Thursday evening of last week some two hundred interested women and a few men were privileged to listen to Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston on the subject of "A Nation's Need," in Mousam Opera House.

The back of the stage had been draped with the Russian flag as a center piece surrounded by American flags which might be taken as a symbol that U. S. was willing and ready to help Russia. At the sides of the stage were potted palms from the greenhouse of J. O. Elwell, these being decorated with banners "Votes for Women." A handsome bouquet of yellow jonquils adorned the small table.

Attractive lady ushers with yellow sashed "Votes for Women" was a novel feature. The High School orchestra played several selections, "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung at the beginning of the exercises the singing being led by Mrs. Hartley Lord.

The President of the local branch Miss Margaret Thompson, in a few well chosen words called the meeting to order and introduced the speaker.

For more than an hour Mrs. Livingston held the closest attention of her audience. By statistics and stories she brought out clearly the points she wished to make. To women belong the credit of 75 per cent of the Protestant church membership. Since the higher schools and colleges have been open to women they have taken high rank and ninety out of every hundred teachers are women. Since women were forging to the front in all industries there was no reason why they should not have the ballot. She claimed there were more than 15,000 purchasable votes in the State of Maine alone which political leaders of both parties acknowledged. There were more than 70,000 men who did not exercise the right of franchise and as many women who were anxious to have the right.

Mrs. Livingston has a most pleasing personality and handles her subject most thoroughly. It was a pity that there was not a larger number to hear this distinguished speaker. A collection was taken some $10.00 being the result.

Several questions were asked and answered while the baskets were passed by the young ladies. "America" was sung at the close of the speaking. This really was the opening of the local Equal Suffrage League campaign in this town and it must have been most gratifying to its promoters.

PYTHIAN NOTES

The sewing circle of P. S. met this (Wednesday) afternoon in U. R. hall and made pillow slips for the local Militia boys.

On Tuesday evening May 22 it is expected that twelve new members will be taken into the order and the men will serve the supper.

There was a rehearsal of the degree staff of P. S. last evening. The next rehearsal will be held Tuesday evening of next week and it is earnestly requested that all be present.

A most enjoyable evening was passed last Saturday when some two hundred Knights with their families assembled in Pythian hall. Clarence Webber in a few well chosen words bade the large company welcome and remarks were made by Rev. T. P. Baker of Kennebunkport and Rev. B. F. Tilton of this village. A male quartette of Portland also a lady reader from that city gave a most delightful program after which ice cream and cake were served, followed by dancing in U. R. hall.

Mrs. Ida Nason, Mrs. Sylvia Boston, Mrs. Rena Knight, Mrs. Harriet Knight, Mrs. Gertrude Knight, Mrs. Bessie Shepherd, Mrs. May Taylor, Mrs. Elva Patterson, Mrs. Carrie Burgess, Mrs. Edith Warren, and Mrs. Addie Costello, laden with goodies made a call last Friday afternoon upon the Quartermaster Sergeant and presented him with cakes, pies, cookies etc. which were distributed to the soldiers of Company A. The boys are loud in their praise of the treatment they are receiving by the local people.

BENEFIT PARTY

A Benefit Party and dance will be given the 13th. Co., C. A. C. also a welcome to Company A. at the Mousam Opera House, next Saturday evening by a number of the young ladies of the village. Tickets will be on sale at Bodge's and also by the young people and it is hoped that not only a good time will be enjoyed but that a goodly sum will be realized. Good music will be furnished.

A business meeting was held at the Christian Science Church this Wednesday evening and it was voted to repair the Chapel and do some outside grading. The matter of a lecturer for the summer meeting was also discussed and plans made to have the same some time in August.

A FINE HOSTESS

The district meeting of Rebekahs from Biddeford, Saco and Old Orchard was held Monday afternoon and evening, Olive Rebekah lodge being the entertaining body, the attendance being excellent and the assembly officers, President Mrs. Florence Martin of Kingman, Vice President Mrs. Julia Marley of Gardiner, and Warden Mrs. Valeria Merrill of Portland being present.

