

THE COURIER-GAZETTE.

TWICE-A-WEEK . . . TUESDAY AND SATURDAY.

TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

ROCKLAND, MAINE, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1905.

VOL. 60. NO. 94

The remarkable growth of the SECURITY TRUST COMPANY is an illustration of an active board of directors, composed of successful business men of this county and state, who have given the affairs of this bank the same interest and energy that has made their business a success.

Directors That Direct
DEPOSITORS APPRECIATE THIS

Security Trust Company

FOOT OF LIMEROCK STREET, ROCKLAND.

A NEW DEPARTURE

The North National Bank

WILL FROM THIS DATE RECEIVE

Time Deposits in Its Savings Department and pay 3 1-2 per cent per annum on same remaining three months or longer. Interest to commence the first of every month. Dividends November 1st and May 1st and payable on the 10th following.

STANDING NORTH NATIONAL BANK, NOVEMBER 13, 1905

Capital Stock,	$100,000 00	Undivided Profits,	$35,072 97
Surplus,	20,000 00	Deposits,	176,402 34

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES in our New Vaults To Rent AT REASONABLE RATES.

Rockland Trust Company

SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT

Price of Boxes (per annum)

$3.50 --- $4 00 --- $5.00

Drawers $8.00

ONCE USED---ALWAYS USED

An Interesting Display Of . . . OVERCOATS FOR MEN and YOUNG MEN

INTERESTING, because here you can see every new style in all the fashionable overcoatings, in every size, for short, tall and slender men, in such great assortment that you can suit your taste at a price you want to pay without sacrificing taste to price.

No matter what style Overcoat you select, or what price you pay, you can be absolutely sure of the Style, Quality and Fit. It will give us great pleasure to have you come here to see the styles described below.

LONG OVERCOATS

$12.50 to $20

With or without belt, double or single breasted, warm, comfortable and serviceable. Made of fancy and rough overcoatings, and black and Oxford Irish Friezes. Beautifully tailored.

MEDIUM LENGTH OVERCOATS

$7.50 to $20

Single and double breasted, so popular with conservative dressers and suitable for all occasions. Made of Kerseys, Meltons, Beavers, Cheviots, Friezes.

YOUTHS OVERCOATS

$5.00 to $16.50

Made of plain and mixed fabrics and Black and Oxford Cheviots and Friezes.

CHILDREN'S OVERCOATS

$3.00 to $7.00

Russian Coats of rough faced cloth, single and double breasted coats, with and without belt, and many other styles.

Burpee & Lamb
NEW ENGLAND CLOTHING HOUSE

The Courier-Gazette.

TWICE-A-WEEK

ALL THE HOME NEWS

Published every Tuesday and Saturday morning from 400 Main Street, Rockland, Maine.

NEWSPAPER HISTORY
The Rockland Gazette was established in 1848. In 1874 the Courier was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1885, and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

BY THE ROCKLAND PUBLISHING CO.

Subscriptions $2 per year in advance; $2.50 if paid at the end of the year; single copies three cents. Advertising rates based upon circulation and very reasonable. Communications upon topics of general interest are solicited. Entered at the postoffice at Rockland for circulation at second-class postal rates.

A thousand times listen to the counsel of your friend, but seek it only once.—Hardy.

Portland Republicans have very sensibly renominated James P. Baxter for Mayor. And the Portland people will just as sensibly re-elect him.

"The House of Mirth" was the best selling book in New York last week. "The Gambler" dropping to second place. "Nedra" holds third place.

Not so many Christmas trees as usual are being shipped from Vermont this year owing to the agitation against the destruction of the forests.

Kentucky has a reputation which it does not deserve, says the Portland Express. There are 68 counties in the state in which the sale of alcoholic liquors is unlawful.

The production of gold in the United States in 1904 was valued at $80,835,418, an increase of over $7,000,000 over the previous year. Colorado, Nevada and California made notable increases.

The United States naval training ship Bancroft built as a training ship for the Naval Academy, is to be turned over by the Navy Department to the Treasury Department and will be used as a training ship for the revenue cutter service.

One hundred and twenty-eight persons lost their lives in the wreck of the London and Southwestern Railway Co.'s steamer, Hilda, off the northern coast of France Saturday night, according to an official estimate given out by the officers of the company.

The board of consulting engineers of the isthmian canal commission has declared itself in favor of a sea level canal. Since the beginning of September, the board had studied the plans for a sea level and a lock canal with the greatest care. From the beginning it was evident that a majority of the members was in favor of the sea level canal. Their point of view was that even if it cost more than a lock canal and would take longer in building, it would ultimately be of greater use as it would enable ships to make much shorter trips than if they were obliged to go through locks. A minority wanted to see the canal built in as short a time as possible and with the least cost, declaring that a few hours longer for the trip through the isthmus made little or no difference. No official statement will be given out before the report of the commission reaches President Roosevelt which will be about January.

PENNELL WILL SEIZE.

Status of the Patent Medicine Matter—Commissioner Yerkes' Ruling.

"All druggists of Cumberland county, who, after the first day of December, pay a special license tax such as will be required by Commissioner Yerkes of the United States Internal Revenue department, on such compounds, known as patent medicines, as shall have been analyzed by the collectors and public announcement has been made of the fact, will be subject to search and seizure and prosecution."

The above announcement made by the Portland Commissioner, last week, will be read with much interest wherever the subject of patent medicines has been discussed.

In this matter, all sorts of stories have been rife. Commissioner Yerkes was to make every druggist who sold patent medicines oressences containing alcohol pay United States special tax (commonly termed "liquor-license.")

If every druggist were compelled to pay this tax, every druggist in Maine would be between the devil and the deep sea. On one side, here are the state laws making the holding of such a license prima facie evidence of intent to sell liquor, and on another side, would be the United States government which would fine them or imprison them for not paying the same. They could do no business without licenses, patent medicines, etc., while the patent medicine dodge to conceal illegal selling would be worked on all sides to the discomfort and discredit of druggists obedient to the law. So let us to Commissioner Yerkes asking for a further interpretation of the law were sent a few weeks ago.

One of them, sent by a Lewiston firm, was as follows:

"Dear Sir: We are writing to you at the request of the Androscoggin County Druggist Association of this state, in relation to the order that you have issued requiring the druggists to take out a United States license as retail liquor dealers on or before December 1, 1905. We desire very much that you suspend that order as far as the druggists are concerned in this state until after the next session of our Legislature for this reason: If they take out a license, they will be liable to indictment, conviction, and sentence and jail in this state, because the possession of every drug in this state is the sale of intoxicating liquor is prima facie evidence of guilt of the person so holding or exhibiting said license. It is a most unfortunate predicament that the druggists are in. If they take out a license, they are outlawed under the State Law and liable to be sent to jail, and if they don't take out the license, they are liable to indictment and imprisonment under the United States Law, and in either event they are not selling intoxicating liquors except what druggists of high standing usually keep in their stores. If they take out a license, they are liable to indictment and imprisonment under the United States Law, and in either event they are not selling intoxicating liquors except what druggists of high standing usually keep in their stores. If they take out a license, they are liable to indictment and imprisonment under the United States Law, and in either event they are not selling intoxicating liquors except what druggists of high standing usually keep in their stores."

Commissioner Yerkes made the following reply:

"I have received your letter of the 6th inst. regarding the request of the Androscoggin County Druggist Association of Maine for a suspension of the ruling in Circular No. 673 relating to alcoholic compounds labeled and sold as medicines, which is that they understand it requires the taking out of special tax stamps by druggists on December 1, 1905, as retail liquor dealers to cover the sale of such compounds."

"Will you please inform this association that druggists and merchants dealing in medicines are not required to pay special tax as retail liquor dealers, even on and after December 1, 1905, the date when the ruling goes into effect, on account of their selling in good faith for medicinal use only any alcoholic compounds labeled as medicines which shall not have this official seal. Upon analysis made here of samples submitted by the collector, to come within the ruling; and that it is only those who continue the sale of such compounds as shall have been analyzed and found to be within the ruling, after public announcement of this fact, who are required to pay the special tax thereon."

The new interpretation, it is believed, will not touch essences and elixirs legitimately used in business and the matter will be so arranged that druggists who do not sell decoctions for tipping purposes will not be obliged to pay the U. S. special tax. Already, word has been sent out from Washington that the United States commissioner was preparing modifications in the construction and that the list of medicines debarred would be small. Many medicines, touching which there has been complaint, will be modified so as to be less than ever suited to beverage use, still retaining their medicinal values.

A recent article in the Boston Transcript on the matter indicated that before long a complete list of debarred medicines, etc., would be sent out.

A Disastrous Calamity.
It is a disastrous calamity, when you lose your health, because indigestion and constipation have sapped it away. Prompt relief can be had in Dr. King's New Life Pills. They build up your digestive organs, and cure headache, dizziness, colic, constipation, etc. Guaranteed at W. H. Kittredge, G. I. Robinson of Thomaston, L. M. Chandler of Camden, drug stores; 25c.

Gov. Folk of Missouri has personally learned of a new form of "graft." A man was sentenced for six years for false registration. His family came for a pardon. The governor was in doubt, when the five-year-old daughter timidly said: "If you let my papa go I'll give you a kiss." The governor replied a trifle husky: "All right, little girl, you shall take him home with you."

H. E. GRIBBIN, M. D.
[EYE, EAR, NOSE and THROAT]
9 Claremont St. - - - Rockland, Me.
Office Hours: 9 to 12 a. m.; 2 to 4 p. m., and by appointment.
Telephone connection. 50

The Boston Herald . . .

Is daily forging ahead—more news—more features—more advertising—everything is booming—that's why it's a better paper for you to read.

Buy It Tomorrow

The Sunday Herald is the Best newspaper published in New England, without question.

Special Features

The class and quality of Special Features introduced in The Herald columns are winners.

Housekeepers' Exchange

The Best clearing house of Good Ideas on Domestic Topics of timely interest.

Story-Tellers of N. E.

You know lots of the story-tellers, lots of the incidents they tell about. That's why it's interesting reading.

Everything to Interest

Every Member of Families

The Herald at all times prints news and features that interest the whole household, every member of it. You really don't know what a good paper you miss reading when you don't read The Herald.

Order Today—The Boston Herald

A Safe Investment

ROCKLAND CITY BONDS

THE TREASURER HAS A FEW

15-YEARS BONDS

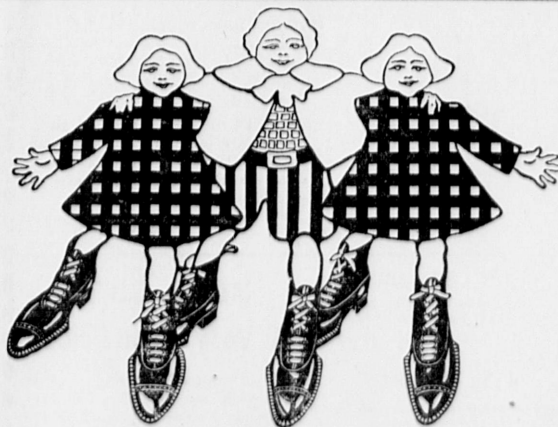

IN DENOMINATIONS OF

$50, $100 and $200

WE ADVISE AN EARLY APPLICATION TO

L. S. ROBINSON

TREASURER CITY OF ROCKLAND

Making Friends Every Day

KEITH'S KONQUEROR

$3.50 and $4.00 MEN'S SHOES

Keep Men Youthful in Spirit

They are built on Normal lasts that give shoe comfort from heel to toe. Throws body weight along the axis of the sole where nature intended.

Sold in Rockland By

A. H. BERRY & CO.

SOLE AGENTS

Ticket 2804 drew last pair of Shoes. Bring it in Next drawing Saturday, Dec. 2. Come get a ticket. No purchase required.

THE SUNSHINE SOCIETY.

A Philanthropic Institution Which is Doing Good the World Over.

We are often asked the question: What is the Sunshine Society? Perhaps the following abstract from a sermon preached by Rev. James Hall of Paterson, N. J., will shed some enlightenment on the subject.

The origin of the Sunshine movement began, as all great and grand movements begin in the mind of one person, Mrs. Cynthia W. Alden, about nine years ago. The society was not called "Sunshine" at first, but "Chat." It was afterward known as the "Shut-In Society."

When the certificate of incorporation was granted in 1900, in New York State, its name was changed to the "International Sunshine Society." The motto "Good Cheer" and the club song "Scatter Sunshine" have been the foundation stones on which it has rested ever since.

The many ways of scattering sunshine can only be estimated by the many opportunities which constantly present themselves in the every-day life, and only bring "Good Cheer" when we as members are quick to do our duty. So grand, so noble, so soul-inspiring has this movement become that it has now a foothold in every State and Territory in the United States, and has extended its beneficent influence to countries abroad, being very strong in England.

Sunshine is not charity; it is philanthropy. The high aim of this wonderful society is being carried out by its adherents every day, every hour, in the fullest sense.

The verses following, from the pen of Helen Hunt Jackson, sound the keynote of Sunshine:

If I can live
To make some pale face brighter, and to give
A second lustre to some tear-dimmed eye,
Or even impart
One throb of comfort to an aching heart,
Or cheer some way-worn soul in passing by,
If I can lend
A strong hand to the fallen, or defend
The right against a single envious strain,
My life, though bare
Perhaps of much that's sweetly dear and fair
To us on earth, will not have been in vain.
The purest joy
Most near to heaven, far from earth's alloy,
Is building clouds give way to sun and shine.
If, on that day of days, the angels tell
Of me: "She did her best for one of Thine."

Our work has reached enormous proportions, I admit. Why not? The world is a big workshop. The blind children, the shut-in ones, the orphan children, the day nurseries, the sick, the poor and a thousand or more things require our attention at home, while the missions and schools in foreign countries also appeal to us.

If we learn the art of contributing we have learned a big part of the Sunshine work. Jesus said, "Freely ye have received, freely give." I do not know of any honorary member in the Sunshine movement. I believe they are all active members.

It is said that desperate diseases require desperate remedies, and I believe it is true. For the problem that is factoring us is a big one. The world is like a great rough diamond, and as we look around us, we see the need of living near Christ, to receive the light from Him and to dispense it to those around us. We call our nation the greatest nation on earth. We pride ourselves on our national integrity; our statesmen and senators are the pride of our national life; but what would our pride amount to in these things if we were to forget that in the midst of all these there is intense suffering, and poverty, which only the open hand and the tender heart can reach?

We point with pride to the eight or nine years of our existence, and our work during that time. Like the doctor who is putting on the market a medicine in which he has perfect confidence, and says, "We do not publish testimonials; we ask you to try our medicine; it speaks for itself," so we in our work do not need to herald our virtues, we simply point to our record. (It speaks volumes.) Time and space will not permit of a detailed account of our noble work and of the lives made happy. Drunkards reclaimed. Forsaken wives and little ones cared for. (Nay, I believe that if angel voices could reach us from the realm of glory we should hear some one say, I am here because some one brought sunshine and light into my life, and by that means I found Christ.)

Oh, if you could hear from every quarter of this great earth the hidden expression of love and joy swelling up from the depths of hearts and lives of those made happy and reclaimed through the efforts of our "Sunshine" members, you would indeed hear a shout that would make old Mother Earth tremble.

What has it accomplished?

Pen cannot write it, nor tongue express it.

Finally, we invite you to come and take part in our glorious work. It will not only do you good, but will make you do good to others as well. I call upon you, Christian men and women everywhere—do your best. You must think you have done your best, but you have not. You have responsibilities in your way that you never dreamed of, if you will only look around you.

STONE TRADE NEWS.

The Uses of Granite Have Changed Wonderfully and for the Better.

Work on the Suffolk Granite building at the Hallowell Granite Works is progressing favorably. The large section of columns which will adorn the front elevation of the building are to be completely finished here and after being set up to see that the work is not lacking, will be made ready for shipment.

Concerning the past and present of granite an authority on the subject has the following to say:

"Like everything pertaining to the building business, granite has changed and the uses of granite have changed wonderfully for the better and in the last 25 years. Any of the oldtimers of 30 or 40 years ago would be greatly surprised if they could visit us now and see the difference. In the early history of granite in New York City there were only two kinds that could be marketed to any extent—Quincy and Millstone Point in Connecticut. Today, there are now used in New York some 50 or 60 varieties of granite. Gradually as the use of granite increased, the varieties increased and granite that is now being selected for granite work on the fronts of buildings, varies in color from a marble white, like Hallowell granite, to the very blackest of Quincy."

"Pink shades seem to be popular. The pink granites are having a great run, in fact, the use of it seems to be a fad. That which has the largest run in the market is the Milford Pink, from the quarries of Milford, Mass., the Jonesboro running a close second. One of the latest pink granites to be given a share of the business is the Fox Island Pink which combines with its color a fine grain and is good for carved or moulded work. In place of the few pieces of ornamental work that used to be found in a building we now have beautiful fronts complete, as in the Hall of Records costing millions of dollars, the New York custom house, the Schwab mansion and the Clark mansion."

"The change from old things to the new conditions is surprising even to men in the business. A look at the over first experiences tells the truth of the remarkable strides to present day possibilities."

Man's Unconsciousness.
Is often as great as woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth, Ind., was not unreasonable, when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife for female trouble. "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by W. H. Kittredge, G. I. Robinson of Thomaston, L. M. Chandler of Camden, druggists, price 60c.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

The Vagabond.

I cannot hide the sootier town,
With decent villa, church and square;
Nor make a little her stylish gown,
Nor master with his glossy hair,
I cannot hide the sootier town,
Nor master with her stylish gown.
But I would over vale and hill,
And draw the breath of distance free,
And roam from road to road until
The twilight creeps across the sea.
Oh! I would over vale and hill,
And sleep in barn or ruin'd mill.
For I a vagabond was born,
I love to wander far and wide,
And seek out places most forlorn,
And evil hills where men have died.
For I a vagabond was born,
And love the twilight and the morn.
I love all wild and woeful lands
Where I may talk with woods and streams,
Or walk on desolate sea sands,
And tell the ocean all my dreams.
I love all wild and woeful lands,
And Ocean's dolorous wet sands.
I love to watch the sunset die,
And hear the large night's solemn words,
And on the moonlit leather lie,
And wake to greet the morning birds.
I love to watch the sunset die,
And on the moonlit leather lie.

For oh! I hate the sootier town,
I hate the villa, church and square,
I long to knock the houses down,
And rattle master's glossy hair.
For oh! I hate the sootier town,
And madam's mooshish sliden gown.

But ah! the country air is pure,
And all the country lads are true,
And loving comrades they'll endure,
They'll stand by me, they'll stand by you.
But ah! the country air is pure,
And country friendships long endure.
—Douglas Goldring, in the Academy.

The Courier-Gazette.

