

KENNEBUNK ENTERPRISE

VOL. 12, No 1.

KENNEBUNK, MAINE, NOVEMBER 10, 1915

PRICE, THREE CENTS

AN UP-TO DATE ADVERTISING MEDIUM

ALL THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS CORRECTLY REPORTED

FIRST-CLASS JOB OFFICE

At Morrill's

Hats Trimmed While
You Wait

A splendid line of trimmed hats made in our workroom, also a full line of ready-to-wear.

STYLES RIGHT

and prices to suit all pocketbooks.
We show the

"VANITY"

a beautiful creation that is different

Miss A. M. Morrill

173 Main Street
BIDDEFORD - MAINE

T. L. Evans & Co.

DEPARTMENT STORE
Biddeford Me.

245-247-251 Main St

Only 7 Weeks To

Christmas

Holiday Goods are Arriving Nearly Every Day

BIG LINE OF

Parker Brothers new and old games	10c to $1.50
Fine line of battle and soldier Games	25c, 50c, $1.00, $1.50
Ring Toss	10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00
Ping Pong	$1.00, $1.50
Tiddledy Winks	10c, 25c
Sewing Cards	10c, 25c
Embroidery Sets	10c, 25c
Bead Stringing	50c
Pate Plastique	25c, 50c
Lotto	10c, 25c
Card Games	10c, 25c, 50c
Board Games	10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00
Fish Pond	10c, 25c, 50c
Checker Boards	10c, 25c, 50c
Puzzles	10c, 25c
Cut up Maps	25c
Anagrams	50c
Pit	50c
Flinch	50c
Rook	50c
Roodles	50c
Parchesi	75c
India	10c, 25c, 50c
Ouija	-$1.00, $1.25

T. L. Evans & Co.

AGENTS

Men or Women

Can make $2.50 to $10.00 a day selling household articles. No experience required. For particulars write

Morin Drug Co., Inc.,

P. O. Box 461

Biddeford, Maine

ANNUAL MEETING FIRE SOCIETY

Officers Chosen And Nine New Members Voted In--Amusing Farce Given

ABOUT 300 PRESENT

Contrary to the life-long custom of the Fire Society light refreshments, of ice-cream, cake and fruit, instead of the usual hearty supper, were served at the annual meeting held Tuesday night in the Town hall. The committee announced that the change was due to the large increase in the membership and the lack of facilities in the hall. About 300 were present.

Preceding the supper the new officers were elected as follows: President, C. W. Goodnow; Secretary, Gordon Carter. Treasurer, J. D. Bragdon.

After the supper Austin Caine read the customary "history," this time consisting largely of a list of first-aid measures to be employed in case of fire.

A farce-playlet, called "The Trouble at Satterlee's" was given by the following cast.

Kathleen, a maid, Mrs. Mary Webb
Mrs. Satterlee Mrs. Gertrude Ricker
Dorothy, Miss Vera Stevens
Alice, Mrs. L. J. Carleton
Mildred, Miss Maud Bragdon
Marion, Mrs. Arthur Goodwin
Three College Girls,--Doris Stevens, Edna Hubbard and Frances Webb.

Each actress entered into her part with zest and the farce proved amusing.

George and Eddie Cutten gave an Indian representation.

The new members voted into the society are L. H. Hutchins, Rev. B. H. Tilton, John E. Watson, Ralph Whipple, Joshua Bragdon, Herbert E. Day, Fred C. Small, H. H. Abbott, Edward Lahar.

COMMUNICATION

Kennebunk Me., Nov. 4, 1915.
To the Editor:

Nobody in Kennebunk is quite so interested in the welfare of our children as the mothers. The Board of Trade having started a campaign for the bettering of school conditions it is regarded as not only inconsiderate but discourteous to ignore the mothers. We have held a very instructive session at the High School so that we know the conditions prevailing there. Now we want the mothers to go and see for themselves and judge whether or not the growing youth of the town is housed in a good school building. We consider the opinions of the interested mothers (and what mother is not interested?) regarding school matters to be of the greatest value and significance.

Mr. Lambert has kindly arranged to have the High School building open from two until four on Saturday, Nov. 13. Some of the teaching staff will be in attendance to answer any questions which may be put, and to show visitors over the building. We want you mothers to turn out in force, and after your inspection, tell us whether or not we need a new High School.

E. A. Fairfield
H. E. Andrews
S. T. Dow

Educational Committee Kennebunk Board of Trade.

35TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

The 35th annual convention of the Maine Woman's Suffrage Association will meet in this village next Wednesday, Nov. 17 in the Congregational church.

Morning session opens at 10 o'clock with prayer by Mrs. Hannah J. Bailey; report of credentials committee, Miss S. A. Clark. This will be followed by general reports by the recording secretary, Miss Annie Burgess; correspond-

HEARING ON NEW POST ROAD

Arguments For And Against Discontinuance of Telegraph or New Post Road

HEARING FRIDAY NOV. 19

On Friday, Nov. 9th, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon at Kennebunkport Town house is the time and place set for a hearing by a committee appointed by the supreme court to hear testimony and listen to arguments for and against the discontinuance of the Telegraph or New Post Road through Kennebunkport.

This matter was brought before the County Commissioners a year and a half ago; the road viewed and the matter well talked over at a hearing and they decided that Common Convenience and Necessity did not require the discontinuance of said road.

The petitioners not being successful in the matter of taking away from the people at the middle part of the town what accommodations they have in the way of roads, have appealed to the supreme court to set aside the county commissioners' decision and close the road.

To straighten and shorten the distance for a mail route between Portsmouth and Portland this road was laid out and built 85 years ago and was used as such until the railroad came and of course they then took the mail business. The road continued to be used as the best route for through travel, being 3-4 of a mile shorter than any other road through the town; also for this reason it has been used by the Telephone and Telegraph companies on which to run their lines.

It is the only road to the Timber Lands in that section, some of which is owned by people in Kennebunk. It is the best detour route in case of accident or repair work to the state highway; also after ice storms and deep snows in winter it is the best and shortest road from Kennebunk to Biddeford and Portland with team or sleigh. And now many people with shy horses and bad loads at any time of the year prefer this road as the safer one to travel on.

Time makes great changes in everything around us; if the travel now going through the town increases in the next ten years as it has in the past all the roads will be needed to get through. Hoping that all interested persons will be present at the hearing and do what they can to prevent the community from losing at this late day what our grandfathers thought necessary we should have.

ing secretary, Mrs. Lucy Hobart Day; treasurer, Mrs. Sara P. Anthoine; auditor, Miss Alice Blanchard. The standing committees are Legislative, Miss Helen N. Bates; legislature, Miss S. A. Clark; Enrolment, Miss Margaret Laughlin; press, Miss Ella Woodman; organization and educational, Miss Florence B. Whitehouse; president's address, Miss Helen N. Bates. Special committees--Resolutions, Mrs. Sara P. Anthoine; nominations, Miss Cora Edgerly. club reports

The afternoon session will be at 2 o'clock. Singing "Battle Hymn of the Republic"; the federal amendment, Miss Helen N. Bates; address, Mrs. Florence Brooks Whitehouse. A collection will be taken and the singing of America will close the convention.

Trueman Littlefield arrived home tonight from his hunting trip having had the good fortune to secure a 160-pound doe. Hunters all claim that game is scarce this season so Mr. Littlefield is pretty proud of his capture.

A taste and you'll want some of Fiske's hot chocolate. Adv.

MANY ATTEND LOCAL FAIR

Booths And Decorations Very Attractive--Entertainment
And Dancing Enjoyed

OVER $95.00 CLEARED

One of the prettiest fairs in the history of the town was given in the Town Hall, Thursday afternoon and evening, by the Pythian Sisters. Mother Goose characters and tales were uniquely represented by the decorations of the booths and the costumes of those in charge. The fish pond, decorated in orange and black, with a "well" in the center, in which one "fished," was presided over by Simple Simon (Frank Warren) and Maurice Costello, assisted by Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Walter Littlefield. The cake table, representing "Pussy in the Well," displayed black cats and a large bell, beneath an evergreen arch, and was in charge of Mrs. Etta Richardson, Mrs. Elsie Mitchell and Miss Florence Rice. The candy table, representing Red Riding Hood, was decorated with red and white basket weaving around the sides, with red arch wound with white chrysanthemums. Those in charge of this table, Mrs. Fannie Jackson, Mrs. Adeline Costello, Mrs. Lillian Hawley and Mrs. Lena Sawyer were dressed as Red Riding Hoods. The apron table, in charge of Mrs. Cora Toothaker, Mrs. Adeline and Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, was decorated in yellow and white, surmounted by a large Japanese parasol, and represented Daffy-down-dilly. The bundle table, presided over by Jack Horner (Edward Cutting), Little Boy Blue (George Tomlinson) and Miss Moffett (Mrs. Myrtle Tomlinson), was decorated in green and pink, with a profusion of evergreen. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Whidden, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evans, Mrs. Mabel Hamilton, Mrs. Minnie Brown and Mrs. Louise Lombard in charge of the ice-cream table, which was decorated in yellow and white. Old Mother Hubbard (Mrs. Sylvia Boston), with Mrs. Bessie Shepard. Mrs. Angie Newton and Mrs. Frank Arnold and a rag dog attracted buy-kin Eater (Charles Nason) assisted to the food table. Peter Pump-kin by Mrs. Mary Ingham and Miss Margaret Clark sold small pumpkins and sofa pillows. Mrs. Rena Knight was the Old Woman in the Shoe and the shoe was nearly as large as the booths--and her children were Mrs. Bessie Hanson, Mrs. Emma Crocker and Miss Sadie Clark. The "Old Woman" sold dolls. One of the most unique tables was that presided over by "The Man and His Seven Wives."

A green and white booth had seven windows, over which the dates. 1812, 1820, 1846 1847, 1890, 1900 and 1916, were placed, and peering through each of which was a "wife," representing the period announced. Frank Towne was the "Man" and his "wives" were Mrs. Elva Patterson, Mrs. Katherine Titcomb, Mrs. Annie Anderson, Mrs. Cora Spenser and Mrs. Jessie Phillips. This booth dispensed fancy articles.

The decoration, represented so much labor and were so attractive that it was with regret that one saw them taken down to make room for dancing later in the evening. A short entertainment by local talent preceded the dancing.

The prizes were awarded as follows: Lemonade tray, Edgar Lahar; two-pound box of chocolates, Mrs. H. F. Fairfield; one-pound box of candy, Mrs. Louise Lombard; half-pound box of candy, Mrs. Adeline Stevens; picture, Mrs. Eldad Smith sofa pillow, Fred Clark; chickens, Louis Lahar; pig, Leland Maddox.

Every article was sold and about $90 was cleared.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Winter will take a trip to Portland Thursday.

PRES. GILES BROWN SPEAKER AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Giles Brown, recently president of Jaffna College, Ceylon and one of the speakers at the Laymen's Conference in Portland this week, addressed a good-sized audience in the vestry of the Congregational church last Sunday evening. Dr. Brown emphasized that the present church movement must be nationwide and inter-denominational. Dr. Brown considers that the problem of the church is not one of "home missions" and "foreign missions" but rather is a question of "how to get near the man who needs us most." His motto would be, "From every man according to his ability to every man according to his need." Dr. Brown feels that the missionary societies have been too much a woman's affair, that men have shirked in this respect and that they are needed.

The ravages of the present war will leave foreign lands in greater need than ever before of the aid of missionaries.

Dr. Brown describes India, for example, as seething with political, social and religious unrest. He feels that the non-Christian nations have been imitating our outward forms of civilization without accepting the name of our belief and he considers that the United States, by virtue of its isolation from this war, is the nation best fitted to undertake the burden of missionary work after the war is over.

Dr. Brown assured his hearers that the best the country could offer would be given at the Laymen's convention and urged that all who could should attend. A registration fee of $1.00 will be charged.

The speakers are: J. Campbell White, President of Wooster University, Wooster, Ohio; Dr. Fred B. Fisher, of New York City. Col. Elijah W. Halford, New York City; Charles G. Trumbull, Editor of the Sunday School Times, Philadelphia Pa.; Bishop Kinsolving, of South America; Rev. James P. McNaughton, Congregational Missionary to Turkey; Rudolph B. Teusler, M. D., Japan; Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, D. D., Boston; Dr. Arthur J. Brown, Drs. Charles E. Burton, James L. Barton and John M. Moore.

SUPT. LAMBERT SPEAKER

Superintendent J. W. Lambert, the speaker at the last regular meeting of the W. C. T. U., held at the home of Mrs. Sarah L. Cram Friday afternoon, chose the subject "Scientific Temperance." Mr. Lambert called special attention to the teaching of scientific temperance in the schools, reading several chapters from Gullick's Hygiene Series, the texts now used in Kennebunk. These chapters dealt with the subject from a purely scientific standpoint giving proof, through tabulated results of experiments performed on various forms of animal life, of the harmfulness of alcohol.

Mr. Lambert went on to emphasize the need of building self-control into the characters of boys and girls, in order to make temperance teaching effective.

At the close of the talk those present entered into an informal discussion of how to eradicate the use of the cigarette in Kennebunk. Light refreshments were served

The Only Place in Kennebunk

where you can buy the Genuine MAZDA LAMP - Westinghouse Brand - These Lamps are furnished in the following sizes, 10 15, 25 and 40 watt at the standard price
27 cents each

A cheaper grade of TUNGSTEN LAMPS in 10, 15, 25 and 40 watt sizes now offered at 20 cents each

We are always glad to call and give estimates on your house wiring.

Norton & Harden

-ELECTRICAL OUTFITTERS-

Main Street, Kennebunk, Me.

Acme Theatre

P-r-o-g-r-a-m

---Week of November 15th---

Monday and Tuesday 15-16

"THE BROKEN COIN" Serial Episode No. 5, with Francis Ford and Grace Cunard--2 Parts
"CIRCUS DAY," in 3 Parts, Victor Drama with Mary Fuller
"HER WONDERFUL DAY," Irish Drama
"A DOOMED HERO," L-Ko Comedy with Billie Ritchie

Wednesday and Thursday 17-18

Paramount Feature, John Barrymore in "THE DICTATOR," 5 Parts
"THE CATTLE RANCH," in 2 Parts, American
"Oh, DADDY," Beauty Comedy
"THE RENT JUMPER," Keystone Comedy

Friday and Saturday 19-20

Paramount Feature, Myrtle Stedman, in "WILD OLIVE," 5 Parts
"HIGBINDER," Majestic Drama, 2 Parts
"BIG BROTHER BILL," Thanhouser Comedy
"THE BEAUTY BUNGLERS," Keystone Comedy

KENNEBUNK ENTERPRISE
 ANNIE JOYCE CREDIFORD
 Editor and Publisher

 Devoted to the General Interests of York County

 Printed at the office of the Enterprise Press, Kennebunk, Me.