The afternoon meeting was called to order by District Deputy President Mrs. Maude Noyes Titcomb of Saco. In the afternoon the honors were conferred on the state officers, the present presidents, a number being present, and on Mrs. Titcomb, the district deputy president, and George A. Gilpatrick, past grand representative.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Rachel Fiske, who was cordial and earnest in her greeting to the visitors. The response to the address was given by Mrs. Eva McKenney Michie, noble grand of Evangeline lodge, Biddeford. This response was given with Mrs. Michie's own charm of manner and both welcome and response elicited much applause.

The work of the order was discussed during the afternoon session, there were many questions asked of the state officers and the Odd Fellows and Orphans home project was taken up and considered from a variety of view points. At the close of the afternoon session the members were free to enjoy themselves about the town until supper was served at 6.30 o'clock.

The menu consisted of Cold Meats Baked Beans Salads Hot Rolls Gelatine Puddings Assorted Cakes Coffee

The tables were very attractive, sprays of cherry blossoms being used most artistically, while in the lodge hall there were huge bouquets of cut flowers, speaking of the springtime.

The evening session was in regular form and the noble grand, Mrs. Lenora Allison, and the vice grand, Mrs. Carrie Burgess, were in their chairs. The exemplification of the Rebekah degree under the form of the "Beautified Work" was the feature of the evening, the staff from Saco doing the work.

The entire session was a most profitable one, the reports of the afternoon from the various lodges in the district, and the reports of the state officers showing that the work in this district and in the state is in a most satisfactory condition.

Of the afternoon session a pleasant feature was the readings of Mrs. Hazen of Portland, who convulsed her hearers in the humor of her selections and she was obliged to respond to encores.

It was near 11 o'clock when the exercises concluded.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade was held Monday evening at headquarters at which time plans were discussed regarding "Clean Up Week" and it was voted to hold the same the week of May 21st. It was also voted to hold the next meeting at the Sagamore Hotel, Kennebunkport, June 4th. Mr. W. L. Gooch will provide the supper and those planning to attend will hand their names to the entertainment committee consisting of Judge H. E. Bourne, P. D. Greenleaf, and W. H. Littlefield. Plans were discussed about the road building proposition, which will be held Thursday and Friday of this week. Mr. Raino informing the writer that there will be twenty shovellers each day with six teams the first day and four auto trucks the second day. It is expected that a large amount of work will be accomplished.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

The Twilight Base Ball League will start next Monday with six teams and will play on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday during the season on the play grounds, the game starting at 6 o'clock. There will be six teams with their managers as follows: Counter Shop—L. Smith. Goodalls—Mr. Bath. Leatherwood—W. T. Kiljore. K. H. S.—Joseph Dane. Business Men and Clerks—E. L. Jones.

Co. A.—Sergeant Mayhew. A meeting was held Monday evening of this week at the office of Secretary Cobb at which time Principle Whipple of the K. H. S. was elected President of the League and John Balch Secretary.

Y. W. C. A. ENTERTAINS

The Y. W. C. A. entertained the 13th Company on Monday evening in their Club room. About one hundred were present. The evening's entertainment opened with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" with piano accompaniment. This was followed by games and a candy pull which caused much merriment. Aprons were presented to the boys and their task was to find the owner of the article and when found the fun began and it was indeed a "sticky time." Refreshments of sandwiches, cake, and cocoa were served and quantities being left, it was sent to Company A, who appreciated the same. Before leaving hearty cheers were given for the Y. W. C. A.

A new and larger announcement board will be placed on the Unitarian Church.

Thursday, May 17th is the date set for the Glee Club Contest and play to be given by the Y. W. C. A. Club, at Mousam Opera House. A large number are planning to attend.

One of our exchanges, in fact more than one has announced that patriotic citizens had offered to give flag poles to those wishing to fling Old Glory to the breeze. This is a most generous offer and no doubt there would be many more flags floating in this village if the offer was made here. The Y. W. C. A. Club has a handsome flag but have no pole for the same and cannot afford to purchase one just at present. Who will donate one and enable the Red, White and Blue to float from the top of the building.

CLUB ENTERTAINS

The Lafayette Club certainly did themselves proud when they entertained some thirty men from the 13th Co., and as many more from Company A., at their rooms last Saturday evening. To say the boys had a fine time is putting it mild.

The address of welcome was given by Frank Rutter and a splendid speech was made by Geo. Emery of Saco. Arthur Hayes gave a poem on "The Flag" and his speaking is too well known to need comment.