TWICE-A-WEEK

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

The President of the United States has designated Thursday, November 30, as a day for public thanksgiving and prayer. This custom originated in New England and has always been observed by the people of this State. Therefore, I, William T. Cobb, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby appoint

Thursday, November 30th inst., Thanksgiving Day, and ask all those whose homes are here, to recognize the true spirit of the day, and mindfully of their obligations to the needy, to manifest their grateful acknowledgments of the blessings of liberty, peace and public prosperity, which, under God, have been bestowed upon us all.

GIVEN at the Executive Chamber at Augusta, this ninth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and five and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-third.

By the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council.

W. T. COBB,

By the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council.

The opinion which the general public has entertained in regard to Judge Dewey of Boston suffers quite a setback on account of the cranky and childish manner in which he is acting since his defeat as a Republican candidate for the mayoralty nomination. So far as we have been able to discover Judge Dewey was defeated fairly and squarely, yet not satisfied after a recount had been made he announces his intention of wrecking Republican prospects under the guise of running as an independent candidate. On the other hand what did we see in the Democratic ranks? First of all a campaign of personalities and mud-slinging which put New York to shame, yet the first impulse of the defeated candidate was to proffer his support to the nominee and indications are that they will go to the polls arm in arm. Had Judge Dewey been defeated by misrepresentation and fraud there might be some ground for his course, but his opponent has the record of being an honorable man, who is the nominee because the majority—the rank and file—wills it. We shall be mistaken in our opinion of men if the Dewey ticket prospers.

Some articles are doubtless to be bought more cheaply at auction than here's Crescens the world's champion trotting stallion, sold under the hammer for the fancy price of $21,000. The famous stallion has a record of 2:02½ and has represented quite a valuable asset for George H. Ketcham of Toledo, Ohio. The new owner is M. W. Savage of Minneapolis, well known to horsemen as the owner of Dan Patch and Directum.

James J. Jeffries, the pugilist champion, has joined in the football discussion. He says he would not play the game for $1000 a minute. This, coming from a man who has faced the greatest human bruisers that the world can produce, conveys quite a vivid idea of how the game is looked upon by some outsiders.

The Madison Bulletin is now under the editorial management of Henry C. Prince, formerly of the Waterville Mail. Although forsaking the life of a dizzy city Mr. Prince will not allow the pen to become rusty, his friends may rest assured.

Aroostook county is to have a new newspaper in the form of the Ashland Gazette, published by a brother of Editor Pendell of the Aroostook Republican. We expect this latest Gazette will be some potatoes.

Dorothy Dodd
The latest fad—Varsity Boots
Boston Shoe Store
W. L. DOUGLAS SHOES FOR MEN
The BEST $3.00-$3.50 SHOE
IN THE WORLD
RUBBER GOODS
25 per cent less than regular market price. We have a reason—slow people will never find it out.

Women's Warm Shoes for cold mornings and cold feet
Beaver Foxed Polish 98c
Beaver Plain Lace and Cong. 75c
Warm Lined Slippers 49c up

THE PLACE TO TRADE IS THE PLACE WHERE THEY CAN DELIVER THE GOODS
All we ask is a show down

Green Trading Stamps if you ask for them.

BOSTON SHOE STORE
Foot of Park St., St. Rockland, Me.

Millinery For Sale
Great bargains in trimmed and untrimmed hats. A fine assortment to select from, also a large stock of feathers, ribbons, velvets, wings and everything that goes to make up a nice hat. This entire stock of Winter Millinery and a lot of fancy goods, such as ladies' neckwear, babies' bonnets, and fancy combs. Must be closed out this season. It will pay you to look over our stock before buying elsewhere as we are selling very low.

The Shaw Sisters
Over O. E. Blackington Shoe Store, corner Park and Main Sts., Rockland, Me. 95-59

MEN'S FELTS AND RUBBERS
$1.69
Boston Shoe Store

No Fleet Next Summer.

But Some of Admiral Evans' Big Fleet May Look In Upon Us—Battleship Virginia Makes New Record Mile of 19.74 Knots—Other Ships Coming.

According to the statement of a member of the naval staff, there will be no fleet of Uncle Sam's warships to rendezvous in Rockland harbor next summer. The North Atlantic coast squadron, which spent six weeks here last summer is to lose its identity next spring, the monitors Arkansas, Florida and Nevada being transferred to the uses of the Naval Academy, while the flagship Texas—the oldest battleship of the navy will probably be used as a training ship. The coast squadron has served an excellent purpose but its days are said to be numbered.

Instead there will be cruising in North Atlantic waters a splendid squadron under the command of Rear Admiral Evans, comprising 12 first-class battleships and four cruisers of the type of the Colorado which was the first ship to demonstrate the merits of the Owl's Head standardization course. As this fleet with its grand total of more than 13,000 officers and men is hardly likely to enter any port in a group, it will be strange if Rockland does not receive occasional visits from the big warships.

The next battleship to be tried over the Owl's Head course is the Louisiana now approaching completion in the yard of the Newport News Shipbuilding Co. This ship will be the largest in our navy at the time of her acceptance trial, being practically 16,000 tons. The speed which she will be required to develop will be 18 instead of 19 knots. Her trial will take place Dec. 12, after which there will probably be a full untried April when quite a deluge of new warships will be sent to Rockland for trial. The battleships nearest completion, and yet to be tried are the Connecticut, Louisiana, Nebraska, Georgia, New Jersey, Minnesota, Vermont and Kansas.

The armored cruisers which are well along to completion are the California, South Dakota and Washington. Protected cruisers there are the St. Louis and Milwaukee.

A fair share of these big warships will have their trial over the Owl's Head course, completed here several years ago, which will eventually have the distinction of being the most important naval port on the New England coast.

The Virginia's Trial.
The battleship Virginia, second in her class to be tried on the Owl's Head course, completed her severe standardization test Tuesday afternoon, and the result exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the builders. The fastest mile was made at the rate of 19.74 knots an hour, exceeding by 41 per cent the best mile made by the Rhode Island, on the same course three weeks ago, and establishing a new record for American battleships.

The conditions were almost identical with those of the Rhode Island's trial, the wind blowing diagonally across the course at a rate of 20 or 25 miles an hour. There was a strong tide. The Virginia on her trip up the coast from Newport News had made part of the run under forced draft and showed a sustained speed of 19 knots for several hours, thus satisfying the builders.

that she was fit for the test of Tuesday and the endurance run which was to follow it on Thursday. Nevertheless every precaution was taken in advance of the trial and the furnaces were fed constantly with selected coal. The Virginia made her first run over the course at 8.40 a. m., going well up the bay while warming up her machinery. Eleven times she went over the measured mile, the maximum speed being at the rate of 19.74, and the minimum speed at the rate of 15.84. The average of the five best runs was at the rate of 18.75 knots.

The purpose of the standardization test was to show under varying conditions the exact number of revolutions the ship must average in order to make the required speed of 19 knots. With the Virginia it was found that the average must be 125.75, but the Virginia's test showed that 129.3 revolutions per minute would be required. The machinery worked perfectly, in a big ship exhibiting very little vibration when going at her maximum speed, and turning with the utmost ease. The port and starboard engines worked in almost perfect synchronism, the starboard engine showing 129.32 revolutions per minute, and the port engine 129.22 revolutions. There were no heated bearings and no trouble of any description. The fastest mile was made on the third run with the tide.

The trial was more spectacular than the others which have taken place on the course especially when the ship made her northernly runs against the gale. At such times the water broke in a solid volume over her bow, and the spray landed on the turret. The course was watched with much interest from various points of vantage along the shore.

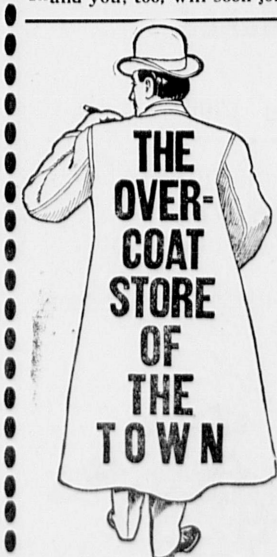

W. A. Post, general manager of the Newport News Shipbuilding Co., constructed the Virginia, was delighted with the showing made by the warship. Other representatives of the company on board were H. L. Ferguson, superintendent of hull construction; Charles P. Bailey, chief designing engineer; F. P. Allen, chief draughtsman of the engineering department, and W. G. Gatewood, chief draughtsman of the hull department. Capt. W. G. Melvin was the navigating officer. The government was represented by its naval trial board, Capt. J. H. Dayton, chairman; its engineering trial board, Commander I. S. K. Reeves, chairman; naval constructor J. J. Woodward, and about 30 assistants. One of the most interested persons on board was Capt. Seaton Schroeder, to whom naval knots are familiar, as he is in command of the new ship.

The government tug Uncas was stationed near the course for the purpose of taking tidal observations. A wagon-load of liquor en route from Thomaston to South Thomaston, was seized by Sheriff Tolman and Deputy Sheriff White Tuesday afternoon. Before Judge Meservey W. A. Lynde was fined of $13.89 for illegal transportation.

Will Cure a Cough
Three Crow Golden Anodyne Lintment

IT'S THE INSTINCT OF THRIFT

The universal desire to get the best there is going at the smallest possible expenditure—that keeps directing the footsteps of so many hundreds of economy seekers towards Blackington's—they knew they had found something worth holding to the moment they struck the good clothes store—and the instinctive clinging to a good thing when once they had found it has proven the spur to this store's splendid growth. Measure the savings made possible here by this announcement—and you, too, will soon join the knowing ones.

OVERCOATS AT SAVINGS You'll Appreciate

The Broadest Showing at the Price in Maine—and you safely save $2.00 on each coat. Black Kerseys and Oxfords in 44-inch lengths. Fancy Scotchies, Blacks and Oxfords, in the popular 52-inch coats—with or without belts—$12 values

Oxfords and Blacks—in full back 44-inch coats—finely tailored. Also fancy plaid and striped Scotchies and newest patterns in Oxfords—$15 values long—plain or belted—$12 values

Splendid Line of 42 and 54 inch Overcoats—cut very full—long deep vent in back—blacks, Oxfords and fancy Scotch mixtures. Equal to made-to-measure coats—

$15, $18, $20

MEN'S FURNISHINGS

Derby ribbed, heavy weight ballroom underwear in blue. Special at 38c
All Wool Shirts and Drawers, $1.50 value $1.00

FOR THE BOYS

Two-Button Suits for Boys 8 to 16 years—New, snappy patterns, in Scotch Mixtures and Chevies. What other coats can a $4.00 value

Boys Two Piece Suits, 8 to 16 years—Chevies, Worsteds and Scotch Novelty weaves. A good value at $6.50 $4.95

Boys' Overcoats, 8 to 16 yrs.—Double breasted, tourist style—worsteds and Scotch effects. $6.00 is what most stores ask $5.50

MEN'S SUITS

All the newest styles in striped or plaid worsteds and black chevies—cut in the new lengths—deep vent in back—single and double breasted—suits such as you'll find on sale most anywhere else at $13 or $14 $12.80

Nine Pleasing Styles to choose from—Lift patterns in fancy worsteds and Scotchies—pretty stripes and rich over-plaids—single or double breasted suits—other stores sell at $16 $15

O. E. BLACKINGTON & SON
CLOTHIERS AND SHOE DEALERS

Let's all be Thankful

That we can purchase such good ready-to-wear clothes as the L. Adler Bros. & Co. and Michaels, Stern & Co. make

Let's all be Thankful

That the prices for Suits and Overcoats of these high grades are so reasonable—$12 to $25

Let's all be Thankful

That it is possible to get such perfect fitting clothes ready to put on

There's lots of things to be thankful for but these are some of the most important

Extra values in Blue Flannel Shirts, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50

J. F. Gregory & Son

In Boston.

Interesting Items Personal and Otherwise Gathered for Courier-Gazette Readers.

Mrs. Boston, Nov. 20, 1905.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Lord are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter, the 9th inst. Mrs. Lord was Helen Cole of Rockland.

R. D. Waldo and wife have returned from their bridal tour and are located at 9 Pearl Ave., Beachmont.

Howard and Wilbur, sons of Rev. J. H. Parsley, Harvard Freshmen, are members of the college orchestra and band. The former plays violin in the orchestra and also horn in the band, while the latter plays flute in one and piccolo in the other. Tom, a younger son, who is in Cambridge Latin School, is distinguishing himself on the clarinet, and if this thing keeps on Rev. Mr. Parsley will soon have an exclusive family band.

Admiral A. S. Snow, commandant of Charlestown Navy-yard celebrated his 60th birthday Saturday, the 18th inst. The admiral, who is one of the most popular of officials, received many congratulations.

The reception and hop at the Navy-yard Friday evening, the 17th, was a very successful and enjoyable affair. Music, and excellent music at that, was furnished by the navy-yard band. Another dancing party is announced for Dec. 1.

Next Monday evening, Nov. 27th, the Phillips church choir, which choir, Robert N. Lister is director, will present Rossini's "Stabat Mater," at the First Universalist church, Cambridge. This presentation is under the auspices of the Cambridge Club. Mrs. Lister is soprano of the Piedmont Church, Worcester, will assist.

The U. S. Army officers, which for some years have been located in the Wentworth Building, 120 Summer street, will be moved the last of this month to the Boston Wharf Co. Building, a new and modern structure at 263 Summer street. The third, fourth and fifth floors of the building have been leased by the government and will be used for army purposes.

Large audiences have been enjoying the unusually meritorious performance of the Walker's Museum, Bowdoin Square the present week. Millie Leez, with her trained animal show, has been the top-liner, while Salem Ayoop, the Turkish gait of spinner, Millie Zella, acrobats; a high jumping contest; and an entertaining vaudeville stage program have made a most varied and interesting performance. The extensive improvements, which have been under way at these two places for a month past, are completed, and both houses have been made very attractive.

Ellisha B. Pales and bride (Lura B. Sweetland) have returned from their honeymoon, which included Niagara Falls, Albany and New York City. They are now at home at Broadway, West Somerville.

A. A. Fales, a member of the old established firm of A. N. Swallow & Co., Charlestown, celebrated his 47th birthday the 13th inst., with the co-operation of some of his friends. Mrs. Fales is not only one of the most progressive and competent of the young men in the grocery trade in this section, but is such an all-around good fellow, that scores of friends hereabouts are in wishing him many happy returns.

Miss Frances Bachelor of Fuller & Cobb has been in the city this week.

Pay Inspector Harry R. Sullivan, of the Texas, who is known in Rockland, has been granted sick leave to Jan. 15, 1906.

W. E. Schwartz, the well known Camden builder, has been in the city this week.

WOMEN'S RUBBERS
25c, 39c, 49c, 55c, 60c
Boston Shoe Store

...FLOOR COVERINGS...

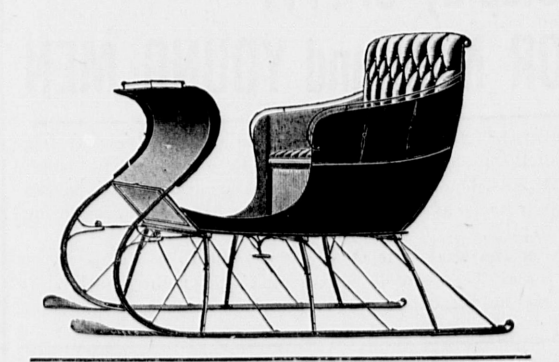

OUR splendid showing of Floor Coverings is as broad and choice as you will care to look over. We can suit you if you can be suited anywhere. While we have a great range of prices and the most striking patterns it has ever been our fortune to obtain, we carry only that quality that we know will give you the greatest satisfaction.

CARPETS RUGS LINOLEUMS

WE ASK YOU TO COME AND LOOK OVER OUR ASSORTMENT. WE KNOW WE CAN PLEASE YOU.

This invigorating weather will bring out the bloom in baby's cheeks. GO-CARTS are CHEAP now.

BURPEE FURNITURE COMPANY
ROCKLAND

The Sleighing Season

MAY hold off until next January or it may come next week. But whenever it comes you do not want to miss it. The only way to keep from missing it is to be prepared for it. Our stock of sleighs and cutters is complete just now, but it will represent mighty poor picking after the first snow storm. The weather man says there will be cold doings soon. Then you'll buy hurriedly and perhaps not wisely. Better attend to the matter now while you've time to go over the whole line and while the whole line is here. One thing is certain; we never had so many swell styles, or such quality in sleighs before. And the prices are way below what you would expect to pay for such good ones.

A winter without a warmer is a cold proposition. We sell the best foot warmers. Also blankets and robes.

GEO. M. SIMMONS
LIMEROCK STREET, ROCKLAND

Lost and Found

LOST—A 13 foot Dory. Lead color. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges. Inquire at the BREA-WATER.

