

THE COURIER-GAZETTE.

TWICE-A-WEEK . . . TUESDAY AND SATURDAY.

TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

ROCKLAND, MAINE, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1904.

VOL. 59. NO. 79

OVERCOATS

OVERCOATS are now in order and almost every man is giving the subject due consideration.

Our new Overcoats are simply magnificent and while it is rather a strong word to describe an overcoat, nothing milder will cover the territory.

It doesn't matter what shape, size or kind of a man you are, if you are an Overcoat seeker you will find your kind of an Overcoat here.

We have the Long Coat, the Short Coat, the Medium Length Coat—in every correct style and tailored to perfection.

The good features of our Overcoats proclaim themselves, and will have no rivals on Overcoats this season.

If you wish to select your Overcoat from this season's very best, we're at your service.

Some Suit Talk

We wish we might here tell you about all the good points in our new Suits. It's impossible to do them justice in this limited space. However, if you have a thought that's leaning towards a new Suit, you're the man we would like to see coming in our store. We are positive that we can show you just the Suit you would take pleasure in wearing.

Nothing is omitted in the make of our Suits and Overcoats that is considered necessary in high class custom work.

Rain Coats

Our Rain Coats fit in every detail. Cut full, with or without belted backs, snug fitting collars, with broad smooth shoulders are the prominent features. They are built for strenuous wear as well as style.

Boys' Clothing

WE HAVE STARTED OUT THIS FALL TO MAKE OUR BOY'S DEPARTMENT THE MOST POPULAR PLACE IN TOWN TO BUY BOYS' CLOTHES—POPULAR WITH THE BOYS BECAUSE WE HAVE BOUGHT THE KIND OF CLOTHES THE BOYS LIKE; POPULAR WITH THE PARENTS BECAUSE WE HAVE CHOSEN THE FABRICS THAT GIVE THE GREATEST AMOUNT OF SERVICE. THE STYLES WERE BROUGHT OUT BY THE MOST EXPERT DESIGNERS OF BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHES.

Notwithstanding the excellence of our fabrics, tailoring, fit and style, the moderate prices for which our store has always been known are strictly maintained.

Burpee & Lamb

NEW ENGLAND CLOTHING HOUSE

SECURITY TRUST CO.
Main Street, Foot of Limerock St., Rockland Maine

DIRECTORS:
JOHN F. HILL, H. IRVIN HIX, D. M. MURPHY, SIDNEY M. BIRD, NELSON E. COBB, A. S. LITTLEFIELD, WM. T. COBB, WM. A. WALKER, C. S. STAPLES, E. P. RICKER, W. G. VINAL, CORNELIUS DOHERTY, JARVIS C. PERRY, WM. O. FULLER, JR., T. E. LIBBY, MAYNARD S. BIRD, BENJ. C. TERRY, J. W. HUPPER.

3 1-2 Per Cent Interest on Deposits in Savings Department. Accounts Subject to Check Solicited.

Dr. A. W. Taylor

BOSTON DENTAL '82

Operative and Mechanical Dentistry

Crown and Bridge Work Special

400 Main St., Cor. School Rockland

5051

Brainy Hair

Under your loose, thin, falling hair is a brain. Use it. The result? You will use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It checks falling hair, restores color to gray hair, and makes the hair grow.

The Courier-Gazette.
TWICE-A-WEEK.

ALL THE HOME NEWS.
Published every Tuesday and Saturday morning from 400 Main Street, Rockland, Maine.

NEWSPAPER HISTORY.
The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1886, and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

BY THE ROCKLAND PUBLISHING CO.
Subscriptions $2 per year in advance; $2.50 if paid at the end of the year; single copies three cents.
Advertising rates based upon circulation and very reasonable.
Communications upon topics of general interest are solicited.
Advertisements for the postoffice at Rockland for circulation at second-class postal rates.

VEREADY-BENJAMIN. Special Advertising Agency, 150 Nassau Street, N. Y., representative for foreign advertising.

The noblest question in the world is, What good may I do in it?—Benjamin Franklin

Up to September 24 the total number of admissions since the St. Louis fair opened was 11,792,848.

A man and woman in Pennsylvania have just been married after having been engaged 50 years. "This is so sudden."

An Ohio farmer cleared $10,000 on his onion crop this year says an exchange. Just think what that means in the way of cents.

The steamer Cedric on her passage across this week from England has 3350 people on board, the largest number ever taken from a British port.

An apple of this year's growth, weighing thirty ounces and measuring eighteen inches in circumference, is exhibited at the World's Fair in the office of Secretary Merchant, of the Oklahoma Commission.

The buildings in the burned section of Baltimore have all been renumbered since the great fire, and none of them are numbered in the same order as before. Superstitious and have used 12 1/2 when 13 should have been used.

Later reports from the corn factories indicate that the damage by frost last week was not so bad as at first reported. Most of the corn was so well matured that it was not greatly damaged and packing still continues in many of the canning factories.

In the Knox county campaign there was a great deal of mud-slinging, but they have a more approved method in a Colorado county where the Republican and Democratic candidates are to line up at a county fair and have a battle royal with tomatoes. Each man will be armed with a peck of the ripe fruit, and when the band plays "Dixie" the two sides will sail in.

A boy of 11, who lives at Hamilton, Ont., wrote to the Czar, asking for some Russian postage stamps. Recently he received from the Czar a complete collection of Russian postal, departmental and local stamps in a magnificently bound album. The collection is said to be worth several thousand dollars. It is easy to see where the Czar will now have some more trouble besides the war with Japan.

Mrs. Potter Palmer is credited with knowing more about laces than any other woman in the country. Lace-collecting is one of her fads, and when ever she hears of a valuable old piece she tries to buy it. If it is not for sale she at least has a look at it and learns if possible where it was made. Wherever a bargain in lace is to be had there one may find Mrs. Palmer. She has visited lace-makers in many countries and passed hours watching them. Her collection of laces has grown to such proportions that one room in her house is devoted exclusively to it. A book telling where certain kinds of laces may be found is kept carefully by her secretary.

New York, with her rapid transit tunnel, will soon be boasting of a new wonder of the modernized world. It is the longest of the underground roads, having a total distance of 22 1/2 miles. The London "tuppenny tube" is 13 miles long, and the rattety-bang affair in Paris only 8 1/2, and the Berlin underground 4 1/2. There are some long tunnels in the Alps, the St. Gothard being 12 miles long, the St. Gotthard 9 1/2, and the Mont Cenis 7 1/2. The famous old Hoosac tunnel is 4 1/2 miles long, and is probably the best known railroad tunnel in this country. Boston's much-vaunted subway is 2 1/2 miles in length, so will not compare with the new subway at New York, when length is considered.

Immigration figures have just been published for the fiscal year ended June 30, as compared with the corresponding period a year ago. The result is a showing encouraging in some respects and less so in others. A decrease in the immigration from Austria-Hungary and Italy cannot be deeply deplored at present by anyone, and 65,000 less of these immigrants came to this country last year than the year before. A perceptible increase in the immigration from the British Isles is a good sign, and so is the increase in the importations from the German Empire. But a falling off of 18,261 in the immigration from Sweden is a definite loss. These Scandinavian settlers are the kind of stock we need. The tide is still pretty strong. Nearly 60,000 newcomers landed in America during July, 1904.

Under your loose, thin, falling hair is a brain. Use it. The result? You will use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It checks falling hair, restores color to gray hair, and makes the hair grow.

In New York.

Our Correspondent's Glimpses of Things Going On at Gotham.

It is seldom that a magazine can boast of having published in one season two stories of such unique charm as to captivate the critics and reading public alike, and induce subscribers to purchase extra copies to send to friends with whom they wish to share their delight.

In these days, when clever writers of fiction have multiplied until every publication in the land is brim full of entertaining and well constructed stories, it is even more difficult than formerly for an editor to obtain a contribution sufficiently unusual in plot or brilliant in handling to stand out from the mass of its fellows and make a distinct and lasting impression upon the mind of the reader. Such a story was "Rinka Rinkis," published some months ago by the Ladies' World.

Such a story is "Billy," appearing in the October issue of the same magazine. The two were by different authors, having only the one fact in common—that they were stories of child life. The first had for its heroine a little Swedish girl who by the example of her own energy, perseverance and altruism, shamed an indolent, easy-going college boy into becoming a class valedictorian and incidentally attaining a nobler and higher manhood than would have been his portion without the unselfish love, the staunch little comrade who in later years becomes his wife.

"Billy," as the title indicates, is the story of a boy—a tyrannical small boy who insists upon having "two of everything," but considers that Providence is rather overdoing it when he returns from a visit and finds that two "squirming red baby sisters, just alike" have arrived during his absence! The story of his method of getting rid of the superstitious sister and his surprise at the consternation occasioned by the twin's mysterious disappearance are deliciously funny. When the perplexed little hero finds that the entire family is plunged into mourning over what he thought would be regarded as a cause for general rejoicing, explanations are in order and the missing "Eloise Marie" is speedily restored to the maternal arms. The plot of the story is entirely out of the ordinary, the action brisk and the dialogue crisp and vivid.

T. R. Shaver, whose drawings of Rinka Rinkis doubly endeared that wee person to the hearts of all readers, has given us a delightful characterization of the present young hero.

But "Billy" is by no means the only attraction of the October Ladies' World. Edwin L. Sabin contributes a delightful story entitled "Grandfather Runs Away." Frank H. Sweet relates the adventures of a boy who, after a girl from Over the Sea, the serial by Hope Darling, entitled "One Woman's Ideal," grows in interest and power, and some bright stories for young people complete a notable list of fiction.

Louise Day presents an artistic page devoted to "The Decorative Possibilities of Briar Stitching." The stitch is the familiar one in vogue in the days of our grandmothers, but is given a new decorative quality by being applied in simple geometrical figures, Greek frets and scrolls, instead of the straight rows heretofore employed. So dainty are the photographic illustrations from decorated underwear and fancy work, that every feminine reader will be inspired with a deep yearning to "briar-stitch" her entire wardrobe.

Coney Island is nearing the end of the most successful season that popular summer resort has ever known. Although the various amusement enterprises will soon put up the shutters, there is at present no visible indication that the realm of the roast beef sandwich and humble Frankfurter is in the sore and yellow leaf. Like summer, with whose passing "Coney" sinks into oblivion for a time, the season closes in a blaze of glory.

Mardi Gras festivities, aquatic parades and sports, extra vaudeville and musical attractions succeed in throwing the island with pleasure seekers despite the wintry temperature of the last few days. Evidently the managers are determined to "leave a good taste" in the mouths of their patrons, as an advance advertisement for the next season!

Halloween is almost here and once more thousands of youths and maidens will be performing mysterious stunts guaranteed to reveal the name of the future wife or husband. Those who are planning special jollifications for the occasion, would do well to consult the October issue of The Woman's Home companion, which is a Halloween number "from liver to liver."

The front cover shows a fair-haired, daintily gowned maiden with a lighted candle in one hand, standing before a mirror into which she gazes with an expression half timorous, half hopeful. To the left of her reflected face appears that of a man, misty and vague, presumably a portrait of the coming lover. The first item on the All Saints' Day bill of fare is an article entitled Mrs. Edison's Halloween Party, which describes a unique entertainment at the home of "Wizard" Edison—a fitting place to hold converse with witches and spooks. Martha Cobb Sanford relates how the college girl celebrates Halloween, with fun and laughter, with masking and mimicry, with spells and incantations galore. Many of the tricks which are played in the "Den of Divers Divinations" are described in detail; the test of the three bowls, the strange riddle, the trail by melted lead, cabbage pulling, the pumpkin contest. A number of spirited photographs add to the interest of this feature. Elaborate suggestions for a "Nut Crack Party" are offered by Percy Fielding, including plans for refreshments, decorations and entertainment.

Of the miscellaneous number, the most important is a collection of entertaining stories of famous "spellbinders," told by Lee Fairchild under the heading, "The Funny Side of a Political Campaign." Mr. Fairchild is himself a spellbinder of considerable note, and in addition to amusing anecdotes of the late Robert Ingersoll, "Tom" Corwin, Senator Doliver, "Private" John Allen, and others whose names he withholds for obvious reasons, he describes many humorous experiences of his own. One of the funniest and at the same time most disconcerting events of his personal career, however, is not published. It runs as follows:

At one time when both Fairchild and the famous war correspondent, Emerson, were "stumping" in the interests of the G. O. P., the two chanced one evening to speak at the same meeting. At its close, the orators left the hall together, and seeing a party of ladies and gentlemen standing on the pavement evidently discussing the affair, slowed down with the expectation of overhearing some flattering expressions of approval. But like all eavesdroppers, the spellbinders were doomed to disappointment.

"To think," sighed one woman, evidently a Southerner, "of that absolute insignificant looking person being the sole surviving representative of the fair-haired and fair-skinned families!" Fairchild's jaw dropped at Emerson nudged him with evident delight in the situation. But the next moment his turn came to nudge, as a second woman replied:

"That's not half so bad as the thought of that other creature being the son of the famous Ralph Waldo Emerson. Why, he looked like a perfect villain!"

Winifred Fales.

Excursion to Albany, Hudson River and New York City for $5.00

Thursday, Oct. 13 is the date of the celebrated $5 Autumnal Excursion over the Boston & Albany R. R., the Hudson River Steamers, the Fall River Line to Boston, arriving Saturday or Sunday. Stop-over in New York Oct. 25 for $2 extra. From stations west of Boston, Oct. 12. Send for descriptive leaflet.

S. S. Hanson, Gen. Pass. Agent, Boston.

RAM ISLAND SIGNAL.

Government Decides To Have Bell Instead of Trumpet.

There has been a marked change in the plans of the fog signal at Ram Island, due chiefly to the requests of the board of trade to the government. It was at first intended that a fog trumpet should be placed on the island, but it was found that there were already three within hearing distance of each other, one on board the Cape Elizabeth lightship, another at the Cape Elizabeth station and a third at Portland Head. The sounds in foggy weather would be so confusing that a captain would not know in what direction to lay his course.

The board of trade accordingly recommended that the fog signal on Ram Island be a bell instead of a whistle. This recommendation, it is said will be acted upon and the bell which has been at Half Way Rock will be moved to Ram Island and the trumpet instead for that place will be transferred to Half Way Rock.

AN ALL-ROUND MAGAZINE.

The October Woman's Home Companion is a good one to read. It is an "all round" magazine. Besides articles of especial interest to women on Fashions, Home Entertainments, Cookery, etc., there is an unusual number of timely features. Lee Fairchild writes "The Funny Side of a Political Campaign;" there are four unusual unpublished portraits of the Presidential candidates; David Belasco, in his "Advice to the Girl with Dramatic Ambitions," gives some inside information as to how to get on the stage; Morgan Robertson, the well-known writer of sea-tales, has a thrilling description of the submarine boat, "The Peace-Making Terror of the Seas." The great serial, "The King of Diamonds," begins in this number, and there are excellent short stories by J. L. Harbourn, Sara Ambler and Gilbert Wilson. Published by The Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio.

THE PRESIDENTIAL TICKETS.

How many school-boys, and for that matter how many voters—yes, how many editors—know the names of all the candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency? This is the list so far as we have been able to trace it: Republican—Roosevelt and Fairbanks. Democratic—Parker and Davis. Populist—Watson and Tibbles. Prohibitionists—Swallow and Carroll. Socialist—Debs and Hanford. Socialist labor—Corcoran and Cox. Negro liberty—Taylor and Payne. Lincoln—Penn and Jones. Continental—Holcomb and King.

A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure
HAS NO SUBSTITUTE

Chats on Books.

Miss Bertha Runkle, author of "The Helmet of Navarre," has recently returned from a visit to the Orient, bringing with her an article on "Child-Life in the Far East," which is to appear in St. Nicholas.

The Poet Laureate has a new work in press, made of prose, with here and there a bit of verse. It will be called "The Poet's Diary: Edited by Lania," and will embrace the chapters of Italian impressions contributed to "The National Review," from which we have occasionally taken a fragment.

Little, Brown & Co. will this fall add to their Handy Library Editions of Standard Novelists the novels of George Sand, 10 vols.; Samuel Lover's Novels, 4 vols.; "La Comedie Humaine," Honore de Balzac, 38 vols.; "Ten Thousand a Year," by Samuel Warren, 3 vols.; and Bulwer's Poems and Dramas, 1 vol.

Two notable campaign articles are announced for the November McClure's, which is published two weeks before the election. The last word concerning the candidates is to be written by high authorities; Parker by ex-President Cleveland; Roosevelt by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. While the two candidates and their parties represent will be set forth clearly by two men well qualified to speak and should give two vivid pictures of these men of the hour.

Booth Tarkington, the author of "The Two Vannevals" and "The Gentleman from Indiana," has returned to America after nearly a year's stay in Europe. He lived in Rome last winter, and has been spending most of the spring and summer in Paris. He will live next winter in New York, and expects to spend his time studying phases of political life and continuing the political stories which he has been writing for McClure's Magazine. The stories will be brought out in book form by McClure-Phillips.

Anne Warner, the author of "Susan Clegg and Her Friendship Mrs. Lathrop," which Little, Brown & Co. publish October 8th, is one of the busiest of the newer American authors. Besides her "Susan Clegg" stories which critics say are "unparalleled for their original character, drawing, quaint humor and homely philosophy," she is the author of "A Woman's Will," published last spring, and she is given leading place with her novelette in the current issue of Ainslee's Magazine.