Billard, Pool and Cards were among other things enjoyed and a buffet lunch was done double justice to. The boys will long remember this as a banner night in their calendar.

GOOD SHOWS

This (Wednesday) opening the Ethel May Shorey Company finishes their three days engagement in our town. The audience Monday evening was small but those who attended were well repaid in seeing the production "My Pal." The vaudeville was above the average.

Again on Tuesday evening the company was greeted by a small audience but this did not hinder the players from doing their very best which was above criticism. The entire company is splendid and the play "United States Secret Service" was a Comedy Drama of unusual merit. Miss Leona Tarbox as "Stutters Crane" was a splendid piece of acting. Miss Tarbox is also the piano accompanist and a singer of unusual merit, having taken a five year course in the Boston Conservatory of Music.

The ventriloquist is much above the average and the songs by Mr. Campbell elicited much applause.

The electrical act was a novel feature and kept the audience deeply interested. As for Miss Shorey, she is certainly a wonder. With a repertoire of twenty-nine plays and some fifteen sketches, all written by this talented young woman, is a record without parallel and every play seems to have some hidden moral lessons. The company expect to visit our town again next season and it is to be hoped will receive a more liberal patronage.

A travelling man who was in town recently said that until he reached Maine he saw the Stars and Stripes very generally displayed on business places or private residences, but in this State but little display has yet been made. It has been suggested that the citizens get together and provide community flags to be displayed in the squares. It is a good suggestion and an excellent time for the people to show their patriotism. Let us act at once.

WE THANK YOU

Kennebunkport, May 4th, 1917
Mrs. A. J. Crediford

My Dear Madam:
Kindly allow me to congratulate you on editorial "The Last 100,000-000 Bushels of Grain." Among the good things appearing in the Enterprise from time to time this was of the best.

Rev. Isaac E. Terry.

It is the "spirit of '76" in fact that animates America today, as shown in many impressive ways.
Among the latest positive signs is the use of Independence Hall at Philadelphia as a recruiting station, the first time in the Nation's history that the historic building has been thus utilized.

Four eclipses of the sun and three of the moon, the greatest number possible in a single year will occur in 1917, according to a memorandum issued by the naval observatory. The last year in which seven eclipses came was early in the last century and the next will be 1935.

Young man, remember this: All the friends who can gather about you can never make your life a success; neither can your enemies make it a failure. It rests with you to determine whether you shall succeed or fail. Just put this thought on your memoranda, and study it carefully.

On looking over the list published in a New York paper of the events taking place in that city recently, we find that there are one hundred and ten free lectures to which the public is invited, no admission being charged nor collection taken. This is an average of over fifteen per day, the subjects ranging from music to political economy, from domestic science to the progress of the war.

PAYING OFF GRUDGES

Men Object To Signing What They
Would Have Papers Publish

The Marion (O.) Tribune has this to say to the fellow who wants to use a newspaper to air personal opinions and pay off grudges.

"Here is something you might stick in your hatband: 'If I owned a newspaper what I would say in it just now would be a plenty,' remarked a man the other day.

"He was invited to write what he wanted to say, with the assurance it would be printed if his signature accompanied it.

"He very promptly declined the tender, remarking that it would hurt his business. There are a lot of people anxious for things to be published in newspapers provided they hurt the business of somebody else and not their own.

What newspaper has not had this very same experience with this very same yellow bellied tadpole of a citizen who sputters and splutters about what ought to be printed in a newspaper and what ought to be admitted, and yet when you invite him to be responsible for the manuscript he wants you to publish, he whines and wabbles out of the office with a grouch?

"That is not all. He writes in that he will stop his paper if you don't print what he himself won't sign. Yet if you were to suggest to him that his threat to stop his paper is a pue and simple attempt at coercion he would yowl like a tomcat with it's tail stepped on."

FROM THE CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD

Synopsis of previous Installments.

Sam Worthington and William Woods, two patriotic New Hampshire boys, come down from their hill town to enter the Navy. The boys disagree as to which branch of the service they shall enter.
Sam selects the regular Navy, and Bill, the Reserves. They are enrolled and physically examined at the Yard. The story details the making of a sailor.

Chapter Three.

