

REMINGTON UMC

The First Duty Of Any Rifle Is To Shoot Straight

The things that distinguish Remington-UMC Big Game Rifles from all others of their class are certain fundamental refinements invented and used exclusively by the Remington Arms-Union Metallic Cartridge Company.

High Power Slide Action Repeaters with the famous Remington-UMC Slide Action feature: Six shot; Hammerless; 22 inch Ordinance Steel Barrel, patented quick-adjustable Straight Bar Rear Sight and new design Copper Head Front Sight. Chambered for .25 Remington, .30 Remington, .32 Remington and .35 Remington cartridges.

Autoloading Rifles—Five shots at one loading—you simply press the trigger for each shot. Automatically ejects empty and loads the fresh shell. Made with the famous Remington-UMC Solid Breach Hammerless Positive Safety Device. Chambered for .25 Remington, .30 Remington, .32 Remington and .35 Remington cartridges—and the new .22 calibre Remington-UMC Autoloading Rifle, shooting the .22 Remington Autoloading Cartridge.

Look for the dealer who displays the Red Ball Mark of Remington-UMC. He has these Remington-UMC Rifles in stock now or can get them for you.

To keep your gun cleaned and lubricated right, use Rem Oil, the new powder solvent, rust preventative, and gun lubricant.

MANY PARTIES AT THE TAVERN

Good Weather Needed to Make Complete Enjoyment.

(Special Correspondence.)
The Tavern, Rangeley, June 7.—All that is needed to send many people this way for the June days is pleasant weather and dry roads. The many friends of Mrs. Wm. Nice, Jr., and daughter, Miss Katharine Nice of Ogontz, Penn., are glad to welcome them again at the lakes. They are here for part of this month, then Miss Nice goes to Lake Titus, New York for the summer, but plans to return and spend the autumn days here.

Mrs. Eugene Atwood of Stonington, Conn., was here for the week-end on her way to "Forestholme," Kennebago.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Arthur of New York accompanied Mrs. Chas. Neal and son home in their new touring car and are making a short stay here on their way to York Camps.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McCarthy of Quincy House, Boston, are enjoying the fishing and a week's stay at The Tavern.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Fougner of Larchmont, N. Y., with Aaron Soule guide, who have been here for a stay of two weeks, found the fishing good and caught a number of trout weighing from 3 to 4½ pounds, besides many smaller ones.

Every pleasant day now brings automobile parties for dinner coming across country from Stratton, or from Farmington, Haines Landing, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Payson of Boston and Mrs. J. Rogers of Portland, coming by auto were week-end guests.

Among those who have registered here the last week are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Barnard, Rockland; Benj. A. Cock, Frank H. Foss of Fitchburg, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin, Farmington; J. A. Cowles, W. S. Lawson, M. Goldsmith, V. Mayo of New York; Harry S. Lee, W. H. Adams, C. A. Mallery of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Moffied, Hartford, Conn.; C. L. Moore of West Chester, Penn.

WILL ACCEPT THE PROPOSITION

Phillips, Maine.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I have been a little slow in answering Mr. Harper's proposition, but should we three be fortunate enough to be there at the same time, and it is agreeable to Mr. Wood, I will gladly accept Mr. Harper's proposition.

Yours very truly,
Wm. Allen.

One morning recently Mr. and Mrs. John Mooers while out in their automobile saw a moose fording the river at Muddy Brook, New Sharon. The animal crossed the road in a very leisurely manner. Charles Bailey saw in his pasture a few days ago a couple of does. Game is plentiful in that vicinity.

POPULAR HOTEL AGAIN OPENED

Old-Time Guests and Many New Ones Being Entertained.

(Special Correspondence.)
Rangeley Lake House, Rangeley, June 6.—On the first day of June this, one of the best and most popular summer resorts in New England, opened its doors for the 31st season, and already has every reason to expect the most prosperous year in its history. No hotel could be more homelike and attractive. Everything is in perfect order, new paint, paper and carpets, giving a fresh appearance to the place. Yet when one enters and is heartily greeted by Wm. S. Marble and looks about the office and sees the same people who have been coming here for years, it is like returning home, and cordial are the greetings exchanged.

The first person to book their name was Edward Ledelley of Brooklyn, N. Y., who will soon be joined by his wife and as usual they plan to remain until the hotel closes in October.

Over 40 people registered that day, most of them for an extended stay. There are 75 here, which is more than usual the first week.

Among the happy families are Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Adams, Mrs. W. R. Eisenhower and daughter of Philadelphia, Mrs. E. M. Brown of New York, who is accompanied for June by Mrs. J. E. McMichael, who was not here last year.

None were more heartily greeted than Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Crocker of Fitchburg, Mass., who spent the winter in California. They came in their Pierce-Arrow car and with all the rain we have had said they found the traveling better than last year, as State roads have been built in many places.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hutchins and party, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stanley of Boston, Edward Charles and daughter, Mrs. J. H. Prince of Brookline are also here.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Keep motored from Portland for the opening of the hotel, but only had time to meet a few friends before they were called to New York.

Frederick Skinner, the Boston angler, had an experience in the cove this week that he will not soon forget. He was alone in his boat, casting the fly, the wind blowing a gale, when one of the largest salmon ever seen in these waters came for the fly and was well hooked and gave a good exhibition of himself as he was well handled among the floating logs, but the leader broke and the old resident of the lake started for Greenvale where he was seen last fall. Those who watched the battle all declared this silver beauty weighed from 10 to 12 pounds or more.

The well-known Woolley party from New York are back no doubt to add to their fame as anglers. This year they include John Oscar Erickson, Charles A. Winphelmer, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Woolley and their guides are Al Sprague, Joe Lamb, Herman Huntton and Charles Harneden and next week they will have fish stories to tell, as they always have one of the best records among those who troll on Rangeley Lake.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Thompson and daughters, Miss Juliet and Miss Virginia Thompson of New York, after an absence of one or two seasons, are welcomed back. Mr. Thompson is now professor in the Drew Methodist Theological school in New York. The Rangeley people hope for the pleasure of again hearing him preach while he is in town.

It is a pleasure to meet Mrs. S. G. Wheatland of Salem, Mass., who has been traveling in California this winter and after a few weeks at this hotel will open "Caprice", her beautiful summer home on the shore of Rangeley Lake. Mrs. Wheatland is entertaining her friend, Mrs. D.

BOSTON LADY THE ENVIED ANGLER

Enjoys Fishing Much as Ever—Mrs. Burns Runs Her Auto Truck Skillfully.

(Special Correspondence.)
Mooselookmeguntic House, Haines Landing, June 5.—The sun was shining this morning long enough for the boys to get busy on the tennis court and to run the lawn mower for an hour.

The most envied angler and the one to receive the congratulations of the fishermen this week is a well-known Boston lady, Mrs. Jacob Mosser, who, with Archie Lufkin for guide, while trolling near Frye's camp, had a big salmon strike. The lady was equal to the occasion and handled her rod and reel with so much skill, the fighter, after giving several exhibitions of high jumping, was brought to net, a 7½-pound salmon, the largest recorded this year. Mr. Mosser caught a handsome 4½-pound trout. Mrs. Wm. W. Field of the party landed a 3¼-pound salmon the same day. The party all declared they never had a better time in all the years they have been coming to Haines Landing and hope to return for a longer stay later.

Dr. O. A. Parker and Dr. C. L. Soper of Wakefield, Mass., were here for the week-end and were greatly pleased with this, their first visit.

J. O. Thompson, Jr., of New Bedford, Mass., is here for a few days fishing and with Irving Fancy for guide, intends to have a box of fish to take home with him.

Thomas O. Rogers and C. H. Faith of Boston spent part of the week here and arranged to return for the summer and occupy Camp Burns.

Charles B. Pinney and little son, Robert of Stafford Springs, Conn., have taken one of the camps for this month and with Archie Lufkin guide, are having good fishing.

H. B. Eastman had a 4-pound salmon to take home to Portland he caught the day he left, Nat Ellis guide.

Mrs. Benj. C. King and little son of Stonington, Conn., were guests of Mrs. Burns on Monday.

P. E. McCarthy of Rumford and two New York friends, Allen and Harry Curtis are here for a few days fishing with Tom Canadian and Dick O'Brien guides.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Palmer of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Hicks and daughter, Miss Dorothy of Newton, Mass., who were here for over Sunday, were joined by Dr. and Mrs. F. Colby of Rangeley.

Theodore L. Page was greeted by many old friends on his arrival last week and although in his 86th year enjoys going out fishing as much as ever. Mr. Page is accompanied by his nephew, A. L. Page of New York.

Mrs. Burns has taken several parties of ten to Rangeley in her new auto-truck which she handles in great shape.

The flag is flying at R. L. Spotts' camp and the family who came from New York last week will spend the summer as usual at their beautiful summer home on Mooselookmeguntic.