LOST—In Farwell opera house Saturday night, Nov. 18, a gold watch, Waltham make, with blue leather strap on each side. Finder will be rewarded by leaving same at office of ROCKLAND PRODUCE CO. 93-96

FOUND—A SWEATER—owner can have same by proving property and paying for this ad. Enquire at E. R. SPEAR & CO., Rockland. 91-94

LOST—Strayed or Stolen—Hound dog, black, white and tan, answer to name of Spot; owner's name on collar. E. C. DAVIS, Fuller Cobb Co., Rockland. 91-94

Wanted

MAN WANTED TO DRIVE STAGE. Inquire at THIS OFFICE. 9417

WILL the person who has been using my Hound Dog Spot (my name on collar) please return him to me. No questions will be asked. E. C. DAVIS, Fuller Cobb Co., Rockland. 92-94

HELP WANTED and employment given to girls and women. Sewers, second work, washing, ironing, cooking, fine sewing, embroidery, or carding. Apply at the Women's Exchange and Intelligence Bureau, 50 Summer street. Telephone 12. 9417

For Sale

FOR SALE—We have 1150 good books for boys and girls, by the most popular authors, including poetry and the best standard fiction. 25 cents a volume. HUSTON'S BOOK STORE, Rockland. 94-101

FOR SALE—I have some of my extra nice high grade Sour Kront. In half barrels lots $2.15, six gallon kegs $1.75. Small lots if you wish. EDWIN A. DEAN, Rockland Highlands. 91-98

FOR SALE CHEAP—Covered Cart, Suitable for Laundry wagon, Fish Cart, Baker Cart, etc. Very fast sailing horse. Will sell cheap. Inquire of W. E. GRAYES, 506 Main street city. 9417

FOR SALE—THE FARM ON LIMEROCK street owned and occupied in his lifetime by the late Nelson Upton. This farm consists of about 10 acres of land with two houses and barns and out-buildings. For further particulars see C. M. WALKER, Glover Block, Rockland, Me. 9417

FOR SALE—THE HOMESTEAD OF A. T. Newhall, situated at No. 317 Pleasant street, Rockland, Me. This place consists of a nearly new house and large stable together with four acres of fertile land, well adapted for taking summer boarders. For terms and further particulars apply to C. M. WALKER, Glover Block, Rockland, Me. 9417

FOR SALE—THE HOMESTEAD FARM OF the late Clarence Foster, situated at Ash Point in the town of South Thomaston. This farm contains about forty acres and has a two-story house, nearly new. A very fine place for taking summer boarders. For terms and further particulars apply to C. M. WALKER, Glover Block, Rockland, Me. 9417

30 FOOT SLOOP BOAT FOR SALE. 3,000 lbs. lead on keel, 3,000 lbs. iron ballast; 2 suits of sails, anchors, cable, etc. Very fast sailing boat. Will sell cheap. H. J. McCURIE, Orlinham, Me. 9296

FOR SALE—TYPEWRITER in fine condition, for sale at a bargain. Address E. R. CARTER, No. 1, Union, Me., or West Appleton telephone. 9296

FOR SALE—NICKIE, IN THE SLOT MACHINE, has been used three months only. The Owl, Half price. Address, MACHINE, Care of Carter No. 1, Union, Me. 9296

HOUSE FOR SALE—PREMIERES OCCUPIED by me at 40 Grove street. Steam heat and modern improvements. Especially desirable for elegant parties. For further particulars apply to W. O. FULLER, JR. 9417

ON LINE OF ELECTRIC ROAD Between Rockland and Thomaston, a modern house, 8 rooms, electric light, gas, and hot water. Call on premises or address ERNEST H. NICHOLS, Box 421 Rockland. 9097

FOR SALE—I will sell either one of my houses, 30 and 40 Grove street, or one of electric cars and view of the harbor. Inquire of C. M. WALKER, W. S. Kenniston. 9417

FOR SALE—The Handsome Modern Residence of the late Charles F. Wood situated at 20 Masonic street. Large house with all modern improvements. For further particulars inquire of C. M. WALKER, Glover Block, Rockland, Me. 9417

FOR SALE OR TO LET—Bay Point Cottage, The Rockland Cottage at Bay Point with complete furnishings, including a Steinway Piano. Fine grounds. Suburban life. Very desirable property. For further particulars apply to A. HEATON, Rockland, Me. 9417

To Let

HOUSE TO LET—Apply to MRS. A. J. HALL, 18 Gay street. 9417

TO LET—Large room in Jones' Block suitable for office or workshop. Low rent. Apply at THE COURIER-GAZETTE OFFICE. 6317

TO LET—FIRST CLASS MODERN TENEMENT at 80 Summer street in perfect condition. Furnace, coal grate, bath room, gas, fine neighborhood. For further information inquire of C. M. WALKER, Glover block. 8717

Wanted

Gifts for beautifying themselves or friends, to see our New York stock of stylish goods and Fancy Novelties. Everything contained in a first class Hair Store. Christmas gifts too numerous to specify. Come and see them. Electrical Supply, Manufacturing, Chronology. ROCKLAND HAIR STORE, 330 Main St. 1417

NOTICE—We have just received a new lot of first class Axe Handles in all the popular styles and prices. Also a new lot of the famous Vulcan Axes. H. H. CHIE & CO., 456 Main St. 9417

WE want people to send for our Catalog of Holiday Books soon to be issued. HUSTON'S BOOK STORE, Rockland. 94 101

NOTICE TO NET KNITTERS—I have moved from Summer street to 341 Main street, Willoughby Block. Office hours from 10 a. m. to 3.30 p. m. MISS I. M. STUBBS, 341 Main street, Rockland. 92-95

MAGAZINE SUBSCRIPTIONS

Inquire of our Combination Subscription system. Magazines at half rates. For example, Woman's Home Companion and Companion for Post-son's 1 year for $1.50, with Harper's Bazar added—$2.00. Any combination desired. Cheapest way in the world to get your magazines.

HUSTON'S NEWS STORE
ROCKLAND 93-104

FARM FOR SALE.

Between Rockport and Rockland, Me., and on the line of electric railway, cars pass every fifteen minutes at a bargain a 46 acre farm with a fine lot of building and a new barn, 30 x 35. Fifteen acres mowing land, balance wood and pasture, 100 fruit trees just beginning to bear.

Would make a fine summer house, being opposite "Rockport" and near the entrance to Oakland Park, commands the finest view of the Camden mountains. For particulars and selling price consult, ROBINSON & ALLEN, Camden, Me. 9417

NOTICE

The Committee on Accounts and Claims hereby give notice that it will be in session at the office of the City Clerk on Spring Street, on Friday evenings at 7 o'clock, immediately preceding the regular meeting of the City Council for the purpose of auditing claims against the city.

The Committee request that all bills be made on the regular billheads, of the city to facilitate their work. These billheads can be obtained at the office of the City Clerk.

ELVIN BRADFORD,
RICHARD A. RHODES,
THOMAS F. HAYDEN,
Committee on Accounts and Claims.

The Courier-Gazette goes into a larger number of families in Knox county than any other paper published.

THERE'S A DOUBT

And it often comes up, and like Banquo's ghost, "won't down." It's a sort of mental quagmire one gets in and they have to be helped out. In the line of meats it's a pleasant task we assume in proffering our assistance. When once you allow us to supply you there never will be a time when you will find yourself in doubt, and will acknowledge ours is the store to buy.

MEATS, YOUNG FRESH FOWL

and in fact everything found in a first class market. We make a specialty of supplying the Sunday dinner.

OURS IS THE UP-TO-THE-MINUTE MARKET

FRANZ M. SIMMONS

ROCKLAND, MAIN STREET

RICH CUT GLASS

FOR HOLIDAY PRESENTS

SPARKLING WITH CRYSTAL BRILLIANCE
AN UNPRECEDENTED ARRAY

You should by all means inspect my extensive showing of exclusive pieces before purchasing elsewhere, as these goods were selected as being ESPECIALLY DESIRABLE FOR THE HOLIDAY TRADE

BRACELETS

THE KIND YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR

WE HAVE THEM

ALL SHAPES AND SIZES.

CROSSES

There is a demand for Crosses. I have an attractive line made up of rapid sellers. Ask to see my line of FOBS, LOCKETS, SCARF PINS, BROOCHES AND BEAD-NECKS

FOR THE GENTLEMEN

STONE, SEAL AND SIGNET RINGS.

SCARF PINS That men delight to wear—Distinctive designs—Rich effects—Wide range of prices. The line includes Faces, Heads, Egyptian and other characteristic designs. With these are combined pearls, diamonds and other precious stones.

NECKLACES

Many Different Patterns and New Designs
TASTY, SHOWY AND INEXPENSIVE

Attractive Novelties

Sterling Silver

Look for the big steel sidewalk clock and the pretty window.

CLARENCE E. DANIELS

JEWELER AND SILVERSMITH

393 MAIN ST. THORNDIKE HOUSE BLOCK ROCKLAND

IT'S UP TO YOU, "JOHN HENRY."
A NATIVE—OR ONE FROM MICHIGAN.

OURS are

State of Maine Turkeys

For Thanksgiving

Order at Once if You Want the Best

A. F. CROCKETT COMP'Y

TELEPHONE 17-4

Grand Thanksgiving Sale

OF ROASTERS

An exceptional offer of the RIGHT ARTICLE at the RIGHT TIME and at the RIGHT PLACE

To Every Person Purchasing

1 pound of 50c or 60c Tea, or 2 pounds 25c, 30c or 35c Coffee

We will give FREE one of these useful DOUBLE ROASTERS
This is a trade you cannot afford to overlook, so don't delay.

This Offer Good Only for a Few Days or as Long as the Roasters Last.

Our Goods are known throughout New England as the Best that Money and Experience can procure.

TEAS—Finest Imported and

STANDARD AS GOLD.

COFFEES—Fresh Roasted Every Day.

FIT FOR A KING'S TABLE.

SCOTT & COMPANY

384 Main Street, Rockland, Maine

For Home or Investment

HOUSE AND STABLE

Located off Camden Street
One Minute to the Electric Cars

Rents for $8 a Month—Price only $750

L. F. Clough Telephone 177-11

116 CAMDEN STREET, ROCKLAND

Talk of the Town

Coming Neighborhood Events.

Nov. 25—Kennedy Stock Co. at Farwell

Nov. 25—South Hope—Farmers' Institute,

Nov. 25—Rabbinical Club meets with Mrs.

Nov. 25—World's Temperance Sunday.

Nov. 25—Shakespeare Society meets with the Nov. 25—Senior Hop in Kimball hall.

Nov. 25—Thanksgiving eve ball at Warren

Nov. 25—Wednesday evening, Thanksgiving

Nov. 25—Thanksgiving night annual gift ball,

Nov. 25—Burpee-Hose company at Wiloughby hall

Nov. 25—Thanksgiving day (maimed and

Nov. 25—Shepard's Motion Pictures at Farwell

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

Nov. 25—Thos. Jefferson in "The Rivals" at

The county commissioners were in session Tuesday and audited bills to the amount of $824.

Howard Rackliff and brother Archie have returned from a week's hunting at Passadunk.

Two new pupils were enrolled in the kindergarten this week—Lou Fuller and Percy Blaisdell.

Former Governor N. J. Bachelard of New Hampshire has been elected national master of the National Grange.

Sheriff Tolman and County Attorney Howard have gone to Boston to attend the Harvard and Yale football game.

"The Trial of Sacco and Vanzetti," a Christmas cantata, will be given by the Young People's Union of the Universalist church on Dec. 14.

E. M. Thompson, clerk of the Maine House of Representatives, and a former resident of Union, was in town Tuesday attending probate court.

A limeburners union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, is to be organized in Knights of Columbus hall Wednesday evening, Dec. 6.

Dr. R. J. Waggatt is suffering from a sprained ankle, due to a misstep which he made while stepping into his carriage. He is able to attend to his professional business as usual, but is carrying crutches for a while.

The double tenement on Willow street, owned by G. L. Farrand, has been painted. Mr. Farrand has bought three other houses on Willow street for rental purposes. The house on Rankin street recently vacated by Brook Cross, will be occupied by Adrian Stanley of Stonington. The Howes tenement on Willow street, occupied by the Price and Stanley families is being repaired.

It is announced that coal prices will be advanced, Dec. 1st probably to $7.50 per ton. The present price of stove coal is $7.00. The warning was contained in a Boston despatch a few days ago which said that coal had advanced 50 cents a ton in all grades except furnace and pea. The advance marks the first increase in prices which has been delayed this year later than usual, but none too late to suit the public.

Complaints in numerous and diverse forms have come to the police department this week. Capt. Cyrus B. Averill informs the marshal that some of the complaints are of a serious nature.

There has been quite a bit of speculation as to what kind of an entertainment the Rockland Military band proposed to put on this winter. After discussing the matter thoroughly the members have decided to try a dramatic presentation. The band will be accompanied by a chorus of several first class dramatics. "Down East" will be the selection. The band will be accompanied by a chorus of several first class dramatics.

Ten cans of square-tail trout, measuring from three to five inches in length, were received by W. A. McLean from the U. S. hatchery at Orono this week, and on Wednesday were deposited by him in Meadow and Branch brooks. With this lot came six cans of salmon trout for Arthur Farrand, and six cans for William A. Glover and Ernest C. Davis. Mr. Davis deposited his salmon in Alfred's Lake while Messrs. Farrand and Glover contributed to the future prospects of Mirror Lake.

The second-night appearance of Portey Ames at Farwell opera house served to confirm the very favorable impression which he had created Monday evening and the moderate attendance can be accounted for only by the fact that he was supported by such a wretchedly poor company. Aside from Mr. Ames the cast was one which would not do credit to the actors, and it had a very degrading effect upon the several performances. Be that as it may the talent of Mr. Ames was not to be concealed and his delineation of the character of John Henry was a ground for nothing but the most favorable criticism and warmest praise. He is still a very young man and the future is bright with promise for him. After Monday night's performance the members of St. Bernard's choir, to which he belonged while a resident of this city, came upon the stage, and presented a most beautiful diamond scarf-pin. The presentation speech was made by C. A. McInnis, who told in very graceful terms the kindly opinion in which Mr. Ames' former associates held him. The diamond scarf-pin was presented by this unlooked for courtesy, and there was genuine emotion in his voice as he responded.

The set of buildings at the head of Linerock street owned by the late Jacob C. Ames, and built a great many years ago by the late Jacob C. Ames, was burned to the ground Wednesday morning. Their last occupant, Mr. Ward, who had lived there for some time, was not hurt, but for many years the buildings were the home of the late Gilman Ulmer, a son of the original owner. The fire caught in one of the two barns, and while no one knows how, it is thought highly probable that a locomotive spark caused it. The buildings were located only a few feet from the track of the Linerock Railroad. The adjoining barn was quickly in flames and before the department could arrive both barns were destroyed and the carriage house and tool house beyond saving. The fire swept directly onto the residence but there is some possibility that this might have been saved, but for an unfortunate accident to the steam fire engine. For this accident there is no hydrant service in that neighborhood and the department was dependent upon the water in an old quarry on the opposite side of the Old County Road. Much hose was stretched and good service was being done when the air-chamber of the steamer suddenly exploded, rendering the engine useless and nearly drowning Mr. Ward. A subsequent investigation showed that the air chamber was defective, and the company which repaired the steamer not long ago will be asked to make the damage good. For this accident there was nothing to do but let the fire complete its work. The grass caught fire and spread a distance of several hundred rods, being stopped finally by a row of some wagons and farming implements were destroyed with the buildings. The total loss was between $3000 and $4000, credit was partial assurance with the firm of Cochran, Baker & Cross.

At the meeting of the Rebekahs Tuesday night three candidates were initiated. There was much amusement over the living advertisements at the entertainment. Seventy-five people participated in the social. The Rebekah sewing circle will meet next Thursday with Mrs. Russell on Maple street.

Don't forget the auction sale of horses, carriages, sleighs, harness, robes, whips, etc., to be held at Hix & Clark's, Saturday, Nov. 25th. Sale commencing at 12:30 p. m. and continuing through the afternoon. If rainy postponed to Dec. 2. Sales to be held every two weeks.

FREE DELIVERY SYSTEM

We will deliver to each or charge customers all purchases of $5 and upwards FREE within the Rockland Co's limits anywhere in New England.

FULLER-COBB CO.

Children's Coats and Dresses

... AND ...

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' RAIN COATS

CHILDREN'S COATS--8 to 14 YEARS

AT 20 PER CENT DISCOUNT

FRIDAY and SATURDAY, NOV. 24-25

CHILDREN'S COATS--8 to 14 YEARS

WE offer on these two days' special discounts of 20 per cent on Raincoats and Children's Coats, as we have a very large stock which must be reduced before the Holiday trade begins. We want the room and the money and we will give you this opportunity to get the garment before the January mark down, and a very much better stock to select from.

REMEMBER TWENTY PER CENT DISCOUNT

FOR TWO DAYS ONLY

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, NOV. 24 AND 25

A WORD TO THE WISE IS SUFFICIENT

THIS IS THE LIST OF PRICES

$2.50 Coats for $2.00 $7.50 Coats for $6.00

3.50 Coats for 2.80 10.00 Coats for 8.00

5.00 Coats for 4.00 15.00 Coats for 12.00

We have a big line of coats to select from and you don't want to miss this offer. Alterations extra on all suits sold at this sale.

FULLER-COBB COMPANY

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

We fill all mail and telephone orders promptly. Samples of goods by mail. Let us know your wants and they will be attended to with care.

Brewster's Millions

Copyright, 1904, by Herbert S. Stone & Company
By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEN
(RICHARD GREAVES)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—A supper in honor of the twenty-fifth birthday of Montgomery Brewster, grandson and heir of Edwin Brewster, millionaire, is interrupted by the announcement of old Mr. Brewster's death.

CHAPTER II.—He is invited to dinner by Colonel Drew.

CHAPTER III.—Monty offers to aid Mrs. Gray and Peggy, his foster mother and foster sister. He receives a letter from Grant & Binley, lawyers, telling him that the fortune of his uncle, James Sedgwick of Montana, has been left to him. Mr. Swearingen Jones is executor of the Sedgwick will.

CHAPTER IV.—Brewster is informed that the Sedgwick fortune is left to him on condition that on his twenty-sixth birthday, Sept. 23 of the following year, he be absolutely penniless. The conditions forbid him to give away or to loan any money, but to get "his money's worth." The Sedgwick fortune amounts to more than $5,000,000.

CHAPTER V.—Brewster is forbidden to take anyone into his confidence. He believes himself in love with Barbara Drew, daughter of Col. Drew. Mr. Jones, in Montana, states the conditions under which Monty is to dispose of the Brewster money. Brewster employs his friends to help him get rid of the million.

VII.—Brewster makes friends with Mrs. DeMille, a society leader. He gives a magnificent dinner, after which the glass ceiling screen falls on the table, ruining it.

VIII.—Brewster whips a newspaper man who sneers at him and Miss Drew. VIII.—Brewster asks Jones whether he may marry and turn the money over to his wife and is told to "stick to his knitting." Monty confides in Peggy concerning his love for Barbara.

IX.—Brewster bets on a prize fight, hoping to lose. He tells Miss Drew he loves her, but gets no decided reply. His prize fight wagers prove winners. X.—Brewster decides to invest in Lumber and Coal, a falling stock. His purchase sends it up, and he makes $58,000.

XI.—An auto accident costs Brewster $14,000. He has a quarrel with Barbara. Highwaymen take Brewster's money and valuables.

XII.—Monty refuses to identify one of the robbers and reforms him. Brewster and Mrs. DeMille play a ball. Miss Drew returns his Christmas gift. XIII.—Brewster loses $100,000 in a bank failure. He saves Colonel Drew from financial disaster, the conditions of his aid being that Barbara be not told.

XIV.—At Miss Drew's cotillion Brewster makes love to her. He is repulsed and breaks finally with her.

XV.—Brewster is taken ill with appendicitis, and the ball is called off. Brewster is operated on and is nursed by Peggy.

XVI.—Brewster's friends go with him to Florida. Peggy tries to reconcile Monty and Barbara.

XVII.—Back to New York. Brewster's ball costs him much money. His friend, "Nipper" Harrison, confesses to having lost $50,000 of Brewster's money. He is forgiven and sent west.

XVIII.—Brewster still has over $500,000 to spend. He takes twenty-five guests to Europe on a steam yacht.

XIX and XX.—Brewster saves a drowning sailor's life. A flower fete on the Riviera costs Monty several thousands. He wins $40,000 at Monte Carlo.

XXI and XXII.—Much money is spent in Italy. Peggy chides Brewster for spending so much.

XXIII.—At Alexandria a sheik falls in love with Peggy.

XXIV.—Peggy pretends to accept the savage's proposal. Brewster repulses the sheik, who returns to the yacht and carries off Peggy. Brewster's men pursue, and a threat by them to shoot is followed by the savages' counter threat to kill Peggy.

CHAPTER XXV.

BREWSTER'S heart almost ceased beating, and every vestige of color left his face. Clear and distinct in the light from the yacht the Arab and his burden were outlined against the black screen beyond. There was no mistaking the earnestness of the threat, nor could the witnesses doubt the ghastly intention of the long, cruel knife that gleamed on high. Peggy's body served as a shield for that of her captor. Brewster and Bragdon recognized the man as one of Mohammed's principal retainers, a fierce looking fellow who had attracted more than usual attention on the day of the sheik's visit.

