"No man will ever live long enough to attend to his business and his neighbors."

Says the Chicago Advance: Maine always has a big man in the House.

Littlefield is performing that part for the Pine State now. Walter Wellman describes him as "the pugnacious, hard-hitting man from New England, tall, muscular, powerful, with a voice that must have been developed in competition with the winds singing in the pine woods. His gesticulations are those of the ax wielder, and his seat neighbors discreetly move out of arms' reach. He is one of the fastest talkers known to the stenographers. He drives like a sawmill and rips and tears through every knotty proposition with a wonderful flying of dust and chips and splinters all about him."

"Protection is panic proof," is the title of the recent speech of Senator J. H. Gallinger of New Hampshire. The speech has been issued in document form by the American Protective Tariff League. One copy will be forwarded to any address upon postal card request addressed to W. F. Wakeman, General Secretary, 339 Broadway, New York. Ask for Document No. 78.

A table has been prepared and issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor, indicating that, despite the great size of the appropriations, this country is per capita more cheaply maintained than any other in the world, with the exception of China and India, and possibly Russia. It costs, according to this, just $7.97 a year for each man, woman and child in the United States to run the government, as against $9.30 for Canada, $9.45 for the German Empire, $9.54 for Sweden, $10.09 for Spain, $11.45 for Portugal, $11.40 for the Netherlands, $12.40 for Cuba, $12.68 for Argentina, $14.27 for Austria-Hungary, $17.30 for Paraguay, $17.40 for Belgium, $17.84 for France, $21.39 for the United Kingdom, $37.69 for Australia and $38.38 for New Zealand. Russia's per capita expenditure is approximately the same as that of the United States.

This Week

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A review from the columns of the Rockland Gazette, of some of the events which interested Rockland and vicinity for the fortnight ending May 22, 1879.

John W. Meserve was appointed draughtsman for a large firm in Lockport, N. Y.

Gould & Perry removed to their new store in the Thorndike hotel block.

A four-deck barge intended to be accommodated 3000 passengers, was being built for Gen. Tillson at the yard of William Rogers.

Dudley T. Keen of the grocery firm of D. T. Keen & Son died quite suddenly at the age of 55. He had been in business a number of years and built up a good trade.

The store of J. P. Wise & Son was robbed of goods to the value of about $200.

Samuel Hewett and William A. Witham were appointed patrolmen.

Moses A. Dow, E. E. Ulmer, Joseph Abbott, Simeon Mank, P. A. Tower, Robert Paul, John W. Titus, James P. Robbins, Abijah Veazie, Cornelius Magee, Samuel Hassen and Orlando F. Brown were appointed special policemen.

Among the appointments made by the East Maine Methodist Conference were the following: Rockland, G. R. Palmer; Thomaston, W. H. Williams; South Thomaston, W. Apple; Fryland, D. P. Thompson; Cushing, Orel Tyler; Union, B. M. Mitchell; Camden, A. Church; Rockport, C. E. Libby.

Schooners Edward Lameyer and Riensel were bought by F. Cobb and others.

A daughter was born to Mrs. G. A. Vinal of Lowell, Mass., on the steamer Katabdin, bound from Boston to this city.

The Cobb Lime Co. was making preparations for the manufacture of cement and a plant was being built on the shore and bank west of Snow, Parsons & Co.'s store.

James Fernald leased the Snow wharf for the purpose of engaging in the coal and wood business.

A. J. Crockett was elected city marshal to succeed G. A. Spear, resigned.

Capt. Oliver Jordan died at his home in Thomaston at the advanced age of 90 years.

The village schools in South Thomaston were taught by home talent: Fred Rowell, the high school; Mrs. Kate Spaulding Sweetland the Upper, and Miss Helen Sweetland the Lower district.

There was excitement throughout the county over the reported discovery of a copper mine at Owl's Head.

Union mourned the death of two aged citizens, Charles Titus and Reuben Hagar.

Thomaston's heaviest individual tax payer was Edward E. O'Brien, whose tax amounted to $4,480. Edward O'Brien paid $2508 and Samuel Watts $1442.

Representative Murch made his maiden speech in Congress, advocating the passage of the eight-hour bill. The bill was tabled by a vote of 127 to 87.

The following births were recorded: Rockland, May 17, to Mr. and Mrs. R. Henry Burnham, a daughter.

Rockland, May 13, to Mr. and Mrs. John Williamson, a daughter.

Hurricane, May 14, to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dillon, a son.

Vinalhaven, May 14, to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Julian, a son.

Hope, May 4, to Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Spear, a son.

Hope, May 18, to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bartlett, a daughter.

Hope, May 18, to Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Handley, a son.

Rockland, May 3, to Mr. and Mrs. Girard Achorn, a son.

Rockland, April 28, to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bartlett, a son.

Rockland, May 11, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Corneau, a son.

Rockland, May 7, to Mr. and Mrs. Nathan B. Conant, a daughter.

South Thomaston, April 29, to Mr. and Mrs. Benj. D. Littlefield, a son.

The marriages of the two weeks were as follows:

Rockland, May 15, Albert F. Williams and Miss Fannie H. Witham, both of Rockland.

Rockland, May 17, Enoch F. Anderson and Miss Louise Hancock, both of Rockland.

Thomaston, May 12, Fred H. Thomas and Miss Flora A. Copeland, both of Thomaston.

Vinalhaven, May 17, Joseph M. Porter of Rockland, and Miss Sarah E. Tuffnell of Vinalhaven.

Rockland, May 10, J. Henry Stover and Miss Dora A. Kenniston, both of Rockland.

THE WILLIAM BISBEE LOST.

Fine Schooner of Snow Fleet Sunk in Collision with Steamboat.

I. L. Snow & Co., owners and builders of the schooner William Bisbee, received a telegram Sunday stating that the vessel had been sunk. Only meagre news of the disaster was received until the arrival of Monday's papers which told the story in the following despatch from New York, dated May 15:

The Anchor line steamship Furnessia, Capt. Young, which sailed from Glasgow on May 5, ran down and sank the schooner William Bisbee off Nantucket in a dense fog early this morning. The captain and crew of four men of the coaster had a close call for their lives, the steamer splitting their vessel in two. The mist was so thick that the lookout on the liner could not see a boat's length ahead. Before the schooner's lookout could raise an alarm the steamer was upon her.

The crash of timbers, as the prow of the liner cut into the schooner, aroused the watch on board the Furnessia. Capt. Young, who had the bridge, reversed his ship and stood by, lowering boats and shouting that he would save the men struggling in the water. The officers of the Furnessia ordered the schooner's crew to keep calling so that the rescuers might be guided to them.

The men who jumped were almost drawn into the vortex caused by the sinking of their vessel. Springing from the forecastle and other places on deck, they slashed away at the falls that held the boat, which dropped astern and cleared the sinking vessel.

The men forward had no chance at the boat and those astern were not much better off, so quick did the coaster go down and so complete was the wreck. The men who jumped from the stern of the schooner succeeded in gaining their boat before the steamer's boat picked them up. The others, who jumped from forward, were hauled into the steamer's boat in an exhausted condition.

Capt. Bernet of the schooner, which was bound from New York to Rockland, Me., was part owner. He said he had kept his horn blowing as required by the rules of the sea, and that the coaster, when struck, was nearly motionless. The captain said he had been in a fog from Friday afternoon, and that it had kept growing denser.

The Furnessia had 256 cabin and 337 steerage passengers aboard, many of whom were awakened by the shock of the collision. A panic was imminent, but the officers and stewards calmed the passengers' fears with great difficulty.

The crew of the liner gave the rescued men dry clothing and made them comfortable. Capt. Bernet said the collision could have been avoided with more care, but Capt. Young said he used all due precautions.

GOOD WAY TO DO BUSINESS.

W. F. Norcross Sells Reliable Remedy at Half Price and Guarantees a Cure.

When one can buy gold dollars for fifty cents, it is a good time to purchase.

In offering a 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at 25 cents, W. F. Norcross is giving one of the greatest trade chances ever offered to the people of Rockland.