GUESTS WILL HAVE DELICIOUS CREAM

Ed Look, proprietor of The Sargent hotel, Eustis, was in Farmington last week. While there he purchased a very fine cow of Roland L. Withee.

FISHING IS STILL GOOD

One of the Popular Young Lady Guests to Be Married.

(Special Correspondence).

Mountain View, June 3.—A wonderful change has come over the landscape the last few days, for the trees are all leaved out and the wild cherry and apple trees in full bloom.

Fishing still continues good and the lucky ones wear a smile as they come in at night with their strings of fish.

F. I. Nichols of Fitchburg, Mass., after a stay of three weeks, went home Tuesday. Cliff B. McKenney was his guide and they never had better fishing on this lake, for besides many smaller ones Mr. Nichols has seven record salmon to his credit that weighed as follows: A pair of 3-pounders, three fish of 4 pounds each, one 3½ pounds and one 4½ pounds.

Dr. F. A. Morrill and friend, John A. Dadey of Putnam, Conn., have enjoyed a week's fishing and the Doctor had a handsome 6-pound salmon to take home with him.

Messrs. Robert S. Lincoln of Malden, Mass., Herbert P. Mayo of New York and Webster A. Adams of Newburyport, Mass., are at Camp Kennebec for a ten days' stay.

M. Goldsmith of New York closed his fishing trip by going into Kennebec, returning via York's Camp and Rangeley.

B. A. MacKinnon, after a week in New York, returned for a few days, accompanied by B. A. MacKinnon, Jr., and his wife's sister, Miss E. L. Hayden, and for the week-end entertained two New York friends, Messrs. Geo. C. Crowley and Martin Hofer, who were greatly pleased with this, their first trip to the Rangeleys. Today the McKinnon family, after a month's delightful stay in one of the log camps, returned to New York hoping to come back another year.

Rev. Fr. Thomas J. McLaughlin of Farmington and Rev. Fr. A. J. Barry of Rumford were here for a short stay the first of the week.

Four gentlemen from Auburn, M. A. Casey, Geo. Eveleth, R. M. Owen and R. M. Parley came by auto the first of the week to try the fishing here and at Quimby Pond, where the fly fishing is better than ever, if possible.

A party of well-known Augusta people, who came in two touring cars the first of the week, left for home this morning via Stratton, Kingfield and Waterville: Hon. and Mrs. Fred G. Kinsman, Dr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sturges and Mrs. S. O. Stinson.

Invitations are being received for the wedding of one of the popular young ladies who has been a guest here for several summers, Miss Kathryn Regina McInerney, who on June 15th will be married in Saint Augustine's church in Brooklyn, N. Y., to Mr. Joseph Anthony Camagol. Many friends who come to Mountain View will wish them years of happiness and hope they will come and spend their honeymoon days here on the lake shore.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walker and daughter, Mrs. John H. White of Hartford, Conn. are here today en route for Kennebec Lake House.

Perley Bailey of Lewiston is the one who drives Mr. Bowley's new Buick passenger car, and will also run the house boat during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Dyer of Arlington, Mass., returned home Wednesday via narrow gauge from Rangeley, stopping to visit friends in Strong.

SCARCITY OF PENOBSCOT RIVER SALMON CAUSED BY DAMS, SAYS T. F. ALLEN.

Thomas F. Allen of Bangor, probably one of the best informed men on salmon in the country, attributes the growing scarcity of the Atlantic or Penobscot River salmon, not so much to the pollution of the rivers by pulp mills as to the difficulty the fish have in reaching the spawning grounds, through badly constructed fishways and the number of dams. The salmon spawns in fresh running water, depositing the eggs on clean gravel beds. Mr. Allen thinks that with so many obstructions between the sea and the headwaters of the river the salmon gets discouraged and will not come back to a river after failing to reach the spawning beds or with much trouble.

NEW LOG CAMP IS READY

Rain Does Not Bother if It Does "Come in Buckets."

(Special Correspondence).

Bald Mountain Camps, Mooselookmeguntic Lake, June 4.—This has been a dull rainy day, but no matter if it comes "down in buckets" the men will put on their oil skins and go out on the lake. Amos Ellis, Jr., is the only lucky one thus far today, as he caught three trout, the largest 1½ pounds.

For the 7-pound salmon in the spring house, Mr. Hoopes has not yet caught his mate, but put in a number of 3-pounders for company.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Gale of Haverhill, Mass., who are at the Rangeley Lake House, came down Saturday for the day's fishing.

Allen Newton and party of Boston opened Camp Newton last night.

Reuben Taylor of Roxbury has opened their camp for the summer just above Camp Haverhill and Mrs. Taylor caught a 5-pound trout not far from their camp the day after their arrival.

Last evening Dr. Eugene H. Andrews of Brunswick came with the following friends: E. W. Chandler of West Summer, B. E. Gerrish of Buckfield, F. A. Dunham, A. M. Andrews, E. W. Penley and E. S. Russell of West Paris. The party have two camps and decided to take the day for rest. Mr. Chandler caught a 3-pound trout for supper and later the others will try their skill with rod and line.

The new log camp will be finished and ready for the coming of a party from Connecticut who are booked for Thursday night.

Mrs. Flora Duntun of Skowhegan has charge of the kitchen this year and all agree she is one of the best cooks that ever made a pie or cooked a trout at Bald Mountain.

The rain has delayed two parties who were coming by automobile, but a party who came from Lewiston yesterday reported the roads better than they expected.

Fair weather is all that is wanted in this part of the country to add to the pleasure of the city people who come to spend June days in camp.

PROSECUTIONS REPORTED

Several prosecutions have just been reported to the Inland Fish and Game Department, among them the following:

By H. S. Stone, chief game warden at Patten, the payment of a fine of $15 by Ross McKenney on May 31 for the violation of the trapping laws.

By E. H. Jones, chief warden of Stratton, the payment of fines of $10 each by O. P. Waymouth, W. P. Hunt and Mr. Swan, for illegal fishing.

By Chief Warden E. H. Lowell of Rangeley, the prosecution of William Hirsch of Boston before Trial Justice Oakes at Rangeley for illegal transportation in 1915. Fined $10 and costs; paid.

James L. Cushman of Cumberland was before Trial Justice George E. Nason at Wilson's Mills on May 25 for illegal fishing. The payment of the fine was suspended, on account of extenuating circumstances, the costs, amounting to $2.50 being paid.

Warden David F. Brown of Greenville reports the payment of $10 each by T. Grenier and A. Eastman for the illegal transportation of fish.

F. Eastman of Portland was before Judge McCarthy at Rumford on May 29 on the charge of buying deerskins in the close season. He waived examination, appealed from the judge's decision and furnished $200 bonds for appearance at the October term of court.

The law authorizes the commission to issue licenses to buy skins only during the months of October, November and December, in order to legalize the possession and transportation during the open season, as they are unfit to ship before. Licenses are therefore often issued previous to October 1, but they do not authorize buying otherwise than the law allows.

HOPKINS PARTY ENJOYING LIFE

Stoneham, Mass. Gentleman On His 45th Annual Trip.

(Special Correspondence).

Upper Dam, June 2.—With nearly 50 guests, all jolly good fishermen, and their guides being entertained during the past week, this has been a busy place.

The rainy days did not dampen the enthusiasm of the crowd, who, when at home are hard-working prominent business men, and here at Upper Dam are like so many happy, genial school boys off on a holiday. They have not only had a good time themselves but made everyone around them happy, too. It is said even the fish they catch are more gamy than others.

The well-known Hopkins party, so-called, have been here this week. Their leader is N. R. Hopkins of New York City, who plans the trip and has everything so well arranged there is never a dull moment from the time they leave New York until they return. The party include the best known paper manufacturers in the United States, and good anglers they are too. Some of them have fished in different parts of the world, but never before did they see a 6-pound Rangeley trout. They left New York by Maine steamship and had a fine sail to Portland where they spent the morning looking over the city, then by private car to Rumford. The gentlemen in the party Mr. Hopkins has so nicely looked after include Hugh J. Chisholm, A. J. Baldwin, Otto Koenig, Judge C. F. Moore, M. J. Sweetland, F. E. Tufts and Paul E. Vernon of New York, J. F. Ryland of Richmond, Va., Dr. W. H. Lawrence, Robert C. Wilso, Summit, N. J., Dr. M. J. Synnott of Montclair, N. J. At Rumford the party visited the paper mills, also the electric power station and the bleachery plant and were greatly interested in them. Mr. Chisholm had a private car waiting to take the company to Bemis and the steamboat

Dorothy made quick time to Upper Dam, where their guides, George Thomas, Walter Wight, Frank Fall, Fred Fowler, Joe Moran, Wallace Stevens, Clayton Sweat, Otis Mason and Chester Sweat had everything ready for their coming. Camp life for them was a merry time. The next morning it rained, but that only added to their pleasure, for watching the guides cook their dinner out in the open was a novelty to those who had never before been at the Rangeleys and as they made ready for the feast the poet composed the following song, that they all sung to the tune, "Wearing of the Green."

