ANNUAL OF THE KING'S DAUGHTERS

The Months of the Year Well Represented.

One of the most enjoyable of the King's Daughters annuals was held at the Parish House last Friday evening when 43 members gathered to enjoy the festivities. All were pleased to have one of their former members with them, Mrs. F. H. Wilbur of Minneapolis, Minn., and who expressed their pleasure in meeting with them once more.

The entertainment committee, Mrs. E. B. Currier who is the president, Mrs. Edward Greenwood and Mrs. A. A. Jacobs presented a most pleasing program and much work was involved in the preparation.

The members were taken through the calendar year beginning with New Year resolutions and ending with the merry Christmas time. For May a huge Maybasket was passed around filled with delicious molasses kisses.

For vacation time, August, each was given a slip of black and a slip of white tissue paper, a piece of string and a clothespin and asked to fashion a young lady, robed in her college cap and gown, all to be done without the aid of scissors. Mrs. Arno Pratt proved herself to be the most stylish modiste.

Mrs. E. B. Currier read a Christmas poem and Miss Emma Russell a poem on "Faith". Miss Kathleen Noble played the "Star Spangled Banner" during the tableau, "Goddess of Liberty."

At Christmas time Santa appeared in the person of Janet McKenzie and distributed bags of pop corn. Mrs. J. W. Brackett guessed the nearest to the number of petals in a paper chrysanthemum, and Mrs. O. H. Hersey did well the part of the witch at Halloween time. Miss Emma Russell in the "Goddess of Liberty," made a most attractive tableau.

The secretary's report stated that 28 people had been remembered with flowers, in their sick room. These included many besides the members.

After the entertainment which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, the refreshment committee had arranged a most attractive table with the contributions brought and this hour was none the less enjoyed than those just passed. The committee for the lunch was Mrs. F. S. Haley, Mrs. A. S. Beedy and Miss Daisy Davenport.

The regular meetings will be adjourned through the summer and the first meeting which will be held in September will be with Mrs. Edward Greenwood and Mrs. J. L. Boston and they will entertain at the Parish House.

GOOD SCHOOL SUGGESTIONS

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

which his school shall develop. Discipline is the most effective means of developing good character. The formation of character therefore, is the true basis of discipline.

No teacher can discipline a school successfully who has not learned to govern himself. If he has not learned this he has not the means within himself for forming right character.

He is a gentleman and a scholar, used often to be applied to a person as a high compliment. This ought to be truthfully said of him who assumes the responsibility of a teacher's vocation whether he be older or younger, the teacher of youth should possess those qualities which entitles him to be looked upon as a gentleman as well as a scholar.

The character of an instructor is far above the mere power to impart scientific information. He should have a well educated character so that by his example he may influence his pupils in the path of rectitude and virtue, for a teacher leaves his own moral likeness upon the susceptible minds of his pupils. He is teaching by what he is. Character is more to be valued than ideas, and the teacher, man or woman, selected for youth should be one who sets a high social and moral standard with which no person can interfere. A person should never be allowed to become the teacher of youth who lacks civility of manner, for without this qualification how can he aid and influence his pupils in the development of good moral character and the formation of good manners.

The personal bearing and demeanor of a teacher before his school is a powerful educator; therefore the pupil should see in his teacher a well-bred person, one every way worthy of their imitation. However young or dull every child has a claim upon the teacher for gentlemanly or ladylike language in the schoolroom.

Coarse expressions, unseemly vulgarisms are wholly unpardonable in the language of a teacher.

Next to the home the schoolroom should be the place where the best examples of true culture worthy to be imitated should be found. Some one has said that if they could know the teachers of youth, they could better judge of the moral tone, culture, and courage of the people.

OBITUARY.

E. A. PEARY.

By the decease of Edwin A. Peary, the town of Avon has lost one of its most respected and honored citizens. He first saw the light in the town of Rangeley, April 22, 1849, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Peary. Edwin was one of a family of six. The family migrated to Phillips in 1859 and four years later to the present farm in Avon. For several years Mr. Peary taught school in various places in North Franklin county and proved himself to be a capable and reliable teacher.

With the exception of three years he spent his life in Avon. The three years absent were spent with Mr. Fairbanks in Franklin, Mass., who died suddenly during Mr. Peary's stay. Mrs. Fairbanks (the widow) always testified to the value of Edwin's life and help in her time of distress.

For 41 years Mr. Peary enjoyed the company of his wife to whom were born seven children, six of whom are living and all are married with the exception of Ada who remains at home with her mother.