 One Year, in Advance $1.00
 Three Months .25
 Single Copies 3 Cents

 Advertising Rates made known on application

 A first class printing plant in connection. All work done promptly and in up-to-date style.

Wednesday, Nov. 16, 1915

The Layman's Missionary Movement opens its mammoth convention today in Portland. At this time it may be well to consider the significance of the movement and for each of us to look well into our hearts to see if by any chance we may not be due to make an extra effort to get into our neighboring city for at least one or two sessions. The movement is not one of ministers and churches on their last legs, or an evidence that the churches and Christianity are failures. On the contrary the movement is one of laymen, of everyday men who have come to see the long forgotten and unused possibilities of the church in everyday life of everyday communities. The movement is an indication that the church has ceased in large degree to be the sanctuary of sanctums and the holy of holies, and is to strike out beyond its four walls to the life of real people as a real seven days-a-week inspiration and help. At a time when Europe is reeking with the blood of an Un-Christian war and this country of ours is up against it with some of the most delicate of problems the solution of which demand all that can be claimed of the best of Christianity, it might well be considered the duty of every man who pretends to citizenship to hear of the struggle that is ahead and to ponder one means of solution. These are momentous times and the times that are coming are to be more momentous if the signs do not fail, and what is needed more than ever is a square deal all round, even in the hearts of men. Call it Christianity, or what you will, it matters not. But one thing is certain, a truer and more honest inner conscientiousness of the need of the square deal is desirable all along the line and in every stratum of society. The ministers call it Christianity, the average everyday man would call it what our recent eminent Progressive termed it, the "square deal." The force and influence of this one trait which sums up very well the essence of the true Christianity forms practically the life of the convention at Portland.

In its many applications to all walks and conditions of life this square deal or Christianity will be in substance the topic of the week. Its practical results will be noted as applied to experiences in war time in Turkey, to efforts of laymen in our own country, to questions of property and business and character, to the needs of the Americas and to Africa and to Japan. It is needless to say that the men who are to explain its application to the various needs are men who are qualified to speak and who know whereof they speak; men who have been on the ground in Japan and Turkey and the Latin Americas and Africa. The same men have already carried their message to the cities of Boston and Chicago and the West, and now Portland has one of the greatest of present day opportunities to hear first-hand information of the problems which every thinking man and woman must have run into and is perhaps floundering around helplessly in an effort to find a solution. Judged by the character of the men who are putting this convention across and the timely significance of the topics for discussion it goes without saying that every man who can possibly do so ought to run up to Portland and note the effort that modern Christianity is beginning to make through its everyday common laymen to instill into the hearts of men again that ideal of democracy which of right ought to be the outstanding characteristic of our own America.

WEBHANNET CLUB

Presidents' Day at the Webhannet Club, held at Mrs. C. H. Goodnow's last Monday, was both inspiring and instructive. Mrs. Goodnow opened the meeting with two songs and a selection on the victrola and then presented the speakers of the afternoon, the visiting presidents.

A letter of regret was read from Mrs. Sarah Rideout Abbott, ex-president of the Maine Federation, who was unable to be present because of a previous engagement at the New England Womens Press Association in Boston. Mrs. M. W. Freeman, president of the Berwick Women's Club, gave the membership of her club as 80, divided into active and associate membership. The active members pay a fee of $2.00, while the associate members, who are taxed $5.00, are excused from work in return for their extra financial assistance. The Berwick club is a department club and each department was described as a "little club in itself." Among the philanthropic plans of the club are the fitting up of the town hall, for some time in disuse, a story hour for the children, conducted by volunteers, and a library course whereby children in the 8th. and 9th. grades are taught the use of reference books.

Mrs. Harry Burnham, president of the Searchlight Club of Sanford, also a department club, gave the purpose of the organization as two-fold, to serve the club and to serve the community. The two departments for intensive study are the literary and current events; a small scholarship to assist some student to go to college and the maintenance of a public playground during six weeks of the summer are among the philanthropies of this club.

Mrs. R. M. Binn described the Woman's Club of Springvale, of which she is president, as primarily organized to assist the girls' school in the town. Beside the work of friendship to girls away from home for the first time the club has established a student loan fund, the money to be paid back without interest at the convenience of the student, pays the tuition fee of one scholar and pledged and raised $1000 in six months, for a dormitory, through the means of the unique "push cart" fair and other agencies.

Mrs. Leonard Dow, president of the Kennebunkport Olympian Club, reported that the membership had leapt from 20, in April last, to 50 at the present time. The goal which this club has in mind is the securing of a public library for the town.

Mrs. L. M. Binford, for many years president of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Saco, told a story of steady growth and accomplishments in civic betterment. She reported a cosmopolitan membership of 156, six of whom are men. Among the accomplishments of the Union in the past are a kindergarten, a course in manual training, and a course in household arts, all of which were later taken over by the schools.

The Union owns its club house, which was bought in 1911, with the exception of a small mortgage of a little over $600. A garden contest and mothers' meeting, at which suggestions on the care of children are made, one among the recent innovations. At present the Union is concentrating on medical inspection in the schools, this year hiring an examiner, instead of depending on volunteers as in the past.

Mrs. Goodnow was called on for a report of the Webhannet Club work. The next meeting of the club, to be held at the home of Mrs. Belle Gilpatric, will be "Nature Day." The program follows:

Music
 The Ocean—Physical Features and Uses.
 Mrs. Frank Rutter
 Flora and Fauna, Miss Helen Melcher.
 Reading from "Casting Away of Leek and Mrs. Aleshine," Stockton.
 Mrs. Alice Smith.
 Exhibit of Ocean Curios.
 Home Reading, "Outdoor Sketches" F. Hopkinson Smith.

NOTICE

I will upholster and renovate your old furniture so that it will look like new. Give me a trial order. Prices reasonable and work right.

Mrs. Charles Stevens.
 Kennebunk Landing.

MEN AND BOYS

A special entertainment committee, to make plans for some public activity, possibly a play, was appointed at the last meeting of the High School Boys' club, Friday, Nov. 5. Willis Day, Trafton Russell and Joseph Dane make up the committee and will submit their suggestions at the next meeting. The idea in having such an entertainment is to raise funds for the purchase of books or, possibly, a phonograph, to be put in the Y. M. C. A. room in the Ross block.

Rev. B. H. Tilton was secured as speaker by the entertainment committee. His subject was "The Chances of the Young Men of Today." Mr. Tilton spoke of the great opportunities, educational, scientific, social and political, afforded in this age, citing successes made within his own knowledge. Mr. Tilton also mentioned the value of athletics in their effect on character building. About 17 were present.

Library Story Hour Resumed.

The library story hours, begun last year, were resumed last Friday and will be held at regular intervals, probably every other Friday this coming year. About 35 children, ranging from the fifth grade up, were present, of whom 30 were boys. An encouraging feature of the work was shown in the fact that many of the children remembered stories or data on the travel talks given last year, asking questions which had evidently remained with them through the summer months.

The program follows:

1. Uncle Remus story.
2. Poems James Whitcomb Riley
 "Gram'ma's Visit."
 "The Jolly Miller."
3. Huckleberry Finn, (chapters 1 and 2) (Selected chapters will be read each week until the book is finished.)
4. Travel talk (illustrated.)
 Innsbruck and the Austrian Tyrol.
5. Microscope pictures of people and incidents of current interest.

Militia vs. Biddeford East Ends.

The 13th Company football team was defeated on Saturday by the Biddeford East Ends by a score of 15 to 0. The opposing team played a good game working well together, but their quarter back, Dubois, was the star member of the team, usually carrying the ball. Even when the home team became aware of the fact that he was the man to watch in particular, he managed to get away from them. This Dubois was undersized but quick and slippery as a "greased pig" as a spectator put it.

A touchdown was made in the first quarter and a touchdown and a goal from the field in the third quarter. This is the first goal from the field that has been made or attempted on the home grounds this year.

The militia played an "every man for himself" kind of game, proving that the eleven needs more practice as a team. Tackling was high and uncertain and interference did not carry out far enough. The team has weight and good material, but needs practice.

The line-ups follows:

Biddeford	13th. Company
Sieard, e	le, Maxwell
Greenwood, It	It. Wormwood
Willett, Ig	Ig, MacDonald
Archimbaum, c	c; Waterhouse
Xhere, rg	rg, MacBride, Berry
Gilbert, rt	rt, Munroe
Lamb, re re	Lamontagne, Williams
Dubois, qb	qb, Dennett
Cody, rhb	rhb, R. Towne
Medoie, lhb	lhb, J. Towne
Prym, fb	fb, Bryant
Timer, Courtis.	Referee, Wint-
Head linesman	Cody.

K. H. S. to Play Rochester

The K. H. S. football squad will leave Kennebunk Saturday morning at 9 o'clock for Rochester N. H. where the local boys are to play Rochester H. S. An auto bus has been hired to take the whole outfit. A game has been arranged with Biddeford for Nov. 20 to be played in that city. This will be a fast game and should be witnessed by all those interested in the K. H. S. boys.

Plush and Corduroy Coats

For Women and Misses

Are in big demand, and what's the result? Prices advancing and the materials getting scarcer every week. Fortunately our orders on these popular coats were placed early in the season and while we can show today a wonderful assortment at right prices, we cannot promise this much two weeks hence.

Why Not Buy Now?

While our stock is at its best—while prices show no advance—while size assortment is complete

CORDUROY COATS $6.98, $8.98 up to $27.50

Plush Coats $20.00, $22.50 up to $29.50

Also in Cloth Coats we are showing a remarkable collection of just the kind you want. Persiana Coats, Boucle Coats, Kurtex Coats, stunning Fancy Mixture Coats in almost every wanted style and color at prices

$5.98, $6.98, $8.98 upwards to $20.00

KNIT UNDERWEAR

"Forest Mills" and "Wm. Carter" brands are sold here.

Women's fleece lined vests and pants 25c, 29c, 50c

Women's fleece lined Union Suits, various styles, 50c, 59c, $1.00

Women's wool vests and pants, white, also natural. 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50

Women's wool union suits, "Carter" made, all styles, $1.50, $2.00 to $3.50

Misses' fleece lined union suits, 50c, 59c

Misses' wool vests and pants, 39c, 50c, 59c to 89c

Misses' fleece lined vests and pants white, also Peerless, 25c, 29c

"Dr. Denton" sleeping garments, for children, 65c, 85c, $1.00

"Hatch" one-button sleeping garments, 50c and 59c

Women's medium weight vests and pants, 25c, 29c, 50c, 62 1-2c

Millinery

At Department Store Prices

Again this week 150 untrimmed velvet hats, variety best shapes, values $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50, now marked at

98c

Trimmed Hats

At $2.98 and 3.98

Fine quality velvet and plush, trimmed with ostrich fancies and stick-ups. Extra value this week at $2.98, $3.98

Children's untrimmed hats, prices 98c, $1.49

Children's trimmed hats, prices 98c to $2.25

Children's Angora knit toques, white and colors, price 49c

W. E. YOULAND CO.

BUTTERICK PATTERNS AND THE DELINEATOR ON SALE

Main Street

Biddeford, Maine

Have You Anything To Sell?

ADVERTISE IN THIS PAPER AND GET RESULTS

Mr. and day here

E. R. I their tri They spe Sunday in York on Louis. Th Jacksonvi spend the

Mrs. W. wick Satu Maine gai W. F. C. Prout's No

The Ma most attra quit, has form four been mad stones and way. The been prese as possible ing financ provement

Mrs. Wa at her hom Mrs. M. home.

The Glea the Thomps ed by them.

The Ogu pany bough kins and a l both on the and a farm of Bradford The lots an

Work will future on Hotel. An c the dining r sleeping roo has been mo remodeled to Archie Fe after a week E. F. Hoop last week. Joel Perkin painted.

Raymond F his recent h mates its val Charles W have returned Mrs. L. P. was in town ov

The Red Me to be ballotte Tuesday night S. H. Woodt returned to L

Charles Ma steam heat in M. S. Perkin air and hot wat

N. P. M. Jaco spend the win D. C. It is u will start this

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon's broth on their Calif. They will visi will be gone a r George Adam are hunting at Friday.

Frank Rollin next Wednesday. The gunning John and Regh Perkins and A having good st has shot two de kins one each.

Bert L. Perkin a gunning trip to day.

The Riverside ted. Mrs. George T her house re-mo being put on and a furnace instal

Carl Perkins, of Maine, spent his father, W. E. As many as a of Ogunquit sav Nation" in Port They bear out t of its excellence The Misses' U cottage last We turned to Camb

Miss Corne h tage and return Mass.

An addition is

Randall Hoyt's h

THE OGUNQUIT NEWS

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF OGUNQUIT AND WELLS

OGUNQUIT LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Marsters spent the day here Sunday.

E. R. Hoyt and wife started on their trip south last Saturday. They spent Saturday in Boston, Sunday in Greenfield, going to New York on Monday and then to St. Louis. There trip will terminate in Jacksonville, Fla., where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. W. W. Smith went to Brunswick Saturday to see the Bowdoin-Maine game.

W. F. Cousens spent Saturday at Prout's Neck.

The Marginal Way, one of the most attractive walks about Ogunquit, has been widened to a uniform four foot width, steps have been made where needed, and stones and underbrush cleared away. The rustic appearance has been preserved and as little cement as possible used. The work is being financed by the Village Improvement Society.

Mrs. Walter Perkins is quite ill at her home.

Mrs. M. J. Backer is ill at her home.

The Gleason's have moved into the Thompson house, recently leased by them.

The Ogunquit Highlands company bought a lot of Walter Perkins and a lot of Lincoln Maxwell, both on the North Berwick road and a farm in York, near the home of Bradford Woodward, last week. The lots and farm will be re-sold.

Work will be begun in the near future on additions to Clark's Hotel. An office room will be built, the dining room enlarged and extra sleeping rooms added. The stable has been moved back and is being remodeled to serve as a garage.

Archie Fenderson is improving after a week's illness.

E. F. Hooper bought a new horse last week.

Joel Perkins is having his barn painted.

Raymond Brewster shot a fox on his recent hunting trip. He estimates its value at about $9.00.

Charles Woodbury and family have returned to Boston.

Mrs. L. P. Severance of Boston was in town over Sunday.

The Red Men had five candidates to be balloted on at their meeting Tuesday night.

S. H. Woodbury and family have returned to Lynn, Mass.

Charles Maxwell is to instal steam heat in his store.

M. S. Perkins is to instal a hot air and hot water plant in his home.

N. P. M. Jacobs and family are to spend the winter in Washington, D. C. It is understood that they will start this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon, with Mrs. Gordon's brother and wife, started on their California trip Saturday. They will visit the exposition and will be gone a month.

George Adams and his wife, who are hunting at Milo, got a deer on Friday.

Frank Rollins will go to Milo next Wednesday.

The gunning party made up of John and Reginald Jacobs, Harry Perkins and Archie Littlefield is having good success. Littlefield has shot two deer, Jacobs and Perkins one each.