"We're a long way from Fifth Ave.
But what care we for that.
We're a crew of jolly fellows
And we don't care where we're at.
We have fished from early morning
And haven't had a bite,
But the lunch we've just eaten
Was simply out of sight.

So here's to you, witty Hopkins,
You're a genial, jovial friend.
We love you and your party,
May you come to no bad end.
The fish don't bite,
And yet they might,
But what care we for that,
We're a crew of jolly fellows
And we don't care where we're at."

But the fish must have heard the song as it echoed over the lake and through the forest, and the southerners and the witty judge have had all kinds of fish stories proved to them this week. Everyone has caught fish, plenty of two-pounders, but to M. J. Sweetland they take off their hats at present, for he is high line with a 6½-pound trout. A. J. Baldwin landed a 5½-pound trout and no one else has caught any over three pounds, but all say they never had a better outing and have had all the fish they wanted. Several of the party went home today, but others are coming the first of the week and we hope the fame of the Hopkins party will continue to bring them back to Upper Dam for many years to come, for they surely are "jolly fellows."

John B. Watkins is here for the 26th year and his old friends are always glad to meet him. Mr. Watkins is accompanied by his friend, Wm. B. Sutherland of Larchmont, N. Y. Ernest Grant is their guide and is sure he has rowed them over many a big fish even if they have not hooked them.

W. D. Brackett of Stoneham, Mass., has tonight reeled in after greatly enjoying the 45th annual fishing trip to Upper Dam. Frank Philbrick was his guide. Mr. Brackett has sent home a box of fish and has all the law allows to take home to his friends, including a 6-pound salmon and one 4½ pounds, but no large trout this trip, but we hope he will have an 8-pounder next time.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Scannell of Lewiston were here for a short stay this week.

Fred W. Williams, Jr., Philip G. and Joseph C. Groton from Hartford, Conn., are among the late comers who are having good luck fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White and Miss Grace S. White of Wakefield, Mass., have enjoyed a week's sojourn in camp here.

Walter H. Sawyer, H. B. Estes and H. W. Owen of Auburn on returning from a trip to Aziscoos Dam were here this week.

W. C. Walton of Portsmouth, N. H. brought in a 6-pound trout one day this week. C. J. Duncan and Geo. E. French of the same city have none over 3½ pounds as yet, but are angling for a larger trout.

Frank W. Whitaker and Stephen R. Nichols of Boston, with Orrin Dyke guide, are having great luck as to numbers, but no large ones as yet.

Chas. F. Powers of Grand Rapids, Mich., who is visiting the Rangeleys for his first fishing, is greatly pleased with the country and sure he will yet land a big one.

Three gentlemen came today for their first trip and expect later to report a good catch: Messrs. W. W. Radcliff of Shelton, Conn., H. H. Skerritt of Philadelphia and R. W. Chatfield of Denby, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mascen of Rutland, Vt., came today for a week's fishing.

Dr. McArdle of Lawrence, Mass., is proud of a pair of salmon each weighing 3½ pounds that he landed this week. From the same city the following gentlemen are here this week and having good sport: Arthur E. Colby, Wm. J. Bradley, R. W. Priestman, Judge John C. Sanborn, A. J. Willis and Walter Cheney of Nashua, N. H. Will Sargent, Clarence Harlow and Elmer Woodbury are the guides that reel in their fish and cook the shore dinners.

J. Henry Emery of Quincy, Mass., with Henry Barker guide, has as usual had a good fishing trip and goes home in the morning with a 4 pound salmon and a 3-pound trout for his largest this time.

The weather is now ideal June days, and one does not care if the fish refuse to bite if they can only spend the time in God's great outdoors.

AUTO PARTY FROM PENN.

Report Maine Roads as Good as in Other States.

(Special Correspondence).

The Barker, Mooselookmeguntic Lake, June 4.—The rain of today did not keep the fishermen in camp, for "What care we if only we can be out-of-doors," is the way the city gentleman expressed his pleasure of being back at The Barker.

This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Palmer and party reached here in their 75 horse power National automobile, having come from their home in Bethlehem, Penn., via New York, through the Green Mountains, Berkshire Hills and White Mountains to Bethel, where they left at 9 o'clock a. m., and were here at 3.30 p. m., coming via Rumford and Phillips to Rangeley. They said the roads in Maine were as good as in other states. By special steamer Capt. Barker took the party to Upper Dam where they will spend the summer as they have done for a number of years.

Miss Bertha I. Poor this week goes to Hebron Academy to attend the commencement.

John R. McDonald and A. E. Fairbanks, the State steamboat inspectors, were here this week and found the steamboats in fine condition.

The "P. N." cabin is now occupied by the "jolly three." Messrs. Charles F. Cotter, one of the best known shoe manufacturers of Lynn, Mass., and two well-known Bostonians, Frank X. Johnston and E. F. Savage. Their guides are Frank Philbrick and George York. Yesterday they took a run to Rangeley with their golf clubs and were the first to send the golf ball over the links this season. Today in the rain they went fishing and had the guides cook dinner over on Lunch Island, where they had five pounds of fish, their day's catch, broiled. When the sun shines they intend to have their names on the fish record.

Charles F. Dowse of Boston does not intend to return home until he has landed a good-sized fish, and Messrs. A. H. Berry and J. W. Taber of Portland are only waiting for the clouds to roll by before they tell a fish story.

A large number of guests have returned home and others are expected this week and it will not be long before the camps are all taken with a merry, happy company.

ROY LOOKS OUT FOR HIS PANAMA

Roy Atkinson of the Boston Post was in town for two days this week, the guest of his mother, Mrs. Ellen C. Tarbox. Roy arrived Tuesday afternoon wearing a brand-new Kelly of the latest style and thereby hangs a tale. When he reached Portland where the rain was falling in earnest he began to worry about the fate of the new hat in the ride from the Farmington station to his mother's home near Backus Corner. Portland stores were all closed in observance of Memorial Day and it was impossible to buy there a cap to substitute for the classy Panama. A wire was sent to the McLeary & Voter Red Store to have a cap, size 7½, at the local station on the arrival of the train. Not only was his request met, but a large assortment of caps awaited his arrival that his exact requirement be met. One was selected, the new straw was put carefully away inside a grip where it was saved from the damage the rain had threatened. For efficient service Roy states that Farmington merchants are hard to excel.—Franklin Journal.

PACKARD'S CAMPS ON SEBEC LAKE

Portland People Get Four Lakers
Totalling 11 Pounds.

Among the many fishermen patronizing Packard's Camps on Sebec lake is Allston Sargent of 1135 Broadway, New York City, and of the men fishermen Mr. Sargent is prominent because of his good luck. A four and three-quarter pound salmon was caught last week by Mr. Sargent. Other fishermen are also having good luck and the camps are very popular.

Fishermen spending a few days at The Capens, on Moosehead lake have had fine success in getting good catches. The fishing has improved wonderfully in the past week and is now at its height. Among the guests are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thompson of Portland who got four lakers totaling 11 pounds the other day. Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Ham also of the Forest City got eight lakers totaling 19 pounds.

Other catches were those of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Sawyer of Dover who got a five-pound salmon and a three-pound togue; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hoxie of Lowell, Mass., four lakers totaling nine and a half lbs.; J. W. Bannister of New Bedford, Mass., one square tail weighing four and a half pounds and three togue totaling eight pounds. C. S. Ashley of New Bedford also, five togue amounting to ten and a half pounds; John Neil who is also in the New Bedford party got a square tail weighing four pounds and two togue which weighed four and a half pounds. A. S. Springall of Dexter landed two togue weighing three and a half pounds the other day.

The fishermen of the eastern part of the country are flocking to this state, especially the northern part, just now, to try their luck at the sport that is so popular in Maine. The Bangor & Aroostook railroad has run several extra sleepers besides the regulars to Greenville from Boston and still the fishermen are coming.

Although the weather for the past week has been extremely bad, the wind having blown a living gale for four days, the fishermen at Packard's Camps, Sebec lake, have been making some very good catches.

H. H. Spröul of Bangor in one day caught three nice salmon, the largest weighing five pounds and two ounces. George E. Libby and Dr. F. C. Tobey of Walpole, N. H., with Venie Cook, as guide, made a side trip to Little Grindstone Pond and caught 12 nice trout, the largest weighing two pounds.

Dr. Harold H. Crane of Bangor and Dr. H. E. Snow of Bucksport were at the camps for two days during the heavy gale. By persistent fishing they secured six salmon.

S. H. Ball and R. W. Cavalier of Lynn, Mass., with William Cook as guide, caught eight nice salmon, the largest weighing plump four pounds. On their trip to one of the outlying camps at Buttermilk pond they secured a nice catch of trout, the largest weighing one pound and nine ounces.

