. At this conference the treaty with Great Britain in its revised form was considered and approved. The matter is now awaiting the approval of the department of state.

As soon as this approval is given the Canadian sportsmen and conservationists will be requested to make suggestions and criticisms with a view to agreeing on the final form of the treaty, so that its ratification can be concluded within the next few months. The question of the treaty was presented originally to the Senate by Senator Root, who said, in offering the resolution:—

"I think that that may furnish a pathway along which we can proceed to some practical relief in regard to the very urgent and very pressing evil which the senator from Connecticut described. We already have a treaty regarding migratory fish in the Great lakes, and in that system of waters, and it may be that under the treaty-making power a situation can be created in which the government of the United States will have the constitutional authority to deal with this subject."

The migratory birds which the treaty would protect are geese, ducks, rail, coots, gallinules, woodcock, brant, snipe, plover, curlew and other varieties. The proposed treaty between this country and Great Britain was drafted, at the request of the department of agriculture, by William S. Haskell of New York, counsel for the American game protective association. The proposed regulations adopted by the department of agriculture under the authority of the Weeks-McLean law were embodied in the draft of the treaty—Springfield Republican.

Out of State People Who Think We Live in Log Cabins Have Another
Guess.

Men and women still come to Maine who thoroughly believe that Maine people live in log cabins and are compelled to den up like the bears in winter. Their conception of conditions in Maine is the result of glancing through odd items in the daily papers and reading some of the stuff that passes for humor in the Sunday supplements. Fortunately they visit the state and learn that the log cabins are reserved for the summer guests. In greatly increasing numbers they are coming to see us in the winter and discover that the much-advertised winter frolics of Switzerland are tame compared with the fun that can be had up in Maine.

Then almost everyone outside of Maine and a very considerable number of people living in the state think that Maine is barren and the soil worthless. If yield per acre is any indication of the fertility of the soil, Maine is by no means a barren state. In comparison with other states, Maine stands very high indeed.

Maine averages to get 40 bushels of corn from each acre of ground devoted to that crop, according to the Year Book of the Department of Agriculture. Only eight states raised more and among those that raised less are New York, Minnesota, South Dakota, North Dakota, Michigan, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Maine averages to raise 28.5 bushels of wheat on every acre that is devoted to wheat and only nine other states in the Union do better than that. Among the states that do not do as well are Pennsylvania, Maryland, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa.

Maine averages to raise 34.6 bushels of oats to the acre and among the states that raise less are New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, all the South Atlantic states and all the South Central states, except Texas.

Maine averages to raise 26.2 bushels of barley to the acre and among states that raise less are New York, Michigan, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Maine averages to raise 29.4 bushels of buckwheat to the acre and stands third in the whole country in point of production per acre. The list of states that raise less per acre includes the whole "buckwheat belt," Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio, Nebraska and Kansas.

Maine averages to raise 193 bushels of potatoes to the acre and all the rest of the country trails behind. In fact, there are but seven states that raise more than 150 bushels to the acre and not one of these is in the middle west.

As a matter of fact the "barrenness" of Maine soil is largely due to ignorance or prejudice of the people who talk about it. Maine's soil is not barren. Maine's soil, if that were her only resource, would be a sufficient foundation on which to base the activities of an organization like the Develop Maine Movement. This movement proposes to introduce new crops and new methods, in conjunction with other organizations devoted exclusively to the work. It proposes to bring new farmers and new financial assistance to the farmers. It is receiving the support of many citizens and should receive yours. To become a member it is only necessary to send a dollar with your name, postoffice address and business to the treasurer, W. E. Lawry, Box 374, Augusta, Me. He will send you a certificate and keep you advised of developments.

NEW EQUIPMENT FOR B. & A.

During the year ending June 30, 1914, the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad moved 6,000 carloads of potatoes in excess of the heaviest previous potato shipping season in the company's history. On this account and also because present indications are that the potato shipments this fall and winter will exceed even those of last year, the company has been adding to its equipment.

Recently an order was placed with one of the leading car building companies for 225 new freight cars and last week a contract was closed for five very large freight locomotives of the consolidation type and of the most modern pattern. These engines will be equipped with superheaters which while adding to the cost of the engine, are very economical in the consumption of fuel, a most important factor in this country where the price of coal is so high.

A number of representatives of different locomotive building companies were after the order, all being very eager to obtain the contract for the construction of these engines, for which competitive bids had been asked by the company and the contract was awarded to the American Locomotive Company. It is understood that the engines will be built at the shops of that company at Schenectady, N. Y.

"ALLIGATOR"
GAME TRAP

SWIMMING IS THE BEST OF ALL SUMMER SPORTS

Almost every summer girl knows how to swim at least a little, for the days have passed when the bathing girl sat on the beach in a fascinating costume which was never intended to be wet by the rude sea waves. Nowadays the average woman who dons a bathing suit means business—that is, she intends to go into the water, and does—she takes a short or long swim and then comes out refreshed and invigorated.

While most girls swim a little, not a great many swim well. That is, they can do the simple breast stroke, and maybe the back stroke, but fail to attempt the overarm or side stroke, because they think these two too difficult. As a matter of fact they are nothing of the kind. Just how the average swimmer may add these two movements to her list of strokes is told by an expert woman swimmer.