In the public life of Avon Mr. Peary was a well-known figure, always ready to do anything for the benefit of the community. For four successive years he was elected to the position of senior selectman, and it was largely through his instrumentality that the debt which had oppressed the town since the civil war was cleared up, the last bond being destroyed at the town meeting last March. For many years he was a member of the Knights of Pythias, taking an active part in all the work of the Sandy River Lodge,

They Capture the Nomination for Governor and Senator.

The Maine Woods office was headquarters for the returns Monday evening. Owing to the storm and bad roads it was a late hour when the final report came.

The summary of Franklin county: Rep. Nom. for Governor: Callahan, 108; Milliken, 472; Parkhurst, 362; Wheeler, 102.

For U. S. Senator: Fernald, 616; Hale, 288; Hersey, 203; missing precincts, 7.

Phillips. A week previous to his death he attended the Grand Lodge of Maine at Bangor. His interest in the Pythian Sisterhood was not the less enthusiastic, being an active member of the Cleopatra Temple, Strong. The Aurora Grange, Strong, (of which he was a past master) and the North Franklin Pomona has lost a valuable supporter, for several years he was treasurer of the Pomona and was held in high esteem by all Granges in North Franklin county.

The religious life of the community was a matter of interest to Mr. Peary. The church of West Freeman found in him a ready helper. He joined this church some years ago by immersion and has been a regular worshiper since. The work on the farm, in the church and orders and in the town was executed amidst much suffering, having suffered from static and rheumatism for many years which developed heart trouble from which he suffered the last two years considerably. This gave the family considerably anxiety concerning him when away alone, but his determination to do things led him away from home frequently. On Wednesday, May the 24th, he went to Strong on business, stayed on his way to watch a ball game (of which he was so fond), while standing in his usual position he fell asleep to wake no more, in the 67th year of his life.

The funeral service was held at home, conducted by the Rev. John Dunstan. A large number of people attended. The sympathy of the whole community goes out toward the bereaved family, and we commend them to the Father of all comfort. "Now the laborer's task is o'er, Now the battle-day is past; Now upon the further shore Lands the voyager at last; Father, in Thy gracious keeping, Leave we now Thy servant sleeping."

Fly Rod's Note Book

BY FLY ROD

One day recently a Boston lady said, "I want to subscribe for that interesting little paper the Maine Woods," and as I am always happy to add another name to the 5,000 subscribers, I thanked her, and as I took her address she said, "When we were here last spring you wrote a very correct story of our catch giving our names. We had been home several weeks when I received a letter from a friend I had not seen for years, who wrote from a city in Pennsylvania where she chanced to see a copy of the Maine Woods that people there read and enjoyed, and the account of our trip and she wrote me at this hotel and the letter was forwarded to my home." To me that was only another proof that the Maine Woods is read in every state of the Union.

I notice that many of the ladies from the city take a great interest in our wild birds and that some of them know every bird they see. One said she had, since coming to Maine, seen 57 different kinds of birds. But not everyone is as well informed as the following amusing incident will tell. At one of the camps was a lady who had a set of bird books and was anxious to know the name of everyone she heard singing, but had not been in the woods of Maine before. Just at night the frogs near by commenced to sing, and with book in hand the city lady left her cabin to find the "bird" she never had heard before. The guide was just coming in with a good string of fish which his "sport" had caught and the lady said, "Do tell me the name of those birds singing, such a wild note, I never heard it before." The guide answered, "Why, they are Greenbacks, did you never hear them before?" and the lady went into her cabin to look in the bird book for "Greenbacks" as the frogs continued their concert.

Last Sunday it was my pleasure to be at Middle Dam. In fancy I could hear the echo of the church bell through the forest and across the lake many miles away. It was perfect peace and quiet, as I walked over to Camp Comfort and there with friends I had not met for years spent an hour on the piazza. Close by over the window Mr. and Mrs. Barn Swallow had built a nest and were coming and going feeding their little ones. On the other side of the camp above the door a family of Dove Swallows were talking to each other, while in a nearby tree Robin Red Breast had a family. "Did you ever see such a place for birds?" remarked one of the gentlemen as a bobolink called to his mate. For a time fishing was forgotten, as the lovers of birds, busy men, who for years had made a study of bird life, began to watch and talk birds, and I took my note book and watched and listened. A little song sparrow not two rods distant broke into a song of praise, while on the driftwood a number of purple grackles were scolding each other. Soon a Canadian warbler flew by stopping on a little birch tree. "Look there on the lake shore?" called one gentleman as a fish hawk made a dive for his dinner, and with a quack, quack, a duck, the scoter called, as close to the water he flew in the direction of South Arm. "Caw! caw!" said a crow as he landed on an old stump not far from us. We watched a chestnut side warbler and the field sparrow and the American goldfinch, then the purple swallow and chimney swallow.

