George Cutting was the guest of his mother, in Portland, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Miss Iva Porter has accepted a position as telephone operator at the Sparhawk Hotel, Ogunquit.

Mr. James Wildes of Weymouth, Mass., has been in town the past week visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. Fred Waterhouse of Haverhill, Mass., spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Waterhouse.

Mrs. Emma Joyce and grandson, Richard Credford, are visiting Miss M. E. Hildreth at Plymouth, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Hoyt of Kennebunkport, were the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt of the Landing, Sunday.

Mr. William B. Jackson was the guest of Mr. A. G. Locke, of Bridgewater, Mass., Sunday, who is stopping at Kennebunkport.

Last Sunday's Boston Globe contained a picture of Woodbury A. Hall, accompanied by a story of his early life as a stage driver, and later of his experience as a stable keeper at Kennebunkport for 35 years.

Mrs. Annie S. Allison, wife of William P. Allison of this village, died at her home Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock after an illness covering a period of 19 weeks. During all the period of her illness she was a patient sufferer, as she had been all her life a woman of exceptionally fine character and disposition. A daughter was with her during her last illness and faithfully cared for her until the end.

Mrs. Allison had lived in Kennebunk about 30 years, coming to the town from Philadelphia, where she was born. In her life in Kennebunk she made many friends who will hear of her death with sincere sorrow while they mourn the loss of a valued friend and companion. She was very highly regarded by all who knew her.

Mrs. Allison is survived by her husband, three daughters, and two sons, Miss Mary Allison of Philadelphia, Mrs. Sadie Densmore and Mrs. Henry Cotton of Kennebunk, Thomas Wesley of Philadelphia and William P. of Kennebunk; also by one brother, William Bramble of Philadelphia.

The funeral service was held this Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Will Fight Case

Commissioner of Agriculture, John P. Buckley of Westbrook, appeared before Judge B. F. Cleaves in the Biddeford police court Monday morning and had a warrant sworn out in which he appears as complainant against Nicholas Staples of Kennebunk, who is charged with violation of the Maine statutes against selling nursery stock in this state without a license. It is understood that the leading nursery companies of Maine are behind this movement and they are anxious to have the matter threshed out in the courts. It is understood that the case will go to the supreme court and possibly wind up in the law court.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1912

The bandanna is T. R.'s banner.

The cruel war is over. The cruel war has begun.

Patriots and other scoundrels recalls the saying of lawyers and other crooks.

"I bow my head in shame" says one of Kennebunk's life long Republicans.

Sixty years ago the Republican party was born in Chicago. Is the recent convention evidence that it is to be its burial place?

In the view of "Mr Dooley" the actual presiding officer at the Republican National convention was Assistant Chief of Police Schuetler

The platform adopted and the ticket named at the Chicago convention had been rejected by a 2 to 1 vote in the popular primaries.

Maine, rock ribbed old Maine the State of Blaine, refused to vote on the platform submitted or the nominations made at the National convention. True to herself.

The convention which opened at Baltimore yesterday, was the twenty-first assemblage of the Democratic party. The present indications are that there will be some lively times.

A Harvard graduate told the Commencement audience that aristocracy is better than popular rule. If he had been a ordinary observer of existing conditions he would know that this country is at present ruled by a money aristocracy.

Taft and Sherman are the regular Republican candidates for president and vice president, nominated as duly as their predecessors. There is no getting away from that fact, no matter what the bolters may think of the thieving tactics of the Taft machine and the flattening processes of the organization steam roller.

When sober, industrious, frugal men work from 58 to 60 hours a week and are unable to earn sufficient wages to properly clothe and feed their families, while others labor from two to four hours a day, and some not at all, and live on the fat of the land, there is a wrong system in operation. The system must be smashed, and it matters a great deal who smashes that cruel and unfair system. The Republican party, with Taft as a leader, has not made conditions of living better. They are much worse than four years ago. The Democratic party when given power has never shown any real desire to better conditions. The voter is disgusted with the sweet promises of the orators of both political parties. They can see no hope in their candidates or their platforms. Must the people turn to a Debs or a Berger? Or will a new party arise from the Chicago hold-up and lead the people into better and fairer ways. Hundreds, yes thousands of citizens anxiously await the platform of the new party.

SCIENCE OF COPY WRITING

"Know Your Audience" One of the Chief Requisites in Successful Advertising.