"For God's sake, don't kill her!" cried Brewster in agonized tones. There was a diabolical grin on the face of the Arab, who was about to shout back some defiant taunt when the unexpected happened.

The sharp crack of a gun sounded in the stern of Brewster's boat, and an unerring bullet sped straight for the big Arab's forehead. It crashed between his eyes and death must have been instantaneous. The knife flew from his hand, his body straightened and then collapsed, toppling over, not among the oarsmen, but across the gunwale of the craft. Before a hand could be lifted to prevent, the dead Arab and the girl were plunged into the sea.

A cry of horror went up from the Americans and something surprising, like a shout of triumph from the abductors. Even as Brewster poised for the spring into the water a flying form shot past him and into the sea with a resounding splash. The man that fired the shot had reckoned cleverly, and he was carrying out the final details of an inspired plan. The Arab's position as he stood in the boat was for the spot where they had disappeared, a little to the left of the course in which his boat was running. There was a rattle of firearms, with curses and cheers, but he paid no heed to these sounds. He was a length or two behind the sailor, praying with all his soul that one or the other might succeed in reaching the white robes that still kept the surface of the water. His crew was "backing water" and straining every muscle to bring the boat around sharp for the rescue.

The sailor's powerful strokes brought him to the spot first, but not in time to clutch the disappearing white robes. Just as he reached out an arm to grasp the form of the girl she went down. He did not hesitate a second, but followed. Peggy had fallen from the dead Arab's embrace, and that worthy already was at the bottom of the sea. She was half conscious when the shot came, but the plunge into the cold water revived her. Her struggles were enough to keep her up for a few moments, but not long enough for the swimmers to reach her side. She felt herself going down and down, strangling, smothering, dying; then something viselike clutched her arm, and she had the sensation of being jerked upward violently.

The sailor fought his way to the surface with the girl, and Brewster was at his side in an instant. Together they supported her until one of the boats came up, and they were drawn over the side to safety. By this time the abductors had scattered like sheep without a leader, and as there was no further object in pursuing them the little American fleet put back for the yacht in great haste. Peggy was quite conscious when carried aboard by the triumphant Brewster. The words he whispered to her as she lay in the bottom of the boat were enough to give her life.

The excitement on board the Flitter was boundless. Fear gave way to joy, and where despair had for a moment reigned supreme there was now the most intense delight. Peggy was bundled below and into her berth, Dr. Lottless attending her. Brewster and the sailor were carried to a place where hot toddies were to be had before blankets.

"You have returned the favor, Conroy," said Brewster fervently as he leaned across the heads of his bearers to shake hands with the sailor who was sharing the honors with him. Conroy was grinning from ear to ear as he sat perched on the shoulders of his shipmates. "I was luckier than I thought in saving your life that day."

"It wasn't anything, Mr. Brewster," said young Conroy. "I saw a chance to drop the big nigger, and then it was up to me to get her out of the water."

"You took a big risk, Conroy, but you made good with it. If it had not been for you, my boy, they might have got away with Miss Gray."

"Don't mention it, Mr. Brewster; it was nothing to do," protested Conroy in confusion. "I'd do anything in the world for you and for her."

"What is the adage about casting your bread upon the water and getting it back again?" asked Rip Van Winkle of Joe Bragdon as they jubilantly followed the procession below.

There was no more sleep on board that night. In fact, the sun was not long in showing himself after the rescuers returned to the vessel. The daring attempt of Mohammed's emissaries was discussed without restraint, and every sailor had a story to tell of the pursuit and rescue. The event furnished conversation food for days and days among both the seamen and the passengers. Dan DeMille blamed himself relentlessly for sleeping through it all and moped for hours because he had lost a magnificent chance to "do something." The next morning he proposed to hunt for the sheik and offered to lead an assault in person. An investigation was made, and government officials tried to call Mohammed to account, but he had fled to the desert and the search was fruitless.

Brewster refused to accept a share of the glory of Peggy's rescue, pushing Conroy forward as the real hero. But the sailor insisted that he could not have succeeded without help—that he was completely exhausted when Monty came to the rescue. Peggy found it hard to thank him gently while her heart was so dangerously near the riot point, and her words of gratitude sounded pitifully weak and insufficient.

"It would have been the same had anybody else gone to her rescue," he mused dejectedly. "She cares for me with the devotion of a sister, and that's all. Peggy, Peggy," he moaned, "if you could only love me, I'd—I'd—oh, well, there's no use thinking about it! She will love some one else, of course, and—and he happy too. If she'd appear only one-tenth as grateful to me as to Conroy I'd be satisfied. He had the luck to be first, that's all, but God knows I tried to do it."

Mrs. Dan DeMille was keen enough to see how the land lay, and she at once tried to set matters straight. She was far too clever to push her campaign ruthlessly, but laid her foundations and then built cunningly and securely with the most substantial material that came to hand from day to day. Her subjects were taking themselves too deeply to heart to appreciate interference on the part of an outsider, and Mrs. Dan was wise in the whims of love.

Peggy was not herself for several days after her experience, and the whole party felt a distinct relief when the yacht finally left the harbor and

CHAPTER XXVI.

MONTY was on deck when the inspiration seized him, and he lost no time in telling his guests, who were at breakfast, that he had misgivings about their opinion of the scheme, he was not prepared for the ominous silence that followed his announcement.

"Are you in earnest, Mr. Brewster?" asked Captain Perry, who was the first of the company to recover from the surprise.

"Of course I am. I chartered this boat for four months, with the privilege of another month. I can see no reason to prevent us from prolonging the trip." Monty's manner was full of self assurance as he continued, "You people are so in the habit of protesting against every suggestion I make that you can't help doing it now."

"But, Monty," said Mrs. Dan, "what if your guests would rather go home?" "Nonsense; you were asked for a five months' cruise. Besides, think of getting home in the middle of August with every one away."

Brave as he was in the presence of his friends, in the privacy of his stateroom Monty gave way to the depression that was bearing down upon him. It was the hardest task of his life to go on with his scheme in the face of opposition. He knew that every man and woman on board was against the proposition, for his sake at least, and it was difficult to be arbitrary under the circumstances. Purposely he avoided Peggy all forenoon. His single glance at her face in the salon was enough to disturb him immeasurably.

The spirits of the crowd were subdued. The North cape had charms, but the proclamation concerning it had been too sudden—had reversed too quickly the general expectation and desire. Many of the guests had plans at home for August, and even those who had none were satiated with excitement. During the morning they gathered in little knots to discuss the situation. They were all generous, and each one was sure that he could cruise indefinitely if on Monty's account the new voyage were not out of the question. They felt it their duty to take a desperate stand.

The half hearted little gatherings resolved themselves into ominous groups, and in the end there was a call for a general meeting in the main cabin. Captain Perry, the first mate and the chief engineer were included in the call, but Montgomery Brewster was not to be admitted. Joe Bragdon loyally agreed to keep him engaged elsewhere while the meeting was in progress. The doors were locked, and a cursory glance assured the chairman of the meeting, Dan DeMille, that no member of the party was missing save the devoted Bragdon. Captain Perry was plainly nervous and disturbed. The others were the victims of a suppressed energy that presaged subsequent eruptions.

"Captain Perry, we are assembled for a purpose," said DeMille, clearing his throat three times. "First of all, as we understand it, you are the sailing master of this ship. In other words, you are, according to maritime law, the commander of this expedition. You alone can give orders to the sailors, and you alone can clear a port. Mr. Brewster has no authority except that vested in a common employer. Am I correct?"

"Mr. DeMille, if Mr. Brewster instructs me to sail for the North cape I shall do so," said the captain firmly. "This boat is his for the full term of the lease, and I am engaged to sail her with my crew until the 10th of next September."

"We understand your position, captain, and I am sure you appreciate ours. It isn't that we want to end a very delightful cruise, but that we regard it as sheer folly for Mr. Brewster to extend the tour at such tremendous expense. He is—or was—a rich man, but it is impossible to ignore the fact that he is plunging much too heavily. In plain words, we want to keep him from spending more of his money on this cruise. Do you understand our position, Captain Perry?"

"Folly, I wish with all my soul that I could help you and him. My hands are tied by contract, however, much as I regret it at this moment."

"How does the crew feel about this additional trip, captain?" asked DeMille.

"They shipped for five months and will receive five months' pay. The men have been handsomely treated, and they will stick to Mr. Brewster to

THE DISCOVERER

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends as has

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Leucorrhoea than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It drives and expels tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it. Womb troubles, causing pain, weight and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it invigorates the female system, and is as harmless as water.

It quickly removes that Bearing-down Feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, Dizziness, Faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues" and headaches. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the Uterus, which this medicine always cures. Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex, the Vegetable Compound always cures.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

steamed off to the west. A cablegram that came the day before may have had something to do with Brewster's depression, but he was not the sort to confess it. It was from Swearingen Jones of Butte, Mont., and there was something sinister in the laconic admonition. It read:

Brewster, U. S. Consulate, Alexandria: Have a good time while good times last.

JONES.

His brain was almost bursting with the hopes and fears and uncertainties that crowded it far beyond its ordinary capacity. It had come to the point, it seemed to him, when the brains of a dozen men at least were required to operate the affairs that were surging into his alone. The mere fact that the end of his year was less than two months off and that there was more or less uncertainty as to the character of the end was sufficient cause for worry, but the new trouble was infinitely harder to endure. When he sat down to think over his financial enterprises his mind treacherously wandered off to Peggy Gray, and then everything was hopeless. He recalled the courage and the trip. Monty's manner was full of self assurance as he continued, "You people are so in the habit of protesting against every suggestion I make that you can't help doing it now."

"But, Monty," said Mrs. Dan, "what if your guests would rather go home?" "Nonsense; you were asked for a five months' cruise. Besides, think of getting home in the middle of August with every one away."

Brave as he was in the presence of his friends, in the privacy of his stateroom Monty gave way to the depression that was bearing down upon him. It was the hardest task of his life to go on with his scheme in the face of opposition. He knew that every man and woman on board was against the proposition, for his sake at least, and it was difficult to be arbitrary under the circumstances. Purposely he avoided Peggy all forenoon. His single glance at her face in the salon was enough to disturb him immeasurably.

The spirits of the crowd were subdued. The North cape had charms, but the proclamation concerning it had been too sudden—had reversed too quickly the general expectation and desire. Many of the guests had plans at home for August, and even those who had none were satiated with excitement. During the morning they gathered in little knots to discuss the situation. They were all generous, and each one was sure that he could cruise indefinitely if on Monty's account the new voyage were not out of the question. They felt it their duty to take a desperate stand.

The half hearted little gatherings resolved themselves into ominous groups, and in the end there was a call for a general meeting in the main cabin. Captain Perry, the first mate and the chief engineer were included in the call, but Montgomery Brewster was not to be admitted. Joe Bragdon loyally agreed to keep him engaged elsewhere while the meeting was in progress. The doors were locked, and a cursory glance assured the chairman of the meeting, Dan DeMille, that no member of the party was missing save the devoted Bragdon. Captain Perry was plainly nervous and disturbed. The others were the victims of a suppressed energy that presaged subsequent eruptions.

"Captain Perry, we are assembled for a purpose," said DeMille, clearing his throat three times. "First of all, as we understand it, you are the sailing master of this ship. In other words, you are, according to maritime law, the commander of this expedition. You alone can give orders to the sailors, and you alone can clear a port. Mr. Brewster has no authority except that vested in a common employer. Am I correct?"

"Mr. DeMille, if Mr. Brewster instructs me to sail for the North cape I shall do so," said the captain firmly. "This boat is his for the full term of the lease, and I am engaged to sail her with my crew until the 10th of next September."

"We understand your position, captain, and I am sure you appreciate ours. It isn't that we want to end a very delightful cruise, but that we regard it as sheer folly for Mr. Brewster to extend the tour at such tremendous expense. He is—or was—a rich man, but it is impossible to ignore the fact that he is plunging much too heavily. In plain words, we want to keep him from spending more of his money on this cruise. Do you understand our position, Captain Perry?"

"Folly, I wish with all my soul that I could help you and him. My hands are tied by contract, however, much as I regret it at this moment."

"How does the crew feel about this additional trip, captain?" asked DeMille.

"They shipped for five months and will receive five months' pay. The men have been handsomely treated, and they will stick to Mr. Brewster to the end," said the captain.

"There is no chance for a mutiny, then?" asked Smith regretfully. The captain gave him a hard look, but said nothing. Everybody seemed uncomfortable.

"Apparently the only way is the one suggested by Mr. Smith this morning," said Mrs. Dan, speaking for the women. "No one will object, I am sure, if Captain Perry and his chief officers are allowed to hear the plan."

"It is very necessary, in fact," said Mr. Valentine. "We cannot proceed without them. But they will agree with us, I am sure, that it is wise."

An hour later the meeting broke up, and the conspirators made their way to the deck. It was a strange fact that no one went alone. They were in groups of three and four, and the mystery that hung about them was almost perceptible. Not one was willing to face the excited, buoyant Brewster without help. They found strength and security in companionship.

Peggy was the one rebel against the conspiracy, and yet she knew that the others were justified in the step they proposed to take. She reluctantly joined them in the end, but felt that she was the darkest traitor in the crowd. Forgetting her own distress over the way in which Monty was squandering his fortune, she stood out the one defender of his rights until the end and then admitted fearfully to Mrs. DeMille that she had been "quite unreasonable" in doing so.

Alone in her stateroom after signing the arrangement she wondered what he would think of her. She owed him so much that she at least should have stood by him. She felt that he would be conscious of this. How could she have turned against him? He would never understand—of course he would never understand. And he would hate her with the others—more than the others. It was all a wretched muddle, and she could not see her way out of it.

Monty found his guests very difficult. They listened to his plans with but little interest, and he could not but see that they were uncomfortable. The situation was new to their experience, and they were under a strain. "They mope around like a lot of pouting boys and girls," he growled to himself. "But it's the North cape now in spite of everything. I don't care if the whole crowd deserts me. My mind is made up."

Try as he would, he could not see Peggy alone. He had much that he wanted to say to her, and he hungered for the consolation her approval would bring him, but she clung to Pettibright with a tenacity that was discouraging. The old feeling of jealousy that was connected with Como again disturbed him.

"She thinks that I am a hopeless, brainless idiot," he said to himself. "And I don't blame her either."

Just before nightfall he noticed that his friends were assembling in the bow. As he started to join the group Subway Smith and DeMille advanced to meet him. Some of the others were smiling a little sheepishly, but the two men were pictures of solemnity and decision.

"Monty," said DeMille steadily, "we have been conspiring against you and have decided that we sail for New York tomorrow morning."

Brewster stopped short, and the expression on his face was one they never could forget. Bewildered, uncertainty and pain succeeded each other like flashes of light. Not a word was spoken for several seconds. The red of humiliation slowly mounted to his cheeks, while in his eyes wavered the look of one who has been hunted down.

"You have decided?" he asked lifelessly, and more than one heart went in pity to him.

"We hated to do it, Monty, but for your own sake there was no other way," said Subway Smith quickly. "We took a vote, and there wasn't a dissenting voice."

"It is a plain case of mutiny, I take it," said Monty, utterly alone and heartless.

"It isn't necessary to tell why we have taken this step," said DeMille. "It is heartbreaking to oppose you at this stage of the game. You've been the best ever and—"

"Cut that!" cried Monty, and his confidence in himself was fast returning. "This is no time to throw bouquets."

"We like you, Brewster," Mr. Valentine came to the chairman's assistance because the others had looked at him so appealingly. "We like you so well that we can't take the responsibility for your extravagance. It would disgrace us all."

"That side of the matter was never mentioned," cried Peggy indignantly and then added, with a catch in her voice, "We thought only of you."

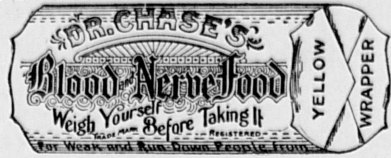

"I appreciate your motives, and I am grateful to you," said Monty. "I am more sorry than I can tell you that the cruise must end in this way, but I, too, have decided. The yacht will take you to some point where you can catch a steamer to New York. I shall secure passage for the entire party, and very soon you will be at home. Captain Perry, will you oblige me by making at once for any port that my guests may agree upon?" He was turning away deliberately when Subway Smith detained him.

"What do you mean by getting a steamer to New York? Isn't the Flitter good enough?" he asked.

"The Flitter is not going to New York just now," answered Brewster firmly, "notwithstanding your ultimatum. She is going to take me to the North cape."

(To Be Continued.)

DR. CHASE'S Blood and Nerve Food

If Any One Tells You They Can Give You a Remedy the Same or Just as Good, Don't You Believe It.

This is the preparation that made the name "CHASE" FAMOUS by its wonderful cures of Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, and all diseases of the Blood and Nerves, and for many years it enjoyed the distinction of being the only remedy advertised and sold under the name of Chase. The genuine is made only by us from our own private prescription. To guard against imitations, see that the packages you buy look like the above illustration.

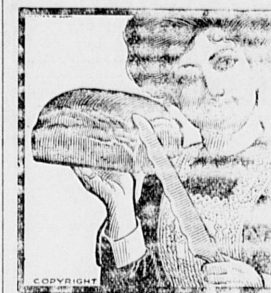

Price 50 cents a box. Made only by

THE DR. CHASE COMPANY

224 North Tenth St.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Sole by C. H. Pendleton, Druggist and Optician, Rockland. G. I. Robinson Drug Co., Thomaston.

THE BREAD THAT KEEPS THE FAMILY HEALTHY

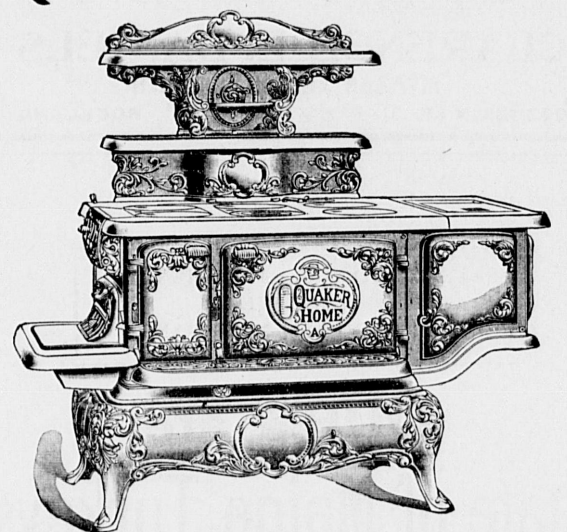

is a treasure no one can afford to be without. It is made right here. Once used it becomes a luxury that you won't dispense with. No more dyspepsia, indigestion, bilious attacks, sick headaches or tired feelings! Give it a trial it is all we ask.

TELEPHONE 45-11

C. E. RISING THE PEOPLE'S BAKERY

Rockland, Maine.