"How many different kinds of birds have we seen Fly Rod," asked P. B. Rolfe, as the dinner bell rung, and from my note book I counted the 14 I have mentioned, and had not only heard one of the best bird concerts, but from Mr. Rolfe had learned much about the habits of each bird we had seen.

When the song sparrow was singing verse after verse of his beautiful songs, Mr. Rolfe said to Pete Brown, the guide, "That bird has a nest near those rocks close by," and Pete looking as he stepped carefully ly among the strawberry and violet blossoms and the tall grass soon started the mother bird and bending over said, "here is the little nest and five eggs."

The sun came out from among the clouds and the mountains and nearby hills to the water's edge were reflected in the lake as smooth as glass just as we started for dinner, and all stopped to look at the wonderful picture painted by God's own hand, which no artist can equal.

We all talked birds that afternoon and I found that 14 others had been seen before supper time, the chipping sparrow, white throat sparrow, vireo, humming bird, downy woodpecker, red start, bluebird, chickadee, peewee, yellow hammer, towney and hermit thrush, a gull and the big eagle that for two years has attracted much attention.

We are glad that our state and our Nation have made strict laws to protect these beautiful birds of ours, and I am glad to say it has been years since I have known anyone to shoot a bird just for the sake of seeing if they could hit them. Where can those who love to study bird life find a better place than at the Rangeleys?

LOST IN THE MAINE WILDS

Not so Bad as It Might Have Been.

(Special to Maine Woods.)

Bald Mountain Camps, Moose Lake, June 15.—"Lost in the wilds of Maine" came near causing a big excitement in this part of the Rangeleys and there is quite a story connected with "what might have been." Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Whall, their chauffeur and guide started across the lake to follow the trail through to Richardson Pond, where they intended to cast the fly, catch trout enough for lunch and watch the deer feeding on the lake shore and return in the early evening. Last winter the lumbermen made new logging roads and the trail was changed. The chauffeur took the lunch with him, all but the tea and a few oranges that were in the pack. Some way when the party came to the cross roads they went in different directions. Mr. and Mrs. Whall and guide found their way back to the shore of Moose Lake before midnight, but the wind was blowing such a gale they decided to stop at a vacant camp until daylight. It was a tired, hungry party that reached here for breakfast, to find Mr. Whall had sent men to hunt them up. Finding where they had gone on the trail, the men thought they might have got lost and come out at Upper Dam, so returned to wait until daylight and to arrange for more to join in the hunt.

Knowing the chauffeur had spent much time in the wilderness they were not surprised the middle of the forenoon to get a telephone saying he came out at Upper Dam, and as he had lunch for three with him the excitement was over. The laughable part was learned later when he reached the telephone discovered there was but 25 cents in his pocket, which paid for the message.

Asking "What time does the boat go?" learned it would be two hours, also that to follow the telephone poles to Bemis was only 10 miles, decided to hike it, and as the walking along the railroad track was good for the next 12 miles to Oquossoc he kept on. Those he met who would have gladly given him a free boat ride or paid the price of a railroad ticket, had no idea he was the lost man everyone was telephoning and talking about and himself declares "I was not lost, only took the longest way home. Talk about deer, why I did not suppose there were as many in the state as I met and saw the tracks of."

COLT'S NEW BUILDING

Handicapped by lack of room and swamped with orders, the Colt's Patent Firearms Manufacturing Co., (Hartford, Conn.) decided a few months ago to build a new and modern addition to its plant.

The rapid construction of this addition, with its added floor space of over fifty thousand square feet, and weather conditions that would daunt the courage of many contractors, makes a new building record for Hartford.

Work was commenced February 7th and completed June 3d. The building is four stories in height, of concrete, brick and steel construction, with all modern improvements for light, safety and convenience. The size is 225 by 60 feet with a wing 53 by 24.

More than 500 concrete piles were driven to a depth of 27 feet for the foundation, and the material used in the general construction consisted of nearly 5,000 cubic yards of concrete, 230 tons of steel, with over 100,000 feet of electric light wire, conduits, plumbing and sprinkler piping, and 10,480 window lights.

The trade will no doubt be interested to know that this Colt addition will greatly facilitate the Company's production.