Knowing one's audience and knowing what to talk about are the chief necessities of the successful copy writer, declared George H. Perry, a well-known advertising man, before an advertising class in New York city the other evening.

"The first requirement—knowing your audience—is a very simple thing, but often forgotten by advertisers. A striking illustration of this occurs in one of the women's magazines. It is the advertisement of an electrical device, used in homes, to be sure, and a good thing to advertise in a woman's publication, but the ad is the same one used in an electrical paper and addressed to dealers in electrical supplies. The man who wrote that ad used the language of the trade in speaking to the woman in the home, which of course is all wrong."

In discussing the next question of what to say, the speaker analyzed the talking points of an article—competition, price and quality.

"There must always be a difference between competing articles, or else they would not be on the market at the same time. The question is, What can you talk about that the other fellow hasn't got? Your article is either newer, simpler, of different design, more beautiful or better for some merchandising reason.

"In default of any such difference, price is of the next importance. Can you sell it cheaper? Then comes quality—quality in the sense of character. With some articles the competition—that is, the difference in manufacture or design—may not be a talking point. The purchaser of an auto, for instance, does not care so much how his machine operates as he does about the quality or the price. You must determine the talking point of your article.

"Now, you know your audience and you have picked out the talking points. The next thing is the writing of your ad—the text, typography and illustration. It is no more necessary to be smart or clever in your text than it is to be handsome in business. What the public wants now are the facts. Your text must be practical as distinguished from being merely clever. Be sensible in your choice of language; be simple and direct. People are not so particular as to the literary quality of advertisements; they go to the editorial pages for that. Let the goods talk. If you say everything you can say and your ad still seems weak, the fault is not with you but with your goods. You can not do more than let the goods tell their own story. If that story is insufficient it is not your fault. Don't be afraid of a short ad; the shorter the ad the better."

Mr. Perry just touched on the psychological side of advertising: "There is a governing trait in human nature that makes you instinctively recognize the truth. You can always tell when a man is in earnest—hence the necessity of sincerity in advertising. When you once have sincerity, no matter what you write you will convince. For that reason be receptive to influence; don't let a man deceive you, but try to catch his enthusiasm in his article."

In connection with the text Mr. Perry told of the important part played by the headline. "It must catch the casual glance, which is sometimes even antagonistic; in addition it carries a message. Therefore, give the headline much thought. Use simple, short words. Fill your line without crowding. Do not use a 'blind headline.' You not only lose a reader—you disappoint him—and he will have no faith thereafter. A headline that merely makes an effect does not accomplish its real purpose. If you have an illustration it must be part of the story. Pictures are sometimes too good and, instead of directing to the story, distract. Rather than be a companion to the text the illustration should be an auxiliary.

"Then, if you have the right things to say and the right audience; if you believe in the article yourself and will tell what you know and believe in the most simple, direct, quietest, most persuasive language and in the shortest words you know—you have the right ad."

Advertising has passed from the stage of experiment and scheming. It has become a thoroughly necessary adjunct to the success of any house looking for increased prosperity and wealth.

Goes on Forever.

No one can tell when an advertisement ceases to do its work. Instances are known in which copies of old newspapers have been discovered in out-of-the-way places the advertisements in which have sold goods. In Dalton, Ga., recently a local newspaper received an answer to an advertisement that appeared a year ago in that publication. A hardware firm in an eastern city one day received an order for an article that it had advertised ten years before, but had not manufactured for nine years. Upon making inquiry it learned that a farmer in taking up a carpet had found a paper containing an advertisement of the article hidden beneath it and had been so impressed with its utility that he immediately wrote for it. From which we may conclude that as long as a single copy of the ad exists it may sell goods.

Election of the Special Class With a View to the Blessing of the Non-Elect, Who Have Ears but Hear Not, Eyes but See Not.

(PASTOR RUSSELL)

Cleveland, O., June 23. — Pastor Russell had his usual large audience today. He gave two addresses. We report the one on the text, "To present you holy and unblameable and unreprouvable in His sight."—Colossians 1, 22.

Whatever our creeds have said to the effect that anyone declining the drawing and invitation of this Gospel Age would suffer eternal torture, we are glad that the Bible says nothing of this kind. God's Word holds out a specially glorious reward for those who now renounce the world and become true, faithful, footstep followers of Jesus.