QUAKER RANGES

$1.00 and your Old Range for first payment and $1.00 a Week buys a Quaker Home Range

T. W. STACKPOLE THOMASTON

HERRICK & GALE

Dealers in Cemetery Work of All Kinds.

WE CARRY A LARGER AND GREATER VARIETY OF STYLES THAN ANY OTHER CONCERN IN THIS SECTION OF THE STATE.

We can suit you in Styles, Prices and Quality of Work.

We employ the best of workmen and can give you the best quality of work. Nothing but the best in every way will do.

Now is the Time to select your work for the Spring Delivery

Call and see us, or send postal, and we will call and see you with designs.

282 Main Street, Rockland

DRS. J. H. DAMON H. L. RICHARDS REGISTERED DENTISTS OFFICE 302 MAIN STREET Over Kittredge's Drug Store Telephone 303-12 901f

FIRE INSURANCE

The "Firemen's Insurance Co." OF NEW JERSEY

The Royal Exchange Assurance OF LONDON

Are Two Very Strong Companies

I shall be pleased to write you a Policy

T. E. SIMONTON, Agent

NEW LEXINGTON HOTEL

Boylston & Washington Sts. BOSTON, MASS.

Fire-proof new building, management, 250 rooms—150 with bath, strictly first-class appointments, telephones in every room.

IN THE HEART OF THE SHOPPING DISTRICT Ten theaters directly in front, within one block of the Common, Elevated and Subway Stations.

Ladies Shopping in Boston will find the Restaurant orderly and first-class service at moderate prices.

We cater to the best New England and Commercial patronage.

Rooms $1.00 p. r. Day and upwards

J. D. FANNING 84

W. H. KITTREDGE

APOTHECARY

Drugs, Medicines, Toilet Articles.

PRESCRIPTIONS A SPECIALTY.

MAIN STREET, ROCKLAND

Dr. J. A. RICHAN

DENTIST

Brewster's Millions

Copyright, 1904, by GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON (RICHARD GREAVES)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—A supper in honor of the twenty-fifth birthday of Montgomery Brewster, millionaire, and heir of Edwin Brewster, millionaire, is interrupted by the announcement of old Mr. Brewster's death.

CHAPTER II.—He is invited to dinner by Colonel Drew.

CHAPTER III.—Monty offers to aid Mrs. Gray and Peggy, his foster mother and foster sister. He receives a letter from Grandfather, a lawyer, telling him that the fortune of his uncle, James Sedgwick of Montana, has been left to him. Mr. Sedgwick Jones is executor of the Sedgwick will.

CHAPTER IV.—Brewster is informed that the Sedgwick fortune is left to him on condition that on his twenty-sixth birthday, Sept. 23 of the following year, he be absolutely penniless. The conditions forbid him to give away or to loan any money, but to get "his money's worth." The Sedgwick fortune amounts to more than $5,000,000.

CHAPTER V.—Brewster is forbidden to take anyone into his confidence. He believes himself in love with Barbara Drew, daughter of Col. Drew. Mr. Jones, in Montana, states the conditions under which Monty is to dispose of the Brewster money. Brewster employs his friends to help him get rid of the million.

VI.—Brewster makes friends with Mrs. DeMille, a society leader, who gives a magnificent dinner, after which the glass ceiling screen falls on the table, ruining it.

VII.—Brewster whips a newspaper man who sneers at him and Miss Drew. VIII.—Brewster bets on a prize fight, hoping to lose. He tells Miss Drew he loves her, but gets no decided reply. His prize fight wagers prove winners.

X.—Brewster decides to invest in Lumber and Fuel, a falling stock; his purchase sends it up, and he makes $58,000.

XI.—An auto accident costs Brewster $14,000. He has a quarrel with Barbara. Highwaymen take Brewster's money and valuables.

XII.—Monty refuses to identify one of the robbers and reforms him. Brewster and Mrs. DeMille plan to invest in Miss Drew returns his Christmas gift.

XIII.—Brewster loses $100,000 in a bank failure. He saves Colonel Drew from financial disaster, the conditions of his aid being that Barbara be not told.

XIV.—At Miss Drew's cotillion Brewster makes love to her. He is repulsed and breaks finally with her.

XV.—Brewster is taken ill with appendicitis, and the ball is called off. Brewster is operated on and is nursed by Peggy.

XVI.—Brewster's friends go with him to Florida. Peggy tries to reconcile Monty and Barbara.

XVII.—Back to New York. Brewster's ball costs him much money. His friend, "Nipper" Harrison, confesses to having lost $50,000 of Brewster's money. He is forgiven and sent west.

XVIII.—Brewster still has over $500,000 to spend. He takes twenty-five guests to Europe on a steam yacht.

XIX.—XX.—Brewster saves a drowning sailor's life. A flower petal on the Riviera costs Monty several thousands. He wins $40,000 at Monte Carlo.

XXI.—XXII.—Much money is spent in Italy. Peggy chides Brewster for spending so much.

XXIII.—At Alexandria a sheik falls in love with Peggy.

XXIV.—Peggy pretends to accept the sheik's proposal. Brewster repulses the sheik, who returns to the yacht and carries off Peggy. Brewster's men pursue, and a threat by them to shoot is followed by the sheik's counter threat to kill Peggy.

CHAPTER XXV.

Brewster's hand almost ceased beating and a vestige of color left his face. Clear and distinct in the light from the yacht the Arab and his burden were outlined against the black screen beyond. There was no mistaking the earnestness of the threat, nor could the witnesses doubt the ghastly intention of the long, cruel knife that gleamed on high. Peggy's body served as a shield for that of her captor. Brewster and Bragdon recognized the man as one of Mohammed's principal retainers, a fierce looking fellow who had attracted more than usual attention on the day of the sheik's visit.

"For God's sake, don't kill her!" cried Brewster in agonized tones. There was a diabolical grin on the face of the Arab, who was about to shout back some defiant taunt when the unexpected happened.

The sharp crack of a gun sounded in the stern of Brewster's boat, and an unerring bullet sped straight for the big Arab's forehead. It crashed between his eyes and death must have been instantaneous. The knife flew from his hand, his body straightened and then collapsed, toppling over, not among the oarsmen, but across the gunwale of the craft. Before a hand could be lifted to prevent, the dead Arab and the girl were plunged into the sea.

A cry of horror went up from the Americans and something surprisingly like a shout of triumph from the abductors. Even as Brewster poised for the spring into the water a flying form shot past him and into the sea with a resounding splash. The man that fired the shot had reckoned cleverly, and he was carrying out the final details of an inspired plan. The Arab's position as he stood in the boat was such as to warrant the sailor's belief that he could fall no other way than forward, and that meant over the side of the boat. With all this clearly in mind, he had shot straight and true and was on his way to the water almost as the two toppled overboard.

Monty Brewster was in the water an instant later, striking out for the spot where he had disappeared, a little to the left of the course in which his boat was running. There was a rattle of firearms, with curses and cheers, but he paid no heed to these sounds. He was a length or two behind the sailor, praying with all his soul that one of the other might succeed in reaching the white robes that still kept the surface of the water. His crew was "backing water" and straining every muscle to bring the boat around sharp for the rescue.

The sailor's powerful strokes brought him to the spot first, but not in time to clutch the disappearing white robes. Just as he reached out an arm to grasp the form of the girl she went down. He did not hesitate a second, but followed. Peggy had fallen from the dead Arab's embrace, and that worthy already was at the bottom of the sea. She was half conscious when the shot came, but the plunge into the cold water revived her. Her struggles were enough to keep her up for a few moments, but not long enough for the swimmers to reach her side. She felt herself going down and down, strangling, smothering, dying; then something viselike clutched her arm, and she had the sensation of being jerked upward violently.

The sailor fought his way to the surface with the girl, and Brewster was at his side in an instant. Together they supported her until one of the boats came up, and they were drawn over the side to safety. By this time the abductors had scattered like sheep without a leader, and as there was no further object in pursuing them the little American fleet went back for the yacht in great haste. Peggy was quite conscious when carried aboard by the triumphant Brewster. The words he whispered to her as she lay in the bottom of the boat were enough to give her life.

The excitement on board the Flitter was boundless. Fear gave way to joy, and where despair had for a moment reigned supreme there was now the reign of delight. Peggy was bundled below and into her berth. Dr. Lotless attending her. Brewster and the sailor were carried to a place where hot toddies were to be had before blankets.

"You have returned the favor, Conroy," said Brewster fervently as he leaned across the heads of his bearers to shake hands with the sailor who was sharing the honors with him. Conroy was grinning from ear to ear as he sat perched on the shoulders of his shipmates. "I was luckier than I thought in saving your life that day."

"It wasn't anything, Mr. Brewster," said young Conroy. "I saw a chance to drop the big nigger, and then it was up to me to get her out of the water."

"You took a big risk, Conroy, but you made good with it. If it had not been for you, my boy, they might have got away with Miss Gray."

"Don't mention it, Mr. Brewster; it was nothing to do," protested Conroy in confusion. "I'd do anything in the world for you and for her."

"What is the adage about casting your bread upon the water and getting it back again?" asked Rip Van Winkle of Joe Bragdon as they jubilantly followed the procession below.

There was no more sleep on board that night. In fact, the sun was not long in showing himself after the rescuers returned to the vessel. The daring attempt of Mohammed's emissaries was discussed without restraint, and every sailor had a story to tell of the pursuit and rescue. The event furnished conversation food for days and days among both the seamen and the passengers. Dan DeMille blamed himself relentlessly for sleeping through it all and moped for hours because he had lost a magnificent chance to "do something." The next morning he proposed to hunt for the sheik and offered to lead an assault in person. An investigation was made, and government officials tried to call Mohammed to account, but he had fled to the desert and the search was fruitless.

Brewster refused to accept a share of the glory of Peggy's rescue, pushing Conroy forward as the real hero. But the sailor insisted that he could not have succeeded without help—that he was completely exhausted when Monty came to the rescue. Peggy found it hard to thank him gently while her heart was so dangerously near the riot point, and her words of gratitude sounded pitifully weak and insufficient.

"It would have been the same had anybody else gone to her rescue," he cried dejectedly. "She cares for me with the devotion of a sister, and that's all. Peggy, Peggy," he moaned, "if you could only love me, I'd—oh, well, there's no use thinking about it! She will love some one else, of course, and—and he'll be happy too. If she'd appear only one-tenth as grateful to me as to Conroy I'd be satisfied. He had the luck to be first, that's all, but God knows I tried to do it."

Mrs. Dan DeMille was keen enough to see how the land lay, and she at once tried to set matters straight. She was far too clever to push her campaign ruthlessly, but laid her foundations and then built cunningly and securely with the most substantial material that came to hand from day to day. Her suitcases were taking themselves too deeply to heart to appreciate interference on the part of an outsider, and Mrs. Dan was wise in the whims of love.

Peggy was not herself for several days after her experience, and the whole party felt a distinct relief when the yacht finally left the harbor and

IF THE WOMEN

Who suffer every month from ailments peculiar to their sex would only take an occasional dose of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters they would find their various organs strengthened and better able to perform their proper functions.

HOTSETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

is now being taken exclusively by hundreds of women, who freely testify to its wonderful efficacy in cases of Backache, Cramps, Vomiting, Dizziness, Constipation or Indigestion. Try a bottle.

THE DISCOVERER

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends as this.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Leucorrhoea than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it. Womb troubles, causing pain, weight and backache instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it invigorates the female system, and is as harmless as water.

It quickly removes that Bearing-down Feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, Dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues" and headache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the Uterus, which this medicine always cures. Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex, the Vegetable Compound always cures.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

steamed off to the west. A cablegram that came the day before may have had something to do with Brewster's depression, but he was not the sort to confess it. It was from Swearingen Jones of Butte, Mont., and there was something sinister in the laconic admonition. It read:

Brewster, U. S. Consulate, Alexandria: Have a good time while good times last.

JONES.

His brain was almost bursting with the hopes and fears and uncertainties that crowded it far beyond its ordinary capacity. It had come to the point, it seemed to him, when the brains of a dozen men at least were required to operate the affairs that were surging into his alone. The mere fact that the end of his year was less than two months off and that there was more or less uncertainty as to the character of the end was sufficient cause for worry, but the new trouble was infinitely harder to endure. When he sat down to think over his financial enterprises his mind treacherously wandered off to Peggy Gray, and then everything was hopeless. He recalled the courage and the trip. Monty's manner was full of self assurance as he continued, "You people are so in the habit of protesting against every suggestion I make that you can't help doing it now."

"But, Monty," said Mrs. Dan, "what if your guests would rather go home?"

"Nonsense; you were asked for a five months' cruise. Besides, think of getting home in the middle of August with every one away."

Brave as he was in the presence of his friends, in the privacy of his stateroom Monty gave way to the depression that was bearing down upon him. It was the hardest task of his life to go on with his scheme in the face of opposition. He knew that every man and woman on board was against the proposition, for his sake at least, and it was difficult to be arbitrary under the circumstances. Purposely he avoided Peggy all forenoon. His single glance at her face in the saloon was enough to disturb him immeasurably.

The spirits of the crowd were subdued. The North cape had charms, but the proclamation concerning it had been too sudden and had reversed too quickly the general expectation and desire. Many of the guests had plans at home for August, and even those who had none were satiated with excitement. During the morning they gathered in little knots to discuss the situation. They were all generous, and each one was sure that he could cruise in definitely if on Monty's account the new voyage were not out of the question. They felt it their duty to take a desperate stand.

The half hearted little gatherings resolved themselves into ominous groups, and in the end there was a call for a general meeting in the main cabin. Captain Perry, the first mate and the chief engineer were included in the call, but Montgomery Brewster was not to be admitted. Joe Bragdon loyally agreed to keep him engaged elsewhere while the meeting was in progress. The doors were locked, and a cursory glance assured the chairman of the meeting, Dan DeMille, that no member of the party was missing save the devoted little deacon, Captain Perry was plainly nervous and disturbed. The others were the victims of a suppressed energy that presaged subsequent eruptions.

"Captain Perry, we are assembled for a purpose," said DeMille, clearing his throat three times. "First of all, as we understand it, you are the sailing master of this ship. In other words, you are, according to maritime law, the commander of this expedition. You alone can give orders to the sailors, and you alone can clear a port. Mr. Brewster has no authority except that vested in a common employer. Am I correct?"

"Mr. DeMille, if Mr. Brewster instructs me to sail for the North cape I shall do so," said the captain firmly. "This boat is his for the full term of the lease, and I am engaged to sail her with my crew until the 10th of next September."

"We understand your position, captain, and I am sure you appreciate ours. It isn't that we want the end of a very delightful cruise, but that we regard it as sheer folly for Mr. Brewster to extend the tour at such tremendous expense. He is—or was—a rich man, but it is impossible to ignore the fact that he is plunging much too heavily. In plain words, we want to keep him from spending more of his money on this cruise. Do you understand our position, Captain Perry?"

"Fully. I wish with all my soul that I could help you and him. My hands are tied by contract, however, much as I regret it at this moment."

"How does the crew feel about this additional trip, captain?" asked DeMille.

"They shipped for five months and will receive five months' pay. The men have been handsomely treated, and they will stick to Mr. Brewster to the end," said the captain.

"There is no chance for a mutiny, then?" asked Smith regretfully. The captain gave him a hard look, but said nothing. Everybody seemed uncomfortable.

"Apparently the only way is the one suggested by Mr. Smith this morning," said Mrs. Dan, speaking for the women. "No one will object, I am sure, if Captain Perry and his chief officers are allowed to hear the plan."

"It is very necessary, in fact," said Mr. Valentine. "We cannot proceed without them. But they will agree with us, I am sure, that it is wise."

An hour later the meeting broke up, and the conspirators made their way to the deck. It was a strange fact that no one went alone. They were in groups of three and four, and the mystery that hung about them was almost perceptible. Not one of the crew forgot the excited buoyant Brewster without help. They found strength and security in companionship.

Peggy was the one rebel against the conspiracy, and yet she knew that the others were justified in the step they proposed to take. She reluctantly joined them in the end, but felt that she was the darkest traitor in the crowd. Forgetting her own distress over the way in which Monty was squandering his fortune, she stood out the one defender of his rights until the end and then admitted fearfully to Mrs. DeMille that she had been "quite unreasonable" in doing so.

Alone in her stateroom after signing the arrangement she wondered what he would think of her. She owed him so much that she at least should have stood by him. She felt that he would be conscious of this. How could she have turned against him? He would never understand—of course he would never understand. And he would hate her with the others—more than the others. It was all a wretched muddle, and she could not see her way out of it.

Monty found his guests very difficult. They listened to his plans with but little interest, and he could not but see that they were uncomfortable. The situation was new to their experience, and they were under a strain. "They mope around like a lot of pouting boys and girls," he growled to himself. "But it's the North cape now in spite of everything. I don't care if the whole crowd deserts me. My mind is made up."

Try as he would, he could not see Peggy alone. He had much that he wanted to say to her, and he hungered for the consolation her approval would bring him, but she clung to Pettigill with a tenacity that was discouraging. The old feeling of jealousy that was connected with Conroy again disturbed him.

"She thinks that I am a hopeless, brainless idiot," he said to himself. "And I don't blame her either."

Just before midnight he noticed that his friends were assembling in the bow. As he started to join the group Subway Smith and DeMille advanced to meet him. Some of the others were smiling a little sheepishly, but the two men were pictures of solemnity and decision.

"Monty," said DeMille steadily, "we have been conspiring against you and have decided that we will for New York tomorrow morning."

Brewster stopped short, and the expression on his face was one they never could forget. Bewilderment, uncertainty and pain succeeded each other like flashes of light. Not a word was spoken for several seconds. The red of humiliation slowly mounted to his cheeks, while in his eyes wavered the look of one who has been hunted down. "You have decided?" he asked lifelessly, and more than one heart went out in pity to him.

"We hated to do it, Monty, but for your own sake there was no other way," said Subway Smith quickly. "We took a vote, and there wasn't a dissenting voice."

"It is a plain case of mutiny, I take it," said Monty, utterly alone and heartless.

"It isn't necessary to tell why we have taken this step," said DeMille. "It is heartbreaking to oppose you at this stage of the game. You've been the best ever and—"

"Cut that!" cried Monty, and his confidence in himself was fast returning. "This is no time to throw in towels."

"We like you, Brewster," Mr. Valentine came to the chairman's assistance because the others had looked at him so appealingly. "We like you so well that we can't take the responsibility for your extravagance. It would disgrace us all."

"That side of the matter was never mentioned," cried Peggy indignantly and then added, with a catch in her voice, "We thought only of you."

"I appreciate your motives, and I am grateful to you," said Monty. "I am more sorry than I can tell you that the cruise must end in this way, but I, too, have decided. The yacht will take you to some point where you can catch a steamer to New York. I shall secure no passage for the entire party, and very soon you will be at home. Captain Perry, will you oblige me by making at once for any port that my guests may agree upon?" He was turning away deliberately when Subway Smith detained him.

"What do you mean by getting a steamer to New York? Isn't the Flitter good enough?" he asked.