Even though offered at half price for introductory purposes, the specific is sold under a guarantee to cure or the money will be refunded.

If food does not digest well, if there is gas or pain in the stomach, if the tongue is coated and the breath bad, if there is constipation and straining, Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not, you have drugists W. F. Norcross personal guarantee to return your money.

We Give Green Trading Stamps.

THOMASTON HAS IT.

The baseball fever is on the increase in Thomaston, and in fact is receiving some attention in Camden, Rockland and Warren.

"It would be mighty dull this summer if there was no baseball," said a prominent Thomaston fan a few days ago. And that's quite true in the sporting line. Our Thomaston correspondent ventures to assert that if Rockland and Camden will show their colors, Thomaston and Warren will put in a combination team.

LITTLEFIELD THE GUEST.

Louisiana Citizens Express Appreciation of His Work for Their State

Congressman Charles E. Littlefield, of Maine, was given a welcome by his New Orleans friends Saturday night, at a supper at the Restaurant de la Louisiane.

Those present were: Messrs. Frank B. Williams, Wm. Grant, Elmer E. Wood, W. J. Behan, Captain Seiders, Wm. P. Ross, H. Dugas, Captain John P. Merrill, A. K. Miller, Alden McLeilan, C. A. Farwell, T. J. Woodward, Charles S. Rice, James T. Hayden, Capt. W. W. Kimball, H. C. Warmoth, Charles Godchaux, Judge W. W. Howe, Pearl Wright.

The menu was excellent in every detail, and the evening was most agreeably spent in the enjoyment of the good things of the table and in the exchange of most friendly sentiments.

Mr. Farwell proved a most acceptable and witty toastmaster. Judge Howe proposed the health of Mr. Littlefield, and the distinguished guest made a graceful response to the compliment, saying that he would do his best, as a public man, to protect the interests of all his friends, be they from the North or from the South. Speeches were made by every one of the gentlemen present, and the greatest cordiality reigned until a late hour, when the merry company dispersed.—New Orleans Times.

ALSO OPPOSED LITTLEFIELD

It is very noticeable that the supporters of Hon. Wm. T. Cobb for governor that his opponents in Franklin county are very largely among those who opposed the nomination of Hon. Charles E. Littlefield for congress in his memorable fight, although the present opposition does not include so many men as Mr. Littlefield had against him. Many who were against Littlefield are now strong supporters of his friend, Cobb, for governor. The talk by the Fernald newspaper to the effect that Mr. Fernald is the anti-monopolist candidate, the temperance candidate, and the granite candidate to a greater extent than is Mr. Cobb, provokes a very broad smile. The truth is that Mr. Fernald is an awfully good fellow and a gentleman who would make a good governor if he could get the nomination—which he can't.—Maine Woodman.

WAS LOYAL SUPPORTER.

Rockland, May 17.

Editor of the Courier-Gazette:

In Rev. Mr. Owen's letter of April 15 he refers to a letter from a staunch Republican who feels an uncertainty as to Mr. Cobb's attitude toward enforcers of the prohibitory law, stating that when a special officer was appointed "A" number 78.

He gave them little or no support. To set all such at ease I would state that J. B. Loring of this city (now deceased) who was instrumental in having appointed a liquor constable, and who was himself a most ardent prohibitionist, counted Hon. Wm. T. Cobb one of his most loyal supporters, both in word and that which speaks volumes, money. R. B. Loring.

A SENSIBLE DEDUCTION

Congressman Littlefield will present the name of Hon. Wm. T. Cobb at the Bangor convention. It is needless to say that Charles E. Littlefield would never present the name of any man to the Republicans of Maine as a candidate for governor whom he did not know to be friendly to the cause of prohibition.—Kennebec Journal.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Spring Twilight.

Like quiet stars that one by one Amid the dreamland of the blue Steal forth to view,

So now at dusk, when day is done, Old recollections come, and bring A garland for the brow of care.

I wander where the crescent moon Sends down the phantom of a smile, And where, the while,

A single thrush's twilight tune, Is sounding from the top of a tree Into the shadow of my breast.

O resurrection of the Spring, A miracle of birth thou art, In every part.

They that were dumb arise and sing, And ghosts of dead existence start To life in corners of my heart.

You should bake at home; you get purer and better food.

But look well to your baking powder! It is a most important ingredient in your baking, and one very apt to be adulterated. Be sure it is made of pure cream of tartar.

The best way to be absolutely certain is to buy Cleveland's, well known to be a pure, cream of tartar baking powder, and the strongest and most wholesome made.

shops are closed Friday morning.
The police start out Monday with warrants to kill all unlicensed dogs.

Rev. H. L. Holt of Rockport will lead the meeting at Glen Cove Sunday afternoon at 1.30.

The office of the Singer Sewing Machine Co. has been removed from Spencer block to the store under A. S.
Baker's insurance office.

R. C. Rankin will arrive in Rockland about the tenth of June, from San Francisco, and open his dancing classes
for the summer season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Meservey,
Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Newell, Mrs.
Nellie Farrand and Mrs. E. A. Bragg
have been attending the Grand Lodge
of Eastern Star in Biddeford this week.

The first consignment of St. Louis exhibition stamps arrived at the post office Wednesday and are now on sale,
but it is worth remembering that they are sold only upon application. There are five denominations, descriptive of the history of the Louisiana purchase.

The long-continued wet spell, this spring, has been the cause of the baseball
fans of the wet season a few years ago
when an attempt was made to launch
a state league. There was water enough for the launching, all right, but
the league was drowned out of existence after a few weeks' struggle.

The closing attraction for the season
at the Farwell opera house will be the greatest of all farce comedies "Looping
the Loop." More laughter, more funny sayings, more good, bright and original comedies than ever seen together in one aggregation. A great company of fun makers Looping the Loop for miles around. Ross Show as Happy Hooligan
loops the loop in the closing of act two.
Two performances in this city. Decoration Day, afternoon and evening, the closing performance of the season.

William Bisbee is home from Virginia where he has been setting out
ship timber for Cobb, Butler & & I. L. Snow & Co. He was ignorant of the disaster to the schooner William Bisbee until he arrived in Boston when he met H. M.
Bean and Capt. John G. Crowley and learned the news from them. The vessel not only bears his name but carried a cargo of timber which he cut this winter and which he owned. His loss is less than half covered by insurance.

The Bisbee has been towed to New York. The steamer Furness which ran into her has been libelled by Capt.
Richard Snow and Capt. John Bernet.

The new uniforms ordered by J. P.
Gregory & Son for the Rockland Military Band, arrived Wednesday and have been viewed admiringly by the band
and boys and their friends. The coat and cap are maroon color, and trimmed with black braid and soutache. The pantaloons are bottle green in color and are ornamented on the side with a wide stripe of black braid. In short the uniforms are very showy, but will be worn in public for the first time on Memorial Day, when the band has an engagement to play for P. Henry Tillson Post, G. A. R., at Thorndike.

The band will give a short concert at the foot of Park street before going to Thorndike. The uniforms will also be seen to good advantage on the Bangor excursion of June 28-29.

that Claremont visited Dunlap, so that very friendly relations exist between Rockland and Bath Sir Knights. Claremont
has not yet arranged for St.

The annual session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, was held in Portland this week. Three ballots were required to elect a grand keeper of records and seals, and the result was a disappointment to the Knox county Knights. A. A. Beaton being defeated
by the narrow margin of a few votes.
W. E. Ricker of Portland landed the plum. Lodges have been established at Camden, Bangor and other places. There has been a net increase in membership of 447. There are 129 lodges.

The Italian bark Francesca, bound from Augusta, Sicily, with salt for Eastport, honored our harbor with a visit Wednesday. She had been 75 days on the passage, eight of which were spent in laying out waiting for the fog to lift. Capt. Antonino Russo was in command. His first shore duty was to look up Lily Peladino, who was taken aboard by the Italian bark. She has a cordial greeting for his fellow countrymen. Capt. Wilson, formerly of the schooner Catawamuck, has been engaged to pilot the bark to Eastport.