But nowhere do the Scriptures declare the unreasonable proposition that any declining this offer of joint-heirship "with Jesus in His Kingdom and its terms in the narrow way must on account of this rejection suffer eternal torture. How unjust would such a proposition be—how ungodlike! How did we ever so seriously blunder?

The Transforming Work. Note the class the Apostle mentions as undergoing the transforming influences, preparing them for a share in the Kingdom glories. He declares in the context that those to whom he wrote were once alienated from God, enemies in mind by wicked works, yet now reconciled. Ah, as every Christian knows, there is a wonderful, transforming influence in the Message of the love and grace of God. And it is this that St. Paul here declares.

Jesus first of all through His death as a satisfaction of Justice made possible the acceptance of the alienated, condemned ones. Next the Message of Divine Grace, the call to be sons of God, reached the hearts of many and captured them. The Message not only works in their hearts to will, but works powerfully also in their bodies to do, to the extent of ability, the will of God. And it is these that the Apostle declares the Redeemer will present before the Father holy, unblameable.

The transforming work now progresses in their minds, in their hearts, and all the faithful will share in the "First or Chief Resurrection"—"changed in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye," to perfection on the spirit plane. "We shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is." But the Apostle reminds us in the succeeding verse that all this glorious outcome is dependent—it all hangs upon the word if—if we continue in the faith; if we are grounded and settled, and if we be not moved away from the hope which we have received.

The Apostle reminds us that this is not a special, private Message, but the very identical one Message, the one Gospel, the one "faith once delivered to the saints"—and proclaimed for every creature which is under heaven. By this he did not mean to say that the Gospel had been preached in heathen lands. Indeed, although more than eighteen centuries have passed, the Gospel is not yet preached to every creature under heaven. What St. Paul did mean is that the Gospel, which originally was confined to the Jew, was from the days of Cornelius, the first Gentile convert, open to all people of every nationality under heaven—to all who had the hearing ear and appreciative heart. But, alas, how comparatively few are in such attitude of mind as to be appreciative of God's grace! Only the few, "a little flock," have been found, as God foreknew and as Jesus foretold.

The Future Program Different. But God is interested in our entire race. He did not provide the redemption merely for the saintly ones whom He specially loves and is now drawing. On the contrary, "Jesus Christ, by the grace of God, tasted death for every man." (Hebrews 2, 9.) Hence it does not surprise us that God's Plan, which begins with the calling of the saintly few, by no means ends with them. In deed their calling and election is with a view to the blessing eventually of the non-elect, the unwilling, who now have ears but hear not, and eyes but see not.

These, the Bible tells us, are soon to be dealt with in a different manner. Force is to be used. The power of the Messianic Kingdom will bind Satan for a thousand years and will restrain evil. Divine Power will also let loose all the glorious agencies of Truth, righteousness, light, until the whole earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of God as the waters cover the great deep; and until "none shall need to say to his neighbor, Know thou the Lord, because all shall know Him, from the least of them to the greatest." "In that day the righteous shall flourish." Instead of the wicked, in that day evil doers will suffer stripes—and, if they do not repent, they will be cut off in the Second Death; whereas all the righteous shall increase their joys and be received into life eternal.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR NEIGHBORING VILLAGES

Miss Ora Story was a York Beach visitor, Sunday.

Cashier N. P. Eveleth has been visiting for several days at Poland.

Miss Blanche Potter spent a part of last week with relatives in Lakeport, N. H.

Miss Velma Reynolds of Meredith, N. H., is the guest of her cousin, Miss Florence Potter.

Tomorrow, Thursday, the Congregational society held their outing at Kennebunk Beach.

Joseph P. Chase, formerly of this town, has been allowed a discharge from the bankruptcy court.

Charles W. Goodnow succeeds the late Sidney T. Fuller as a director of the Ocean National Bank.

The Baptist Sunday School held their annual picnic at Kennebunk Beach, last Saturday, making their headquarters at Ramanascho hall.

The sewing circle of Ivy Temple P. S. will hold a lawn party on the lawn of Mrs. John Boston at the Landing, Monday evening of next week.

The annual reunion of the Kennebunk High school alumni, was held in the Mousam Opera House, last Friday evening. An excellent entertainment was given.