Bert L. Perkins and son went on a gunning trip to Mt. Bigelow Tuesday.

The Riverside hotel is being painted.

Mrs. George Thompson is having her house re-modeled. A piazza is being put on and electric lights and a furnace installed.

Carl Perkins, of the University of Maine, spent the week-end with his father, W. H. Perkins.

As many as a hundred residents of Ogunquit saw "The Birth of a Nation" in Portsmouth last week. They bear out the general verdict of its excellence.

The Misses Upham closed their cottage last Wednesday and returned to Cambridge, Mass.

Miss Corne has closed her cottage and returned to Cambridge, Mass.

An addition is being built on Dr. Randall Hoyt's house.

John Matthews has completed his duties with the Atlantic Shore Line.

Miss Anna Maguire, a graduate of the Trull hospital, has entered the Corey Hill hospital, Boston to take a post graduate course. She left on Saturday.

Ray Hanscom and Luther Weare attended probate court in Biddeford last week.

Miss Ruth Roberts was home from Saco on Sunday.

Carl Spiller of Wells spent Sunday at the Hotel Ogunquit.

An automobile party stayed at Hotel Ogunquit Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward, of Newton, Mass., were in town Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Estes of No. Berwick were in Ogunquit last week.

Miss Arlene Perkins is considering the offer of a position in Portsmouth.

Two candidates are to be voted no at the next meeting of the Grange Friday night.

Miss Doris A. Perkins is to have a birthday party in Firemen's hall on Thursday night.

Mr. John Phillips of the State Road who has been ill so long, remains about the same.

The Bible School of the Christian Church is contemplating a concert for Christmas.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Roberts will attend the Layman's convention in Portland on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Robert Perkins will accompany E. R. Hoyt to Jacksonville, Fla., where he will serve as butler in the family.

The Ideal Club of the Methodist church will not meet this week, owing to the absence of the pastor and his wife.

Next Sunday at the Christian Church "World's Temperance Sunday" will receive especial attention at all the services.

Mr. Warren D. Sears of the Portland Water District, Portland Me. was a week end visitor at the parsonage of the Christian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weare are two of our older residents housed because of advancing years tho they have vital interest concerning things about.

At the Christian Church last Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. E. H. Macy, spoke on "A singular Life," John VII 46 and in the evening on "Dealing With Doubt" John III, 9.

Miss Eva White of State Road went to Dover N. H., last Saturday to begin training for a nurse in the hospital. Her many friends wish her the best of success in her chosen work.

Mr. Henry Weare of Hill Crest Inn has had the misfortune to step on a nail with a crooked point. Rather painful complications therefrom are under the efficient care of Dr. Smith.

Reports from Miss Grace Weare of the local Library indicate that she is having a pleasant vacation with relatives in Illinois. The library is closed this week and next and work on the addition is prospering nicely under the direction of Mr. Luther Weare.

Mr. Macy, author of the poem "Ogunquit" that appeared in our last issue asks us to correct an error occurring in reading from his MS. Instead of the words "to think" that began the tenth line from the end his MS. read "No link so strong" etc.

Last Sunday was communion Sunday at the Methodist church. The pastor's subject was, "Man from Edom." The evening subject was, "Will a Man Rob God?" and dealt, not with the question of money, but with the idea of love, praise and service.

Some of our summer people still remain with us. "The High Rock" has closed its doors for the season, the last guest having departed.

C. L. Maxwell is having a new heater installed in his store and tenement over store. We understand a new family will soon occupy this pleasant rent.

Mrs. C. L. Hayward and son who have been stopping in Ogunquit for a few weeks, have returned to Kennebunk.

Henry Maxwell is planning to have new windows set in his barn, which is located on Ogunquit Heights.

A few brave ones have a plunge in the surf on the warm days, and report that the water "is fine."

We shall miss Mr. and Mrs. Farwell and daughter who have gone South for the winter.

L. L. Maxwell and party took in "The Birth of a Nation," at Portsmouth, last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon spent a week end recently in the mountains, returning Monday.

Mr. Macy pastor of the Christian church, is becoming very popular, and the interest is growing at all the meetings connected with this church.

We surely do not have to go South for beautiful weather. It would be hard to find conditions more desirable than we have right here at home. It well repays anybody to "go for a walk" these beautiful afternoons.

Mrs. S. E. Camp, who has been visiting friends in Boston for a short time, has returned to her home.

It is reported that the contract has been awarded to parties, to wire the Christian parsonage, for electric lights, where they will be much appreciated.

L. L. Maxwell is doing a rushing business selling house lots on the North Berwick road, some of which are very desirable.

ITS PIANO TIME

If you are going to give your child a musical education this is the best time of the year to start. Days are getting shorter, the evenings longer and it's the proper time to start the boy or girl on the piano.

AT MONTGOMERY'S

You will find a splendid assortment of both new and used PIANOS FOR SALE OR TO RENT at honest and reasonable prices. We have been doing a Piano Business for 50 years. Do you need any further guarantee for safety?

H. P. Montgomery

OPP. POSTOFFICE
PORTSMOUTH - - - N. H.

Ship Goods by

Atlantic Expre's Co. and Receive Prompt Delivery

J. E. Brewster, Agent
OGUNQUIT, MAINE

A. M. Bragdon

That's the Name
YORK CO. NATIONAL BANK
That's the Place
Where INSURANCE of all kinds is Written

Years of experience with a record of the largest village agency in the state, a choice of 20 of the leading Insurance companies. Insurance scientifically written. Insurance that protects.
Telephone 20

BROOKS' OLD FURNITURE SHOP

Early American Furniture in Maple, Walnut and Mahogany. Antique Furniture Restored. Brass, Early Pewter, Old China, Glass, Etc.
YORK VILLAGE, ME.

Kennebunk Steam

Laundry
FRANK RUTTER, Prop.

KENNEBUNK, MAINE
Water Street
Telephone Connection

Recital to be given by I. H. Downing of Atlanta, Ga., on Monday evening, Nov. 15th at 7.30, at the Christian church, Ogunquit. Miss Arlene Perkins at the piano.

S. J. Perkins and family motored to Portland on Saturday.

C. L. Maxwell spent Saturday and Sunday out of town. He will use the new Ford car, purchased recently, in his business.

John Jacobs of Boston, spent Sunday with her sister Mrs. Sara Grant.

Mrs. C. L. Perkins, who has been visiting her son Charles, in South Portland, returned home on Saturday.

One of Henry Maxwell's boarders left him quite suddenly last week. There was no unpaid board bill however. At the present writing we hear that he is still in Ogunquit.

Hon. Horace Mitchell of Kittery is still on his job and on the hunt for votes for the nomination for Congress from the first district. From present indications he has the matter well in hand and is reasonably assured of the nomination. He was a brief caller here Monday morning.

The stray cats in our midst left by the summer residents give evidence pathetic that some need to know of the law against such practice. Incidentally the practice imposes a humanitarian burden on the all-the-year people hereabouts as far as feeding them is concerned.

Don't wander around in the dark when you can obtain an

Electric Flash Light

At a moderate cost at the old store

PRYOR-DAVIS COMPANY

36 Market Street
PORTSMOUTH, N. H.
Tel. 509

— FOR —

Good Meats

Trade with
E. F. HOOPER
OGUNQUIT, MAINE

ALLEN C. MOULTON
LUMBER, HARDWARE, PAINTS
Monarch Paint 100 per cent Pure
Johnson's Wood Finishes
YORK VILLAGE, MAINE

MEET ME AT PICTURELAND

Every Monday Wednesday and Saturday Evening
IN FIREMAN'S HALL
From 7 00 to 8 30 p m
OGUNQUIT

C. L. Maxwell OGUNQUIT, MAINE

Groceries, Hardware, Paints, Oils, Kitchen Furnishings, Boots, Shoes. Agent for S. S. Pierce Specialties, Chase & Sanborn's Teas and coffee, King Arthur Flour.

Orders taken daily and promptly delivered by teams and automobile. Satisfactory service guaranteed.

Ye Noble Bake Shop YORV VILLAGE, ME.

Catering a Specialty, Auto Delivery Milk Bread, Fancy Rolls, Cake and Pastry of all kinds
ALL HOME COOKING
Ice Cream, College Ices, Banana Splits, Frozen Pudding
Telephone 346-2

WELLS LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Storer went to Portland on a pleasure trip, Friday of last week.

Miss Marion Moody is teaching at Div. No. 1 at Coles Corner.

Mr. John Sipple is building a cottage at Drakes Island.

Miss Marjorie Wing is the guest of Miss Katherine Hubbard.

Mr. O. J. Hubbard and family motored to the Mountains last week but were obliged to return on account of snow.

Chester Durrill who has been spending his vacation in town has returned to North Weare.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Spiller have returned to their home in East Rochester.

Miss Vivian Storer was in Dover, N. H., Saturday on business.

Mrs. Blynn Davis has returned from her visit in Lewiston, Me.

Mrs. Alice Jones and son Freeman of Boston have been visiting Mrs. Jones' parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowe.

Mr. Bert Wells, our rural mail carrier, is on his vacation. His place is being filled by Mr. Edward Clark.

Several of Wells' popular set attended the Harvest Supper at West Hall.

Mr. Harry Hayes is clerking for E. Garland.

Mrs. Frank Phillips, with a party of friends, motored to Sanford. Monday of this week.

Miss Ruby York was in Portland the first of the week on business.

Mr. Joseph Milldrum fell and sprained his ankle while at work in his barn.

Mr. Charles Kelly has returned from his vacation and has taken up his duties as station agent.

Mrs. Reginald Jacobs, has been staying with her mother, Mrs. Chas. Hilton, while her husband has been on a hunting trip.

Mrs. Warren Roberts of North Berwick, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Herbert Kimball.

Miss Gertrude Littlefield visited in North Berwick, the first of the week.

Mrs. Jennie Staples and son Russell of Sanford, Me. were the guests of Mrs. Bert Porter over Sunday.

Feed your hens Sal-Vet brand Poultry Tonic, 25c and 50c packages at Fiske's Drug Store.

Miss Lena Stevens is taking a four weeks' vacation.

Miss Alyce Day is spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Frank Clark.

The sanatorium and home of Dr. Pitts are being painted and decorated. W. C. Berry of Kennebunk has five men at work on the job.

Mrs. H. A. Littlefield, Mrs. A. H. Somers and Mrs. W. H. Pitts spent a few days with Mrs. A. F. Freeman at York Beach last week. On Thursday they shopped in Portland, later seeing "The Birth of a Nation" at the Portsmouth theatre.

State Highway System Comprehensive

Statistics on the proposed Maine State Highway system disclose the fact that this highway of 1300 miles will reach 73 per cent of the population of Maine and will cover 73 per cent of the total valuation of the state. So carefully has the highway been planned that it will run through every city, every county seat and every principal town in Maine; it will reach 288 cities and towns of the something over 500 within the limits of the state. The plan is for "the greatest good of the greatest number." At the end of this season practically 200 miles of this state highway will be completed. When the present bond of $2,000,000 has been expended, there will be 400 miles of state highway completed.

The idea for the coming year is to put all state highways, both improved and unimproved, under the patrol system, a force of about 500 patrolmen, covering every section of Maine, being kept constantly on the highways from April until late in the fall, maintaining them in the best possible condition. A force of 25 patrolmen only has been employed this year.

WM. J. STORER

INSURANCE

Fidelity Phoenix Fire Ins. Co.
American Central Ins. Co.
Detroit Fire and Marine Ins. Co.
Wells Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

WELLS ME.

Crawford Heating Stoves

Lead Them All

We have the largest line of heating stoves ever shown in this city. Over 50 stoves to select from, from the cheapest to the best. Don't buy anything else when you can get a Crawford. Come early and make your selection.

PORTSMOUTH FURNITURE CO.,

Near B. & M. Depot Cor. Deer and Vaughan Sts.

Call And See The COTTON BATTING

10c to 50c per Roll

Large Assortment Of

Ladies' House Dresses

Sizes 34 to 50

POTTER'S BARGAIN STORE

Kennebunk, Me.

DON'T FORGET

That The Place To Buy
Hosiery & Underware

is at

Wilbur F. Cousens

OGUNQUIT, MAINE

Try Sanford's Pharmacy

Our prices are right and we try to please

Mail Orders Filled

York Village - Maine

BUTTER WRAPPERS
1000 For $2.00

At The Enterprise Office

"THE MAN THAT CAME BACK"

By EARL H. YOUNG
Kennebunkport, Me.

It is morning and slowly the sky that has been palest blue brightens until a fiery-red arch domes the east. Steadily the radiance grows until the sun in its splendor makes glad the world. It is here, where as far as one can see over a prairie dotted here and there with cactus and long-horn steers, while in a slight hollow among a few trees stands a rude hut, lonely and desolate-looking on this bright morning.

As the sun peeps over the horizon, in the distance there appears a solitary horseman. As he draws nearer the hut the sad far-away look on the youthful, handsome but dissipated face is suddenly replaced by an anxious one, as rising in the stirrups with his hand over his eyes, he nervously scans the prairie.

Stratford mutters to himself, "They can't be on my trail—unless that cursed greaser Percy gives me away. I sure am a fool to think so for I am safe. What if I am a thief—the world owes me something. My life is spoiled. Why should sister Bess be blighted also? For love of a worthless brother she mortgaged the dear old home back there in Massachusetts to come to me when I was sick and helpless. Now they would take it from her, but I say they can't for I have the money that will save it for her and she will never know how I gained it. Then with 'God's' help I mean to redeem the past and make myself a man again. Why should the loss of a worthless woman ruin a man's whole life? I've been a coward but from now on I swear I will go straight and live down the past."

He straightens in his saddle and his face takes on a look it hasn't had for years. He slips from his bronc before the door of the hut and pushing it open enters and calls, "Bess, little sister, where are you?"

No one answered the call so he sank wearily into a seat and resting his head on his hands remarked, "I wonder where Bess can be? Poor little girl, she must be so lonely here and still she never complains. I shall miss her bright face but this wild life is not for her. Now I can send her back home and know she at least is safe."

Suddenly he sprang to his feet with his hand on the butt of his gun at the sound of approaching hoof-beats, but before he could draw they ceased, and the door was flung open and a girl of eighteen sprang into the room her dark, dimpled, laughing face a picture good to look upon.

"Oh brother Will," said Bess, "I have had such a glorious ride," and noticing the sad expression on his face remarked, "Why are you so sad, dear? Has anything gone wrong? You must be tired and hungry. I will get you some breakfast. It was thoughtless of me to ride so far. Where have you been so long?"

"Never mind the breakfast, Bess," he replied. "Come here. I've good news for you. You can go home now, little girl, and have the old home back again. Are you not glad?"

"Oh, Will, I can't tell you how happy you have made me. We will be so contented there, dear. Where did you get so much money?" she asked.