"The Flitter is not going to New York just now," answered Brewster firmly, "notwithstanding your ultimatum. She is going to take me to the North cape."

(To Be Continued.)

the end," said the captain. "There is no chance for a mutiny, then?" asked Smith regretfully. The captain gave him a hard look, but said nothing. Everybody seemed uncomfortable.

"Apparently the only way is the one suggested by Mr. Smith this morning," said Mrs. Dan, speaking for the women. "No one will object, I am sure, if Captain Perry and his chief officers are allowed to hear the plan."

"It is very necessary, in fact," said Mr. Valentine. "We cannot proceed without them. But they will agree with us, I am sure, that it is wise."

An hour later the meeting broke up, and the conspirators made their way to the deck. It was a strange fact that no one went alone. They were in groups of three and four, and the mystery that hung about them was almost perceptible. Not one of the crew forgot the excited buoyant Brewster without help. They found strength and security in companionship.

Peggy was the one rebel against the conspiracy, and yet she knew that the others were justified in the step they proposed to take. She reluctantly joined them in the end, but felt that she was the darkest traitor in the crowd. Forgetting her own distress over the way in which Monty was squandering his fortune, she stood out the one defender of his rights until the end and then admitted fearfully to Mrs. DeMille that she had been "quite unreasonable" in doing so.

Alone in her stateroom after signing the arrangement she wondered what he would think of her. She owed him so much that she at least should have stood by him. She felt that he would be conscious of this. How could she have turned against him? He would never understand—of course he would never understand. And he would hate her with the others—more than the others. It was all a wretched muddle, and she could not see her way out of it.

Monty found his guests very difficult. They listened to his plans with but little interest, and he could not but see that they were uncomfortable. The situation was new to their experience, and they were under a strain. "They mope around like a lot of pouting boys and girls," he growled to himself. "But it's the North cape now in spite of everything. I don't care if the whole crowd deserts me. My mind is made up."

Try as he would, he could not see Peggy alone. He had much that he wanted to say to her, and he hungered for the consolation her approval would bring him, but she clung to Pettigill with a tenacity that was discouraging. The old feeling of jealousy that was connected with Conroy again disturbed him.

"She thinks that I am a hopeless, brainless idiot," he said to himself. "And I don't blame her either."

Just before midnight he noticed that his friends were assembling in the bow. As he started to join the group Subway Smith and DeMille advanced to meet him. Some of the others were smiling a little sheepishly, but the two men were pictures of solemnity and decision.

"Monty," said DeMille steadily, "we have been conspiring against you and have decided that we will for New York tomorrow morning."

Brewster stopped short, and the expression on his face was one they never could forget. Bewilderment, uncertainty and pain succeeded each other like flashes of light. Not a word was spoken for several seconds. The red of humiliation slowly mounted to his cheeks, while in his eyes wavered the look of one who has been hunted down. "You have decided?" he asked lifelessly, and more than one heart went out in pity to him.

"We hated to do it, Monty, but for your own sake there was no other way," said Subway Smith quickly. "We took a vote, and there wasn't a dissenting voice."

"It is a plain case of mutiny, I take it," said Monty, utterly alone and heartless.

"It isn't necessary to tell why we have taken this step," said DeMille. "It is heartbreaking to oppose you at this stage of the game. You've been the best ever and—"

"Cut that!" cried Monty, and his confidence in himself was fast returning. "This is no time to throw in towels."

"We like you, Brewster," Mr. Valentine came to the chairman's assistance because the others had looked at him so appealingly. "We like you so well that we can't take the responsibility for your extravagance. It would disgrace us all."

"That side of the matter was never mentioned," cried Peggy indignantly and then added, with a catch in her voice, "We thought only of you."

"I appreciate your motives, and I am grateful to you," said Monty. "I am more sorry than I can tell you that the cruise must end in this way, but I, too, have decided. The yacht will take you to some point where you can catch a steamer to New York. I shall secure no passage for the entire party, and very soon you will be at home. Captain Perry, will you oblige me by making at once for any port that my guests may agree upon?" He was turning away deliberately when Subway Smith detained him.

"What do you mean by getting a steamer to New York? Isn't the Flitter good enough?" he asked.

"The Flitter is not going to New York just now," answered Brewster firmly, "notwithstanding your ultimatum. She is going to take me to the North cape."

(To Be Continued.)

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS

COPYRIGHTS & C.

Any one sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any patent publication. Published weekly. Four months $1. Sold by all newspapers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Vitaloids

Dr. J. A. Richan

DENTIST

375 MAIN ST. UP-STAIRS

Opp. W. O. Hewett Co.'s

ROCKLAND

Dr. A. W. Taylor

DENTIST

GOLD and PORCELAIN CROWNS and BRIDGE WORK

MAIN STREET ROCKLAND

Dr. T. E. TIBBETTS,

DENTIST.

Cor. Main and Winter Sts., Rockland.

DR. CHASE'S Blood and Nerve Food

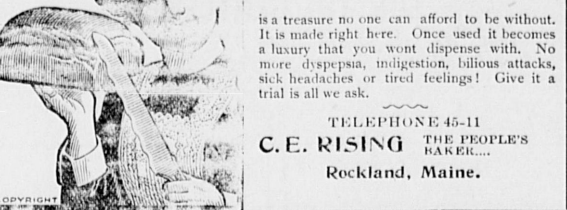

If Any One Tells You They Can Give You a Remedy the Same or Just as Good, Don't You Believe It.

This is the preparation that made the name "CHASE" FAMOUS by its wonderful cures of Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, and all diseases of the Blood and Nerves, and for many years it enjoyed the distinction of being the only remedy advertised and sold under the name of Chase. The genuine is made only by us from our own private prescription. To guard against imitations, see that the packages you buy look like the above illustration.

Price 50 cents a box. Made only by THE DR. CHASE COMPANY

224 North Tenth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Sole by C. H. Pendleton, Druggist and Optician, Rockland. G. I. Robinson Drug Co., Thomaston

THE BREAD THAT KEEPS THE FAMILY HEALTHY

is a treasure no one can afford to be without. It is made right here. Once used it becomes a luxury that you won't dispense with. No more dyspepsia, indigestion, bilious attacks, sick headaches or tired feelings! Give it a trial it is all we ask.

TELEPHONE 45-11 C. E. RISING

Rockland, Maine.

TO BE WELL CAPPED

In Winter means much to any man or boy. We are showing a nice assortment of

WINTER CAPS--

Regular Warmers
50c and $1.00
A nice line CORDUROY CAPS at same prices.

SOFT HATS--50c to $2.50

Derbies--$1.00 to $2.50

Tam-o-Shanters

for children, all colors
50c Each

SWEATERS

for men, all colors and sizes
$1.00 to $5.00

Boys' Sweaters

$1.00, $1.50 and $2.00

The Small Store of Small Prices

BENJ. L. SEGAL

367 MAIN STREET

THOMASTON

Mrs. H. L. Bryant of Brockton, Mass., is in town for a short time.

E. S. Crandon, who has been very sick, is now much improved and able to be about the house.

Ella M. Hastings is clerking in the Thomaston Dry Goods Store.

C. Frank Moulton, who has been in New Portland for three weeks, returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Koenig of Hyde Park, Mass., arrived in town Wednesday, called here by the sudden death of Mrs. E. E. O'Brien.

Sch. Merrill C. Hart arrived here Wednesday with a load of coal from New York.

Alida Hyler has finished her duties at the Thomaston Dry Goods Store and accepted a position in the insurance office of M. S. Bird, Rockland.

Mrs. E. P. Starratt had a sewing bee Wednesday when 19 of her neighbors gathered and sewed patch work for her. A picnic dinner was served.

Frank O'Brien of West Chatham, Mass., has been in town a few days, called here by the death of his mother.

The Congregational annual bazaar will be held in the church vestry Tuesday Dec. 12.

Mrs. Sarah A. Davis, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. S. J. Johnson, left Wednesday for East Poppleton, Mass., where she will spend the winter with her daughter.

Postmaster Lawry of Warren called on friends in town Thursday.

Capt. and Mrs. F. E. Watts went to Union Thursday, where they will spend a week with Mrs. P. A. Alden.

Mrs. S. D. Payson of Cushing visited Mrs. J. S. Johnson Monday.

Harriet Wilson Burgess entertained a number of her young friends Thursday afternoon at her home on Main street in honor of her sixth birthday.

Mrs. Harriet was the recipient of a number of pretty presents.

Ralph C. Manton of Lafayette, La., is visiting at the home of Mrs. W. J. Wallace, Green street.

The second assembly will be held in "Watts hall" Monday evening, Dec. 4. Banding from 8:15 until 12 o'clock. Arrangements will be made for card playing in the gallery.

The St. John Baptist guild fair will be held in D. A. R. hall, Dec. 14.

Union Thanksgiving service will be held Thursday forenoon at the Baptist church. Rev. W. A. Newcomb will deliver the sermon.

SOUTH THOMASTON

Fred J. Dow has returned from Malden, Mass., where he has been spending the past three weeks.

Miss Lizette Green has gone to New Orleans, La., where she has a position to teach music in the University.

Mrs. Albert Snow, who has been visiting her husband in Salem, Mass., has returned home.

Misses Nellie Glover, Cora Harrington, and Jennie Allen, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowers, in Thomaston, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Aurelia Sellers has gone to Stonington to visit relatives.

Charles Sleeper is home from Waldoboro.

Miss Minnie Bartlett, who has been teaching school in Belgrade, has arrived home.

John Stahl, of Rockport, was the guest of Miss Theresa Calderwood Sunday.

Mrs. Julia Allen, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Edward Price, in Rockland.

Herbert Harrington has moved his family to Avonmouth, Conn.

Mrs. Eliza Luce and daughter have gone to Boston for the winter.

PLEASANTVILLE

Mary Russell is at home with her father on a few weeks vacation. She will return to Albert on the 1st of December to teach the winter term of school.

Roscoe Newbert was on his way home from Rockland a few evenings ago by way of West Rockport. When coming through a place of woods some sort of wild animal followed him for some distance, at times giving screams which Ross says made his hair rise. Several persons have heard the animal and say it is something frightful when it makes a noise.

Mrs. Geo. N. Mank has gone to Massachusetts to visit her son Miles, and Mrs. G. Lawrence has gone to Lowell to visit her sister.

M. B. Mank was at home a few days last week.

G. P. Pollard and family and E. O. Russell and family visited at W. J. Russell's Sunday.

Through the kindness of W. E. Overbrook, Esq., a lot of new books has been furnished for the Sunday school library.

The fall term of school taught by Mrs. Rose Burnham has closed having been a very successful term. She will teach the winter term.

"I Thank the Lord!" cried Hannah Plant, of Little Rock, Ark., "for the relief I got from Buck-Ben's Arnica Salve. It cured my fearful running sores, which nothing else would heal, and from which I had suffered for years." It is a marvelous salve for cuts, burns and wounds. Represented at W. H. Kittredge, G. L. Robinson of Thomaston, L. M. Chandler of Camden, drug stores, etc.

J. D. JONES
LAWYER AND TRIAL JUSTICE
Disbarred from the Maine Bar
Solely Public and Law Office
Liberty, Maine

WARREN

The services at the Baptist church Sunday morning will be appropriate to the "Thanksgiving season." Sermon by the pastor, subject, "Reasons for Thanksgiving." In the evening union services will be held at the Congregational church at 7 o'clock with sermon by Rev. I. A. Flint. A cordial invitation is extended to the members and friends of both churches.

Mrs. B. F. Babbridge of Springfield, Mass., is the guest of Mrs. Harrison Parker.

News arrived here Monday from Rockland of the death of Miss Florence Studley, formerly of Warren. She has a great many friends in Warren who mourn her loss.

Harold Haskell of Portland, agent for Burbank, Douglass & Co., was in town Tuesday.

C. K. Phinney of Boston is in town this week on business.

Frederick Kenniston is on the sick list.

Mrs. Frank Thomas entertained the Rambler Club Monday afternoon at her home, Hinkley's Corner.

Frank Cates of Rockland is visiting his sister, Mrs. Alice Watts, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Billings have returned to their home in Hallowell. Mr. Billings has been employed in the saw mill at West Warren for the past few weeks.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary F. Morse of Lowell, Mass., was held at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Harrison Parker, Payson street, Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, Rev. I. A. Flint officiating.

Mrs. Morse was 72 years of age. She had been visiting a few weeks in Maine, and intended to return home the first of December. She was taken suddenly sick Sunday and died Monday morning of a paralytic shock. She was loved by all who knew her and made a great many friends while in Warren, who extend their sincere sympathy to those who mourn her loss. The remains were taken to Lowell for interment.

George Morse of Lowell, Mass., was called here Monday by the sudden death of his mother, Mrs. Mary F. Morse.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Swan were somewhat surprised last Wednesday evening in answering a ring at the doorbell to find a large party of their friends waiting to enter. It being Mr. Swan's birthday, they came prepared to have a jolly time which all did have. Refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Swan reply, somewhat very politely, to the guests who departed for their homes at a late hour.

The Misses Carrie and Emma Stackpole of Thomaston and Miss Grace Spear of Rockland were called on Mrs. E. W. Wells Tuesday.

G. H. Robinson of Portland is in town this week.

Mrs. Jennie Messer of Union was in town Tuesday night.

Mrs. W. H. Perkins is confined to the house with the mumps.

Miss Georgia Merriam will return home this Friday from Farmington, where she has been attending the Normal school.

Mrs. Martha Hastings of East Union is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Norwood, Main street.

G. D. Wheeler of Portland, agent for the Hood Rubber Co., was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. D. Hadley of Union was in town Wednesday.

Boys and girls do not forget to cut the votes from the Boston Globe for your little schoolmate, Flora A. Beckert in the free scholarship contest.

Frederick Teague of Lynn is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Teague, on Pleasant street.

Amos Leach is seriously ill.

Mrs. Austin Keating entertained the Elm Whist Club Monday evening. Refreshments were served.

J. J. Burke returned from Boston Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Ames returned from Boston Thursday.

Mrs. Amanda Oliver and son Henry.

leave here Thursday morning for Meadville, Mass., where they will make their home with Mrs. Oliver's son, George.

William Jackson will move Thursday into the house vacated by Mrs. Oliver on Riverside street.

Leroy Roberts left Monday for Wisconsin.

Mrs. Annie Reed of Portland called on friends in town Monday.

Dr. Williams and Mrs. May Lamson of Appleton were in town Monday.

Harry Kerr returned home Monday night from McAdams Junction, N. B., where he visited the past five months.

Mrs. Abbie Stickney, Hattie Weston, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ulmer, returned home from Boston Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Annie Eastman, who has been spending a few days in Warren, returned to her home in Wolliston, Mass., Monday morning.

Mrs. Dr. Robinson of Thomaston was the guest of Mrs. James Robinson Sunday.

At the next regular meeting of the William Payson Relief Corps, Dec. 5, here will be the nomination of officers. All members are requested to be present.

This Friday evening, Nov. 24, the Sons' Auxiliary will hold a special meeting for their annual inspection.

The inspecting officer is E. E. Stevens of the E. A. Starratt Camp. Lobster stew will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mank and son Philip have returned to their home in Portland, accompanied by Mrs. Mank's mother, Mrs. Jameson.

Mrs. Edmond Oxtan of Rockland was the guest of Mrs. Gussie Welt, Wednesday.

The time is drawing near good people—the happiest time this fall—when you'll balance to your partners and swing your sweethearts all. When W. G. and H. M. Robinson will greet you one and all, at Glover hall in Warren at their Thanksgiving eve ball. Now, if you'll only come you will find Warren girls quite sweet, and Copeland's will make music for a fellow's willing feet. Cars will run after the ball, so do not miss it, come one and all.

CUSHING

Joshua Norton has purchased a cow of Alonzo Wotton.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Havesthorne were called to Friendship Monday by the illness of their daughter, Mrs. Harry Poland.

Joseph Beckett, Sr., has returned to his home in Roxbury, Mass.

Walter Grover caught a codfish in his well recently at Wyley's Point that measured 5-1/2 feet in length.

Mr. and Mrs. Thelston Wyley and daughter, Helen, returned from a visit to V. R. Taylor's Sunday.

A large deer swam across the river to Hawthorn's Point from St. George, Tuesday.

Q. J. Rivers and son Donald have completed their job of carpentering on Burnt Island and have returned home. Mr. Rivers is at work now for Frank Flint on the new house he is having erected.

Mrs. Sarah Davis is in Thomaston sick at the home of her sister, Mrs. I. E. M. Malone, Jr. is home from Allen's Island sick with a cold.

Oscar Williams and Joseph H. Beckett of Thomaston were in town Sunday. One member was taken into Acorn Grange Saturday evening and three more are to take the initiatory degrees at the next meeting.

Miss Maxine Geyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Geyer, entertained seven of her little friends Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4, in honor of her 5th birthday. A treat of candy and peanuts was enjoyed by the children, also a picnic supper.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Mrs. L. D. Evans has been visiting her mother, Mrs. A. G. Houston a few days this week.

The Young Ladies' Society of the Congregational church will meet Saturday afternoon with Miss Alice Knowlton, Pearl street.

The guild will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Madam Huse, High street.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Saturday evening, Dec. 2, with Mrs. Leighton on Grove street.

News has been received in town of the death of Mrs. Mary Hemmingsway Morse in Warren.

The Baptist Ladies' Circle will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. H. A. Walker, Mountain street.

At a recent meeting of the Library Book Fund Association the following officers were elected: President, Miss Carrie Talbot; vice president, Mrs. Carrie Wiley; secretary and treasurer, Miss Emma S. Alden.

Rev. Mr. Plummer of Hallowell will occupy the pulpit of the Chestnut street Baptist church Sunday morning.

The Messrs. Porter entertained friends at bridge in Masonic banquet hall Thursday evening.

Mrs. H. J. Tibbets has gone to Belfast, where she is the guest of Mrs. A. A. Howes.

The housekeepers at the Baptist circle Wednesday were Mrs. George Dunbar, Mrs. W. R. Bartlett and Mrs. E. E. Fales.

The ladies of the Baptist church will have a social meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 6. Many nice things will be offered for sale. A supper will be served.

Sch. Cepola, Capt. Messenger, arrived Tuesday from Barton, N. S. with word for the R. E. B. Co.

An entertainment was given at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The program was as follows:

Singing.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Piano solo.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Vocal solo.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Vocal solo.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Reading.....Miss Nellie Rolin
Reading.....Miss Nellie Rolin
Singing.....Girls' Chorus
Reading.....Miss Julia Annis
Selection....."Lullaby" Miss Nellie Rolin
Farce....."The Love of a Bonnet"
Cast.....Mrs. Clipper, a widow, Mrs. Charles W. Jenkins; Kitty, her daughter, Miss Edith Shibles; Aunt Jimmie, a young lady, Mrs. Charles W. Jenkins; Dora, her daughter, Miss Mabel H. Paul; Katy Doolan, Irish help, Mrs. Walter H. Bartlett.