The Camden & Rockland Water Co.
will not only remove the old six-inch pipe on Limerock street, but also the eight-inch pipe from Limerock to Rankin, on Union street, and about 2500 feet of six-inch pipe on Cedar street. The pipe was laid by the old water company just prior to the sale of the plant
to the Camden & Rockland Water Co.,
and is no longer necessary to the system. The majority of it is found in practically as good condition as when it was laid, and will be used in an extension of the system at Camden.

Commencing this Friday the Rockland
barber shops will close at noon, and not re-open until 6 o'clock, morning,
thus giving the "barber" a half holiday,
in which to go fishing or see the ball games. On the other hand the shops will now remain open Tuesday evenings, instead of closing at 8 o'clock.

The arrangement will probably be a little awkward for the customers until they get the hang of it, and is inconvenient to the barbers, inasmuch as they will have closed at 6 o'clock
to go to work on their busy Saturdays.
They know better than the public what they prefer, however, and will doubtless derive much pleasure from the new arrangement.

In our Twenty-Five Years Ago column this week appears the announcement that Gould & Perry had moved into the Thorndike hotel block. It is interesting in this connection to note that William J. Perry, the survivor of that firm, has been in the boat and shoe business longer than any other man in this city. March 1st, 1865 he began clerking for the late John T.
Berry, 24 (father) of E. W. and A. M.
Berry. In the old Spofford store on the site of Burpee & Lamb's present store.
September 1st, 1870, he bought C. C.
Chandler's interest in the firm of Gould & Chandler, located in the Farnsworth store, now occupied by Walter H. Spear. May 19, 1879 Gould
& Perry moved into the store now occupied by Mr. Perry; consequently he has been a tenant of the quarter of a century on Thursday. The other boot and shoe firms in existence here
when Mr. Perry began clerking were
H. N. Keene, Gay & Jones (Oliver Gay & Frank Jones) T. A. Wentworth
and J. T. Berry, 24. "The class of goods has so changed that it is impossible to compare prices with those of the present day," said Mr. Perry to a Courier-Gazette reporter. "They tell
about the extreme cost of rubber goods,
but today we are selling rubber boots
at $3.50 which were sold back in the 60's for $5.50. Men's articles over-which were sold for $1.50 were then just coming into style, and sold for $3.75. Men's rubbers which were sold for $1.25 can now be bought for 85 cents. Calf boots, pegged and stitched, were worn by nearly everybody. There were very few shoes, and those came in bulk. Shoe-boxes were an after thought. For ladies' footwear
there were serge congress boots, and serge bala. Buttocks machines were unknown. In recent years there has been a remarkable improvement in the appearance of footwear, but the styles
change constantly and rapidly. Shoes which were sold no longer ago than three years, would now be laughed at.
Pointed toes are again coming into vogue." The present store of W. J.
Perry is owned by the estate of John T. Berry & Berry Brothers.
Mr. Perry, who is also one of the city's most enthusiastic sportsmen, enjoys
the well earned reputation of being a square business man, well-liked by his patrons.

WHAT IS OSTEOPATHY?

Osteopathy is a new system of treating diseased conditions of the human body without medicine or the knife. It has been demonstrated by this practice that a great majority of general diseases have their first cause in mechanical disorder, and that when these disorders are corrected the result is a natural recovery without chemical interference. Though this new practice is based upon an accurate and practical knowledge of anatomy, physiology, and all that is known of the parts and processes of the human body in health and disease, the osteopathic school makes an entirely new application of these facts. It is a complete science of healing, radically different from medicine. Swedish movement, massage, and all other systems. No drugs are used. All work is done by manual methods, and results are secured by an intelligent
direction of forces within the body,
and are permanent.

Osteopathy bases its claim to rank
as a science of healing upon the fact that it is a complete science of healing,
radically different from medicine, and relation between an organ and the central nervous system.

The course of instruction in the Osteopathic schools includes all branches found in the curriculum of the best medical colleges, materia
medica and operative surgery excepted,
and is a three years' course.

CHAPTER XXXIX. THE NEWS.

"Lady Kitty! Lady Kitty! Have you heard the news?"

Thus, breathless, the countess of Warrington, Lady Catharine's English neighbor in exile, who burst into the drawing-room early in the morning, not waiting for announcement of her presence.

"Nay, not yet, my dear," said Lady Catharine, advancing and embracing her. "What is it, pray? Has the poodle swallowed a bone, or the baby perhaps cut another tooth? And, forsooth, how is the little one?"

"The streets are full of it," said she. "Have you not heard, really?"

"I must say, not yet. But what is it?"

"Why, the quarrel between the regent and his director-general, Mr. Law."

"No, I have not heard of it," Lady Catharine said, looking behind her own fan. "But tell me," she continued, "but that is not all. 'Twas the reason for the quarrel. Paris is all agog. 'Twas about a woman!"

"You mean—there was a woman?"

"Yes, it all happened last night, at the Palais Royal. The woman is dead—died last night. 'Twas she fell in a fit at the very table—'twas at a little supper given by the regent—and that when they came to her she was quite dead."

"But Mr. Law—"

"'Twas he that killed her!"

"Good God! What mean you?" cried Lady Catharine, her own face blanching behind her protecting fan. The blood swept back upon her heart, leaving her cold as a statue.

"Why," continued the caller, in her own excitement to tell the news scarce noting what went on before her, "it seems that this mysterious beauty of the regent's, of whom there has been so much talk, proved to be none other than a former mistress of this same Mr. Law, who is reputed to have been somewhat given to that sort of thing, though of late monstrous virtuous, for some cause or other, Mr. Law came suddenly upon her at the table of the regent, arrayed in some kind of savage finery—for 'twas in fashion a mask that evening, as you must know. And what do my director-general do, so high and mighty? Why, in spite of the regent, in some manner those present, he upbraids her, taunts her, reviles her, demanding that she fall on her knees before him, as it seems indeed she would have done—

as, forsooth, half the dames of Paris would do before him. Then, all of a sudden, my lord director changes, and craves pardon of the woman and of the regent, and so stalks off and leaves the woman! And now then the poor creature walks to the table, would lift a glass of wine, and so—'tis over! 'Twas like a play! Indeed all Paris is like a play nowadays. Of course you know the rest."

A gesture of negative came from the hand that lay in Lady Catharine's lap. The busy gossip went on.

"The regent, be sure, was angry enough at this cheapening of his own wares before all, and perhaps 'tis true he had a fancy for the woman. At any rate, 'tis said that this very morning he quarreled hotly with Mr. Law. The latter gave back words hot as he received, and so they had it violent enough. 'Tis stated on the Quinquennal point that another must take Mr. Law's place. But if Mr. Law goes, what will become of the system? And what would the system be without Mr. Law? And what would Paris be without the system? Why, listen, Lady Catharine! I gained 50,000 livres yesterday, and my coachman, the marshal, in some manner seems to have done quite as well for himself. I doubt not he will yet build a mansion of his own, and perhaps my husband may drive for him! These be strange days indeed. I only hope they may continue, in spite of what my husband says."

"And what says he?" asked Lady Catharine, her own voice sounding to her unfamiliar and far away.

"Why, that the city is mad, and that this soon must end—this Mississippi bubble, as my Lord Etair calls it at the embassy."

"You did not tell me, Lady Emily," said she, with a woman's feigned indifference, "what was the name of this poor woman of the other evening?"

"Why, so I had forgot—and 'tis said that Mr. Law, after all, comforted himself something of the gentleman. No one knows how far back the affair runs, nor how serious it was. And indeed I have seen no one who ever heard of the woman before."

"And the name?"

"'Twas said Mr. Law called her Mary Connings."

The big fly, deep down in the crystal cage, buzzed on audibly; and to one who heard it, the drone of the lazy wings seemed like the roar of a thousand tempests.

CHAPTER XL. MASTER AND MAN.