CAMPS AND COTTAGES

At the old Boston Club camp on the shore of Mollychunk Lake below Upper Dam, for ten days, Rev. and Mrs. John W. Suter of Boston and Rev. and Mrs. Carlton Mills of Winchester, Mass., have been enjoying an outing. Their guide was Hollis Ellingwood and they had good fishing even if it rained most of the time. Mrs. Suter caught the largest fish, a 5-pound salmon.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Dickinson of New York, who have spent their summers here for over a quarter of a century, are delighted to have them return. This season they are at Narramattic, their attractive log camps on South Bog Island. "Maneskootuk," the island in Rangeley Lake that Mr. Dickinson has made one of the most beautiful spots in the Maine wilderness, is leased for the summer by Richard Bondy of New York and the family will arrive within a few days.

HOUSE-IN-WOOD TO BE OCCUPIED

Albany Party Here for Two Weeks
—Maine Woods Read With Interest.

(Special Correspondence.)

Pleasant Island Camps, Cupsuptic Lake, June 19.—The weather has been the same here as everywhere else, rain and more rain, but it has not dampened the pleasure of the angler, and the fishing for the past two weeks has been good.

Mr. Toothaker has leased land on the carry road at Haines Landing above Kimball's studio and is having a garage built for his new auto truck with which he now takes his people, baggage and express to and from Oquossoc in quick time. Here at the camps improvements continue to be made. Lone Pine camp is being sheathed and put in readiness for the coming of Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Walker of Orange, N. J., who come soon for their usual extended sojourn.

The spot that attracts the most attention is the wonderful garden, that even if the sun has kept behind the clouds, already has lettuce and radishes, while the long rows of peas, beans and corn now several inches high keep "Jack" the gardener busy attending to.

R. H. Lombard of Portland, who for several weeks has occupied Lakeside Camp, had as a week-end guest his friend, Frank Hollis of Portland, who did not claim to be much of a fisherman, but had the luck to catch a pair of salmon he was proud of. They weighed 4 and 3 pounds each.

H. L. Edgcomb of Middleboro, Mass., was much pleased with his first visit to Pleasant Island and thought his catch of a 2½-pound trout a big one.

Messrs. J. Frank Pulver of Boston and P. J. McCoy of Newark, N. J., were here for a short trip and had a box of nice fish, but no large ones, to take home with them.

While waiting for the wind and rain to stop F. B. Kinney of Lowell, Mass., and J. O. Thompson, Jr., of New Bedford, Mass., with their guide were here several days last week.

The following party from Albany, N. Y., in their Overland touring car were here for a two weeks' stay, coming via the White Mountains and Poland Springs, leaving their car at Haines Landing: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Babbitt and daughter and husband and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Blakeslee and chauffeur. Mr. Babbitt said to the Maine Woods representative that among the many papers that came to his home there was none in which for years he had taken so much interest as the Maine Woods and never missed reading a number. This is the first time the party has visited Pleasant Island, where they are happily located in the Bungalow. Mr. Babbitt is an enthusiastic fisherman and has dropped the hook in Canadian waters and knows most of the places where the trout are, in this, his native state. Otis Bean is his guide and they have not been out yet without coming in with a good catch. Saturday they lunched up Cupsuptic stream and Mr. Babbitt got so excited fly fishing he forgot to eat his lunch. The little trout came to the fly as fast as they touched the water, but they only saved what they wanted for the table. Several 3-pounders they have landed and are now after a big one that took part of their tackle in the cove.

The big trout have commenced to run in Toothaker Cove. Mr. Sterling of Portland, a guest of Frank King, caught a 6-pound trout and a 4½ and 4-pound salmon one day this week not from the island.

The House-in-Wood is to be occupied by the owner, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hazen of Washington, D. C., this summer which is pleasing news to their friends who missed them last season which they spent in California.

A handsome new motor boat has been shipped by Herbert L. Moorman of Lynchburg, Va., for his personal use this summer and he soon will leave for the north in his Pierce-Arrow touring car to remain here until autumn.

Most fortunate is Proprietor Toothaker in having for chief this year R. L. Wood of Roxbury, Mass., who has been employed by the well-known Seal-Porpoise Club at MacMahan's Island.

NOTES FROM BEMIS

Owners from Private Camps Coming for the Summer.

(Special Correspondence.)

Bemis, Me., June 19.—Fishing here in Bemis cove has been good the last few days and trolling with fly and spinner has brought to net some handsome fish.

G. N. Knight of Leeds brought in the largest, a 5-pound trout. H. O. Clark of Jay, who was with him, got a 3-pound trout, and when they started for home this morning they had all the law would allow of trout and salmon to take with them.

