

SOME BEAUTIES ARE NETTED

The Pool Under the Bridge at Oquossoc Swept.

Saturday, Nov. 7, Hon. H. B. Austin of the Fish and Game Commission went to Rangeley to be present at the sweeping of the pool at Oquossoc where the hatchery is located.

This is always an interesting process. It is done by using a net long enough to reach across the stream, leading the bottom of the net, and two men, who put on rubber boots, holding each end and following down until they come to shallow water. They have a large boiler or tank ready to deposit the fish which they have scooped into the net on their way. They are then taken to the hatchery where they are deposited in tanks, first separating the male from the female, and keeping them until they are "ripe" and ready to strip.

This year they got some beauties, weighing up to ten pounds or more. State Superintendent of hatcheries, Arthur S. Briggs of Winthrop was present and helped Superintendent Curtis of the Oquossoc hatchery in the work.

Chairman Austin informs us that 100,000 fish were deposited in Belgrade Lakes the past week by Mr. Briggs and Superintendent McDonald of the Belgrade Lakes hatchery.

Superintendent Curtis informs us that they netted 117 salmon Nov. 8th, and have taken 30 since, and six trout. It is hard to estimate the number of spawn that will be taken but he estimated it right around 300,000. He got 150,000 eggs from the fish on Kennebago, Cupsuptic, and Rangeley waters this fall.

Last week he made a nice shipment of 9,000 fingerlings to Kingfield when 2,500 will be liberated in West Carry Pond; 2,000 in Shiloh Pond and 3,000 in Tufts.

The six trout which were taken Sunday will be sent to the Panama Exposition.

OUTLOOK BETTER FOR SOCIETY

Much of the Expense This Year for Permanent Improvements.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

Phillips, Maine, Nov. 16, 1914.

The fair is over and the accounts are settled and the books balanced, so now we know how the society stands financially. There were several old bills that had to be paid and a lot of work had to be done on the track this fall. The repairs made on the grand stand and other buildings were more than the donation fund paid. However, lots of the work done this year is in the nature of permanent improvements and will last for a long time. A lot of work was accomplished at the "bees" and the work was well done. Great credit should be given to the men who came to the park and worked on those days. If a "bee" could be held every year in a short time the Fair grounds would be in very good condition, without incurring any expense to the society and instead of paying a few men to keep it in repair, all would help do it and a lot of money saved.

Following are the names of those giving money and the material and the amounts: A. R. Sedgely, $5; F. N. Beal, $5; S. G. Haley, $2; J. Blaine Morrison, $1; O. H. Hersey, $2; H. B. Austin, $2; C. H. McKenzie, $2; George A. Beal, $2; D. F. Field, $2; A. A. Jacobs, $1; S. S. Whitney, $1; A. W. McLeary, $1; N. T. Toothaker, $1; J. W. Russell, $1; George Thompson, $1; H. H. Field, $2; F. H. Tozier, $1; G. B. Sedgely, $2; E. H. Whitney, $1; Heccock & Atwood, $3; G. V. Wilbur, $2; H. J. Wing, $1; W. J. Ross, $1; George W. Grover, $2; Mrs. Ed Kenniston, 25c; Wm. True, $2; C. W. Beedy, $2; S. W. Blodgett, $2; Mrs. Emma Raymond, $2; James Towle, $1; B. T. Parker, $1; Silas Wing, $1; A. S. Beedy, $1; F. M. Ross, $1; Anon $2, making a total of $58.75. Of this sum $30 was used to purchase woven wire fencing, $10 for paint and oil, and the balance used for roofing for the grand stand. Those furnishing material were: Dill Bros., 1,000 lbs. straw; A. W. Storer, cedar posts; A. J. and Morrell Wing, cedar posts; C. O. Dill & Son, boards.

One bond has been paid, leaving 38 to be paid, amounting to $1900.00.

More money had to be hired this year than last year, caused partly by the improvements and partly by the payment of some old bills, some of which have been running for several years, so that now the bonds and the amount that was hired this fall is all the society owes. There are no old bills to be paid later. But for all that the outlook is the best for the society it has been for a number of years. The fairs have been larger and better the last three years. There is no reason why, if everyone does his or her best, the fairs should not be better and larger. Then let each one of us try in every way possible to make the fair of 1915 the biggest and best in every way.

JOE KNOWLES IS MARRIED

Ceremony On Theatre Stage and Attendants Fellow Performers.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 16.—Joseph Knowles and Miss Marion L. Humphrey of Dedham, Mass., were married Saturday night on the stage of Pantages' Theatre after performances, by Rev. Mr. Lallemand, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Victor Pinst and Edna Dayton, fellow performers with Knowles, were the attendants. After the ceremony a banquet was served, followed by dancing.

Last July, Knowles entered an Oregon forest naked, without tools, and for 30 days lived on his own resources. He returned with a complete outfit of clothes, tools and weapons fashioned by himself in the wilderness. On one of the coast vaudeville circuits Knowles is relating the story of his experiences.

Knowles sprang into the limelight last year when it was announced that he was going, naked and without food or weapon, into the Maine woods to lead the life of the primitive man. He entered the woods near Spencer Lake Aug. 4, and two months later reappeared, clad in the skins of animals and in excellent health. He went on the vaudeville circuit to tell about his experiences. The story met with some scepticism.

Knowles was born Aug. 13, 1869, at Wilton, Me., where his parents still live. Part of his boyhood was passed in Lewiston, and later he spent some adventurous years as a sailor. He served in the United States navy and for a time as a Maine guide. Before his Maine adventure he was an artist, with a studio in Boston.

Miss Humphrey is the only child of George W. Humphrey, of 82 Court street, Dedham, who conducts a book store at 21 Bromfield street, Boston. She is an artist and has for some years been acquainted with Knowles, studying in his studio and taking care of his effects when he went to Maine. Her parents said Saturday night that she left home some days ago, slipping away quietly without announcing her destination; they did not know she had married Knowles.

BIG BUNCH OF GAME GOES DOWN

Strong Railroad Station Centre of Attraction Last Monday.

At the Strong station last Monday there was a big bunch of game. On the platform were displayed 12 deer, two big bears and a bob cat. The game came down over the Carrabasset and Kingfield branch of the Sandy River & Rangeley Lakes railroad.

Several light flurries of snow have improved the hunting a little, although the rain and freeze following so soon was unfortunate for the best success of the hunters, whose names we have been unable to learn as the game was shipped from the various stations, Salem, Kingfield, Carrabasset and Bigelow, on the line of the Sandy River & Rangeley Lakes railroad.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR YEAR 1915

At a meeting of the North Franklin Agricultural society November 14, which was postponed from November 7, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: E. Dill, president; G. L. Lakin, vice president; J. I. Harnden, secretary; A. E. Bunnell, treasurer; Charles E. Dill, W. W. Mitchell, Frank Sampson, Otto Badger, A. S. Beedy, trustees.

The amount reported by the treasurer as received, $1,374.84 and paid out, $1,333.54.

A meeting of the trustees was held at the home of E. Dill in the afternoon when important business was transacted.

MRS. LOUISA HIGGINS

Dies Alone at Higgins Street Home—Remains Found Saturday evening.

Friends of Mrs. Louisa Higgins, one of Augusta's older ladies, were shocked Saturday evening to learn that her lifeless remains had been found in her home at 5 Higgins street. When she died is not known as she lived alone, but from circumstances connected with the finding of the body it is believed that the end came Tuesday night. A reason for this belief is that while her Tuesday newspaper was found in the house those of the rest of the week were on the piazza, where they had evidently been left by the carrier.

So far as has been learned Mrs. Higgins had not been seen since last Tuesday, and at about 7 o'clock Saturday evening Night Officer McCausland was notified. That officer in company with Special Officer Benner went to the house, the latter officer going in, and on entering the kitchen found Mrs. Higgins' body lying face downward on the floor in front of the stove, which would give the impression that she was stricken when about to start a fire in the stove.

Coroner Henry W. Plummer was summoned and after examining the remains and finding nothing that would indicate that death had been due to other than natural causes deemed no inquest necessary. Because of certain circumstances, however, Coroner Plummer still has the case under consideration.

Mrs. Higgins was 84 years of age and the survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Horace C. Berry of Boston and Mrs. W. J. Daggett of Phillips, and two grandsons, Harold L. Daggett of Lynn, Mass., and Ray H. Daggett of Portland. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

WOULD GLADLY PAY $2.00 FEE

Pheasants Fine Bird for a Roast or Broil.

Wakefield, Nov. 9, 1914.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

In days of old,
When nights were cold,
And I was but a kid,
I spied a tail
Just off the trail:
I grabbed that tail,
And with a flail,
I smashed his lid,
I smashed his trunk,
Silence be,—it was a skunk.

No man or boy of "scents" would be so foolish now-a-days; he'd get to windward and shoot.

We are having every day, cool weather, almost three months with but one down pour of rain. Our open season of one month on pheasants closes on the 12th inst., and the week only on deer a little later.

About 7,000 have been reported shot to date, and our state game commissioners estimate that 10,000 will cover the total for the season. Not all of your readers, I suspect, know what a beautiful bird the cock pheasant is, or how hard it is to bring him to bag. He is the progenitor of the game cock, and had many of the game qualities of a hardy fighter.

For the first few days of the open season 3,000 were reported shot. They were then comparatively tame; but as soon as the guns blazed away they resumed all their native wildness and since then have been rather hard to get. My eldest son Richard has brought three to the dinner table, and a finer game bird for a roast or a broil it is hard to name.

Our commissioners estimate the number of pheasants at large throughout the state, as from 50,000 to 100,000, so 10,000 killed don't hurt much.

They are prolific breeders, giving two broods of ten to fifteen twice a year I'm told and are easily propagated on the state game farms of which there are several. We have a license fee of one dollar and more than 6,000 hunter's certificates have been issued by the various city and town clerks this year. This great sum goes to the state, the clerks retaining fifteen cents on each license for their compensation. A good cock pheasant makes one of the handsomest of mounts and is very valuable as well. I hope to be in Maine again, next season and shall try to start in a little earlier than I have for the last two seasons, that is, if Billy (Soule) will promise to help me to some of the superb trolling and fly fishing at his camps on Lake Millinagassett.

I take this opportunity, with your kind permission to greet all my many friends in Maine, especially in Oxbow, Aroostook county. It has been my very great and pleasant privilege to speak often of the scenery and people of Aroostook and to tell of the plentitude of both fish and game to be found there.

I can give no sufficient reason to my many sporting acquaintances for the excessive fee for licenses, and I earnestly hope that the by-laws of the Maine legislature will see a new light and so put the fee back to the former sum. As for one fisherman only, (I don't shoot,) I would willingly pay a two dollar fee to fish. I believe all out-of-state anglers would do so too.

I am always glad to get the Maine Woods weekly and I wish you and all your readers a very pleasant winter and an early and successful 1915 season.

Yours cordially,

J. C. Hartshorne.

FROLICS OF THE FISHES

Investigation Is Begun by Health Authorities and Game Wardens

WESTFIELD, Nov. 10.—To determine the cause of unusual action reported relative to fish in the Westfield River the Board of Health and fish and game wardens are conducting an investigation. People living near the river were attracted to the fish below the dam jumping out of the water and in some instances swimming along on the surface before disappearing again.

For some reason the fish appeared to be dazed. A number of persons walked along the banks and picked them up as they lay along the banks. News of the rich harvest of fish spread throughout the section. Persons armed with clubs struck the fish as they came to the surface. While stunned the fish were taken.

Some of the fish caught were afterward placed in fresh water. They recovered from the attacks noticeable in the river. It was at first thought that poisonous material from the gas-house might be responsible. Deputies P. P. Monahan of this town and James P. Hatch of Springfield investigated this report, but were unable to find anything at the plant that would cause the actions of the fish.

Manager T. T. Logie believes that something entered the river some distance below the gas-house and poisoned the stream. As there is no water flowing over the dam and the fish above that point were not showing any unusual activities it became evident that the water above the dam, where the gas plant pipes enters the river, was not the cause of the trouble.

There may have been some poisonous substance from the sewers entering the river. Another theory advanced is that someone placed unslaked lime in the river and poisoned the fish. The health authorities were notified to prevent the catching of the fish, as it was feared that there might be a number of families poisoned through eating them. Two men in a boat in the river were catching a record string. The boat, discovered by the wardens, was filled with suckers, dace and some bass to the number of several hundred.

CLOSER WATCH BEING KEPT IN NORTHERN MAINE.

Nine deer, one bear, one moose and several bunches of partridges passed through the Union Station, Portland, last week, Wednesday. This is a better shipment of game than Tuesday, but much better results are looked for than these during the remainder of the season or the total shipment of game this year will not approach the totals of the past few years.

Hundreds of deer will doubtless be brought out of the Maine woods this year by automobile parties from Boston, New York and Philadelphia. It is believed by many, especially guide and others who reside during the hunting season in the woods that many of these "sportsmen" come into this state by automobile as if on a tour and hunt without a license and carry out their game, in violation of the game laws of Maine.

