

New Sharon Aug. 14th 1862.

To the Governor:

Capt. H. B. Jennings of Farmington having resigned his commission as commanding officer of a Company in the 1st Maine Cavalry on account of ill health is happy to say, through a merciful Providence he has regained his usual health again and is desirous of serving his country as an Officer (as Major for instance) in one of the new Regiments about to be raised in this State.

Of course we at home about our usual business cannot be expected to know the qualifications of Applicants to the Governor for Military Appointments.

Capt. Jennings is regarded as a true patriot, and would, without doubt, render good service in an official capacity as an Officer in Command in one of the new Regiments from Maine. I hope he will meet with that encouragement to which he appears to be justly entitled.
