Dear Sir:

From a relative of Sylvia Tryon, who lives in Portland, I have secured her address, and suggest you write to her directly. After the death of her husband, Mr. Kramer, she changed her name, and is known as Mrs. Sylvia Tryon.

The address is:

55 Terrace Road
Medford 55, Mass.
% Dr. James L. Tryon

At present, she is on vacation but, no doubt, the letter will be forwarded to her.

I hope you will be able to obtain the desired information.

Very truly yours,

Dear Miss Trappan:

We have in the Maine Author Collection a copy of SONGS OF THE NORTH COUNTRY by Sylvia Tryon. We understand that her name is Mrs. Kramer and that she was born in Portland. Can you give us any biographical information regarding her? We would appreciate any facts you can give us.

Very truly yours

Dear Mrs. Tryon:

The Maine Author Collection includes a copy of SONGS OF THE NORTH COUNTRY, which you very kindly autographed for this exhibit.

We seem, however, to lack biographical information about you; that is, definite facts and dates. Because we like to have as complete information about our authors as possible, we hope that you will be gracious enough to let us have a little material of this nature at your convenience.

Sincerely yours

hmj