John Law, idle, preoccupied, sat

raising out at the busy scenes of the street before him. The room in which he found himself was one of a suite in that magnificent Hotel de Soisson, bought but recently of the Prince de Carignan for the sum of 1,400,000 livres, which had of late been chosen as the temple of Fortune. The great gardens of this distinguished site were now filled with hundreds of tents and kiosks, which offered quarters for the wild mob of speculators which surged and swirled and fought throughout the narrow avenues, contending for the privilege of buying the latest issue of the priceless shares of the Company of the Indies.

The system was at its height. The bubble was blown to its last limit. The popular delirium had grown to its last possible degree.

From the window these mad mobs of infuriated human beings might have seemed so many little ants, running about as though their home had been destroyed above their heads. They hastened as though fleeing from the breath of some devouring flame. Surely the point of flame was there, at that focus of Paris, this focus of all Europe, and thence, refined was the quality of this heat, burning out the hearts of those distracted ones.

Law looked over this familiar scene, indifferent, calm, almost moody, his cheek against his hand, his elbow on his chair. "What was the call, Henri?" asked he, at length, of the old Swiss who had, during these stormy times, been so long his faithful attendant. "What was the last quotation that you heard?"

"Your honor, there are no quotations," replied the attendant. "'Tis only as one is able to buy. The actions of the last issue, 300,000 in all, were swept away at a breath at 15,000 livres the share."

"Ninety times what their face demands," said Law, impassively.

"True, some 90 times," said the Swiss. "'Tis said that of this issue the regent has taken over one-third, or 300,000, himself. 'Tis this that makes the price of the other two-thirds run the higher, since 'tis all that the public has to buy."

"Lucky regent," said Law, sententiously. "Plenty would seem to have been his fortune!"

He grimly turned again to his study of the crowds which swarmed among the pavilions before his window. Outside his door he heard knockings and cries, and impatient footfalls, but neither he nor the impassive Swiss paid to these the least attention. It was to them an old experience.

"Your honor, the Prince de Conti is in the ante-chamber and would see you," at length ventured the attendant, after listening for some time with his ear at an aperture in the door.

"Let the Prince de Conti wait," said Law, "and a plague take him for a grasping miser! He has gained enough. Time was when I waited at his door."

"The Abbe Dubois—here is his message pushed beneath the door."

"My dearest enemy," replied Law, calmly. "The old rat may seek another burrow."

"The Duchesse de la Rochefoucauld."

"Ah, then, she hath overcome her husband's righteousness of resolution, and would be a share or so? Let her wait. I find these duchesses the most tiresome animals in the world."

"The Madame de Tencin."

"I cannot see the Madame de Tencin."

"A score of dukes and foreign princes. My faith! master, we have never had so large a line of guests as come this morning." The stolid impassiveness of the Swiss seemed on the point of giving way.

"Let them wait," replied Law, evenly as before. "Not one of them would listen to me five years ago. Now I shall listen to them—shall listen to them knocking at my door, as I have knocked at theirs. To-day I am weary, and not of mind to see any one. Let them wait."

At last there arose yet a greater tumult in the hall which led to the door. A squad of guardsmen pushed through the packed ranks with the cry: "For the king!" The regent of France stood at the closed door of the man who was still the real ruler of France, who was still the real ruler of France.

"Open, open, in the name of the king!" cried one, as he beat loudly on the panels.

Two severe cases of Ovarian Trouble and two terrible operations avoided. Mrs. Emmons and Mrs. Coleman each tell how they were saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it.

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't daily with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."—MRS. LAURA EMMONS, Walkerville, Ont.

Another Case of Ovarian Trouble Cured Without an Operation.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For several years I was troubled with ovarian trouble and a painful and inflamed condition, which kept me in bed part of the time. I did so dread a surgical operation. I tried different remedies hoping to get better, but nothing seemed to bring relief until a friend told me of your compound, induced me to try it. I took it faithfully for three months, and at the end of that time was glad to find that I was a well woman. Health is nature's best gift to woman, and if you lose it, can have it restored through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel that all suffering women should know of this."—MRS. LAURA BELLE COLEMAN, Commercial Hotel, Nashville, Tenn.

It is well to remember such letters as above when some druggist tries to get you to buy something which he says is "just as good." That is impossible, as no other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; accept no other and you will be glad.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address: Lynn, Mass.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove the absolute genuineness of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Co., Lynn, Mass.

Law turned languidly toward the attendant. "Henri," said he, "tell them to be more quiet."

"My master, 'tis the regent!" exclaimed the other, with somewhat of anxiety in his tones.

"Let him wait," replied Law, coolly. "I have waited for him."

"But, my master, they protest, they clamor—"

"Very well. Let them do so—but stay. If it is indeed the regent, I may as well meet him now and say that which is in my mind. Open the door."

The door swung open and there entered the form of Philippe of Orleans, preceded by his halberdiers and followed close by a rush of humanity which the guards and would see that which is in my mind. Open the door."

The door swung open and there entered the form of Philippe of Orleans, preceded by his halberdiers and followed close by a rush of humanity which the guards and would see that which is in my mind. Open the door."

"Let the Prince de Conti wait," said Law, "and a plague take him for a grasping miser! He has gained enough. Time was when I waited at his door."

"The Abbe Dubois—here is his message pushed beneath the door."

"My dearest enemy," replied Law, calmly. "The old rat may seek another burrow."

"The Duchesse de la Rochefoucauld."

"Ah, then, she hath overcome her husband's righteousness of resolution, and would be a share or so? Let her wait. I find these duchesses the most tiresome animals in the world."

"The Madame de Tencin."

"I cannot see the Madame de Tencin."

"A score of dukes and foreign princes. My faith! master, we have never had so large a line of guests as come this morning." The stolid impassiveness of the Swiss seemed on the point of giving way.

"Let them wait," replied Law, evenly as before. "Not one of them would listen to me five years ago. Now I shall listen to them—shall listen to them knocking at my door, as I have knocked at theirs. To-day I am weary, and not of mind to see any one. Let them wait."

At last there arose yet a greater tumult in the hall which led to the door. A squad of guardsmen pushed through the packed ranks with the cry: "For the king!" The regent of France stood at the closed door of the man who was still the real ruler of France, who was still the real ruler of France.

"Open, open, in the name of the king!" cried one, as he beat loudly on the panels.

Indigestion, Constipation, Dyspepsia and Weak Kidneys are foes to good health. Cure them at once by taking the Bitters. They cure even the most severe cases. Doctors endorse it. Try a bottle. It is also unequalled as a preventive of Malaria, Fever and Ague.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

"Well, what of that?" queried the regent, weakly.

"Nothing, your grace, except that your grace deserves the punishment of death."

"How, sir! Good God!"

"If the truth of this matter should ever become known, those people out there, that France yonder, would tear your grace limb from limb, and trample you to the dust!"

The livid face of the regent went paler as the other spoke. There was conviction in those tones which could not fail to reach even his heavy wits.

"Let me explain," went on Law. "I beg your grace to remember again, that when your grace was good enough to take out of the hands of my brother and myself our little bank—which we had run honorably and successfully—you change at once sweep the whole principle of honest banking. You promised to pay a note back of which there was no value, no fixed limit of measurement. Twice you have changed the coinage of the realm, and twice assigned a new value to your specie. No one can tell what one of your shares in the stock of the Indies means in actual coin. It means nothing, stands for nothing, is good for nothing. Now, think you, when these people, when this France shall discover these facts, that they will be lenient with those who have thus deceived them?"

"Yet your theory always was that we had too great a scarcity of money here in France," expostulated the regent.

"True, so I did. We had not enough of good money. We cannot have too little of false money, of money such as your grace—as you thought without my knowledge—has been so eager to issue from the presses of our company. It had been an easy thing for the regent of France to pay off all the debts of the world from now until the verge of eternity, had not his presses given out. Money of that sort, your grace, is such as any man could print for himself, did he but have the linen and the ink."

The regent again dropped to his chair, his head falling forward upon his breast.

"But what does it all mean? What shall be done? What will be the result?" he asked, his voice showing well enough the anxiety which had swiftly fallen upon his soul.