Thomas E. Watson, the Populist candidate for the Presidency, is casting an anchor to windward in the shape of a novel which the Appletons will publish early next month. It is entitled "Bethany: A Story of the Old South," and is a tale of his own people and his own neighborhood, the plot turning on the adventures of his uncle, from whom he has drawn the character of the hero. The scene is laid in Georgia in the years just before and during the Civil War, and sets forth the minds and feelings of those who remained at home during the conflict.

What makes the October number of Scribner's a good one to read is the story, "The Methods of Eugenie," written by a Rockland girl, Jessie Knight Hart, now of Boston, with charming illustrations by C. Allan Gilbert—a delightful romance of school life at Wollsey. Mrs. Hart has a knack at a story of this sort, a graceful manner with deft touches that give promise of many more good things of the same sort. Her story is one of the best things in an issue of surprising excellence and cleared the Rockland counters of their invoice of Scribner's within a few hours after the magazine's arrival here.

But there are no such offenders as women writers. I remember that I once had to illustrate, for a small publication, a woman's story, about a brave and amorous Texan cowboy. He loved a fair maiden—whom one day he lifted up before him to the front of his saddle, and they kissed and rode away. Poor, unfortunate lady-love! To readers who have seen a Texan saddle, no explanation is needed. It comes up in front to a pommel. As for sitting on that peak, I would as soon sit on the point of a spear, especially if the horse were to gallop! I wouldn't ask a puppy dog to sit on that saddlehorn—much less any girl who loved me!—Pearson's for October.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

The Town of Hay.

The town of Hay is far away
Between its hills of green and gray
Its winding meadows all around
Within the quiet town of Hay
Is many a quiet glen,
And there by many a shaded way
Are homes of quiet men;
And there are many eyes away
That turn with longing light and day,
Back to the town of Hay.

Within that good old town of Hay
There was no pride of birth,
And no man there pursued his way
A stranger in the earth.
And some were high and some were low
Of golden hair or gray,
And each would grieve at another's woe
Down in the town of Hay.

And many a tired soul to-day
Mid crowded throngs would stray
Weeps for the town of Hay.

A road leads from the town of Hay
Forth to a world of din
And whither and whither away
And many walked therein.
For in the crowds of toil and stress
Their restless footsteps stray,
Their souls have lost the quietness
Of that old town of Hay.

But in some respite of the fray,
In transient dreams they float away
Back to the town of Hay.

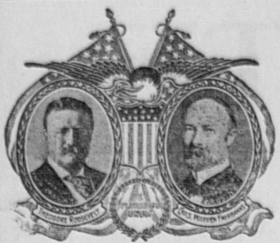

Old men are in that town of Hay
And its quiet trees
Who dream of strong sons far away
Upon the stormy seas.
Old mothers when the twilight dews
The woodbine leaves have peared,
Dream of their boys who wander through
The wilderness of the world.
And prayers go up at close of day
In that old town of Hay.

A hillside in the town of Hay
Is sloping towards the sun,
And gathered 'neath its headstones gray
Are sleepers one by one.
And there are tears in distant lands
And grief too deep for tears,
And tremble waves from phantom hands
Across the Gulf of Years.
And when they place that headstone gray
It crushes hearts so far away
From that old town of Hay.

—Sam Walter Foss

The Courier-Gazette.

TWICE-A-WEEK

FOR PRESIDENT,
HON. THEODORE ROOSEVELT
Of New York.
.....
PRESIDENT,
HON. CHAS. W. FAIRBANKS

How do they look upon us in the South? A western correspondent sends us a clipping showing that the Missouri Democratic papers are deeply displeased by the returns from Vermont and Maine. The Moberly Democrat says: "The idea that a lot of decrepit old men and dried-up old maids could be induced to change their opinions is to farcical to bear serious consideration." The remark of the Lamar Democrat is that "the population of Vermont and Maine is made up of a lot of narrow-minded bigots, whose views of things are measured by the narrow span of their own penurious, flint-skinned lives." And the Benton County Enterprise declares that "if Maine and Vermont were annexed to Canada, the Tory English party would have no stronger worshippers of the king than its people." These afflicted editors should save some of their fearful wrath for the big Democratic debacle in November. In all probability the entire North and West, Missouri included, will stand with Vermont and Maine.

It must be remembered that the party which is today denouncing Roosevelt and the Republicans is the same party which denounced Lincoln and called the war a failure in 1864. It is the same party that denounced Grant in 1872. It denounced McKinley up to the very hour of his death. It is very easy to denounce. It is not so easy to do. Ever since 1860 the Republican party and its leaders have been doing while the Democratic party and its leaders have been denouncing. And yet the old flag still waves, the constitution is still supreme. Republican policies have carried the country to the forefront among the nations and our people have progressed and prospered except when checked by Democratic legislation and Democratic administration. Under Roosevelt and Fairbanks the progress will be still onward and the flag and the constitution will command the respect of the world.

It was remarked with a distinct tone of despair by the New York Times a few days ago, at the close of a very despondent editorial article on the outlook for Parker: "At least let us save New York State!" The prospects for saving New York State for Parker are very slim now. An observer who spent several days in New York City recently writes: "I have never known a campaign before in which the Democrats openly confessed defeat in advance, as they do now. Why, nearly every Democrat I talk with says frankly his party is without hope. Most of them couple with the confession a declaration that they really do not see how their party is to get on its feet again. Many say they fear Parker will be beaten worse than Bryan was, and that if this is the case all hope of reorganizing it on a sane and safe basis will have to be abandoned for many years to come."

Senator Depew's knack of stating a case in its simplest terms was used effectively in examining the pretentious plea of Democratic spokesmen that Roosevelt is "unsane." Here is his analysis of the "big stick" bogey: "What does it amount to? Theodore says if you have a boy and your country needs him, let him fight. The idea is the protection of the flag. And there's the whole sum and substance of Roosevelt's big stick. If a man believes we need no navy and army, let him vote the Democratic ticket. We don't want him on our side."

From the elections which have already taken place in Oregon, Arkansas, Vermont and Maine the Democratic campaign managers find but little consolation. It is very evident that not only the farmers of the country but the laboring classes as well are going to vote pretty solidly for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. These men are considering their bank accounts and their earnings, which they prefer to have continued on the present basis rather than take any chances of returning to the conditions which prevailed from 1894 to 1897.

Knox county has done well by its agricultural fairs thus far this fall, and now this corner of the county shouldn't neglect to give the cordial hand to the Grange exhibition that comes off in the rear ward of this city next week. Last year the Pleasant Valley folks made a great success of their fair and they don't purpose to go back on their record this time.

Hon. George F. Hoar, senior Senator from Massachusetts, died at his home in Worcester Thursday night, after a long illness. Senator Hoar was a statesman of the calibre which has made New England famous in the councils of our national administration. A great and good man is gone.

The Lewiston railroad disaster is the first taste Maine has had in many years of the sort of thing that just now is rioting throughout the country. Let us hope it is the last.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. B. HICKMAN, W. Chester, Pa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Strengthen and tone the stomach and the whole digestive system.

WIGHT IN NEW YORK.

He Has a Second Meeting With His Friend the Israelite.

New York, Sept. 15.
I wrote you this morning of my interview with the Israelite. I thought I should never see him again, but this afternoon as I was taking a stroll through the residential part of the city my ears were greeted with the sound of the same old bells. I looked up and there was my acquaintance of the morning, pushing the same decrepit cart.

Business must have been very brisk, for two of the old bags presented a corpulent appearance and the third was partially filled.

He recognized me at once, drew up to the side of the street, and placing his hand on his watch pocket said: "Tartan, please, tartan day?"

"Yes," said I.

"Good works?"

"Yes," I answered.

"I give beer brice for dose vatch-me zee works?"

"Thinking no harm could come of it, I opened the bag. He saw the inscription and said: 'Vat dat? I no rede English!'"

"I said: 'My friend, I can not sell this watch. It was presented to me by the members of the Congregational church at Rockland, Maine.'"

His eyes opened wide and he said: "Fat you say? You leef in Rockland, Maine. Mine shimey grubby, I haf guzen leef in Rockland, Maine" (giving a name). "He buy ole zhunk. You nam Vight—Lillian Vight? Zhimerny grazhuz, mine guzen write me de oder veeek, you Adolphe Vight, been seventeen time—no interest—no interest—goot man. Bime-by, sometime, I go Rockland, zee mine guzen—maybe zee you. Zay, Mees Vight—lend me ten dollar—I buy nex veeek."

I told him I had no money to spare. "Zay, Mees Vight, lend me five dollar?"

I declined this request also. I then asked him whom he would vote for president. He asked: "Who for you vote?" I told him I should vote for Judge Parker. He made a vry face and said: "Barker no goot. Roozhveit goot man—me vote for heem—goot man."

This ended our interview, and after a very low bow from the driver of the cart, who then started on his way up the street, I resumed my walk. The music of the old bells grew fainter as the cart and its driver disappeared in the distance. This will be my last letter, as I leave for home in the morning.

James Wight.

For Steam, Hot Water, Or Furnace Heating

CALL AT THE

Rockland Hardware Co.

And let them estimate for you!

ROCKLAND, MAINE

FULLER & COBB

UP STAIRS--TELEPHONE 129-11

OUR NEW

FALL DRAPERIES have just arrived, giving us the best assortment of styles and prices we have ever offered.

HANDSOME FIGURED PORTIERES

in four different colors, 50 inches wide, $3.50 per pair

AN EXTRA HEAVY PLAIN CURTAIN $5.00

A PLAIN MERCERIZED CURTAIN

five different colors, beautiful silky effect $6.50 per pair

HEAVY CORDED CURTAINS in plain and two-tone effects

$7.50, $8.00, $10, $12, $15 per pair

ARABIAN CURTAINS in all the new patterns—a rich, heavy durable curtain at $2-75, $3-50, $4-50, $5-00 up to $11 per pair

CARPET SIZE RUGS

In Tapestry, Brussels, Smyrna, Axminster and Wilton

Prices $16.00, $17.50, $22.50 up to $40.00

Special Agents OSTERMOOR MATTRESSES

Carpet Department--Up Stairs

FULLER & COBB

MAINE COLLEGES OPEN.

Increased Attendance Seems To Be Their Universal Report.

Colby College swung open her doors last Thursday, and the largest class that ever enrolled with the blue and gray marched into chapel. The increase was shown on both sides of the house, there being 55 men and 50 women, 105 in all. President White welcomed the new class to Colby and introduced the two new members of the faculty, Arvid Reuterdahl and Ralph H. Kenniston. The president also paid a tribute to Samuel Osborne, who died last July. He also spoke of the improvements that had been made on the college property during the summer.

The University of Maine opened for its 37th year, with the largest attendance in its history, which will be increased within a week or two. The entering class represents every county in Maine and every state in New England. One of the new members of the faculty is Prof. Charles P. Weston, assistant professor of mathematics, who has had a Fellowship and acted as assistant to Prof. Woodward at Columbia University since 1901. Other members are Harvey R. Willard, instructor in mathematics, who graduated from Dartmouth in 1899; W. K. Cannon, instructor in electrical engineering, who graduated from the Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1900, and Raymond K. Morley, tutor in mathematics, who was valedictorian of the class of 1894 at Tufts, where he received the degrees of B. A. and M. A. in four years.

Bowdoin College opened with an unusually large attendance. In the absence of President William DeWitt Hyde, who is attending the educational meeting at St. Louis, Prof. Henry Chapman officiated at chapel services and welcomed the freshmen to college, explaining their duties. At the close of the chapel rush took place, the sophomores being victorious in keeping the freshmen in the chapel. Afterward in the rush on the campus the two classes were about a tie. There are three professors, Guy H. Roberts, professor of history in place of Alfred L. P. Dennis who went to the University of Chicago, William H. Foster, instructor in English and oratory to succeed Kenneth C. M. Sills, now at Columbia, and Charles T. Burnett, assistant instructor of philosophy and psychology, relieving Pres. Hyde in those courses. Messrs. Roberts and Foster have been instructors at Harvard, and Burnett is an Amherst graduate.

PHYSICIANS FOR PANAMA.

Rockland Doctor Draws Fat Salary For His Labors There.

Uncle Sam's employees in the canal zone will not want for medical attention, says a Washington despatch to the Boston Herald. More than $50,000 a year is to be spent in looking after their health. Col. W. C. Gorgas, U. S. A., is chief sanitary officer of the canal zone with a corps of assistants, whose equals are not to be found in the army medical department. Col. Gorgas made his reputation in Cuba, and many of his associates were with him during the Spanish-American war and have been selected as sanitary experts. A number of clerks and 20 trained nurses have also been appointed. Applicants are required to be graduates of well known medical institutions and to have seen several years of actual practice.

The salaries range from $7,500 per annum, the amount paid to Chief Sanitary Officer Gorgas, the head of the service, Dr. Ernest H. Wheeler, of Rockland figures in the list as assistant physician, with the comfortable salary of $2,400. He has been stationed at Panama several months.

WM. CHAPMAN'S FUNERAL.

Victim of Lewiston Railroad Disaster Laid At Rest in Achorn Cemetery.

The remains of William S. Chapman, the Rockland victim of last Monday's train wreck at Lewiston were brought to this city on the 3.35 train Tuesday night, accompanied by B. G. Potter of Woolwich, a brother-in-law of the deceased. Mr. Chapman's left leg was broken, but the wounds which caused his death were on the head. An iron bolt, apparently, had penetrated the skull. The exact manner by which the unfortunate young fireman came to his death will always remain a mystery as the engineer, who was the only person near him, also perished in the disaster. Robert Sturgeon, a Portland engineer, who went down to the scene with the engineer and fireman who had probably jumped from the cab. Mr. Sturgeon was a room-mate of young Chapman's and is especially grieved over the disaster which robs him of a much-liked comrade.

An investigation to fix the responsibility for the tragedy will be held within a few days; meanwhile all sorts of stories and surmises are being indulged in. A trainman who came here to attend the Chapman funeral said to a Courier-Gazette reporter: "I see that some people are blaming the engineer for the reason that they think he should have seen the open switch. Now this is all wrong and very unjust to the victim until an investigation shows where the blame should actually be placed. It was dark and rainy on the afternoon of the accident, and anybody who has ever ridden in a cab will tell you that it is very difficult for its occupants to distinguish an object as small as this small switch. The public, and the critics especially, may rest assured that the railroad men are not taking any chances of danger that can be avoided."

Lucius E. Cobb, who was conductor of the pullman on the wrecked train is quoted by some of the papers as saying that he had a very realistic dream of a train wreck before he left Boston the day before the accident. So vivid was this dream that when he repeated it to some friends who had planned to come down on his train that they decided to remain behind.

There was a very large attendance at the funeral of Mr. Chapman, which took place at the family homestead on the New Thomaston Road Thursday afternoon. Rev. Russell Woodman and Rev. Robert Sutcliffe officiated. Music was furnished by a quartet, comprising William F. Tibbetts, Clarence Pendleton, Mrs. Lillian S. Copping and Mrs. J. Walter Strout of Thomaston. The pall bearers were Robert Sturgeon of Portland, St. John of Portland, the Rockland, representing the engineers; William G. Mitchell of Rockland, Harry R. March of Waterville and Woodbury H. Thomas of Rockland, representing the firemen; and Ralph E. Derby of Rockland, representing the trainmen. The flower-bearers were Sewall York and Augustus Knowlton.

There was a wealth of floral tributes, the list being as follows: From the sisters, crescent, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McIntire; a standing casket with a large white dove standing on the lower end, employees of Linerock Railroad; harp with broken chords, employees of Maine Central R. R. at Rockland; arch, employees of Maine Central at Waterville; crescent, employees of Maine Central at Bangor; gates ajar, broken Eastern Lodge, 4 B. of L. E. Portland; pillars of the Rockland, broken wreath, Ladies Auxiliary, B. of R. T. Penobscot Lodge, Bangor; cut flowers from Miss Lizzie Green, Lida Hopkins, C. Chapman, Amelia M. Soffover, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Blackman, A. L. Hall, Edmie Bancroft, Mrs. Frank E. Perry, Ida M. Haines, Laura J. Hutchinson, Rosa Erskine, Robert Sturgeon, Miss Sturgeon, Miss Pye, Mrs. C. R. Porter, Miss Cora B. Thompson, Portland; Mrs. Joseph R. McInnis, Roxbury; Miss Ingraham and Miss Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Marsh, Mrs. Rosa Porter, Camden; Geo. G. Gilchrist; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pray, Portland.

HOLICE KIRKPATRICK.

The funeral of the late Holice Kirkpatrick was held at Hurricane Isle, Sept. 23rd. The interment was at Bay Point cemetery. Deceased was 81 years of age and was born in Northport, Me. At an early age he came to South Camden, now called Glen Cove, in which place he had resided nearly sixty years. In the early part of his life he earned the trade of stone mason, afterwards becoming a master builder of kilns, which business he followed nearly all his life. As a builder of kilns he was considered an expert, supervising and constructing many kilns in Knox county also in Virginia, Charleston, S. C., California and the Provinces. He was a member of the Free Will Baptist church in Rockland, and in his daily life was honest and industrious, a kind husband and father, respected by friends and neighbors. He is survived by son, J. M. Kirkpatrick, of Rockville, and four daughters, Mrs. Mary Libby of Roxbury, Mass., Mrs. Rebecca Morgan of South Thomaston, Mrs. Wm. Larrabee of this city and Mrs. Charles Wilson of Hurricane Isle, with whom he lived at the time of his death. His wife, whose maiden name was Sarah Clough, died less than a year ago.