A closer watch is being kept on jackers in the Northern Maine woods. Only recently a warden was seen to drive into the woods in a frontier town and on the following day return to the village again with a young man handcuffed sitting beside him. The young fellow had been captured in the woods while jacking. It seems that the warden had suspected that the party of four had gone into the forest with the intention of using the jack light and taking his time upon their trail the second night after they entered the woods. The warden suffered the cold and snowstorm that continued all one day last week. That evening he saw the hunters, jacking and with leveled rifle got between the three companions and the man with the light and soon had him in custody.—Portland Exchange.

INSPECTING SITES FOR FISHWAYS

Commissioner Neal Reports Moose Fairly Plentiful

Game Commissioner W. I. Neal and Chief Warden Frank M. Perkins returned to Bangor last week, after inspecting sites for fishways on the St. Croix river. At Grand Falls, on the St. Croix, they approved a fishway to be built by the St. Croix Paper Co., which has recently completed a large dam there with a head of 53 feet. The new fishway will be 300 feet long, one of the largest in the state. At Vanceboro, on the St. Croix, they inspected a fishway site, but did not approve a location, as the dam there is now old, and will probably soon be replaced with a concrete structure.

Commissioner Neal reports that moose are fairly plentiful down in Washington county, but that they are rather small. He is confident that the legislature will pass a bill placing close time on moose for a period of two, four or six years, and that a resident hunting law, and non resident angling law will be passed. Mr. Neal states that the game portion of the fish and game department is now self supporting, and the fish portion should also be self supporting. The money that taxpayers must pay to the fish and game commission now is used for the fish hatcheries.

With a non resident's angler's tax, Mr. Neal states that more hatcheries could be built and the fish of Maine could be more widely propagated.

"There are only 11 state hatcheries in Maine with which to stock 2,200 lakes and ponds in this big state of Maine. If the anglers from other states are taxed, their money will be used to propagate the fish that the supply may not diminish."

R. A. Hall of Enfield and S. L. Brown of Bangor left for a trip to Grindstone, whence they will go 25 miles in the woods after big game. Mr. Hall is armed with a 35 Remington automatic, equipped with a Maxim silencer, which is not often seen in the Maine woods. Mr. Hall thinks that the silencer will be of assistance in getting game, as the moose and deer will not be startled if the bullet does not hit him the first time.

Joy's market has on display one of the first bull moose brought to Bangor this season. It was shot by M. A. Goodwin at Franklin.

Nothing definite has been done with the project to build a fishway at the big dam of the Bar Harbor & Union River Power Co., near Ellsworth. Chief Game Warden Frank Perkins recently visited the dam to look it over for the purpose of making a report on the feasibility and desirability of the scheme.

The game wardens are unusually vigilant this season in keeping watch for a few persons who seem to be willing to bend the law prohibiting the use of any kind of a motor boat in chasing, hunting or gunning any sea birds, duck or water fowl in any of the inland waters of the state. The penalty is not less than $25 nor more than $100 and costs for each offense.

BANGOR'S FAMOUS WOMAN NIMROD

Will Make Second Planting of Alaskan Humpback Salmon In Maine Waters.

The United States Bureau of Fisheries is about to make its second planting of Alaskan Humpback or Pink Salmon, in Maine waters. Dr. W. C. Kendall, formerly of Maine, and now of the department of Commerce, will visit Maine this fall and inspect the great rivers with the view of selecting planting grounds for the Alaskan salmon. He will make a careful examination and select the streams best adapted to this specie. The eggs of the Humpback salmon are brought on from Alaska in trays packed in boxes and kept cold. From ten million to fifteen million eggs will be planted in Maine waters this year about the same number as planted last year.

Warden George W. Ross was in Bangor Tuesday, with a shipment of 5000 trout fingerlings consigned to Hon. C. M. Conant for a pond near Frankfort. Warden Ross is also to take trout to Ellsworth Falls for George A. Phillips and to J. W. Wilson.

Stowell Eustis, one of the sons of Col. William T. Eustis, who spends his summers on the Gage Farm in the south part of Paris, has a bull terrier that seems in a fair way to do more carnage, according to opportunity, than the entire armies of Europe. While this dog has not yet ventured beyond the limits of the Gage farm and the old town farm, its record to date is 28 woodcocks killed. This is only a preliminary skirmish, as the season for woodcocks is just begun, and when it comes to harvesting the woodcock crop you can set it down as a fact that Stowell's pup is "some dawg" asserts the Oxford Democrat.

Miss Lucy H. Wheeler, Bangor's famous woman Nimrod, again made a ten strike in the big woods this year, securing a moose, deer and several partridges near Hound lake, about 20 miles from Calais, and a few miles from Lambert lake.

The moose was shot last Wednesday. Miss Wheeler, according to her custom when after moose, had started out about 3 o'clock in the morning, and first sighted the moose at 6.45 o'clock. He was with a herd of seven cow moose, and in order not to break the game laws of the state by shooting a cow moose, she had to take careful aim in order to get only the big fellow. The state makes no allowances for accidental shooting in cases of this kind. The first shot took effect and she quickly followed it with a second.

Then the moose was done for, and the task of getting him back to camp was no easy one, for he weighed over 500 pounds. Miss Wheeler had previously succeeded in obtaining a deer and some fine partridges. She arrived in Bangor Monday night with her splendid game trophies.

Miss Wheeler is well known as a young woman Nimrod, having succeeded in getting one of the largest moose ever shot in this state two years ago. She is a crack shot, as her achievements with the rifle demonstrate.

A BEAR IN AUGUSTA

The North Parish bear has again been heard from although none of the hunters of that section have yet succeeded in getting in touch with him one day last week. Young Worthley, the youngest son of S. B. Worthley, and although the young man did not see the bear he is confident that he was within hailing distance of him. The latest one to report his lay was out after partridges and had with him his dog which he takes along on such occasions. The dog will chase rabbits and tree partridges and have a lot of fun in doing it, and even tackle hedgehogs but on the day in question he ran onto something that affected him very differently. Young Worthley was out on the ridge where the bear had been seen and the dog made a dash into a swamp. He had been out of sight but a few moments however when he gave a peculiar bark and came rushing back to his master, the hair on his back bristling with fright, and showed in many ways that he wanted to go home. Young Worthley had nothing but bird shot cartridges with him and feeling that there was something in the swamp which under the circumstances he had better let alone he left that locality and sought the homeward trail.

STRIPPING SEBAGO SALMON

Work of Collecting Eggs to Begin at Raymond Hatchery To-day.

Portland, Nov. 10.—The work of stripping the Sebago salmon of their eggs will be begun by the Raymond hatchery officials Wednesday afternoon. At this season the spawn-laden fish from the lake make their annual pilgrimage into the tributaries for the purpose of depositing their eggs in the shallows, and as fast as they come up Jordan river at Raymond they are retained in the salmon pool and held until they are in proper condition to be "stripped" by hand, each fish being carefully examined and thrown back if not perfectly "ripe."

Last year a thousand salmon came to the hatchery and yielded a million eggs. Early in the spring these eggs became "fry," little minute wriggling things which were little resemblance to a fish. By early summer you would readily have recognized them and would have probably pronounced them mere "minnows." To-day they are "fingerlings," varying in length from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches in length, some making a more rapid growth on the diet of chopped liver that is their daily portion during their stay at the hatchery feeding station. At the hatchery may also be seen the "yearlings," that is, the product of the 1912 stripping, and the "two-year-olds" of 1911.

The "stripping" process is very interesting and local sportsmen are going up to watch the process, at Raymond it is especially interesting as nowhere in the country are they found of such size and in such numbers as there, fish varying in length from two feet to three and one-half feet in length and in weight from five to twenty pounds.

When You Want a Thing Done Right, Do It Yourself

The man who wants his tobacco cut up for him months before he smokes it, just to save a minute's time, cannot blame the manufacturer because the tobacco gets dried up, burns fast in his pipe and scorches his tongue.

There's only one way to get fresh tobacco—cut it up yourself as you use it, from the Sickle plug. Then you get all the original flavor and moisture that have been pressed into the plug and kept there by the natural leaf wrapper—and you are rewarded by a cool, sweet, satisfying smoke.

Every day more smokers are coming back to the good old Sickle plug and satisfaction. Buy a plug of Sickle at your dealer's—and note how much more tobacco you get, when there's no package to pay for.

EXCEEDING THE SPEED LIMIT

It happened in this wise. We, Bill and I—Bill is an all-round sport and a crackerjack good fisherman who always brings home a large string of fish whenever he goes fishing—had long planned a trip to Swingley's Lake in quest of the gamy bass. The fact of the matter was, Bill had long planned this trip and invited me to go along and see some good, right-up-to-the-minute fishing. Bill had lately purchased a little perfume boat, which he said was something terrific on speed, and, of course he wanted incidentally to show me some speeding on this trip to back up his statements.

Swingley's Lake was a small body of water owned by some city sports, and lay 62½ miles up river from our homes, and I was inclined to look on the trip with many misgivings, as these city sports kept watchmen at the lake to keep non-club members from fishing. But Bill said he was a personal friend of one of the watchmen, and had made arrangements with him to allow us to face, and the inside of his throat, and on coming back to the fire—I had started it to burning again during his absence—demanding to know the whereabouts of his straw hat. Well, sir, would you believe it? The wind had caught up that hat from off the grass where Bill had thrown it, and landed it smack into the fire; we could see the charred remains of that fashionable summer straw, yet unbroken, covering the little camp fire like a pot lid!

Well, after our lunch of broiled bass, and lake-water coffee, we were off for an afternoon of fishing. We had splendid luck taking the gamy bass that afternoon—that is, Bill did, and it was well along toward the latter part of the afternoon that Bill came near ending his fishing days forever. We had run the boat up in 'a little cove where the water-lilies grew in profusion and Bill was standing in the bow of the boat when a whopper bass flounced out of the water a short distance to our right. Telling me to hold her steady he climbed up on the bow of the boat, and made a long cast in the direction of the spot where the mammoth bass had whipped the waters into a foam. Feeling a strike, he began to wind in his line, which tightened the moment he began to reel in. If Bill had listened to me, and let the fish have plenty of line, all would have been well; but no, he must go and reel him in at once, so as not to give the monster a chance to get away by tangling himself in the brush that grew at this side of the lake. Did Bill get him? No! His line broke and at the same moment one foot slipped from the gunwale of the boat and Bill went backwards among the lily pads in the lake! No sooner had he touched the water than he let out a volume of gurglings, sputterings and wild yells for help equal to a savage Indian. He went straight to the bottom; but as the water was only about two feet deep, his feet were fanning the breeze far above the placid waters, while his head was pillowed in the soft mud in the bottom of the lake. I finally managed to drag him into the boat and scrape the mud from his eyes, ears and hair. He was a scared man for a few moments; but he soon regained his equilibrium upon learning that the water was only twenty-two inches deep.

This ended our fishing and we decided to make a start for home, as the evening shadows lay long and cool across the river. So Bill turned on the gasoline and the little engine began to spit and sputter, and our craft entered the outlet to the lake where the river flowed westward to meet the setting sun.

At the outlet to the lake the river flowed through a narrow gorge and there were rapids at this point that were dangerous to run in a boat, although boating parties frequently did run them without accident.

Bill, being of an adventurous disposition, was in for running the rapids, or as he put it, "shooting the chutes;" but I told him if he was going to try any fool tricks like that, to set me ashore and I'd walk home. Bill kept arguing the case with me, while the little motorboat was all the time lessening the distance between us and the rapids. About a mile up the lake from the outlet there was a projection of land that stood out into the lake quite a little ways, and as we neared this point of land, I saw two men running toward the lake. I called Bill's attention to these men and I saw he at once became excited, as he put on more speed and turned the prow of our craft out farther into the lake. The two men jumped into a boat that was floating at the point and started rowing out toward the centre of the lake; evidently it was their intention to intercept our boat. I asked Bill who they could be, and got the short smothered word, "watchmen," for an answer. "Well, said I, "what are you trying to get past them without getting in speaking distance for? Didn't you tell me you and the watchmen were great friends?"

"Trying to keep out of jail," says Bill; "these gentlemen are no friends of mine, and they mean to have us arrested if they catch us."

Bill pulled the speed lever over to the last notch, and we ploughed through the placid waters of the lake like a bullet in war time. The two watchmen pulled at their oars and the little white rowboat skimmed over the waters, widening the distance between itself and the shore with alarming rapidity. As soon as we came in hailing distance one of the men in the boat shouted, and told us to stop. Bill waved his handkerchief at the men, while the little stink-boat tore through the quiet waters of the lake leaving a gasoline-perfumed trail in its wake. The men, seeing we were not going to stop, ceased rowing, and began firing at us with their revolvers. I looked at Bill in dismay; but he only smiled and turned the oil-feed another notch. The speed of the little boat was something terrific. She seemed to be touching the waters only occasionally and the bow seemed to be sailing through the air. The shores of the lake were seen as a dark blur, and the wind roared about our ears as though a great storm were raging. I noticed little black specks in the air near our boat, which seemed to be traveling at a faster speed than our boat; but it seemed they were all traveling in the same direction as were we. I shouted at Bill, asking him what they were, but the wind was roaring about our ears and I was unable to make him hear me. Seeing one of those little specks coming, some distance behind us, I reached out my hand and prepared to catch it as it passed. Well, it kept coming in a direct line, and as it got even with the boat I made a grab for it, and got it. No sooner had I got it than I wanted to let it go. It was hot! I dropped it in the boat and examined it carefully. Well, sir, would you believe it, it was a bullet. A .30 calibre bullet! Never was I so surprised in my life! I showed the bullet to Bill, and shouting in his ear, told him how I happened to possess it, pointing at the same time to other black specks in the air about the boat. Bill looked at me and grinned. "Some speed, eh! Look out for the rapids!"