"Supposing you can swim breast stroke and simple back stroke and you want to get on to something which is going to make you travel faster—a stroke which will make you cut through the water with ease and grace without ever disturbing the surface—then make up your mind to learn either side stroke or overarm. One or the other is sure to suit you, and you have to learn side stroke a little before you can attempt overarm," says this expert.

"From the basis of breast stroke you may begin to learn side stroke as the first step. First you must decide on which side you ought to swim. The best way is to try both, and the side which seems most natural and easy is the one for you. We will go on the supposition that upon sampling you come to the conclusion that the right is best. The majority of people seem to find it the easier, and it is really better because the heart is then uppermost and in a free position. Anyone learning to swim on the left side will, of course, reverse the following positions and always take left to mean right and vice versa.

"The first thing to learn is to do the proper kick, and it is unfortunate that this is so often incorrectly taught by swimming instructors. It is best to hold on to the steps or side rail of the bath, lying on your side at right angles to the side of the bath. Press the lower or right hand against the side, or a low step, so as to keep your feet on the surface. One leg only does the work, the other simply conforms to its movements, swinging lightly to and fro with knee held stiff. The right or lower leg must make a semi-circular kick with a screw-like movement. The other leg swings slightly forward, while the other goes backward, knee bent, in a rotary movement with the toe turned in. It must come back with a swing and with force to join the left leg as it drops back to position. The resting position of course is with the legs and feet together in a straight line—the drive with the right leg being the propelling power. This simple movement needs no end of practice before the real screw kick can be efficiently used.

"The arm movement is comparatively easy, but should at first be practised without the legs. Lie still on your side with your right cheek resting in the water and your right arm and shoulder buried right in; your left leg should just show on the surface. Bring your hands together at your chest, then shoot your right hand out, fingers first and palm downward, beyond and above your head, at the same time drawing your left hand smartly down to your side, making your hand and wrist act as a paddle. Rest in this position a moment, then draw your right hand straight down till it reaches your right side and let it creep back to its first position at your chest. Your left hand meanwhile glides back along your body to rejoin the right at the original position.

"When you can do your arms and legs separately and absolutely mechanically without having to concentrate your mind on what you are doing, the time has come to combine the movements. Now there is one broad rule to remember—when your right hand is above your head and your left along your side, your legs must be together and in a straight line. This is the position when you must rest on your stroke and let yourself glide along from the impetus attained by the movements of the last stroke. Then it follows that somewhere between this rest and the movement when you come to the same position again your arms and legs must work together in perfect timing. Now it is this same timing which is so difficult to grasp, but once it is mastered the stroke is easy. When the hands are at the chest, the feet should be apart and all four members must swing into their correct places at exactly the proper time, so as to get the full benefit of the glide forward.

GAME WARDEN MUST BE BORN

Fish and Game Commissioner Walter I. Neal was at the office Thursday of last week having returned from a week's trip through Waldo, Knox and Lincoln counties looking after affairs in general and also in search of good men for the warden force—men who know how and will enforce the fish and game laws to the letter. Mr. Neal says:

"A good game warden must be born. The position requires peculiar qualifications and not everyone makes a success of the business. We want good and fearless men and can use some more.

"We find that our system of having chief game wardens located here and there throughout the State is working out very successfully. It keeps the warden wide awake and alert and a big record is being made this year in prosecutions of violators of the law."

The commission has just adopted regulations for fishing in Hoyt and Sanford brooks, tributary to the Belgrade streams, whereby for a period of four years from August 15, 1914, these brooks will be closed each year to fishing for all kinds of fish until the ice goes out in the spring.

AUSTIN ASSUMES OFFICIAL DUTIES

Cordially Greeted by His Associates at the State House.

The Kennebec Journal of recent date says:

Hon. Harry B. Austin of Phillips, the new chairman of the Maine Fish and Game Commission, who had qualified last Friday, arrived at the offices of the Commission in the State House and assumed the duties of the position. The retiring commissioner, Hon. J. S. P. H. Wilson of Auburn, was also at the office to greet Mr. Austin and introduce him to the office force (with all of whom, of course, he was already very well acquainted). Mr. Austin expressed himself as much pleased with the condition in which he found the affairs of the office and the courtesy and good feeling shown by Mr. Wilson.

Chairman Austin will remain in the city for several days, familiarizing himself with office routine and other matters. His greeting from the entire State House was very cordial.

MOUNTAIN TRAILS AROUND CAMDEN

One of the things undertaken by the Camden Board of Trade this year to make Camden more attractive to visitors was the opening and marking of mountain trails. Considerable has been accomplished and it is planned to do more another season.

The old trail up Mt. Battie has been in popular use for years but this has been marked by arrows painted on the ledges and rocks so that it is now easy for strangers to keep in the proper path.

The principal trail laid is the Mt. Megunticook trail, which is now complete from the Belfast road over the entire length of Megunticook to Maiden Cliff and thence to turnpike. This is a long trail, several miles long, but mountain climbers may go the whole distance or part way, as their fancy dictates. A brief description of this trail may be interesting. It starts near the barn of Miss Emma Sherman on the Belfast road and then leads by a gradual ascent, not a hard climb, to the top of the eastern end of the Megunticook called Ocean Lookout which offers a grand view of the ocean, islands and town. The trail then leads along the mountain through woods and open spaces to the summit of the highest point 1457 feet high. This point is marked by a sign.