Messrs. F. Warren Clark of Dorchester, Mass., and F. K. Hatfield of Boston have enjoyed a week's rest and camp life at Bemis. While here they took trips to different places and had a pair of 2-pound trout to take home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dillingham came up from Dixfield for the week-end and found the fish better than the weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Palmer of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Hicks and daughter, Miss Dorothy Hicks of Newtonville, Mass., after a week at Leon Lake, crossed the lakes the first of the week and made a short stay here on their way home.

Dr. Walter W. Parmelee and A. E. Verrill of Auburn while here for a week's outing had good luck fishing, landing a number of 3-pound trout and salmon.

W. A. Maney of Lewiston and friend, H. K. Buckner of Wollaston, Mass., are spending the week here and yesterday morning before breakfast caught four trout and two salmon that would weigh eight pounds.

The owners of private camps on the lakes are now sending supplies and coming in for the summer.

HAPPENINGS AT THE BIRCHES

Guests Welcome Sunshine After Long Rainy Spell.

(Special Correspondence.)

The Birches, Mooselookmeguntic Lake, June 19.—Everyone is made happy by the sunshine this morning and hope the long rainy spell is over. "It is a beautiful spot. Everything looks so fresh and green and we are glad to return for another season of log cabin life," is the way one party expressed their pleasure when arriving.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Tozzer of Lynn, Mass., who were here for their wedding trip, returned home Saturday.

Another bridal party are now in Camp Ideal, Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Halle of Baltimore, Md. Hartwell Richardson is the guide who is teaching them the art of fishing in the Rangeley waters and Mr. Hatte is proud of the 3-pound salmon he caught.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bradford of Auburn spent last week here in Camp Comfort. Mr. Bradford came after the mate to the 5½-pound salmon he caught last year, but only succeeded in landing a 3-pounder. Charles Turner was their guide.

Coming in their touring car as far as Livermore Falls the following party, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. H. Taft of Wellesley Hills, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt M. Taylor of Wallaston, Mass., arrived on Saturday for a ten days' stay.

Camp Mayflower is taken for another summer by Colonel and Mrs. H. E. Russell, well-known Bostonians. For the week-end Col. Russell went over to B Pond for the fly fishing and brought back several 3-pound trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Morse and daughter, Miss Clara find the days at Fairview Camp not half long enough for the pleasures they plan. One day last week Mr. Morse went down the line to the first pond where the black bass were anxiously waiting for the fly and returned with a string of good-sized ones.

Harvey Farrington returns from Yonkers, N. Y., this week accompanied by members of the family and as usual will spend the summer at The Birches, and Mr. Farrington will, for most of his time, be on Shelter Island that he has leased and that he is making a gem of the lake.

A number of parties, who have been waiting for pleasant weather, are expected this week, as all predict the heavy thunderstorm that passed over this region on Sunday afternoon was the clearing-off shower and now come weeks of sunshine.

CANNOT BE TOO CAREFUL

Never Has Been an Accident in a Trapshooting Tournament.

By Peter P. Carney.

Now that the trap-shooting season is getting under way it will not be amiss to look over a list of the precautions to take for "safety first." It is always well to be careful. The game has been run happily without any accidents and it is hoped that 1916 will not see any. So remember—

Never point a gun at anybody, whether you know the gun is empty or not. The didn't-know-it-was-loaded excuse is one which can never be accepted as a satisfactory one. Sometimes a friend will ask you to put his gun to your shoulder to see how well it handles, etc.

Make it a rule never to do so until after you have opened it and ascertained for yourself that it is harmless. Even if your friend has told you that it was not loaded, he will appreciate and approve of your extra care to avoid any possible accident.

Never put a shell in your gun except when you are at the score and ready to shoot. If the trap breaks down, or there is a temporary delay in the shooting, open your gun and take out your shell.

Never on gun club grounds place a loaded gun on your shoulder, nor let it rest in the hollow of your arm, raking the spectators or your comrades at the score, even if the hammer is at half-cock or "the safety up."

Setting aside the possible danger in the operation, consider the feelings of the parties apparently threatened by your action, who know nothing about how the hammer is nor whether the safety bolt is on or off; all they know and realize is that it is decidedly uncomfortable at the least to be looking down the muzzle of a loaded gun.

REGULARITY IS VERY IMPORTANT AT THE TRAPS.

Time and regularity are important matters to the trapshooter. In a squad of trained shots it becomes almost a matter of rhythm, the movements of each man fitting in with the "swing" of the others, and seldom does anything interfere, save perhaps a bird broken at the trap.