Well, sir, I hadn't thought once of the rapids! since we had made the acquaintance of the two watchmen. Looking up I saw the river just ahead, and the glistening surface was broken by myriads of white-capped waves and eddies, while here and there the dark outlines of a huge boulder showed clear against the silver background. We were in the rapids! I shouted to Bill to turn off the power, but this Bill did not have time to do, as almost at the same instant I shouted, the boat struck a submerged boulder, and the next instant we were navigating the air at a level of the tree tops, with Bill hanging over the stern of our little craft. When we came down from our aerial flight, we landed in the centre of the stream. In some manner Bill had managed to turn off the power and the bow had dropped lower than the stern, and when we hit the water that little boat went straight to the bottom, and slid along almost half-a-quarter on the bottom of the river. Having air chambers, the little craft bobbed to the surface as soon as its momentum was overcome, and as luck would have it, it came up beside a canoe that two fishermen were using, just below the rapids, and thus Bill and I were saved from a horrible death. In the chase I lost my hat, a twenty-dollar fishing rig, and my courage. Bill lost an empty pocketbook, an invitation to his cousin's wedding, a twenty-five dollar fishing rig, his reason, and his dinner; this last accident was the result of his drinking too much water while hanging on the stern of a gasoline launch during sub marine navigation.

Well, we arrived home in due time, tired, hatless, hungry, but happy. Our fish were enjoying the swirling waters of the rapids, unless they became entangled in the forty-five dollars worth of fishing paraphernalia and were drowned. Excepting a few little unhappy incidents which are unavoidable in all excursions, our trip to the lake was one of pleasure, and Bill says we are some time going again, as there are "scadoodles" of bass there, and no danger of interference from the watchmen so long as you have a power-boat with speed.—Walter S. Chausler in Fur News Magazine.

BIRDS GO SOUTH

Immense flocks of black duck and wild geese have passed by the end of the Cape, Portland, this last week in their flights South.

OVERHEARD AT THE SCRANTON, (PA.) GUN CLUB.

For training the eye and keeping the nerves and muscles just so there is no greater pastime than that of trap and bird shooting. Any man in the gun club will declare that this is true. There are some of them who can bring to memory feats of hitting ninety-eight out of a hundred on some one occasion or the other. When gunners get together, memories come in just about the same kind of flood as they do when Civil War veterans or old fire laddies gather around for a session.

"Billy, I can remember the time when a bird was dead the minute that you raised the gun to your shoulder; all that you had to do was to point and it was all over," said an admirer to Billy Anneman, one of the stars of the other day, while Billy was trudging to the shooting grounds, after having walked thirty miles since the rising hour in the morn. And Billy smiled happily.

"Erny, I can remember the time when I trimmed you in a shoot. I got 92 and you got 87," remarked Wallace Moser to Ernest Meyers on the rear of a street car speeding to the vicinity of the ground.

"I'll shoot you now for $100! I have a baby home that is going to do better than the old man some time," came back Ernie.

And gunners talk about their form just as do baseball players, tennis and golf champions.

Also, if it is betraying no secret, some star gunners of the city are as temperamental at times as prima donnas.

"You're sending all the birds to the left, give us some right-hand shots once in a while"; "you're sending the birds too fast"; "the angle is too great"; "speed them up a little"; "don't send them all in the same direction"; "pull the trap a little faster" and about a hundred and one other expressions are to be heard during a shoot.

But above all, the most popular expression of all is "Drat the luck, I can't even hit the side of a barn to-day."

AN AUCTION TEA

An unusual and delightful way of raising money for the Woman's Literary union clubhouse fund has been devised by Mrs. A. S. Hinds, who gave a tea and auction sale Wednesday at her residence on West street, the members of her group Mrs. Frank Smith, Miss Jessie Churchill, Dr. Ada Odiorne Fogg and Miss Ethel Hinds assisting her. There was a professional auctioneer and everything was carried on in a genuine sale except that the bidders did not know the contents of the package for which they were bargaining. It was arranged, however, so that no one was allowed to bid beyond the value of the contents, and all the packages will be suitable for holiday gifts. Very lovely, too, were the appointments for the tea, and Mrs. Will C. MacFarlane, Mrs. Lyman Howard Nelson, and Dr. Ada Odiorne Fogg served, assisted by Miss Jessie Churchill, Miss Gertrude Gerrish, Miss Elizabeth Payson, Miss Ethel Jones Miss Ruth Cook, Miss Isabelle Cook, Miss Helen Lang, Miss Jennie Means and Miss Ethel Hinds.

EUROPEAN WAR IMPOSED NO EMBARGO ON AMERICAN TRAP SHOOTING.

Booklet programs covering Pinehurst's eighth annual midwinter handicap, January 19-23, sent out early in the month, have brought a generous response which would indicate that the European war has imposed no embargo on American trap shooting.

Luther Squier, Charles North and J. W. Todd will all be back in the capacity of manager, superintendent and cashier, and the added money of $2500 is more attractive than ever this season when "gold is scarce."

The class shooting novelty which gives the average man a look-in, will also continue to be a big feature, and the program has been extended by the introduction of practice sweepstakes, five twenty-target sweepstakes with additional optional entrance, both morning and afternoon.

If our mailing clerk has overlooked the reader, a post card will bring the program by return mail.

IN THE MAINE WOODS.

A Washington despatch announces that a mysterious wireless station has been found "20 miles north of Biddeford in the Maine woods." It may be that the Germans have established such a station 20 miles north of Biddeford, but people familiar with this state would hardly describe it as located in the Maine woods. If you take a map and search for that point in Maine which is 20 miles north of Biddeford you will find it close to the peaceful hamlet of North Gorham, about three miles from Sebago lake on one side and close to the Presumpscot river on the other. It has not heretofore been supposed that there were any towns in Cumberland county which were in the woods of Maine. Nobody in Maine has looked upon Cumberland county as included in the forest primeval. It remained for somebody in Washington to make that surprising discovery.—Waterville Sentinel.

With Christmas only five weeks away, preparations of the great festival are quite proper to think upon. "Shop early" is an injunction coming more and more to be observed. To buy in advance of the day is not only to lend aid to the shop-keeping interests but is to do a real service to one's self as well, freeing the mind of the panic that is inseparable from duty postponed until the last moment.

Maine is well protected from danger of the hoof and mouth disease, which has been prevalent of late in Michigan, Illinois, Massachusetts and other states. Dr. A. Joly, State Live Stock Sanitary Commissioner, points to the statutes of the state of Maine which are especially well calculated to guard against promiscuous danger from diseases like the sort mentioned. No live stock is allowed to enter Maine from other states or countries without a permit from the live stock commissioner. The value of these laws was not realized by some when they were put on the books but they are fully appreciated at a time like the present when the country is more or less generally worried over the prevalence in some quarters of the dread pestilence among cattle. Dr. Joly has been instrumental in the securing of rigid protective measures against danger from cattle disease.

IN AND ABOUT PHILLIPS

Messrs. Hidden Parker and Elwin Webber put in the latter part of last week hunting at the Pearson farm, but without very good results. It is due to the unfavorable weather and not the lack of skill that these hunters did not bring home game for they are both good marksmen and usually secure a trophy each year.

Miss Ethel Murray of Farmington, the night operator for the Farmers' Telephone Co-operative Co., was the guest of Miss Albertine Butterfield a few days last week.

Frank S. Chandler is a successful potato grower and raised a good crop of the tubers this year. Mr. Chandler not only is a planter of standard varieties, but three years ago planted some seed from the potato balls of a certain kind and from the new variety that developed from them he raised this year a fine lot of potatoes. The variety was abundant, and the individual potatoes as a rule were large, nice looking specimens. The potatoes, which are slightly pinkish in color, not only look fine but are in fact a nice table variety and may become a popular kind to plant in the near future. Mr. Chandler has not yet given a name to them but is considering the matter. Farmers can obtain a limited quantity of him for seed this year.

P. T. Barnum proved himself a great success in the business world and this is one of his sayings: If I were starting out in trade I should want sufficient capital to enable me to advertise freely. As a rule, those people who advertise freely get the trade. If you will name the three largest advertisers in any town I will name the three firms that sell the most goods.

Ernest C. Butler, esq., Arthur R. Jones, James Barrett and John H. Lancaster attended the Masonic installation of officers in Canaan Tuesday evening. Mr. Butler acted as installing officer.—Independent Reporter.

Miss Barbara Nelson of Wheaton is among the college girls who are coming home to pass Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman H. Nelson of Vaughan street, Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Judkins of Skowhegan left Saturday of last week for Clinton, where they have purchased a home. They are to conduct a dry goods store there and Mr. Judkins will also engage in poultry raising. Many friends regret the departure of the couple, as they have been closely identified not only with the business life of the community but with many church and social activities as well. Mrs. Judkins is the daughter of Mr. John Phillips and a niece of the Misses Vesta and Lephia Phillips of Avon.

Will our correspondents kindly send their notes so that we can receive them on Monday of next week, as we shall go to press Wednesday instead of Thursday, on account of Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Field and Master Richard and Mr. and Mrs. W. Henry True were at the former's hunting camp in Madrid over Sunday.

Many remarked on the excellent sermon delivered by Rev. M. S. Hutchins of the Federated church last Sunday morning. The special musical numbers were a duet by Hon. N. P. Noble and Miss Wilhelmina Skolfield and a solo by Miss Skolfield and in the evening solos by Miss Skolfield and Miss Beulah Irwin.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Field will go to Boston this week to attend the Harvard-Yale foot ball game which will be played at New Haven this year.

Mrs. H. H. Field and Mrs. H. B. Austin are in Portland a day or two this week.

Claris Bunnell, son of A. E. Bunnell commenced work in the Maine Woods office Monday morning.

A lively runaway occurred last week, Thursday, when Mr. G. F. Beal of the Mile Square was quite badly hurt. The affair happened on Main street. The tugs broke, letting the wagon onto the horse, which became frightened and freed himself from the team, throwing Mr. Beal out. Mr. Beal has been confined to his home since that time with a bad side, but is able to get around the house with a cane. He sustained other bruises but his side appears to be the most troublesome. His many friends will be glad to learn that he is recovering from the accident, although rather slowly.

Enoch Greenleaf of Portland, formerly of Farmington is to be one of the new legislators. He has been always prominent in Democratic politics, was a member of the state committee from Franklin county for seven years and stands high in the councils of the party.

Misses Kathleen Noble and Wilhelmina Skolfield will be the hostesses at the next semi-monthly social given at the Parish House, Monday evening, November 23. Games and entertainment pertaining to Thanksgiving will be the order of the evening.

There will be a special offering next Sunday morning at Union church for Free Baptist benevolences. The amount will be divided between State Work and Foreign Mission.

Charles P. Steward, sub-master at the High school, Waterville, has gone to his home in Phillips, until the High school building is ready for occupancy, and the classes are resumed two weeks from Monday.—Kennebec Journal.

The stated meeting of the Sherburne Chapter, O. E. S., occurs next Wednesday evening, Nov. 25.

The 1913 club was entertained last week by Mrs. A. D. Graffam. Mrs. C. F. Chandler will be the hostess this Friday afternoon.

Miss June Simmons who is teaching in Mexico will spend Thanksgiving in the family of E. V. Holt.

Lew M. Noble and J. Scott Brackett Bowdoin '16 will come Wednesday of next week for the Thanksgiving recess, and will remain over Sunday.

Rev. Arthur L. Leech of Gorham will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church next Sunday morning.

The Junior League will be entertained at the home of Miss Crowell on Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 5. All the members of the League are cordially invited to be present.

Vinton Hough, who is attending business college in Waterville plans to spend Thanksgiving at his home in Phillips.

The annual sale of the Ladies' Social Union will be held at the Parish House Wednesday afternoon and evening, December 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar M. Berry of Lewiston entertained a party of friends at their home, 17 Orange St., one evening recently. Dancing and games were enjoyed and refreshments served.

We are sorry to report the quite serious illness of Asher D. Horn of Farmington, who has been ill for the past two or three weeks. He is attended by Dr. Makepeace and Mrs. E. B. Bacheller is the nurse.

N. K. Whittenmore of West Farmington sold 50 barrels of apples, packed, to E. Howard Lowell, last week.

Miss Olive Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Ross, who has been at Dr. A. M. Ross' private hospital in Rangeley for the past few days, was operated on for appendicitis Wednesday of this week and we are pleased to learn that she is getting along finely.

Mrs. F. E. Howard of Strong was the guest of her son, Charles Howard and family one day last week.

Mrs. Fred Mottram can have the satisfaction of knowing that she saved the buildings of Walter Getchell from burning last week. She went to Madrid to stay with Mrs. Getchell while her husband was away and about 5 o'clock in the morning discovered fire in the barn. Undoubtedly a tramp had lodged in the barn over night for they found a fire burning in the barn floor where someone had built it. It took several pails of water to put the fire out. What led to the discovery of the fire was the dogs acting strangely, running down the road and Mrs. Mottram went out to see what troubled them when she saw the smoke issuing from the barn.