The trail then leads along the mountain to a point plainly marked where the traveller may go on to Zeke's look out, a beautiful spot on the northwestern side high above Maiden Cliff and then return or turn to the left and follow the trail to a bluff high above the turnpike where the trail again divides, one going down a path direct to the turnpike, the other one to Maiden Cliff from which a plainly marked trail leads to the turnpike coming out near the old Barrett farm. This trail is marked by red arrows fastened on trees, red arrows painted on ledges and rocks where it is out in the open and blazed trees painted with red through the woods. We recommend this trail to those who like a good easy climb and the most splendid views on the coast.

Another well marked trail has been opened up Ragged Mountain starting near G. E. Nash's milk farm. This trail is marked by blazed trees and cloth tied on trees. The last work on the Megunticook trail was done this week and we believe our summer visitors will enjoy using it.—Industrial Journal.

HERE AND THERE.

"Speaking of lobsters," said Curator James after reading the Chat item yesterday, "I've got quite an assortment here, just received from the United States hatchery at Boothbay Harbor," and he passed out a vial nearly full of apparently shapeless objects, but when examined proved to be some lobsters just hatched, not over an eighth of an inch long and another lot in the fifth stage, not quite half an inch long. They would surely come under the short lobster law, wouldn't they?"

The Journal then discovered on a shelf in Mr. James' private room adjoining, a perfectly formed lobster only 3 inches long and was informed that it was a fresh water lobster, coming from Moose river, one of the very few bodies of water in Maine that produces the breed. It is a genuine curiosity.—Kennebec Journal.

D. W. BERRY OF CARTHAGE CHOSEN

The Develop Maine Movement Workers Are Fortunate.

D. W. Berry, one of the best known citizens of Carthage has consented to take charge of the affairs of the Develop Maine Movement in Franklin county and has assumed the duties of his office. The Develop Maine Movement's Treasurer, W. E. Lawry of Augusta, in speaking of Mr. Berry's appointment said; "We deem ourselves extremely fortunate to secure Mr. Berry because of his standing in the community and his wide-spread acquaintance with men and affairs in Franklin county. The Movement means a great deal to the rural sections of Maine. It only remains for men capable of presenting argument to convince the farmers and business men of those districts that such is the fact. We think Mr. Berry can do it. He declined to enter our service until he convinced himself that the Movement was worth while and will be the more durable on that account."

Mr. Berry has been chairman of the board of selectmen of Carthage, was tax collector and constable for a period of 12 years, was superintendent of schools for eight years, has been a Justice of the Peace for three years, has been county commissioner of Franklin county for six years and has served one term in the Legislature. He will get in touch with the men and women of Franklin county who have been endeavoring to secure new members for the Movement. Hereafter they will make their reports and returns on new members direct to him. He will appoint live solicitors in the several towns and will represent the Movement in every way.

As soon as the membership campaign is well under way the work of gathering information concerning Franklin county's wonderful natural resources will be begun. It is hoped that some of these resources can be developed, new farmers induced to locate in the county, new manufacturing enterprises located here and new capital brought into the county.

The Develop Maine Movement has the endorsement of the commercial travellers, the business men, politicians of all parties, the leading educators, clergy and professional men. It is an earnest and honest effort to improve business conditions throughout the whole State for the benefit of the State in general and not for the benefit of any particular set of individuals or any particular section.

It is proposed to carry on an extensive advertising campaign outside the State and to employ an expert business getter to drive home the facts, so that new capital may be induced to locate here. The people of Franklin county have endorsed the Movement extensively all ready, but the officers hope, through Mr. Berry, to secure a membership in the county equal to ten per cent of the population.

FLAG NOW FLYING AT "ETHELWALD"

At "Ethelwald," the beautiful summer home of Maj. and Mrs. Duncan B. Harrison of New York, which is on the south shore of Rangeley Lake the flag is now flying, for the Major and wife arrived a few days ago, accompanied by their friend, Rev. Dr. Vibbert of Trinity Chapel, New York City, who is a well known clergyman and for several weeks will enjoy life as the guest of Maj. Harrison at the Rangeleys.

Mrs. Thomas Hoops of Chicago, Ill. has recently opened her handsome cottage at "Ethelwald," where she will pass the next few weeks, and has as guests from the same city, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hoops, Jr.

Here is an Idea. Instead of trying to stir up trouble in this old world, let us get busy and help those who are in trouble and see how much we shall enjoy the change.

SALMON FOR COBBOSSEE

The Fish and Game Commission some time ago made a request of the United States Fish and Game Commission for 10,000 humpbacked salmon for Lake Cobbesseecontee in Kennebec county. The fishing in that once famous fishing lake has "gone astern" so in recent years that the Maine commissioners have determined to do all in their power to bring it back to its old condition. Investigation has proved that the humpback salmon will thrive and multiply in Maine climate and water and Cobbessee is to be among the first to benefit. Our fish will come from the United States hatchery at Orland, Me., about Sept. 1.