"As to that," replied Law, laconically. "I am no longer master here. I am not controller of finance. Appoint Dubois, appoint D'Argenson. Send for the Brothers Esprit. Take them to this window, your grace, and show them your people, show them your France, and then ask them to tell you what shall be done. Cry out to all the world, as I know you will, that this was the fault of an unknown adventurer, of a Scotch gambler, of one John Law, who brought forth some pretentious schemes to the detriment of the realm. Saddle upon me the blame for all this ruin which is coming. Malign me, misrepresent me, imprison me, exile me, behead me if you like, and blame John Law for the discomfiture of France!"

But when you come to seek your remedies, when you seek the controller of the finances of France, as savior or destroyer of the welfare of these people of France, and of that America which is greater than this France—tell me, what will you do, your grace? What do you suggest as remedy?"

"You devil! you arch fiend!" exclaimed the regent, starting up and laying his hand on his sword. "There is no punishment you do not deserve! You will leave me in this plight—you, who have supplanted me at every turn; you, who made that horrible scene but last night at my own table, within the very gates of the Palais Royal; you, the murderer of the woman I adored! And now, you mocker and flouter of what may be my bitterest misfortune—why, sir, no punishment is sharp enough for you! Why do you stand there, sir? Do you dare to mock me—to mock us, the person of the king?"

"I mock not in the least, your grace," said John Law, "nor do I ought else that ill befits a gentleman. I should have been proud to be known as the friend of Philippe of Orleans, yet I stand before that Philippe of Orleans and tell him that that man doth not live, nor that set of errors exist, which can frighten John Law, nor cause him to depart from that stand which he once has taken. Sir, if you seek to frighten me, you fail."

"But, look you—consider," said the regent. "Something must be done."

"As I said," replied Law.

"But what is going to happen? What will the people do?"

"First," said Law, judiciously, sticking at the deep lake of his cuff as though he were taking into consideration the price of a wig or cane, "first, the price of a share having gone to 12,000 livres this morning, by two o'clock will be so low as 10,000. By three o'clock this afternoon it will be 6,000. Then, your grace, there will be panic. Then the spell will be broken. France will rub her eyes and begin to awaken. Then, since the king can do no wrong, and since the regent is the king, your grace can do one of two things. He can send a body-guard to watch my door, or he can see John Law torn into fragments, as these people would tear the real author of their undoing, did they but recognize him."

"But can nothing be done to stop this? Can it not be accommodated?"

"Ask yourself. But I must go on to say what these people will do. All at once they will remember the facts for their notes. The Prince de Conti will drive his coaches to the door of your bank, and demand that they be loaded with gold. Jacques and Raoul and Pierre, and every peasant and pavior in Paris will come with boxes and panniers, and each there will also demand his gold. Make edicts, your grace. Publish broadcast and force out into publicity, on every highway of France, your decree that gold and silver are no so good as your bank notes; that no one must have gold or silver; that no one must send his gold and silver out of France, but that all must bring it to the king and take for it in exchange these notes of yours. Try that. It ought to succeed, ought it not, your grace?" His bantering tone sank into one of half pleasantry.

Whiskey and Beer Habit

PERMANENTLY CURED BY

"ORRINE,"

ABSOLUTELY SAFE, SURE AND HARMLESS.

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine acts as a stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health. No "will power" can heal the inflamed stomach membranes. "ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, improving the appetite and restoring the health. Can be given secretly if desired.

Cure Effectuated or Money Refunded.

Ask your druggist whom you know what he thinks of ORRINE; he will inform you statements as truthful in every respect. If ORRINE fails to cure we will refund you every penny paid for it as cheerfully as we took it.

No Sanitarium Treatment or Publicity!

No Absence from home or loss of time! Mothers, wives and sisters, you cannot cure those who are afflicted with this most terrible of all diseases by your fervent prayers, or eyes red with tears, nor by your hope that they may stop drinking. It can be done only with ORRINE. You have the remedy—will you use it? If you desire to cure without the knowledge of the patient, buy ORRINE No. 1: if the patient desires to be cured of his own free will, buy ORRINE No. 2. Full directions found in each package. Price $1 per box. We will gladly furnish a treatment, free of cost to any physician to demonstrate that Orrine is a positive specific for drunkenness.

THE ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION

The Courier-Gazette's Voting Contest, Through Which Four Knox County Persons Will Be Sent to St. Louis Free of All Charges.

The Courier-Gazette again presents one of its high-class voting contests, the winners in which will be sent to the great St. Louis Exposition, this paper paying all expenses from Rockland to St. Louis and return.

Class A.—This class is open to any person living in Rockland.

Class B.—This class is open to any person living in Knox County outside of Rockland.

The winner in each class will be the one receiving the highest number of votes. Each winner will be entitled to invite one friend, the expenses of the four to be paid by this paper.

Read the Rules of the Contest which will govern in all particulars. Contest will close at the business office of The Courier-Gazette at 6 o'clock p. m. on THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, 1904. The last coupon will be printed in the issue of Tuesday, August 9, but votes can be turned in up to the hour of closing. The votes will be counted immediately after 6 o'clock.

RULES OF CONTEST.

A coupon will be printed in each issue of the paper. The coupon will bear the name of the month in which it is printed, and must be sent in for counting not later than the last day of the succeeding month—thus, all coupons marked "March" must be sent in not later than April, 30, and so on.

Coupons should be put in packages of ten, plainly marked with the name of the person for whom the votes are intended, and the class in which they are placed. It is essential to the contest that the names of not less than two contestants appear in each class and remain actively engaged until the close. In the event of the withdrawal of all active candidates but one, there can be no contest and the prize will be withdrawn.

1. For every yearly new subscriber to this paper a $2 vote will be given. A new subscriber may pay as many years in advance as he wishes and receive votes at the rate of $2 for each year paid, but all these payments must be made in advance at one time.

2. For every $2 paid by present subscribers, either arrearages of accounts or in advance on present subscription, one hundred votes will be given.

3. Changes in subscriptions from one member to another of the same family, etc., made for obvious purpose of securing the increased number of votes given to new subscribers, cannot be permitted.

There will be no single votes for sale; votes can only be obtained as above set forth. Those who will be counted each Wednesday and Saturday morning during the contest and the figures of such counting printed in the following issue of the paper.

Book Premium Coupons.—Persons buying a copy of the humorous book, "What Happened to Wigginsworth," in connection with subscribing to the paper, will be issued votes same as for the paper. Thus, $2 paid for a new subscription entitles to 50 votes, and $1.50 paid for the book entitles to 150 votes.

WORLD'S FAIR HOTEL
ACCOMMODATIONS.

St. Louis Hoteliers Prepared to Handle Vast Throughs—Prices Not to Be Increased—Hotel Inside of the Exposition Grounds With a Capacity For 6,000 Guests.

Ample hotel accommodations have been provided for the World's Fair visitors at St. Louis both within and outside of the Exposition grounds.

The Exposition management has organized a free information service. A pamphlet has been issued for gratuitous circulation explaining many of the conveniences that have been provided. A list of all the hotels, with rates, is contained in this pamphlet.
The entire city has been canvassed,
and many thousands of private house-

PORTION OF VARIOUS INDUSTRIES BUILD-ING, WORLD'S FAIR.

holders have arranged to receive visitors. These houses are in every section of the city, and the rates at which guests will be received is a matter of record on the books of the bureau.
The inside inn, a hotel on the Exposition grounds, has a capacity for 6,000 guests. The Exposition management has control of the rates, which have been fixed at from $1.50 to $3.50
per day, European plan, including admission to the grounds. On the American plan the rates range from $3 to $5 per day. The hotel is 400 by 800 feet
and is three stories high.

Among the new hotels may be mentioned the Hotel Napoleon Bonaparte, which stands at Clayton avenue and Sinker road, overlooking the Exposition grounds. This hotel will accommodate 5,000 persons. The rates, European plan, are from $1 to $5 per day. The Grand View hotel, south of the Exposition, on Oakland avenue, has a capacity for 5,000 guests, and the rates are $1 to $1.50 per day, European,
and $2 to $2.50 per day on the American plan. The Kenilworth, on West Park boulevard and Billon avenue, has a capacity of 1,500 guests, with a rate of $1.50 per day.