Another enjoyable dinner was partaken of at the Pratt farm this week, the same young people who attended the former one, making up the party.

Miss Mattie Bunnell visited her grandmother, Mrs. Addie Carville in Farmington for the day, Wednesday.

Miss Bessie Crowell was quite ill last week but was able to fill the pulpit at the Methodist church on Sunday.

Mrs. W. Henry True and sister, Miss Edith Hunter went to Brookline Wednesday to attend to the shipping of the household goods of Mrs. True to Phillips.

Wednesday evening of last week some of the business men of Phillips were entertained by Rev. M. S. Hutchins at the Parish House. Matters pertaining to the good of the Federated church were discussed and a very social and enjoyable evening was passed. The host served sandwiches cake and coffee.

The death of Mr. Edward Kenniston, whose serious illness was reported last week, occurred in Lewiston Tuesday, November 17. The remains will be brought to Phillips this noon, (Thursday) and the services held at the home at 2 o'clock, Miss Bessie Crowell officiating.

SARAH E. ELLSWORTH

Mrs. Sarah E., wife of Mr. Fred A. Ellsworth, died at her home on the Mile Square Sunday evening, November 15 of apoplexy.

Mrs. Ellsworth has been in delicate health for the past few years, suffering several shocks which effected her speech.

She was the daughter of Albert W. Stevens and Rosana Fish of Hanson, Mass., and was the adopted daughter of Mr. John Perkins, with whom she lived for many years and who passed away some years ago.

Mrs. Ellsworth was a woman of kindly disposition and the best of a neighbor or friend. Sympathy is extended to Mr. Ellsworth, as he is alone in his home, no children having blessed their union.

The funeral services were held at the home on Wednesday at 1 o'clock, Rev. M. S. Hutchins officiating and Mr. C. F. Chandler in charge. The pall bearers were Messrs. John Dunham, J. E. Noble, Selden Keene, Chester Allen and the interment was in Riverside cemetery.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM KINGFIELD.

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Kingfield, Nov. 18.—Hon. H. S. Wing and wife started for Boston Monday. They will visit other points in Massachusetts and Connecticut before their return.

G. R. Crocker and son Fred returned Tuesday from a hunting trip of a week at Saddle Lake Camps. They got a good deer.

Mrs. Mary Dunham of Strong is visiting Mrs. Mary Small.

C. B. Hutchins is quite sick with a heart trouble.

Ralph Eaton goes to Lisbon Falls Saturday for a visit until after Thanksgiving with his grandmother.

Elmer Davis returned Monday from the Maine Central hospital at Lewiston where he underwent a surgical operation ten days ago for appendicitis.

A surprise party was given Principal Arthur W. Smith in honor of his birthday by students of the High school on Monday evening. About thirty guests were present and passed a pleasant evening playing games and singing. Refreshments of assorted candies and fruits were served. In behalf of the school Philip Porter presented Mr. Smith with a framed photograph of Kingfield village.

The second meeting of the Happy-Go-Lucky whist club was held Tuesday evening at Eldridge's hall with eleven tables at progressive whist. The first prize was won by John F. Thomas and was a shaving mirror; the consolation, a bottle of catsup (catch-up) was won by Mrs. Percy Wilber. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

To-morrow, November 21st is to be Tag Day in Kingfield and all who stop to consider the bountiful crops which have blessed America this year will gladly give of their abundance to the starving Belgians. They are homeless and without food, white is descending upon them and Christian America is their star of hope. In the face of this appalling destitution the National Red Cross Society calls upon every man, woman and child to send bread to 7 million people who are suffering for no other crime than loyalty to their international treaties. Complete plans have been made for receiving and distributing supplies throughout all Belgium. Authorized agents will canvass Kingfield on the day appointed and the sum total of the contributions will be forwarded to the Maine Treasurer of the Red Cross Society, Colonel C. H. Osgood of Lewiston.

THE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Sweet Married and Lived In Same House 50 Years.

On Tuesday, Nov. 17, was celebrated the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Sweet of Avon.

They were married and have since resulted in the same house. They have made many improvements to the farm and buildings during the half century and now have one of the pleasantest homes in the town. On this occasion their four children and twelve grandchildren were all present and spent the day, they are Arthur, with five boys from Lewiston, Mrs. John E. Bump with two girls and one boy from Portland, Mrs. C. E. White, with four boys from Phillips and Dana, who is unmarried and resides with his father and mother.

During the day many relatives and friends called to pay their respects to the bride and groom of 50 years ago. In the evening the neighbors to the number of sixteen assembled at the home and a very pleasant evening was passed.

The entertainment consisted of graphophone music, recitation, "Whe Grandpa Was a Boy" by Geo. Roy Norton, reading of a poem by Whittier, followed by an original poem written by one of the family, by Flora E. Norton. Refreshments of cake, coffee and fudge were served. Quite a number of presents were presented by the children and grandchildren; also a sofa pillow from Mrs. Arthur Sweet's mother, Mrs. Young; a gold piece from their niece, Mrs. J. W. Brackett; and one half dozen dining chairs from the neighbors. The poem follows:

THE GOLDEN WEDDING

With fifty years between you and your well-kept wedding vow,
The Golden Age, old friends of mine,
Is not a fable now.

And, sweet as has life's vintage been through all your pleasant past,
Still, as at Cana's marriage feast, the best wine is the last!

And lo! from all the country side
come neighbors, kith and kin;
From city, hamlet, farmhouse old, the wedding guests come in.

And happy with them, all unseen, old comrades, gone before,
Pass, silently as shadows pass, with-
in your open door.

How gladly would I tread again the
old remembered places,
Sit down beside your hearth once more and look in the dear old faces!

And thank you for the lessons your fifty years are teaching;
For honest lives that louder speak
than half our noisy preaching.
May many more of quiet years be added to your sum,
And, late at last, in tenderest love,
the beckoning angels come.

Dear hearts are here, dear hearts are there, alike below, above;
Our friends are now in either world,
and love is sure of love.

Whittier.

Fifty years ago to night,
When the moon was shining
bright;
Sleighbells jingled merrily,
Hearts sang cheerily,
A Sweet young man a bride had taken;
A Hardened girl for him had all forsaken,
He brot her to the farm he had bought,
The prettiest one round so everyone thot.

In the parlor the knot was tied,
As they stood there side by side;
Little thinking of the coming years,
With their hardships, cares and fears.

In a few years were born three boys,
To share with them their sorrow
and joys;

Then two girls came their hearts to brighten,

And later on their work to lighten.
The years rolled quickly along,

With many a hardship, many a song.

The elder, the artist, was called above;

We think of him with hearts of love.

Arthur, the machinist with family of boys,
Lives in the city with its hum and noise.

Dana, the student, the thoughtful, the wise,

Lives on the farm and every improvement tries.

The girls got married and went from
the door,
Where the bride had come throug
years before.

But they have not gone so far away,

But that they come home for a week or a day,

With their children three and four,
That play around the old farm door.

When the grandchildren (ten boys
and two girls) all arrive,
The old house seems very much alive.

And the Grandpa and Dame think
each a dear,

And are glad they all can be here,
Say by themselves in darkness when alone,
I am glad one of our children has none.

AVON

Nov. 16.

About three inches of snow has fallen the past week.

George Morton, Stanley Blaisdell
and Elwin Webber were at Mt. Blue recently deer hunting. Quite a number of deer have been seen in this vicinity.

C. F. Crocker and Benjamin Kennedy were in Farmington Thursday, Nov. 5. Mr. Crocker seems to be losing his eyesight and he went to consult Dr. McL. Presson in regard to them.

Robie Toothaker of Rangeley is working for his brother, M. T.
Toothaker.

Dr. E. E. Russell of Farmington was in town recently and tested J.
F. Sweetser's large herd of Guernseys. He found them all "O. K."
to the joy of their proud owner. He very kindly took the family of Mr.
Sweetser on a delightful auto ride.

A Yale lock has been placed on the schoolroom door in the Cushman district. Some evil-minded person entered the room and removed a part of two windows recently.

There was a box social given in the Mt. Blue schoolroom by the teacher, Miss Ellen Prince of Farmington, Saturday, Nov. 7, and was much enjoyed by all. There were about 40 present. Quite a number came up from the Cushman district and several from the village. The sum of $10.95 was realized from the sale of boxes, which were sold by Maurice Toothaker, who is quite an adept in this line of work, as he can "guarantee" nearly every box
to belong to a school marm."

Miss Lucy Prince of Farmington visited her sister, who is teaching in town and attended the box supper.

Plummer Averill of Temple was here Sunday to drive home some young stock that was pastured near
Mt. Blue.

C. F. Crocker has gone to his old home at Pittston, Maine, to visit his father, who is very ill. Mr. Crocker, senior, is past 80 years of age and in company with his daughter, Mrs.
Dora Turner of Augusta, visited here last summer a few days and seemed very active for one of his age. One pleasant day, he, with "Uncle" Nathan Stilphen, another octogenarian, climbed Mt. Blue and enjoyed the trip very much.

hope for his speedy recovery.

WEAR TAG IN PENNSYLVANIA

Would Assist Game Wardens If Residents Paid a Merely Nominal License.

Philadelphia, November 10, 1914.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

Referring to statement of Chairman Harry B. Austin of the Maine Fish and Game Commission in your issue of November 5th, would it not assist the game wardens to enforce the law if residents paid a merely nominal license fee, and every licensed hunter, resident or non-resident, be compelled to wear in a conspicuous place a tag, showing that he was licensed. This is the law in Pennsylvania. This tag should have the number of the hunter's license, thereby making identification easy.
This would be a help at least in putting an end to shooting out of season, shooting protected game, and the reckless use of firearms by those who should not be allowed to handle
a gun and whom it is now difficult for game wardens to apprehend.

Very truly yours,

S. W. Evans.

NEW RECORD FROM THE WEST

Remarkable Pistol Shooting by Colorado Sportsman

Breaking world's records is no easy proposition, even in practice, when one is not laboring under a mental strain, and when the break of luck is with one. But when a man goes out after a record deliberately, announcing his intention beforehand, and when he succeeds in accomplishing his purpose, that is quite another matter.

For that reason the recent pistol shooting efforts of F. J. Dreher of Denver, are all the more remarkable. In a shoot against the records Mr. Dreher, using Remington-UMC ammunition, is credited with scores of 291 at 50 yards, 196 at 50 yards and 100 at 50 yards, the last being the best possible score that can be made. Each score made by Mr. Dreher is a new world's record and all have been allowed as official by the United States Revolver Association.

F. J. DREHER
Colorado's Champion Pistol Shot.

When Alfred P. Lane, the youthful American who won the world's championship at the Olympic games, held in Stockholm recently, was shown the record targets made by Mr. Dreher, he said, "Yes, that is certainly 'some score.' Any man who can go it with malice aforethought and intentionally and officially break records already hung up deserves unstinted praise. Records are broken once in a while by accident, but there is a vast difference between accidental and deliberate effort. In this case there does not appear to have been any accident. Mr. Dreher knew what the record was and stated that he was going to try to break it. His targets prove that there is no doubt about his achievement. Mr. Dreher is to be congratulated—he has set marks that sportsmen will strive a long while to equal."

The following data agrees with the United States Revolver Association records:

Shooting from 50 yards and firing 30 shots Mr. Dreher's score was 291. The best previous record made from this distance and with the same number of shots was 289, by Tom Anderton, April 4th, 1903.

Shooting from 50 yards and firing 20 shots he put up a new record of 196. The previous record, also made by Mr. Anderton, was 193.

Shooting from 50 yards and firing 10 shots, Mr. Dreher accomplished what every other revolver expert has tried to do, i. e., make a perfect score. His record, 100 can never be beaten and will hardly ever be tied. The previous record was 99, made in 1903 by Mr. Anderton.

The New World's Record Target.
(Reduced in size. Actual dimension of bull's eye 3.3 inches in diameter.)

Composite Picture of the Three Targets Made By Mr. Dreher, the Scores Being 100, 196 and 291, Respectively.

Mr. Dreher's most remarkable shooting is the "possible" score at 50 yards. So far as existing records show this feat was never before accomplished, certainly not in any event heard of by the United States Revolver Association, and it is doubtful if a perfect score has ever been made, even in practice.

A "possible" at 50 yards is a most extraordinary achievement. To make this score it is necessary to stand 15 feet away from the target, the bull's eye measuring three and three-tenths inches in diameter. Every shot of the ten must hit that bull's eye or cut the line which marks its boundary. A black ball of such a size, when put up 150 feet away, appears to be nothing more than a speck. A man has to have a pretty good eye to see the bull's eye at all, to say nothing of hitting it with a pistol bullet.

There must be a perfect co-ordination of at least five definite factors to achieve such phenomenal results in shooting—a clear and steady eye, absolute control of the muscles, an adamant set of nerves, an excellent pistol and ammunition that will go straight and true to the mark.

Mr. Dreher has been an athlete practically all his life. He is an enthusiastic bicyclist and is credited with being one of the cleverest boxers in the state of Colorado.

Since Mr. Dreher's records were made there has been a renewal of interest in revolver shooting. Some new names are bound to be added to the hall of fame of pistol cracks before very long, but whether or no, it is a pleasure to note this added interest in a clean, wholesome sport.