NOTICE

The Committee on Accounts and Claims hereby give notice that it will be in session at the City Clerk on Spring Street, on Friday evening at 7 o'clock, immediately preceding the regular meeting of the City Council for the purpose of auditing claims against the city.

The Committee request that all bills be made on the regular billheads of the city to facilitate their work. These billheads can be obtained at the office of the City Clerk.

WILLIAM J. DICKSON,
RICHARD H. BROWN,
WILLIAM H. BROWN.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

20TH Committee on Accounts and Claims.

SEPTEMBER COURT.

Ever since our last issue the business of supreme court has related wholly to the Campbell will case, the features of which as threshed out in the probate court hearings are very familiar to all who are interested in the case. The plaintiff is Edward E. O'Brien, appellant from the decree of the Judge of Probate, allowing the will of Mary E. Campbell, late of Thomaston, (H. M. Heath, of Augusta, and M. A. Johnson for proponents of will; A. S. Littlefield and R. L. Thompson for appellants.) The testator was the widow of the late William A. Campbell, and daughter of the late Hon. Edward O'Brien. The estate is valued at more than $100,000. The appellant, Edward E. O'Brien, is a brother to Mrs. Campbell, but his name was not mentioned in her will. He claims that, but for undue influence, testator would have made at least some bequest to him, and contests the will on various grounds. The will was made on October 31, 1900. It was drawn by L. F. Starrett, esq., of Rockland, and executed in his office, George M. Brainard, Esq. W. Porter and Mr. Starrett being the signatory witnesses. The case will probably last the week out. Divorces have been decreed to the following parties:

Nellie E. Noyes, of Rockport, from Adolphus Noyes, of Rockland. For cruel and abusive treatment. Mortland for libellant.

Alton D. Butler from Rose E. Butler; parties of Union. For adultery. Staples for libellant.

Masie Foster, of Thomaston, from Charles Foster, of Athol, Mass. For cruel and abusive treatment. Staples for libellant.

Charles E. Luce, of Friendship, from Mary E. Luce, of Kansas City, Mo. For desertion. Custody of minor child, Edward H. Luce, decreed to mother.

Corra B. Currier from Sejanus M. Currier; parties of Rockland. For cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of minor children, Priscilla E. Anna M. Warren D. and Leona S. Currier, decreed to libellant. Staples for libellant.

Geneva H. Bucklin, of Rockland, from Horace T. Bucklin, of Bristol, R. I. For intemperance. Knowlton for libellant.

Llewellyn Elwell, from Alice E. Elwell; parties of Rockland. For adultery. Gould for libellant.

Annie M. Coburn of Thomaston, from Ransel Coburn of Hope, for the cause of utter desertion continued for three consecutive years; custody of William Coburn and Frederick Coburn decreed to libellant. Moore for libellant.

WALDOBORO

Mrs. A. N. Newbert of Waltham, Mass., and Mrs. Alice S. Law and daughter Mable B. of Flanders Corner were in this place Saturday.

Mrs. Susan Hoffman, who has been visiting her son in Portland for several weeks has returned home.

Mrs. William Wellman and daughter Mrs. W. Clark, of North Grafton, who have visited relatives and friends in this vicinity, have returned home.

Mrs. W. B. Groves and daughter Reita of Camden, who have been guests of Mrs. Groves brother, W. R. W. of Pleasant Hill were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. attended the funeral of Mrs. Thomas Burns, who was a member of the Grange at Manks Corner.

Mrs. W. Burnheimer and Miss Gene B. Meserve were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hoffes at East Johnson one day last week.

The farmers are gathering their fall apples and shipping them to market.

Rev. H. W. Collins has gone to Eastport for a two weeks vacation. His family have been there several weeks and will return home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Walter and two lington was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. mother, Mrs. Matilda Overlook, at South Washington Sunday.

Mrs. Walter E. Morse of South Washington was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burgess Tuesday.

On account of the absence of the pastor there was no services at the church here last Sunday.

H. Oliver and Miss Nellie E. Flanders were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. James and Will Mathews of Union were in this place last Tuesday.

The telephone from the village to this place has been completed and the subscribers have kept the wires hot in congratulatory messages Tuesday.

There are eight subscribers on the line.

The Central Cornet Band played at the Union fair Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Abbie Hodgkins, who has been a guest of Miss Ada Peaslee the past week, returned to her home in Nobleboro, Monday.

Albert M. Oliver attended the State Fair at Lewiston Wednesday.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES

NEED NO INTRODUCTION TO the People of Knox Co.

THEY ARE THE BEST $3.00 $3.50 MEN'S SHOE ON THE MARKET.

A half century of uninterrupted and successful sale amply testifies.

This is to let you know that the Fall and Winter 1904 STYLES

Have Come In, and are now ready for YOUR INSPECTION

MADE TO WEAR AS WELL AS TO SELL.

If you want Honest Leather for Your Money you can find it in one of these 14 STYLES of

DOUGLAS SHOES

BOSTON SHOE STORE

ST. NICHOLAS BUILDING

Foot of Park Street.

TO SWEATERS

This is the store. Now is the time you'll need one. Now is the time to buy one. WRIGHT & DITSON'S COLLEGE SWEATERS in Gray, Navy, Maroon, White and any combination desired. $3.00 to $6.00. Ask to see our new P. G. Sweater at $4.00 and the C. J. at $5.00. Full line of athletic clothing of every description.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

Austin D. Sullivan Was Native of Appleton and Prominent Portland Business Man—An Impressive Funeral.

The many friends of Austin D. Sullivan in this city were pained to hear of his sudden death which occurred at his home in Portland Friday evening last. He had been in ill health for some time but letters to his sisters in this city on that day had given encouragement that he was improving. In fact he had been receiving

Rather Too Cool

For the beaches just now, so more attention can be paid to YOUR SUNDAY DINNER

You know the quality of our Pork, Beef, Mutton, Lamb, Fowl and things to go with them to make a good dinner
Along with the quality THE PRICES ARE ALSO ALL RIGHT—LOWER than elsewhere.
LET US FIX YOU UP

Simmons White & Company

EVERYBODY'S COLUMN

Advertisements in this column not to exceed five lines inserted once for 25 cents, four times for 50 cents.

Lost and Found

LOST—Black Silk Box Coat either Rockland or Thomaston. Please leave at Rockland or Thomaston. 7992 J

PICKED UP Adrift near North Haven a Green Peasod with one bright top streak. Apply to A. R. WELCH, Prospect Harbor. 7992 J

LOST—Between Head of Bay School House and foot of Ingraham's Hill, Child's light brown with brass buttons. Finder will please leave at OLIVER PERCY's residence or this OFFICE. 7992 J

Wanted

WANTED—LIVE HOGS. Will pay the highest cash price, live weight. A. B. TACK, ARD, Rockland. Telephone 523. 7992 J

WANTED—A young man not less than 18 years old is wanted to learn the business in Miller & Cobb's Carpet Department. Must be willing and industrious. Apply to FRANK W. FULLER, at the store. 7992 J

ANYONE having old paintings or water colors of the early New England vessels or Pilot boats, who wishes to dispose of them, please apply to MR. LAWRENCE GREEN, Box 662, Alport, N. Y. 7992 J

EXPERIENCED TABLE WAITRESS wanted at once at CONY HOUSE, Augusta. 7992 J

LADY Bookkeeper—State experience and reference. Address BOX B Rockland Me. 7992 J

WANTED—A girl to do general housework in small family. Good wages. Address A. B. TACK, ARD, Rockland. 7992 J

WANTED—Seamen for New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Annapolis and southern lumber ports. Call on or address W. F. TIBBETTS, S. S. Shipping Comr., Tillam, Wharf, Rockland, Maine. Tel. 507-3 7992 J

HELP WANTED and employment given to girls and women, housework, second work, washing, ironing, in house, commercial, embroidery or canvassing. Apply at once to Women's Exchange and Dressing Room, 84 Broad street. Orders taken at short notice for parties, picnics and luncheons. Tel. 168-12. 50-17 7992 J

To Let

FARMHOUSE—Of eleven rooms at Glen Cove on the upper road. Arranged for two families if desired. Will rent either tenement or house. Chance for a good business. House in excellent condition being newly painted white with green blinds. 2-story ell, bay window with inside shutters. Fine water in house, cement cellar, convenient to trolley, within 2 miles of city office. Rural and city views. For particulars call at adjoining farm, or address J. F. RICH, Rockland, Maine, R. F. D. No. 1. 7992 J

TO LET—Pleasant located cottage house of 9 rooms with bath in house, corner of Main and Warren streets. Inquire of H. T. SKEFFORTH, Fuller & Cobb. 7992 J

TO LET—Large room in Jones' Block suitable for office or workshop. Low rent. Apply at THE COURIER-GAZETTE OFFICE. 7992 J

For Sale

THE PARK NOVELTY CO.—With the stock now on hand and all privileges and papers which they hold, small capital required to develop to develop a business of importance. Address PARK NOVELTY CO. or M. M. FENTON, Rockland, Me. 7992 J

FOR SALE—KITCHEN RANGE and GAS STOVE. Cheap, must be sold this week. DR. FREEMAN, 31 Elm Street. 7992 J

FOR SALE—Parlor Stove—apply at SIMONSON'S STORE. 7992 J

FOR SALE—$75 buys a fine Piano, which is suitable for a hall, parlor or billiard hall. Two. Apply to E. E. SIMMONS, Rockland. 7992 J

FOR SALE—In Rockland, fine homestead of the late Nehemiah Weymouth, corner of Front and Maverick streets. Desirable for residence or tenement. A good tract on Maverick, the lot, corner of Jefferson and Maverick streets, two hundred and twenty-eight feet on Jefferson and one hundred and thirty feet on Maverick, with cooper shop and out buildings thereon. For further particulars apply to A. A. BEATON, 431 Main street, Rockland. 7992 J

FOR SALE—A 16 foot Mettelle row boat with 2 horse power four cycle gasoline engine all complete. Used 2 months last. I interested in same call or write to E. ANTON CRUE, Rockland. 7992 J

FOR SALE—One child pony, surly and harness. One lady saddle horse. Weight 950 pounds. Bob tail. Color light sorrel with light points. For particulars inquire of J. D. KITTERHUGH, Camden Ave. 7992 J

Miscellaneous

INSTRUCTION—Scientific Facial Massage, cures, Scalp Treatment and Manicuring taught by Madame Townsend of Boston, and New York. Most advanced methods. Evening pupils receive my personal attention. Tentative rates and demonstrations daily at FULLER & COBB'S. 76-79

DRESSMAKING—Mrs. Fannie S. Carleton has decided to close her dressmaking rooms and is open for engagements to go out by the day. Dressmaking in all its branches in the highest style of the art. ANNIE S. CARLETON 35 State Street, Rockland. 7992 J

NOTICE—Whereas my wife, Lizzie Lunt, has left my home, this is to forbid any persons trusting her on my account, as I shall hereafter pay no bills of her contracting with her. Tenaia Harbor, Me., Sept. 21, 1904. DANIEL R. LUNT. 7992 J

BOOKS Bought—Books, Pamphlets and common Magazines wanted. You may have some of no use to you which we shall be glad to buy. Will come to your residence if you have a good many. HUSTON'S BOOK STORE, Opposite Thorndike Hotel. 331-5

BORN

GRAY—North Deer Isle, Sept. 18, to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gray, a son.

ERICKSON—Sept. 23, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erickson, a daughter.

CARVER—Rockport, Sept. 23, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carver, a daughter.

DRICOLL—Rockport, Sept. 23, to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dricoll, a daughter—Madeline.

MAHONEY—Lincolnville Center, Sept. 17, to Mr. and Mrs. William Mahoney, a daughter.

NEWELL—Little Deer Isle, Sept. 16, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sewell, a daughter.

MARRIED

SHIBLES—Smith—Rockport, Sept. 26, by Rev. W. R. Bartlett, Ralph J. Shibles, and Miss Clara Mabel South of Charleston.

NEWBERT—Carver—Rockport, Sept. 24th, by Rev. W. R. Bartlett, Jacob Newbert and Eliza M. Carver, both of Rockport.

GILCHRIST—Conant—Rockland, August 29, William W. Gilchrist of Thomaston, and Anna D. Conant of Rockland.

GOLD—Macy—Camden, Sept. 19, by Rev. W. E. Lombard, Fred T. Gould, of Camden, and Annie B. Macy of Hope.

DIED

SHEPHERD—Rockland, Sept. 25, Susan T. (Keene) widow of Braden D. Shepherd, aged 75 years, 14 days.

HODGSON—Lincolnville Center, Sept. 23, Warren H. Hodgson, late of Rockland, aged 54 years, 11 months.

CHAPMAN—Lewiston, Sept. 26, William S. son of Sanford A. and Laura E. (Tibbette) Chapman, aged 27 years, 11 months.

L. L. Hooker of Bath has been appointed inspector of the Maine Sons of Veterans. This office was revived at the recent national encampment.

Rev. W. C. Carver of North Raymond will address the 4 o'clock meeting at the Y. M. C. A., Sunday.

Arrangements are being made for a piano recital by Edward Baxter Perry, under the auspices of the Beethoven Club. Further notice will be given.

There will be a sale of fancy articles, aprons, ice cream and cake at the Home for Aged Women, North Main street, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 6. All friends of the home are most cordially invited to attend this sale.

Steam fire engine City of Rockland has been returned from Manchester, N. H., where it has been for some months past receiving repairs at a cost of over $2,000. The repair shop sends along a guarantee that it will be a capable, well-behaved engine for 12 years.

The Maine Central train into Rockland Tuesday afternoon ran into and killed a cow which had strayed from its pasture. Two hours before a section hand had gone in search of the recalcitrant moolie and finally located her. He was holding the animal when the train came along but she broke from him and ran directly in front of the locomotive, thus meeting her doom.

The best sparring exhibition ever offered to Rockland, is the claim made for the 15-round bout this Friday evening between the Black Fitzsimmons of Hartford, Conn. and Charlie Haghey.

These scrappers are not shadowweights, but long-limbed, able-bodied men, with a carload of speed and all kinds of skill. Read our sporting column what Bryson says about a fake.

Steamer Monhegan was hauled off Wednesday and is now on the South Railway where she will receive an overhauling and repainting. She will also have a new propeller placed in position to replace the one which lost one of its fangs a few weeks ago. Capt. Archibald will superintend the repairs on the steamer. During his absence the Minola will run the route in charge of Capt. Stanley, who commanded her all summer between Portland and the Isle of Shoals.

C. U. Russ of Stonington has probably run more dances than any other man in the state and he is now at a packed house on Wattle hall, Thomaston, Oct. 13, on which date he will make someone a present of a beautiful new dress pattern. Wise ones will not miss this dance as Mr. Russ does exactly as he advertises and gives full value for money every time. Farnham will furnish music—six pieces. Nuff sed.

An illustrated lecture by Hon. John Wilder Fairbank of Boston will be the next entertainment under the auspices of the Epworth League, and will be given in the Methodist church, Wednesday evening, Oct. 12. Mr. Fairbank's subject is "Ben-Hur," and the thrilling scenes depicted in Gen. Lew Wallace's great book will be shown on the screen and described. The Charlie Race Grand March will be presented on the piano by Miss Lillian Perley Monday of Berkeley Temple, who also has three illustrated songs.

The Eastern Steamship Co. announces its fall schedule of four trips a week, which goes into effect Oct. 8. Steamers will leave for Rockland and Portland, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and returning will leave Boston Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. On the Bar Harbor division boats will leave for that port Tuesdays, Fridays and Sundays and return Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. The steamer James T. Morse will be withdrawn about Nov. 1st and the Catherine will take her place during the winter months.

Those who are going to Waterville to see the annual meeting of the Maine State Fair will be interested to know that special rates are granted by the boats from Rockland and Camden to Belfast. The rates are: Eastern S. S. Co., round trip one fare from Camden to Belfast, 65c. From Rockland, 80c. Steamer Merryconag, From Camden to Belfast and return, one fare 50c. Steamer Golden Rod, From Camden to Belfast and return, 40c. Steamer Merryconag and Golden Rod leave Camden at 12.30 p. m. and connect with 1.30 train out of Belfast, but with the 3.20 p. m. due in Waterville at 6.50 p. m. Fare from Belfast, $1.68.

So many false-alarm dramas "hits" and "great successes" are wanted to us from the great American Metropolis, that our theatre-going people cannot be blamed for looking with an eye of suspicion upon the preliminary announcements of many of the attractions making a bid for their patronage during the theatrical season. It is a pleasure, therefore, for the writer of these dramatics, who makes an honest effort to keep his readers posted on the really meritorious and consequently deserving attractions, to recommend the "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," which is to be seen in this city this Saturday evening, Oct. 1, at Farwell opera house. Owing to the large number of high priced attractions that are playing this state the management has decided to reduce the prices for this attraction from $1 to 75 cents, so special prices for this engagement have been changed as follows, 35, 50 and 75 cents. Advance sale now ready.