Martin Parker, who, through the winter is with Hollander Co. of Boston, has been engaged at the Hay's Tailoring Establishment through the summer season only.

Misses Adella and Beatrice Gaw and David Gaw of Auburndale, Mass., will arrive in Kennebunk, Friday, for a several weeks visit with their uncle, Washington P. Gaw.

The S. D. club was entertained by Mrs. Bessie Shepard, at her home, last Thursday evening. A special entertainment was provided by Mrs. Phoebe Waterhouse and Mrs. Stella Waterhouse, which was heartily enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Day of Boston, have opened their summer home on Storer street. Mr. Day returned to Boston Monday morning after a week-end visit. Mrs. Scudder and daughters of Brooklyn, N. Y., are guests of Mrs. Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Goodnow and son Charles, returned Friday, from a weeks auto trip to Northampton, Mass., and the Berkshire hills. They were accompanied on their return to Boston by Miss Mary Goodnow and a classmate, Miss Anna B. Smart of Minneapolis, Minn., where a short visit was made. Miss Smart is now the guest of Miss Goodnow at her Kennebunk home.

A June clearance sale of Millinery, starts today at the store of Mrs. Harden Davis. It will continue until the marked-down goods are sold. Her special offerings will not only be of interest, but of decided advantage to those who avail themselves of this opportunity to obtain pretty and fashionable millinery goods at lower prices than generally charged for the same quality and style in other stores.

Jack Coombs of this village, was given a rousing ovation in Waterville, last Monday. Mr. Coombs was presented with a beautiful silver service, the presentation speech being made by Hon. Forrest Goodwin of Skowhegan. In accepting the gift Coombs said:—"I had much rather face 40,000 people in my ball uniform than to stand here and thank you for this present. In my simple way but with my heart filled with sincerity I thank you and hope that the day will be a pleasant one to you all." He was given a grand ovation at the conclusion.

The Saco House, which has been run by Charles E. Sawyer formerly of Kennebunk, for the past six years, has changed hands. Mrs. Etta Flint, who has been employed in the dining room for some time, is the new proprietress and she took possession immediately. Mr. Sawyer, who has been in charge of the hotel for the past six years, went to Saco from Kennebunk and during his residence in the city has made many friends and built up a prosperous business at the Saco House. He is planning to take a much needed rest and it is said will do some traveling.

The warm wave has started some of the summer visitors to Maine. And to hasten others to come, the sea-serpent story has been given out earlier than usual. Here it is:—"Niel McLeod of Long Island and George Speed of Peak's Island, who went, out to Cod League, eight miles off shore, to pull their lobster traps, report seeing a sea monster fully 60 feet long. They say the creature opened its mouth four feet, but did not attempt to trouble them. One went pretty close to it, but the other was afraid and kept at some distance." Two other fishermen saw a monster a few days ago, they claim.

Ogunquit

Mrs. Ann Ramsdell was agreeably surprised last Saturday evening by a party held at her home in honor of her eighty-fifth birthday. Mrs. Ramsdell has three daughters and three sons living, all of whom were present, together with some grandchildren. Among those present were Mrs. Moses Perkins, Mrs. Charles F. Perkins, Mrs. R. C. Marsh, E. M. Ramsdell, William Ramsdell of this village, and S. E. Ramsdell, one of Boston's most successful contractors. Among the many presents was a $20 gold piece presented by S. E. Ramsdell. It was a highly enjoyable occasion and one to be long remembered by those present. Mrs. Ramsdell is among the oldest of the village and has always enjoyed the respect and best wishes of the village where she has dwelt so long.

Wells

The many friends of Miss Grace Hart of Revere were pained to hear of her death as the result of an operation. Miss Hart, who owned a place in this village, was in town this spring and had the furnishings all removed and the place was to be sold. Ever of an exceedingly cheerful disposition though limited physically by partial paralysis, she gave and received a great deal out of life and her smiling face will be much missed. Miss Hart was a member of Wells grange, No. 453.

Mrs. Elmer M. Burton was in town last week but has now returned to her new home in Hartland, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Daly of Boston have arrived at the Elmwood for the summer. Mrs. F. M. Lord and Mrs. P. D. Warren are also guests at the Elmwood.

W. M. Tripp and Norris P. Eveleth, cashier of Kennebunk National Bank, passed last Sunday at Mr. Eveleth's wife's home, ex-Governor Fernald's of Poland. Mrs. Eveleth is making a visit with her parents.