It was at the close of a busy day.
The enrolling officer had seen pass before him, several score of young men of the kind the backbone of the country is made, but there was something about these two boys, fresh from the inland district, which was striking. Both were typically farm-raised boys, firm of muscle, and with persistence stamped upon their faces.
And the Enrolling Officer looked approvingly at them, as they stood together waiting for the orderly to arrive.

Finally his step was heard outside. He entered, and the Officer said: "Show these men to the Virginia."

The bluejacket saluted, and the boys followed him down the short, rather steep flight of stairs, to the main street outside.

Dusk had already begun to gather.
Lights were flashing from the big shops, stretching in seemingly unending line in the distance.
Above them was the roar and clatter of preparation. Guards were everywhere. A stub-nosed engine puffed by, hauling an immense crane, and after it, came another, drawing several cars, coal laden, to one of the shops. The boys were so interested in looking at the strange sights that they forgot, for the time being, their own participation in this scene of animation.
They were reminded of it, when their escort turned and said: "Are you fellows in the Reserves?"

"I'm going in the Reserves," spoke up Bill, "Sam here is going into the Navy," he continued.

"I'm in the Navy myself," said the orderly. "Going to be something doing before long, too."

The boys pricked up their ears.
Here was a real sailor, and telling them some things about the very life which they were to play a part! Little did the boys then know that only the higher officers of those ships, lying calmly at dock, knew of what was going to transpire, and even they would be unacquainted with actual orders until it was time to put to sea.

"Yes, sir! The Virginia, and every one of these ships are going right into service," romanced the sailor, as they walked along.

His conversation, however, was cut off abruptly by the Virginia looming suddenly up before them.
They walked along under the guns to the stern. Without hesitation, their guide turned up the aft gang plank to the deck of the vessel.

The boys looked with wonder at the new sight which was unfolded to them. Along the deck rail were suspended many canvas bags.
They were to learn that these were dunnage bags of the sailors, and would be taken in within a few minutes.

Forward stretched the long lines of the trim battleship with its uprising turrets and ominous, huge guns of tremendous length.

It was the first time the boys had ever seen such guns. Their only acquaintance with firearms had been the Winchester rifles and fowling pieces, which they used in hunting back home. The near view of these monstrous pieces of ornance exceeded even the ideas they had formed of them from the pictures in the newspapers.

But, they were to learn more of these later.

The officer of the deck met them at the head of the plank.

"Two men from the enrolling office," said the orderly, after saluting.

"Give me your papers," said the officer, and he examined briefly the active service orders, which the boys presented.

The orderly was excused, and after the officer had concluded with the papers, he called a messenger, and sent the two recruits down the companionway to the Executive Officer.

They passed down from the main deck into the well lighted gun deck below. This was where they were to live!

The boys felt somewhat bashful, as they passed through the hundreds of other sailors below decks.
It was the rest period before evening mess, and all the crew, excepting those on watch, were about the deck. They seemed legion. Their messenger took them to the Executive Officer, who also took their papers. They had to wait around for some little time, but there was so much to look at that neither spoke a word. Finally, another orderly came up, and they were taken to the ship's writer. Here they were each given a card with several numbers written thereon. The orderly explained, as they looked at these pieces of paper, that it was their billet, although the boys did not know what this meant.

The billet contained the number of their mess, and their station, the place where they were to swing their hammocks, and the number of their watch.

It was at this juncture that Sam
and Bill had their first set-back.
An orderly, called upon, took Sam in tow, and he was told he would be shown his mess, while Bill was sent with another orderly to the Master at Arms. This officer took Bill to the ships' small stores, and he drew his outfit, and then, they went to the sail locker, where he received a hammock, bag, mattress, two mattress covers, etc., all of which were stencilled with the number of his billet.

They then went up to the office of the Master at Arms who showed him how to clew and lash the hammock and fold the blankets.

Another orderly took Bill up to where he was to sling his hammock and place it in the netting. He was then "delivered" to the man at the head of this division. In his case, it was a boatswain's mate.
He had drawn a billet in the third division.

The boatswain's mate seemed a very important being to Bill. He seemed to know everything about the ship. Bill wondered if he would ever be able to learn the phrases and places, which the mate reeled off so readily.

It was the mate who showed him how to sling his hammock, and where to keep his bag. This done he was told where he would mess, and showed the place. He was then told to get into his uniform, which had been provided at the stores.