Albert J. Rawley, one of the active young Republican leaders in St. George, was in the city Tuesday and expressed the regret which is common with everybody over the ballot mixup in that town at the recent election. "We had worked very hard there," said Mr. Rawley, "and were anxious to show the other Republicans in the county what a good vote we could get out." Mr. Rawley is at present busy at Long Cove, where he has the contract for erecting two large buildings for Booth Bros. & Hurricane Isle Granite Co.'s plant. One of these buildings is a stone shed 100 feet long and 27 feet wide, and on which good prices have already been made. The other building will be a blacksmith shop 40x30 feet. The grindstone and forges are to be run by power from a gasoline engine. The granite company has about 100 men working at Long Cove, and is about to put on two more gangs. A large quantity of paving is being got out there as well as stone for the Baltimore custom house. Mr. Rawley has eight men working with him. He has lately built a house at Long Cove for Dana Wright, the company's blacksmith. Mr. Rawley in his capacity as fish warden is a frequent visitor at the Port Clyde sardine factory, and he says that that industry has had a remarkably successful first year. About 80 hands have been given employment and from 125 to 175 bushels of fish have been handled daily. The concern has difficulty in keeping abreast of its orders, so fast do they come in. A recent order was for a carload.

You can always find the most elegant Cut Glass and Sterling Silver at Spear's, 408 Main street. Their line of Bric-a-brac is unsurpassed. Look them over before purchasing.

FULLER & COBB

Have two thousand yards of Dark

Prints, suitable for Comforters, Dresses and Children's Wear, that they will sell for four and a half cents ($.04 1-2) the yard. This is exceptionally low as cotton goods are now being sold.

FULLER & COBB

Ernest V. Thompson who appealed from the decision of Judge Meeservey in the search and seizure case, has withdrawn his appeal and will take his medicine. He discovered that there wasn't much to be gained by remaining three months in jail awaiting a possible chance to stay there longer.

The house on Maple street, owned by Walker Brewster and occupied by William Benner, is being painted. The house has been raised a number of feet and now boasts a fine cellar as well as a new piazza, making it very neat and cosy structure. Minor repairs have been made to E. M. Stubbs' residence on Lincoln street.

W. G. Singh attended the state fair in Lewiston Wednesday and was much pleased with the show. Mr. Singh lays claim to being something of a farmer himself but when he saw a squash there that weighed 216 pounds he came away convinced that he was nothing but an amateur exponent of the agricultural art.

We shall soon know the official figures of the recent state election. Clerks' returns of the September election have been received at the office of the Secretary of State from all but three towns, Greenfield, Embden and Islesboro. There are several other towns, however, from which the official returns, to be tabulated by the council, are still lacking.

The powerful freight car of the Rockland, Thomaston & Camden Street Railway has been equipped with air brakes and whistles. When it came down through Main street for the first time this week Conductor Frank Storey set them all a-rubbing as he whistled the whistle. Our Street Railway is a 20th century affair, we would have you know.

The Democratic campaign flag which has been suspended between the Thorndike hotel and the Pillsbury-Corley block has been taken in, apparently for good. It does not seem to pose so far as the name on the bottom was concerned, while the names at the top do not particularly enthrall the local Democracy. The Republican flag is good for 15 months longer.

The native humor of John L. Donohue will leave a deep impression on the grand bodies met in Bangor Wednesday night, bubbled to the surface again the other morning, when one of the guests sent down word that he would like some heat in his room. "All right," said John to the bell boy, "go up and ruse the shades." The young man who tells this story on Clerk Donohue is quite Foxy himself.

The annual session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs will be held in Bangor, Oct. 18 and 19. The grand bodies met in Bangor three years ago. The Rebekah assembly will meet Oct. 18, commencing at nine o'clock and continue through the day. The grand lodge will meet Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

C. N. Chatto, one of the Rockland assessors, was sitting in the shed adjoining his house on Gay street Tuesday afternoon, when he was startled by the crash of breaking glass directly in front of him. Thinking that children might have smashed the window while at play he arose to investigate and found a partridge lying on the sidewalk. He picked it up and the window pane had killed it instantly.

Miss Laura E. Rhodes, who resides at the corner of Warren and Brewster street, had a narrow escape from a serious burning accident Monday night. A light lamp accidentally fell from the table, and Miss Rhodes, who was sitting near it half asleep, awoke just in time to save herself. As it was her eyebrows and hair were quite badly scorched. She succeeded, however, in extinguishing the flames, but some articles in the room were burned and the house badly smoked.

The Maine Central announces its annual excursion to Rockland and Thomaston, the date of which is Saturday, Oct. 8. An opportunity will be given for a visit to Rockport and Camden on the electric road and arrangements have been made so that excursionists may visit the principal departments of nature at Thomaston. The excursionists will arrive at Thomaston at 10.32, and Rockland at 10.42, and returning, will take the regular train leaving Rockland at 1.40 and 9 p. m. Tickets for the round trip, including admission to the prison, will be sold at Augusta for $1.30, and will be good for a return until Monday.

The new schedule of free mail delivery for the Rockland office goes into effect today (Oct. 1st) with the services by seven carriers, Jesse Pearl Billings, who has been a substitute carrier for about a year, being promoted to the chief place of this territory, upon which he has been assisting through the summer. His service will be extended to take in McIntosh hill, and also the western portions of Park and Pleasant streets.

Some of the contemplated extensions will serve houses that never have yet had free delivery. Extra mail boxes are to be erected to convenience this new territory. As the redistricting is necessarily made on an experimental basis it may take a few weeks to adjust it to the needs of patrons. Changes that may be suggested can easily be made. Once the seven carriers and the mail delivery is really working to the best advantage there will be but few houses in the city limits that free delivery does not reach, and in this respect there will doubtless be but few cities in the country so well served as Rockland.

The new arrangement further purposes to provide the city with two complete deliveries a day. This will be possible for all parts except those served by rural and a few houses lying at the extreme limits of the new territory. Hitherto the city has had one full delivery a day, the other one being only partial, having to be governed by the eight hour rule under which carriers work, and often causing great annoyance to patrons. The business portion will have its usual evening delivery and to this is to be added a delivery not hitherto attempted, namely, as soon after the arrival of the mail as 10.40 a. m. train as the carriers may be able to get out. This, as is known, is the mail that for eight months of the year (when the night pullman service is not in effect) brings the heavy business correspondence. The idea is for carriers to make a quick delivery of this mail upon Main and adjacent streets, enabling merchants and others to reply to letters in time to get the afternoon mail, fetching their correspondence back to Boston the following morning, gaining a day over the system of delivery hitherto in vogue.

It is believed that these improvements will commend themselves to all who do business, little or much, with the local postoffice. It may be added that the interest of the patrons is the thing desired first to be considered by every person officially connected with the Rockland office, and suggestions from patrons looking to the improvement of the service in any particular will always be cordially welcomed.

EAST WARREN.

The entertainment at Mt. Pleasant Grange hall Tuesday evening for the benefit of the grange, by Mrs. M. A. Johnson of Rockland, was listened to by a large and appreciative audience. Mrs. Johnson's ability to characterize her readings is very wonderful. She held the close attention of the audience for an hour and a half, with the assistance of Reuben Tolman with a few graphophone selections. The entertainment was so highly appreciated that she was engaged for another reading, which will be announced later.

Thomas Dilant is repairing his barn, with a new coat of shingles, etc. Chester McIntyre has engaged to cooper for D. A. Packard through the fall and winter.

Tonight's sparring match is between two of the best men in the New England ring.

You can exchange

Anything you don't want to keep for something you do want

By Advertising in The Courier-Gazette

The Courier-Gazette goes into a larger number of families in Knox county than any other paper published

CIDER APPLES SAVE THEM

We are installing a Powerful Power CIDER PRESS and Grinder. Bring in your APPLES.

ROCKPORT GRIST MILL ROCKPORT, ME. 7992 J

ISTOVE NOTICE

People generally believe that new stoves are very high this fall. A visit to my store will show you that this is not the case. My line of stoves is within the reach of even a modest purse. My line of

RANGES FROM $20 UP

EVERY RANGE IS GUARANTEED Parlor Stoves, $5 00 UP

NEW AND SECOND-HAND Open Every Evening Tel. 169-4 SMITH III No. Main St. 7992 J

ROCKLAND'S MAIL SERVICE.

The New System With Seven Carriers Goes Into Effect Today.

The new schedule of free mail delivery for the Rockland office goes into effect today (Oct. 1st) with the services by seven carriers, Jesse Pearl Billings, who has been a substitute carrier for about a year, being promoted to the chief place of this territory, upon which he has been assisting through the summer. His service will be extended to take in McIntosh hill, and also the western portions of Park and Pleasant streets.

Some of the contemplated extensions will serve houses that never have yet had free delivery. Extra mail boxes are to be erected to convenience this new territory. As the redistricting is necessarily made on an experimental basis it may take a few weeks to adjust it to the needs of patrons. Changes that may be suggested can easily be made. Once the seven carriers and the mail delivery is really working to the best advantage there will be but few houses in the city limits that free delivery does not reach, and in this respect there will doubtless be but few cities in the country so well served as Rockland.

The new arrangement further purposes to provide the city with two complete deliveries a day. This will be possible for all parts except those served by rural and a few houses lying at the extreme limits of the new territory. Hitherto the city has had one full delivery a day, the other one being only partial, having to be governed by the eight hour rule under which carriers work, and often causing great annoyance to patrons. The business portion will have its usual evening delivery and to this is to be added a delivery not hitherto attempted, namely, as soon after the arrival of the mail as 10.40 a. m. train as the carriers may be able to get out. This, as is known, is the mail that for eight months of the year (when the night pullman service is not in effect) brings the heavy business correspondence. The idea is for carriers to make a quick delivery of this mail upon Main and adjacent streets, enabling merchants and others to reply to letters in time to get the afternoon mail, fetching their correspondence back to Boston the following morning, gaining a day over the system of delivery hitherto in vogue.

It is believed that these improvements will commend themselves to all who do business, little or much, with the local postoffice. It may be added that the interest of the patrons is the thing desired first to be considered by every person officially connected with the Rockland office, and suggestions from patrons looking to the improvement of the service in any particular will always be cordially welcomed.

WANTED

Two Table Girls Wanted at the

the THORNDIKE

7992 J

SPECIAL DENTAL NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

DR. H. L. RICHARDS GRADUATE DENTIST

WITH DR. DAMON FOR THE PAST NINE YEARS Has changed his location to 302 Main St., Spear Block, over Kittredge's Drug Store.

OFFICE AT THE SIGN OF THE BIG D TELEPHONE 305-12

On Monday October Third!

Mr. Blakestee, representing one of the largest cloak houses in New York, will be at our store for the entire day, showing the newest creations in

Fall & Winter Coats And Suits

You are cordially invited to be present MONDAY, OCT. THIRD at Simonton's Dept. Store

Huston's Lending Library

386 MAIN STREET ROCKLAND, MAINE.

TERMS

For Use of Each Book for 3 Days or less, 10c. For More than 3 Days, 3 cts per day.

...CONDITIONS OF LOAN... No Book to be kept out longer than 20 Days.

We will not take back any books unless they are returned within a month, but shall demand instead full retail price of Book.

HUSTON'S BOOKSTORE

ROCKLAND, ME. Opposite Thorndike Hotel

CHURCH NOTES

Rev. Wm. J. Day will preach at the First Baptist church Sunday morning. Services at the Adventist church, Willow street, Sunday as usual. Preaching by Dr. A. W. Taylor.

At St. Peter's church Sunday: Litany, address and holy communion at 10.30; evening prayer and sermon at 7.30.

Services in the Universalist church Sunday as usual. Rev. S. G. Davis of Portland will preach at 10.30 a. m. Sunday school at 12 m.

There will be the usual services at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, at 11 o'clock. The subject of the lesson sermon will be, "Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?"

At the Free Baptist church Sunday there will be preaching at 10.30 o'clock by Rev. W. W. Carver of East Raymond. Sunday school at 12. Evangelistic services at 7.30 in the evening.

Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe will preach at the Methodist church Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock. His subject will be, "Falling Leaves." Sunday school at 12. The primary department is under the management of Mrs. Charles Meservey. Epworth League at 6. The evening services will be at 7.15 and the subject will be, "A Foolish King and His Sharp Pocketknife." During the services there will be a baptism of adults.

Earl Marshall and Kenneth Blackington walked to the Union fair Wednesday and also hooped it part of the way back. They started "broke" but saw the whole show and returned with money in their pockets. Ask them how they did it.

PROGRAMME

FIRST DAY All exhibits complete early in a. m. Baby Show 2.30 p. m.—over 30 new. Free entertainment—music. Drama, evening.

SECOND DAY In addition to usual features, a special effort to make large display of live stock ever shown in the county. There will be 200 cows and about 100 hogs, etc.

DON'T MISS THIS DAY Evening—Free entertainment, judging and awarding premiums.

Over the Border

Copyright, 1903, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

By...
ROBERT BARR.
Author of "Jennie Baxter, Journalist," Etc.

CHAPTER XXI.

THERE had been a lashing of rain and a clatter of thunder over Northampton in the night, as if the town were again besieged, but morning broke clear and beautiful, and when the pilgrims got out into the country again the freshness of the air, the sparkle of the raindrops on the trees, caused the world to seem newly made. The girl rode silent and thoughtful, but the young man was bubbling over with high spirits. He suddenly threw back his head and laughed aloud, as if some humorous recollection had come to him.

"That poor officer must have thought me mad. When I came in from the stables I called for the landlady and asked where you were. She said you were in your room. I then requested her to find out if you would see me for a moment, and without reply she disappeared up the stairs. I waited and waited, but she did not return. The officer was now by my side, chattering away about something to which I gave no attention. All at once the absurd idea struck me that you were with Cromwell, taken there by the officer, and that Old Noll was browbeating you and threatening you, to learn something of me and what I was about."

"No one asked me anything about you or your business," said the girl.

"Of course not. I see that plainly now, but I give you my word it was real enough then. Without a word of warning I broke in on the amazed officer and shouted, 'Where is General Cromwell?' The man looked dumfounded, as well he might. Then he answered quietly enough, 'The general is in the castle, half a mile from here.' Even then a glimmer of sense came to me, and I explained that the general had passed us that afternoon, and I wondered if he had stopped at Northampton. The officer said he had, and next moment the landlady appeared at the stairs head, and you a moment or two after. What tricks imagination can play with a man!"

"I was as anxious as you were last night, and shall always think of Northampton as the gloomiest town I ever saw."

"I am glad to be quit of it. I wonder if that officer has given us the right direction? It seems to me that we should be hearing farther south for Oxford. But perhaps the road takes a turn presently."

"The road is right for the way we are going. We pass through Banbury, which is not much longer than the direct route. I intend to leave Old John at Banbury, and with him this permit, which will be a danger to carry until we turn north again. Banbury is on the straight road to Scotland, which I suppose will be the way you go on your return."

"You are right in that. I'll travel north as the crow flies if I can."

"Then what say you to making Banbury our first stop on the homeward run after we leave Oxford, taking early to the road the next morning?"

"How far is Banbury from Oxford?"

"Less than thirty miles, I think."

"Oh, we can do better than that. I must make from seventy to one hundred miles a day on my road home."

"There is sometimes real speed in apparent slowness."

"True. We shall be guided by circumstances, of course. Much will depend on the hour of the day we are done with Oxford."

Frances said nothing more, for she saw that the stop at Banbury would have to be managed from Oxford, and that it would require some tact on her part to arrange it. The ever increasing moon was against her, for if there was much delay at Oxford, not only would Armstrong be the more impatient to get north, but night would soon be almost as light as day, and therefore travel would only be limited by the endurance of themselves and their horses. She wished Cromwell had selected some spot at least fifty miles farther away than Banbury, but, with a sigh, accepted the conditions presented to her and resolved to do her best.

At Banbury she had no difficulty in leading her unsuspecting comrade to the Banbury Arms, and there they left Old John with his crippled horse. The landlady was a quiet, furtive looking man, with a manner that suggested an intermittent glancing over the shoulder. Frances resolved to say nothing to him at this time, believing they had come so quickly from Northampton that she was in advance of any instructions he was to receive, but in this she was mistaken. With Cromwell to decide was to act, and some one had evidently come through in the night. While they waited, waiting the preparation of a meal, the soft footed innkeeper, watching his opportunity, drew the girl aside and asked her if she possessed a pass; if so he would like to see it. He was very apologetic, saying all public house keepers so near to Oxford were compelled by the military charge of the town to assure themselves that travelers who stopped with them were properly vouched for, otherwise it would be his duty to detain them and report to the local commandant. She presented the pass to him without a word, and he read it in silence, then looked at her as if he expected some comment. At last he said: "Perhaps you intend to stop here on your return?"

"Yes. Have you received instructions already?"

"I have, and everything is prepared. Would you come up now and look at the room? Then, if for any reason I am not here when you come back you will see that no mistake is made."

He took her to an upper room and explained to her the action of the concealed door, which moved without a sound on well oiled hinges.

"During the night you occupy this room, I shall have a horse ready and will be in waiting for you myself until morning. I am to show you the way to the castle. You will find the road to Oxford without impediment until you reach the lines of the king. I hope you will have a safe sojourn there and a speedy return."

The girl thanked him for his good wishes with what courtesy she could call to her aid, for at heart she loathed him, his smooth, oily, ingratiating manner and his shifty glance making her shiver with repulsion. Yet, she said to herself, conscience accusing, this man was merely an assistant in a deed where she herself acted the leading part. He was a mercenary, doubtless, doing what he was bid, but against a stranger and an enemy, while she plotted against a friend and a man who trusted her.