There is no hesitation on the part of the good shot when the bird is thrown. With instant decisive action he takes the proper lead and fires. It may be that he realizes at the instant of shooting that it is a "miss," but still he shoots, for he knows that any attempt to get a second aim would be bad for the future. He knows the value of regularity.

The point at which the bird should be stopped should be somewhere between 50 and 60 feet from the trap. Beyond this place they begin to lose their regularity of flight, so are harder to hit, and the shotgun pattern becomes too open.

RUSHING WORK ON NEW CAMP

Pleasant Weather Is all That Is Needed at The Barker.

(Special Correspondence.)

The Barker, Mooselookmeguntic Lake, June 19.—This morning Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Young, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fiske of Norwich, Conn., started homeward after a pleasant two weeks' stay. Mr. Young, who has been coming to these lakes for 38 years says "In all that time I never knew such bad weather as this year for it has rained all the time." Their largest fish was a 3-pound salmon caught by Mr. Fiske. Next year they expect sunshine.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Small of Portland are passing their honeymoon days here in Cozy Corner Cabin.

A. M. Harding and daughter, Miss Louise B. Harding of Chestnut Hill, Mass., came Saturday for a short stay.

Camp Nicolai is taken until mid-summer by the following New York people: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Seaman and daughter, Miss Janet and son, Master Carl Seaman, Jr., and Miss L. Megomgal.

Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Hamilton of Boston have had a delightful ten days' stay and think log cabin life in Maine most fascinating.

Capt. Barker is rushing work on a new camp near the casino, for already every camp is taken for August and as many more would be taken if they were built.

All that is needed in this part of the country to make business rushing and everybody happy is continued pleasant weather.

THE CABIN BOAT PRIMER

THIS is a very interesting and instructive book on making cabin boats, canoes, row boats, etc. It tells of the various streams one can trip on with a cabin boat, how to equip for such a trip, what to wear and eat, cost of a two month's trip. It gives descriptions and diagrams, photographs and chapters on construction, when to float, when and where to land and other useful hints. Book is compiled of facts and observations made by the author. It contains 267 pages, over 40 illustrations and diagrams, 32 chapters as follows:

Down the Mississippi River in a Cabin Boat, Trip Down the Yukon, The Cabin Boat, How to Build a Cabin Boat, The Cabin Boat's Equipment, Furnishings and Furniture, Odds and Ends of Equipment, The Skiff or Tender, The Gasoline Launch, What to Wear, Things to Eat, Cabin Boat Expenses, Cabin Boating Waters, Maps and Landing Lists, Floating, Floating at Night and in Fog, Going Up Stream, Weather, Making Fast and Some Rope Hints, Landings, Troubles, Care of the Boat, Ways of Making Money, On Making Notes, Land Hints, Photographing, Game and Hunting, Traps and Trapping, Fish and Fishing, Amusements, Books, Trapper's Canoe, A Cabin Boat Cook Hunt.

OUT-OF-DOOR RECREATION

What Is Better than a Week's Fishing Trip to Maine?

Newtonville, Mass., June 3, 1916.
34 Otis St.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

To the men of this country—the women as well, whose daily vocation calls for no physical effort, no boon can be greater than some form of out-of-door recreation, which brings them face to face with Nature, at the same time exacts a degree of muscular exertion which can be graduated with nicety to the most varied capacity or inclination.

Fly fishing alone supplies this want. The wisest and best have united in its praise, each acknowledging the benefit and unalloyed happiness he has derived from it, and wondering why others were so slow to avail themselves of its manifest physical and mental advantages.

Merely to obtain fish the real angler considers but a small part of his pursuit. It is the way the thing is done—this and the open air, the odor of the woods, the laughter of the running water, the beauty and song of the birds, and the peace and content which open the heart of man to see and love the ever-changing beauties of Nature—these give to the pastime a charm possessed by no other.

Though old age and infirmity comes on, and the foot once familiar with wood and stream is now confined to the narrow limits of chamber, when every other earthly pursuit has lost its zest, whoever heard that even then the enthusiasm of the angler had diminished, or that the dim eye failed to kindle at the recollection and tale of earlier triumphs with the rod?

Particularly to the weary brain-worker within whom Nature clamors for occasional respite from the toil of life, this recreation is earnestly recommended, by those who know, assuring him or her that for every week spent in Maine, where the waters are well stocked with speckled beauties, rod in hand, he or she should add at least a year to the chance in life and prove a solace to declining years.

Not only may its benefits be had by the water-side, but by hearthstone when the blast of winter confines us, we find in an examination of the tackle and in the thoughts and recollections it suggests, a source of happiness and recreation—a hobby tainted with no ignoble thought or regret. Unhappy is the man who has no hobby.