The United States authorities have the following to say about the introduction of the humpback salmon into Maine waters:

"One of the most interesting and promising pieces of constructive fishery work now in progress in the bureau of fisheries, department of commerce, is the introduction of the humpbacked salmon of the Pacific coast into the littoral waters of Maine.

"The native salmon of the New England coast has become very scarce, and there is a noteworthy run only in the Penobscot river, where the bureau conducts extensive operations addressed to this species. Owing to unfavorable physical conditions (dams, pollutions, removal of forests at headwaters, etc.) in most of the streams formerly frequented by the salmon, there is little or no probability that this fish can ever be re-established. The humpback salmon has therefore been selected as a suitable substitute. It spawns near salt water, and will find numerous favorable streams in which the eggs will hatch and the young remain until ready for their short marine life. The average weight attained is five pounds, but examples weighing 10 pounds are sometimes taken in Alaska. When the fish is fresh-run from the sea, the flesh is of a rich red color, of delicious flavor and a very satisfactory substitute for the Atlantic salmon.

"The bureau has begun an annual transfer of humpback eggs from the west coast to the Maine hatcheries, and is now distributing, in the form of fingerlings, the fish resulting from eggs brought across the continent and the waters stocked, which have been specially selected for the purpose, will include the following Maine rivers: Penobscot, Androscoggin, Pleasant, Damariscotta, Denys, Orland, Union, Georges, Medomak, and St. Croix.

"This work will be continued on a large scale annually until the humpback has been firmly established and a great boon will thus be conferred on the fishing industry of Maine. In 1913 the humpback run in Puget sound was valued at $4,000,000, the fish being used chiefly for canning. In Maine and other New England waters the humpback will be in greatest demand as a fresh fish."

Enamelware Cement. For mending enamelware pots and pans where a hole has been made or the enamel has been chipped off, the following is effective: Equal parts of soft putty, finely sifted coal ashes and sifted table salt. Mix all together and pack it into the hole. Place the mended article on the stove with a little water in it until the cement gets hard. It never fails, and it becomes as hard as the enamel itself.

UPPER DAM EASILY FOUND

Got Bad Fishing Fever, but Can be Cured by Catching a Record.

(Special Correspondence)
Upper Dam, August 8—A recent letter asking Maine Woods reporter "please tell us where Upper Dam is," reminds me of the minister who once started for a fishing trip to the Rangeley Lakes going via Umbagog and telling his family he should stop and fish at the lower dam, and said he, "If I don't have any luck there I am going to Middle Dam." As it happened, the next week the reverend gentleman was much wanted at home and a telegram was sent addressed "Rev. ——— somewhere in the Dam region, Rangeley, Maine," and he got the telegram. But where is Upper Dam? At the outlet of Mooselookmeguntic Lake which is connected with the Mollychunkmunk by a stream of only a short distance, and here at the foot of the dam controlled by the Union Water Power Company, is the world wide famous trout and salmon pool, where many of the most noted fly fishermen in America spend weeks and months casting every known fly to tempt the fish they know are there. But many an angler has not yet succeeded in catching a "record" which means a fish of three pounds and over, and this last week only a trio has been recorded.

Dr. F. B. Gummy of Philadelphia on a number 10 Wickham Fancy fly caught a 3-pound 4-ounce trout, but still talks about the salmon that "made me sick," for it was "surely an eight-pound salmon." And for over half an hour the doctor was on the anxious seat before the salmon shook his tail at him and started for the white water.

E. J. Atlee of Germantown, Penn., records his first for this season, a 3-pound salmon.

John S. Doane of Boston with a small fly one 3-pound 7 ounces, Orrin Dyke, guide.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Richert of New York, coming in their touring car via Poland Spring as far as the Barker, were guests of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Van Dusen, for the past week. It was their first visit to a Maine woods camp and they were greatly fascinated with the life. Mr. Richert, who never cast the fly before returned home with a bad case of "fishing fever" which can only be cured by coming again and catching a "record", for his first salmon only weighed a little over 2 pounds. This morning they regretfully started for home, going via the Dixville Notch route through the White Mountains.

The flag is again flying from the camp of Walter H. Sawyer of Auburn as Mrs. Sawyer and little daughter Elizabeth H. Sawyer, accompanied by Mrs. Sawyer's sister, Mrs. B. M. Weeden and daughter, Lydia Weeden will remain here until school opens in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. White and son, Herbert Frye White of Lewiston have been joined by Mrs. White's mother, of the same city.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barber of South Framingham, Mass., who have for years been annual comers were welcomed by old friends on their arrival Tuesday evening. Mrs. Dresser, also of the same city, accompanied them.

Camping trips up to Richardson pond where the night is spent, fish enough caught for breakfast, the deer watched as they take a morning dip in the water and a lunch from the lily pads is a popular outing for the guests.

Even way up here in the wilderness of Maine, personal friends of President Wilson are sending telegrams of sympathy, for the death of the first lady in our land, who was so kind and charitable, is mourned all over the country.

Today work is commenced on a new Clock Golf course in front of the camps for the ladies and tonight "Brownie" will arrive and the gentlemen will soon be practicing on their course for the coming tournament.

Everyone had a hearty welcome for Mrs. F. R. Baker and daughters, Miss Florence and Miss Elizabeth Baker of Rumford Point, who as usual will pass a number of weeks here at Upper Dam.