"I can't tell you, Bess. You would not understand. I can't go with you now but promise to come as soon as I have MADE GOOD HERE." Taking her sad little face between his hands, he kissed her tenderly, saying, "You need not worry sister, for I've taken an oath to redeem the past."

As they talked, neither heard foot-steps approaching the hut until from the door behind them came the stern command, "Hands up, son, for I've got you covered."

They spring to their feet only to look into the sheriff's grim face and the muzzle of a forty-five.

Will, without a word, faces the sheriff, his hands rising slowly above his head but Bess, with a cry of alarm, springs between them.

"What does he mean, brother? Surely he has made a mistake. Tell him so, dear. It cannot be you he wants," she said.

Then—as she thinks of what he has been telling her—and the money, Bess' face slowly pales and she is silent, while the brother stands mute with miserable eyes fixed on the sheriff's face.

"I reckon it's no mistake, little gal. It's him I sure want alright. He thought he had covered his trail and so he did, but it's never safe to trust a 'Greaser' son. When we captured Percy and caught him with the goods, too, it was easy to make him tell who helped him rob the bank in Moro last night. We found a man that had seen you riding out from there before daylight. We sure have you alright so you might as well come along without a fuss and take your medicine. I am sorry for you, little gal, but duty is duty and I shall have to take him along with me," remarked the sheriff.

Bess stands like a statue staring from one to the other. For an age it seems to the two men she stands thus, then with a cry she throws her arms around her brother.

"Sheriff," said Bess, "if he is guilty it was for me, that I might have back our dear old home, 'Meadow Brook.' The money had to be paid and they would not wait. You will not punish him? Surely he has suffered enough in the past. I thought to be a comfort to him and now through my constant repining for the old homestead—I have been his ruin."

Then the boy, for he is scarcely more, stirs and looks down at her.

"Hush, dear, for I am guilty. What he said is true. The hardest part is to leave you alone and unprotected. My God! what a failure my life has been and once it meant so much to me. How love for a woman can make or mar a man's life, but what's the use of looking back? Sheriff, I am ready to go with you," he concluded.

Since the mention of "Meadow Brook" a change has come over the sheriff. The hand that holds the gun shakes and his face is drawn and old.

The sheriff asks, "Did you say your home was called 'Meadow Brook,' and your name—man, tell me what is your name?"

"Our home is called 'Meadow Brook' and my name is Will Stratford. Why did you ask me this?"

The sheriff does not answer but mutters under his breath, "God! I thought so. Will you tell me why I find you here and under these conditions?"

"I don't know why I should tell you, but I will. About six years ago we, little Bess and I, had a happy home. Our parents were dead and we lived together in 'Meadow Brook.' Then I fell in love and for a time I can't tell you how happy I was, for I married her and lived in a fool's paradise for one year. Then came the news like a bolt from a clear sky. She had never loved me, but had married me for spite, loving another man. He had come back and she fled with her old lover. For a time things were a blank to me. After a time I came west and like a fool plunged into every dissipation hoping to drown out the past. At last sick and alone, little Bess found me. When she could bear my silence no longer, she mortgaged our home and came back west to stay with me. She has never reproached me but I knew she was breaking her heart for the old homestead, and as the time drew near to loose it, I knew by her sad little face I had spoiled her life as well as mine, so I determined to get the money somehow to save it for Bess. Then came a devil in the form of Percy and you know the rest, sheriff."

When he has finished, Bess is crying silently, while the sheriff with a look in his usually stern eyes hard to read is silent and so for a time they stand.

Later the sheriff remarks, "It is twenty-five miles to the nearest station. Take your broncs and ride like hell. I will stay here. When I don't return they will come for me."

"Do you mean," gasps Bess, for the sheriff is silent, "to let us go—free?"

"I mean to make it possible for you both to see 'Meadow Brook' again," he replies.

Then Will remarks, "But, sheriff, what will they think to find you here alone?"

"They will think," he replies slowly, "there was a fight and you got me first."

The sheriff takes his gun in his left hand, there is a sharp report and his right arm hangs helpless at his side. As they both spring towards him, he almost shouts, "Go, for God's sake! Go, I tell you."

"Not until you tell me why you have done this for us," replied Will.

"Then know if you must. I was the lover that came back," he answered.

For one moment they look into each other's eyes, then one man goes silently out and mounting his bronc he and Bess ride swiftly away through the glorious sunshine of the west.

FINIS

SACO ROAD AND VICINITY.

The chicken supper at the Methodist church Tuesday evening was a great success. A large company was present and the evening much enjoyed.

Eugene Merrill, conductor on the Atlantic Shore railway took a short vacation last week making a visit in Portsmouth and also having a gunning trip.

Mrs. Annie Westcott, who has been in the store during her husband's vacation, gave up her duties when Miss Hazel Munroe, who acts as clerk, returned from her vacation spent in the Provinces at the home of her parents. Mrs. Westcott went at once to the Maine hunting grounds to join her husband during the remainder of his vacation. All wish Mr. and Mrs. Westcott a pleasant outing. Several of our townspeople are spending their vacations in the Maine woods.

Sherman, one of our prosperous farmers, had the misfortune to have a splinter stuck in his foot which was very painful but is all right now.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Martin are on the sick list.

Charles Hutchinson, who is one of our most lucky sportsmen, recently shot a handsome fox and Frank Littlefield shot one in his door yard Thursday morning. Mr. Fox had come to breakfast on chicken, where there are a great many to pick from.

Miss Abia Stone with other friends attended the theatre in Portland recently.

R. A. Fiske spent two days in Boston last week.

Mrs. Alden Baker has a little girl in her home from the York County Children's Aid Society, who will find a nice home with nice young people and will be kindly treated, sent to school, etc. We wish all these little ones could be as fortunate.

Samuel Hall's cattle shed is progressing rapidly. Horace Kimball is doing the work. Mr. Hall will not build his barn to replace the one recently destroyed by fire until spring.

We are sorry to learn of the resignation of Capt. McVey of Co. 13. Although not personally acquainted with Rev. Mr. McVey, yet we have heard him spoken of highly and we know that his personality and influence have made him most popular with the boys. We hope some one who will be well liked will take his place and keep up the good name and interest of this company, many of whom are our old (or rather young) friends and in whom we take a great interest.

Who shot the first deer in York County after the law was off?

Mrs. T. S. Ross and children of Rock Haven Farm in Biddeford spent Sunday with her mother Mrs. D. W. Hadlock.

D. W. Hadlock has sold one of his horses to John Toozie the florist.

Our mailman says his patrons know his fondness for good things—apples, cream for his coffee, etc. He frequently has the good things given him. Many thanks.

For husky throats try Lozengers—Fiske, the druggist. Adv.

The York County Poultry association will hold its annual show and exhibit in town hall, Sanford, Nov. 30, and Dec. 1 and 2. Plans are being made for a bigger and better show than ever before.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES

On last Sunday Rev. J. W. Frost, the district superintendent, preached in the afternoon and gave an illustrated missionary lecture in the evening.

The regular Friday, Monday and Wednesday meetings were held as usual.

The pastor has returned from his months vacation and will resume his duties on Sunday.

The Women's Home Missionary society met yesterday at the home of Mrs. O. E. Curtis where they spent the afternoon sewing and tacking a quilt.

CONGREGATIONAL

In the absence of the pastor, Mr. McVey, the Rev. Jos. Hammond of Kennebunkport will occupy the pulpit Sunday. The services are as usual.

BAPTIST

The World's Temperance Sunday will be observed in both the morning and evening services on Sunday next. There will be a special Sunday School program for the children. The topic of the morning sermon will be "Liberty and Truth," based the text "Ye shall know the Truth and the Truth shall make you free,"—the sermon applying to temperance. The hour of service remains the same—10.30 and 7 p. m.

The First Parish social will be held in the vestry Thursday night and will be followed by an entertainment.

A delegation of men will attend the Laymen's Convention in Portland on Thursday of this week. Among those going from this church are Charles Hall, Asa Richardson, Deacon George Roberts and Fred Severance and the pastor.

UNITARIAN

The large meeting of the Unitarian Neighborhood Alliance was held in the vestry of the local church today at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A considerable number of delegates from Portland, Saco, and Sanford were present. In the absence of Mrs. Wm. Barry Mrs. S. L. Cram presided. Reports were received from the various branches and indicated a great deal of interest. The Sanford branch in particular noted material aid in the purchase of a lot for the site of the new church, the building of which is in contemplation. An address Boston, president of the National Alliance, which followed by remarks from several others, including members of the Kennebunk branch. At 5.30 the gathering partook of a generous supper and the meeting was then adjourned.

The Lend-a-Hand will hold its regular meeting in the church vestry at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. Mr. Winter will speak.

Rev. Wilson spent last Saturday evening in Boston in attendance at the Journalists' reunion and banquet at Young's hotel. The Massachusetts governor-elect and other prominent men who are now and have been journalists were present. Among others Rev. Wilson was a speaker, confining his remarks to a brief general address.

On Thursday last at the afternoon session of the ladies of the church committees were appointed plan for the regular fair. The date was set for Thursday, Dec. 2.

A meeting has been called for making arrangements for the usual donations of Thanksgiving, the time Tuesday at 3 p. m., and the place the Y. M. C. A. room in the Ross block on Main street. The meeting is to be under the auspices of the Associated Charities and delegates are expected from all the churches and the benevolent organizations of the town.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Sunday service at 10.45 a. m. Wednesday evening testimony meeting, 7.45 p. m., at Christian Science chapel Summer street. All are welcome.

Reading room open Wednesday p. m., from 3.30 to 4.30, where authorized Christian Science literature can be read and procured. Same address.

LORD, The Stove Man

Has Sold 19 Stoves the past 12 Days.

WHY DID HE SELL THESE 19 STOVES?

Because People realize he has the Best Stove on the market

JOHN W. LORD

P. O. Square Kennebunk, Me.

SOME NEW PATTERNS

—IN—

BOYS'

Suits and Overcoats

That will please the boy and also please your pocketbook

AT

WAKEFIELD'S

JOSEPH D'ASCANIO

Boot and Shoes Repairing by the aid of modern machinery Custom Work. Ladies' Shoes a Specialty. Shoe Polishing Parlor. Open Half-a-day Sundays.

MAIN STREET KENNEBUNK, MAINE

West Kennebunk

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Curran who died Monday at the home of her sister in Biddeford was from the latter's home yesterday morning at 7 o'clock. Burial was also in Biddeford. Several days ago Mrs. Curran who had been ill was taken to her sister's home and immediately on her arrival in Biddeford went into a sinking spell from which she never came out. The cause of her death was cited as heart failure. Mrs. Curran was 48 years of age. She is survived locally only by her husband, Joseph Curran who has been employed for the past thirteen years by J. M. Meade at the cider mill.

SELECT BREEDERS NOW

Now is the time to prepare for your breeding stock for a year from this winter, and every farmer interested in securing the best results should begin to select from the early maturing pullets.

Pullets laying early in the fall should be culled over and those with the best vigor and constitution selected for breeders. The best method of making these is by the means of a band on the leg.

It is not safe to assume that every pullet found on the nest is laying because pullets often sit on the nest for some little time before they begin to lay. Other indications of early laying, are red in the comb and wattles, and when the side "lay bones" spread enough to allow the insertion of the ends of two fingers.

Of course it is understood that the pullets selected now will be branded and saved next season when the others are dressed off after their summer laying is finished. Then during the winter of 1916-17 these will be the breeding stock.

A few minutes time this fall will mean dollars to the poultryman. The man who does things at the proper time is the man who ultimately makes the money.

Office of Sagadahoc—Androscoggin County Agent. H. J. Shaw. Topsham.

There is no unnecessary waiting when Fiske, the druggist, fills your prescription. A full, fresh stock assures you of ready, accurate service. Adv.

The fo
Endeavo
Joseph editor of sentimen herewith joyment
It is Didn't of a pert ble:

"Tell
parsons remarks
casually.
"Y-e-s
Crane h Church l
"What
"Why,
tatingly,
tell the know. A don't see he thinks
"Been
he?"

"Let's
Yes, quit times."
"Getti
"Old" rising 40
"Meb trainin' bar'l too
"Not a dent, an town. I Stranger him in su
"Leetle
now and or someti Barton
"Why,
There isn
in town t more res right!"
"What"
you lettin get a-hol fect for a a man, I for love o
"W-e-l-
"that's t church de anywhere Sunday m
all. Sund and pray
Seems str
"How prayer m
"Oh, pe know; I w
"Why n
"Well, came over don't quit was tired
"Why, I
to prayer these part
"Y-e-s,
got out of know why offener ti
Joe Doc while.

"By the denly, "w class of b
Sunday se an' young Jackson's member y about 'em seemed's a string o ors an' su
they turn Barton
rassed.
"Why, t that class when I w know."
"But th years ago
"Yes, b back to S well. Had staying at habits gro when he of life."
"What's they go st
"Why,
know Eld ious to ge
I think he
it. Too ba Joe bro its four le had tipp and settle immediat

"HOSS SENSE"

The following from the Christian Endeavor World, written by Rev. Joseph Kennard Wilson, D. D., the editor of Zion's Herald voices the sentiment of many readers and we herewith print it for their enjoyment and, perhaps, instruction. It is entitled "Why the Parson Didn't 'Make the Pace' the story of a pertinent and profitable parable:

"Tell me you're goin' to swap parsons up to the White Church," remarked Simeon Barton's visitor casually.

"Y-es, I believe so; that is, Mr. Crane has sent in his resignation. Church hasn't acted on it yet."

"What's the trouble?"

"Why," replied his host hesitatingly, "I don't really know. To tell the truth, nobody seems to know. All there is about it, things don't seem to be getting ahead, and he thinks he'd better go."

"Been here quite a spell, ain't he?"

"Let's see, just about 15 years. Yes, quite a long while for these times."

"Gettin' a leetle old for ye?"

"Old? Why, no; he's only a little rising 40, a young man yet."

"Mebbe he don't keep up his trainin'? Tips up his sermon-bar'l too often, eh?"

"Not a bit of it! He's a hard student, and the best preacher in town. Everybody grants that. Strangers wonder how we can keep him in such a place as Ryeboro."

"Leetle off color outside? Shies now and then? Don't pay his bills, or somethin'?"

Barton laughed.

"Why, man, you're way off! There isn't a better or squarer man in town than Elder Crane, nor one more respected. No, sir; he's all right!"

"What's biting you, then? What you lettin' him go for? If I could get a hold of a hoss as near perfect for a hoss as you say he is for a man, I wouldn't part with him for love or money."

"W-e-l-l," responded the other, "that's the puzzle of it. The church doesn't seem to be getting anywhere. Good congregations Sunday morning, but that's about all. Sunday school running down and prayer meeting running out. Seems strange."

"How many did you have at prayer meetin' last Wednesday?"

"Oh, perhaps 20 to 25. I don't know; I wasn't there."