The above mentioned are a few of the new hotels that have been erected near the Exposition grounds for the accommodation of World's Fair visitors. All tell there are about two score. All are within easy walking distance, and all
are situated on high ground, with comprehensive views of the grounds. All of the structures are well built, and in some of them the most luxurious quarters are obtainable. The rates are established and will not be increased during the Exposition.

NEW MUSIC FOR WORLD'S FAIR

Three Compositions by Famous People.

Musical people and all who appreciate good music may thank the World's Fair for three notable compositions,
written upon the invitation of the Exposition management. These are the "Hymn of the West," by the most distinguished living American poet,
Edmund Clarence Steadman, the music
for which was written by Professor John K. Paine, who is at the head of the music department of Harvard university; "Louisiana," a march by Frank Vanderstucken, leader of the Cincinnati Orchestra; a waltz, "Along the Plaza," by Henry K. Hadley of New York, who has won his laurels
long before this as writer of operatic and other musical compositions. This music will be heard publicly for the first time upon the opening of the Exposition on Saturday, April 30, and frequently thereafter in the musical programmes of the greatest of world's fairs. These are the only official compositions.

Thirty thousand dollars will be given
in prizes for the best bands at a tournament to be held during the Exposition. All through the World's Fair
the musical feature will be prominent.
The most famous bands of the world
are under contract to participate during considerable periods. Among these are Le Garde Republicaine band of France, the Royal Grenadier band of England, the American National band,
Bousa's band and others.

MARTINSVILLE.

MORRIS-BICKMORE.

A very pleasant event was the wedding of the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Bickmore, Martinsville, Saturday evening, May 14. The contracting parties were John Morris, Jr. of Long Cove, and Miss Fannie Alta, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bick-
more of Martinsville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles E.
Gould, the impressive ring service being used. The spacious parlor was prettily decorated with wild flowers,
potted plants and evergreens, and at one end of the room was tastefully arranged a beautiful arch of pink and green, under which the happy couple was to stand. About fifty guests eagerly awaited the appearance of the bride and groom, and to the strains of the wedding march rendered by Miss Ina
M. Rawley, the bride and groom were presented. The bride, Miss Fannie Alta, was dressed in white, and wearing white ribbons to form an aisle through which the bride party was to pass.
Then came the bridesmaid and best man, followed by the little flower girls and the bridesmaids. The bride was prettily attired in a gown of white silk, lace and chiffon, and her veil was caught with sprays of lilies
of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Ellen Morris, a sister of the groom,
wore a most becoming costume of pale blue crepe-de-chine. The flower girls, were Mabel and Edith Morris, wearing
little gowns of white, and bearing baskets laden with beautiful flowers.
George Morris, the best man, is a brother of the groom. At the close of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Morris received the hearty congratulations and good wishes of the guests, after which refreshments were served. The popularity of the bride and groom was attested by the number of gifts received.
Among the gifts were the following: Silver knives and forks, Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Bickmore; teaspoons, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Teale; dessert spoons, Capt.
and Mrs. W. F. Gould; Mr. and Mrs.
F. A. Gould; Mr. and Mrs. Warren
Pease; berry spoon, Mr. and Mrs. F.
W. Hart; cream ladle, Mr. and Mrs.
Thomas Hooper; cream ladle, Mr.
Morton Hooper; cream ladle, Mr.
Bond; soup ladle, Mr. and Mrs. W. H.
Moody; cake fork, Miss Lena Harris;
sugar shaker and butter knife, Wm. Barter; sugar shaker, Mrs. R. R. Roberts;
chocolate pot, Mr. and Mrs. M. J.
Harris; cake basket, Mrs. M. A. Hart;
Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Martin, Mr. J. W.
Hupper; glass salt and pepper, Mrs.
G. W. Barter; carving set, Capt. and
Mrs. Joe W. Morris; family bible,
George Morris; berry dish, Mrs.
T. B. Harris; glass water set, Mr.
and Mrs. Joseph Morris; clock, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hooper and family; lamp,
Mr. George Morris; toilet set, Mr.
John Morris; glass vinegar cruet, Mr.
and Mrs. Phineas Harris; sofa pillow,
Miss Ina M. Rawley; table linen, Mrs.
Alice Marshall; table cloth, Mrs. A.
Kings; Cello, Mr. and Mrs. W. Balano;
napkins, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Bachelder;
table linen, Mrs. C. J. Harris; towels,
Mrs. Emma Keene; lamp, bed spread,
towel, napkins, chenille table cover,
Mrs. John Morris. The bride and groom
also each received a check of ten dollars, a gift of the groom's parents.

INVITATION C. H. PENDLETON AND
W. H. KITTREDGE

Leading Rockland Druggists Urge You to Try Hyomel, the Guarantee Cure for Catarrh.

Any reader of the Courier-Gazette who suffers with catarrh, or who is subject to catarrhal colds, is invited to
C. H. Pendleton and W. H. Kittredge's store for a complete Hyomel outfit on approval. No condition are they that Hyomel will cure the worst and most deep-seated case of catarrh that they will furnish a full month's treatment
of Hyomel on trial.

While it would be unreasonable to expect a chronic case of catarrh which has been growing worse for years,
could be cured within a month, yet
they feel sure that thirty days' treatment will convince the user that Hy-
omel is infallible in driving catarrhal poison from the system. There is no dangerous stomach drugging when Hy-omel is used. Simply breathe the steam from the lungs, and drive catarrhal poison from the system. Nothing else will so quickly cure a cold in the head or stop
an ordinary cough.

Singers and public speakers will find Hyomel invaluable. It strengthens the voice and gives it a rich, clear tone.
Catarrhal deafness is cured when Hy-omel and the special Hyomel balm are used.

The complete outfit costs only one dollar, and, after using, you can say that it did not help you they will return your money.

THOMASTON NEWS.

The G. I. Robinson Drug Company

was in town last week caulking a boat
for Geo. R. Cazalis.

Carroll W. Clark, agent for the Union
Mutual Life Insurance Company of Portland has spent two weeks on the island doing business.

Fog and rain seem to be the order of the day. We hope for something better soon.

Quick Arrest.

J. A. Gullidge of Verdena, Ala., was taken to the hospital from a severe case of piles causing 24 tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly arrested further inflammation and cured him. It conquered aches and kills pain. 25 cents
at W. H. Kittredge's, druggist.

Age Told by Figure.

The woman who follows an outdoor sport is usually a very graceful woman. The woman who takes to the rocking chair at 9 o'clock in the morning and who sits all day, getting out
for only a few minutes, is not the woman who will preserve her figure. At forty this woman will look her age,
and at fifty she will look a great deal older. Don't forget that age is told not by the lines on the face, but by the figure. The middle aged figure is well known. The hips and abdomen are prominent, and there is fat on the shoulder blades. There is a withered figure, thin above the waist line and heavy on the hips. This is the stage
when a woman begins to look as though she were seventy long before
she has lived over her sixties.

Small Towels.

The housekeeper who has not discovered the value of the small towel
in her household economics has something yet to learn. It is only recently that they have been used to any extent
in private families, but their usefulness is making them increasingly popular. This is the towel that has heretofore been known as the hotel size.
It is the small hand towel that is used
in large quantities in public places,
where many people use a towel only once. A large towel would be inconvenient, and the ordinary towel would make at least twice the bulk to send to the laundry.

Are Women Too Active?

The women of this generation are undoubtedly suffering from too much occupation. The listless, bored, discontented, unsettled girl of twenty years ago has given place to the restless, energetic and positively business woman thirsting for fresh outlets for enterprise. We are caught up in the whirlwind of modern unrest, and we imagine we are happy because we have no time to think anything to the contrary.—Ladies' Field.

DO YOU GET UP

WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp-Root,
the great kidney, liver
and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but it cures kidney,
liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper
who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Elgin-hamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and one dollar bottles
dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Don't make any mistake, but remember
the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Elginhamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Butler are making a week's visit in Boston.