Miss Beatrice E. Fair of East Orange, N. J. is having a "Ketch Rig" put in her sponson canoe and will soon be sailing over the water.

George Elliott Patterson is a young gentleman from New York who is a welcome guest and the young folks are playing tennis, boating and tramping over the trails through the forest. Bathing for the children as well as the older ones is now a daily pastime.

With all the camps taken and most of the rooms in the hotel this is one of the merriest places on the Rangeley waters.

FINDS GEM IN HEEL OF SHOE

Ruby, Lost by Young Woman on Board a Steamship, Recovered by Hotel Valet.

To lose a pigeon blood ruby worth $2,000 in the stateroom of a steamship and to find the gem imbedded in the heel of a rubber soled shoe a few days later was the experience of Miss Clementina Clenski, who arrived from Poland with her father and sisters on board the Imperator, of the Hamburg-American line, the other day, the New York Herald states.

Occupying expensive staterooms on the Imperator were Mr. Fabena Clenski, wealthy resident of Plementi, Poland, and his two daughters, Magdalena and Clementina. The handsome gowns and gems of the young women attracted much attention among the passengers. This was especially true as regarded the earrings worn by Miss Clementina Clenski—twin pigeon blood rubies, large as the nails of her little finger, and said to be heirlooms.

When in midocean the purser of the Imperator was informed that one of the rubies had been lost. Instant search was made, but the gem could not be found.

On the arrival of the Clenski party at the Astor hotel, Miss Clenski decided that her shoes needed shining, and, in accordance with the European custom, placed her shoes, including a pair with rubber soles, before her door before retiring. In due course the shoes were taken in charge by the hotel valet. While shining one of the rubber soled shoes a glistening object imbedded in the heel attracted his attention and he pried it out with his pocket knife.

He gasped in wonder at his find, for it was the long lost ruby. He took the gem to A. Palmer, assistant manager of the hotel, and he in turn carried it to Miss Clenski. The valet was sent for and it was observed that he was in exceptional good humor for the balance of the day.

Miss Clenski says that she must have dropped the ruby in her stateroom and accidentally stepped on it, the gem imbedding itself in a slight opening in the rubber.

Selection of Cows.
Extreme care is necessary in selecting cows, for no amount of skill in feeding and handling will stimulate a profit from a truly poor cow. A good dairy cow is one with a large capacity for using food above the maintenance requirement and one that uses this food for milk production. In determining the most desirable breed, one must consult his own likes and dislikes first. The man who likes a Holstein cow and dislikes a Jersey will be more successful with the former.

Get Limit of Trout at Baker Pond and Ten In One Half Day at Alder Stream.

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Mosquito, Me., Aug. 9—Since the heavy rain of last week the fishing has been fine. Last evening Mr. Harold Stonehill of New York took 10 trout in half an hour at the mouth of Alder stream which enters Lake Moxie. Largest 1½ pounds. This is Mr. Stonehill's first fishing trip to Moxie, which he is enjoying immensely. Mr. Wm. Brackett, Mr. Whitney and Mr. Darcey of Norridgewock took the limit (25 trout) at Baker pond one day last week. Many other fine catches have been taken recently.

Other excitement at camp is dancing, boating and swimming. Professor Harold Stonehill, assisted by Mrs. Leon Baudler of New York City is teaching everyone in camp all the latest dances.

Recent arrivals are: Oscar T. Jones, Mr. Sandleng, Tom DeWise, Miss Jennie Kennedy, Miss Bean and Miss Durgin of The Forks; Dr. Leon Baudler, Paul Victorious and Prof. Harold Stonehill

Mr. John Vaughan and wife of Boston, took 30 trout at Mountain Dimick pond, that weighed, (dressed) 20 pounds. Largest 3½ pounds.

The salmon are rising fine at Baker pond now.

Today is master Bernard Baudler's 9th birthday which was celebrated in motor riding and refreshments.

Many other guests are expected in a few days from Boston, New York and New Hampshire.

VETERAN ARTIST GOES INTO CAMP

Walter M. Brackett, Who is 91 Starts Alone for the Wilds of Canada.

Walter M. Brackett of Boston, the oldest painter in the United States, who celebrated his 91st birthday at the Boston Art club two weeks ago last Saturday evening, left recently for his annual camping and fishing expedition to Canada. Alone, the sportsman left for Canadian wilds. This is his 30th annual trip, and he will be gone two months. His boy, Arthur, who is 70 years of age, was unable to be at the North Station to see his father off, as he went to his summer camp in New Hampshire two weeks ago. Yet the old man was given a good sendoff by other "boys," many of whom are 60 and 70 years of age. Mr. Brackett intends to stop at Sherbrooke for a day and spend two days in Quebec at the Chateau Frontenac. He will make his way by rail and boat to the Saguenay river. His old guide, Louis, will meet him with a buckboard, on which they will ride 12 miles to the confluence of the Saguenay and Marguerite rivers. From there they will paddle in a canoe three miles to the camp where Louis for the last 30 years has attended to the wants of the elderly fisherman. Mr. Brackett, as he left, said that he never felt better, 'although he now has to resort to the aid of his glasses more frequently than formerly, when he paints and reads.

MICHIGAN'S TRAPSHOOTING HONORS AWARDED.