Fervently she prayed that Providence might intervene between the resolution and its accomplishment, in some way rendering her project unnecessary. There was a slight hope that the suspicious king might not receive Armstrong as the envoy of the Scots. He carried no credentials, and Charles, if he employed him, must accept the borderer's unsupported word that he was what he declared himself to be. She feared that Charles was in such straits that he would clutch at any straw, but hoped his natural distrust would come into play, so that Armstrong might return empty handed to Scotland, while she would be relieved of this fell betrayal, from which, as events stood, she saw no way of escape.

Glad was she to leave Banbury behind her, but tremblingly did she dread the time when she should see it again. The road, as the innkeeper had predicted, was clear, and now for the first time during that journey she was alone with her fellow traveler, old John pottering over his lame horse in the stables of the Banbury inn.

The spirits of the young man were as high as those of the girl were low. He saw that for some reason unknown to him she was depressed, and he tried to banter her into a more cheerful frame of mind; but, this effort bringing with it indifferent success, he broke out into song and caroled to her some of the border ballads.

Several times the obedient Bruce, guided by an unseen touch, edged close to her, but Armstrong could not fail to perceive that the girl shrank from his proximity, and this abashed him, silencing his song and jocularities. But a lover must be bold if he would prosper. Here was a heaven sent opportunity, and what more can a man ask than that? In an hour or two they would be in the midst of a thronged city, where she would meet the friends she expected to see. Who could predict what might happen? It was possible she would elect to remain in Oxford. One or more of her friends might accompany her back to Durham. Now or never was the motto. Yet he had not the least notion how he ought to begin, but thought that in such a crisis a great deal must depend on the presentation of the case. Why had he let slip so many chances of getting information on a subject that now loomed with new importance before him? They had gone a mile or two in silence; a silence in marked contrast to his sonorous setting out. Frances feared that her seemingly sullen indifference had offended him, and, glancing surreptitiously at him from under her long lashes, met his own eyes fixed upon her. She smiled a little and said:

"Have you no more songs?"

"I have one more," he answered, speaking hurriedly, "but I have never sung it before, and am just a little in doubt how to begin. I think if I got the measure of it I could carry it on, but am not sure."

"Very well, let me hear the song. Is it one of those fighting ballads?"

"No. It is a love song, pure and simple."

"Oh!" said the girl, with a coldness that froze instantly his budding enthusiasm. She sat up straight on her horse and turned her face resolutely toward Oxford, as if she did not approve the tendency of the conversation. Armstrong was stricken dumb at finding his indirect course thus blocked before him. The girl was the first to speak.

"I wonder how soon we will be in sight of Oxford," she said.

"Not for a long time, I hope."

"Why do you say that? Are you not as eager as I to reach Oxford?"

"There are some important matters to be settled before we come to the end of our journey."

Frances directed upon him a look of troubled resolution. Intuitively she knew that they were come to the edge of a declaration which she had hoped might be avoided. Several times on the way the danger seemed to approach and vanish, but now the glow of his luminous eyes were not to be mistaken. In them she read a consuming love of herself which was not to be balked, yet which must be balked, and so it became now or never with her, as it was with him.

"What important matters are to be settled?" she asked firmly.

All courage seemed to desert him under the intensity of her survey, but with the docility of his race he urged himself forward, yet not in a direct line.

"We must decide in what guise you are to enter Oxford."

"Sir, you force me unduly. You drive me toward confession. Plying him is my witness that I hold naught against you. You must accept my answer as final and let us have an end of this fruitless and embarrassing conversation. I can never marry you."

"There is but one circumstance to prevent it."

This remark certainly had the effect of throwing the holder of the fortress off her guard. It swept away the tribulation from her brow. After all, the case might not be so serious as she had thought, and jubilantly she welcomed the respite, for she had no wish to add a humiliation to the wrong which fate had decreed she should work upon him. She breathed a sigh of relief and said:

"What guise? I'm afraid I do not understand."

"You see, hitherto we have been shielded by a pass. Its wearing was such that little inquiry was made about either of us. Now, for the first time, we have no protection, and what we say to those who accost us must prove our safeguard. I shall be asked who you are. I told your brother that I would treat you as if you were my own sister, but I cannot call you my sister at Oxford."

"Why not?"

"For one reason, because you go to meet friends who know that I am not your brother, and if inquiry is made we are at a disadvantage."

"True, true! I had forgotten."

"Another reason is that if we claimed such relationship no one would believe us, for your hair is as black as the raven's wing and mine is like the yellow corn."

"I had not thought of that," she said.

"But I thought of it, and also of a way to circumvent it. If they ask who the lady is I shall tell them she is my betrothed."

"No, no, no!" gasped the girl.

He was now close by her side and endeavored to take her hand, but she held it from him.

"You say no because you will not act a lie, and I honor you for your truth. You are robbed in truth, my beloved, as an angel is!"

"Oh, cease, cease, I beg of you!"

"Frances, this is the song that bubbles in my heart, and if my lips could worthily fulfill their prompting I would put it to such words and such music as woman never listened to before. But, lacking eloquence, I can only say, My lady, I love you."

"And I can only say I am sorry if this be so."

"If I know it now that you tell it to me?"

"You do not love me?"

"No."

"And cannot?"

"And cannot."

"You would even rob me of all hope, the lover's guiding star?"

"If you call it robbing to take from you what should never have been possessed."

"Why should I not have possessed that hope? Is it because I am untitled, while you are the daughter of the man who was the proudest peer in England?"

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

Miss Whittaker, a prominent club woman of Savannah, Ga., tells how she was entirely cured of ovarian troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a Uterine Tonic and Regulator. I suffered for four years with irregularities and terrible troubles. No one but those who have experienced this dreadful agony can form any idea of the physical and mental misery those endure who are thus afflicted. Your Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I was fully restored to health and strength, and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to be able to obtain such a remedy when so many doctors fail to help you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is better than any doctor or medicine I ever had. Very truly yours, Miss EAST WHITTAKER, 604 30th St., W. Savannah, Ga.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

THE testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women prove beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.

"Then believe that circumstance exists."

"You love another?"

"I do not."

The young man laughed joyously, but no corresponding smile disturbed the set lips of the girl. When he accused her of loving another she glanced up at him for one brief moment and answered before she thought, wishing her reply recalled as soon as it was uttered, for if she had agreed with him he himself had said it was at an end. Bitterly did she regret her heedless destruction of the barrier which would have separated them. Now she must erect another more terrible, more complete, be the consequences what they may.

"Sir, you laugh. I am glad your heart is light, for mine is heavy enough. If I loved another 'twere a small matter, for the man were not likely so estimable in a woman's eyes as you are. As I have said, you drive me toward confession, and here is one bold enough for a maiden to make. I admit you please me well, and if I had loved another—a woman's affection is fickle—you were like to benefit by its transference. But there is an obstacle

"You do not love me?"

"No."

"And cannot?"

"And cannot."

"You would even rob me of all hope, the lover's guiding star?"

"If you call it robbing to take from you what should never have been possessed."

"Why should I not have possessed that hope? Is it because I am untitled, while you are the daughter of the man who was the proudest peer in England?"

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

"Titles are naught to do with it. 'Titles are but a breath—still, men have intrigned for them, have sold their souls for them, as others have bartered for gold. That shall I do. I thought never to beg from any man, yet for this king I stake my life, and it is but fair he should cover my wages. I will say to him, I go to Scotland on your behalf, through an enemy's country. Death or treachery dog every

JAMES WIGHT,
Park Place, ROCKLAND, ME.
PRACTICAL GAS AND STEAM FITTING
And dealer in Pipe and Steam Fittings, Rubber
Packing, Hemp Packing, Cotton Wale, and all Goods pertaining to STEAM AND GAS FITTINGS.
Steam and Hot Water House Heating.
Agent for BLAKE & KNOWLES STEAM PUMPS.

A. J. Erskine & Co.
Fire Insurance Agency,
417 MAIN STREET - ROCKLAND, ME.
Office, rear room over Rockland Nat'l Bank.
Leading American and English Fire Insurance Companies represented.
Traveler's Accident Insurance Company
Hartford, Conn.

W. S. SHOREY
BOOK BINDER

THOMASTON HAPPENINGS

FOUND HELPLESS ON FLOOR.

John Copeland, aged 76 years and a brother of H. G. Copeland of this town, was found Wednesday morning on the floor in the porch at his home, where he had fallen, and laid in a semi-conscious condition for three days and nights. Mr. Copeland lives "across the bay" on the old homestead, where he has kept house all alone ever since his wife died over a year ago. He is a member of the Pleasant Valley Grange and always has been a regular attendant at the meetings of this organization. He had invited his brother's daughter, Mrs. Leander Thorndike, to become a member of the Grange, which she had decided to do, and was supposed to have met Mr. Copeland at the meeting Tuesday evening last, but to her surprise he was not present. Wednesday morning, in company with her husband, Mrs. Thorndike drove to the home of Mr. Copeland and upon entering the house discovered the occupant lying on the floor, weak, half-conscious and in a pitiable condition. He had just enough strength left to tell his visitors that Sunday morning he began to feel unwell and when he was suddenly taken ill and soon lapsed into a helpless condition. He was unable to move except by hitching along with his elbows but could not raise himself from the floor and could get nothing to eat. Had nobody visited the house Wednesday he probably would have died before night. Medical assistance was summoned. The cause is attributed to a shock. Mr. Copeland is now in a precarious condition and it is feared that he will not survive the attack.

The Thomaston Art Club will hold its next meeting, Oct. 10 at the home of Mrs. A. C. Strout.

The ice cream and cake sale at the home of Judge A. N. Linscott and wife, Knox street, Wednesday evening was a successful affair. Over $15 was netted. The proceeds were for the benefit of the Congregational church. Many Thomaston persons have been attending court this week in Rockland, where they have been listening to the Campbell will case on trial there.

The G. I. Robinson Drug Co.'s neat and attractive advertising wagon started out this week in charge of H. W. Carpenter of Jefferson, who is to travel all through Maine.

Miss Margaret Seavey has gone to Woonsocket, R. I. The souvenir postal card girl has nearly reached the 300 mark in the number of postals she has received. The concert and ball given by the Camden band at Watts hall Wednesday evening had a small attendance. The band played well, however.

Misses Abbie and Bessie Creamer left Wednesday for Nashua, N. H. Misses Margaret and Mary Jordan have returned from a visit in Cambridge, Mass.

Dr. G. L. Crockett has purchased a nice looking four-year-old black colt. Edward Shibles and brother Fred of New York City have been visiting their old home here for a week. They returned this Friday. The former is a well known patrolman on the New York police force and the latter is a sergeant. Ed is looking as strong and robust as ever and weighs 210 pounds. Mrs. T. A. Carr is visiting in Round Pond.

Mrs. W. J. Jameson and daughter Helen, who have been visiting in Damariscotta, have returned home. They will be a sociable at the High school building this Friday evening.

"I wish I were a turtle so that I could crawl into my shell," was the remark made by a Bath young lady, who is visiting in Thomaston, but at the time she made her longing wish was standing on the platform at the Warren railroad station waiting for the train to convey her to Thomaston.

The Washburn brothers, P. L. Denison, J. A. Levensaler and C. A. Creighton went to Lewiston Thursday to attend the annual meeting of the Shriners.

Under the direction of Mrs. Bessie Smith Little a very pleasing and interesting entertainment was given at Friendship, Wednesday evening. Misses Cora Russell, Lena Hanley, Mary and Annie Jameson, Ella and Edith Sampson also attended. Mrs. Little is a teacher in the schools at Friendship and the proceeds of the entertainment were given to purchasing a flag for the school house in which Mrs. Little teaches. The entertainment was very successful.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Winchenbach and daughter Lelia, accompanied by Miss Alida Hyler went to Boston Thursday night, where the two former persons will look after millinery styles. Their fall opening of millinery will take place Oct. 15.

G. I. ROBINSON, Established 1850.

GEO. H. GARDINER, Manager

THE G. I. ROBINSON DRUG CO.,
Wholesale, Retail and Manufacturing.
DRUGGISTS and STATIONERS.

We send Drugs and Medicines by mail, and we guarantee that everything will be satisfactory. Our half-century of business has gained for us the confidence of the people. Send for anything you want—we will send it by return mail.

Main Street, THOMASTON, ME.

KUPPENHEIMER'S "REGENT"

BLACKS, OXFORDS
and Fancy Mixtures$15.00
to $25.00To-day the leading professional and business men of two countries are wearingKuppenheimer
CLOTHESand they are frank and fair enough to acknowledge that—save in the case of deformed men—they are equal to the best made to measure clothes.

LEVI SEAVEY

TRADE CENTER - THOMASTON

YOUR HEADACHES

May be due to an existing form of

EYE STRAIN

Do not delay to have your eyes examined, and be accurately fitted for glasses.

CHAS. A. DeCOSTA, Eyesight Specialist

Office Hours: Thomaston, Saturdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.
At Camden Jewelry Co., Thursdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Strout's Harvest of Farm Bargains

Is the title of an illustrated booklet, just out, describing 100 big bargains in New England. Money-making, Farming, it will be mailed FREE. A few on easy terms with stock, tools and crops included to settle estates quickly. If you want a quick sale write us for our FREE description booklet. We require no payment in advance. We use our own money to advertise your property. More than 500 sales in Maine alone. Write 100 to men from 20 States in one letter. Use to you that our methods are right. Local agents everywhere. Address E. A. STROUT, 150 N. Main St., New York City, or Tremont, N. H. Agents: Boston, Mass., or Kent's Hill, Maine.

HER BLOOD TOO THIN

GENERAL DEBILITY RESULTS
FROM IMPOVERISHED BLOOD.The Remedy That Makes New Blood Banishes Weakness, Headache, Indigestion and Nervous Troubles.

Hundreds of women suffer from headaches, dizziness, restlessness, a languid feeling that makes all work a burden and a timidity that keeps them in constant fear of some vague disaster. Few realize that their misery all comes from the bad state of their blood and that it can be relieved at small expense and with very little trouble. They take one thing for their head and another for their stomach, and a third for their nerves, and yet all the while it is simply their poor blood that is the cause of all their discomfort.

If one sure remedy for making good, rich blood were used everyone of their distressing ailments would disappear, as they did in the case of Mrs. Ella F. Stone, who had been ailing for years and was completely run down before she realized the nature of her trouble. The particulars of Mrs. Stone's illness and recovery, as stated by herself are as follows: "For several years I suffered from General Debility. It began about 1894. I do not know the exact cause, but it began to show itself in the form of nervousness, steady headaches. Up to 1900 I hadn't been able to find any relief from this condition. Then I was in a pronounced anemic state. I was very thin and bloodless. A friend who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a difficulty of the blood and was enthusiastic over the results urged me to give them a trial. I finally bought a box.

"I did not notice any marked change from the use of the first box, but I determined to give them a fair trial and I kept on. When I had finished the second box I could see very decided signs of improvement in my condition. Day after day the evidence that they were doing me good grew stronger. I began to feel better all over, and I began to have hopes of a complete cure.

"I used in all eight or ten boxes, and when I stopped I had got back my regular weight and a good healthy color, and the gain has lasted. I can eat what I please without discomfort. My nervousness is entirely gone, and while I had constant headache before, I very rarely have one now. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to women who suffer as I did.

"Mrs. Stone was seen at her pretty home in Lakewood, R. I., where she is well known, and where, as the result of her experience, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are to be found in many households. These famous pills, which are sold by all druggists, a book that every woman needs is published by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. It is entitled "Plain Talks to Women" and will be sent free on request.

VINALHAVEN

Miss Maude Libby and Miss Louise Talbot returned Tuesday from a visit in Roxbury, Mass.

Miss Mae Pendleton visited Rockland Tuesday. She has returned from a trip to New York.

Miss Etta Perry of Presque Isle is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Lane.

Miss Clara Calderwood left Tuesday for Weymouth, Mass.

Madam Marie Fowler of Boston was at the Central House, Monday.

Miss Helen Carver has been visiting friends in Rockland this week.

P. H. Glidden spent Tuesday in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison Huntress returned Tuesday to Boston.

Leslie Turner and Mrs. Carrie Young, representing W. O. Hewitt & Co., were at Rockland Wednesday and Thursday this week exhibiting a fine line of fall and winter coats and suits.

Beginning Oct. 1 the stores on Main street will close on Tuesday and Friday evenings at 6 o'clock, other nights at 7 o'clock except Saturday when they will be kept open as usual. On and after Nov. 1 the stores will close every night except Saturday at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. E. C. Wharf went to Boston, Wednesday.

Mrs. J. E. Roberts has been elected president of the Ladies' Reading Club, Miss Sanborn having resigned because of her absence from town this winter.

Mrs. Lee T. Gray has accepted the office of secretary which was filled by Mrs. Roberts. The first meeting will be held Oct. 10, subject, "The New England Poets."

Miss Norcross, High school assistant, is forming a class in shorthand. Those who desire to study.

Mrs. E. C. Manton, delightfully entertained the members of the W. I. N. Club at her home Tuesday evening. A supper of baked lobster, stuffed potatoes, cream pie, peach preserves, and a delicious coffee was served in the dining room which was prettily decorated with flowers. Each guest brought an apron which was presented to the hostess as a souvenir.

Frank Rogers visited Rockland, Monday.