E. W. Ceburn of Boston, Scott Cook, guide in two days' fishing caught ten salmon, all good fish. Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Chatfield of Waterbury, Conn., Harry Crockett, guide, have been at the camps every spring for the past four years and are once more having their usual good luck. In three days' fishing Mr. and Mrs. Chatfield landed 16 salmon, the largest weighing four pounds and five ounces, and this fish was hooked and landed by Mrs. Chatfield.

Dr. Frank F. Simonton of Thompsonville, Conn., and F. A. Thayer of Cambridge, Mass., are at the camps and are having the usual luck enjoyed by the persistent fisherman.

F. S. Diehl of Boston, Walter Arnold guide, in two days' fishing landed ten salmon. Dr. P. T. Haskell and Dr. H. E. Thompson of Bangor with Irving Preble as guide, have been enjoying the fishing for the past few days and have secured a nice catch of salmon.

H. B. Colbath of Wolfeboro, N. H., is making good catches on every pleasant day, while George W. Berry of Wolfeboro, N. H., has shipped a box of nice salmon to friends in his home town. These fish are to be referred to by Mr. Berry when he tells the boys back home about the big one that he landed at Sebec Lake.

HEALD'S CAMPS WELL FILLED

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Oquossoc, June 2.—Heald's cosy, comfortable camps near Oquossoc are well filled of late. Some half a dozen persons from East Sumner have been there and the prospect is good for a busy season. Heald is an excellent guide and also a good genial host that is taking well with all his guests.

COME AND VISIT MAINE

(Written for Maine Woods.)

Now is the time to visit Maine
And in her charms take sweet delight
For you will health and pleasure gain
And of her beauty ne'er lose sight.

Come where the landscape scenes unfold
To one's gaze a lovely sight,
'Tis true, "the half has not been told,"
Its pleasures charm from morn till night.

Come view her lakes and forests grand
And let your soul in rapture dwell,
For nowhere else in this broad land
Can one spend vacation so well.

Most charming homes are found in Maine,
Their fame is known throughout the land,
Their friendship sure you may obtain
And pleasures sweet at your command.

Here where the Rangeley waters lie
Are splendid boats at your command,
And scenes that will delight the eye
Are seen around on every hand.

On Rangeley's shores I'd gladly stand
And view the charming landscape o'er
No other spot in this fair land
Can charm or interest me more.

FISHING GOOD AT YERXA'S CAMPS

"Fishing is good," is the report that comes from J. P. Yerxa's Camps. A large number of salmon have recently been taken in sight of the camps.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tarbell of Bangor spent several days here last week. Mrs. Tarbell was successful in landing several nice salmon.

Dr. Tarbell and wife of Smyrna Mills hooked ten nice salmon while here last week.

Mr. Seniors and Mr. Piper of Derritt & Co., Boston, were among the recent lucky ones. They took 13 salmon, two togue and four trout in five days. The salmon weighed from three to seven pounds, the togue 10 and 12 pounds, and the trout three pounds.

Yerxa's Camps are having a liberal patronage and have many guests booked for the summer months.

FISHING NOTES OF INTEREST

Boothbay Register.—Under the charge of Supt. Libby of the State Fish Hatchery at Camden and John W. Deanborn of this town, the State planted in brooks and ponds in Boothbay, Boothbay Harbor and Southport, on Monday, 45,000 small trout. This is one of the largest consignments ever received here for the purpose. We will soon have excellent fishing right here at home, as the fish of different kinds released in our ponds and brooks in former years are doing splendidly. Local fishermen have tried their luck recently and several fine catches are reported. One 14-inch trout was caught recently in local waters.

During the past week, fry has been distributed into the following ponds: 10,000 the Burnt Pond in Clifton; 10,000 to Fitz Pond in Clifton and Edington; 10,000 to Second Pond in Dedham, Hancock county.

Henry Stapleigh, of Surry, while dipping alewives in Patten pond stream at Surry village last Friday morning, dipped a nine-pound German trout. The fish had evidently gone down to salt water from Patten pond or one of the ponds on Union river.

Ellsworth American—John E. Doyle and two travelling men, on their way to Hancock last Friday evening about 6 o'clock, by automobile, were held up a short distance beyond the city farm in Ellsworth by two moose—a large cow and a calf two-thirds grown. The cow blocked the road, disdaining to move, though the car was within a few feet of her, and considerable blowing of the horn was then necessary before she yielded the right of way.

A large cow moose was seen in the B & A. freight yard early Tuesday morning. She seemed to be in no hurry and was last seen following the track in the direction of Frankfort.

Among the parties who were fishing on Warren's brook, Otis, and were guests for dinner at the farm were: Roy Harriman and party from Bar Harbor; Arthur Graves and party from Bar Harbor; Henry Gould, party from Ellsworth; Bert Sweat and party from Bangor. About 200 trout were taken from the dam to the distance of half a mile.

Car No. 3 of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries of Washington, D. C., Capt. Burleigh McAdam was attached to the 6.15 train from Bucksport, Tuesday evening, taking 220,000 brook trout, advanced fry, from the Craig Brook Hatchery at East Orland to Jackman, Me., for distribution.

Aroostock Pioneer—With bears seen within a mile and a half from town Houlton may yet seen a "bruin" within the town limits. While on the Rocky Pasture road, so called, Patrick Carroll saw a big bear. Last summer bears were very plentiful in the woods in the vicinity of Houlton.

A fishing party from Bangor recently tried Warren's brook at Otis and made a large catch, including a 2-pound trout that has been fooling the whole crowd all the spring.

Small Point is getting most of the shad thus far, a haul of 200 being made one day last week. Al Ridley one night the first of the week got 15 in the Kennebec. Fishermen say that the muddy water caused by the flood and freshet in the river of Wednesday will drive back the schools.

Fred Rich was in Bath Friday from Damariscotta where he is employed in the Col. Castner factory. He says that the run of alewives this season have been a frost, the largest day's catch being 14,000. In previous years a day's catch of 100,000 was not unusual.

Black ducks and other flight birds have all left Merrymeeting bay for the summer.

A lumberman from Damariscotta went fishing and caught seven large trout one day last week in Damariscotta pond.

LAND THREE BASS
AT THE SAME TIME

Maine fishing is so well-known to be the finest in the world that there is no need of repeating the statement, but fishing incidents of especial interest frequently occur that should be recorded. For instance, Charles J. McCormick, president of the New York Bar Association, is passing his spring vacation at Sebec lake. He was recently fishing with three flies on the leader and hooked and landed at the same time three bass, weighing 2, 1½ and 1½ pounds. It will be understood that it required a skillful fisherman to do the trick, and it was done and handsomely done.

NOTES FROM ALL AROUND

Dr. and Mrs. George L. Pratt of Farmington were at Greenville the first part of the week, taking in the fishing in Moosehead Lake.

Carroll Sprague of Farmington was exhibiting a good sized screech owl in the village Tuesday, one that he had found on the line of the Sandy River railroad near Winter Brook. The owl was seen sitting on a log and Sprague experienced no difficulty in picking him up and bringing him home. The bird had an expanse of wing that was fully four feet.

Verne Richardson of Strong caught a six-pound togue at Sweet's Pond last week.

Warden Bertrand E. Smith of Augusta reports the payment of a fine of $10 by Harry Prout of Lewiston, for taking bass by bait fishing.

Fishing at the Bangor salmon pool has picked up so that it is now called very good, after an inauspicious opening of the season. John L. Thomas of Rockland recently landed a 20-pounder and other good fish have been taken.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt of New York, accompanied by her maid, has been at the Hotel Lafayette on her way to Bethel for a sojourn. The party motored there.

There has recently been placed in the office of the Bangor House a fine likeness of the late Captain Horace C. Chapman and it attracts much attention from the traveling public among whom the veteran landlord was held in high esteem. It is an enlarged photograph and attractively framed.

Wilbur T. Emerson, manager of the Augusta House, and Roland G. Lynn, proprietor of the Hotel North, have been at Poland Springs attending a two-day session of the New England Hotelmen's association.

Fish and Game Warden E. P. King of Skowhegan reports the payment of a fine of $15 by George Newell of New Portland for having five short trout in his possession on Michael stream.

F. L. Gardner, proprietor of the Elm House, Auburn, is on an extended fishing trip through Maine. He was accompanied by his wife and the trip is being made by automobile.

A bull moose delayed the St. John express half an hour by getting on the track between Wytopick and Drew Station. The moose was struck by the locomotive, the impact disabling an air-pipe which had to be repaired before the train could pro-

№3 THE TARGET
FRAMES IN OPERATION

In the brief history of rifle shooting as a sport in the United States nothing has ever approached the serious efforts now being made in the Capital City of the Nation to place the sport on a permanent and practical basis.