Mrs. Milbety Freeman, who recently had an operation performed on her throat at her home by Drs. Parinton and Phillips, is doing nicely.

The young ladies connected with the Second Congregational church who are collecting old papers, magazines, etc., endeavoring to obtain a carload, have nearly accomplished their purpose. Sixty dollars is paid for a carload of about 15 tons. A week or so ago they were given $10 by Mrs. Charles Lord, with which to swell their fund. The money raised is to be given the Second parish to help pay the expenses of repairing the parsonage, and certainly the young ladies are to be commended for their efforts.

FARMER'S CREAM LAYER CAKE

Take 1 egg, 1 cup sugar, four tablespoons thick sour cream, 1 cup rich buttermilk, 1 teaspoon soda, a little nutmeg, flour to make a stiff dough which will just run easily. Bake in three jelly tins.

For the cream filling take the white of one egg, half a cup of sugar and six tablespoons of thick sweet cream, flavor with lemon, beat fifteen minutes, spread between the layers. Makes a delicious Sunday night lunch or supper for the farmer.

Kennebunkport

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Cain and son left on Tuesday for Lacombe, N. H., Mr. Cain's former pastorate, where they will remain for a few days, going thence to Newtonville, Mass., to visit relatives. The members of the Baptist church presented him with a mileage book and a purse of money and voted to omit services next Sunday to make the trip possible. Rev. Mr. Cain has been a hard-working minister and much has been accomplished during his connection with the church in this village.

Mrs. Clara Rollins, her daughter and two sons have arrived from their home at Round Pond, N. Y. and are to spend the summer with Mrs. Rollins' brother, Mr. Frank H. Cousins.

Sanford's Celebration

The Board of Trade of Sanford, has arranged for the most elaborate celebration ever given in Maine's biggest and busiest town, on July Fourth, this year. The amount raised for this purpose, by popular subscription, had reached over $1,000 up to Monday of this week, and in addition to all money thus raised by the soliciting committee, some of the wealthy citizens have guaranteed a grand display of fireworks in the evening. The celebration will begin with salutes at 6 A. M., followed by parade of horrors and local hits at 7.30 At 9 A. M. there will be a grand parade of floats, trade teams, decorated automobiles, farm teams and work teams, liberal prizes being offered for best turnout in each class.

A long list of field and water sports will be pulled off in the village street and on the mill pond near by, from 10.30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Two bands have been engaged for the entire day and evening.

No admission fees will be charged for any sports or outside attractions whatsoever during the day and evening, expenses of the ball game and horse races being defrayed by the general fund.

The entertainment committee has purchased several thousand souvenir buttons to be given away during the day.

Next Thursday being the Fourth, we wish our advertisers and correspondents would bear the same in mind and send in their copy not later than Tuesday noon.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR NEIGHBORING VILLAGES

Kennebunk Beach

A. J. Smith was in Boston Friday of last week.

Mr. Cox of Kennebunk is acting as baggage master at Kennebunk Beach station this summer.

Mrs. Theodore Peabody was in Biddeford recently.

Quite a number from this place attended the Advent Sunday school picnic at Sandy Cove Beach, Wednesday of last week.

Parsons station opened Monday. Mr. Blake of Kennebunk, will act as station agent during the summer.

Clarence Boothby is home for a few months, from Frostproof, Florida.

A large auto truck from Jordan and Marsh got stuck near the home of Mrs. Fannie Wells, one day this week, and it took the horses of R. E. Littlefield and others to pull them out. Autos are good but we still need the horses.

R. E. Barney is repairing the road near the home of Mrs. Fannie Wells.

Mrs. Dwight will give the Pine Sunday School scholars a trolley ride and picnic dinner at Ogunquit, Friday of this week.

