IS ON THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

Commissioner Ed. I. Littlefield Says He Has Not Seen New Electric Light Agreement

DISAPPROVES OF ANY CONTRACT WITH Y. L. & H.

Asserts that Officials of Company Failed to Keep an Agreement Made with Local Board Last Spring—Sees No Reason Why Municipal Plant Cannot Furnish Its Own Service—Strong Feeling of Disapproval Expressed by Some Citizens

"Open that door!
And—Let—Me—In."

(Last line very slow and pp.)

Commissioner Ed. I. Littlefield is out in the cold. He is a rank outsider as far as the new 24-hour electric light service agreement is concerned and the above popular lines of the colored gentleman's song best expresses his feelings, and those of his numerous friends. The Enterprise has his word for it or rather in a conversation over the telephone he told a representative of this paper that he had not seen the new agreement, nor had he been consulted about the details, or the adoption. In other words Chairman Bonser and Mr. Wiggin (the latter elected to the board last Spring) did the business.

The exclusive story in last week's Enterprise, which told of the agreement with the York Light & Heat Company, whereby Kennebunk was to have a 24-hour electric light service, was a cake hot from the griddle. But few of the townspeople knew that such a service was contemplated. One of Commissioner Littlefield's friends and who is also a correspondent for city papers, congratulated the Enterprise on its "scoop."

The story set the people talking and to drawing conclusions, and if the two commissioners, who are responsible for the new conditions, could hear the expressions of some people they might try to cancel the agreement.

"Mouse in the Meal," "Nigger in the Woodpile" and "Jack in the Box" are some of the catchy phrases that are being passed along.

The majority of the subscribers are elated over the prospects of a 24-hour service. They need it in their homes and in their business. But are the benefits worth the concessions is the query. The chairman of the board assures the citizens that the town is protected at every angle, and that a renewal of the three year agreement is optional. That the town will be under no expense for the installation of the service, nor will any expense be attached if the town discontinues the service at the end of the agreement.

Commission Littlefield believes in a 24-hour service, but not by the assistance of the York Light & Heat Co.

He has little faith in that corporation. He cites the verbal agreement made with officers of that company last Spring which they promised to put in writing, but failed to do. This verbal agreement, it seems, was made in Augusta and Representative Perkins was a witness to it. One of the clauses agreed to was that the foreign company would not extend its wires beyond Durrell's bridge at one end of the village and Fernald hill at the other. And that if the local board desired to buy 'juice' for an all-day service it would cost 3 cents per kilowatt. Under the present agreement the 'juice' will cost 3 1/2 cents and the foreign company will lay a wire from Durrell's bridge to the local plant. As a result the municipal factory will be obliged to conform to the high voltage of the York Light & Heat Co., and every transformer in town will be changed to meet new conditions.

Whatever may be said of the irregular service of the local plant it must be conceded that the subscribers get the quality in light. It is a soft, but strong illumination and there is no better light manufactured in the state. It is the result of 1100 volts. The wires of the foreign company are charged with 2200 volts and produces a dead, glaring light, unsatisfactory to read by and trying to the eyes.

It is no secret that an official of the York Light & Heat Company is somewhat interested in the new moving picture building and it is hinted that some of the commissioners feared that the blanket charter given this corporation by the last legislature would permit an entrance into the village for the express purpose of providing electricity there.

Commissioner Littlefield say that the town has nothing to fear from this corporation in the line of threats for if it becomes too arrogant the town will have its inning four years from now when the water contract expires, and which company is officered by the same men who control the York Light & Heat Co.

There are some citizens who claim that history will repeat and that the town will lose its plant in the same manner that the town lost control of its water works.

Announce Engagement

A noteworthy engagement is that of Miss Lina Carr Andrews of Bath and Rodney Ellamore Ross of Kennebunk. The announcement was made at a dinner party given last Friday evening at the home of Miss Andrews's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Andrews. She has many friends, not only in Maine, but throughout New England, as she has been a student at Mrs. Dellafield's private school in Boston, graduating in the class of 1909. Mr. Ross is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Ross, and was graduated in the class of 1910, from Bowdoin College where he was a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, the Glee Club and Phi Beta Kappa. He also made his "B" in tennis. On Thursday last he entered the Harvard Law School for his second year.—Brunswick Record.