"Why not?"

"Well, let's see." A dull flush came over the speaker's cheek. "I don't quite remember; I guess I was tired, or busy, or something."

"Why, I thought you allus went to prayer meetin' when I was about these parts."

"Y-es, I did. But somehow I've got out of the way of it; don't just know why, either. Ought to get offener than I do, I suppose."

Joe Dooley kept silence for a while.

"By the way," he broke out suddenly, "what's become of that class of boys you used to have in Sunday school,—the Grimes boys, an' young Jim Berry, an' Tom Jackson's kid, an' the rest? I remember you was telling me a lot about 'em when I was here once; seemed's if you thought you had a string of presidents an' governors an' such like in th' bunch. How they turnin' out?"

Barton laughed, a trifle embarrassed.

"Why, to tell the truth, I haven't that class any longer. Gave it up when I was sick with typhoid, you know."

"But that was as much as three years ago."

"Yes, but somehow I never went back to Sunday school after I got well. Had got into the habit of staying at home, you see; and such habits grow on a man, particularly when he gets along to the middle of life."

"What's become of the boys? Do they go still?"

"Why, n-o-o, I believe not. I know Elder Crane was quite anxious to get some of them back, but I think he didn't make out much at it. Too bad!"

Joe brought down square upon its four legs the chair in which he had tipped back, picked up his hat and settled it on his head as if for immediate departure.

"Look-a-here, Sim," he said slowly, "I've got a leetle somthin' I'd like to say to you an' to that bloom-in' lot of people up to the White Church. You know I don't go much on religion, an' I don't pretend to know much about it. Hosses is my line, an' I claim to know somethin' 'bout them. But hosses an' folks ain't so drefful fur apart, after all. Didn't Shakespeare say, 'All th' world's a hoss-trot'?"

"Not just that, I believe," smiled his host. "What he said is, 'All the world's a stage.'"

"Near 'nough, I knowed it was somethin' you church people make b'lieve you're awfully shocked over. Now th' thing is jest here: Your parson ain't makin' the pace, 'cordin' to what you say. T'other parsons are givin' him their dust. When th' tally-sheets are reckoned up, he's likely to be an 'also ran,' a 'has been.' Now there's a reason for that somewhere, an' it's good hoss-sense to find out what it is. When a horse goes stale on me I c'nside that it's up to me to bore into th' thin' until I see daylight. Don't ketch me putterin' round an' sayin' it's 'puzzle,' an' I don't understand it! Not so you would notice it! I'm goin' to understand it or quit th' bizness. So I look th' hoss over carefully. Mebbe it's a case of not bein' looked after as he should. Mebbe he needs more oats. Mebbe he's strained himself somehow. Mebbe he's jest playin' it on me. But, whatever it is, I don't stop until I have foun' out. Until I find out, you understand! Then, if I can't fin' th' trouble in the hoss, I go for th' sulky an' harness. Mebbe th' coon that oils ain't onto his job. Mebbe th' sulky don't balance right or needs a new pair of wheels. Mebbe th' harness chafes somewheres. O' they's lots of things that c'n keep your hoss from comin' under th' wire in th' lead, even if he's as fit as a fiddle. Now what I'm comin' at is, whether you wouldn't better stop wonderin' 'bout that hoss, an' take a little squint at th' sulky an' harness. From what you tell me I should think that what you need up yander ain't so much a new parson as a new kind of people. I guess this parson'd do all right if you only give him a fair chance. 'Pears to me it's the sulky that's holdin' him back an' makin' th' trouble. Course 'tain't none of my bizness, an' I ain't no call to butt in. Only—only—well, Sim, you know that was my mother's old church, an' sometimes—Well, so-long, old man! Come over to th' city an' see me soon. Tra la!"

Mr. Simeon Barton prosperous merchant, prominent member of the board of trustees of the Central (otherwise known as the "White") Church, looked after the receding form of his visitor with an amused smile. "Isn't that just like Joe?" he murmured. "Everything is 'hosses' to him. But what a ridiculous notion to compare a minister to a horse!"

But as he still stood on the piazza, watching the pudgy little figure make its way down the village street, slowly the smile died away, and a graver and questioning look took its place. Was the notion so ridiculous, after all? Was the parable so far-fetched as at first it had seemed? Might not Joe Dooley all so be among the prophets? There came back to him a sentence or two from the horseman's little homily: "There's a reason somewhere, an' it's good hoss-sense to find out what it is. When a hoss goes stale on me, I c'nside that it's up to me to bore into th' thing until I see daylight. Don't ketch me putterin' round an' sayin' it's a 'puzzle,' an' I don't understand it." Possibly there was a hint just there that was worth following up. It might be that a little "boring" into this disturbing matter of the minister's loss of grip and power would let in a bit of "daylight."

The meeting of the members of the Central Church duly called to "consider and take action upon the resignation of the pastor" was largely attended. Such a gathering at a mid-week prayer meeting would have made the pastor's heart sing for joy, even while it would doubtless have stirred his mind to great wonderment as to its cause.

Nor was it a perfunctory or hypocritical gathering. The people of the Central Church loved their minister dearly and were all sincerely grieved at thought of losing him. No one had hinted to him that his usefulness was waning and that it would be better for him to leave; probably no one would ever have made that suggestion. It was Mr. Crane himself who had sensed the situation and had taken the initiative; the people were only accepting what seemed inevitable and acquiescing in an apparent necessity.

There could be no denying the fact that the church was running down. Congregations were falling off; prayer meetings were approaching the vanish-point in attendance; the Sunday school was diminishing in numbers and interest; and all this was showing itself on the treasurer's books. Yes, the tide was certainly ebbing at the Central Church, and there seemed but one thing to do. Much as they loved the old, they must have a new minister.

It was understood as a matter of course that the resignation was to be accepted, and Lawyer Kennedy had in his pocket the usual series of resolutions with which such matters are smoothed over. But, when the motion to accept was made and seconded and was before the house for discussion, Mr. Barton arose.

"Mr. Chairman," he began, "had this meeting been held a week ago I should probably have voted in the affirmative of this question, in the sincere conviction that it was the only way out of a real and distressing situation. But now I am not so sure about that. I want to tell you a story."

"The chair would remind Brother Barton," interrupted the chairman, "that serious business is before us, and that we have neither time nor inclination for stories unless they bear directly upon the matter in hand."

Mr. Barton smiled. "I think you will grant that the relation is very immediate and direct when you have heard my story," he rejoined.

Then very simply he told of Joe Dooley's visit and advice, keeping as close as possible to the old horseman's phraseology. As he proceeded, and the application of the parable began to be apparent, a strained and tense hush fell on the assembly. It seemed almost as though some stopped breathing. More than one head was dropped; more than one cheek flushed with the consciousness of guilt under the implied indictment.

"Now," continued the speaker, "I've been trying to follow old Joe's advice. I have been looking the horse over, and I can find no fault in him. Are any of us dissatisfied with Mr. Crane personally? Do we respect and love him as a fine preacher, an excellent pastor, a true Christian gentleman, and a firm friend? Isn't he just the kind of man that we'd like to have for our next pastor? Yes, I see you all agree with me. And yet, in spite of all this, as Joe says, he isn't makin' the pace. If the trouble isn't with the horse, it must be with the sulky. I've been looking that over, too. Is Central church letting or helping its pastor make the pace, or is it acting as a drag upon him?"

"Last Friday night I dropped into the prayer meeting," Mr. Barton laughed a little constrainedly, and his face flushed. "Yes, I know some of you are thinking that that was a strange place for me, and it was. I don't know when I've been to prayer meeting before. And yet I used to attend regularly, as did a good many of the rest of you. I didn't see the other night. Let me make a confession just here. Not often in my life has anything cut me so deeply as the pastor's look of surprise when I entered the door. Glad, of course he was glad to see me, but surprised; that's the point. Think of it, a pastor surprised to see a member of his church at a regular prayer meeting of the church! Let that sink into your minds a little. How many were there? Twenty-seven; about the usual number, I was told. And Central Church has a membership of about four hundred."

"On Sunday I stepped into the Sunday school. I was a stranger there. My old class was gone. So was yours, Deacon Deane, and yours, Mrs. Thaxter, and yours, Jim Bradley, and—well, what's the use? Look in for yourselves, and see the situation. And there was Pastor Crane after a strenuous morning, in the pulpit obliged to take a class of men, and thus to forego the privilege and the possibilities of a school-wide supervision, just because there isn't a man of us who is willing to put himself into the work!"

"I didn't go to Sunday-evening service, but I peeped in at the door to see who were there. Just a handful of Central Church people—and not many others, for that matter. Why should the outside world be expected to come if we stay away? Then I left the church, and began a round of calls. 'Yes,' as a broadening smile went over the meeting, 'you understand now why I dropped in to see some of you for a minute Sunday night. I wanted to see where you were and what you were doing. I was looking over the sulky, to find out what was the matter with it. Most of you were at home, enjoying the calm and quiet of your families. All right and proper enough; only, down there on the corner the Central Church was trying to do business with the greater part of its members absent from their posts; down there the pastor was trying to 'make the pace' with the sulky dragging back all the time."

"Pardon this long speech; I'm about through. I haven't a word of blame for the church; I'm taking this whole thing to myself. And this is the way I size it up: So far as I am concerned there is little reason why the pastor or the church should succeed in their work. I am putting so little into that work that my influence is largely, if not entirely, negative. It isn't that I have anything against either church or pastor, and I don't think it is because I have lost my love for the Lord and my interest in His cause. It is simply because I haven't really stopped to think of my relation and duty. I have taken it for granted that everything would go on all right no matter what I did or did not do. It was pure thoughtlessness but perhaps thoughtlessness is a crime against God and His church. "And I wonder whether this isn't about the state of affairs with most of us. Without intending it we have been getting out from under the load and letting it come on the pastor, and then have wondered why he can't 'make the pace.' Would it be any different if we had a new pastor? Surely not, unless we changed our course. But why not change that course with the man we know and love, instead of with and for a stranger? How would it do for Central Church to keep the horse, and lighten up the sulky a little just now?"

When Mr. Barton sat down, silence reigned. There were deep searchings of heart in that assembly, and no one cared to speak. The parable had done what preaching could never have done. Good men and women were brought face to face with their own responsibilities for conditions that they sincerely mourned. Good Deacon Carter, the chairman, rightly interpreted the signs of the hour, and forbore to ask for remarks or to call for action. The Spirit was present; let Him control. And He did.

Finally young Jim Bradley—although a man of forty or more, he was always called "young Jim"—to distinguish him from his father, who was also "Jim"—arose. He was one of the ablest men in the church and community, a college graduate and a lawyer of more than local fame. But for once his usual ready command of language failed him, and he halted and stammered like a schoolboy.

"Mr. Chairman," he began, "somebody ought to say something, but I—I—hardly know what to say or how to say it. We have had a wonderful revelation this evening. It will not give us sweet dreams tonight. But it is true! Joe Dooley is, I verily believe, a prophet of the Most High to Central Church of Ryeboro. The trouble is not with our pastor, but with us. Let's confess it, and face our duty like the Christian men and women that we believe we are in spite of our carelessness and indifference. There is a motion before the house to accept the resignation of Mr. Crane. So confident am I that we are all now of the same way of thinking that I venture to call for the question."

"All those in favor of accepting the resignation of our pastor say 'Ay,'" called the chairman. Silence unbroken!

"Those opposed say 'No.'"

A mighty shout arose! There could be no questioning of the verdict.

ion, just because there isn't a man of us who is willing to put himself into the work!"

"I didn't go to Sunday-evening service, but I peeped in at the door to see who were there. Just a handful of Central Church people—and not many others, for that matter. Why should the outside world be expected to come if we stay away? Then I left the church, and began a round of calls. 'Yes,' as a broadening smile went over the meeting, 'you understand now why I dropped in to see some of you for a minute Sunday night. I wanted to see where you were and what you were doing. I was looking over the sulky, to find out what was the matter with it. Most of you were at home, enjoying the calm and quiet of your families. All right and proper enough; only, down there on the corner the Central Church was trying to do business with the greater part of its members absent from their posts; down there the pastor was trying to 'make the pace' with the sulky dragging back all the time."

"Pardon this long speech; I'm about through. I haven't a word of blame for the church; I'm taking this whole thing to myself. And this is the way I size it up: So far as I am concerned there is little reason why the pastor or the church should succeed in their work. I am putting so little into that work that my influence is largely, if not entirely, negative. It isn't that I have anything against either church or pastor, and I don't think it is because I have lost my love for the Lord and my interest in His cause. It is simply because I haven't really stopped to think of my relation and duty. I have taken it for granted that everything would go on all right no matter what I did or did not do. It was pure thoughtlessness but perhaps thoughtlessness is a crime against God and His church. "And I wonder whether this isn't about the state of affairs with most of us. Without intending it we have been getting out from under the load and letting it come on the pastor, and then have wondered why he can't 'make the pace.' Would it be any different if we had a new pastor? Surely not, unless we changed our course. But why not change that course with the man we know and love, instead of with and for a stranger? How would it do for Central Church to keep the horse, and lighten up the sulky a little just now?"

When Mr. Barton sat down, silence reigned. There were deep searchings of heart in that assembly, and no one cared to speak. The parable had done what preaching could never have done. Good men and women were brought face to face with their own responsibilities for conditions that they sincerely mourned. Good Deacon Carter, the chairman, rightly interpreted the signs of the hour, and forbore to ask for remarks or to call for action. The Spirit was present; let Him control. And He did.

Finally young Jim Bradley—although a man of forty or more, he was always called "young Jim"—to distinguish him from his father, who was also "Jim"—arose. He was one of the ablest men in the church and community, a college graduate and a lawyer of more than local fame. But for once his usual ready command of language failed him, and he halted and stammered like a schoolboy.

"Mr. Chairman," he began, "somebody ought to say something, but I—I—hardly know what to say or how to say it. We have had a wonderful revelation this evening. It will not give us sweet dreams tonight. But it is true! Joe Dooley is, I verily believe, a prophet of the Most High to Central Church of Ryeboro. The trouble is not with our pastor, but with us. Let's confess it, and face our duty like the Christian men and women that we believe we are in spite of our carelessness and indifference. There is a motion before the house to accept the resignation of Mr. Crane. So confident am I that we are all now of the same way of thinking that I venture to call for the question."

"All those in favor of accepting the resignation of our pastor say 'Ay,'" called the chairman. Silence unbroken!

"Those opposed say 'No.'"

A mighty shout arose! There could be no questioning of the verdict.

"Now, Mr. Chairman," said Mr. Bradley, "I move that the following motion be adopted and entered upon the records of this church: 'Resolved, That the Central Church of Ryeboro declines to swap horses, and pledges itself herewith to the task of keeping the sulky in repair so that the proper pace may be made.'"