All this time Bill was wondering what had become of Sam. He asked the mate, and explained the circumstances of their enlisting.
The mate said he would find Sam forward, and pointed to where he would be likely to be found in a group of other men also without uniforms. Bill went over and soon found his friend. Sam—it seems—had been merely assigned a mess and a hammock for the night.

"I have got to go to Newport," said Sam, and the two boys, for the first time felt the sorrow, which inevitably arises, when two associated for so long, must separate.
"But, where did you get that uniform?" questioned Sam.

"It was given me. I am going to stay aboard here," said Bill.

At this juncture, a bugle tooted the call of mess, and, amid a scurrying of uniformed men, and with promises to meet just as soon as the meal was over, the boys separated.

Neither Bill or Sam will ever forget that first meal aboard battleship.

The next installment will relate how Bill participated in the capture of the Sparrowhawk—a motor boat, which was believed to have been put into readiness to cut cables. Sam goes to Newport to train for the battleships.

LETTER FROM MR. LEECH

The many friends of Mr. Leech will be interested in the following letter.

Editor Kennebunk Enterprise:—We are here in our new home in Hallowell. We really thought that our parsonage home in Kennebunk was one of the very best, but this surpasses it in size, convenience, and equipment. We are getting really settled and are made to feel quite at home. Our first Sunday passed very pleasantly, and the large audiences of both morning and evening were very kindly in their words of appreciation. To assist in the worship we have a very excellent mixed quartette of trained voices.

Last evening the church tendered us a reception in the vestry and parlors of the church. Nearly two hundred were present. With Mrs. Leech and myself in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. John W. Church, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Turner and Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Brokenshire. The latter was my immediate predecessor in this pastorate. Following the formal reception light refreshments were served in the Ladies Parlor. Later the meeting was called to order by W. H. Perry and speeches were in order. Rev. W. H. Brokenshire brought his greetings, prefacing his remarks by a brief history on Methodism in Hallowell, and the story of Methodism's first Foreign Missionary, Rev. Melville Cox, a son of Hallowell. Rev. E. W. Webber brought the welcome of the Universalist Church and of the Kennebec Ministers Association. Miss Rev. A. J. Gwynne spoke for the Baptist church, Rev. A. C. Townsend for the Congregational church, and Rev. Mr. Smith for the Society of Friends. In behalf of the Officials and members of the Methodist Church Mr. J. W. Church extended the Right hand of Fellowship to Mrs. Leech and myself in a most happy speech. Of course I responded as best I could, and the only tears shed were those caused by laughter as I told a few anecdotes that seemed to amuse the audience. On the whole we are very much pleased with the place and people, and pray that our successor at Kennebunk may be as well received and as heartily welcomed as we have been.

Yours Most Sincerely,
S. E. Leech.

The Boston Sunday Globe contained an excellent likeness of the Rev. S. Elfred Leech former pastor of the Methodist church here and the following sketch will be read with interest by Mr. Leech's many friends who may not have seen the item.

REV. S. ELFRID LEECH HAD VARIED EARLY EXPERIENCE

Hallowell, Me, May 5—Rev. S. Elfred Leech, who has just commenced his pastorate at the Methodist Church in this city, before he began preaching was successively farmer, clerk, collector, salesman, oilcloth worker, shipping clerk and foreman.

He was born in Mommouth in 1863 and educated in the public schools, Mommouth Academy and later in Boston. At 30 years of age he yielded to his early call and entered the ministry, supplying various churches, for the longest time in the town of Wayne. In 1895 he became pastor of the Methodist Church in North Augusta, joining the Methodist Conference the next year. He has subsequently ministered to the needs of the Methodist people in Livermore Falls, Kennebunkport, Cape Porpoise, Bridgton and Kennebunk.

At the age of 21, Mr. Leech married Eva Estelle Cutter of Boston. One son, Rev. Henry E. Leech, is pastor of the Highland Methodist Church in Holyoke, Mass, and another son, Rev. Arthur L. Leech, is pastor of the Methodist Church in Austin, Colo. Another son, Clifton B. Leech, is a student in the Boston University School of Medicine. The two elder sons are married and each has two sons.