Mrs. Lizzie Simpson of Swan's Island is the guest of Mrs. Charles Wooster.

Mrs. Emma Griffith of Rockland is visiting Mrs. Frank M. Rust.

Mrs. Sarah M. Rust will entertain the Twentieth Century Club this Friday afternoon.

Sch. Gold Finder, Capt. Trynor, arrived Wednesday with word from Beaver Harbor, N. S. for the Rockland-Rockport Line Co.

PARTIAL PARALYSIS.

SEVERE CASE YIELDS TO DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Patient's Face Was So Drawn He Could Hardly Eat Or See.

Nervous people should keep a careful watch upon themselves for the symptom generally described as nervousness is often the first sign of serious illness. The person who gives Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial for nervousness is not only taking the best possible treatment but is also insuring against severe nervous disorders such as partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia, which these pills have cured when ordinary treatment has failed.

"I had been feeling badly for a long time," said Mr. Harry Benson, of Trumbull, Washington Co., New York, "and in the early part of September, 1902, I was compelled to quit work on account of my ill health. My trouble was at first extreme nervousness, then my sight became affected and I consulted an oculist who said I was suffering from paralysis. He treated me for some time, but I got no benefit. I tried another doctor and again failed to obtain any relief. My nervousness increased. Slight noises would almost make me wild. My mouth was drawn so that I could scarcely eat and I could hardly see. I had very little use of my limbs, in fact I was almost a complete wreck."

"I am all right now and am at work again. That is because I followed my wife's advice and took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She had used the remedy herself with the most gratifying results and she persuaded me to try them when it appeared that the doctors were unable to help me."

"They acted very surely in my case, for my face came back into shape, and much sooner than I expected I was entirely well. They simply worked wonders for me, as every one in this place knows, and I am glad to help others by telling the story."

The reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were called "Pink Pills" was because they purify and enrich the blood, which nourishes the nerves and gives strength to every organ of the body. They have cured obstinate cases of neuritis, nervous prostration, sciatica, insomnia, as well as of partial paralysis. They are also the best tonic in all cases of weakness, as the energy required for the daily work of life all comes from the blood. All druggists sell them. Write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. for further information.

CADEN
Miss Alice Waldoboro entertained the Flinch Club at her home on Sea street, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Leo Howard of Rockland has been visiting friends in town the past week.

Mrs. Parker George, who has been the guest of her brother, Ernest Lamb, returned Tuesday to her home in Wintertown. She was accompanied by her father, Mr. George Parker, who will visit her for a few weeks.

Miss Gertrude Conley entertains the Brownie Whist Club this Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Achorn have returned from a week's stay in Boston.

Miss Hattie Annis has returned from an extended stay in Boston, where she studied the fall styles in dressmaking.

Harry Payne Tufts of Boston has been the guest of his father, John W. Tufts, Chestnut street.

Howard E. Bramhall is the guest of his uncle, E. C. Bramhall, in Friendship, Mass.

Mrs. L. D. Evans has been visiting her mother, Mrs. A. G. Houston a few days this week.

The Young Ladies' Society of the Congregational church will meet Saturday afternoon with Miss Alice Knowlton, Pearl street.

The guild will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Madam Huse, High street.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Saturday evening, Dec. 2, with Mrs. Leighton on Grove street.

News has been received in town of the death of Mrs. Mary Hemmingsway Morse in Warren.

The Baptist Ladies' Circle will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. H. A. Walker, Mountain street.

At a recent meeting of the Library Book Fund Association the following officers were elected: President, Miss Carrie Talbot; vice president, Mrs. Carrie Wiley; secretary and treasurer, Miss Emma S. Alden.

Rev. Mr. Plummer of Hallowell will occupy the pulpit of the Chestnut street Baptist church Sunday morning.

The Messrs. Porter entertained friends at bridge in Masonic banquet hall Thursday evening.

Mrs. H. J. Tibbets has gone to Belfast, where she is the guest of Mrs. A. A. Howes.

The housekeepers at the Baptist circle Wednesday were Mrs. George Dunbar, Mrs. W. R. Bartlett and Mrs. E. E. Fales.

The ladies of the Baptist church will have a social meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 6. Many nice things will be offered for sale. A supper will be served.

Sch. Cepola, Capt. Messenger, arrived Tuesday from Barton, N. S. with word for the R. E. B. Co.

An entertainment was given at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The program was as follows:

Singing.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Piano solo.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Vocal solo.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Vocal solo.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Reading.....Miss Nellie Rolin
Reading.....Miss Nellie Rolin
Singing.....Girls' Chorus
Reading.....Miss Julia Annis
Selection....."Lullaby" Miss Nellie Rolin
Farce....."The Love of a Bonnet"
Cast.....Mrs. Clipper, a widow, Mrs. Charles W. Jenkins; Kitty, her daughter, Miss Edith Shibles; Aunt Jimmie, a young lady, Mrs. Charles W. Jenkins; Dora, her daughter, Miss Mabel H. Paul; Katy Doolan, Irish help, Mrs. Walter H. Bartlett.

Mrs. Lizzie Simpson of Swan's Island is the guest of Mrs. Charles Wooster.

Mrs. Emma Griffith of Rockland is visiting Mrs. Frank M. Rust.

Mrs. Sarah M. Rust will entertain the Twentieth Century Club this Friday afternoon.

Sch. Gold Finder, Capt. Trynor, arrived Wednesday with word from Beaver Harbor, N. S. for the Rockland-Rockport Line Co.

ROCKPORT
Mrs. H. J. Tibbets has gone to Belfast, where she is the guest of Mrs. A. A. Howes.

The housekeepers at the Baptist circle Wednesday were Mrs. George Dunbar, Mrs. W. R. Bartlett and Mrs. E. E. Fales.

The ladies of the Baptist church will have a social meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 6. Many nice things will be offered for sale. A supper will be served.

Sch. Cepola, Capt. Messenger, arrived Tuesday from Barton, N. S. with word for the R. E. B. Co.

An entertainment was given at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The program was as follows:

Singing.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Piano solo.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Vocal solo.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Vocal solo.....Miss Elsie Gardner
Reading.....Miss Nellie Rolin
Reading.....Miss Nellie Rolin
Singing.....Girls' Chorus
Reading.....Miss Julia Annis
Selection....."Lullaby" Miss Nellie Rolin
Farce....."The Love of a Bonnet"
Cast.....Mrs. Clipper, a widow, Mrs. Charles W. Jenkins; Kitty, her daughter, Miss Edith Shibles; Aunt Jimmie, a young lady, Mrs. Charles W. Jenkins; Dora, her daughter, Miss Mabel H. Paul; Katy Doolan, Irish help, Mrs. Walter H. Bartlett.

Mrs. Lizzie Simpson of Swan's Island is the guest of Mrs. Charles Wooster.

Mrs. Emma Griffith of Rockland is visiting Mrs. Frank M. Rust.

Mrs. Sarah M. Rust will entertain the Twentieth Century Club this Friday afternoon.

Sch. Gold Finder, Capt. Trynor, arrived Wednesday with word from Beaver Harbor, N. S. for the Rockland-Rockport Line Co.

Men's Four Buckle Overshoes
$2.00
Boston Shoe Store

WALDOBORO

Our people are anticipating a treat in Clark's hall next Thursday and Friday evenings, when Germania Lodge, I. O. O. F., will present the comedy-drama, "Vagabonds," by local talent. A special orchestra under the direction of I. G. Root, has been rehearsing for the occasion.

Capt. Thomas Sprout sailed from Portland last week on the five-masted schooner Oakley C. Curtis, arriving in Philadelphia Tuesday.

H. N. McDougall of Rockland was in town Wednesday.

A new piece of sidewalk has been built in front of Mrs. J. H. Kennedy's residence on Friendship street.

Some excitement was caused by a fire alarm Tuesday noon. It proved to be the burning out of a chimney in Fred Tuttle's house on Friendship street. No damage was done.

C. H. Curtis has moved into his house on Main street.

The Farmers' Institute Tuesday afternoon and evening was very instructive but was very poorly attended.

In Social Circles

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Tolman have recently returned from a visit to Union, guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Walcott.

The following letter from William H. Chapman, written to the editor of the Courier-Gazette, will interest many: "I know that you will feel sorry to know that I have had a bad set back since leaving the hospital. Have had to spend the week in bed, but am hoping and praying that I shall soon be able to sit up. So many letters have come that I cannot answer, owing to being flat on my back. If you could make a little note of this it would explain the situation. One of the bright spots in my sickroom is the enthusiasm of the choruses all over the state. We have 600 new singers that have joined the choruses since the last festival; of course this includes eastern and western Maine, making a grand total of between two and three thousand singers. This is a record breaking chorus for any year and will make the finest and largest chorus for the 10th festival of them all. I have just received contract for the appearance of Madame Kelsey for the Mesdames on the 29th of December."

Tuesday evening at 8.30 at the home of Mr. Freeman, Broadway, Edward Demerit Nason of Ash Point and Caroline E. Mills of Rockland were united in marriage by Rev. J. J. Day. It was a pretty home wedding, about 30 being present. The rooms were decorated in white and green, and the couple were married under a canopy of white from which were suspended three bells, a large one being in the center. Many friends of the couple will offer congratulations.

State Entomologist E. F. Hitchings is a guest at Dr. Wascott's.

The dance at Pembroke View Grange hall Tuesday evening was the largest of the season, over 40 couples being present. The managers of the next fortnightly dance will be Joe Brewster of Camden and H. W. Thorndike of this city.

At A. Buffum and daughter, Miss Charlotte Buffum, will attend the Harvard and Yale football game.

Willard Jackson, wife and four children, left this morning for Washington, D. C., where they will make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Price have returned from a visit at North Haven. Mr. and Mrs. David Chase have returned from a visit at North Haven.

Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Roberts arrived Thursday and are visiting Miss Aliza Crie, Limerock street.

One of the social gatherings for which the Philharmonic Society is both famous and popular took place in Kimball hall Thursday evening. There was a large attendance of the members, each of whom was accompanied by a guest.

The following program was rendered: Quartet, "Greeting Waltz," by Macy, Misses Ethel Clifton, Ethel Marsh, Gladys Jones and Lena Lawrence; by Mrs. Lillian Sprague. Overture, "The Philharmonic," by W. O. Perkins; encore, "Water Mill," by W. O. Perkins; instrumental, "Burning of Rome," by E. T. Paul, and vocal, "Farewell," by J. S. Nathan, and "The Gondolier," by W. C. Powell.

The Central Whist club met with Mrs. George W. Smith Wednesday evening. Mrs. H. L. Simonton and A. S. Black won the prizes.

Mrs. E. A. Burpee has returned home from a month's visit in Boston.

Walter W. Tibbets, proprietor of the Canteen in Portland, has filed a petition in bankruptcy giving his liabilities as being $14,596 of which $7,977 is secured. He gives his assets as being $8,000 of which amount $5,000 is for stock in trade. There are two mortgages on the restaurant, one to Charles W. Cordes, the former proprietor, and the other to Henry G. Tibbets. A year and a half ago Mr. Tibbets bought the restaurant from Mr. Cordes for $10,000, paying $6,000 in cash and giving notes for the remainder secured by mortgages. Two months ago he assigned to A. L. Hanson for the benefit of his creditors and the restaurant has been run by the assignee since.

Harry R. Marsh, formerly of this city, had a narrow escape in the recent collision of Maine Central trains between Yarmouth and Freeport, Monday. The regular freight train had broken apart before the trainmen had chance to flag the special which was passing it. The crash came. Marsh was engineer of the special and saved himself by jumping from the cab. The damage was about $25,000.

Claremont Commandery has a special convocation Monday night. Work—Banquet.

The Rubinstein Club will enjoy a piano performance at the home of Mrs. W. S. White this Friday afternoon.

Mrs. A. G. Hunt, Mrs. J. J. Veazie and Mrs. Stephen Prescott were the housekeepers at the Universalist church Wednesday evening.

The first bandist church Wednesday evening was a departure from the usual order, an old-fashioned New England boiled dinner being provided. The vegetables were served steaming hot, and the rest with which the spread was partaken was a tribute to the housekeepers, Mrs. W. Y. Hanson, Mrs. M. P. Judkins, Mrs. J. A. Richan and Mrs. Laurence Pock.

The evening program was under the charge of Miss Madeline Bird, and included a mandolin solo by Arthur Lamb, piano solo by Madeline Bird, a vocal solo by Anna H. Taylor, a violin solo by Gladys Mitchell and a recitation by Avaré Richan.

G. Carl Cassens of this city and Miss Lois Piper of Thomaston were married by Dr. A. W. Taylor at the residence of Mrs. Anna Walker, Wednesday evening. It was a private wedding, witnessed by only the members of the families and a few of their closest friends. The ring service was used. The bride was attired in a gown of gray silk, trimmed with lace. The groom is a conductor in the employ of the Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Street Railway and prominent in the order of Good Templars. The bride is one of Thomaston's much-loved young women.

Mrs. Emma Starrett has gone to Houlton, where she will spend the next four months with her son, E. O. Starrett.

The personal column of a Boston paper contains the following society item of local interest: "Among visitors yesterday to Mrs. John L. Gardner's were several ladies from the navy yard, among them Mrs. Albert S. Snow, wife of the commandant; Mrs. Anna Walker, whose husband commands the U. S. S. Wabash; Mrs. A. C. Kelton, wife of Col. Kelton of the U. S. M. C. and Mrs. Moore. Miss Snow, an exceptionally attractive daughter of the rear admiral, tells me she goes to Washington shortly to make quite a visit. I am hearing nice things about the navy yard and last Friday and of the handsome appearance of Mrs. Walker, who is a Southerner by birth and quite distinguished with her fine coloring and prematurely iron gray hair."

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Raleigh of 109 South Main street celebrated the 15th anniversary of their marriage Monday. They received a host of nice presents,

MAIDWELL

ONLY 98c

This cut shows one style of our Home made wrappers—made in fine quality Percales and Prints. There is no wrapper on the market for less than $1.50 equal to you. You will find it is yard wider at flounce than any ready made wrapper. It comes in all colors and sizes. Ask for the MAIDWELL, with the elastic sleeve.

Rockland Maine

among them being a gift from Mr. Raleigh to Mrs. Raleigh of a beautiful dress.

Miss Mary Waterman, Rankin street, has gone to Spruce Head, where she will spend the winter with her nephew, Albert Waterman.

News has been received here of the marriage of Harvey B. Cushman of Pittsburg, Pa. and Miss Mildred Zimmerman of Allegheny, Pa. The ceremony took place in the bride's home city Oct. 11. The groom is a former resident of this city and was a student at the University of Maine a number of years ago. He had a particularly fine athletic record there, and since locating in Pennsylvania has played professional baseball in summers, having at one time been a pitcher on the Pittsburg team of the National league. While the bride is unknown in this city it is safe to assume that Harvey has exercised discriminating judgment and selected one of Pennsylvania's fairest daughters. Rockland friends offer their congratulations.

The marriage of Miss Grace Huston Kike of Camden and John Oppen of Camden, Mass., takes place in the Episcopal church at Camden at 4 p. m. Thanksgiving Day. The bride-elect is a cousin of A. J. Huston of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLoon and daughter arrived Wednesday.

Mr. McLoon has been on a gunning trip near Weeksboro, while Mrs. McLoon and daughter visited relatives in Houlton.

Mrs. James Wright and Mrs. Carrie Burpee Shaw attended the opening concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Portland Wednesday evening. They were guests of Mrs. Barney. The orchestra comprised 75 members.

Gadecki was the soloist.

The Central Whist club met with Mrs. George W. Smith Wednesday evening. Mrs. H. L. Simonton and A. S. Black won the prizes.

Mrs. E. A. Burpee has returned home from a month's visit in Boston.

Walter W. Tibbets, proprietor of the Canteen in Portland, has filed a petition in bankruptcy giving his liabilities as being $14,596 of which $7,977 is secured. He gives his assets as being $8,000 of which amount $5,000 is for stock in trade. There are two mortgages on the restaurant, one to Charles W. Cordes, the former proprietor, and the other to Henry G. Tibbets. A year and a half ago Mr. Tibbets bought the restaurant from Mr. Cordes for $10,000, paying $6,000 in cash and giving notes for the remainder secured by mortgages. Two months ago he assigned to A. L. Hanson for the benefit of his creditors and the restaurant has been run by the assignee since.

Harry R. Marsh, formerly of this city, had a narrow escape in the recent collision of Maine Central trains between Yarmouth and Freeport, Monday. The regular freight train had broken apart before the trainmen had chance to flag the special which was passing it. The crash came. Marsh was engineer of the special and saved himself by jumping from the cab. The damage was about $25,000.

Claremont Commandery has a special convocation Monday night. Work—Banquet.

The Rubinstein Club will enjoy a piano performance at the home of Mrs. W. S. White this Friday afternoon.

Mrs. A. G. Hunt, Mrs. J. J. Veazie and Mrs. Stephen Prescott were the housekeepers at the Universalist church Wednesday evening.

The first bandist church Wednesday evening was a departure from the usual order, an old-fashioned New England boiled dinner being provided. The vegetables were served steaming hot, and the rest with which the spread was partaken was a tribute to the housekeepers, Mrs. W. Y. Hanson, Mrs. M. P. Judkins, Mrs. J. A. Richan and Mrs. Laurence Pock.

The evening program was under the charge of Miss Madeline Bird, and included a mandolin solo by Arthur Lamb, piano solo by Madeline Bird, a vocal solo by Anna H. Taylor, a violin solo by Gladys Mitchell and a recitation by Avaré Richan.

G. Carl Cassens of this city and Miss Lois Piper of Thomaston were married by Dr. A. W. Taylor at the residence of Mrs. Anna Walker, Wednesday evening. It was a private wedding, witnessed by only the members of the families and a few of their closest friends. The ring service was used. The bride was attired in a gown of gray silk, trimmed with lace. The groom is a conductor in the employ of the Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Street Railway and prominent in the order of Good Templars. The bride is one of Thomaston's much-loved young women.

Mrs. Emma Starrett has gone to Houlton, where she will spend the next four months with her son, E. O. Starrett.

The personal column of a Boston paper contains the following society item of local interest: "Among visitors yesterday to Mrs. John L. Gardner's were several ladies from the navy yard, among them Mrs. Albert S. Snow, wife of the commandant; Mrs. Anna Walker, whose husband commands the U. S. S. Wabash; Mrs. A. C. Kelton, wife of Col. Kelton of the U. S. M. C. and Mrs. Moore. Miss Snow, an exceptionally attractive daughter of the rear admiral, tells me she goes to Washington shortly to make quite a visit. I am hearing nice things about the navy yard and last Friday and of the handsome appearance of Mrs. Walker, who is a Southerner by birth and quite distinguished with her fine coloring and prematurely iron gray hair."

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Raleigh of 109 South Main street celebrated the 15th anniversary of their marriage Monday. They received a host of nice presents, among them being a gift from Mr. Raleigh to Mrs. Raleigh of a beautiful dress.