"You don't mean just that——"

"Why, that would sound like a jockey's——"

"Of course that won't do——"

Wholly regardless of parliamentary considerations a hubbub of protest and expostulation arose. The speaker remained standing; and, when the uproar had lessened he continued. "I should like to have that motion adopted and recorded in just that phraseology. It is unusual, unecclasiastical, undignified, what you please. But, Brethren and Sisters, we are standing in a solemn place tonight. We have narrowly escaped doing our church and pastor a serious injury. The means of our deliverance was a striking parable. There isn't one of us who could ever see or hear that record upon our books without recalling this hour. And to those who are not present that singular entry, as it is explained, may become the means of enlightenment and stimulation. I press my motion for the resolution."

And in the end the motion prevailed, and that unique entry may today be read in the full round handwriting of the clerk of the records of the Central Church of Ryeboro.

"What's all this I hear 'bout the White Church an' Elder Crane?" asked Joe Dooley at his next visit to Mr. Barton a few months later. "Last time I was here you was goin' to fire him or let him fire himself, for not makin' th' pace. Seems you didn't, an' that he's runnin' in great form now. Hain't heard much sense I struck town but th' great doings up to th' church. An', O, yes, what'd young Jim Bradley mean by sayin' that you'd made up your minds to 'tend to th' sulky a leetle more, an' that I was responsible for th' hull bizness?"

And, as Mr. Barton told him the story, the old man listened with intent interest. When the recital was finished, he sat for a few moments in silence. Then his only comment was:

"Wall, I swanny to gum! They's lots of hoss-sence in folks if you c'n only get at it."

Portland, Me.

ing motion be adopted and entered upon the records of this church: 'Resolved, That the Central Church of Ryeboro declines to swap horses, and pledges itself herewith to the task of keeping the sulky in repair so that the proper pace may be made.'"

"You don't mean just that——"

"Why, that would sound like a jockey's——"

"Of course that won't do——"

Wholly regardless of parliamentary considerations a hubbub of protest and expostulation arose. The speaker remained standing; and, when the uproar had lessened he continued. "I should like to have that motion adopted and recorded in just that phraseology. It is unusual, unecclasiastical, undignified, what you please. But, Brethren and Sisters, we are standing in a solemn place tonight. We have narrowly escaped doing our church and pastor a serious injury. The means of our deliverance was a striking parable. There isn't one of us who could ever see or hear that record upon our books without recalling this hour. And to those who are not present that singular entry, as it is explained, may become the means of enlightenment and stimulation. I press my motion for the resolution."

And in the end the motion prevailed, and that unique entry may today be read in the full round handwriting of the clerk of the records of the Central Church of Ryeboro.

"What's all this I hear 'bout the White Church an' Elder Crane?" asked Joe Dooley at his next visit to Mr. Barton a few months later. "Last time I was here you was goin' to fire him or let him fire himself, for not makin' th' pace. Seems you didn't, an' that he's runnin' in great form now. Hain't heard much sense I struck town but th' great doings up to th' church. An', O, yes, what'd young Jim Bradley mean by sayin' that you'd made up your minds to 'tend to th' sulky a leetle more, an' that I was responsible for th' hull bizness?"

And, as Mr. Barton told him the story, the old man listened with intent interest. When the recital was finished, he sat for a few moments in silence. Then his only comment was:

"Wall, I swanny to gum! They's lots of hoss-sence in folks if you c'n only get at it."

Portland, Me.

USE THE NEWSPAPERS

A law went into effect September 1st making it illegal to print or cause to be posted any business or commercial advertisement on trees, fences, buildings or other objects along public highways or upon the property of another without written consent of the owner. The law makes violation punishable by a fine of from $5 to $25, or by imprisonment for ten days or both.

But—it is entirely lawful to print all such matter in a newspaper which, instead of being seen by the few passing trees, fences or buildings, is taken into the home and read by the family.

The following poem emphasizes the idea we would convey. Don't advertise on trees or rocks. Afar from haunts of men. You cannot sell the woodchuck clocks.

Or pictures for his den.

The squirrel may observe your sign
And your cure for chills,
And on it he may try to dine,
But that won't pay your bills.

The possum buys no breakfast foods,
We may as well confess,
So if you want to sell your goods
You'd better use the press.

BRAINS vs. MACHINERY

A citizen of Massachusetts writes to a local paper the following:

"After making a study of horses and the automobile, I am of the opinion that horses, even though erratic, may be depended upon to a greater extent than motor vehicles and have proved their worth in this war. Having seen horses in action with the royal field artillery of England, it seems that the horses have more brains than some of the men controlling. I have seen horses stand still where their mates have been wounded or killed, while under similar circumstances men

Campaign for Preparedness

The campaign for preparedness and peace is gaining momentum. Fostered by the National Security league, the Navy league and other organizations which believe that peace is best attained through preparedness, it is gathering many new recruits to its banner. Commodore J. Stuart Blackton, author of the photoplay "The Battle Cry of Peace" which is one of the most remarkable propaganda efforts ever made, in a speech before a select audience recently stated that Congress would probably appropriate $500,000,000 in the next five years for navy construction; $105,000,000 within four years for reserve material such as arms and ammunition; $81,000,000 in four years for modernization of old forts and the construction of new coast defenses. For the new continental army, he said, and the proposed increase in the regular army, 26,000,000. This would mean a total appropriation for the next five years of $842,000,000. "I believe I have shown in 'The Battle Cry of Peace,' said Commodore Blackton, "just what would happen to America if she were attacked. I purposely used the photoplay because pictures are so much more vivid than words and convey so much more. When people see Times Square blown up and homes invaded, it sets them wild to prepare proper defenses. The campaign for 'peace through preparedness' is taking like wildfire, and I hope everyone will give us his assistance freely."

Misconceptions About Snakes

Most of humankind have an antipathy, cultivated or not, to the reptile form of animal life. In general we know that some snakes are poisonous and others are harmless, but such is the general dislike of these creatures that few people take the trouble to discriminate but justify themselves and their children in slaughtering any kind of snake, often in an unnecessarily cruel manner. As a matter of fact, for those North Americans living east of the Mississippi river and north of Ohio and Potomac rivers there are but two kinds of poisonous serpents existing in the enormous territory,—the banded rattlesnake and the copperhead snake. Not one besides the two venomous kinds named can inflict an injury of a serious nature on a human being, even a child.

If we stop to think, most of us will remember that those snakes which we have encountered on country roads, in underbrush, etc., have wriggled away from us faster or than we could approach. Yet how many of us, or our young boys, have felt it necessary to pick up a stone or a stick and make a business of mutilating or killing the creature whose only aim seemed to be to escape?

The harmless reptile has a definite value for the farmer, but aside from this, may not a trait of cruelty toward one species of animal life, if unrestrained and unducted, extend to even more valuable forms birds and animals?

FOR SALE—A two room house and small stable, 9 acres of land. $500. Will sell all or part of land. 3-4 mile from Kennebunk Beach. Address Box 94, Kennebunk Beach. 3t No 1 p

FOR SALE CHEAP—One traverse runner pung, 1 light single sleigh, 1 buggy and 1 delivery wagon; all second hand. William B. Tobey, Dock Square Kennebunkport Maine.

WANTED—A position as housekeeper in a family of one or two people; no objection to old person; have one child and can furnish best of reference. Address Care Enterprise Press, Kennebunk, Me.

FOR SALE—House and lot at Lowville Village. House contains 10 rooms, and bath also extra flush closet, electric lights, set tubs, open plumbing. Everything modern and convenient. Full particulars by calling or communicating with Mr. W. P. Hewey, P.O. Address Kennebunkport Maine.

DEAL RENT of six rooms, stable two acres of land; reasonable price; near Town house. Apply Mrs. A. H. Bean. bunkport, Maine.

lost their heads. In rushing over a battle-field a horse will never step on a wounded or dying man. I heard this before, but did not believe it until I saw it myself."

WEST KENNEBUNK

The District Lodge of Good Templars will meet in South Biddeford at its regular third quarterly session next Wednesday evening.

Edgar M. Dutch of Augusta, formerly a resident of West Kennebunk is here for a few week's visit.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church will conduct a Food sale in the vestry at 7 o'clock, Friday evening. The committee in charge is Mrs. Bert Junkins, Mrs. John M. Seeley and Mrs. L. A. Whitten. Members of the Aid are also meeting regularly each Thursday afternoon in the vestry for work, in preparation for the fair which they are planning to hold on Dec. 9th. Committees have already been appointed for the tables which will be arranged alphabetically. Meanwhile interest centers on the coming Food sale at 7 p. m. Friday in the vestry.

Lumber is now on the ground for the new belfry to be erected on the Methodist church. Work will be commenced immediately.

Miss Ada M. Came has returned to her home in Cambridge after a week's vacation with relatives here.

Walter A. Tripp was in Portland Sunday.

Rev. Leech will resume his pastorate duties on Sunday, after a month's vacation.

Fannie A. Adjutant has just gone to Norwood, Mass., where she will assume new duties.

Hubbard Day has recovered from a recent illness and has returned to work.

Truman I. Littlefield, William Gordon and Jerry Blaisdell are down east hunting in Carrabasset.

Carl W. Waterhouse of Peabody, Mass., is visiting his father, John E. Waterhouse.

Feed your hens Sal-Vet brand Poultry Tonic, 25c and 50c packages at Fiske's Drug Store.

There are thirteen vacant tenement houses in West Kennebunk, nearly all of which ought to be available for new help imported into the village.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hilton died Oct. 31. Burial was in Pine Grove cemetery Nov. 1. Mrs. Celina M. Kelley will spend the winter in Portland.

Carl Waterhouse of Peabody, Mass. is spending a two weeks' vacation at his home here.

The regular monthly meeting of the firemen was held last Thursday in the hall.

Jack Bronson's horse stirred things up a bit in this vicinity last Monday night when he strolled down Main street all by himself leaving his halter behind him. He was stopped on his peregrinations by Rex Thomas who caught him as he was peering over the bridge up and down the long stretch of railroad.

A large number of residents from West Kennebunk attended the Fire Society in Kennebunk last night. Over 350 people from all districts were there.

Alex Marsh is on a week's vacation which he is spending in gunning and in out-door activity.

For the past two weeks James Meade has been busy meeting the demands of customers of the village and vicinity, making over their apples into cider. The mill has been working steadily.

Several residents of West Kennebunk are cutting wood on the lot offered them for so doing by E. I. Littlefield.

Frank Lowell is shingling his house. He is being assisted by Stephen Allen.

Joshua Clark had three pigs butchered yesterday at E. I. Littlefield's butcher shop.

Thomas Jones is ill at his home, threatened with rheumatism.

Ed. I. Littlefield is having his camp shingled at his farm in Alewife.

George Authier spent part of Tuesday gunning at Alewife pond.

Guy Towne is enjoying a two-weeks vacation. He will resume his duties at the Twine mill on Monday.

CAPE PORPOISE

Towne-Lapierre

Miss Lettie Alice Lapierre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lapierre and Alonzo D. Towne were united in marriage Thursday evening Nov. 4th. at the home of the brides parents, the double ring ceremony being performed by Rev. John Chambers. The bridal party entered the room to the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Persis Hawley of Kennebunk. The bride was accompanied by her father and was becomingly gowned in a costume of white crepe meter trimmed with lace and tulle, and her veil was caught with lillies of the valley.

Miss Edna F. Wells of Kennebunkport was bridesmaid, her dress was pink crepe de chine trimmed with silver lace and rose beads.

The bride carried a shower bouquet of white roses, and the bridesmaid's was pink carnations. The best man was Frank E. Towne of Boston brother of the groom.

The little sister of the bride, Doris Lapierre daintily clad in pink silk was the ring bearer. A largely attended reception followed.

The house was tastily decorated, the bridal couple standing in a heart of white, under an arch of green and white, and in every possible place were bouquets of day break chrysanthemums the dining room was a mass of yellow chrysanthemums, and the entry was trimmed with green and yellow chrysanthemums. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by the parents of the bride and mother of the groom and Mrs. Frank E. Towne the guests being presented by the ushers, Mr. John Wallace of Portland, cousin of the bride and Mr. Norman Wells of Kennebunkport cousin of the groom. The happy pair were the recipients of many and beautiful gifts, cut glass, silver china, etc., On their return from their wedding trip, they will reside with the groom's mother Mrs. Caroline Towne on Main St., Kennebunkport. The young couple are very popular in social circles, Mrs. Towne being gifted with rare musical abilities, while Mr. Towne is prominent in Athletics.

Among the out-of-town relatives and guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lapierre, at the wedding of their daughter, Miss Lettie Lapierre were the following: Mr. and Mrs. William Sawyer of Farmington, N. H.; Mrs. John Wallace, John Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wallace, John Wallace, Jr.; Percy Wallace of Portland; Mr. Ansel Skolfield and family; Mrs. William Eastman and daughter, Miss Alice Eastman, Mrs. Nathaniel Eastman of Cundy's Harbor.

Wedding Cake Party

There was a wedding cake party at the home of Miss Lettie A. Lapierre on Tuesday evening of last week, prior to the wedding which took place on Thursday evening. At this party the wedding cake was cut and placed in boxes by the young people. Light refreshments were served and a pleasant evening spent. Those present were: Miss Grace Burgess, Miss Edna Wells, Miss Grace Perkins, Miss Huldah Seavey, Miss Marion Chick, Miss Marie Goldthwaite, Miss Mabel Hunt, Mrs. George Goodwin, Mrs. Rufus Twambly, Mrs. Abert Rand.

Walter Huff of Brookline, Mass., took an auto trip to the Cape last week spending a few days with his brother, Hartley Huff. On his return to Massachusetts he was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Jennison.

The Semper Paratus club held its first meeting of the season on Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Miss Lillian Huff.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. F. E. A. met last week with Mrs. Albert Hutchins.

Mrs. Eliza Pinkham is quite poorly the past two weeks. Dr. Merrill is in attendance.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchins is quite a little improved the past few days. George F. Seavey was given a birthday surprise party one day last week by the young people of the family. There was a beautiful supper besides the birthday gifts, and a most pleasant family gathering.

John Cluff of Auburn is spending a few days at his home here.

Miss Robinson, a deaconess of Portland, arrived at the Cape on Saturday where she will spend a month. Miss Robinson was in charge of the evening service on Sunday and was listened to with interest by those present.

The fine fishing vessel, The Henrietta, of Boston arrived here on Tuesday and will be commanded by Thomas Holbrook of this place.

KENNEBUNK BEACH

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson spent the week-end with friends in Sanford.

Mrs. John Somers was called to Saco recently by the death of her aunt, Mrs. Isabelle Wentworth.

Robert A. York, who is to have charge of the Neighborhood house this winter, arrived Thursday of last week. On Friday of this week there will be an informal reception and entertainment at the Neighborhood house that the residents of the district may meet Mr. York. Mrs. E. P. Dwight will return to Riverhurst in time for the reception.

Mrs. William Currier of Kennebunk is staying with Miss Tryphena Wells during the illness of her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Wells, who is 92 years old.