This advertisement is one of a series designed to effect closer cooperation between the company and the subscribers. There are three parties to a telephone call—the person calling, the person called, and the operator who connects them. The quality of service rendered is determined by the spirit in which all three work together, rather than by the individual effort of any one or two of these three persons. We shall gladly send COMPLETE SETS OF THE SERIES to those desiring them.

Don't Guess—Know!

"Do you remember what Smith's telephone number is?"

"It seems to me it is 3621."

"No, that doesn't sound like it—I think it is 2631—I'll try that."

So the call was made without referring to the directory which lay beside the questioner... And the wrong connection was made, because the right number was not what either of the speakers guessed—it was 3261.

This illustrates one frequent cause of wrong numbers, namely the transposition of digits in the guessing of numbers. It is so easy to do this that we ask our operators to repeat each call distinctly, so that they may be corrected in any errors due to misunderstanding.

There should be no guessing when a telephone number is wanted. There are only two ways to get the correct number: one way is by looking in the directory. If, on looking in the directory, you cannot find the name of the person with whom you wish to speak, then you should ask for the Information Operator at the desired exchange, and she will give you the number from her records.

The resources of the Association for the current year include, in addition, $200 appropriated at the recent town meeting. Mrs. L. E. Little's report stated that at the date of the opening the library for service there were 974 books on the shelves. The number now on hand totals 2,609. In 46 days on which the library has been open the number of books taken out has been 4,806, an average of 104 a day. The report of Mrs. Charles C. In spite of the inclement weather Sunday morning, the Jr. O. U. A. M., attended church in a body, and listened to an appropriate and interesting sermon by the pastor, Mr. Norman Lindsay, from the text, I Cor. XII-21. And the eye cannot say unto the hand, I have no need of thee. The organist, Mrs. Ralph Perkins was assisted by a chorus of young people.

The subject for the evening was "When a Boy's a Man", an appeal to boys and young men, to which was given the closest attention.

The music for the evening was led by a large chorus of men and boys, a hearty spirit of co-operation marking the entire day.

The time of the evening services at the church has been changed to 7.30 o'clock, in both week and Sunday services.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Perkins of Kittery, with their little daughter, Betty, spent the week-end at the Cape.

The B. M. Club spent last Saturday in Portland, having a most enjoyable trip.

Mr. Albert Wildes has moved his family to the Town House, where they will take charge of the Town Farm. Mr. Wildes had been driver for the W. H. Pinkham Company for some time, but was forced to leave on account of poor health.

Mrs. Nancy Bryant and Miss Ruth Bryant of Damariscotta, have been visiting Mrs. Calvin Bryant of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman, and Mrs. George Woodbury and nephew, were recent guests of Mrs. Albert Moody.

Mrs. Christopher Perkins is confined to her home by illness.

Frank Hutchins, Sr., is organizing a company of Boy Scouts, and the boys of the place are very much interested in the project.

The C. L. C. in charge of their teacher, Miss Daisy L. Nunan, gave an entertainment in the church Friday evening, May 4th. Before and after the exercises ice cream and cake were served in the vestry.

The church was appropriately decorated with flags and bunting and the exercises were given before a well-filled house. The songs of the young people were accompanied on the piano by Miss Sadie M. Nunan. Miss Louise Hutchins and Miss Evangeline Landry also gave piano solos. One of the best numbers of the evening "The Little Soldier and the Red Cross Maid" was unavoidably omitted; but little Miss Frances Sinnett who was to have been the Red Cross Maid, gracefully helped the situation by giving a song, her voice being a most and pleasing one. The affair was most successful, fifty dollars and fifty-five cents, ($50.55) being taken, which is to be used for church work for what particular branch has not yet been decided. The following program was given:

1. America.
 2. Song, "When the Roses Bloom Again."
 3. Piano solo, by Louise Hutchins.
 4. "Miss Lecty," a dialogue by four C. L. girls.
 5. Vocal solos by Miss Louise Harford.
 6. Song, "Up and Away."
 7. Piano solo by Evangeline Landry.
 8. "Aunt Polly," a dialogue by five C. L. girls.
 9. Duet, "The Little Soldier and the Red Cross Maid," by Frances and Louise Deinstad.
 10. Songs, Almond Blossom, Water Lilies.
 11. Duet by Sadie and Elizabeth Nunan.
 12. Song, "America the Beautiful."
- Sunday, May 13th, will be observed as "Mother's Day," in common with other churches.