Mrs. Eugene A. Fairfield had a miraculous escape from most serious injury, Monday afternoon, while riding in an auto. The machine was a 65 horse power and when about to ascend Israel Taylor hill in Alewife the forward wheels entered an incline and skidded. In trying to right the machine the driver had much difficulty and the shock of the quick turning to the right and left threw Mrs. Fairfield over the forward seat and she landed on her shoulder. Orren R. Fairfield rushed to her assistance and thought at first she had been fatally injured. But when she was assisted to her feet it was found that no bones were broken and other than a severe shaking and a bad scare she suffered no serious injury. The machine was driven by Lawyer W. H. Pierce who with Lawyer Fairfield was making a trip to Alewife on business, accompanied by Mrs. Orren Fairfield and Mrs. Fairfield.

Spare That Tree!

"Woodman, spare that tree,
Touch not a single bough!
In youth it sheltered me,
And I'll protect it now."

The announcement that Charles H. Brown is seriously considering chopping down the tree on his property, around which the barn is built, has suggested the above lines to some people. It is said that the tree is very old and is a splendid specimen of the elm at its best. It is said that when one of the early owners of the land decided to erect a barn on the spot he could not bring himself to cut it down. Accordingly, he built the barn around the tree, and to make sure that the latter should have all the light and air it needed he constructed a lattice work from the ground to the eaves in front of the tree.

The owner of the estate at that time was Mr. Parsons, now a resident of New York city, but the present owner, Mr. Brown, has been equally careful to keep the old tree in good condition. The tree affords splendid shade for the house as well as the barn and is highly prized for that reason, as well as because of its unique situation.

The trunk of the tree occupies considerable space within the barn, however, for it is nearly six feet in diameter at the base. Near by is another one of dom of Heaven." We all recognize that we live in the midst of mysteries—life itself is a mystery and death is a much greater mystery. The permission of so much evil and sorrow is a mystery and also the seeming indifference of our Heavenly Father to the prevailing conditions of misery and suffering. Some say that this mystery will never be solved. The Scriptures say: "The Mystery of God shall be finished—Behold I show you a Mystery." When the Bible is rightly understood the mysterious features of the Heavenly Father's plan will become clear and manifest to all. You are cordially invited to attend this service which will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Seats free. No collection.

Serenaded

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Parmeter (nee Rankin) met with a warm reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rankin, Turbot's Creek Road, Kennebunkport, upon their return from their wedding trip to the mountains. More than sixty friends of the bride, a most charming young lady, met at the Willing Workers' building and from there, with guns, bells, horns, etc., merrily started off by the light of the harvest moon to give the popular young couple a serenade. The house was in total darkness, although Mr. and Mrs. Rankin were expecting the jolly party.

The young people were awakened by a salute of more than a dozen rifles, and then the serenade began. Later, the company were invited to enter Mr. Rankin's pretty cottage and partake of hot coffee and dainty refreshments. Miss Sarah Rankin added much to the joy of the evening with her music. Mrs. Parmeter was heard to remark "It's lots jollier than the big reception given me in my Waltham home."

At midnight, with wishes for the bride's happiness and a parting salute from the guns, the laughing crowd started homeward.

Among those present were, Mrs. Julia Wildes, Mrs. Violet Perry, Mrs. Esther Wildes, Mrs. Alice Russell, Miss Leora Russell, Miss Helen Melcher, Miss Annie McNicol, Miss Nita McKenney, Miss Gladys Wildes, Miss Hattie McKenney, Thomas Russell, Mr. Fisher, Mr. Wildes, Mr. McKenney, Mr. Shuffelburg, and a host of others.

Resolutions

The following resolutions were passed by the Maine State Advent Christian conference at its annual session held at Dover, Maine, Oct. 4 to 8, 1911:

Resolved, That we publicly express our gratitude to our Heavenly Father that the recent efforts to overthrow the Prohibitory law in this state have failed and that we still retain upon our Constitution the Prohibitory amendment; and furthermore we ardently hope that the enforcement of the law will be such that it will commend itself to public approval and ever be retained in the Constitution of the state of Maine. And further

Resolved, That we urge upon all temperance people of the state to inaugurate and push an educational campaign in favor of Prohibition so that strict enforcement may be assured.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., SETS THE PEOPLE AN EXAMPLE

City Beautifies Own Property, Hoping Citizens Will Do Likewise.