Jesse Bradstreet left Thursday for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Edgar Hinds, in Bigelow.

Mrs. Laura Smith returned Wednesday from a visit with relatives in Bangor.

Supt. Coombs went to Stonington, Tuesday.

Course tickets for the Citizens' Entertainment may be checked now at O. P. Lyon's. First evening, Oct. 4, with the Hawthorne Musical Novelty Co.

The Citizens' Entertainment course for 1904-5 program is as follows: Oct. 4, Hawthorne Musical Co.; Nov. 12, John Thomas Concert Co.; Dec. 1, A Day and a Night with the Life Savers—cornerford; April 14, Lecture, Three Peas in a Pod; A. S. Gray. Course tickets $1, reserved $1.40, children 75c, reserved $1, single seats 50c, reserved 40c, children 25c, reserved 30c. The attractions are furnished by the White Star Entertainment Co. of Boston. The entertainments will be held in Memorial hall and everyone in Vinalhaven should attend.

IF YOU'RE SICK

Why don't you try a dose of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters before each meal and at bed-time. You'll be surprised at the amount of good it will do you. It has cured thousands of sickly men and women in the past and won't fail you now. It is unequalled for curing Piles, Appetite, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Nausea, Female Complaints and Malaria. Try a bottle and test it for yourself. Avoid substitutes.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

CAMDEN

Considerable excitement was caused Wednesday by a shooting affair which occurred about 1 o'clock near the corner of Cross and Mountain streets. J. E. Boardman, who owns several tenements on Cross street, had some trouble with a Mr. Heal, a tenant, and meeting him on the street after some words were exchanged and shot. Mr. Heal, Mr. Heal was assisted to Mr. Allen's stable by his brother, where a physician was called. He was later taken to the hospital in Rockland. The wound was not considered dangerous.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Clark are visiting in Boston and vicinity for a few days. Richard Howarth returned Wednesday from a short business trip in Boston.

Charles Veazie, night operator at the telephone office, has gone to Boston for a short visit.

Miss Louise Thomas has returned from a visit with her parents in Bucksport.

Miss Sarah Wiggin returned the first of the week from a visit with relatives in Bangor and Levant.

Mrs. W. H. Armstrong will sing at the Baptist church next Sunday morning.

Among those of our summer residents who have left this week for their homes are: Geo. B. Phelps and family, Chas. Tracy and family, A. M. Judson and family, A. B. Hillier and family, Mrs. E. J. Parker and Lorenzo Bull.

Mrs. A. W. Keene and daughter Edith have returned to their home in Winthrop, Mass., after several weeks' visit in town, guests at Mrs. Keene's sisters, Mrs. F. M. Richards.

Arthur Melvin has returned from a short visit in Belfast.

L. M. Chandler has been in Boston this week on a business trip.

"Al" Edwards, the popular clerk at the Bay View, has returned from a short visit in Portland.

George B. Allen was in Boston this week on a business trip.

Capt. and Mrs. Carver of Union street have returned from a visit in Belfast.

Harry Carter, who has for several weeks been employed here with the Eastern Telephone Co., left the first of the week for Belfast where he will continue his work.

J. F. Ward and family left Wednesday for their home in Boston after spending the summer at Megunticook cottage.

J. D. Snell, E. H. Johnson and L. P. Kelly were among the passengers to Boston on Monday night's boat.

Mrs. Small of Deer Isle has returned to her home after a short visit with her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Benson, Central street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Glover have returned from a carriage drive through the country.

H. M. Bean, R. L. Bean, E. J. Ward, E. E. Ingraham and W. P. Dabee and J. R. Glover attended the fair in Lewiston this week.

J. F. Ward, W. F. Hooper, V. G. Goulding, Mrs. Edward E. Smith and Ralph Paul were among the passengers to Boston Wednesday.

Charles Pullen attended the North Knox fair in Union this week. Arthur Melvin took his place as letter carrier.

E. E. Ingraham and "Wash" Ingraham are expected home this week from an extended visit in California and Washington. On their return trip they visited the Exposition at St. Louis, and in St. Paul and several other prominent cities.

Mrs. L. M. Chandler left last night for a short visit in Boston.

The Baptist ladies' circle met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. George Allen. The next meeting will be held with Miss Teresa F. Arau, Sea street.

CUSHING.

Mr. and Mrs. Prazier Feyler, sons Edward and Carl of Thomaston, were guests of relatives in town Saturday.

Willie Paul has purchased a boat of Farnham Stone.

Mrs. Eli Maloney, Jr. and infant daughter, Carolyn Pearl, and Miss Olive Rivers are visiting relatives in Malden, Mass. for a few weeks.

Rev. Sydney Packard of South Waldoboro preached at the Baptist church last Sunday morning.

Iddo Turner and bride of East Friendship were guests in town Sunday.

The war men report large catches of herring with a dull market for disposing of them.

Hiram Chadwick, Miss Jennie Maloney and Mrs. George Robbins of Port Clyde were at Fred Maloney's, Sunday.

Abbie Miller of Rockland has been a recent guest of relatives and friends in town.

Schoner Sam'l Hart, Maloney, passed this place Sunday bound for Thomaston with coal for J. A. Creighton & Co.

Mrs. Rebecca Robinson has been at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edna Orr, the past few days.

Bert Geyer lost a large flock of nearly grown up chickens a short time ago. They crowded into a pen, and the ventilator becoming closed the fowls smothered to death. They were a choice flock of R. I. Reds, Black Minorcas and White Plymouth Rocks, and were worth ten or fifteen dollars.

At the Congregational church the pastor will preach Sunday morning and evening. The chorus choir of this church under the direction of Mrs. Cote-Howard has resumed rehearsals and will assist at the evening services, beginning Sunday.

The sixteenth annual session of the Maine Free Baptist Association will be held with the church at Blaine, Oct. 4 and 5.

PLEASANT POINT.

Mrs. Ethel Watson and Miss Cella Wotton of Thomaston spent Sunday at William Moore's.

Mrs. Edward Sherman and Miss Flora Burton of North Cushing, called on friends here recently.

Miss Bessie Phillips of the C. M. G. Hospital, Lewiston, who has been visiting Mrs. James Cramme has returned home.

Mrs. Grace M. Maloney visited in Thomaston last week.

Mrs. Abbie Miller of Rockland is visiting in town.

Oscar Williams, wife and daughter Grace of Thomaston, visited at Leander Moore's, Tuesday.

The Saturday evening, Oct. 1, the ladies of Achorn Grange will give a supper, and thirteen new members will be instructed in the third and fourth degrees.

Farnham Stone was in Thomaston Sunday.

Isaac Starrett of Warren was at L. A. Starrett's, Sunday.

Rev. Sydney Packard of Waldoboro will preach at the Baptist church Sunday, Oct. 9 at 10:30 a. m.

Eugene Cook and Mrs. Albert Cook of Friendship, were guests at B. L. Stevens Saturday.

Capt. Thomas N. Stone is having his house newly shingled, and painted.

The Courier-Gazette goes into a larger number of families in Knox county than any other paper published.

NORTH DEER ISLE.

Mrs. E. T. Marshall has gone to New York.

Charles Thompson came home from Boston Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Julia Morey and two children of Castine are guests of Mrs. Melville Thompson.

Miss Agnes Collins of Brockton, Mass., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Elmer Hardy.

Parker Eaton has returned from New York.

Mrs. Lafayette Thompson and daughter, Miss Edith, have returned from a visit in Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson and daughter, Miss Lelia, of Medford, Mass., are guests of Mrs. Frank Haskell.

Mrs. Belcher Howard is entertaining her mother, Mrs. William Blawie, of Rockland.

Ernest Torrey has gone as mate with Capt. William Richardson.

Capt. Frank Haskell and Ralph Gray have arrived home from a trip to Philadelphia.

Whitney Lowe and Capt. Charles Scott returned from Bar Harbor last week.

Mrs. Meredith Ellis, who has been in New York the past month, reached home Saturday.

Frank E. Hardy and family, who have been in Camden the past two years, have returned and are occupying their own home here.

Among the arrivals at the Ellis House the past week are H. Coleman Drayton, T. Charlton Henry and John Clark Sim of Philadelphia; T. L. Reinhardt of Washington, D. C.; M. B. Thurston of Portland; David C. Buck, Chelsea, Mass.; Miss Elizabeth Thurston, Orland, Maine; Misses Regina and Grace Waterman, Jennie L. Menges, Rose Margaret Bacon, Nellie M. Plafied, Edith R. Stewart, and Howard C. Griffin, H. A. Hilton, J. H. McClure, all of Bangor.

Capt. Leslie Hardy arrived home Sunday.

John Adams who has been visiting at the Reach has returned to Boston.

Miss Florence Grime and Miss Cobb of Philadelphia, who have spent the summer here, have returned home.

Capt. Charles Haskell has sailed from Stonington in the schooner Susan N. Pickering with cargo of stone for New York. His son, Montford Haskell, has gone with him as mate.

NORTH APPLETON

The many friends of Miss Lora Campbell were saddened by her death which occurred Sunday evening, Sept. 25. She will be missed at the I. O. G. T. Lodge of which she was a member.

Her brothers and sisters who have so recently been deprived of their parents and now a sister have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Mrs. Elvira Hall of Camden is visiting with her daughter in Camden, has returned home.

Mrs. Warren Wentworth, formerly of this place, now of Thomaston is the guest of her son, Noel Wentworth.

Mrs. John Lovett, who has been visiting with her daughter in Camden, has returned home.

Isaac Hall is in Rockland attending court as jurymen.

Miss Gertrude Collins and brother Andrew of West Appleton were the guests recently of their sister, Mrs. Elbridge Davis.

BURKESTVILLE

Mrs. Blanche Miller is enjoying a visit from her cousin of Taunton, Mass. S. J. Gushee has a new planer for his state mill.

Several from here attended the fair at Union, Wednesday.

Mrs. Laura Smith, after a week's visit with relatives has returned to her home in Somerville, Mass.

Mrs. Betsey Sukeforth had a slight shock Monday.

Mrs. Webber of Monroe was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Pauline Linscott, Sunday.

Some of our farmers are selling their cream to Mr. Libby of South Warren.

Mrs. Mary Hannon and daughter, Mrs. Emma Sukeforth, were in Washington, the first of the week, calling on relatives.

CARD OF THANKS.

We extend our heartfelt thanks to the kind friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in our recent bereavement. And we are deeply grateful for the beautiful floral tributes rendered. May God bless them and may they be as kindly remembered in their hour of need.

Julia C. Hart, Vezelora Ripley, Marcellus Hart, Llanville Hart.

SWANS ISLAND

C. U. Russ will have a grand ball at Swan's Island Friday evening, Oct. 7. Her son, Will Hall, Music will be furnished by Farnham. Nuff said.

STONINGTON.

C. U. Russ will have another ball at Stonington Harbor Wednesday, Oct. 5. Farnham's music. Nuff said.

MOTHERWORT WORRY

New England mothers depend upon BROWN'S INSTANT RELIEF For a FAMILY MEDICINE. All dealers sell it. Prepared by the Norway Medicine Co., Norway, Maine.

HOPE

Charles Taylor and family of South Hope were in this place Sunday calling on friends.

Mrs. J. L. Wilkins, who has passed the summer with her mother, Mrs. Eliza Hills, and sister, Mrs. H. C. Goding, has gone to Union where she will make her future home.

Mrs. Sadie Athearn went to Camden Tuesday last week.

Mrs. David Hall is in very poor health.

Everett Hobbs has been attending court in Rockland the past week as jurymen.

L. P. True is canning corn, squashes, pumpkins and tomatoes.

Miss Beth Payson, who has been tending the store of L. P. True has left Miss Emmelle Payson fills the position.

Mrs. Benjamin Collamore and Mrs. Lizzie Wiggin of Rockland were recent guests of Mrs. H. C. Goding.

Mr. and Mrs. John Manninger were up from Camden Sunday.

Mrs. Tlestone Noyce was up from Camden last week while Mr. Noyce was in Waterville with the Slabe horses at the races.

One of the most pleasant social events of the season was the party at True's hall Monday evening the 19th given by Miss Carrie Quinn and Hal Wilder of Boston, in honor of out of town guests. A large number of invited guests were present, young and old who joined in social greetings and chat. Fruit punch and home made molasses candy were passed around by the host and hostess.

Mrs. Lizzie Clough and Allie Dunton enlivened the evening. Cards were indulged in by a portion of the company.

Out of town company were Mr. and Mrs. James Gould of Camden, Mr. and Mrs. John Payson and little girl from the west, Hal Wilder and friend from Massachusetts and Miss Marie Towle from Providence, R. I.

Mrs. Willie Piper and children were up last week from Rockport.

Miss Margaret E. Hewitt is with friends in East Orange, N. J.

Marcellus Pendleton of Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, is visiting with his aunt, Mrs. Eliza Hills, and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Goding and other friends and relatives. Mr. Pendleton has not been here for 40 years.

The ladies' Aid recently enjoyed a corn roast at Barrett's cottage by Hobbs Pond.

Fred Gould and Annie Maxcy were united in marriage the 19th instant in Camden. Mr. Gould is one of Camden's most popular young men and Annie is one of Hope's best girls, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Bills. The happy couple have the best wishes of a host of friends

In Social Circles

Arrivals and departures incident to the summer vacation season are especially interesting as items of personal news. Readers of The Courier-Gazette will confer a favor by sending to this column items of this character noting the arrival of guests or the going out of town of our own people.

Miss Grace Chaplin left on the boat Tuesday night to visit friends and relatives in Brockton and vicinity.

The Lady Knox Chapter, D. A. R., will meet with Miss Lizzie O'Donnell, Monday, Oct. 3 at 3.30 o'clock. It being the annual meeting all who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

William Rhodes, one of The Courier-Gazette's smart paper-carriers is in the Eye and Ear Infirmary at Portland for optical treatment. He was accompanied to the infirmary on Wednesday by his brother, Frank S. Rhodes.

Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd Burns attended the funeral of the late J. E. Cook, a victim of the Lewiston railroad disaster, in Portland this week.

Mrs. A. S. Rice has returned from a visit in New York with her sister, Mrs. Buck.

Donald H. Fuller, who was to enter the Nautical Preparatory School, was unable to make the connection owing to illness and is now in the Boston Homeopathic Hospital, having undergone a successful operation for appendicitis, from which he is comfortably recovering.

Miss Annie York and Gladys Wait are visiting in Monroe.

Winthrop Weeks, wife and daughter of Northampton, Mass., are visiting Mr. Weeks' father D. S. Weeks, Masonic street.

Mrs. Charles McWhinnie and daughter Madeline are visiting in Waldoboro.

Mrs. Raymond Combs visited in Cushing last week.

Mrs. Etta Erskine who has been visiting her sister Mrs. Theodore Thomas Camden street, has returned to her home in Bristol.

F. W. Fuller has gone on a business trip to New York, taking with him his daughter Helen, who will visit friends in Boston.

Miss Annie S. Butman, who has been employed as stenographer in Portland, has resigned and arrives home Saturday night.

Mrs. Sarah Whitehouse of Dover, N. H. is a guest at William H. Bird's for the winter.

James L. Gould and wife of Alameda, Calif., who have been visiting their nephew, Edward K. Gould, of this city, left for home Tuesday.

A reading, with music, will be given under the auspices of the Woman's Association of the Congregational Church on Thursday, Oct. 13. The reader will be Mrs. Mary Taylor of Boston and her selections will be of special interest to students of English literature.

Mrs. Celeste B. Wood of Charlestown, who has been spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Morey, has returned home.

L. N. Littlehale, Leroy F. Clough and Clarence S. Beverage leave Boston Monday on one of the Wallace Mason excursions to the St. Louis Exposition. They will be gone two weeks, taking in Niagara Falls and Washington, D. C., as well as the fair.

Miss Julia Philbrick of Haverhill, Mass., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Conant.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Rising and son and Mrs. John Dwyer are visiting in Boston.

Mrs. N. A. Hawes of West Brooksville visited Mrs. S. G. Musgridge, 14 Grove street this week.

Miss Ollie Gilchrist is visiting in Castine.

Chas. H. Walker has returned from a trip to Montreal and Quebec.

Miss Carrie W. Greene returned by train last Wednesday after a delightful two weeks visit in Hartford, Conn. She has resumed her position in the John Bird Co. employ.

Mrs. Mervyn A. Rice and two children, who have been visiting here for several weeks have returned home to Montclair, N. J.

Rev. Russell Woodman, rector of St. Peter's, leaves Monday on his annual month's vacation, much of which will be spent with friends in New York state.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Day will arrive home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Howes are visiting here after a trip to New York.

Miss Hattie Grant of Boston is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Whitman, Granite street.

Mrs. A. F. Greene has returned from Bangor whither she went in the schooner Carrie B. Lane. She also visited in Oldtown.

Our Thomaston correspondent, who is usually accurate and well informed upon sporting matters, fell into a very natural pitfall in last Tuesday's issue of this paper by identifying Thomas Nagle as the Farwell opera house orchestra as the Thomas Nagle who played ball down this way some 15 years ago. As both Nagles hall from Bath the mistake was all the more easily made, but had our correspondent obtained a glimpse at Mr. Nagle of the orchestra he would have seen that the latter was too youthful to have done much kicking about on a baseball diamond 49 miles from home 15 years ago. It is up to our Thomaston man to live with a few of his numerous cigars.