Other sports have a debit as well as a credit side in the account which must be rendered of this life. This, and this alone, may be and should be quite free from stain. Many people of course profess to love Nature. But if you inquire somewhat closely you shall find that, for the most part, they love her at a distance, and when they think they have nothing better to engage their affections.

Like the gentleman on top of Kataladin. At first sight of the lovely view he went into guttural convulsions of ecstasy, which lasted about fifty seconds, and the rest of the time he was absorbed on the contemplation of sandwiches and drink.

One would think he could have thus employed himself with less trouble at the foot of the mountain, but perhaps also with less appetite. And, after all, his passion for the beautiful may have been sincere, for it is a well-known fact that even the truest love is subject to pangs of hunger. But my own test for the right love of Nature is a very simple one. He must be one who in making a journey between two points will choose, not the straight line, nor the smooth line, but the crooked line, the line which wanders up hill and down dale, leading him who follows it through sweet and secret places, delaying him with fragrant meadows, babbling streams, cool shadows of trees and rocks, and bringing him at last to his journey's end with a kind of a surprise and regret.

Those are the brightest flowers which bloom where the crowd never think to look for them. Those are the fairest views which we discover for ourselves. We feel a certain proprietorship in them. It pleases our sense of originality to find that

FUNERAL SERVICES OF OLD-TIME CITIZEN.

Mr. Wilson C. Beal, whose death occurred in Portland at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ira Whittemore, was born in Sanford, Maine, May 8, 1830, and moved to the Mile Square with his parents, when only a few months old. He was the second son of Sheldon H. and Tabitha Beal. As a boy he lived on the farm now owned by Mr. L. G. Voter and within a stone's throw of the farm where, when he married Miss Mary Wells he took his bride and where he has passed all his life with the exception of nine years in the gold mines of California.

Mr. Beal was known as an honest, upright citizen and had the respect of the entire community. He was a successful farmer and raising strawberries had been a specialty for several years and you could always rely on a first-class article when sold by him. He was a neighborly, genial man, with a pleasant word for those who came his way which endeared him to many friends.

For several years his health has been declining, but he warded off the inevitable as long as it was possible. Last fall he went to pass the winter with his daughter, Mrs. Ira Whittemore in Portland, with the idea of returning to his home in the spring, but his health failed so rapidly that it was impossible.

Four daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Beal, Allie, Helen, Elvie and Ida. Two were taken from him, Helen and Elvie. Mrs. Beal passed away many years ago, and was a great sufferer from rheumatism for many years before her death.

Mr. Beal's brothers and sisters were Nathaniel B., Horace, Lewis, Bradford, Sheldon, Allura, Valora, Eldora, B. Frank, Elbana M., and Eulia, all of whom are dead but Lura Adams, living in Skowhegan, Eldora Ross and B. Frank in Phillips and Bana M. Keene in Massachusetts.

Funeral services were held at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. J. Ross Friday afternoon, June 9, Rev. M. S. Hutchins, officiating and Undertaker Chandler in charge. Interment was in the Mile Square cemetery.

The following floral contributions were sent: Pinks, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Williams, Worcester, Mass.; pinks, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Whittemore, Portland; pinks, Mrs. Lura Adams, S. H. and W. D. Bradbury, Skowhegan; pinks, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Beal, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodwin, Phillips; pinks, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Beal, Phillips; pinks, Mr. and Mrs. Will Lord, Skowhegan; pinks, L. A. Worthley, Phillips; jonquils, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Beal, Skowhegan; pinks, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wells, Worcester; pinks, Miss Clara Beal, Portland; stalks and pinks, E. J. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ross, Phillips; white lilies, Homer, Phyllis and Pauline Goodwin; snapdragons, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Voter; pinks, Mrs. F. M. Harrington, Portland; pinks, Mrs. A. L. Lombard and Mrs. E. L. Braun, Portland; pinks, "P. of H."

NOTICE

I shall be in Phillips (Hilton House) on or about June 25, 1916.
FRANK F. GRAVES,
Graduate Optometrist.

IN AND ABOUT PHILLIPS

There will be a box supper at the Winship schoolhouse on Thursday evening, June 29. All are cordially invited and the ladies are asked to bring a box.

Mrs. Lafcrest G. Voter has been appointed by petition of Mr. Voter and other members of her family by the Probate Court at Farmington as his lawful guardian for the management of his personal and real estate, he being unfitted by advanced age, failing health and other mental and physical disabilities to attend to it with prudence and understanding.