Too many city yards are blots upon the landscape and depreciate the value of adjacent property, but in the illustration accompanying this article we find the stable and entrance to the yard presenting a most attractive appearance. It is unfortunate that the majority of cities do not set a better example to their citizens by paying some attention to the neatness and attractiveness of their own properties. Springfield, Mass., the owner of the city yard here illustrated, is certainly to be commended for the example which it sets. Incidentally the city also owns three gravel banks and a trap rock quarry, a trestle and bins for receiving and storing trap rock, together with buildings for housing the steam roller, wagons and other appliances owned by the street and sewer department.

VENTURE THAT FAILED.

Trying to Do Business Without Modern Facilities Was Its Downfall.

That beautiful meat store in the heart of Chicago's shopping center which was established to eliminate modern charges on merchandising and thus sell at lower prices ran its brief career. And yet the trial of about eight months was long enough to afford a convincing test.

In brief, the attempt was to establish practically the old time market, such as still holds favor in some cities, chiefly in the south, where the producer and the consumer meet without middlemen and a market basket and a purse are the essentials to the evening dinner. The telephone order, the free delivery and the credit system were eliminated from the Chicago experiment.

Goods of quality attractively displayed at reasonable prices characterized this venture. These are essentials of successful merchandising. The opening was encouraging, but the new wore off soon.

It was situated in the midst of the big department stores, the greatest retail merchandising establishments in the world, which have been built on modern methods—telephone order, free delivery and credit. How much it cost its sponsors to attempt to turn back the hands on the clock of time they are not telling.

Some cities yet maintain the old time market places, and the family horse and phaeton, with the market basket aboard, jogs down to market daily or twice weekly, and the consumer trades directly with the producer, but the atmosphere of Chicago does not seem agreeable to that form of merchandising. The city built a splendid public market place a few years ago. It is now a manufacturing plant. Time and convenience seem to be worth money in Chicago.—Breeder's Gazette.

BIG MAIL ORDER GAIN.

Chicago House Reports Extra Profits. How About Local Dealers?

The annual report of Sears, Roebuck & Co., the Chicago mail order house, for last year showed an increase of 20 per cent in sales, which for 1910 totaled $61,329,792 against $51,011,536 in 1909. Dividends on investments and interest on securities amounted to $250,046, bringing the total income to $61,579,838, an increase of $10,444,383. Purchases, wages, advertising and other expenses increased by $9,908,835 to $54,360,516, the total, including depreciation, amounting to $54,319,962, which left a net profit for the year of $6,759,876, an increase of $567,515 over the previous year.

After allowing for the payment of 7 per cent on the $8,800,000 common stock the net profit equaled 20.47 per cent on the $30,000,000 common stock against 18.45 earned in the previous year.

Look over the figures printed above. Did you help these out of town merchants to accumulate their fortunes, or did you do your best to help along the hardworking, honest, square dealing storekeepers of your own town?

He'd Teach Clean Streets. "Teach the school children civic cleanliness," says W. C. Weaver, commissioner of street cleaning of Kansas City, Mo., "and I predict the effect will be seen in a city surpassingly healthful, clean and attractive. Get the boys and girls into the habit of picking up every piece of stray paper or stick of wood on the street or sidewalk in front of the home or in the yard. Teach them that when they throw an empty sack into the street the work of the street sweepers has availed nothing."

A Fault That Can Be Remedied. The greatest fault to be found, even in planted districts, is the fact that every one plants for himself without regard to the needs of the proposition or the wishes of neighbors or public.

HOW TO SELECT CIGARS.

Many Ideas of Smokers Are Declared to Be Fallacious.

Do you know how to distinguish a good cigar from a bad one without smoking them? If you do you are laboring under a delusion, according to Sydney Brooks, an English writer, who has been studying the cigar, its manufacture and cigar fallacies at Havana for the London Times.