Kennebunkport

At the home of Wilbur C. Cluff of Kennebunkport Friday evening there occurred one of the charming home weddings so appropriate to the lovely month of June, when the daughter of the house, Grace May, was united in marriage to Leroy E. Smith by Rev. Thomas Cain. After the ceremony the young couple escaped in an automobile driven by John Balch, to Millers crossing on the Atlantic Shore railway, where they took the electric for Biddeford, thus avoiding the playful persecution usually inflicted upon the newly wedded. They passed the night at the home of the bride's uncle, E. M. Clough of Biddeford, and next morning drove to Beachwood, where they will pass their honeymoon at the cottage of the groom's father.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Kennebunkport high school, class of 1905, and is a member of the Baptist church at the Port of which the officiating clergyman is the pastor. Since graduating she has been employed as chief operator in the Kennebunkport branch of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company. Mr. Smith is a son of Edwin L. Smith, one of Kennebunkport's progressive farmers, and is a graduate of Kennebunkport high, being a classmate of Mrs. Smith. He is now a member of the force of the Pepperell Manufacturing company. The gifts were numerous and rich, justly betokening the high esteem in which the young couple are held by their acquaintances. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside for the summer at Kennebunkport and will be at home to their friends after July 1.

At noon last Thursday, Mr. Charles C. Noyes of Somerville, Mass., and Miss Mabelle M. Stratton of Boston, were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage in Kennebunkport by the Rev. Thomas P. Baker. The bride was attired in a handsome dress of white lace net, richly trimmed, while the groom was dressed in conventional black. The double-ring service was used. Following the ceremony, the party partook of a wedding lunch, after which the bride and groom went to Kennebunk by automobile, taking the 2:12 train for Boston, leaving the latter city the same afternoon for New York. There they tarried for a few days, returning to Boston on Monday. They will reside at Ashcroft, Dedham, Mass., and will be at home to their many friends after September 15th. The bride is well known in Berwick, having spent much time there with friends during recent years. Mr. Noyes has been for many years connected with the Burditt & Williams Co., hardware dealers of Boston, which has recently obtained contracts running up into the thousands of dollars for furnishing their line of goods for some of the large new buildings now being erected in Boston.

Miss Jessie Huff returned on Thursday from a visit to friends in Massachusetts.

Rev. Jesse M. Durrell of Tilton, N. H., arrived on Thursday, remaining over until the first of the week.

The cottages are being rapidly occupied and guests are arriving daily at the hotels.

Miss Louise Wheeler is at home for the summer.

Mrs. H. A. Heckman, accompanied by her daughter Mary, spent a number of days last week with her sister in Bath.

Sunday afternoon Arundel Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons attended the Methodist church. The pastor chose for the topic of his sermon "The Drawn Sword; or, The Providence of God in the Lives of His People." Rev. Jesse Durrell acted as Chaplain of the lodge and read the Scripture lesson and led in prayer. Special singing was furnished by a choir consisting of Mrs. A. F. Chick, Miss Jennie Huff, E. H. Atkins and George Emery, while Mr. Davis of the Connolly Bros. Company, presided at the organ. Rev. L. H. Bean pronounced the benediction. There was a large attendance of members of the order.

The right place to get the right glasses at the right place is at our factory. We make them while you wait. New Era Optical Co., Biddeford.

Saco Road and Vicinity

Crosbury Emmons lost one of his valuable team horses Monday, while loading heavy tiles at the B. & M. yard, one of the tiles fell on the horses' hind leg injuring him so badly they had to kill him. This is a heavy loss to Mr. Emmons as he gets his living by teaming and at this time he is very busy. He went to Portland Monday afternoon, to purchase another horse. Now is the time to lend a helping hand to a worthy and hard working man.

Henry Dennetts horse was overcome by the heat Monday, while standing in the sun near his store.

The many friends of Mrs. Roy Taylor, formerly Miss Lillian Kimball of this town, will be glad to learn she is gaining slowly after a critical operation at Dr. King's Hospital, Portland, where she has been nearly two weeks.

Edward Merrow of Cambridge, who runs a store, was with his wife, a visitor at this place Monday. They came in their auto.

Our postmaster, Palmer Twambly has for his assistant, Mrs. Annie Johnston, of Poland Springs, an experienced P. O. clerk. He also has his son George, both very pleasant and obliging, and we predict will be popular assistants.

Mrs. Walter Clark of the village, was a guest at Mrs. Mitchell's, Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Washburn of Elmira, N. Y. is the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. W. Hadlock.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mitchell and daughters, Rena and Rebekah, visited in Portland, the week end.

Mr. Charles Withington took a trip to Boston, Monday, on business.

The New Era Optical Company, Biddeford, invites you to call and consult their Specialist in regard to your eyes or glasses. Repairing done while you wait. Littlefield & Littlefield, Props.