ITEMS FROM THE STATE HOUSE

Friendship Man Pays $50 For Killing Cow Moose

The Fish and Game Commission has been notified by Deputy Warden Amzi Hodgkins of the payment of a fine of $50 by Wesley E. Larrabee of Friendship for the killing of a cow moose in Jefferson. This is the case where the hunter saw a bull and cow moose together and fired, bringing down the cow. The carcass was ordered taken to Gardiner where it was disposed of at the markets.

The Bangor Commercial of Nov. 5 and the News of Nov. 6 report the going into the woods, equipped in a manner that leads you to wonder what will become of them. One item reads:

R. A. Hall of Enfield and S. L. Brown of Bangor left Thursday afternoon for a trip to Grindstone, whence they will go 25 miles in the woods after big game. Mr. Hall is armed with a 35 Remington automatic equipped with a Maxim silencer, which is not often seen in the Maine woods. Mr. Hall thinks that the silencer will be of assistance in getting game, as the moose or deer will not be startled if the bullet does not hit him the first time.

Section 1 of Chapter 129, Public Laws of 1909, as printed on Page 70 of the Maine Inland Fish and Game Laws, reads:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, use or have in his possession, any gun, pistol or other firearm, fitted or contrived with any device for deadening the sound of explosion. Whoever violates any of the provisions of this act shall forfeit such firearm or firearms and the device or silencer, and shall further be subject to a fine not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding 60 days or both fine and imprisonment. Any sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, inland fish and game warden or deputy inland fish and game warden shall have authority to seize any firearm or firearms and any device or silencer found in possession of any person in violation of this act, and on conviction of the party from whom such firearm or firearms shall be sold, the proceeds to be paid to the state treasurer and the device or silencer shall be destroyed."

When the above was called to the attention of the Fish and Game Commission it was briefly stated that the officials had nothing, just now, to say on the matter. That seemed to indicate to the Journal man that the same officials would have something to say later—both to the two hunters mentioned in the Bangor item and to the Journal.

Bob Cats and Deer

An item has been going the rounds of the papers to the effect that reports were frequent of deer being killed by bob cats. The fish and game department, being queried concerning the report said that very few such cases had been reported to the department, though plenty of indications existed that bob cats were numerous.

The department in 1913 had an appropriation of $1500 for bounties for bob cats. Two dollars was the bounty up to July 1 and $4 for the remainder of the year. Of that amount $852 was expended after Nov. 1, 1913, because of the fact that hunters delayed killing the bob cats until the skins were valuable. A balance of $2 was left from the $1500 appropriated.

The Legislature added $500 to the appropriation for 1914, making $2000 available. Up to last Saturday, $1852 had been paid out, the bounty being $4 throughout the year. The department sees nothing but a lack of funds to take care of the bob cat bounty tails for the rest of the year, as only $148 remains, the valuable skin season is now with us and last year's expenditures after Nov. 10 being $852. Another increase in the appropriation will be necessary by the incoming Legislature.

The method of securing the bounty for bob cat, loupervier and Canadian lynx is: The Statute provides that a bounty of $4 shall be paid for every such animal killed in any town. The hunter must exhibit the entire skin thereof, with the ears, nose and tail thereon, to the town treasurer of any town, who then forwards the tail to the State Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game at Augusta.

KILLS FOX WITH STONE

Dr. Frank N. George Corners Animal in Park Avenue Yard

Killing a fox in the residential section of Worcester and without the aid of a gun, was the experience of Dr. Frank W. George, 756 Pleasant street, recently. Dr. George cornered the fox in a yard on Park avenue and then put an end to the career of the animal by hitting him on the head with a large stone.

Dr. George saw the fox recently crossing Pleasant street and headed onto Newton hill. He informed Win Tower, a brother member of Worcester fur club, and Tower went up onto the hill with Dr. George's hound Sally.

When near the top of the hill Tower saw the fox jump out of a clump of bushes and start toward the top of the hill. The hound at once took the trail and Mr. Fox made several circles around the hill. The fox evidently wanted to head toward Coe pond, but all along the Pleasant street side of the hill workmen are relaying the car tracks. This evidently scared the fox and it struck down toward Park avenue.

Dr. George was coming down Pleasant street in his automobile when he was surprised to see the fox cross Pleasant street at Park avenue. He turned into Park avenue after the fox, which turned into the yard where the ward 10, precinct 4 voting booth is.

Franklin Bolio, a driver for the Phoenix Plate Co., also saw the fox and with Dr. George started a search for it. Dr. George quickly found it in the corner of the next yard, where there was a high board fence which the fox was apparently unable to get over. Mr. Bolio wanted to catch the fox alive, but Dr. George decided this might be dangerous as the fox did not look as if it would take its capture peaceably.

Before Mr. Bolio could get hold of the fox, Dr. George grabbed a large stone and a well directed throw ended the fox. Dr. George then took the fox home with him in the automobile.

Mr. Bolio came to The Telegram office last night and claimed the fox was a tame one belonging to a Mr. Chenette, who lives on Winfield street and that it had been seen by several school children around Newton hill. Dr. George, when informed by a Telegram reporter last night that Mr. Bolio claimed the fox was a tame one, said he was sorry he had killed it if it was a tame one.

Dr. George said he had heard a hound driving the fox early in the morning and later had seen the fox go onto Newton hill. He found on examination that evidently the fox had been shot at some previous time for one of its hind legs was broken and this evidence accounted for the fact that the fox could not get over the fence where Dr. George found it.

Dr. George also said that if the fox was a tame one that it failed to show any signs of it, but simply seemed to be about scared to death. The fox weighed about 10 pounds.

FALMOUTH MAN KILLS DEER WITH AXE WEDNESDAY.

Portland, Me., Nov. 12.—It is not necessary to go far away into the dense Maine woodlands to kill a deer, says the Kennebec Journal. At least this is the way Messrs. C. Frank Colley and Deputy Sheriff John Williams of West Falmouth feel today.

Messrs. Williams and Colley had been engaged in making repairs on the covered bridge over the Presumpscot River, known as Lambert bridge, in West Falmouth, yesterday were picking up their belongings preparatory to leaving for their home at 5 in the afternoon, when Mr. Colley heard loud splashing from beneath the bridge.

He investigated and found that there was some large animal swimming in the river and attempting to make a landing on the bank of the stream.

Attracting the attention of Mr. Williams, he hastened to the other side of the stream with hammer in hand while Mr. Williams seizing up a carpenter's axe, remained on the opposite side. The deer attempted to land several times on Mr. Colley's side of the river, but was frightened off by seeing the man near by.

Mr. Williams secreted himself and awaited developments. Suddenly the deer changed his course and swam rapidly, although laboriously, across the river, giving evidence of being tired after nearly an hour in the water. Mr. Williams was surprised to find that the deer was making directly for him, there being a kind of shelf of land overhanging the river bank which would afford an easy landing for the tired animal. For this the deer headed and in a moment had clambered out upon the bank. Like a cat, Mr. Williams leaped from his hiding place and dealt the deer a crushing blow with the axe on the head. The animal dropped to the ground without a struggle and expired.

It was a fine specimen of deer and was well worth the effort put forth by the two carpenters in securing her. The deer weighed just 102 pounds.

DIXFIELD HUNTERS

Perley Judkins and Ceylon Newall were at Weld the past week enjoying the hunting in that vicinity.

George Ricker and Ben Smith were among the lucky hunters the past week, each securing a fine deer.

Fred Chase, Frank Collins, George Ricker and Charles Foster enjoyed a hunting trip to West Byron last week.

Ole Paine and Willis Dunham each secured a fine deer during their stay at Dead River last week.

A BLACK BEAR IS NIGHT WATCHMAN

His Duty Is Well Performed, But Some People Look on Him With Suspicion

EDDINGTON, Pa., Nov. 10.—This town has a black bear doing police work as a night watchman. Eddington does not know just what to think of its force, but some persons, especially the children, are enthusiastic over it. Others regard the force with suspicion, but all treat it with the greatest respect. It weighs in the neighborhood of 200 pounds and has a mighty punch in either paw.

The bear was sent to D. C. Hanna, manager of the Philadelphia Pure Rye Distilling Company, from the Maine woods as a joke. But the bear was no joke. Mr. Hanna decided that as a pet at his home, No. 4262 Parkside avenue, a bear would not be a hit among his neighbors. He realized that he was in need of a night watchman at his plant, so he named the bear Boss and gave him as job.

The distillery covers nearly twenty acres of land, and Boss patrols all that. At night his headquarters are in the company's offices.

Boss is six months old and already as large as a Newfoundland dog. He has an amiable disposition and plays with the cats of the distillery, but he has an inherited aversion to dogs. Rocks, the bulldog at the plant, he chased, and Malt, the Irish terrier, he ignores.

It was decided yesterday that a bath would not hurt Boss. Indeed, the bath was deemed imperative. Capt. Albert Quigley and John Hart, government officers, detailed at the distillery, and John Rigbey, the engineer, escorted Boss to a pond on the company's property. Boss waded in one side of the pond and out the other side and disappeared in the underbrush. Capt. Quigley, Har and Rigbey gave pursuit.

It was an hour later that they met a negro walking along one of the roads. He was looking anxiously over his shoulder and walking as if in a hurry.

"Ah you looking of a dog, ah mighty big dog?" asked the negro.

"We are looking for a bear," returned the rescue party.

"Ma goodness! Dat was him! Dat was him!" exclaimed the negro, and he hurried along without further explanation.

Boss was found a mile further on. He had located the Delaware River and was having a swim. Rigbey called him and the bear came ashore. He climbed a tree and there he stayed until he was dry.

It was different with the track inspector on the New York division. He saw the bear yesterday, stopped his train and had it backed up to get a second look. Then he climbed out of his observation car and made Boss's acquaintance. Both seemed to be pleased at the meeting.

Rigbey is the man to whom Boss shows the most respect. Rigbey is not afraid of a bear, but Boss did not know that at first. Boss nipped Rigbey on the hand. He may have been joking in a bearish way, but Rigbey did not appreciate the humor. He slapped the bear on the tip of the nose, and if there is anything which disgusts a bear and takes the fighting ambition out of him it is that.

The bear eats, just like a policeman. He is not particular what he eats, and stays at it for hours.

GUN ACCIDENTALLY DISCHARGED AND MOHAWK HUNTER KILLED.

Mohawk, Nov. 8.—Shot through the neck with a soft-nosed 30-30 bullet, Ellis Shimmel, 19 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bayton Shimmel of that village, died at Cranberry Lake in the Adirondacks at 9.30 o'clock tonight.

This is the third fatality of the hunting season in the Adirondacks. None of the men killed has been the victim of a hunter who thought he was a deer. Donald Curran was found dead near Limekiln and is thought to have been murdered. John Lawless was killed at Malone when his gun was discharged as he was getting into a boat.

It is thought that the young man stumbled over something while returning from a hunting trip in the vicinity of Cranberry Lake. His gun, a 30-30 caliber Savage, exploded as he fell the bullet entering his neck and tearing a great wound in it.

A doctor was summoned by his companions, S. A. Price and George F. Brown. The wounded man was put into Brown's automobile and with the doctor in the car they were about to start the 40-mile journey along the rough woods roads to Carthage when death occurred.

TRENTON MAN PAID FINE FOR SHOOTING A COW MOOSE.

Chief Warden Frank M. Perkins has returned from Trenton, where Clarence Pierie of that town was found guilty of violating the game laws by shooting a cow moose. Pierie asserted that the occurrence was a mistake on his part, but of mistakes the state game laws take no account when game is unlawfully shot by any hunter. Pierie paid the fine imposed and was released.

"All violations of the game laws in Hancock county coming to the knowledge of the officials will be prosecuted," stated Chief Warden Perkins Saturday afternoon.

A party of Maine hunters, Ware Cobb and Pearson Keller of Lincolnville; Harry Buchanan and Jennie French of Camden, were in Bangor Saturday, on their way to Wypotillock on a hunting trip.

Sixty-eight deer were received in Bangor, Friday night, and Saturday a fair day's receipts. Two moose and one bear also arrived bringing the total of 896 deer, 19 moose and 55 bears.

Chief Warden F. Ray Neal of Waldo returned to his home Saturday afternoon for the week-end.

the story resolved itself into this: Postmaster Nealley and Harvard C. Jordan were driving to their camp at Green lake, carrying a window sash which stood back of the dasher. A deer jumped and snorted close to them, the horse jumped, and Mr. Nealley put his feet through the window glass. So the story grew. Just what Mr. Jordan did is not clear, but any way, two or three days later he drove into town with a buck deer.

DOG SAVES A LIFE

Another man owes his life to a dog's sagacity. The Portland Press records the story, although not giving the man's name. The man, while on his way from the city in his motorboat to Great Chebeague island, fouled a buoy and the boat sank. He managed to free the tender and being without oars, drifted onto a ledge off Fort Gorges, where he was helpless. The dog now enters the scene for one, a fine watch dog owned by Charles Rust, custodian of the fort, became very excited about 9 a. m., and led his master to the door, but Rust seeing and hearing nothing went to bed. About 11 o'clock however, the dog again began barking and tore the bedclothes from the bed, so that Rust arose, took his lantern and went out, soon finding the unknown, whom he took to the fort and cared for.