The year's big trapshooting event in Michigan was the state tournament held at Detroit July 22 to 24 inclusive. The attendance, as might have been expected in one of the leading trapshooting states, was large and enthusiastic, about 150 different shooters actually participating in the various matches.

The Michigan championship went to W. L. Stonehouse of Pontiac, who scored 96 out of a possible 100 in the contest for the title, using Nitro Club speed shells. The high amateur average cup was won by J. W. Hart, of Dresden, Ontario, who shot the same ammunition and broke 435 out of 450 clay birds during the three days.

The five-man team championship was won by Bay City with a score of 226 out of 250, four members of the winning team using Remington-UMC guns and shells. Other principle features of the interesting program were the contests for the Gilman and Barnes trophy, the Crawford trophy and the Wayne County amateur championship; the first being captured by J. A. Marks, of Detroit, 49 out of 50, with Nitro Club shells; the second by John Hartford, of Detroit, 414 out of 450; and the third also by Mr. Hartford, with the same record, made with Nitro Clubs and a Remington autoloading gun. The Crawford trophy is for the highest average score of a member of the Pastime Gun Club on the grounds of which the tournament was held.

LEADS WORLD IN SOAPSTONE

United States' Production of This and Talc During 1913 Makes a New Record.

The talc and soapstone industry has gradually expanded from a marketed production of 97,834 short tons, valued at $908,488, in 1901, to 175,833 short tons, valued at $1,908,097 in 1913, says the United States geological survey. The production in 1913 was 16,563 tons greater in quantity, and $201,134 in value than the output of 1912, the previous high water mark year.

The states that produced talc in 1913 were New York, Vermont, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, North Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, California, Massachusetts and Maryland. New York and Vermont together produced more than one hundred thousand short tons of talc.

The production of soapstone in the United States in 1913 was greater than that of all other countries combined. The total production in this country last year was 26,562 short tons, valued at $628,077, against 25,918 short tons, valued at $609,480 in 1912.

There were five producing states, Maryland, North Carolina, Rhode Island, Vermont and Virginia, but the output of Virginia exceeded by far the combined output of all the other states.

Proof of it.

THE ALLEN CAMP MEETING

Begins Tomorrow Night On Camp Grounds at Strong.

Rev. Weston P. Holman will be the leader and Evangelist Rev. A. A. Walsh will speak twice each day. Mrs. Walsh will have charge of the singing.

The Allen camp meeting, which will be held at Strong from August 14 to 23 has every appearance of being a decided success. Several speakers of note have been secured for these meetings.

Rev. A. A. WALSH.

The Rev. Mr. Walsh, evangelist, has recently completed a successful revival at Waterville and Lewiston. During the meetings, 100 people registered their conversion and the most of them have already united with the churches. Previous to holding services in Waterville and Lewiston, the Rev. Mr. Walsh and Mrs. Walsh, who is a singer of considerable ability and assisted in the services, conducted meetings at Elmira, N. Y. ONLY A MASK

Many are not being benefited by the summer vacatio as they should be. Now, notwithstanding much outdoor life, they are little if any stronger than they were. The tan on their faces is darker and makes them look healthier, but it is only a mask. They are still nervous, easily tired, upset by trifles, and they do not eat or sleep well. What they need is what tones the nerves, perfects digestion, creates appetite, and makes sleep refreshing, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Pupils and teachers generally will find the chief purpose of the vacation best subserved by this great medicine which, as we know, "builds up the whole system."

DO YOU SUFFER FROM BACKACHE?

When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions; your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be despondent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer.

The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system. Get it today.

Mrs. Dana Newell, by Dr. C. W. Bell. Mrs. Lizzie Butler and Miss Hortense Butler of Phillips were recent guests in town.

The friends of Mrs. Anna Bangs are sorry to know she has suffered a relapse and has been very ill the past few days.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

DEMAND FOR BETTER ROADS

No Reason Why Portion of Tax Should Not Be Used in Putting Highways in Better Condition.

There is a growing demand for more and better road making during the autumn months. In many localities the roads become filled with deep ruts and the wheel tracks so depressed during the summer that they collect rains which soon wash them into gutters which soon ruin the roads for heavy loads and comfortable travel. There is no reason why a portion of the road tax should not be used for putting the highways in good condition for travel, says Northwestern Agriculturist. The split log drag and other road-making implements should be put to work before the ground freezes. The outside of the roads should be brought into the center of the track which will establish a crust that will shed the water, rather than retain rains, which are sure to occur during the late fall and early spring months. Roads having a full-high center are quite sure to remain in good condition during the rainy season of fall and spring. Steep hills, where water is apt to collect in wheel tracks, should be provided with open gutters on each side into which rains may be diverted with an occasional crest over which water cannot pass. Approaches to bridges and culverts should be so filled with earth that vehicles of all kinds may pass over them without serious jolts and jars. Roads are much improved when covered with gravel. This is a season of the year when such work can be accomplished at a minimum expense. Every township should own gravel pits from which road-making material can be cheaply obtained. Concrete roads will soon become popular. The same material only should be used in making small bridges and culverts. A good quality of sand and gravel is necessary to make serviceable concrete. Every farmer should have a special interest in all roads adjoining his premises and leading to market.