Mrs. Julia Tatro and son of Deer- ing, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clement Huff.

Edward Watson and family have moved to Kennebunk.

Mrs. C. E. Currier entertained the W. P. M. Club Wednesday at the Neighborhood house.

Henry Parsons invited a number of friends and neighbors to a husking at Riverhurst Thursday evening. After the husking a bountiful supper was served, then games and dancing were enjoyed. The guests departed at a late hour, reporting a very enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Watson started for their winter home in Lakeworth, Florida, Tuesday.

Mrs. Robert Grant will read "Some unpublished letters from the Countries of War" at an afternoon reception to be held at the home of Mrs. George Parsons on Friday, Nov. 12.

MAINE STATE CHARITIES

The annual meeting of the Maine State Conference of Charities and Corrections will be held in Lewiston, Nov. 17-19. It is hoped that Ernest K. Coulter of New York, founder of the Big Brother movement and prominent in juvenile court work, will be one of the speakers. Speakers on child protection, the county workhouse problem, tuberculosis, prison reform, and child labor will be on the program.

Davis Restaurant

Kennebunk, Maine

C. Leonard Davis Prop.

Clements' Home Bakery

THE PURE FOOD SHOP

Main Street Kennebunk, Maine

Telephone Connection

Frank T. Rendall

Perkins Square Ogunquit, Me. Plumbing and Heating in all its Branches. Estimates given Satisfaction guaranteed.

G. F. AUSTIN

UNDERTAKER

York and Kennebunkport

CLARINET PIANO

French Method Faelton System LEROY NASON

Teacher of

CLARINET AND PIANO

Studios: 241 Congress St., Portland; Fletcher St., Kennebunk Tel. 106-12

DR. G. C. FULLER

Registered

Veterinary Physician and Surgeon Removed from Main St. to Hall St.

Telephone 136-5

Kennebunk - - - Maine

Send Your Personality

Next to a personal call, a telephone call has more personality than any other form of communication.

No letter or telegram can give the force, the shading, the delicate emphasis that a telephone call can give to what you want to say.

You'll find it's cheaper, too, (say within a radius of 50 miles) if you figure in stenographers' wages, and the cost of equipment, stationery, and postage for you and your correspondent — your letter or telegram usually requires an answer.

There will be no toll charge on a Particular Party Call if you are not connected with the person whose name you have given to the Toll Operator.

F. J. Goodwin

The "ALLREDIE BRAND"

PLUM PUDDING makes a very rich and delicate dish, fit for any and all times. No spread is too swell for this exquisite dessert. The package contains enough for seven or eight persons and can be prepared in from two to four minutes. It is pronounced by experts to be the Height of Perfection, "by Physicians, to be healthful and nutritious," and can be eaten by anyone without ill effects. But after all it is said, "The Proof of the Pudding is in the eating."

All work and worry is done away with and brings this popular dish in reach of everyone at the small cost of 15 cents per package. Sold by all the leading Grocers generally through New England and the Allredie Pure Food Co.

Boston, Mass.

Local Agent, HARRY E. YOUNG

Only 15 Days to

Thanksgiving

Give us your Order and Save Money

Everything the Best for the Thanksgiving

Feast. Plan to order early.

A. M. Seavey

Water Street

Kennebunk, Maine

THANKSGIVING

the great "At Home" day. If you can't be there a fine PHOTOGRAPH will help.

Make an appointment now

ELITE STUDIO

BIDDEFORD

Telephone 246-11.

Its not too early to sit for Xmas Photos.

Palmolive Free Coupon

This coupon entitles the holder to the $1.90 assortment of Palmolive specialties upon presentation of 59c

$1.31

6 Cakes of Palmolive Soap .90
1 Jar of Palmolive Vanishing Cream .50
1 Bottle of Palmolive Shampoo .50

Total Value $1.90

Towards the purchase of the $1.90 assortment as advertised.

B. J. JOHNSON SOAP CO. Inc., Milwaukee, Wis.

Customers Name.....

Not valid unless signed by purchaser with name and address

Address.....

Just a few more days--- Then---
THANKSGIVING DAY!

Are men buying new clothes this Autumn---and especially for the Big Day? We'll let you answer by seeing how busy we are, taking measures for tailored-to-order clothes. Just seems like

"DRESS UP!"

is the order every where and it surely is a pleasing way of demonstrating how thankful all of us ought to be. And, right here, we want you to see just what our Chicago tailors have sent us in style correctness, Will you?

Ed. V. Price & Co.

HAY'S

KENNEBUNK, MAINE

NEWS NOTES ABOUT TOWN

Rev. and Mrs. S. E. Leech spent last week in Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. C. W. Holmes of Portland was a Kennebunk visitor Sunday.

Henry Andrews left on Monday for his six weeks' trip to California.

Robert Fiske and V. Gilman Fiske were in Boston a few days last week.

Mrs. Belle Gilpatrick spent several days of last week at Bert Day's in Alewife.

Mrs. Albert R. Moody of Cape Porpoise was a visitor at Kennebunk today.

Mrs. Sarah Otis has been visiting Mrs. Scott Cloudman and Miss Carrie Burke.

Miss Stella Libby has returned to her duties at the Rutter laundry after a month's vacation.

John E. Watson has been elected a deacon of the Baptist church, to succeed Capt. H. F. Curtis.

Leslie Titcomb, of the University of Maine, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Titcomb.

Horace Robbins is enjoying a short vacation and is spending his time in hunting and in general outdoor activity.

Robert Parsons and family will leave town a week from tomorrow, Nov. 18th, for their winter home in Somerville, South Carolina.

Bert Saunders is acting as Baggage Master at the Boston & Maine station while the regular Baggage Master, Wm. H. Mailing, is on his vacation.

At the inspection of Jesse Webster Relief corps to be held next Thursday evening, Mrs. Amelia H. Soule of Woodfords will be the visiting officer.

W. J. Dunstan returned from a hunting trip to Carrabasset Tuesday. He made the journey by auto reported eight inches of snow, when he left there.

All roads will lead to Portland this week: Cause, the completion of the New State Highway between Dunstan and Portland. Effect: no more detours over feather bed roads.

Word has been received of the death in Dover, N. H., Oct. 23, of Lavinia Storer, wife of the late Charles Storer of this town. Mrs. Storer was 78 years old.

Charles Cole and family will be able to get into their house permanently this week. Carpenters have been at work inside and out renovating and thoroughly repairing and rebuilding since July 1st.

Charles E. J. Bye, a resident of Kennebunk 15 years ago committed suicide at his present home in Worcester, Mass. October 31. Bye was only 36 years old but despondency is given as the cause of the act.

Word has been received of the death, in San Diego, Cal., Oct. 29 of George W. Frost, formerly of Kennebunk. Mr. Frost carried on a jewelry business in the store now occupied by F. H. Barrett until 1901. Mr. Frost was 63 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Noble who ran the antique shop on Main street, have closed their store and returned to Nashua, N. H. for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Noble report the best season in the four years they have been located here.

A number of local citizens expect to get to the great Laymen's convention in Portland during the latter part of this week, to get in touch with one of the greatest movements of modern times and to hear men who have already done things in similar conventions in Boston, Chicago and the West.

Political candidates are coming to the front in increasing numbers. Fred C. Knight will be a candidate at the June primaries in 1915 for the Republican representative nomination. James A. Roberts, town treasurer of Waterboro, will enter the race for the office of treasurer of York county. Hon. Louis H. Goodall of Sanford and Frank D. Marshall of Biddeford are out for the Congressional nomination.

J. W. Bowdoin has sold to Frank Nutter of North Berwick the Warren Mendum house formerly owned by Col. Charles R. Littlefield. Mr. Nutter will remove to Kennebunk with his family. He has one little girl who will attend school at the Grammar building.

Will You Buy a Last Year's Overcoat

BOYS'
4 to 8 years
Overcoats
That were
$4.50, $6.00 and $7.50
For
$2.45, $3.45, $4.50

AT
$4.95 and $8.95

Regular $10, $15, $18 and $20 values

THIS IS CLEAN-UP WEEK

SEE THEM IN WINDOW

CHARLES A. BENOIT,

BOYS'
10 to 17 Years
Overcoats
At Greatly Reduced
Prices
All of Last Year's

MARBLE BLOCK
Biddeford, Maine

W. W. Adams of Portland, was in town Wednesday.

Miss Maling of Portland is visiting Mrs. Ralph Andrews.

Miss Agnes Titcomb is taking drawing lessons in Portland.

Mrs. A. W. Bragdon is confined to her home with a severe cold.

Dr. and Mrs. Barker returned from Galveston, Texas, last Friday.

George Fiske and Pearly Greenleaf returned from Boston Sunday night.

Mrs. Susan Litterfield of Wells is visiting her niece, Mrs. Lottie Stevens.

Miss Irma Day is taking vocal lessons of Llewellyn B. King of Portland.

Ernest Coombs and family moved on Tuesday from the Wells house to Friend street.

Miss Pauline Hildreth of Boston, made a short business trip to Kennebunk this week.

Mrs. North M. West, who was operated upon for appendicitis recently, is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Mary Webb and Miss Ruby Stevens passed Saturday and Sunday at the Great Hill cottage.

The meeting of the Ladies' Society of the Congregational church has been postponed to Nov. 18.

Nominations for officers of the Pythians Sisters will be held at the next regular meeting, Nov. 23rd.

Remember the date of the annual rummage sale is Thursday November 18th under the auspices of the Festival Chorus Ladies. See posters.

Mr. C. F. Hosmer was one of the speakers at the Kittery, Eliot & York District Sunday School convention at Eliot this afternoon and evening.

At a meeting of the receivers of the Atlantic Shore railway last week in Portland, L. H. McCray of Kennebunk, who has been in charge of the line for some time was appointed as general manager by the receivers. The schedule of the road which has been in effect this fall will be continued.

A surprise party was the drop several of her friends had on Mrs. Fred Atkinson on Tuesday evening at her home. The surprise was complete, relatives and friends filling the day with cards of greeting—following up that part of the game with a little conspiracy with Mr. Atkinson, whereby the latter managed to prevail upon his wife to remain in the house for the evening. Then the unexpected happened. Quite unsuspecting Mrs. Atkinson answered the door bell at about 8 o'clock and in poured the host of friends and relatives who had gathered to make the occasion a celebrated one. They brought with them good wishes and presents from Sherry, N. H.; from Rhode Island and from local points, Kennebunk and West Kennebunk, etc. The large birthday cake was made in Providence and sent all the way from Rhode Island by Mrs. Atkinson's cousin as a little reminder. A very pleasant evening followed, everybody enjoying himself to the fullest. At the end of the good time the guests departed, escorted to the cars by Mrs. Atkinson and her husband.

V. Gilman Fiske and brother Robert spent Thursday and Friday in Boston. Naturally V. G.'s interest centered largely on drug stores. Among others he noticed the fact that the great Ricker stores displayed their special lines of caramels exactly as Mr. Fiske himself has been displaying them this past week in his Kennebunk store, and at the same price.

Mrs. Vinnie Pierce is having her house shingled.

John Lord has just made the remarkable local record of selling nineteen stoves in twelve days.

Mrs. Etta Simpson has returned from Washington, Me., where she has been visiting her niece for several months.

Mrs. Asa A. Richardson entertained a party of friends at her cottage at the beach on Wednesday afternoon.

Tomorrow evening the W. R. C. will hold their annual inspection, in the G. A. R. Hall.

Inspector of the Order of the Eastern Star will be held next Tuesday evening in the Masons' Hall.

The Congregational Missionary society met this week with Mrs. William Titcomb. Plans for the Japanese sale were completed.

Sewing circle of the Pythian Sisters will be entertained by Mrs. Charles Stevens in Uniform Rank Hall, Nov. 15. There will also be a supper.

An auto went through town today bearing three deer strapped to the sides and the tonneau, bearing evidence to the hunting success of somebody.

Madonna Chapter, O. E. S. will hold its annual inspection meeting Tuesday night, Mrs. Belle Leavitt of Sanford will be the inspecting officer.

Mrs. George A. Gleason and child who have been visiting Mrs. Gleason's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Fairfield, for the past two months, returned to her home in Worcester this week.

Mrs. Charles Goodnow and Mrs. George E. Cousens attended Reciprocity Day of neighboring clubs at South Berwick Saturday. Professor Webber of Phillips Exeter academy read "Macbeth."

Miss Irma Day, Mrs. George Hancorn, Mrs. Emma Joyce, and Mrs. Annie Joyce Credford were among those who attended the "The Garden of Allah" production at the Jefferson theatre Portland last Saturday.

Rev. B. H. Tilton, S. L. Jones, Chas. Hall, George Cousens, A. F. Winter, Fred Severance, Asa Richardson, R. S. Chapman, Perley Knight and Geo. A. Roberts are among those who plan to attend some session of the Laymen's convention.

Russell V. Waterhouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Waterhouse, a member of the class of '17 at U. of M., has been elected to the Maine Chapter of Alpha Feta, the national agricultural fraternity. Membership is honorary and is restricted to those attaining high class standing or to those who have shown unusual ability along the lines of agricultural study. Waterhouse was a member of class '13 of the Kennebunk high school, later attending Kent's Hill.

Members of the Pastime Club, some 25 in number, are busy preparing to make their second annual Thanksgiving Eve ball and dance a success. The decoration committee have made plans to decorate the hall with evergreen and cornstalks in good old Thanksgiving style. Music, it is announced, will be furnished by the Arion Orchestra of six pieces. The tickets will be on sale shortly by the members of the club and notices will appear giving details of the ball. A floor director committee has been appointed and consists of the following: A. F. Winter, Andrew Warner, John Nedeau and Stuart Green.

This Four-piece Library Set

Leather upholstered seats, large table with magazine racks, finished in latest fumed oak

$15.50

We always have bargains in either of our two stores

Come to Biddeford and Saco

H. P. Atkinson & Sons, Inc.

Atkinson Block, Biddeford

Atkinson Block, Saco

MEN AND BOYS

The local high school boys are planning to take the football trip to Rochester Saturday in the auto bus which ran to the Beach during the summer. Leaving Kennebunk at 9 a. m. the return will be made immediately after the game. The Rochester eleven is said to have beaten Dover High School last Saturday by the score of 19 to 0. A hard game for the local boys is therefore expected. A week from this Saturday the K. H. S. will meet the Biddeford eleven in Biddeford. The boys are looking forward to this game as the real test of the season as for some years Biddeford has considered herself a little bit too much for the high school eleven in this vicinity. However the relative scoring ability of the two teams this year as indicated in those games where they have played the same teams would seem to show that the elevens from Kennebunk and Biddeford are fairly well matched, and a red hot game ought to be forthcoming. Meantime to preserve the record to date the local boys must go after the Rochester fellows with a right good will and add another victory to their already substantial list. Five out of six is the record for this year but it looks as if Kennebunk would have to go some on Saturday to beat the boys from Rochester who downed Dover last week.