It is of vital interest to every citizen in this country to know that some day real soon it may be possible for anyone so inclined to spend an afternoon or a whole day on the rifle range in or near any of our cities, large and small, and learn all there is to know about rifle shooting as a sport and pastime, and when that time comes our people will flock to these ranges and learn for the first time that here indeed is a sport fit for kings.

There are many government rifle ranges scattered throughout the length and breadth of this land of ours, but the principle of their operation is entirely wrong, or else their reason for existence is totally misunderstood. Large sums of money have been expended to purchase suitable ground for rifle ranges and the expensive equipment necessary to bring everything up to standard requirements. Yet all we have to show for our efforts is a magnificent rifle range where a few hundred and in some cases a thousand or two regular or National Guardsmen spend a few days each year in a commendable effort to become proficient in the art of rifle shooting.

It should be possible for anyone interested in rifle shooting, from whatever motives, to go to the rifle range at any time and shoot to his heart's content. But it is not, and there's the rub.

The Range At Winthrop, Md.

And this brings us to the problem which Capt. William C. Hambley, of the United States Marine Corps, is trying to solve with the people of

ced. The moose was evidently not much hurt, as he disappeared into the woods, going at a terrific pace.

Associate Justice Warren C. Pritchard and Judge Sanford L. Fogg of Waterville returned Tuesday afternoon from a fishing trip to Mosquito Narrows and brought home a fine lot of trout in addition to the satisfaction of having had a good time.

One of the best strings of fish yet displayed in Auburn is that of 12 togue, caught by Clarence Wilson and E. W. Bickford at Thompson's pond, Sunday. They were beauties, and each one weighed nearly a pound.

If anyone doubts the existence of game in Maine, they should have been up around Spring Farm in the upper Kennebec region one day recently, when a well-known citizen watched 25 handsome deer pass that place, taking their time and apparently afraid of nothing. They grazed leisurely along, paying attention to nothing but their own business and were as fine a lot as it is ever permitted a man to see. But—of course—it was close time.

Caribou Republican—Mr. Alley, foreman of the State Fish Hatchery at Otter brook, placed 10,000 trout in Caribou stream last Saturday, making 48,000 trout deposited in that stream within the past four years.

Washington, D. C., and the rifle range at Winthrop, Md. As a matter of cold truth the problem is no longer a problem, for the answer is shown by the practical results already obtained, as will subsequently be shown.

Some six years ago the site of the present Winthrop Rifle Range consisted of a thousand acres of swamp land and pine woods, mosquito infested and malaria ridden. Today one of the trimmest little army posts in the country is a living testimony to the unselfish devotion to ambition by a few officers of the Marine Corps in the face of obstacles that would discourage the average man. But the men of the marines are not made of the stuff that wilts in the face of fire and as a result Winthrop stands today high and dry on a firm foundation, literally and figuratively.

Starting out with a little lumber secured through the quartermaster's department and a small saw mill obtained from the same source, the community has been built up until now it has spacious mess halls, galleries, officers' quarters, an administration building, an ice plant, an electric light plant, a garden which in summer produces more than enough for the ninety men stationed there and wherever else chances to be at the post. In live stock there are on the post exchange farm a fine drove of hogs—which, by the way, finds shelter in an old army tent—flocks of turkeys and white Orpington chickens, some ducks, a small flock of sheep, etc.

And all this has been accomplished with practically no cost to the Government, the officers of the range having been lucky in obtaining the assignment to their command of good mechanics, carpenters, and other skilled laborers, including a blacksmith.

When the marines came to Winthrop they found most of the 1,000 acres pretty densely wooded. So, at the request of the range officials, experts from the forest service visited the range and there scientifically "thinned out" the growth. As soon as this was done, by blazing trees that could be dispensed with, the cutting began, with the result attested in the many up-to-date buildings at the post.

So large has the community grown that the Post office Department has created Winthrop, a fourth class office, and one of the enlisted men has been appointed postmaster.

In addition to the ordinary routine of running the post, which is quite a varied and considerable undertaking, Lieutenant Price and Lieutenant Shuler, with their ninety men, of course, make the prime object of the range—the teaching of marksmanship—their first consideration. And they manage to turn out remarkably efficient sharpshooters from the various groups of 100 to 200 marines and bluejackets who are always at the range from other posts and from the fleets to take the rifleman courses.

EACH SEND HOME

A BOX OF TROUT

An Enjoyable Week at Burnt Jacket Club, Moosehead Lake.

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Greenville, Me., June 6.—A party of Nashua, N. H., people have recently concluded a week of fishing at Camp Bartlett, Moosehead Lake. The party consisted of W. A. Erb, L. W. Lord, C. H. Barker, L. E. Winn and Ben Alpert. The guides were J. H. Bartlett, Laurence Sullivan, Hartwell Shaw and Howard Wood, all of Greenville. This is the third year for some of the members of the party while the others came for the first time. Each one sent home a box of trout under special license tag as also each had his full quota to carry home. They say that they never had better fishing or a better time. Salmon, square tails and togue are plentiful around the islands near Camp Bartlett, and there was not a day of their stay that they could not have taken their full limit. Aside from the fishing the party evinced much interest in other wild life of the woods and water. There were the tiny trout in the spring brook back of the camp where we got our water; there was a doe deer about half a mile from camp with her two little spotted fawns; the red squirrels that got regular rations from the camp menu—and the gulls: Three large, grey gulls, a male and two females that were regular visitors in the bay in front of our camp. Those gulls seemed to be much darker than any I have ever noticed—and larger, and during our stay became so bold that they would approach to the very edge of the floating wharf to gather the offal from the fish that were cleaned there, and I might add a little incident that happened one fine evening just at dusk whereby Mr. Barker was the loser of a fine trout. The trout lay on the end of the float where it had been cleaned; everybody was in camp getting ready for supper when Mr. Alpert, through the window, noticed the male gull approaching very near to the end of the wharf while the two females were hovering in the distance, evidently watching the maneuvers of their lord and master. Suddenly with a few bold strokes he made the end of the float, seized the trout and not waiting to turn around backed away with his prize. No one attempted to stop him, as we all thought that such a daring act was worthy of a successful conclusion, and we all hoped that the Miss or Mrs. Gulls had a good supper.

H. T. Dobson, Jamaica Plains, member of the Burnt Jacket Club of Moosehead Lake, with a party of three friends, H. A. Thurlow, Watertown, F. E. Thurlow, Cambridge and H. C. Barr of Reading, Mass., spent a very enjoyable week's fishing at the club's camp on Burnt Jacket point. Considerable rivalry was manifested as to who should secure the prize fish with the honors being finally carried off by H. C. Barr, with a 3½-pound square tail, caught on a fly. Mr. Barr also caught the handsomest silver togue I have ever seen come out of Moosehead Lake. The beauty tipped the scales at 8½ lbs., was perfect in shape and coloring, and except for the absence of the red spots and for the fact that his tail was decidedly forked, might have passed anywhere for a genuine "redspot." It took Mr. Barr just 43 minutes to bring him to net. "Yes," remarked Mr. Barr, "I have heard of the Moosehead Lake Silvers, but I never imagined they would put up such a scrap as that." Mr. H. A. Thurlow comes to Moosehead for the first time, in fact he took his first salmon while up here, a 5¼-pounder, which he handled like a veteran. He already is laying plans for a longer stay when he comes again next season. Mr. Dobson is an ideal host and old Burnt Jacket mountain rang with three cheers for him as the fleet of canoes left the landing Monday afternoon to intercept the steamer "Lousia", homeward bound. The party were taken care of by guides J. H. Bartlett, A. G. Rogers and the writer.

BRIDAL COUPLE FIRST GUESTS

Most of Cabins Engaged—Family to Spend Summer on "Shelter Island."

(Special Correspondence.)

The Birches, Mooselookmeguntic Lake, June 5.—This beautiful island with the many comfortable and attractive log cabins is all ready for the coming of the city people who spend weeks here each season, and the first guests were a charming bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Tozzer of Lynn, Mass., who are spending their honeymoon in Camp Buena-Vista.

Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Morse and daughter, Miss Clara Morse of Stockbridge, Mass., returned for another summer of log cabin life and already have their cabin most attractive and homelike, and as usual welcome their friends who pull the latch string for 4 o'clock tea. They have with them for another summer, "Michael," the handsomest and most valuable cat who spends the summer in Maine.

Harvey Farrington of Yonkers, N. Y., came six weeks ago and has spent most of the time on "Shelter Island" which he has leased, and no doubt will make this spot in the wilderness one of the gems of the Rangeleys. Mr. Farrington goes home tomorrow and will return the last of June, accompanied by his family, who, for the past five summers have added much to the social life of the island.

Most of the cabins are already engaged. Wm. Myers is again in charge and Mrs. Myers looks out for the dining room. Miss Lillian Marston is bookkeeper and attends to the postoffice. Fred Calden intends to have as good a garden and plenty of strawberries as last summer.