INCREASE THE LAND VALUES

Strong Argument in Favor of Good Roads Is That They Enhance Value of Bordering Farms.

It takes all kinds of arguments to interest the numerous types of men found in every community in public improvements. One man will sanction and work for good roads when he is convinced that they will shorten and expedite the haul of some special crop that he produces. Another will assist because he owns a motorcar. One of the most effective arguments is that good roads will enhance the value of farms bordering upon them, says Breeder's Gazette.

Several real estate dealers in Iowa have begun to advertise land as located "on the Lincoln Highway." Experience has shown that this is a strong "talking point." Of course the great national road is not finished, but it is already famous, and since it will steadily increase in historic interest many properties abutting it will probably acquire an augmented selling value. Unfortunately only a small percentage of farms are located on the Lincoln Highway, but that thoroughfare marks the inauguration in this country of the old-world attitude toward convenient and pleasant highways and byways as a means of socializing and upbuilding a large-hearted, broad-minded citizenship.

GOOD ROADS

PLEA FOR WIDER ROADWAYS

Fourteen-Foot Road Will Outlast Three Nine-Foot Roads and Is Much Better in Every Way.

Have not our counties and townships been wasting a good bit of our money by building 9-foot roadbeds on 24 by 20 foot wide road grades? A 24-foot wide grade is plenty wide enough for a 14-foot roadbed. Then why spoil a good grade by putting on a 9-foot road when it costs less than one-third more to make a good job of it? Fourteen feet is sufficient width for two tracks; that would mean just one-half of the wear on the road. Then we can drive so as to have a wheel on each side of the center and that makes one more track and will be equal to a 9-foot road. So you see we have three times the wearing surface on a 14-foot roadbed that we do on a 9-foot. Then we have a chance to pass other rigs without one or both going into the ditch. Now this is claiming quite a lot for one-third more expense, but I think a 14-foot road will outlast three 9-foot roads, has a handier surface and is better in every way, writes John D. De Cou in Michigan Farmer. If you come up behind a rig you have a chance to get by. If you are driving an auto you do not have to go outside of the hard roadbed and take chances on skidding into the ditch.

A 9-foot roadbed has but one track. Where the wheels run it gets packed perfectly solid and a heavy load will crush all small stones into dust, and the first auto that comes along sucks it up on the front side of the wheels and then blows it clear off the track when they let go. This doesn't seem much, but when from one to fifty or more go over the same track it soon counts. Meanwhile, the horses traveling in the center with iron-shod hoofs have kept that dug loose and it gradually works out, leaving the road low in the center where it should be high. Then when heavy rains come the ridges where the wheel tracks come hold it in and it washes down the center to the lowest level, where it runs off at the sides, cutting ditches and causing a bad chuck hole.

This road is hard to keep in repair. If you use a road grader or drag to scrape the sides to the center the wheel tracks are so solid that they will hold up the blades and you will do but little if any good. If you haul on more gravel it will not pack in the center, but keep working into the wheel tracks, making them still higher, when they are too high already. If our roads were 14 feet or more in width, then the driving would be all over the whole road, making a hard, smooth surface, and by going over once in a while with a road drag it would keep the center high, the rains would drain off at the sides and not wash down the center, and there would not be wear enough in any one place to work or crush the surface into dust to be blown off by winds or autos.

You can repair a 14-foot road at any time, and it will pack and make a smooth, hard surface, for people will drive so as to hit the whole surface. But not so with a 9-foot road. They will all follow the same track, no matter how crooked the first pattern is. It will be better to build 14 feet or wider in the first place, than to build nine feet and then wider afterward, for it is hard to get a smooth, even surface, because the new gravel will work off the old, hard surface, causing a sag on each side which will have to be filled several times before it will get solid enough to match the old roadbed.

ALL HAVE FEAR OF HOODOO

Superstition Astonishingly Strong With Drivers Who Make Record Races With Automobiles.

Superstition affects the drivers of fast racing cars just as did it affect the bicycle riders of old when cycle racing thrived the country over. The cycle racing man would not mingle with 13 under any circumstances and with cause, for 13 proved an undoubted hoodoo to the cyclist. In 1896 Joe Gribler had 13 on his back at Lima and was thirteenth in line in the start of a race in which 13 started. He was killed.

Johnnie Nelson, the pace follower, was killed through an accident to his motor pacing the machine, which was No. 13, and this same machine had previously placed eight men in the hospital. Miles and Stafford, pace makers, bore the unlucky number when killed at Waltham track in a race, and this accident resulted in the death of three others.

Peterson at Troy had 13 on his back when killed. And that does not end the list of fatalities in cycle racing days, all laid at the door of the fatal number. In automobilizing drivers are not asked to operate a car with the number and avoid it as they would a plague. Their superstition is the growth of the old days of cycling, in which many took part. They have other superstitions as well and these according to the driver.

Making King George Punctual.

I hear that the clocks at Buckingham Palace and other royal residences, which in King Edward's reign were always kept half an hour fast, are now set to Greenwich time every day at noon.

The idea was, I believe, that there would be less danger of the king or any one else concerned being late for appointments, but it is one of those ideas which ought to be kept to oneself to be of any value. Once the whole house knows that the clock is fast it might as well point to the right time.