Miss Mary Waterman, Rankin street, has gone to Spruce Head, where she will spend the winter with her nephew, Albert Waterman.

News has been received here of the marriage of Harvey B. Cushman of Pittsburg, Pa. and Miss Mildred Zimmerman of Allegheny, Pa. The ceremony took place in the bride's home city Oct. 11. The groom is a former resident of this city and was a student at the University of Maine a number of years ago. He had a particularly fine athletic record there, and since locating in Pennsylvania has played professional baseball in summers, having at one time been a pitcher on the Pittsburg team of the National league. While the bride is unknown in this city it is safe to assume that Harvey has exercised discriminating judgment and selected one of Pennsylvania's fairest daughters. Rockland friends offer their congratulations.

The marriage of Miss Grace Huston Kike of Camden and John Oppen of Camden, Mass., takes place in the Episcopal church at Camden at 4 p. m. Thanksgiving Day. The bride-elect is a cousin of A. J. Huston of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLoon and daughter arrived Wednesday.

Mr. McLoon has been on a gunning trip near Weeksboro, while Mrs. McLoon and daughter visited relatives in Houlton.

Mrs. James Wright and Mrs. Carrie Burpee Shaw attended the opening concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Portland Wednesday evening. They were guests of Mrs. Barney. The orchestra comprised 75 members.

Gadecki was the soloist.

The Central Whist club met with Mrs. George W. Smith Wednesday evening. Mrs. H. L. Simonton and A. S. Black won the prizes.

Mrs. E. A. Burpee has returned home from a month's visit in Boston.

Walter W. Tibbets, proprietor of the Canteen in Portland, has filed a petition in bankruptcy giving his liabilities as being $14,596 of which $7,977 is secured. He gives his assets as being $8,000 of which amount $5,000 is for stock in trade. There are two mortgages on the restaurant, one to Charles W. Cordes, the former proprietor, and the other to Henry G. Tibbets. A year and a half ago Mr. Tibbets bought the restaurant from Mr. Cordes for $10,000, paying $6,000 in cash and giving notes for the remainder secured by mortgages. Two months ago he assigned to A. L. Hanson for the benefit of his creditors and the restaurant has been run by the assignee since.

Harry R. Marsh, formerly of this city, had a narrow escape in the recent collision of Maine Central trains between Yarmouth and Freeport, Monday. The regular freight train had broken apart before the trainmen had chance to flag the special which was passing it. The crash came. Marsh was engineer of the special and saved himself by jumping from the cab. The damage was about $25,000.

Claremont Commandery has a special convocation Monday night. Work—Banquet.

The Rubinstein Club will enjoy a piano performance at the home of Mrs. W. S. White this Friday afternoon.

Mrs. A. G. Hunt, Mrs. J. J. Veazie and Mrs. Stephen Prescott were the housekeepers at the Universalist church Wednesday evening.

The first bandist church Wednesday evening was a departure from the usual order, an old-fashioned New England boiled dinner being provided. The vegetables were served steaming hot, and the rest with which the spread was partaken was a tribute to the housekeepers, Mrs. W. Y. Hanson, Mrs. M. P. Judkins, Mrs. J. A. Richan and Mrs. Laurence Pock.

The evening program was under the charge of Miss Madeline Bird, and included a mandolin solo by Arthur Lamb, piano solo by Madeline Bird, a vocal solo by Anna H. Taylor, a violin solo by Gladys Mitchell and a recitation by Avaré Richan.

G. Carl Cassens of this city and Miss Lois Piper of Thomaston were married by Dr. A. W. Taylor at the residence of Mrs. Anna Walker, Wednesday evening. It was a private wedding, witnessed by only the members of the families and a few of their closest friends. The ring service was used. The bride was attired in a gown of gray silk, trimmed with lace. The groom is a conductor in the employ of the Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Street Railway and prominent in the order of Good Templars. The bride is one of Thomaston's much-loved young women.

Mrs. Emma Starrett has gone to Houlton, where she will spend the next four months with her son, E. O. Starrett.

The personal column of a Boston paper contains the following society item of local interest: "Among visitors yesterday to Mrs. John L. Gardner's were several ladies from the navy yard, among them Mrs. Albert S. Snow, wife of the commandant; Mrs. Anna Walker, whose husband commands the U. S. S. Wabash; Mrs. A. C. Kelton, wife of Col. Kelton of the U. S. M. C. and Mrs. Moore. Miss Snow, an exceptionally attractive daughter of the rear admiral, tells me she goes to Washington shortly to make quite a visit. I am hearing nice things about the navy yard and last Friday and of the handsome appearance of Mrs. Walker, who is a Southerner by birth and quite distinguished with her fine coloring and prematurely iron gray hair."

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Raleigh of 109 South Main street celebrated the 15th anniversary of their marriage Monday. They received a host of nice presents, among them being a gift from Mr. Raleigh to Mrs. Raleigh of a beautiful dress.

Miss Mary Waterman, Rankin street, has gone to Spruce Head, where she will spend the winter with her nephew, Albert Waterman.

News has been received here of the marriage of Harvey B. Cushman of Pittsburg, Pa. and Miss Mildred Zimmerman of Allegheny, Pa. The ceremony took place in the bride's home city Oct. 11. The groom is a former resident of this city and was a student at the University of Maine a number of years ago. He had a particularly fine athletic record there, and since locating in Pennsylvania has played professional baseball in summers, having at one time been a pitcher on the Pittsburg team of the National league. While the bride is unknown in this city it is safe to assume that Harvey has exercised discriminating judgment and selected one of Pennsylvania's fairest daughters. Rockland friends offer their congratulations.

The marriage of Miss Grace Huston Kike of Camden and John Oppen of Camden, Mass., takes place in the Episcopal church at Camden at 4 p. m. Thanksgiving Day. The bride-elect is a cousin of A. J. Huston of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLoon and daughter arrived Wednesday.

Mr. McLoon has been on a gunning trip near Weeksboro, while Mrs. McLoon and daughter visited relatives in Houlton.

Mrs. James Wright and Mrs. Carrie Burpee Shaw attended the opening concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Portland Wednesday evening. They were guests of Mrs. Barney. The orchestra comprised 75 members.

Gadecki was the soloist.

The Central Whist club met with Mrs. George W. Smith Wednesday evening. Mrs. H. L. Simonton and A. S. Black won the prizes.

Mrs. E. A. Burpee has returned home from a month's visit in Boston.

Walter W. Tibbets, proprietor of the Canteen in Portland, has filed a petition in bankruptcy giving his liabilities as being $14,596 of which $7,977 is secured. He gives his assets as being $8,000 of which amount $5,000 is for stock in trade. There are two mortgages on the restaurant, one to Charles W. Cordes, the former proprietor, and the other to Henry G. Tibbets. A year and a half ago Mr. Tibbets bought the restaurant from Mr. Cordes for $10,000, paying $6,000 in cash and giving notes for the remainder secured by mortgages. Two months ago he assigned to A. L. Hanson for the benefit of his creditors and the restaurant has been run by the assignee since.

Harry R. Marsh, formerly of this city, had a narrow escape in the recent collision of Maine Central trains between Yarmouth and Freeport, Monday. The regular freight train had broken apart before the trainmen had chance to flag the special which was passing it. The crash came. Marsh was engineer of the special and saved himself by jumping from the cab. The damage was about $25,000.

Claremont Commandery has a special convocation Monday night. Work—Banquet.

The Rubinstein Club will enjoy a piano performance at the home of Mrs. W. S. White this Friday afternoon.

Mrs. A. G. Hunt, Mrs. J. J. Veazie and Mrs. Stephen Prescott were the housekeepers at the Universalist church Wednesday evening.

The first bandist church Wednesday evening was a departure from the usual order, an old-fashioned New England boiled dinner being provided. The vegetables were served steaming hot, and the rest with which the spread was partaken was a tribute to the housekeepers, Mrs. W. Y. Hanson, Mrs. M. P. Judkins, Mrs. J. A. Richan and Mrs. Laurence Pock.

The evening program was under the charge of Miss Madeline Bird, and included a mandolin solo by Arthur Lamb, piano solo by Madeline Bird, a vocal solo by Anna H. Taylor, a violin solo by Gladys Mitchell and a recitation by Avaré Richan.

G. Carl Cassens of this city and Miss Lois Piper of Thomaston were married by Dr. A. W. Taylor at the residence of Mrs. Anna Walker, Wednesday evening. It was a private wedding, witnessed by only the members of the families and a few of their closest friends. The ring service was used. The bride was attired in a gown of gray silk, trimmed with lace. The groom is a conductor in the employ of the Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Street Railway and prominent in the order of Good Templars. The bride is one of Thomaston's much-loved young women.

Mrs. Emma Starrett has gone to Houlton, where she will spend the next four months with her son, E. O. Starrett.

The personal column of a Boston paper contains the following society item of local interest: "Among visitors yesterday to Mrs. John L. Gardner's were several ladies from the navy yard, among them Mrs. Albert S. Snow, wife of the commandant; Mrs. Anna Walker, whose husband commands the U. S. S. Wabash; Mrs. A. C. Kelton, wife of Col. Kelton of the U. S. M. C. and Mrs. Moore. Miss Snow, an exceptionally attractive daughter of the rear admiral, tells me she goes to Washington shortly to make quite a visit. I am hearing nice things about the navy yard and last Friday and of the handsome appearance of Mrs. Walker, who is a Southerner by birth and quite distinguished with her fine coloring and prematurely iron gray hair."

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Raleigh of 109 South Main street celebrated the 15th anniversary of their marriage Monday. They received a host of nice presents, among them being a gift from Mr. Raleigh to Mrs. Raleigh of a beautiful dress.

Miss Mary Waterman, Rankin street, has gone to Spruce Head, where she will spend the winter with her nephew, Albert Waterman.

News has been received here of the marriage of Harvey B. Cushman of Pittsburg, Pa. and Miss Mildred Zimmerman of Allegheny, Pa. The ceremony took place in the bride's home city Oct. 11. The groom is a former resident of this city and was a student at the University of Maine a number of years ago. He had a particularly fine athletic record there, and since locating in Pennsylvania has played professional baseball in summers, having at one time been a pitcher on the Pittsburg team of the National league. While the bride is unknown in this city it is safe to assume that Harvey has exercised discriminating judgment and selected one of Pennsylvania's fairest daughters. Rockland friends offer their congratulations.

The marriage of Miss Grace Huston Kike of Camden and John Oppen of Camden, Mass., takes place in the Episcopal church at Camden at 4 p. m. Thanksgiving Day. The bride-elect is a cousin of A. J. Huston of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLoon and daughter arrived Wednesday.

Mr. McLoon has been on a gunning trip near Weeksboro, while Mrs. McLoon and daughter visited relatives in Houlton.

Mrs. James Wright and Mrs. Carrie Burpee Shaw attended the opening concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Portland Wednesday evening. They were guests of Mrs. Barney. The orchestra comprised 75 members.

Gadecki was the soloist.

The Central Whist club met with Mrs. George W. Smith Wednesday evening. Mrs. H. L. Simonton and A. S. Black won the prizes.

Mrs. E. A. Burpee has returned home from a month's visit in Boston.

Walter W. Tibbets, proprietor of the Canteen in Portland, has filed a petition in bankruptcy giving his liabilities as being $14,596 of which $7,977 is secured. He gives his assets as being $8,000 of which amount $5,000 is for stock in trade. There are two mortgages on the restaurant, one to Charles W. Cordes, the former proprietor, and the other to Henry G. Tibbets. A year and a half ago Mr. Tibbets bought the restaurant from Mr. Cordes for $10,000, paying $6,000 in cash and giving notes for the remainder secured by mortgages. Two months ago he assigned to A. L. Hanson for the benefit of his creditors and the restaurant has been run by the assignee since.

Harry R. Marsh, formerly of this city, had a narrow escape in the recent collision of Maine Central trains between Yarmouth and Freeport, Monday. The regular freight train had broken apart before the trainmen had chance to flag the special which was passing it. The crash came. Marsh was engineer of the special and saved himself by jumping from the cab. The damage was about $25,000.

Claremont Commandery has a special convocation Monday night. Work—Banquet.

The Rubinstein Club will enjoy a piano performance at the home of Mrs. W. S. White this Friday afternoon.

Mrs. A. G. Hunt, Mrs. J. J. Veazie and Mrs. Stephen Prescott were the housekeepers at the Universalist church Wednesday evening.

The first bandist church Wednesday evening was a departure from the usual order, an old-fashioned New England boiled dinner being provided. The vegetables were served steaming hot, and the rest with which the spread was partaken was a tribute to the housekeepers, Mrs. W. Y. Hanson, Mrs. M. P. Judkins, Mrs. J. A. Richan and Mrs. Laurence Pock.

The evening program was under the charge of Miss Madeline Bird, and included a mandolin solo by Arthur Lamb, piano solo by Madeline Bird, a vocal solo by Anna H. Taylor, a violin solo by Gladys Mitchell and a recitation by Avaré Richan.

G. Carl Cassens of this city and Miss Lois Piper of Thomaston were married by Dr. A. W. Taylor at the residence of Mrs. Anna Walker, Wednesday evening. It was a private wedding, witnessed by only the members of the families and a few of their closest friends. The ring service was used. The bride was attired in a gown of gray silk, trimmed with lace. The groom is a conductor in the employ of the Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Street Railway and prominent in the order of Good Templars. The bride is one of Thomaston's much-loved young women.

Mrs. Emma Starrett has gone to Houlton, where she will spend the next four months with her son, E. O. Starrett.

The personal column of a Boston paper contains the following society item of local interest: "Among visitors yesterday to Mrs. John L. Gardner's were several ladies from the navy yard, among them Mrs. Albert S. Snow, wife of the commandant; Mrs. Anna Walker, whose husband commands the U. S. S. Wabash; Mrs. A. C. Kelton, wife of Col. Kelton of the U. S. M. C. and Mrs. Moore. Miss Snow, an exceptionally attractive daughter of the rear admiral, tells me she goes to Washington shortly to make quite a visit. I am hearing nice things about the navy yard and last Friday and of the handsome appearance of Mrs. Walker, who is a Southerner by birth and quite distinguished with her fine coloring and prematurely iron gray hair."

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Raleigh of 109 South Main street celebrated the 15th anniversary of their marriage Monday. They received a host of nice presents, among them being a gift from Mr. Raleigh to Mrs. Raleigh of a beautiful dress.

Miss Mary Waterman, Rankin street, has gone to Spruce Head, where she will spend the winter with her nephew, Albert Waterman.

News has been received here of the marriage of Harvey B. Cushman of Pittsburg, Pa. and Miss Mildred Zimmerman of Allegheny, Pa. The ceremony took place in the bride's home city Oct. 11. The groom is a former resident of this city and was a student at the University of Maine a number of years ago. He had a particularly fine athletic record there, and since locating in Pennsylvania has played professional baseball in summers, having at one time been a pitcher on the Pittsburg team of the National league. While the bride is unknown in this city it is safe to assume that Harvey has exercised discriminating judgment and selected one of Pennsylvania's fairest daughters. Rockland friends offer their congratulations.

The marriage of Miss Grace Huston Kike of Camden and John Oppen of Camden, Mass., takes place in the Episcopal church at Camden at 4 p. m. Thanksgiving Day. The bride-elect is a cousin of A. J. Huston of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLoon and daughter arrived Wednesday.

Mr. McLoon has been on a gunning trip near Weeksboro, while Mrs. McLoon and daughter visited relatives in Houlton.

Mrs. James Wright and Mrs. Carrie Burpee Shaw attended the opening concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Portland Wednesday evening. They were guests of Mrs. Barney. The orchestra comprised 75 members.

Gadecki was the soloist.

The Central Whist club met with Mrs. George W. Smith Wednesday evening. Mrs. H. L. Simonton and A. S. Black won the prizes.

Mrs. E. A. Burpee has returned home from a month's visit in Boston.

Walter W. Tibbets, proprietor of the Canteen in Portland, has filed a petition in bankruptcy giving his liabilities as being $14,596 of which $7,977 is secured. He gives his assets as being $8,000 of which amount $5,000 is for stock in trade. There are two mortgages on the restaurant, one to Charles W. Cordes, the former proprietor, and the other to Henry G. Tibbets. A year and a half ago Mr. Tibbets bought the restaurant from Mr. Cordes for $10,000, paying $6,000 in cash and giving notes for the remainder secured by mortgages. Two months ago he assigned to A. L. Hanson for the benefit of his creditors and the restaurant has been run by the assignee since.

Harry R. Marsh, formerly of this city, had a narrow escape in the recent collision of Maine Central trains between Yarmouth and Freeport, Monday. The regular freight train had broken apart before the trainmen had chance to flag the special which was passing it. The crash came. Marsh was engineer of the special and saved himself by jumping from the cab. The damage was about $25,000.

Claremont Commandery has a special convocation Monday night. Work—Banquet.

The Rubinstein Club will enjoy a piano performance at the home of Mrs. W. S. White this Friday afternoon.

Mrs. A. G. Hunt, Mrs. J. J. Veazie and Mrs. Stephen Prescott were the housekeepers at the Universalist church Wednesday evening.

The first bandist church Wednesday evening was a departure from the usual order, an old-fashioned New England boiled dinner being provided. The vegetables were served steaming hot, and the rest with which the spread was partaken was a tribute to the housekeepers, Mrs. W. Y. Hanson, Mrs. M. P. Judkins, Mrs. J. A. Richan and Mrs. Laurence Pock.

The evening program was under the charge of Miss Madeline Bird, and included a mandolin solo by Arthur Lamb, piano solo by Madeline Bird, a vocal solo by Anna H. Taylor, a violin solo by Gladys Mitchell and a recitation by Avaré Richan.

G. Carl Cassens of this city and Miss Lois Piper of Thomaston were married by Dr. A. W. Taylor at the residence of Mrs. Anna Walker, Wednesday evening. It was a private wedding, witnessed by only the members of the families and a few of their closest friends. The ring service was used. The bride was attired in a gown of gray silk, trimmed with lace. The groom is a conductor in the employ of the Rockland, Thomaston and Camden Street Railway and prominent in the order of Good Templars. The bride is one of Thomaston's much-loved young women.

Mrs. Emma Starrett has gone to Houlton, where she will spend the next four months with her son, E. O. Starrett.

The personal column of a Boston paper contains the following society item of local interest: "Among visitors yesterday to Mrs. John L. Gardner's were several ladies from the navy yard, among them Mrs. Albert S. Snow, wife of the commandant; Mrs. Anna Walker, whose husband commands the U. S. S. Wabash; Mrs. A. C. Kelton, wife of Col. Kelton of the U. S. M. C. and Mrs. Moore. Miss Snow, an exceptionally attractive daughter of the rear admiral, tells me she goes to Washington shortly to make quite a visit. I am hearing nice things about the navy yard and last Friday and of the handsome appearance of Mrs. Walker, who is a Southerner by birth and quite distinguished with her fine