MRS. NELSON P. SPEAR.

Eliza J. Smart, widow of the late Capt. Nelson P. Spear, died at her home on Laurel street, this city, at 10 a. m., Sunday, May 15. She was born in South Thomaston, Feb. 18, 1822, the only child of the late Henry A. and Eliza T. Thorndike Smart, who removed to this city while their daughter was still young. She married to womanhood here, and in 1854 married Capt. Nelson P. Spear, whom she survived about five and one half years. In 1891 Capt. Spear commanded the vessel which sailed from this port on the Bowdoin College scientific expedition to Labrador. Mrs. Spear, being a very thoughtful, conscientious and responsible woman, felt deeply the undivided care of her aged and infirm parents, which had been previously shared by a most devoted husband, and her health became impaired, her normal strength never being restored, so that for thirteen years she was in delicate and failing health. Mrs. Spear inherited a vigorous "iron" constitution, a controlling taste for the better things of life, and these combined with the habit of good reading, which was always a part of her daily sustenance, and a pure unsullied heart, led her to walk the higher planes and to escape what was sordid and unworthy. Her father was one of the founders of the old Athenaeum library, and his daughter revealed in its treasures to her the history of the fine traits of a character naturally superior were constantly enhanced by this quiet culture. Mrs. Spear was the last of her family except one—her adopted sister, Mrs. K. P. Smart, between whom and herself there existed the fondest affection and the tenderest sympathy. Through the last years of her sickness, which she bore with uncomplaining patience, she was soothed and cheered by the untiring devotion of Mrs. Smart, whose lonely sorrow may be somewhat comforted by the knowledge that she was enabled to give to her sister what that one would most desire—her loving ministrations to the last. Mrs. Spear was a member of the Universalist society, and her funeral, on Wednesday, was attended by the Rev. E. H. Chapin of the Church of Immanuel.

Howard & Brown's automobile arrived this morning.

A REMARKABLE TEST

APPLIED BY A TEACHER IN A LEADING UNIVERSITY.

Demonstrates the Power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Restore Shattered Nerves.

Mrs. Leander Lane, wife of the minister of the Christian Church, of No. 2011 I street, South Omaha, Neb., tells how her daughter has been enabled to resume her professional work as a teacher after suffering for nearly three years from severe nervous prostration. "When she was passing from girlhood to womanhood," says Mrs. Lane, "she suffered greatly from difficulties peculiar to her sex. The physicians did not help her, but a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills brought about the perfect regulation of her system."

"While she had escaped from one grave trouble, she unfortunately began to overwork, first as a student and then as a teacher in a large Iowa institution for orphan boys. She enjoyed her work and was enthusiastic, but the strain finally told on her. She became pale, weak, nervous, unable to sleep; she had no appetite and she suffered from severe headaches. Then came a complete breakdown and her work had to be given up."

"The confidence which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had already inspired in us led us to try them again in this emergency. Improvement came at first slowly, and we sometimes doubted whether she was gaining, but we noticed that whenever she stopped taking the pills she fell back, and whenever she resumed the use of them she revived and so we kept up the treatment until she recovered her usual health and was able to take a position in one of our universities where she is happily at work. My mother, my daughter and myself have a well-founded confidence in the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are always ready to recommend them."

This is simply one more proof that these pills seek disease at its source and effect fundamental cures in all diseases having a common origin in impaired blood or nerves. They arrest physical decay when it seems inevitable and find a road to restoration when the doctor misses it. They are sold by all druggists throughout the world.

ODD NAMES OF DOGS.

Seems To Be No Limit Among Rockland Owners—The Most Common Name Is Jack.

Naming a dog is a task which presents difficulties, possibly compared with the naming of a child. Now that all of Rockland's dogs are supposed to be licensed a glance at the city clerk's statistics shows some interesting facts concerning our canine population, with particular reference to odd names.

Early in the list appears the name of Jock, a spaniel owned by George W. Smith, and honored with a title presumably suggested by Eugene T. Field. Bryan is a dog of Democratic tendencies, owned by Benjamin Abbott. One of the few greyhounds on the list is Victor, owned by Congressman Littlefield. A shepherd dog by the name of Trouble is owned by Ellen Keene. A. A. Flanders has a black and tan, which rejoices in the name of Uno. A. M. Marsh named his St. Bernard Broncho. M. S. Oxtan has a Boston bull dog which he calls Buzzle. Mrs. C. W. Gale registers a shepherd which was named after the advent of the Rickers, as it is called Samoset.

Ike is the homely name of a French cocker spaniel owned by J. Hand Knight. Iva Ripley may or may not have had Sir Thomas Lipton in mind when he named his fox terrier Shamrock. Sanford Chapman has a cocker spaniel named in honor of STONINGTON.

Boston and Rockland parties have opened a bank here in the Goss Block under the name of Union Deposit and Security Co. Several in town have taken stock. This is something that has been needed in our town for some time and we hope the people will appreciate it and make their deposits there, thus helping to make it a success.

Gertrude Combs who has been spending the last 10 days among friends in Boston and vicinity, returned home Sunday.

The new boat for the Bar Harbor and Rockland route is expected in about two weeks.

John L. Goss was in town last week on business.

Arthur Waite, who is employed in Boston, will move his family there this week.

A. O. Candage, the grocer, has purchased a fine new delivery outfit.

E. J. Carter, who has purchased the house recently occupied by Oscar Flye, will move here soon.

Will Welch and J. C. Smith have purchased a new gasoline boat. We have several good ones here now.

At the canning factory in Sedgwick, W. A. Buckminster, manager was packed the largest number of cases of clams put up in one day in this vicinity—146 cases.

C. W. Brimington, our popular young barber, has had his shop thoroughly overhauled and enlarged, making one of the cosiest shops in Eastern Maine, and "Bill" knows how to shave you to.

Fred B. Webb and Florian Small took the Mark Degree in the Chapter F. & A. M. at Deer Isle recently.

School at No. 5 West Stonington recently closed after a successful term taught by Eva Jones of Brooksville.

Scholars not absent one half day for the term were Blanche Merrithew, Maggie Hamblin, Douglass Fifield. Several others lost only one half day. Blanche Merrithew graduated from the school, which is of the Grammar grade, prepared for the High school in the coming fall. In addition to her school work and many home duties she has not been absent from Sunday school in the last two years—a remarkable record.

The Misses Flossie and Beulah Sweetser are in Rockland this week.

Capt. Kimball Barbour spent a few days at home last week.

Grace Green is visiting friends in Boston.

Many men are leaving town for the yachting season though we understand that the outlook is for a dull season. Capt. Willis H. Greenlaw and Charles Cole left for Fall River, Mass., last week.

Rooms in the Goss Block are being prepared to be occupied as a bank by the Union Security and Deposit Company.

The friends of Oliver Colby and wife gathered at their home Friday evening May 6, and commemorated the 8th anniversary of their marriage. A very pleasant hour was spent, and the couple, who still seem young, received some very pretty presents.

After the grip, or other serious illness, Hester's Sarsaparilla is the medicine to take to restore the appetite and strength.

Made Young Again.

"One of Dr. King's New Life Pills each night for two weeks has put me in my teens again," writes D. H. Turner of Dampscott, Pa. They're the best in the world for Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Purely vegetable. Never gripe. Only 25c at W. H. Kiltredge's Drug Store.

WALDO COUNTY NEWS.

Belfast, May 16, '04.
Notices have been posted for the meeting of the Republicans of the town of Waldo on Saturday June 18 at the Ritchie Grange hall for the purpose of electing a delegate to the Republican state convention to be held in Bangor June 23. This is the first town to issue a call and the general indications at present date seems to be in favor of Cobb. Belfast Republicans are preparing to go up in large numbers and will probably have a special excursion steamer. The Belfast Band will accompany them. Calls from the other towns will be issued in a few days. While there is a good sentiment in favor of Fernald in some parts of the county, the present indications indicate that they will probably unite on Cobb.