Nevertheless, the system of keeping the clocks half an hour in advance of the right time is still maintained at Marlborough house and Sandringham.—London Express.

The Miner's Bath.

Mrs. Rose Pastor Phelps Stokes said at a recent sociological convention in New York:

"The economies that some of the rich would force upon the poor! Why, they'd have the poor as impossibly economical as the miner's wife in Trinidad.

Says Pig Is Healthy Pet.

"If a pet you must have, get a pig. The pig may not be so delicate and sentimental an animal as the cat and the dog, and he has a disagreeable squeal, but he is not a disease carrier." So said Dr. D. T. Quigley of North Platte, Neb., at the Devereaux Methodist Episcopal church in a lecture on the prevention of infectious and contagious diseases.

It was especially in reference to the "common cold" that Dr. Quigley mentioned pets. He declared that the "common cold" was the worst ailment of the human race and that not a small part of the affliction was attributable to the family cat and dog, which boys, girls and grown-ups fondle.

MAN THEIR FAVORITE DISH

Cannibalism in the Solomons Is Looked on as Religious and Tribal Rite.

A letter descriptive of one of the chief cannibal settlements and the rites of the savages was recently received here from Sydney from a traveler, who had spent some time in the cannibal-infested Solomon islands in the Pacific. The Solomons are the cannibalistic hub of the south Pacific, although human flesh is also eaten occasionally in the Marquesas and New Hebrides islands.

"Maneaters on land, maneaters in the water; for God's sake, steer clear of the Solomons!" was the advice given to the writer when he first expressed his intention of visiting those islands. In Fiji travelers are still so advised.

"At Suva," says the writer of the letter, "the mate of a trader told me: 'You can chuck a pig overboard anywhere in the Solomons, and five minutes later walk ashore on the black dorsal fins of sharks. But what's the use? The blacks will snap you up and pick your bones the minute you reach the beach.'"

"Cannibalism, which has always been practised in the Solomons, owes its persistence not to any particular predilection for human flesh," says the writer of the letter, "but to the fact that it is looked upon as a religious and tribal rite.

"The sacrifice is not always—in fact, is not usually—a white man. But if a trader or a missionary happens to be within striking distance when a victim is required, the prophets or priests are more than likely to receive intimation from the spirits that only the flesh of a foreigner will answer the purposes of the ceremony."—New York Times.

CITROLAX!

It's a laxative, of course—and the nicest hot weather drink you ever tasted. Flushes thoroughly, and pleasantly, too. F. C. Cryslar, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "Have used laxatives for 15 years but this Citrolax has got everything else beat a mile." Try it.

VOTER FAMILY ASSOCIATION

The Sixth Annual Reunion of the Voter Family will be held on Friday, Aug. 28, 1914, at the Old Voter Homestead on Voter Hill in New Vineyard, Maine. If it should rain on Aug. 28, the Reunion will be held the next fair day.

The Reunion should be of greatest interest to all members of the Family, as it was on this spot that the oldest pioneer member of the family first settled, more than 125 years ago. On this spot is the oldest Family grave yard, in which grows the Cherry Tree so well known in the traditions of the Family. Here John Voter, and his son, Eastee Voter, first cleared the land of its virgin forests and reared large families; we, as their great-great-grand children should feel the keenest interest in this Reunion.

The roads are very good and entirely passable for automobiles from all the surrounding towns. The farm overlooks Sweet's Pond and you cannot miss finding the spot.

Coffee will be made on the farm and served to all. The dinner will be a basket picnic, the same as it was in Strong four years ago. Each one will bring his own basket lunch.

Every member of the Family should be present this year as we are going to consider measures to effect a closer organization of the Family and steps to insure the success of the Family History, which your Secretary has been working upon for several years.

Remember the day is AUGUST 28. P. Conant Voter, Sec.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the kindness and thoughtfulness of our friends during the illness and death of our aunt, Julia Warren. Her last wish was to remain in her old home until the end, and without the assistance given by Mrs. Dennison and Mrs. Winnie Toothaker it would have been impossible. We also give thanks for the flowers given.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Warren.

W. M. Halfacre, Dexter, Mo., bought Foley Kidney Pills for Mrs. Halfacre, who was down on her back with kidneys so sore he had to help her move. He says, "She would cry with pain across her kidneys, but after she took the second bottle of Foley Kidney Pills, she was as well and strong as ever."

Pittsburgh's Covering of Soot.

The sootfall of Pittsburgh, as determined from careful measurements during the last year, ranges from 595 to 1,950 tons a square mile per annum. The destructive possibilities of this immense deposit may be illustrated by stating that if an equal amount of lampblack were ground with oil so as to form black paint it would cover from seventeen to fifty-seven square miles with two coats. Statistics of sootfall at certain places in Great Britain are as follows: Industrial section of Leeds, 529 tons; center of London, 426 tons; Glasgow, 820 tons.

Green Glass Helps Eyes.

Glass to protect the eyes from injurious ultra-violet rays of the sun in warm climates is being advocated by Sir William Crookes, who recently read a paper on his experiments before the Royal society of London.

Investigation has shown that with a certain combination which produces a glass of sage green color 98 per cent of the heat rays may be cut off. No less than six different formulas were discovered by Sir William for preserving the sight from the glare and heat of the summer sun.