BAD AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Claude H. J. Knapp of the Boundary Line was very severely injured last week in an automobile accident some nine miles below Woodstock, N. B. Mr. Knapp and George H. Churchill of Fort Fairfield were driving along together, over a very wet and slippery piece of road, when somehow the automobile overturned twice. It is indeed a miracle that both the occupants were not killed. Mr. Churchill was considerably cut about the hip, the leg and the eyebrow, but not seriously injured. Mr. Knapp had three ribs and his breast bone broken, besides other jams and bruises. Very serious internal injuries were at first feared, but he seems to be doing nicely now at the hospital in Woodstock. The automobile was the same one in which Daniel Mullen, Mr. Knapp's partner, was riding some weeks ago when he drove over the bank of the St. John river near the bridge at Andover. It is fortunate indeed that this accident was not worse than it proved.

GUESTS FROM RUMFORD DANCE, EAT AND HAVE A GOOD TIME.

Last Sunday, Eddie Durrant of Albany visited at Hotel Farrar. The trappers have had very good luck this fall, and have gathered in a large amount of fur.

Mrs. Dyke, who has been at the lakes during the summer months, has returned to Hanover for the winter.

The lucky hunters for the past week were, Ralph Knights, Arthur Cobb, Arthur Abbott and Ralph Richardson, the latter bringing in two. Surely "Bill" is a mighty hunter.

One evening last week twenty-five of the business men of Rumford came to Indian Rock Camp for a game supper. Bear meat, venison, partridge, and coon were a few of the choice eatables on the bill of fare. "Bill" Holt, with a white coat on and hair standing up straight was everywhere present and made everyone feel at home.

Monday evening of this week sixty-four people from Rumford came to Hanover to spend the evening and enjoy a good old fashioned dance in the hall. They came early and at 7 o'clock, Mr. Chase of Hanover Inn, had a fine supper ready, to which they did ample justice.

Mr. Hawks of New Gloucester, with W. C. Holt as guide, secured a large deer last Saturday.

EAGLE NEST HIGH AS A MAN

Some Years ago Willard Cunningham, the Seal Harbor and Northeast Harbor stage driver, on Mount Desert Island, was able to report a large number of eagles soaring over one of the big meadows on his route. For the past four or five years eagles have not been noticed, but they seem to be back again this season. Not long since two ladies discovered a large nest on Newport mountain and the nest has been visited by a good many people since then. The ladies daringly went close up to the nest and the bird that appeared to be the mother did not make much of a fuss. It is a risky thing to do this, however, as eagles disturbed at times have viciously attacked farm hands and vigorous men have had all they could do to protect themselves from very serious injury. The nest on Newport mountain is as high as a man, thick enough to hide a person standing behind it, and built up of sticks.

THE FURBISHS IN THEIR NEW HOME

The "Boys" Now Apply Remedies After Their Night of Fun.

Rangeley, Nov. 17.—The steam mill has suspended operations for the winter after a busy season.

Mrs. Fred Ross and daughter Olive of Phillips are at the home of Dr. A. M. Ross.

It is understood that Mrs. Rose Adams has purchased the M. Chandler Ross house on Pleasant street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Pillsbury are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Saturday, November 14, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hamm a daughter, Monday, November 9. Mrs. Ida Morton is caring for Mrs. Hamm and little one.

Mrs. E. L. Haley is reported as seriously ill.

Wm. Tomlinson and C. C. Murphy attended the Laymen's Efficiency Conference as delegates of the Men's League.

Mrs. Leo Taylor called on friends in town Monday.

Omer Ellis is spending a few days at his home in Chesterville, before leaving for Massachusetts, where he will have employment this winter.

Ray Harnden is again able to perform his duties as janitor at the schoolhouse after a week's illness. His place was supplied by C. L. Harnden.

Mrs. Tom Barrett has been in Portland the past week called by the death of her father, Francis Hayes.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Haley and family left Monday for their camp at Spotted Mountain, where they will remain for the winter.

Phil Huntoon has moved his family from W. T. Hear's to the J. H. Lowell place.

Mrs. Annie Burns, who has been at Grant's Camps the past season is now working at the Tavern.

Fred Hamm has just completed a building on his premises to be used as a garage next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Osman Wright and little daughter are at Farmington for the winter, where Mr. Wright has employment.

Lucille, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huntoon met with a painful accident recently. While making candy, as she was putting it to cool some of the hot mixture was spilled on her left hand and wrist burning it quite badly. Dr. A. M. Ross was called to dress the wounds and it is hoped no permanent injury will result from the accident.

Miss Mildred Bangs of Portland has been the guest of Mrs. Alvah Sprague the past week.

Mrs. C. C. Murphy arrived home Thursday from the Sunday School Convention at Bangor. She was also the guest of friends for several days. Della Wilbur kept house for her during her absence.

Wallace Carlton is now occupying the lower rent of the Stanbury house and has recently purchased a piano of Dr. A. M. Ross.

Mrs. Wealthy Loomis was called to Farmington last week by the illness of her son Warren.

Marguerite Twombly has returned home from Auburn, where she has been attending school.

Rolla Toothaker has purchased the Fred Ranger farm, located at Bean's Corner. Mr. Toothaker and family leave Tuesday for their new home. Their many friends wish them the best of success in their new home.

Keith, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Murphy had a cyst removed from his arm Thursday. The little fellow is doing nicely. The operation was performed by Dr. A. M. Ross, assisted by Miss Clare Pearse, a trained nurse, who has been at Dr. Ross' private hospital the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Furbish moved into their new home Saturday, which they have recently built on the site of their former home. The house is very attractive and adds much to the appearance of the street.

Miss Ethel Thomas, who has been employed at the Tavern the past season left Monday for Lewiston.

The intermediate and primary schools will hold exercises appropriate to Thanksgiving Wednesday p. m., Nov. 25 in the intermediate room. All parents and friends are invited.

A goodly number of young people enjoyed a straw ride to attend the box supper held at the White schoolhouse, Friday evening. After a fine program the boxes were sold and a jolly time they had. The proceeds will be used to purchase a new desk and for other school purposes.

Julie and Agnes Hinds and friends were in town Saturday en route for Kennebago, where they will spend two weeks hunting.

Friends of Mr. John Lamb are sorry to hear that he is in poor health.

At the Grange Saturday night, the 3rd and 4th degrees were conferred. At the close of the work a delicious supper was served.

Mrs. F. C. Porter and Leon Robbins are reported on the sick list.

Much enthusiasm is being shown over the prospect of a chicken shoot which will be held on the knoll back of the Tavern Tuesday, Nov. 24. The ladies are also invited to shoot for the prizes. The management have about 50 fine birds and a good bit of clean sport is promised. Davenport and Robbins are in charge.

Dr. F. B. Colby and Miss Winifred Hinkley returned home Monday night from Rochester, Minnesota, where Miss Hinkley consulted specialists regarding her throat, who advised having the tonsils removed, also a course of treatment. They arrived in Lewiston Sunday night, Miss Hinkley being the guest of her aunt Mrs. E. M. Berry and Dr. Colby visiting relatives.

A party of "The Boys" started out for a bit of good natured fun recently. They being of a musical turn of mind their efforts centered chiefly on the construction of "Tic Tacs" and "Devils Fiddles." After a lively chase by several offended parties, the bunch repaired to their homes to apply various remedies to their sundry bumps and bruises, while one young man searched vainly for 24 hours for an effective eye opener for his left eye. Do you know him?

One day recently a citizen returned a hired gun to the store and as was customary the clerk in charge tested it to see if it was loaded. Failing to find any ammunition the gun was placed on the counter and feeling positive that the gun was not loaded idly pulled the trigger. To their great surprise the gun was discharged. The force was spent in a box of shot and no further damages done, not even to the side wall.

Riddle & Hoar announce a special Thanksgiving matinee Thursday, Nov. 26, at 2.15 p. m., offering the special two reel feature, "The Diver" the scenes of which are laid about Niagara Falls. Six big reels will be presented. Furbish hall. Usual prices.

Aches and Pains of rheumatism are not permanently, but only temporarily, relieved by external remedies. Why not use an internal remedy—Hood's Sarsaparilla, which corrects the acidity of the blood on which rheumatism depends and cures the disease?

Elmon Berry, ably assisted by Harrison Moores.

We are glad to welcome Mrs. Mary Reed and hope she will conclude to locate here permanently.

WEST FREEMAN

Nov. 16.

We have been spending a week at our cottage and note some changes and improvements in the place here since our previous visit. On our way the most noticeable thing is the wonderful piece of road building between Farmington and Strong. When finished it will be a regular boulevard, the whole 12 miles, broad and smooth almost as a "house floor. Maine is booming herself well in the process of road construction.

Our Thimble club is just as earnest and enthusiastic as ever. A "bee" was held on Thursday, Nov. 12, the men assembling early to shingle a portion of the club house roof and build on a much needed wood shed, while the women met to prepare them one of their justly famous dinners. Incidentally we heard Will Carson speak in high praise of the dinner. He expressed his appreciation in tangible form by purchasing three quarts of fresh roasted peanuts of I. P. Savage as a treat for the ladies. We had a good opportunity to notice the fine effect of the new coat of paint the ladies have applied to their cemetery fence, black tipped with white, very artistically done. Some work done by the club who work together in perfect harmony should be appreciated by the whole community as it is an ornament to the town. The club sadly misses Mrs. Carson, a very helpful and much loved member whose passing is a great loss as she was always interested in the welfare of the club and the good works for which it stood in the community. A sale of useful articles is to be held soon and Mrs. Carson left three rugs, her own hands' work for the sale, a pathetic memorial of her interest to the last.

Sunday we attended church, the services being conducted by Rev. Mitchell True of Strong. Sunday school meets at the close of the service, Baxter Hutchins superintendent. He also teaches the adult class in Bible study.

The Lovejoy cottage is closed and we understand the property is offered for sale. It is a pleasant location and will make a cozy home for some one.

Ehland Webster still continues his improvements on his place, but has sold off the most of his stock and we are told will go to Massachusetts in the spring where he may locate if he finds things to his liking. We shall be sorry if we have to lose them as they are excellent neighbors.

The Lambert cottage has received a new coat of paint and looks very nice and homey. We were glad to meet Mrs. Lambert again.

Sorry to learn that Mrs. Burt Lake is suffering from a troublesome stomach. The little son Emel is in much better health than formerly. Bert is hustling same as ever.

We were told that Geo. Willard was cutting cord wood instead of lumber this winter. Folks must have fires if they cannot build houses.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson attended the wedding reception on Saturday evening, November 14 of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chick nee Miss Webber. They reported a large number present, many pretty and useful gifts and a very pleasant evening.

Miss Carrie Hunter who is living on the farm on Tory Hill will, we understand, soon move back to her house in Strong village.

J. P. Savage learns that his cousin, J. H. Ramsdell, who lately exchanged property with Geo. Webster will go into the woods this winter, while Mrs. Ramsdell will spend the winter in Lewiston.

We had quite a heavy and much needed rain storm Sunday night and a part of Monday. Wells and streams are very low and more rain still is needed before winter sets in. The mountains already have white caps on and Saturday last, sleighs in Kingfield slipped along very nicely.

I. P. Savage is doing quite an amount of repairing on his buildings here, where he comes once in two weeks with hulled corn and fresh roasted peanuts. We heard some one say, bring a wagon load of peanuts next time.

Strong, November 18.—Mrs. C. W. Bell and daughter Sara are in Portland for a few days on business.

The many friends of Mrs. W. A. Bradford will be glad to know she is gaining nicely from her recent surgical operation.

Rev. Weston P. Holman, pastor of the Methodist church of Strong and Miss Ada M. Curtis of Leeds were married in Portland Tuesday by Rev. George Edwin Pickard D. D., of the Chestnut Street church, the ceremony taking place at the home of the clergyman on State street. Mr. Holman has been pastor of the church here for five years. His many friends in town and vicinity extend congratulations and wish them many years of happiness and prosperity.

The pony show which was given in McLeary's hall last Friday evening was much appreciated by all, especially the children.

Nellie Witherell is home from Farmington for a few days, where she has been working. She will return Monday afternoon.

Harold Welch was a recent guest of friends in Portland.

Rev. T. B. Bitler had charge of the services at the Congregationalist church assisted by W. G. Mallett of Farmington, who talked on the Extension of Church Work, followed by G. H. Bass of Wilton who gave some very good ideas on Sunday school work, after which Rev. R. H. Olapp of Farmington spoke very interestingly on the world wide christianity. Excellent music was furnished by the choir including a duet by Mrs. F. L. Dyer and Miss Dorothy McKeen.

A very pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Smith's last Saturday night, when their only child, Alice F. Smith was united in marriage to George Harrison Beal of Avon. Rev. W. P. Holman was the officiating clergyman. These young people have the best wishes of their many friends.

Rev. Weston P. Holman furnished an excellent sermon to a large audience last Sunday morning. His theme was "The Throne Above The Clouds." At the close of the sermon the ladies' quartette sang a very pretty selection which was much enjoyed by all.

Several in town are suffering with bad colds.

Mrs. F. E. Howard visited her son, Charles in Phillips recently.

Miss Hattie Smith was in Farmington Saturday on business.