Fish Commissioner Henry O. Stanley held a hearing in this city at the Rev. House, this week on a petition to prevent fishing through the ice at Swan Lake, which was well attended and while it was intimated that a petition was to be presented in remonstrance, none appeared against the petition.

The petition asks that fishing in Swan Lake should be prohibited through the ice in the lake and its tributaries for one year and to prevent the taking and keeping of fish of any kind less than twelve inches in length. Many local fishermen attended the hearing as did Forest Commissioner E. E. Ring. The residents around the lake failed to send in the remonstrance or to be present at the hearing. A unanimous vote was taken to prohibit the taking of trout less than ten inches and any salmon less than twelve inches in length to close the lake and its tributaries to any kind of fishing from the first of October until the going out of the ice from the lake in the spring. The matter must yet go before the full board of fish and game commissioners for the final decision, but Commissioner Stanley assured those present that there would be no opposition. He stated further that the dipping smelt in the spring time would still be permitted. Fishing in Swan Lake has been very good in the past and while the privileges have been perhaps abused, the lake seems to be well stocked at this time of year. On Sunday several Belfast men got some good catches, among them a fine salmon by C. M. Smalley.

Thomas H. Marshall Post, G. A. R., of this city will attend Memorial Sunday exercises this year by marching to the First Baptist church where an appropriate sermon will be delivered by Rev. E. S. Philbrook. On Memorial Day services will take place during the afternoon, with a program in the evening at the opera house, the principal address of the day being delivered by Rev. William Vaughn.

The trustees of the Waldo County Agricultural Society at a recent meeting voted to increase the stake in the merchants and manufacturers race, from $300 to $500. A committee has been appointed to make arrangements for the building of a new grand stand to be in readiness for the fair this fall.

Mrs. Mary R. Coburn of this city has been engaged as matron for the Home for Aged Women, which was lately purchased in this city and is soon to be opened. The home has already received several endowments.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of New Hampshire, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50 cents at W. H. Kiltredge's.

E. Richardson, 55 Wrenham street, Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: Seven or eight years ago I suffered with what the physicians decided was Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. My condition was so bad that I was obliged to spend much time in bed, and tried various remedies without much benefit. At last my condition became so bad that the physicians thought I might not live three months. It was at that time that my attention was called to the Microbe Killer and I decided that I would take it until I was killed or cured. Seven days did the business. I never felt better in my life, and am now insured in one of the best life insurance companies in America.

SOUTH HOPE

The pupils of Mrs. Gertrude Payson gave a piano recital at her home Saturday evening May 14. Each one did their part very successfully showing careful and thorough training on the part of the teacher. Mrs. Payson is one of our most successful music teachers, both vocal and instrumental, keeping herself thoroughly up to date by constantly taking lessons herself of the best teachers in Rockland. The following program was rendered: Waltz, Anates, Duet, Frances Howard and Lena Bowley; Duet, Fieldhorn; Lena Bowley; Snow Bells Duet, Myrtle Mink and Mrs. Payson; Softly Sings the Brooklet, Robert E. Payson; Hungarian Dance, Mabel Crabtree and Jessie Young; Dance of the Nymphs, Frances Howard; With Wind and Tide, duet, Gertrude Payson and Mattie Fogler; Garden Party, Jessie Young; May Time Song, Mary Dunbar; Sweet W. Mayo Payson; Moss Rose Duet, Robert Payson and Gertrude Payson; Rustle Chit Chat, Lena Bowley; Dreams of Youth, Mabel Crabtree; Selection, Myrtle Mink; May Day, Frances Howard; Come Dance With Mrs. Duet, Frances Howard and Lena Bowley. Both teacher and pupils wore carnations in the bodice and hair and the boys boutonniere of pinks. After the program delicious refreshments of fruit punch, angel and chocolate cake, candies, fancy crackers, champagne wafers, cocoanut macaroons were served in the dining-room. Miss Lena Bowley served at the punch bowl and Misses Mary Dunbar and Mattie Fogler were waitresses. The guests were then entertained with solos by Mrs. Payson, duets by Messrs. Payson and Payson, also Mr. Mink and Mrs. Payson sang a duet. The company went away resolved that if Mrs. Payson was half as delightful as a music teacher as a hostess it must be only pleasant to take music lessons of her. I think that South Hope is very musically inclined. There is by actual count within the radius of a mile and a half seven pianos, ten organs and two melodeons, not to mention the mouth organs and jewsharps.

CUSHING

James Jordan and friend Mr. Morse of Boston were at the Hawthorn House Hawthorne, P. M., Sunday.

Robert Phillips, the Cushing representative to the St. Louis exposition, is worthy of all our votes. Let us see that he receives them.

Rev. Sidney Packard of Waldoboro preached at the Baptist church Sunday.

A few from this place are to go to Port Clyde to work in the sardine factory when it begins operations.

James Thompson of Port Clyde was a recent guest in town.

Eggs are now selling for 18 cents.

The claim factory caught fire Wednesday of last week. The fire was soon extinguished. The fire did not burn a big hole in the roof of the building.

Joseph Becket, Sr., of Roxbury, Mass. is in town at his house here.

Herbert Robinson and Walter Grover are rapidly pushing their weirs at Broad Cove to completion, hoping to have them in fishing order in a few weeks.

Elizabeth Burnheimer, Alice Heyer and daughter Lola were in town Saturday.

Mrs. Estabrook Pease has returned from a visit to relatives in Hope and Appleton.

Donald Rivers is at work for Clifford Bradford in Friendship, doing house carpentering.

HOW TWO BEAUTIFUL WOMEN ESCAPED SPRING CATARRH BY USE OF PE-RU-NA.

Nothing Robs One of Strength Like Spring Catarrh---Spring Fever is Spring Catarrh.

Mrs. Leone Dolehan.

Miss Helen Whitman, 808 1/2 Grand Ave., Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

"There is nothing like Peruna for that tired feeling, which gives you no ambition for work or play. After a prolonged illness about a year ago I felt unable to regain my health, but four bottles of Peruna made a wonderful change and restored me to perfect health. As long as you keep your blood in a good condition you are all right, and Peruna seems to fill the veins with pure, healthful blood. I thoroughly endorse it."—Miss Helen Whitman.

How to Get Strong Nerves.

First, repair the injury already done to your nerves. The way to do this is to do exactly as did Mr. Hal P. Denton, Chief Department Publicity and Promotion of National Export Exposition.

He writes: "Toward the latter part of August I found myself in a very much run-down condition. My family physician said I had nervous prostration and recommended a sea voyage. I gradually grew worse. A kind friend whom I had known in Ohio recommended Peruna. Though skeptical, I finally yielded to his advice. After using one bottle I was much improved and with the fifth bottle came complete recovery. I am in perfect health today and everything to Peruna."—Hal P. Denton.

A Spring Tonic.

Almost everybody needs a tonic in the

Mrs. Leone Dolehan, in a letter from the Commercial Hotel, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"For two months my physician experimented with me trying to cure a hard cold which settled in my stomach, causing inflammation and catarrh. I then made up my mind he was simply unable to help me, and reading some of the flattering testimonials as to the value of Peruna in such cases, I thought I would try it.

"It was six weeks before I could eat a meal without unpleasant effects, but I have now been well for six months, and I give all the credit to Peruna."—Mrs. Leone Dolehan.

Miss Helen Whitman.

spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna will do this is beyond all question. Everyone who has tried it has had the same experience as Mrs. D. W. Timberlake, of Lynchburg, Va., who, in a recent letter, made use of the following words: "I always take a dose of Peruna after business hours, as it is a great thing for the nerves. There is no better spring tonic, and I have used about all of them."—Mrs. D. W. Timberlake.

Catarrh in Spring.

The spring is the best time to treat catarrh. Nature renews herself every spring. The system is rejuvenated by spring weather. This renders medicines more effective. A short course of Peruna, assisted by the balmy air of spring, will cure old, stubborn cases of catarrh that have resisted treatment for years. Everybody should have a copy of Dr. Hartman's latest book on catarrh. Address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.