"The best of all my experiences in Havana," he writes, "has been to talk with the expert heads of the great factories and to find them poking a scornfully good humored finger through nearly all of the average smoker's most cherished theories. The average smoker believes that a dark wrapper means a strong cigar and a light wrapper a mild one, and he is absolutely wrong. There is no connection whatever beyond color and strength. Squeezing cigars and smelling them are equally fallacious as tests of quality. So, too, is the color and firmness of the ash; the notion that the whiter the ash and the longer it stays on the better the cigar is altogether erroneous. The best Havanas burn with a clear steel gray ash, and its duration and length are mainly determined by the size of the pieces used in the fillers.

"Then, again, the men in Havana, heedless of the club reputations they are shattering, insist that a spotted cigar means less than nothing so far as quality, whether good or bad, is concerned; that the barometer affects cigars far more than the thermometer; that the silky looking wrapper is as much to be avoided as the velvety one or the one that is oily in patches; that cigars should neither be too soft as to yield readily to the pressure of the fingers nor so dry as to crackle; that most of the talk about 'condition' is pure ignorance, the Americans being right in preferring a moist cigar and the English being equally right in preferring a dryer one, the vital point in each case being the proper period of recovery from the seasickness that cigars contract as easily as their smokers, a period that varies with the length of the voyage; that except for the expert, who has given his whole life to the business, there are virtually no outward indications that can be relied upon in choosing a cigar, and that for the average man, anxious to find out whether a given Havana is of good quality throughout and will burn well, the only real test is to smoke it."

HOW TO CARE FOR TIRES.

Method of Removing Rust, Which Is an Enemy to Rubber.

Rust is an enemy of rubber. It will pay the motorist to inspect occasionally the condition of the rims on the wheels of his car, especially if the outer surfaces of the envelopes near the beads look rusty. This discoloration is rust caused by rusted rims. This rust if not arrested will gradually eat through the rubber, attacking the canvas of the envelope. In time the edges of the rusted rims will become more and more uneven, tearing and eventually destroying the beads. Furthermore, rust works in between the beads and the rims, leaving space for water, which also damages the rubber.

To remove rust from a rim, the tire should be taken off and the rusty parts rubbed clean with coarse emery paper. Then smooth the surface with finer emery paper and rejoin the rim, applying one coat to the outside and two to the inside, making sure first that the surface is smooth and free from rust. Roughness may be quickly detected by running the hand along the edge of the rim. When the edge of the rim is too uneven for the use of emery paper, first use a file, after which emery paper may be used for finishing.

How to Make Summer Desserts.

Any simple summer dessert, such as cornstarch or Bavarian cream, fruit sponges or gelatin pudding, can be served in most attractive shape if it is well molded. Dip the mold in cold water, drain it, but do not dry. Fit a ring of candied cherries or of strawberries or any desired fruit round the base of the mold.

Then pour over carefully a small quantity of the dessert mixture. A second, third and fourth row of the fruit may be added, each being carefully covered or filled over with a layer of the mixture.

After the mold has "set" and been chilled it can be garnished with cream. A great variety of dessert mixtures can be treated in this way.

How to Freeze Ice Cream.

Ice cream may be frozen in five minutes, and at only an expense of 2 or 3 cents, if the mixture to be frozen be placed in a tin bucket or other vessel and this set in a pail containing weak solution of sulphuric acid and water. Into this stir a handful of common salt, and the cold is so intense that a bottle of wine immersed in the mixture will be frozen in a few minutes. This is an easy way of freezing small quantities of sherbet for luncheon in hot weather.

How to Keep Cabbage Fresh.

Frequently one-half a cabbage is required at a time. To keep the remainder fresh wrap it in some of the loose leaves and afterward in damp paper. Put it in a cool place, and it will keep fresh and crisp for a day or two. Half a cut cucumber may be kept fresh by standing it in a tumbler of water.

How to Keep Furnace From Rusting. Flaked lime, placed loosely on a board inside a furnace during the summer, will take up moisture and thus prevent the metal from rusting.

Making History Every Day

JUDGING from the patronage received the people realize that we do give better values for less money than can be obtained elsewhere. We do not pay high rent for our store. We own it and we can, and do, sell at prices which are not duplicated anywhere else in town. Why? Because we own and control two large furniture stores, Saco and Biddeford. We buy in large quantities and buy for cash. If you love the girl, marry her; that's your business. Then come to us and let us furnish your home, that's our business