TRAPSHOOTING

CHIPS FROM THE FLYING CLAYS

Four hundred and sixty-four tournaments have been registered by the Interstate Association for the Encouragement of Trapshooting for the 1916 season. The 1915 number was 333.

Annie Oakley (Mrs. F. E. Butler) has instructed more than 800 pupils in the art of trapshooting during the season at Pinehurst, N. C.

New Gun Clubs have been formed by the trapshooters of Astoria, Cal., and Randle, Wash. The Sport Alluring has taken quite a hold on the coast.

The Kissimmee City Council and the County Commissioners have appropriated money and trophies to make the Florida Trapshooting championship at Kissimmee one to be remembered.

Cincinnati and Indianapolis Gun Clubs have just concluded home and home matches, Indianapolis winning in both cities. The match in Cincinnati was taken by two targets, 416 to 414.

Gun Clubs connected with the Elks of San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Richmond and Alameda, Cal., have signified their intention of forming a trapshooting league.

The Kittanning Rod and Gun Club and the Wilkesburg Gun Club have been elected members of the Western Pennsylvania Trapshooters' League. In order that the shooter with the lowest score will not become discouraged, this league will present the low-score man each week with a small American flag.

The idea of setting one day aside for a salute to the memory of the late George L. Lyon, of Dunham, N. C., seems to meet with the approval of the trapshooters the country over, but no organization has taken hold of the movement, and it now looks as if it would fall flat.

Two of the best shots in the Boise Gun Club are women—Mrs. W. A. Reason and Mrs. E. C. Grice. They participate in all the tournaments of the club and always fare well.

There are now 254 gun club members of the American Amateur Trapshooters' Association. These clubs have an individual membership of 9000. Pennsylvania has 88 clubs in the Association, with Illinois second, with 18. Gun Clubs are being enrolled at an average of 50 each week.

Rockford, Illinois, boasts a most progressive trapshooting club, and is continually on the alert for new ideas to keep its members interested and the organization itself in the public eye. As a member of the Rockford, Jamesville, Beloit and Capron Federation last year, the energy and enthusiasm of its shooters was a large factor in the success of that League. For the 1916 season they have organized a league among their own members, with eight teams and ten men (or women) to a team. Prizes have been offered, and a regular schedule mapped out, so that during the entire season there will be something of more than ordinary interest to hold the members together.

BULL CALF MOOSE IS FOUND

Instructions to Ship to the Portland Exposition Building.

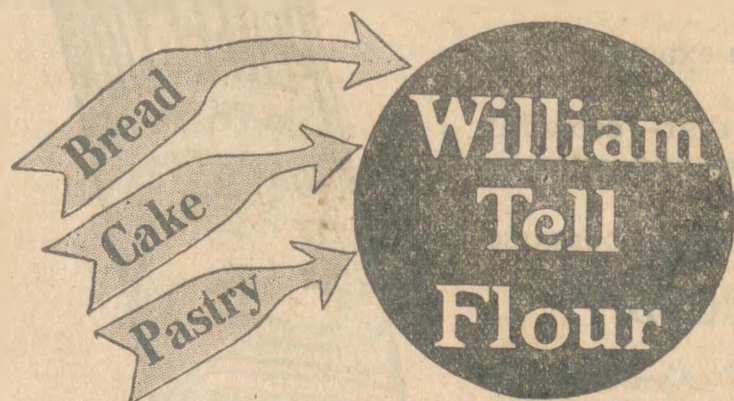

A letter has just been received at the Inland Fish and Game Department from Henry S. Dennison of Framingham, Mass., a member of the Dobsis Club on Dobsis stream, Washington county, stating that on the evening of May 27 he found a bull calf moose, apparently about three days old on the shore of Sysladobsis lake. The little fellow was weak, hungry and apparently deserted by its mother. He cared for it and asked what he should do with it. He said there was good accommodation for it at the club and they could keep it for a time, if the commission so desired. Instructions were sent by the commission to the steward of the Dobsis Club to ship it to the Portland Exposition building, it being known that the exposition people were very desirous of obtaining such an exhibit.

Another letter was received on Friday, June 2, from Game Warden M. P. Kneeland of Princeton, saying that a Mr. Kennedy of Boston and friends had found a bull calf moose at the head of Compass lake and the also wanted to know what should be done with it.

The cases being so similar and the location of the lakes so near to each other, the commission wrote Warden Kneeland of the other reported find, suggesting the moose might be the same chap. The correspondence to come will undoubtedly explain the affair and the commission will then know what to do.

Clyde Heath of Farmington fished Quimby Pond near Rangeley early last week and brought home a pretty string of trout, all caught by fly fishing.

ADVERTISE IN MAINE WOODS.

IT takes extra fine flour to make all three equally well, but William Tell does it, because it is milled by a special process from Ohio Red Winter Wheat. If you aspire to blue ribbon bread, cake and pastry that keep the family looking forward to your next treat, tell the grocer that nothing will do but William Tell—the flour that goes farther.

BOOKS FOR HUNTERS, TRAPPERS, FISHERMEN AND SPORTSMEN

The following books are endorsed by leading publishers, hunters, trappers and sportsmen in North America. The information they contain is reliable, having been gathered from actual experiences and successful experiments of men who are leaders in the different branches covered by these works.

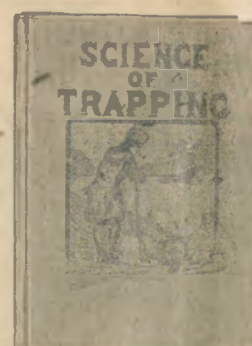

These books should be in the hands of every man who goes into the woods, either for pleasure or profit.

FOX TRAPPING

A BOOK of instruction tells how to trap, snare, poison and shoot. A valuable book for trappers. If all the methods as given in this had been studied out by one man and he had begun trapping when Columbus discovered America, more than four hundred years ago he would not be half completed. This book is edited by A. R. Harding and contains about 50 illustrations, and about 200 pages, is divided into 22 chapters, as follows: General Information; Baits and Scents; Foxes and Odor; Chaff Method Scent; Traps and Hints; All Round Land Set; Snow Set; Trapping Red Fox; Red and Grey; Wire and Twine Snare; Snare, Shooting, Poison; My First Fox; Tennessee Trapper's Methods; Many Good Methods; Fred and the Old Trapper; Experienced Trapper Tricks; Reynard Outwitted; Fox Shooting; A Shrewd Fox; Still Hunting the Fox; Fox Ranches; Steel Traps.

Price, postpaid, cloth bound, 60 cents.

SCIENCE OF TRAPPING

DESCRIBES the fur-bearing animals, their nature, habits and distribution, with practical methods for their capture. Contains 245 pages, size 5 x 7 inches, with 40 illustrations. The chapter on "Tracks and Signs" is worth dollars to young and inexperienced hunters and trappers, as the author shows drawings of the footprints of the various animals. The author is personally acquainted with some of the most expert trappers in North America, and has also followed the Indians over their trap lines, and in this way learned many things which to the white man are not generally known.

The book contains twenty-four chapters as follows: The Trapper's Art; The Skunk; The Mink; The Weasel; The Marten; The Fisher; The Otter; The Beaver; The Muskrat; The Fox; The Wolf; The Bear; The Raccoon; The Badger; The Opossum; The Lynx; Bay Lynx or Wild Cat; The Cougar; The Wolverine; The Pocket Gopher; The Rabbit; Tracks and Signs; Handling Furs; Steel Traps.

Price, postpaid, cloth bound, 60 cents.

DEADFALLS AND SNARES

A BOOK of instructions for trappers about these and other home-made traps by A. R. Harding. This book contains 232 pages, sizes 5 x 7 inches, and 84 drawings and illustrations, printed on good heavy paper. The most complete book on how to make "home-made" traps ever published. Building deadfalls and constructing snares, as explained in this book is of value to trappers where material, saplings, poles, boards, rocks, etc., are to be had for constructing. The book contains 28 chapters as follows: Building Deadfalls; Bear and Coon Deadfalls; Otter Deadfall; Martin Deadfall; Stone Deadfall; The Bear Pen; Portable Traps; Some Triggers; Trip Triggers; How to Set; When to Build; Where to Build; The Proper Bait; Traps Knocked Off; String Pole Snare; Trail Set Snare; Bait Set Snare; The Box Trap; The Coop Trap; The Pit Trap; Number of Traps; When to Trap; Season's Catch; General information; Skinning and Stretching; Handling and Grading; From Animal to Market; Steel Traps.

Price, postpaid, cloth bound, 60 cents.

A New Questions and Answers Department of Interest to Shooters

THE REAL JOY OF SHOOTING.

There are experts and has-beens and never-wases in every branch of the shooting sport from trap shooting to the small-bore game.