A meeting of the executive committee of the camera club which was recently organized at the high school was held Tuesday noon to consider plans for the contests which are under consideration as a desirable method of activity. A meeting of the club as a whole will be called next week to take action on the report of the committee.

The High School Boys' club will hold its regular meeting in the Y. M. C. A. room in the Ross block on Friday. A special speaker will be there to speak on some topic of interest. It is also planned to hear what the committee appointed for the purpose has to suggest in the way for active entertainment for the club as a means of securing further accessories for the rooms for club use. It is probable that within a week the grammar school boys will likewise be reorganized and continue to hold their weekly meeting this year as last under the direction of Mr. Hosmer.

The members of the K. H. S. football eleven are looking ahead to Friday as well as to the day of the game with Rochester? The reason is known to every boy on the team and to every girl in several classes which are enrolled in the new domestic science course. The reason is turkey. The boys are expecting to be entertained royally on Friday evening at the first football banquet to be given them in recognition of their service and loyalty to the school name. The only drawback to the affair which they expect materialize on Friday is due to the natural hesitation which every healthy boy of high school age feels when he feels that possibly sometime during the evening he may be called upon to speak. All are looking to the banquet but few to the speech making.

13TH COMPANY NOTES

On last Friday night the regular drill was held in the town hall. The drill was interrupted for a few moments while Major Goodier of Saco, formerly Capt. of the 7th Co., C. A. C., N. G. S. M. of Biddeford spoke to the local company in a general way on the usual methods of proceeding after a vacancy has occurred, having reference to the formal resignation of Capt. McVey, the Major emphasized the need of careful selection and condemned the election of a man solely on the ground of popularity. The man must of all things in this day of efficiency himself be efficient. The vacancy created by the resignation of Capt. McVey will require the services of another who must be able and willing to give a great deal of study to the requirements of his office and it ought to be a matter of pride to the local company to see that its selection is an intelligent one as otherwise the officer elected when called upon to answer the examinations submitted to him by the proper military authorities may not be qualified to pass and so bring discredit not only upon himself but upon his company and the town.

After this appeal for wise selection of the man who is to fill the vacancy and in the selection of men all the way down the line the Major was followed by Capt. McVey who formally notified the men of the company of his resignation assuring them of his continued support and interest, and dwelling upon the affection he has for the men of the company which is really in large part his own creation. The professional duties of his vocation however do not admit of his continuing with the work of the company for the time required by a Capt. of any good militia in preparation exceeds the amount he felt that he could give.

Lieutenant Merriman responded for the company assuring the Capt. of their good will and of their regret that Mr. McVey could no longer lead them.

An election of officers to fill the vacancies created all down the line by the resignation of the Capt. will be held on Friday night in the Armory. In order that the most satisfactory results may be obtained the company will probably turn out to a man to register their preference for the men whom they desire to lead them.

SALUS LODGE NOTES

The following delegates and alternates were elected to attend York District Lodge at Biddeford Pool Wednesday, Nov. 17.

Delegates—Mrs. Mary Littlefield, Mrs. Elizabeth Spiller, Laura Hicks. Alternates—Mabel Hicks, Mrs. Mary Mitchell, Mrs. Frances Hutchins.

The district secretary will arrange for conveyance from Biddeford to the Pool. Members of Salus Lodge will take the 9 o'clock car in the morning and meet at the Direct Importing Company's store, Main street, Biddeford at 10 o'clock sharp.

Owing to the absence of the installing officer, the officers of Salus Lodge will be installed next Tuesday evening. By D. G. C. T. Mrs. Thing and marshalls of Ernest Lodge. Light refreshments will be served.

Eighteen members of the Delta Alpha class met at Mrs. Fannie Jackson's Tuesday night. Guessing contests, music, a social hour and refreshments were enjoyed.

Immaculate cleanliness, absolute precision and an immediate attention to your prescription wants are found at Fiske's drug store.

KENNEBUNKPORT NEWS NOTES

Mrs. Robert Brooks continues about the same.

Three deer were seen in Parsons' woods last week.

Mrs. Frank Winn visited her sister in Haverhill last week.

A. M. Wells has exchanged horses with Clifford Maling.

John Cluff was married recently, his bride coming from Auburn.

George Kimball of the Atlantic Shore line is having a vacation.

Miss Beth Merrill, who has been visiting friends in Montreal, has returned.

James P. Willis went to Boston on a business trip for a few days this week.

Miss Rachel Russell has entered the Webber hospital to study for a trained nurse.

Walter Clark sold his Ford automobile to a New Hampshire purchaser last week.

Charles Ward recently built and launched a 34-foot boat, bought by an out-of-town purchaser.

Mrs. Charles Adams has returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Chick, who have taken apartments in Lynn, Mass., will keep house there during the winter.

Woodbury Smith and daughter, Miss Lulu Smith of Berwick, have been visiting for a week at the Adams farm.

Thomas Atkins and wife have gone to Philadelphia, Penn. where Mr. Atkins will be employed during the winter.

Partridge shooting has been heavy in this vicinity. The Goodwin brothers have shot between 60 and 70 this fall.

Miss Hazel Clark is conducting the Sunday School choir at Saint Martha's church and is proving very efficient at the art.

Miss Edna Wells left on the 7.50 train for a long trip; her destination being Houston Texas. She will be missed by her many friends.

The DeGroff of Morristown, N. J., has been purchased by H. O. Hastings of Philadelphia, for a sum exceeding $10,000 according to reports.

Wilbur Wildes, conductor on the Atlantic Shore railroad, has been spending a two weeks' vacation in short hunting trips, with gratifying results.

Ernest C. Smith and wife of the Hotel Preble, Portland, visited in town last week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Benson and other relatives.

Edward Meserve, who sprained his ankle badly last week is now about town on crutches. Mr. Meserve, who is a heavy man, fell from an apple tree.

E. A. Atkins is having his new store, recently vacated by Clapp the jeweler, remodeled preparatory to beginning business there about the middle of December. He is having the store reshelved and the interior altered to suit his convenience.

Mrs. Isabelle Wentworth, formerly of this town, wife of Samuel Wentworth of Saco died at her home in Saco Tuesday, Nov. 2; after a long illness. Mrs. Wentworth was 71 years old.

Mrs. Wentworth was born in Kennebunkport, the daughter of John and Frances (Jeffery) Somers. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Susie E. Ladd, two granddaughters, the Misses Alta W. and Vera M. Ladd, and one sister, Mrs. Frederick D. Atkinson, all of Saco. Mrs. Wentworth was a member of Fred S. Gurney Relief Corps.

At a recent meeting of the Village Improvement society of Beechwood the following resolution was passed: Resolved that the residents of Beechwood petition the legislature to be set apart from the township of Kennebunkport unless something is done in the way of building a roadway to the state highway at Kennebunk. According to reports feeling in the matter is strong in Beechwood but residents of Kennebunkport either consider that the matter will go no further or express indifference to the threat.

Mrs. Park Ready is ill at her home.

A new piazza is being added to the Seaside hotel.

Mrs. Harriet Frost has gone to Boston for the winter.

Mrs. Daniel Wormwood's store is being painted yellow.

William Clough is having his buildings painted white.

H. L. Littlefield and son are building an addition on their garage.

Abner F. Chick and D. A. Morrison were Portland visitors Monday.

Mrs. William Westcott has joined her husband on his gunning trip.

Mrs. Lillian Perkins is to move into the house vacated by Mr. Goss.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hodgkins are going to Boston this week on a business trip.

The Breakwater cottage is being remodeled inside. A. D. Welch is doing the wiring.

It is rumored that Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin Littlefield are willing to sell Riverside Inn.

The party of five who went gunning last week have shot two deer among them. They will return on Sunday.

Frank E. Miller, George Twambly and Walter Lane were among those to see The Garden of Allah in Portland.

Clarence Emmons has moved from the old Brooks house and is to occupy the house of Miss Frost on North street.

Ernest Goss, the local undertaker, is moving to York. Edward Pinkham will take charge of the business here.

Mrs. Palmer Twambly spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Studley at their cottage at Underwood Springs.

A. D. Welch has recently graded the lawn around his cottage on School street, much improving the appearance of the grounds.

A. D. Welch has had his Packard automobile thoroughly overhauled in Portland recently and it is now in excellent condition.

A supper will be held at the home of Miss Bertha Smith Wednesday night for the benefit of the North Congregational church.

A very interesting meeting of the recently organized Young People's Society of the Methodist church was held on Sunday evening at 6.25 being led by Miss Beatrice Clough.

Rev. Mr. Chambers returned to his pulpit last Sunday after a month's vacation. Invitations were sent to all attendants to be present making something of a rally Sunday of the day.

There will be another meeting of the Festival Chorus Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Charles Chase. The chorus has not yet organized but it is expected that it will meet every Thursday after the church service and that officers will be chosen soon.

There is an interesting controversy going on around the winter stoves in regard to building cottages on the ledge side of King's Highway. One side claims that, according to a verbal agreement made in the early 80's land was not to be sold for building outside the road. The other faction is glad to see more building lots opened up and declares that an entirely different corporation now controls this property and are not bound by the verbal agreements of their predecessors. About 15 acres of building land are available in this section.

The Entertainment Bureau held a meeting on Monday evening in the Methodist church, at which encouraging reports were made by different committees and officers. Everything was found to be moving along most satisfactorily and the prospects are good for a course of entertainments this winter of which the citizens of the place may well be proud. Many tickets have already been sold and paid for and others have given positive assurance that they may be counted upon to be present. The first entertainment will be given on Thursday evening, Dec. 2, in the Baptist church and will be presented by the Elmer Crawford Adams Company, composed of Mr. Adams as violinist, Mrs. Roselth Knapp Breed, one of Boston's leading woman humorists, and Miss Minnie E. Sample, an excellent soprano possessing an unusually sweet and clear voice. Such a treat is in store in this one entertainment that it is well worth the price of the whole course.

Misses Alice and Hazel Clough are at home after an extended visit with relatives in Biddeford.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Atkins have gone to Germantown, Penn., where they will spend the winter.

Dr. H. L. Prescott is improving his home property by the addition of a covered piazza on the north side.

Charles A. Rush, Superintendent of Schools of Wells and North Berwick, preached most acceptably in the Baptist church on Sunday morning.

Rev. Thomas Cain, who recently resigned from the pastorate of the Baptist church, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church in Lexington, Mass., for the second time last Sunday.

An individual Communion service was used for the first time on Sunday at the Methodist church. It is of silver, very attractive and artistic in appearance and was much appreciated by the communicants.

Rev. Dr. Green, for more than half a century a missionary of the American Board in Turkey, and now some eighty-two years of age, preached most vigorously in the Congregational church on Sunday, presenting in a most illuminating way the conditions now prevalent in Turkey. A large congregation was present to hear him.

Next Sunday is to be observed as Rally Day by the Methodist Church and Sunday School. There will be special singing by the young people's choir and a sermon appropriate to the day by the pastor. The Sunday school has been doing very finely the last year. All old-time attendants and friends are being given a cordial invitation to be present at the Rally Day exercises.

At a meeting of the local ministers on Monday afternoon arrangements were made for union services on the approaching Thanksgiving day. They will be held in the Advent Christian church in the Lower Village at 10.30 A. M. The speaker of the occasion will be Rev. Thomas P. Baker. It was decided to ask at that time for a liberal offering to be devoted to the relief of the suffering Armenians who are staggering under the ash of one of the fiercest and most brutal persecutions that has ever been witnessed.

On Sunday evening a union service was held in the Methodist church in the interest of the Laymen's Missionary Movement Convention evening and continuing all day Thursday and Friday and culminating in a mass meeting on Sunday afternoon. This is one of a series of great gatherings being held under the auspices of this movement in the large centers throughout the country. A remarkable program has been arranged for the Portland gathering, addresses before which are to be delivered by Christian workers having a national and international reputation as authorities upon the topics which they are to present. The speaker at the Sunday evening service here was Mr. G. Stanley Evans, General Secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. of Portland. He spoke in a very forceful and convincing manner and made a deep impression upon many of his hearers. During the evening the young people's chorus rendered a pleasing selection. It is expected that a number of men of this place will be in attendance at the Portland meetings.

Overcoats

AND

Mackinaws

Come to this Boys' Store for your boy's Overcoats and Mackinaws.

You will find here a carefully selected stock and a large assortment of good values to choose from.

$4 $5 $6 $7.50 $10

Boys' Sweaters,
$1.50, $3.00

Caps and Gloves,
50c, $1.00

Boys' Union Suits,
50c, $1.00

Remember

Our Clearance Sale of Overcoats is now on

$5.00 and $9.95

Were 10.00 to 22.50

BENOIT-DUNN CO.

256 Main Street
Biddeford

LAY OR BUST
TRADE MARK
DRY-MASH
WE DECIDED TO LAY
DON'T WAIT
for your hens to decide Feed them LAY OR BUST and they can't help it
BUY IT OF
B. F. EMERY
KENNEBUNKPORT MAINE

REMOVAL SALE

As we are about to move into new quarters we shall offer for the next four weeks, Beginning Nov. 15th

$3,000 WORTH OF SHOES

For Men, Women and Children at Greatly Reduced Prices

This sale means a great saving to those who avail themselves of it. Many pairs at less than half price. Sale strictly cash.

ATKINS SHOE COMPANY

Kennebunkport, Maine

This Space Reserved For

NICHOLS & CO.,

146 Main Street Biddeford, Maine
(The E. M. Staples Store)

JOHN F. DEAN

Dealer In
Boots, Shoes and Rubbers

136 Main Street
Biddeford Tel. 2-46

HELLO!

your attention is called to the Butter Wrappers printed by us for $2.00 a thousand.

BUY YOUR HAIR GOODS

—OF—

CARLES' HAIR STORE

518 Congress St., Portland

Made from FIRST QUALITY Hair only. We do not use any Chinese Hair in this store.

We will send goods on approval to responsible people. We make every conceivable kind of hair piece, in all shades of hair.

We also make switches from your own combings, that are made right and a pleasure for you to wear for $2.50

VISIT THE ART NEEDLEWORK SHOP

New and Exclusive Designs in Cross, Stitch Patterns, Stamped Goods . . . Wash Embroidery, Silks . . . Order Work Promptly Done Stamping and Designing . . .

MRS. FRED C. SMITH
ROOM 302 BAXTER BLOCK
562 CONGRESS STREET
Portland Maine

THE ARION ORCHESTRA

is prepared to furnish music for all occasions

For terms and particulars telephone 153-3, Kennebunk, Me.

H. N. EAMES, V. M. D.

VETERINARY SURGEON and PHYSICIAN
Graduate of U. of Penn. State Veterinary Deputy.
Phone 106 SANFORD, ME

DINAN

The Jeweler

25 Main St. BIDDEFORD