Mrs. Hervey Vining, who was recently operated on by Dr. Bell in his hospital is gaining rapidly.

The Queen Esthers will meet this Thursday with Mrs. Earl Brackley. They are preparing for their church fair which is to take place in the near future.

Miss Gladys Hines spent the week end in town.

Principal Vincent Pottle was in Farmington Saturday.

Carroll Rounds and friends of Farmington spent Sunday in town, the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rounds.

Hazel Douglass of Eustis is visiting her sister, Mrs. Allie Richards.

Elverna Marwick of Farmington visited her mother a few days recently.

Floyd Smith visited his brother, Charles and family of Phillips one day recently.

Quite a crowd gathered at the station Monday to see the game which came on the train from Dead River en route for Boston. It included two bear, one lynx and several deer.

P. W. Mason was in Portland several days last week on business.

J. E. Winslow is delivering his apples to parties in Farmington.

This is a busy time for blacksmiths. Over 30 horses were shod in True Luce's shop Monday.

Fred Daggett is having his house wired for electricity.

Gilbert Hawley of New Vineyard was in town Sunday.

Mrs. Arthur Savage of Farmington is in town, visiting her husband, who is here working on the electric line.

Rev. W. P. Holman was called to Freeman Monday afternoon to attend the funeral services of Jerry Burbank.

The Ladies' Aid met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Hannah E. Gilman. A very pleasant session was held.

Rev. T. B. Bitler will exchange pulpits with Rev. Colby of Scarborough, who supplied here for Mr. Bitler two Sundays this summer.

Charles Oliver of Kingfield was a caller in town recently.

George Hartwell of Farmington is visiting his sister, Mrs. William Hunter and other friends in town.

TRY THIS FOR YOUR COUGH

Thousands of people keep coughing because unable to get the right remedy. Coughs are caused by inflammation of Throat and Bronchial Tubes. What you need is to soothe this inflammation. Take Dr. King's New Discovery, it penetrates the delicate mucous lining, raises the Phlegm and quickly relieves the congested membranes. Get a 50c bottle from your druggist. "Dr. King's New Discovery quickly and completely stopped my cough," writes J. R. Watts, Floydale, Texas. Money back if not satisfied, but it nearly always helps.

ROOSTING HIGH

GREATEST HOLIDAY IS OF THE HOME

Especially Does the Day Upon Which the Nation Gives Thanks for the Many Mercies Extended Stand as a Revelation of Domestic Happiness.

THERE is ample cause for the spirit of Thanksgiving day in the place which the home holds in American life. It is enough to make any people grateful to be able to depend upon such domestic health, peace and happiness as prevail in the United States.

Thanksgiving day brings uncounted family reunions. It means the return to old homes of those who have gone far away. It reunites circles long broken. It exalts the family idea, the foundation on which human society rests.

And every year the holiday of the hearth, the day dedicated, informally but not the less certainly, to the home principle, finds the number of happy households in America larger than ever before. Every November the picture of home gatherings, in gratitude and peace, is painted on a scale more vast and impressive.

The most extreme pessimist knows in his heart that this is true. It is impossible to reflect upon the progress of the country and the gains made by the people of the United States, despite all drawbacks and mishaps, without realizing that in the broadest sense the life of the nation is healthier, sounder, safer and happier than ever.

And the old-fashioned cornerstone on which this national health and sanity of mind and spirit rests is the family. It takes Thanksgiving to bring into due prominence the enduring foundation of the wonderfully complex and elaborate structure of American life.

When the millions of widened family circles are formed today, around well-laden tables, the position of the American life is patent to every thoughtful citizen of this republic. It is always clear enough to keen-eyed strangers visiting the foremost country of the New World.

While the great holiday of the home stands where it has always stood, where it stands today, as a revelation of domestic happiness and family loyalty, there will be nothing vitally amiss with the American nation. The spirit of Thanksgiving day is a moral tonic and a guarantee of civic health.

The Best Thanksgiving.

There is one blessing which is never taken away from those who want it. It is worthier of our thanksgiving than all other blessings combined. And the more we give thanks for it, the more we shall see in it to give thanks for. This blessing is God himself. Have we learned the joy of thanking God for himself? Have we practiced this form of thanksgiving daily? To pour out our thanksgiving to God for what he is has a remarkable result. It means that in the very act of such thanksgiving we receive more of him to be thankful for. It is as though, when we thanked a friend for a generous gift of money, with every word of our thanks that friend poured more money into our hands. The outgoing of our praise to God means the incoming of God. Let us take time apart on this Thanksgiving day, alone with God, to praise him and thank him for what he is. A half-hour spent thus with him, with perhaps the book of Psalms open before us, can make the day memorable in our lives. Moreover—let it be said reverently—it will make the day memorable in God's own life; for the praise of his children rejoices God's heart. Shall we not make it a day of thanksgiving in heaven because of our thanksgiving on earth?—Sunday School Times.

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the voice, deranges the digestion, and breaks down the general health. It weakens the delicate lung tissues and leads to consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla goes to the seat of the trouble, purifies the blood, and is so successful that it is known as the best remedy for catarrh.

Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens and tones the whole system. It builds up. Ask your druggist for Hood's, and insist on having it. There is no real substitute.

BRINGS HIS TWIN BOYS IN BASKET

The Taylors to Reside In Farmington This Winter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Taylor of West Carry Lake Camps, their four children and Mrs. Taylor's mother, Mrs. E. A. Mason, arrived in Farmington recently and are living in the furnished house of Mrs. Florence L. Pottle, South street, where they will pass the winter. Their home is eight miles beyond Dead River and the road is passable only for buckboards and pretty rough at that. Therefore it was not thought prudent to take the twin boys that came to Mr. and Mrs. Taylor two months ago on such a jolty journey; accordingly Mr. Taylor with great devotion to his children's comfort brought them in a basket on his arm to Dead River and thence came to Farmington by auto, while the ladies made the trip from Dead River to Farmington by rail, all reaching this village in good condition. Mr. Taylor has returned to West Carry Lake, where he has for a number of years been the successful proprietor of the camps there. The season there is not yet ended, as sportsmen and others will desire entertainment for several weeks to come. Rev. and Mrs. Mason, the parents of Mrs. Taylor, are well known in Farmington. The latter will remain awhile in old acquaintances here will be glad to see her again. Mr. Taylor will pass as much of his time here as his business will permit. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have two daughters, aged 10 and 12 years, who came with them, as did Miss Katherine Mason, a sister of Mrs. Taylor.

LARGE COLONY OF BEAVER

Wonderful Dam Near Sanders, 75
Feet Long.

The upper reaches of the Sandy River are becoming very well stocked with beaver. They have been busy at work for a year or two in that section.

Very near Sanders on the line of the Sandy River & Rangeley Lakes railroad they now have a dam 75 feet long and three high, which is a large colony of them there as their work testifies.

The presence of the workmen on the railroad and the lumbermen near it does not seem to disturb them in the least and they keep right busy on their job each night. These workmen are working not more than two rods from the beaver works. Superintendent P. N. Beal secured some interesting samples of their work and sent them in to the passenger department of the Maine Central railroad. One was a piece of hard wood six or seven inches through, cut nearly in two, and as even as a knife would cut it. They also had poplar cuts of the thickness of 15 inches.

Kingfield, November 16.—Guy and George Frost of Industry and Johnnie Checkley of Kingfield have been at Herbert Witham's camp at the Iron Bridge for several days. Guy Frost shot a 9-point buck there Monday.

Mrs. Selina Vose was at Farmington several days last week, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Small.

Louis Brackley of Freeman was in town last week selling No. 1 snow apples for $1.00 per barrel.

Earl Smith and wife of Strong are visiting her sister, Miss Addie Stevens.

Arthur L. Stevens M. E. Stevens, Earl Smith, Harry Labree, Loreda Spencer were at Caribou Valley hunting from Monday to Thursday. They brought out one deer.

Mrs. Mary Small and grandson Asa were at Farmington the last of the week visiting her son Sheriff W. B. Small and family.

Hugh Hight of Kingfield shot a black bear last week weighing 360 pounds, which is said to be the finest specimen seen in this region. Mr. Hight has also been exhibiting a live mink at his home in Bingham.

A Thanksgiving ball will be given at French's hall Thursday evening, Nov. 26, with music by Nutting's orchestra of Skowhegan.

In response to the general appeal sent out by Colonel Osgood of Lewiston, who is Maine treasurer of the Red Cross Society, Saturday, November 21, will be observed in Kingfield as "Tag Day." Red Cross tags will be on sale everywhere that day and all who pity the homeless and starving Belgians will buy from one to twenty as their pocketbooks and hearts enable them. Let no one be seen on our streets without a tag. Put them on your horses and automobiles. Display them in your windows. All over the state this cry for help is meeting with generous response. Let Kingfield proudly do her part.

Eight cans of fingerling trout from the state hatchery at Auburn, consigned to A. C. Woodard for Tufts pond, were received Saturday night and taken at once to the pond by R. D. Knapp and Robert Clark.

At the earnest solicitation of prominent citizens and members of his party, Dr. O. W. Simmons, after mature deliberation, has decided to become a candidate for the Governor's Council. His qualifications for the office are unquestioned. The Doctor is a successful physician, a public spirited citizen and a Democrat first, last and all the time. At present he is chairman of the Democratic Town committee and member of the School Board. He is besides, closely identified with the largest business interests of the community. His appointment would be an honor and eminently satisfactory to Kingfield and it is believed to the county at large.

The contest in Carrabasset Rebekah lodge which was organized for the purpose of bringing in new and reinstated members and for attendance, closed October 28. It was so near a tie that the two captains decided to unite to entertain the Odd-fellows and their families and the Rebekahs and their families on Thursday evening, November 19, at Eldridge's hall. Two members were chosen from each side to serve with the captains as a committee for refreshments and entertainment. The members of the committee are, for the Yellows, Mrs. Alma Dolbier chairman, Mrs. Lizzie Cole, Mrs. Emma Cooley; for the Pinks, Mrs. Clara Alward chairman, Miss Bessie Myers, Mrs. Nora Barslow. During the contest over 40 new members were taken in.

HOPE LODGE HAS ENJOYABLE VISIT

Exemplify the Work and Twenty Members are Added to Carrabasset Lodge.

Carrabasset Rebekah lodge entertained Hope Rebekah lodge of Phillips Wednesday evening, November 11. Forty-three of the latter lodge were present coming on a special train from Phillips. Phillips degree staff exemplified the work in a very pleasing and efficient manner and twenty members were admitted to the lodge. They were, Lee Lufkin, Mrs. Mary Lufkin, Mrs. Minnie Burk Bernard Taylor, Mrs. Fannie Lander, Mrs. Vern Batchelder, Mrs. Florence Witham, Herbert Witham, Mrs. Ivy Simmons, Levi Hall, Miss Edna Gates, Harry Berry, Mrs. Marion Berry, George Ayotte, Mrs. Sarah Davidson, Mrs. Eunice Tufts, Emery Streeter, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkins, Mrs. Amy Tufts. The total attendance numbered 128. Supper was served in the vestry of the Universalist church following the work and consisted of mashed potato, cold meats, salads, cake, coffee, pickles, fruit, grapes and bananas. The supper committee were Miss Addie Stevens, chairman, Miss Bessie Myers, Miss Emmie Potter, Miss Alice Jeffers, Miss Gladys Dyer, Mrs. Clara Alward.

SHELDON BEAL REPRESENTATIVE

The Republicans of the legislative district composed of Pittsfield, Palmyra, Detroit and Cornville have elected to the legislature the "Apple King" of Somerset, Sheldon H. Beal, one of the most representative farmers of Maine. He owns without question the largest orchard in the county and one of the largest in the state, and his name is a familiar one with those having to do with apple exhibits in county and state fairs.

Mr. Beal was born in Skowhegan, Feb. 7, 1864, but at the age of 14 moved to that part of Cornville known as Hilton Hill, where he has since resided. In 1902 he married Addie B. Cleveland and they have one son. Mr. Beal has held the office of selectman for years, and was chairman of the board for ten years. For the past four years he has been treasurer of the Somerset Farmers' Co-operative Telephone Company. He has always been a Republican. He is a member of the Skowhegan Grange and Carrabasset lodge, I. O. O. F. and Priscilla Rebekah lodge.

He has never been active in politics but has always been ready to do his part in things that stood for the best interests of his party.

Mr. Beal is a particularly well informed man, and as a legislator will be held in the same confidence by his associates as that in which he is now held by his townsmen and all others who have the pleasure of his acquaintance.

Mr. Beal is the son of Horace Beal, who has brothers living in Phillips, Messrs. Wilson and B. Frank Beal. The representative is named for B. Frank Beal's father.

Relatives and friends in Phillips congratulate him on his successful election.

It Really Does Relieve Rheumatism

Everybody who is afflicted with Rheumatism in any form should by all means keep a bottle of Sloan's Liniment on hand. The minute you feel pain or soreness in a joint or muscle, bathe it with Sloan's Liniment. Do not rub it. Sloan's penetrates almost immediately right to the seat of pain, relieving the hot, tender, swollen feeling and making the part easy and comfortable. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25c of any druggist and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief.

THANKSGIVING ODE OF THE OLDEN TIME

Poet in the Quaint Phrasology of Centuries Ago Expressed Gratitude for the Kindness of the Creator,
From a "Thankful Heart."