One sometimes wonders what enjoyment a man finds in shooting if he always trails along at the tail end of the score sheet.

The real joy of shooting comes not from winning various and sundry prizes both useful and otherwise but from a multitude of small things insignificant in themselves but of mighty power when all work together.

The acrid smell of burnt powder, the sharp crack of the report, the feel of cold blue steel, and the genuine good fellowship that goes with it all forge chains of attraction about one that neither poor scores nor an empty pocketbook can break.

The man whose chief pleasure in shooting lies in winning prizes really derives less pleasure from the sport than the shooter to whom burning powder and the handling of firearms is of more importance than anything else. I do not mean to say that winning a prize is not worth while, for it is. The point is that unless a man really enjoys shooting for its own sake, he is missing most of the fun.

The sport of shooting must have a tremendous power of fascination to keep men plugging away for years and years the way they do. There is perhaps no sport which comes so soon after the cradle and extends so far into old age.

Old men and young men mingle together in the shooting game and old Father Time is pushed into the background.

SPEED OF BULLETS.

There are a lot of interesting facts surrounding the subject of the flight of rifle bullets. For instance, high power rifle bullets travel very much faster than does sound, and consequently in modern warfare if a man is shot and killed by a bullet from a rifle a couple of hundred yards away, as the Irishman says, "He don't hear the shot until after he is dead."

It is also true that it is impossible to make a high power rifle silent. You can put a silencer on it and some of the noise is cut down—in fact all of the noise caused by the expansion of the gases as they leave the muzzle of the rifle, but there is still left a whip-like cracking noise caused by the flight of the bullet. I call it a whip-like crack because mechanically it is produced in the same way. As the bullet travels along at high speed, it goes so fast that the air does not have time to fly in behind it and there is a space back of the bullet of about one inch or two inches in which a very high vacuum obtains and the noise is caused by the sudden collapse of this vacuum, in other words by the air are busy men, all the year 'round, and have so much to do, that they don't always take time to look after their health. They say they haven't time to be sick, so many of them go about their work, even when they are feeling poorly. As a matter of fact, most farmers could keep well, most of the time, if they would take something occasionally, to keep the stomach and liver in order and the bowels regulated.

For many years, "L. F." Atwood's Medicine has been a friend indeed to Maine farmers. It is a remedy that quickly corrects the little ailments and keeps a man feeling ready and fit for a good day's work.

ter to mark the rear sight of a rifle with the ranges for which it is sighted, and if the man at the factory who did the work were doing it for himself, undoubtedly the rifle would shoot properly when he shot it at game at various ranges. It is sad but true, however, that two men rarely ever see through the sights in exactly the same way. The rifle may be properly sighted for one man and somebody else may find it shoots several inches too high or too low or to one side or the other. The proper thing to do is to take your rifle out and try it at the various ranges and mark the graduations yourself.

E. S. T., Rock Island, Ill.

I find that I can go out and shoot squirrels very well but when I come to shoot at the target I find the bull's-eye is very hard to hit. If I can shoot game I do not see why I cannot place the shot on paper.

Ans. Many men feel this way about shooting and there are reasons for believing that it is true. When a man is shooting at game, he is under a certain amount of nervous tension and his attention is directed to watching the game and lining up the sights properly. He forgets to notice that the gun is to go off shortly, and in this way a great deal of flinching is eliminated. When a man shoots at a target he almost always takes his time and frequently in endeavoring to get the shot off exactly right he holds too long, and the result is a trembling, flinching shot.

FISHING GOOD AT SADDLEBACK

Everything Good at the Camps With Best of Fishing.

Saddleback Lake Camps,
June 5, 1916.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

The fishing is still holding good at Saddleback Lake Camps.

Mr. Marsil held the lead this season by catching four trout 5½ lbs., 2½ lbs., 4½ lbs., and the second 5½ pounds until yesterday, when Dr. A. P. French of Middletown, Conn., landed a 6½-pound trout after playing him over one-half an hour. Dr. French has been visiting this place for a number of years, but he never caught one over 4½ pounds before.

The fishing has improved for the past five years, which shows that stocking will build up the fishing in a short time.

Blackwell is building several more cabins to accommodate the people who wish to come to the camps this year. He has built up a pretty place at these camps. His farm, which furnishes all his fresh vegetables and a better table in the woods cannot be found. All new boats for fishing, good pure spring water, good accommodations, good trails and the best of fishing up to 6½ pounds. What more can one ask at a very reasonable price?

An old-time sportsman.

DOES NOT NEED ANY SYMPATHY

What a long afternoon it must have been for that Haverhill, Mass., fisherman up at Haines Landing, who caught the limit on trout and salmon in the morning and couldn't fish after dinner. All he had to do was to tell fish stories, including that famous one of catching a monster trout which had a hook in his mouth and a yard or so of leader trailing whenever he went. His morning's catch included a 5-pounder, a 4½-pounder and two 3-pounders, all salmon.—Kennebec Journal.

A Run For Your Money

You men who own cars are willing to spend your money if you only get a run for it.

But you can't feel very happy when you get only 10 or 12 miles out of a quarters worth of gasoline.

It didn't matter so much a year ago, but it certainly makes a difference now. Even with gasoline at 25 cents and with tire prices shooting skyward, the Maxwell gives you a run for your money.

1. After having seen my question in your column, I sold my .22 short rifle and would like to know which is most serviceable for this part of the country, the .22 Special or .32 long or short, both rifles being same make?

Ans. These cartridges are accurate from 150 to 200 yards. The .32 long is more powerful. Considering the cost of ammunition, I think I should prefer the .22 Special.

2. What is the velocity per second of each and the distance each of them will carry?

Ans. The .22 Special has a muzzle velocity of 1110 feet per second and a muzzle energy of 123 foot pounds. The .32 long has a muzzle velocity of 1170 foot seconds and a muzzle energy of 274 foot pounds.

3. Which has the longer accurate range?

Ans. The .22 Special.

Mac, Bracebridge, Ont.

1. What is the energy in ft. lbs. of the 250-3000 and do those figures mean it is a 25-30 caliber or what?

Ans. The 250-3000 cartridge has a muzzle energy of between 1600 and 1700 ft. lbs. The first figure gives the caliber of the rifle in inches and the second figure is intended to give the muzzle velocity.

2. Which do you consider the best gun of the three for deer and bear, the 250-3000, .22 Hi-Power or Model '99 Featherweight 25-35?

Ans. The muzzle energies of the three are: 250-3000, 1685 ft. lbs.; the .22 Hi-Power 1132 ft. lbs., and the 25-35, 1070 ft. lbs.

3. What sights would you advise?

Ans. This is a matter of personal preference. I prefer a tang peep sight with an ivory bead front sight.

S. A., Brooklyn, N. Y.

I am going to get a .38 Colt Special revolver. Which is better, a 6-inch barrel or a 7½-inch barrel?

Ans. The regular Military Model has a 6-inch barrel; the Colt Officers Model which is practically the same revolver, only fitted with target sights, has the 7½-inch barrel. There is no practical difference in the absolute accuracy of these two length barrels, that is, if they were both shot in a machine rest. The advantage to be gained from the longer revolver barrel is an increased distance between sights which makes it possible to sight with greater accuracy. This is offset by the relative unwieldiness of the longer barrel and the larger holster in which it must be carried. Of course, if the revolver is for straight target work and you do not wish to carry it except in a shooting case, this is not a disadvantage.

C. C. P., Minneapolis, Minn.

I have a Lyman peep sight on the tang of my rifle and the stem has lines marked around it which I suppose mean the range at which it is sighted. Will you please let me know what the ranges are which correspond to these lines?

Ans. It would seem a simple mat-

CHEAP ROD DID THE BUSINESS

Got Four and One Half Pounder at Long Pond.

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Belgrade Lakes, June 6.—Just fishermen's luck, not high cost fishing tackle did the business. This morning Linnie Morrill with A. McKelvey guide, started out to try the fishing on Long pond. At a short distance from shore and near his own buildings, Linnie, who carried a $5 rod dropped his line, while Mac with his $25 rod dropped his line also and the cheaper rod was the lucky one, for Linnie brought in the trout weighing 4½ pounds.

POPULAR HOTEL AGAIN OPEN

Stone of Salem, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Everett Bean and daughter, Miss Ida L. Bean of Boston, accompanied by Mrs. Bean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Allen of Portland are here for June days.

Joseph Wadsworth of New York, with his bride, a charming southern girl, who motored from home, are receiving congratulations from the host of friends "Joe" has made during the years he has been coming to Rangeley. All wish them years of happiness and hope they will spend their summers here.

Another bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. J. Kennon of Portland, are spending their honeymoon days at this hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Crehore, well-known Bostonians, annual comers, have purchased what is known as the Flag farm on the Dead River road and are having a camp built there. Yesterday they drove over to the farm and on the way watched three deer feeding near by.