G. B. Josselyn, the Pittsfield boy, who has won a great reputation as one of the best pitchers in the New England league, has returned to his home for the winter. Local sports watch his career with much interest.

The great scrap between Black Fitzsimmons and Charlie Haghey, which takes place in Elmwood hall this Friday evening, is attracting more attention than any other like event which Rockland has had for years and if indications count much there will be a record-breaking crowd at the ringside. This time the exhibition does not bump into any play at the opera house and in fact there are no rival attractions this night. Haghey arrived Wednesday and looks fit to give his opponent a trimming as he has done on two former occasions. Black Fitzsimmons has been in strict training since the match was made, and will work his hardest tonight to merit the admiration of those who saw him in the three rounds with Dave Sawyer. The ever present suspicion that the exhibition may be another fake is apt to be wiped out before the white man and his colored opponent have been in the ring two minutes. Neither man can afford to fake it at this stage of the game. The fight is for $100 a side, and few private grudges also are at stake. Fitzsimmons is especially anxious to win as he is to have an important connection with the proposed Pastime Club. If the show should be on the yellow it

FULLER & COBB

ANNOUNCEMENT

This week we will be able to show our customers new and exclusive models in

SUITS, COATS

and GARMENTS

for fall and winter wear. Every day brings new arrivals so that it will be impossible for us to advertise our regular opening. It is safe to presume you will be sure to find the very garment you want if you are here any day this week.

... A Beautiful Face ...

A Beautiful Skin is the result of self treatment by a new method of facial cultivation.

It is the duty of every human being to appear to the best advantage at all times.

Many well featured faces are marred by wrinkles, blackheads, pimples and other facial blemishes.

The Mirabilia Outfit enables everyone to treat the face in a simple and natural manner. No cosmetics, but hygienic treatment.

Come to our TOILET ARTICLES DEPARTMENT and receive practical instruction concerning the use of MIRABILIA SKIN FOOD and Massage as demonstrated by Mrs. Townsend.

FULLER & COBB.

Rockland's Grange Fair.

Now that the Union fair has been pulled off interest locally centers upon the annual fair of Pleasant Valley Grange, which will take place at the Grange hall at the Head of Middle street Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Celeste B. Wood of Charlestown, who has been spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Morey, has returned home.

L. N. Littlehale, Leroy F. Clough and Clarence S. Beverage leave Boston Monday on one of the Wallace Mason excursions to the St. Louis Exposition. They will be gone two weeks, taking in Niagara Falls and Washington, D. C., as well as the fair.

Miss Julia Philbrick of Haverhill, Mass., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Conant.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Rising and son and Mrs. John Dwyer are visiting in Boston.

Mrs. N. A. Hawes of West Brooksville visited Mrs. S. G. Musgridge, 14 Grove street this week.

Miss Ollie Gilchrist is visiting in Castine.

Chas. H. Walker has returned from a trip to Montreal and Quebec.

Miss Carrie W. Greene returned by train last Wednesday after a delightful two weeks visit in Hartford, Conn. She has resumed her position in the John Bird Co. employ.

Mrs. Mervyn A. Rice and two children, who have been visiting here for several weeks have returned home to Montclair, N. J.

Rev. Russell Woodman, rector of St. Peter's, leaves Monday on his annual month's vacation, much of which will be spent with friends in New York state.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Day will arrive home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Howes are visiting here after a trip to New York.

Miss Hattie Grant of Boston is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Whitman, Granite street.

Mrs. A. F. Greene has returned from Bangor whither she went in the schooner Carrie B. Lane. She also visited in Oldtown.

Our Thomaston correspondent, who is usually accurate and well informed upon sporting matters, fell into a very natural pitfall in last Tuesday's issue of this paper by identifying Thomas Nagle as the Farwell opera house orchestra as the Thomas Nagle who played ball down this way some 15 years ago. As both Nagles hall from Bath the mistake was all the more easily made, but had our correspondent obtained a glimpse at Mr. Nagle of the orchestra he would have seen that the latter was too youthful to have done much kicking about on a baseball diamond 49 miles from home 15 years ago. It is up to our Thomaston man to live with a few of his numerous cigars.

G. B. Josselyn, the Pittsfield boy, who has won a great reputation as one of the best pitchers in the New England league, has returned to his home for the winter. Local sports watch his career with much interest.

The great scrap between Black Fitzsimmons and Charlie Haghey, which takes place in Elmwood hall this Friday evening, is attracting more attention than any other like event which Rockland has had for years and if indications count much there will be a record-breaking crowd at the ringside. This time the exhibition does not bump into any play at the opera house and in fact there are no rival attractions this night. Haghey arrived Wednesday and looks fit to give his opponent a trimming as he has done on two former occasions. Black Fitzsimmons has been in strict training since the match was made, and will work his hardest tonight to merit the admiration of those who saw him in the three rounds with Dave Sawyer. The ever present suspicion that the exhibition may be another fake is apt to be wiped out before the white man and his colored opponent have been in the ring two minutes. Neither man can afford to fake it at this stage of the game. The fight is for $100 a side, and few private grudges also are at stake. Fitzsimmons is especially anxious to win as he is to have an important connection with the proposed Pastime Club. If the show should be on the yellow it

The Ladies' Store
Mrs. E. F. CROCKETT
OFF. W. O. HEWETT & CO.

SANDERSON'S
English
Wall Coverings

NEW FALL GOODS.
The Finest Quality. Exclusive Designs
Not To Be Had Elsewhere.
EDWIN H. CRIE
Clove Block Telephone

North Knox Knocks 'Em.

Union Fair Again Demonstrates That It Is One Of the Best In Maine—Good Exhibits, Good Races, Good Time All-Around.

In spite of the fact that the big state fair at Lewiston was a strong counter attraction, the North Knox Society of Union has had an attendance this week which compares very favorably with any fair it has ever given. The storm clouds of Monday had been hustled out of the west, and Tuesday morning, the opening day of the fair, was ushered in with bright sunny skies. Wednesday was one of those magnificent autumn days when it is a glorious privilege to be out of doors and all roads leading to Union resounded with hoof beats of horses which were hauling happy parties to the great gala day of Northern Knox. The attendance on that day was between 4000 and 5000, which is about the same verdict as that of one year ago—a very satisfactory gathering for a fair and town of that size. Thursday's skies were lowering, but they did not have the power to prevent another big day, although the attendance was naturally somewhat lessened. All things considered, however, the fair was again a great success, and the reports of the officials will be very cheering. Plans for certain improvements are in process of evolution, and the society is looking ahead to the day when it may erect a new and more commodious grand stand, as the present one is not nearly large enough to accommodate all who would the fair, as well as growing trees in many a well-groomed orchard testified to the truth of their story. Kings, gravensteins, baldwins and l greenings, appear to have done particularly well. The squashes and pumpkins were not remarkable for size, but their general appearance was beyond criticism.

Out in the trotting park enclosure were tethered more cattle than ever before entered at any fair given by the North Knox Society. Sleek cows and plump oxen were driven in from the neighboring hills and valleys all through the early hours of Wednesday morning, the arrival of 36 oxen in one lot being a feature.

The premium list soon to be published in The Courier-Gazette will tell its own tale of the merit shown by the various exhibits, and renders individual mention unnecessary here.

Up and down the Pike, and over in the dancing pavilion, after the crowd had assembled, one saw much that was fascinating. Men from every town in the county, off for a holiday, with a well filled purse; girls and women with cheeks set rosy by the glorious atmosphere; happy children, seeing perhaps their first fair; old folks who have seen many and who hope to see more; all combined to make a memorable and pleasurable gathering.

From the babe, who looked wonderingly but not comprehendingly at it, to Uncle Abner Dunton, now past his 97th mile-stone, was a long stretch of years down the vista of which one could get a glimpse of life's story in its hundred phases, a story which will be just as new centuries hence when one dare not dream what the North Knox Fair will be like.

The Courier-Gazette reporter chatted for a few moments with Uncle Abner, who is not only the oldest person in Knox county, but one of its interesting men. His eyesight troubles him in regard to reading the newspapers, but his hearing is as keen as ever and he heard about the fair grounds with as much spirit as though his years were divided in half.

"How many more fairs do you expect to attend?" someone asked him.

"Three more," replied Mr. Dunton smilingly. Certainly if he appears at the Union fair as a centenarian it should be made the subject of a special celebration.

Mr. Dunton told the reporter that he walks upon the average five miles a day, and that since his 87th birthday he has taken one jaunt of seven miles on a stretch. Barring an attack of the gripe a year ago he has enjoyed excellent health, and attributes it partly to his habits of pedestrianism.

Congressman Littlefield was a familiar figure on the fair grounds all three days and had a hearty greeting from his many acquaintances in the northern part of the county. He was accompanied by his wife and son Charles W., but the latter was present only on the opening day as he was obliged to return to Harvard Law School Wednesday. Mr. Littlefield expressed much satisfaction over the various departments of the fair.

Among the Pike were several schemes whereby one could get rich quick. The "one" was the proprietor. For the most part the schemes were on the square and those who patronized did not go in blindfolded. One dealer was frank enough to tell the folks that he had two chances to their one, but still they tackled him—perhaps out of sheer admiration for a truth-telling fakir.

Question: If the fakir admitted having two chances to the public's one, how many chances did he really have? For the answer see small bills, that is if you brought any back from Union.

There was one establishment on the ground that was no lottery, and that was Charlie Merfield's dining hall. His persuasive voice sold many a meal ticket, and those who subsequently emerged from the dining hall wore a look of complacency and a vest which had been left several notches. Dinner and supper were good square meals for the price.

THE NEEDLE WORK.

The afternoon program of Wednesday introduced two races, a concert by the North Waldoboro band, a splendid show by Ed. Brown and family, and the best balloon ascension which has been made in Knox county for several years.

The balloon was filled early in the afternoon, but when the time came to release it one of the posts tore a hole in the canvas, causing the balloon to collapse. More fuel was sent for and the air-ship once more swelled to graceful proportions. The time it flew away from the earth like a bird, rising to a height of 8,000 or 10,000 feet, where the aeronaut, John Mack, looked the size of a toy top.

The breeze was light and the balloon passed only a short distance outside the fair grounds. The aeronaut made a double parachute descent, the first ever seen in Knox county, and the second ever made, according to the announcement.

It was beautifully done, and the large crowd expressed its satisfaction.

The Brown family comprised Ed. Brown, wife, little daughter 11 years old, and an assistant. It's a great quartet. The turn included a trapeze act, a bicycle ring, an exhibition on the unicycle, a humorous boxing exhibition, and the great windup bicycle act in the "Devil's Chimney."

The last-named feature rivals the looping-the-loop in point of interest and is scarcely less dangerous. The "chimney" is shaped something like the lower half of an immense cask and is made of oak slats bound securely with iron. Around the inside of this "devil's chimney" and in plain view of the audience Mr. Brown and his assistant rode their wheels at race-horse speed, gradually rising to the top. The spectators applauded this feat with much vigor.

Ed. Brown is no stranger in these parts, being well known in Knox county as a baseball player as well as an athlete. He keeps up his baseball practice and not long ago pitched a victorious game for an Indiana team against a team which had defeated Pittsburg. He has been traveling for the New York Carnival Co.

Wednesday afternoon's races furnished plenty of excitement for the crowd, although they dragged terribly through some miscalculation about getting the classes away from the stables.

The 2.25 class, or 2.25 pace, produced only four starters possibly because the favorite, Blue Will, looked such a formidable competitor. In selecting her as the favorite judgment was not misplaced. Arthur Clark's second heat, Tolman being succeeded by Southard. The Rockland boy was in quite a heat about the matter until he found that it had been done by request and not by the judges.

Blue Will, the winner of the race, attracted a great deal of attention. He is owned by I. F. Gould of Prospect, and was formerly Blue Wilkes, with a record of 2.27. He is a bright bay horse with black mane and tail, stands 16 hands high and weighs 1100 pounds.

He was sired by Wickliffe, the sire of Underhill, 2:12 1/2, and many other fast ones. Blue Will's dam is Waterwitch. Blue Will was handled for speed in the fall 1897 for the first time. With very little training he obtained a record of 2.27, doing the last quarter in 2.12 gait. He was not started again until 1902. Last fall at Prospect he lowered his mark to 2:23 1/2. He now gets a mark of 2:22 1/2.

There were seven starters in the 2.45 class, or 2.45 pace, and the race for first money was between Baby Girl, entered by F. E. Southard of Skowhegan and Prince Otis, owned by Bert Bowley of Camden. In the second heat Baby Girl and Lady Yolanda were in collision with the fence before they had gone an eighth of a mile, but were permitted to continue in the race, being given sixth and seventh positions in the next heat. The second heat was captured by Prince Otis. The sun was disappearing behind the western hills as the last heat was being trotted, and with Baby Girl nearly 200 yards behind on the first half it looked very much like an unfinished race. Driver Southard kept the little black mare well in hand and she passed one after another of her competitors coming down the home stretch like a flash.

She won the heat (the prettiest heat of the day) by half a length.

Summary of Wednesday's races:

2.25 TROT OR 2.25 PACE.
Purse $125.
Blue Will, b. s., L. F. Nash, 1	1	1	1
Stella, ch. m., A. A. Clark, 2	2	2	2
Harry Wilkes, ch. f., O. A. Tolman, 3	3	3	3
Brookline, b. g., Frank Jones, 4	4	4	4
Time 2:22 1/2, 2:22 1/2, 2:24 1/2, 2:24 1/2.

2.45 TROT OR 2.45 PACE.

Purse $125.
Baby Girl, blk. m., F. E. Southard, 1	1	1	1
Prince Otis, s. g., Bert Bowley, 2	2	2	2
Eva R. b. m., Will Gurney, 3	3	3	3
Lady Yolanda, b. m., Howard Small, 4	4	4	4
Millie Wilkes, g. m., H. L. Turner, 5	5	5	5
Miss Helen, ch. m., Howard Derry, 6	6	6	6
I'll Be There, ch. g., Charles Burns, 7	7	7	7
Time 2:30 1/4, 2:30 1/4, 2:30 1/4, 2:31 1/4.

The trotting officials were as follows: Judges, Gorham Butler of Union; starter, C. F. L. Cookson, Camden, and B. R. Luce, Augusta; timers, M. B. Lawrence, Belfast, Roscoe B. Robbins, Union and Homer J. Dickey, Camden; secretary, George C. Hawes, Union. Mr. Luce is a native of Knox county, but for 39 years has been one of the officials at the Insane Hospital in Augusta. Mr. Lawrence, one of the timers, is a trustee of the Waldo county fair and says that the Belfast track is now the best in the state. Ethel Thurston, the energetic president of the North Knox Society, dropped into the stand a few moments and compared notes with Mr. Hawes, the equally energetic secretary.

Between heats there was an exhibition of stallions owned by Mr. Edminster of Belfast. The first was the imported French coach stallion Vermilion, who stands 16 1/2 hands high and weighs 1550 pounds. The second was the full-blooded coal black Percheron stallion Tongleur, Jr., 16 1/2 hands high, weight 1800. Forty sons of the direct ancestors of Vermilion were stood by the French government and won in the national haras.

Thursday afternoon's races were interrupted by a drizzling rainstorm, but not before five heats had been trotted. In the 2.25 class Helen F., Mildred B. and Harrows each won a heat and the race was postponed to this Friday afternoon. In the 2.17 class only two heats were trotted, but it was agreed to settle the race according to summary. Blue Will thus capturing another first.

The summary of Thursday's races:

2.25 TROT OR 2.30 PACE.
Purse $150.
Harrows, ch. s., W. L. Harrows, 1	1	1	1
Mildred B. g. m., L. F. Nash, 2	2	2	2
Helen F. g. m., Ernest Howard, 3	3	3	3
Diamond W. E. Ingham, 4	4	4	4
Time 2:30 1/4, 2:30 1/4, 2:32 1/4, 2:32 1/4.

2.17 TROT OR 2.19 PACE.

Purse $150.
Blue Will, b. s., L. F. Nash, 1	1	1	1
Nettie W. F. E. Southard, 2	2	2	2
Stella, ch. m., A. A. Clark, 3	3	3	3
Harry Wilkes, ch. f., O. A. Tolman, 4	4	4	4
Time 2:27 1/4, 2:27 1/4, 2:27 1/4, 2:27 1/4.

Knox county people who attended the Lewiston fair Wednesday had the satisfaction of seeing Dr. Biesbee's fair mare Decima Deane win the 2.19 class, the purse in which was $300. The story of the Camden mare's victory is told by the Lewiston Sun as follows:

"When the second heat of the race was pulled off the spectators saw a good race. The feature of the contest was Decima Deane and Isabelle's fight for the first position and it was only by a few inches that Decima Deane came in ahead. The time was 2:17 1/2. Whipping their horses on the home stretch, the drivers of Decima Deane and Isabelle had their battle royal for the winning place and again Decima Deane carried off the honors by winning the fourth heat, Decima Deane won the race. Isabelle finished second again. It was a hot finish." The time in this race was 2:18 1/2, 2:17 1/2, 2:17 1/2, 2:18 1/2. The winner of the 2.50 class at Lewiston was Elm Bud, well known on local tracks. Fourth money went to Wilson, owned by Williston Grinnell of Camden.

MARINE MATTERS.

Sch. Silver Heels, Cushman, arrived Thursday from New York with coal for Simmons, White & Co.