Lord, Thou hast given me a cell,
Wherein to dwell;
A little house, whose humble roof
Is weather proof;
Under the sparres of which I lie
Both soft and drie;
Where Thou, my chamber for to ward,
Hast set a guard
Of harmless thoughts, to watch and keep Me, while I sleep.

Low is my porch, as is my fate,
Both void of state;
And yet the threshold of my doore
Is worne by th' poore,
Who thither come, and freely get
Good words or meat.

Like as my parlour, so my hall
And kitchen's small:
A little butlerie, and therein
A little byn,
Which keeps my little loafe of bread
Unchipt, unfead;
Some brittle sticks of thorne or briar
Make me a fire,
Close by whose living coale I sit,
And glow like it.

Lord, I confesse, too, when I dine,
The pulse is Thine,
And all those other bits that bee
There placed by Thee;
The worts, the purslain, and the messe
Of water cresse
Which of Thy kindnesse Thou has sent;
And my content
Makes those, and my beloved beet
To be more sweet.
'Tis Thou that crownest my glittering hearth
With guiltlesse mirth,
And gives me wassale bowls to drink,
Spic'd to the brink.

Lord, 'tis Thy plenty-dropt hand
That solles my land,
And giv'st me, for my bushell sowne,
Twice ten for one;
Thou mak'st my teeming hen to lay
Her egg each day;
Besides my healthful ewes to bear
Me twins each yeare;
The while the conduits of my kine
Run creame for wine:
All these, and better Thou dost send
Me, to this end,
That I should render, for my part,
A thankfull heart:
Which, fild with incense, I resigne
As wholly Thine;
But the acceptance, that must be,
O Lord, by Thee.

—Herrick.

LET US ALL GIVE THANKS

Season Is a Time to Be Glad, and to Make Others Around Us Partake of Our Joy.

Let us make this the best Thanksgiving of our lives. Remember our gratitude is not measured by the size of the family larder. Abundance tends to contentment, but many a man in limited circumstances is happier than others of larger means. Real wealth and worth lies not in the abundance a man hath, but in contentment's gold. When the heart is full the whole world is richer. Your smile will go a long way toward making someone else happy. A cheerful life opens avenues to future achievement hidden to him who sees no good around him. The past is a matter of record, the present is near and real, the future is limited only by yourself. Make it all it can be, and history will add a new chapter, and you will be the hero.

Let us give thanks. The nation needs the inspiration of your song. There are plenty of groans and grunts and growls. We need more song. It hain't no use to grumble and complain; It's just as cheap and easy to rejoice.

You will feel more manly by being glad. It adds to your self-respect and makes you feel that you have a place in the world. Inspire your age with a new type of chivalry. Meet drones and kickers with a smile and you will do much to bring in the good time that is to be. Wherever you are let this be a real period of thanksgiving. Let us see if we cannot add to the world's joy by the spirit of our own living.

Your Child May Have Worms

Keep a watchful eye on your child's health. Above all, guard against worms. Familiar symptoms of worms in children are: Deranged stomach, furred tongue, belching, variable appetite, increased thirst, acid or heavy breath, nausea, enlarged abdomen, costiveness, pale face of leaden tint, bluish rings around eyes, itching of nostrils, languor, irritability, disturbed sleep, grinding of teeth, irregularity of pulse.

Grown folks are subject to worms also.

The one best remedy is Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. First sold by my father in 1851—today it has a world wide reputation. Good for adults also. Get a bottle today—at your dealer's: 35 c, 50c and $1.00. Advice free. Special treatment for tapeworms. Send for book.

Miss Bessie Crowell gave a very earnest and helpful sermon Sunday. Mrs. Sarah Pomeroy passed her 95th birthday anniversary, Nov. 9. She is still very active and retains her mental faculties to a remarkable degree for one of her years. She was made happy by the receipt of many cards, also several tokens of remembrance from her friends, for which she is very grateful. Alton Jones of Weld was a recent guest at Herman Sargent's.

The Ladies' Circle was very pleasantly entertained at an all day session November 11. A bountiful dinner was served to about 30, the Dunham school with their teacher, Miss Marion Sargent, being invited guests, also Rev. Walter Beedy of Livermore. It being the annual meeting the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Ida Hathaway; vice president, Mrs. Lydia Dunham; secretary, Mrs. Pearl Bursiel; treasurer, Mrs. Sarah Wells; directors, Mrs. Effie Dunham, Mrs. Lottie Dunham, Mrs. Mertie Wilbur; entertaining committee, Mrs. Sarah Wells, Mrs. Jennie Wing, Mrs. Minnie Kinney and Miss Ella Conant.

Mrs. Harvey Wing visited her daughter at Livermore Falls recently.

Will Lovejoy of Strong was called one day last week to see a sick horse of J. H. Welts'.

The rain this morning was much appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Cleaves went to Portland last Sunday with their automobile.

An English Author Wrote:

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves.—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh, and like him time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

THE great American nation takes a holiday at the bidding of the president every November. Our many states all unite in keeping the beautiful festival of Thanksgiving. Its very name is suggestive because the giving of thanks implies a recognition of One, unseen but ever-living, who sends the world the gifts on which its existence depends. From Almighty God we receive the rain, the sunshine, the summer's heat and the winter's cold, the bread we eat, the fuel that warms us and the clothing we wear. There are few so foolish or so stupid as not to believe in the great Creator and the kind All-Father, from whose hand our daily blessings come. Especially should you and I have a thought of him when the myriad homes of the country are enjoying at this season the gifts that must be traced directly to the kindness of heaven. The great nation keeps Thanksgiving, but the great nation is composed of millions of individual persons, among them you who read and I who write. Suppose we stop and ask ourselves what we like best about this holiday and what spirit we may most fittingly bring to its celebration.

First, I think we like it because it is so genial and jolly, so cheerful and bright, so patriotic and stirring a day. Thousands of families are reunited at the Thanksgiving dinner. The trains that come to New England or Pennsylvania or Illinois, from California, Oregon and Nevada, bring home for Thanksgiving men and women who want to be boys and girls once more under the old roof.

I remember watching from a train as it stopped at a station the delighted greeting of a half-dozen people who seemed to be father, mother, sons and daughters, as they swarmed upon a dear little old lady who was waiting to receive them. Her husband, a white-haired patriarch, who might have sat for the portrait of Santa Claus, was holding his horses while the children and grandchildren thronged into the big four-seated wagon. They had come home for Thanksgiving. Many such scenes will be enacted this year, as they have been every year since our country was settled.

If we have been so unwise as to let a pessimistic spirit weave its evil spell around us, let us break the fetters without delay. Wherever we are, at home or abroad, rich or poor, let us be thankful that we have reached another golden milestone in life. I repeat that Thanksgiving is a genial, cheerful, wholesome and breezy day. Let us make the best out of it, and wherever we are be as jolly as we can.

FLY ROD'S NOTE BOOK

BY FLY ROD

St. Anthony's Cottage,
Phillips, Me.,

Nov. 12, 1914.

Tuesday I was most pleasantly reminded by friends that I had reached another milestone along life's pathway.

"Our birthdays used to be so few,

So long to next from last;
But now that we don't want them to,
They're coming thick and fast."

And so as the good wishes came, I thought of other days and the dear ones who from the great beyond send no spoken greeting, but by their noble lives and good deeds help to make bright the afternoon of life. I appreciate each gift and kind thought received. God bless you dear friends.

The ground is white with snow, telling that winter will soon be coming down here in Maine amid the hills, when the clear bracing air is a tonic for lonely days in dreary November. One of the great blessings of our country life in the year 1914 is Uncle Sam's goodness in giving the Parcel Post for our use, for one never knows what the packages may contain, I have found by joyful experience. It may be a book, or a cheese or a box of candy or fruit, or a beautiful embroidered table cover or pillow, sandwiched in with magazines, papers, letter and cards. I should think our postal clerks would consider themselves Santa Claus helpers all the year around.

One day the first of September I was at Bald Mountain Camps when Amos Ellis drove up with the afternoon mail. As he put four big sacks of mail on the piazza he remarked: "Don't that beat all, not much like the old stage days over Beech Hill when as a boy I drove from Phillips to Rangeley three times a week in 1869." Later after the mail had been distributed and the guests and campers along the lake shore had got their packages, one a new suit of clothes, another a peck of early apples from his garden in Massachusetts, several with books and even a part for the automobile that refused to go, a new fishing rod, a pair of boots and one happy girl a box of roses, and as the guests were opening their letters and reading the daily papers, Mr. Ellis lighted a cigar and commenced to tell of the changes since he was but a boy. Among the interesting things I remember of his saying: "Yes, I drove the stage from Phillips to Rangeley in 1869, the year of the big freshet. I used to leave Rangeley on Monday morning and return the next day, making three trips a week, stopping over night in Phillips. I had a span of good horses, and a two seated wagon or pung which took all the passengers, mail and express. Only think of it, one old leather mail bag and that not a very large one held all the mail for Madrid, Greenville and Rangeley and I waited at the offices for them to sort out the mails, and as they had but a small mail and were interested in every piece and often stopped to read a newspaper which was on its way, it took a mighty long time to change the small amount of mail that old leather bag contained, and they would have been until this time sorting out that load I had for just this little summer office to-day. Times have changed since then. I suppose in 50 years from now they will land the mail and people from an air ship."

Just then a big touring car with a party of New Yorkers stopped at the camps and Mr. Ellis went out to

Stop That First Fall Cough

Check your fall cough or cold at once—don't wait—it may lead to serious lung trouble, weaken your vitality and develop a chronic lung ailment. Get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to-day; it is pure and harmless—use it freely for that fall cough or cold. If Baby or Children are sick give it to them, it will relieve quickly and permanently. It soothes the irritated throat, lungs and air passages. Loosens Phlegm, is antiseptic and fortifies the system against colds. It surely prevents cold germs from getting a hold. Guaranteed, 50c. and $1.00 at your Druggist.

greet them. I opened that morning's Boston paper to read the latest war news thinking how in 1869 it took days and not hours for the papers to reach the shore of Moose-lake-meguntic lake and that there was only a trail through the forest where there are now good automobile roads.

This snow is just what the hunters have been anxiously waiting for.

Much to Be Thankful For.

If ever we are tempted to say that though others have much to be thankful for, our lives are hard and our paths are thorny, let us stop a minute and see by what standard we are measuring our blessings. If we look at a cripple plodding along with crutches we cannot help being thankful that we have feet which serve us well and that we can walk and run without so much as considering the effort. If we see somebody who is barefooted, we may be thankful for shoes. When the rain beats on the roof at night we may be thankful for the house that shelters us. When the doctor calls next door to see an invalid who is tossing with fever we may be thankful that we are well. If there are flowers on the door bell across the street we may be thankful that there are no vacant chairs in our home.

Universal Day of Thanks.

About the institution of Thanksgiving as it exists today there is nothing sectarian or sectional, but over the entire Union the day is observed by all Americans alike as the time for family reunion, good cheer and general rejoicing and gratitude.

Spoiled It for Him.

Rev. Mr. Goodman—Well, Willie, did you enjoy your Thanksgiving dinner?

Willie—No. We had company and I had to eat with my fork.

Mrs. Emma Whitmore visited at Mr. Frank Leighton's and at S. R. Norton's last week.

Mr. Leighton will soon move to Farmington village as he has gone into the livery business there.

Hen and hog thieves have been in town lately. If they are not careful they may spring a gun trap some of these dark nights as one man did in Auburn.

J. J. Hunt was in town last week.

Mrs. Alice Conant of Temple has been passing a week with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Farmer.

Frank Ames has exchanged his residence on Bridge street for that of Granville Hackett in Walton Mills.

John Yeaton and John, Jr., have been painting the church at East Wilton.

Mrs. Margaret Record of Buckfield recently spent a week with her cousin and husband, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Dudley.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Farmer visited Mrs. Farmer's cousin at Norridge-wock, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pike.

Mr. Leighton is having his apples packed.

Frank Leighton and Leo Hunt have exchanged farms. Mr. Hunt expects to move in about four weeks.

Mrs. Whitmore visited her son Erland in Livermore Falls Monday.

J. J. Hunt was in town last Saturday.

IS PHILLIPS SATISFIED?

The Evidence is Convincing. The Testimony Open to Investigation.

Before a statement can be accepted here, it must be supported by local testimony—by the evidence of someone residing in Phillips. Statements from unknown people in remote places may be true, but we cannot prove them. Here is a statement by a Phillips resident:

"The public statement I gave several years ago regarding Doan's Kidney Pills, still holds good," says H. H. Vining, farmer, of Pleasant St., Phillips. "I have had no need of a kidney medicine since and I believe the cure is a permanent one. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Cragin's Drug Store, (now Preble's Drug Store), when I was suffering from kidney trouble and they cured me in a short time. I hope that other people who are suffering from kidney complaint will be led to try Doan's Kidney Pills by reading my statement."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Vining had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

PIANO TRUTHS

When you place your order for a piano with a city piano dealer you may make up your mind to this fact that you are paying him from $50 to $100 above the wholesale price of the piano to cover his "SELLING EXPENSE" and they charge you their profit on top of that. I CHALLENGE ANYBODY TO DENY THAT FACT PUBLICLY.