James A. Brigham of Springfield, Mass., is this trip accompanied by his friend, the well-known writer, Charles Clark Munn, editor of "The Commercial Travelers' Magazine," and whose books, "Camp Castaway," "The Heart of Uncle Terry," "The Girl from Tim's Place," are fascinating the young folks. Mr. Munn expresses himself as charmed with this picturesque lake and mountain country of ours, and we hope he will give many pen pictures of the Rangeleys.

James E. Reynolds of East Orange, N. J., is one of the old-time fishermen who brought to net a 3½-pound salmon yesterday and no doubt will land a big one before he goes home. John Nutting is his guide.

Edward Stanley of Boston, Ed Hoar guide, came in with a 6-pound salmon. E. F. Savage, Boston, came in without a smile, for the 6-pounder he hooked got away before Frank Philbrick the guide, had a chance to net him.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ledy of Boston, en route for Loch Lake, are here for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Gale of Haverhill, Mass., are spending June days here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Van Hise are New Yorkers, who, while touring the Rangeleys were so much pleased with the place this year they came when the hotel opened to remain for the season.

W. S. Lawson of New York is now here and later will be joined by his wife and daughters who spent last season at this hotel.

A party of four New York gentlemen, Messrs. Victor F. J. Clark, A. Wilkens, E. Hoesenfelder and W. Kock, who came in their touring car via Poland Springs, started homeward this morning going to Bretton Woods.

Chas. F. Cotter, a prominent gentleman from Lynn, Mass., with E. F. Savage and F. X. Johnston, Boston friends, are to remain here during the week and try their skill with the gamy salmon in this lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Burrows and son, who spent the winter in their Florida home, are back at Rangemere Cottage.

The traveling public will be glad to find Wm. G. Estes again in charge of the dining room, assisted by Carl Hennings. Mrs. Estes as usual is to be found in the souvenir room.

After days of cloudy, rainy weather the sun is shining brightly this clear, perfect June day and as one guest remarked, "Rangeley weather at last."

Each day will now bring new arrivals until hotel and cottages are filled and overflowing into the village homes.

GOLF

Prof. D. E. Miner of DeLand, Fla., is anxious for a few days of sunshine that the golf links can have a chance to dry. Hundreds of dollars are to be spent on the course which will please those who spend most of their time following the balls over the green.

En route for the north, Prof. Miner stopped in South Carolina and laid out two golf courses.

Ralph Miner is again caddy master. The first persons to take their golf clubs and go around the course this season were Messrs. Cotter, Savage and Johnston.

This morning there are several ladies out for practice and even now the coming tournaments are talked of.

HAPPENINGS AROUND OX BOW

No Harm to Again Record Story of Fish "That Was Lost and Is Found."

T. the Editor of Maine Woods:

Oxbow, May 29, 1916.

What we have to say at the outset is already widely known, but may not be so well known to the laymen. It is about a new deep sea food fish called "tile fish." It has been lately re-discovered, after an absence of more than 30 years, in enormous numbers, quite near the Atlantic coast. It was in May, 1879, that Capt. Kirby of the fishing boat, Wm. V. Hutchins, while fishing in hundred-fathom hole, south of Nantucket caught several thousands of pounds of "a strange, handsomely colored fish."

He sent one to the U. S. Fish Commission who pronounced it to be a new species and named it Lopholatilus chamaeleonticeps, or the crested tilus with a head like a chameleon. Shortening the name tilus they called it tile. The head is very large and massive and the body is covered with bright golden yellow spots. Before the U. S. Commission could locate the fishing grounds, these fish were practically exterminated by a submarine disaster along the coasted slope. The first news of this fact came in March, 1882, when the captain of a vessel reported that he had sailed for 69 miles through a mass of dead and dying fish floating on the surface. Other vessels reported similar experiences, and from other reports it was estimated that the dead fish covered an area 170 miles long and 25 miles wide; and that upward of 1,400,000 tile fish had perished. The tile fish is a bottom feeder and loves the warm water of the tropics and the lowest straits of the warm Gulf Stream. In 1892 the Gulf Stream swung in toward the Atlantic coast, and, as was predicted, the tile fish re-appeared in spots which had been thoroughly explored previously for ten years. They are now as numerous as ever; are easily caught at all seasons of the year, quite near the coast.

The re-establishment of this large, handsome and valuable food fish in less than 15 years is a remarkable story in Marine Biology.

All of this is a long way from the Bow, and we may be drawing the bow at a venture, but it can do no harm to put on record again, in Maine Woods, the story of a fish "which was dead but is alive again; was lost and is found."

Capt. Billy came back from the lake lately with a very fine string of square tails, and reported that he left a lot more in the water for the other feller. Today he went up stream (Umcolet) with a sportsman for fish and a day's outing. About noon a heavy shower came over the face of their dreams and they were about as wet out of the water as they would have been wading in the water. However, they got a fine string of 35 speckled beauties out of Umcoletus, fishing down stream from the brooks about five miles above the Bow.

A church sociable by the C. E. Society at the Bow last Friday evening was largely attended, but children under 12 were not invited. An interesting program of games was provided and a generous, though simple fare for the inner man (women included), and though no ads nor posters were used the people got there just the same. Mrs. Wm. Currier brought her victrola which was greatly enjoyed.

An event of unusual interest is scheduled for Memorial Day at Masardis. A people's picnic will be held on the Geo. V. Cole grounds opposite the cemetery on the ridge north of the town. Rev. Mr. N. B. Ackerman, pastor of the Masardis church is one of the prime mover and things are bound to move in consequence of that fact. Giving pleasure and adding to the merriment of his fellows was a leading characteristic of the "Prince of Peace," and no act of his showed this fact more happily than when he made the best of wine out of water at the wedding feast in Cana. All his true followers would do as well, if they could, or will do the best they can with the powers they have, and up to the measure of the vision engraved upon the walls of the chamber of their inner consciousness as opportunity offers.

Why don't some marine painter come up here and re-produce the emerald tints of the boundless forests in front of our home camp at the Bow? When the clouds roll by, the rain dries up and the sun pours a flood of gold among the tender leaves, there will be set forth a picture of surpassing beauty and grandeur. We often imagine each tree (and there are millions of them) standing as men before the judgment seat for a last accounting.

The hardwood floor in the new Grange hall has been laid and a neighborhood dansant was held there a week ago. About 40 couples were present and all hands enjoyed themselves to the finish at midnight. A bountiful supper was provided by ladies of the Grange and a few others. A few hot-headed young men, full of booze, a seemingly necessary accompaniment to a country dance, greatly marred an otherwise pleasant evening, but they were soon put to sleep on boards and benches below decks; they ought to have been put in the cooler in Houlton or Ashland. Such misdoings will not be tolerated again.

Our two public day schools are in a flourishing condition under the skillful teaching of Miss McLaughlin of Quincy, Mass., at the west end, and Miss Grace Parker of Yarmouthport at the east end school on the ridge. Rev. N. B. Ackerman of Masardis is now superintendent of schools having succeeded Melvin Murphy, superintendent before him for several terms. The summer vacation begins June 24th and runs till next September. We wonder sometimes how the kiddies get to school, travelling on this one and only muddy road after a rainstorm. It's the nastiest, slipperiest, stickiest, loamy mud to be found anywhere.

Recent arrivals at Libby's for lakes Millnoctet and Munsungun are Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shannon, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Shannon of Jamaica Plains, Mass. Clarence Reed, Ross Weaver, Allie and Almon Currier are the guides. Mrs. Lucy Shepard and Mrs. Mildred Fletcher will run the camps up river.

The first arrival of sports at the Bow came in last Monday, the 22nd. They were Messrs. Frank B. Newell and C. E. Abbott of Binghamton, N. Y., with Sam Pelky and Elias Boynton as guides. They will tour Libby's camps at Munsungun and perhaps beyond. Billy has received many inquiries as to what this region affords for fish and game. Doubtless he will see some of them, in addition to his regulars who come sooner or later every year. Now is the best time for trolling at Lake Millmagassett, where Billy's cabins are, and where the "big uns" lie waiting for the lure which best suits their taste. They are there, plenty of them. Come on up and get a few.

Yours respectfully,
J. C. Hartshorne.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

The prosecution of George A. Hapgood of South Portland for having 28 trout of illegal length in his possession was held before the municipal judge of Portland and resulted in a plea of guilty being made and a fine of $10 imposed, the fine being remitted on payment of costs.

Another lot of fish, including bass and pickerel, was sent from the Fish and Game department to Curator Thomas A. James, who is in charge of the State of Maine exhibit at the Maine Exposition at Portland.

W. D. Brackett, a well-known Boston business man, whose home is in Stoneham, Mass., was heartily greeted on his arrival last week at Upper Dam. It is the 45th year this gentleman has come to Upper Dam each spring in succession and his 46th fishing trip to the Rangeleys.