Sch. Jas. R. Talbot, Darby, arrived Thursday from New York with coal for Fred R. Spear.

Sch. Tulamah, Morgan, arrived Thursday from New York with coal for the Eastern Steamship Co.

Sch. Helen Montague, Adams, arrived Thursday from Bangor with lumber for New York.

Sch. Hazel Dell, Coggins, arrived Thursday from Bluehill with stone for New York.

Sch. Carrie A. Lane, Green, arrived Tuesday from Bangor with lumber for New York.

Sch. Wm. Rice, Maddocks, arrived Thursday from Dover, where she discharged coal from New York.

Sch. Gold Hunter, Gardner, arrived Thursday from Bluehill with wood for John I. Snow.

Sch. Jas. A. Brown sailed Wednesday for New York with coal for Jas. R. Parnsworth.

Sch. Claremont, Peterson, sailed Thursday for Stonington to load stone for New York from G. H. Wilcox.

Sch. Jennie G. Pillsbury, Stevens, arrived at Bar Harbor Wednesday with coal from New York and is chartered to load stone at Stonington for New York at $1.25 per ton.

Capt. T. J. Ginn is home from New York, while his schooner, the Malden, is discharging lumber from Brunswick.

Sch. Melville, Smith, is chartered to load stone at Stonington for Philadelphia at $1 a ton and wharfage.

Sch. Samuel Hart, Maloney, is chartered to load stone at Stonington from E. E. Grindle for New London for Casey & Sherwood.

Sch. Evie B. Hall, Perry, sailed from Baltimore Wednesday for Savannah to load lumber for Gardner.

Sch. Star of the Sea, Quinan, arrived at Brunswick the 27th from New York.

Sch. Allen Green, Knowlton, sailed from New York Wednesday with coal for Stonington.

Sch. Sardinian, Drinkwater, arrived at New York the 28th with lime from Rockland.

Sch. John A. Beckerman, Rogers, arrived at Delaware Breakwater the 28th from Philadelphia for Boston.

STATE OF MAINE.
Knox ss.
At Probate Court held at Rockland in and for said County of Knox, in vacation, on the 28th day of September, A. D. 1904.
Sorenson T. Spear, Executor, having presented his petition that the actual market value of so much of the estate of Alonzo Spear, late of Rockland in said County of Knox, as is subject to the payment of the State Collateral Inheritance Tax, the persons interested in the succession thereto, and the amount of the tax thereon be determined by the Judge of Probate.

ORDERED, That notice be given to the State Assessors and all persons interested in the succession to said property, by causing a copy of this Order to be published once a week, three weeks successively in The Courier-Gazette, a newspaper published at Rockland, in said County, that they may appear at a Probate Court to be held at Rockland, in and for said County, on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1904, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, and be heard in reference to the determination of said tax or any question that may arise in reference thereto.
CHARLES E. MILLER, Judge.
A true copy—ATTEST
J. H. CLARENCE, D. PAYSON, Register.
MAYNARD B. AUSTIN R

CLARION RANGES AND STOVES

We believe in making just as good as we can possibly make them. Our efforts in this direction have resulted in a line of goods that meets every requirement of successful house-keeping.

Those who want stoves and ranges that are reliable, durable and economical will find CLARIONS perfectly satisfactory. If not convenient to see the CLARION agent, write to us.

WOOD & BISHOP CO.,
Established 1889.
Bangor, - - Maine.

Sold by E. E. GILLETTE, Rockland.

In Theatrical Circles.

Go See The Mummy and The Humming Bird This Saturday Night—It Is Great—Don't Miss It.

Lessons that even the young can understand are taught by that clean and wholesome comedy "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," which comes to the Farwell opera house this Saturday evening. The anguish of mind that is Lord Lumley's when he discovers that his wife has become infatuated with the gay Lothario, the "Humming Bird" must tell every youth who witnesses Daughter of the People"; Wednesday, "Shadowed Lives"; Thursday, "The Fatal Coin"; Friday, "The Lynden Bank Robbery"; Saturday, "Side Lights of New York." Matinees, Wednesday, "The Bell of Virginia"; Saturday, "Outcasts of Society." Prices, evening, 10, 20 and 30 cents; matinees, 10 and 20 cents. Remember all next week, six nights and two matinees.

JULES MURRY'S COMPANY.
THE MUMMY AND THE HUMMING BIRD SCENE FROM ACT I.

At Farwell Opera House This Saturday Night.

the play that a husband should pay some attention to his wife, else he may have to pay attention to a rival. Whilst every miss will realize that "all that glitters is not gold" as she with Lady Lumley awakes to a realization of the shallowness of the character of the brilliant but despicable D'Orelli. And both youth and miss alike cannot help having it brought forcibly to their understanding that "the wages of sin is death," as they watch the remorseless pursuit of the "Humming Bird" by his Nemesis, the poor Italian organ grinder, whose home he despoiled. And these lessons, while pointed and unmistakable, are not preached like a sermon but are gently administered through a series of the most interesting and amusing incidents ever portrayed on the stage.

One of the guarantees that Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," which is to be produced here soon, will be artistically presented is the fact that Miss Marie Walnwright is to appear in the stellar role of Viola, the pages. An equal guarantee is that it is to be produced under the direction of Mr. Jules Murry, as widely known as a manager. Mr. Murry is abreast of the times in all the details in modern stagecraft. All his leading artists are supported by excellent casts, and the spectacular appointments are up to the level of the acting. No dream of Shakespeare's affords greater scope for scenic grandeur than his comedy, "Twelfth Night," and the public is assured of the rarest kind of a feast, intellectual and visual, when it comes here.

"The Mummy and the Humming Bird" Farwell Opera House, Saturday Evening, Oct. 1.

Coming next Monday evening, October 3, the Bennett-Moulton Company and their own concert orchestra, for their annual engagement of one week at the Farwell opera house, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. The opening play for this season will be "A Jealous Wife" and the above night will be given over to the ladies. Number of ladies' tickets issued four hundred. Any lady wishing a reserved seat for fifteen cents should secure it early in the day, Saturday, as the advance sale of seats opens on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock for the entire engagement. Besides the select repertoire to be produced during the week, five big specialties will be introduced right between acts, making it a continuous performance from 8:15 until the final curtain. The correct repertoire is as follows: Tuesday, "A Love Letter. Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns of Pains, Otto Dodd, of Pender, Mo. writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best salve on earth. 25c at W. H. Kittredge's drug store."

PISSA'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION
Cure for Cough, Spasms, Hoarseness, and all Lung Diseases. Price 25c. Sold by all druggists.

ST. LOUIS AND BEYOND.

General Cilley Descends Bright Angel Trail Into the Grand Canyon.

Similar feelings of hesitation which possessed me when I first stood on the banks of the Grand Canyon, with no words to express the feelings which came upon me, now holds me as again I approach that marvel.

I recall my first fear that I was too near the edge, and then a complex and gradual comprehension of its immensity and marvelous conditions. You bring with your mind certain figures of dimensions which have been fixed by reading the literature pertaining to the Canyon; that the opposite side is 13 miles away—that the thin Kaibab white which borders all the upper surface and is plainly seen in the cathedral like formations which intervene within such 13 miles limit, and seems like a narrow ribbon, is actually 1000 feet in depth. At Niagara Falls the water falls 164 feet and its constant pounding enables you to perceive its magnitude. At the Canyon, silence as profound as its immensity, closes doors of comprehension and eyes alone can slowly read the vast proportions of the grand wonder of the world.

The arrival of the train from Williams is late in the afternoon and have the closing hours of the day and the morning of another to beget the desire for a more intimate acquaintance. The hour for starting down the Bright Angel trail is 3 o'clock, and 5 o'clock is the hour for the arrival back at the top. I looked over the collections of mules and selected a sedate one, black in color, and for reasons evident to any of the original members of Co. B, adjusted the length of the stirrups and mounted to secure my preference. He was a little slow but he knew his business. He did not get too near the horse in advance and when he closed up he put his head on the inside, next to the wall of the steep sides, so in case of any undue crowding he and his rider would be safe. There were two guides each taking a party. Ours consisted of five persons, a gentleman and his daughter from Kansas City, and another with his son from Las Vegas, New Mexico, and myself. The party in the rear was composed of Germans who had attended or were connected with the St. Louis Exposition.

Those who went down the trail the day before had been caught in a thunder storm on their return and thoroughly drenched. A few of this party had no change of ramment and were obliged to seek beds while their clothing dried. The large Canadian excursion which went down the day following was caught in another storm, an event rare in Arizona, but for us the clouds which hung over the chasm in the morning disappeared as we started and our day was perfect.

The drop of 1000 feet commences at once and continues vigorously as you enter the Bright Angel trail. You are inclined to think of the fallen angel and certain lines of Milton's Paradise Lost come to your lips. The angle of the incline is 45 degrees or more and we go down its sides by a zig-zag course, back and forth. As you turn at either end, your position, a little forward of the middle of your mule's back, makes you think and feel that the mule is going to walk over the edge of the precipice instead of turning. At first you intuitively endeavor to guide him but you soon learn that the mule knows his business and it is better to drop the reins on his neck and allow him to look out for your safety. One gentleman had his nerves so affected by these turns that he involuntarily exclaimed to his beast, "are you going to walk right over the edge?" We all laughed, for all had felt the same impulse to speak but had prudently kept our mouths closed.

The ladies riding down the trail wore divided skirts, and right here I want to express my admiration for this sane and safe way of riding. In California it is the usual custom. As I waited one day for an electric car, I saw a lady come out of a grocery store and mount her horse. In regular cavalry style she put her left foot in the stirrup, her right hand, seizing the reins, was placed on the cantle of the saddle, her left hand clasped a lock of the horse's mane and then she swung an upright position and passed the right foot stretched out over the horse and came into the saddle so neatly that I wanted to clap my hands in approval.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive in its nature. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this genuine offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

I Like Coffee

proval. I felt the same approving spirit when I saw the other day two of our Rockland young ladies riding in this same and safe manner. They could dismount at will and could remount without being lifted to the saddle by an escort or aided by a horse block. There was no danger of the saddle turning and little danger of being thrown to the ground by a sudden jump of the horse to the left.

But to return to the Bright Angel trail—a delightful name. Its origin was delightfully told me by Prof. Thompson who was in charge of the irrigation exhibit in the government building at St. Louis. Thompson was one of the party with Powell on the perilous trip down the Colorado river. The mud red waters of that stream or torrent were not fit for drinking purposes. Wearied and thirsty the party watched their bank for pure water. Strenuous efforts enabled them to reach a stream coming down on a lateral canyon. Their disappointment was voiced by one of the party first to approach the stream, who exclaimed, "Not a drop of water here!"

Found a stream on the opposite bank clear and bright. Powell remarked, "as the previous canyon was called the 'Dirty Devil' we will call this the 'Bright Angel'."

While at Grand Canyon I heard several stories of the origin of the name, and was glad to learn from an authentic source just how and when it was named, and was doubly pleased to know that Powell the first explorer, originated the name. Thus, in addition to your respect for his courage and pluck, you like the man for this indication of his tastes.

Down, down we go, dismounting now and then to walk over the more dangerous places and to rest ourselves and our animals. At times I close my eyes to keep my courage up, and again, the very wisest thing—let my mule do all the problems of locomotion, while I forget myself in looking at the marvelous colors, slopes and sheer precipices, above, below and on either flank, far and near. How many miles we rode to complete our first half drop I do not know, but when some 2500 feet down we approach a lively brook of clear water, bordered with willows and water bushes, with vines running through and over them among which I saw the leaves and pods of beans and had my first acquaintance with musk-tube beans. I remembered with new pleasure my boyish reading of Fremont's explorations and the part the same beans bore as nourishment to his horses and mules.

We soon came to tents and dismounted for rest and such light refreshments as soda and ginger ale. Nearby was a spring of delicious water in whose deeper depths just beyond, minnows or young trout were swimming. This half-way plateau extends for miles towards the Colorado, where it drops suddenly to the banks of that river but we, after riding some distance, turn to the right, and by another canyon, not a part of the plateau, commence our second drop to the banks of the Colorado, where the same wonders, the same experiences, changed and increased in interest, confront you till you come to a reddish granite wall, various shades of color, contorted and twisted in stratas as I never saw in any masses of that archaic rock. Still down and down we go till the Colorado river is rushing at our feet. The river looked narrow but it is forty to sixty feet deep and its power is evidenced in the way it has plowed its course through the hard granite, which high above its waters hugs the banks on either side. The hour was high noon and the substantial lunch put up for us by the Bright Angel hotel and brought down by the guides was opportune and refreshing.

Fortunately I was grouped with the Kansas gentlemen and his daughter. She prevented my allowance of cake from wasting while I saved her ham and beef sandwiches from being fed to the fishes. Thus nourished, and with new vigor, we retrace our steps for the upward climb, taking twice the time needed for the descent. In the vertical mile to overcome, the pressure of the air becomes less and less, affecting both your lungs and your heart, so that frequent stops are necessary for yourself and your horse, and you arrive at the top feeling more exhausted than you actually are.

Nowhere are the stratas of the earth's crusts so clearly discerned as in the Grand Canyon. They are so plainly read as you see them that you learn more in the ride down and up concerning geology than months of book study could attain. This knowledge is worth the price of the whole trip and is so clearly evident that you can perceive it when rehearsed in words. I place emphasis on this point because when we read in text books that the time rock in Rockland once lay in horizontal stratas our minds refused to believe it when we visited the quarries.

J. P. Cilley.

Do you read what people say about Hood's Sarsaparilla? It is curing all forms of disease caused or promoted by impure blood.

DEER ISLE

Winslow Gray arrived home Sunday. Mrs. Cecil Wagsat went to Portland Thursday, called there by the death of her brother, William Sawyer.

Mrs. E. Allen Green and son have returned from a visit in Pawtucket, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Haskell have gone to Boston.

Mrs. George H. Spofford is in Boston this week with her husband on the schooner Thelma.

Hon. E. P. Spofford and wife are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Prescott of Brunswick.

Among the yachtsmen who have returned this month are Capt. George Eaton, Walter Greenlaw, Charles Cole and Capt. Willis Greenlaw.

Mrs. Edwin L. Haskell, who has been in Pawtucket, R. I., the past two weeks is home.

Ivy Woodworth has gone to Boston. Jeremiah L. Greenlaw died Sept. 15, aged 82 years and six months.

ALL Ever buy two pair of Rubbers in one Winter? You should have bought HOOD'S.

ASK FOR Hood's Pilgrim Heel.

HOOD RUBBERS

TRADE MARK

NOT MADE BY A TRUST IF YOU CANNOT GET THESE RUBBERS FROM YOUR DEALER WRITE US

The Damon Method

NEARLY 50,000 References

The only office in Knox County where my preparations are used. Office Sign 302 Main St. Rockland Phone 36-12

Office over His Drug Store, RANKIN BLOCK, ROCKLAND, 6781f

NEW DENTAL OFFICE

NOW OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Dr. J. A. RICHAN (HARVARD 98)

With Dr. Damon for the past Nine Years

875 Main Street, Up Stairs. Opp. W. O. Hewett Co.'s

ROCKLAND Telephone 141-11

WE GIVE GREEN TRADING STAMPS

THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME

Are Never Without Peruna in the House for Catarrhal Diseases.

W. D. WATSON, Clovis, Fresno County, Cal., writes: "God bless you for what you have done for me. The rheumatism has all disappeared, and today all exclaim, 'How well you look!' I tell them yes, and I owe it all to Dr. Hartman for his good advice to me. To-day finds me as free from pain as I ever was. The rainy season has set in here, but the change hasn't affected me as it used to. I am very thankful that I have found out that you can and will help the suffering ones that will follow your advice. Several have asked me what cured me, and I tell them. They get the medicine then. We keep Peruna in the house. My daughter has two sons, and they take well and go to school, and they take the medicine every day."

Mrs. Alla Schwandt, Sanborn, Minn., writes: "I have been troubled with rheumatism and catarrh for twenty-five years. Could not sleep day or night. After having used Peruna I can sleep and nothing bothers me now. If I ever am affected with any kind of sickness Peruna will be the medicine I shall use. My son was cured of catarrh of the larynx by Peruna."—Mrs. Alla Schwandt.

Why Old People are Especially Liable to Systemic Catarrh.

When old age comes on, catarrhal diseases come also. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people.

This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to old people. Peruna is their safeguard. Peruna is the only remedy yet devised that meets these cases exactly.

Such cases cannot be treated locally; nothing but an effective systemic remedy could cure them. This is exactly what Peruna is.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Oysters, Clams and Lobsters

ALWAYS IN STOCK

[WEATHER PERMITTING]

THOMAS' FISH MARKET

TELEPHONE 104-3

Oysters 60c and 75c per quart.

Best Oysters in shell, 65c peck.

We will soon begin to handle a good quality of Virginia Tub Oysters at 50c per quart.

OYSTERS AND CLAMS IN QUANTITIES AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

The Old Home

or a NEW HOME

will be more comfortable and happy if you use

Susquehanna Coal

for Cooking and Heating.

IT IS THE BEST BY EVERY TEST.

...FOR SALE BY...

SPEAR

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Coal, Wood, Hay, Drain Pipe, and Mason's Building Materials.

5 PARK STREET

LILY WHITE FLOUR

THE FLOUR THE BEST COOKS USE.

For Sale By... THORNDIKE & HIX,

TELEPHONE

Rockland, Me.