Jerry Wilbur, who purchased the Hanscom farm last fall, is hoping that he is going to be wealthy. He has found a quantity of rock on the farm which he thinks is valuable and can be made into a polish. It will crumble into a fine substance in your hand. Mr. Wilbur has sent some samples away and is anxiously awaiting results. He says there are tons and tons of it. Anyone wishing to see the stone can do so at this office as Mr. Wilbur has left one on exhibition.

Lew M. Noble was cast for one of the character parts in the Shakespearean play, "As You Like It," which was given at Bowdoin this week on Wednesday evening.

The Misses Marjorie Cutler and Kathleen Noble will be the week-end guests of Miss Luette Timberlake at Marsquamosy Lodge at Rangeley. Miss Cutler plans to go via the White Mountains on her return to her home in Massachusetts. Many friends deeply regret that Miss Cutler will not return to Phillips to teach.

Leon Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Goodwin of Farmington was one of the graduates from the ninth grade of the model department of the Normal school last week who was given a diploma which will admit him to the High school.

M. W. Toothaker was out from Dallas Saturday for the day. Mr. Toothaker is putting in long days as he has a big lumbering contract on his hands and is also his own chef.

There will be quite extensive repairs made on the Methodist church, including new paper. W. S. Kelley has been engaged to do the work.

Veio F. Small, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Small of Farmington, and principal of the Scarborough High school, has been re-elected for another year.

Dana Aldrich has purchased a steamer car.

Very dainty programs for the graduation and top of the Phillips High school and graduation of the Grammar have been printed at this office this week. The Phillipsian is also being printed here which will be a credit to the class of 1916. The cover was designed and drawn by Arthur Shepard and is a work of art. The Phillipsian will be on sale Thursday evening and it is hoped that everyone will purchase one or more copies as it will help the class to defray expenses and also be a good souvenir to keep. It will contain half tones of the principal, Mr. F. Menton Hammond and a group picture of the graduating class.

The Democratic County committee met at the office of Thomas D. Austin Friday afternoon, June 9th, and organized as follows: Chairman, V. L. Riggs, Jay; secretary and treasurer, C. T. Gay, Farmington; E. J. Dakin, Winton; E. B. Maxwell, Carthage; C. S. Norcross, Chesterville; J. W. Colby, Temple; H. P. McLaughlin, New Sharon; E. L. Johnson, Strong; T. A. Schofield, Weld; O. C. Gilbert, Kingfield; L. D. Haley, Rangeley; R. J. Lisherness, Stratton; Eben Wing, Phillips.

Rev. I. B. Mower of Waterville will occupy the pulpit at the Federated church Sunday morning, June 25th, at 10.45 a. m. Mr. Mower is the corresponding secretary of the United Baptist convention.

A glance into our window will show you the Latest Ideas in Modern Jewelry there set forth.

Our latest goods are mostly shown in the window first. Inside you will find Style, Beauty and Rare Good Taste reflected in every article. If you are discriminating you will demand our goods, if not you will need our Protection.

At a recent meeting of the Sunday school board of the Methodist church the following officers and teachers were elected for this conference year: Superintendent, Frank W. Atwood; assistant superintendent, Willis E. Hardy; secretary and treasurer, Henry C. Leighton; organist, Agnes Ross; superintendent cradle roll department, Bessie F. Crowell; president Temperance society, Mrs. Willis Hardy; president of Missionary society, Mrs. R. C. Ross; teacher of Men's organized class, Walter S. Toothaker; Women's organized class, Bessie F. Crowell; Berean organized class, Mrs. O. H. Hersey; Willing Workers, Miss Luette Timberlake; Young Men's class, Frank W. Atwood; Boys' class, Harold Beedy; Primary teachers, Mrs. W. S. Toothaker and Mrs. Ida Ross.

The Chamber of Commerce Journal has the following: "The Bay View House, Peaks Island, is modern and comfortable and is situated on the water front, overlooking the harbor. The house has a fine patronage and is growing more popular every year with those who enjoy a fine table and home comforts at moderate prices. The hotel will be conducted by Mrs. C. W. Howard this year, which is a guarantee that everything will be thoroughly first-class." Mrs. Cora Cushman has gone to Peak's Island where she is in the employ of Mrs. Howard, who is her sister.

Regular meeting of the Social Service Club will be held in the Parish House Tuesday afternoon, June 27, at two o'clock with an entertainment and tasting party.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dow and two children of Skowhegan were recent guests of his grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Grover, who suffered a paralytic shock a few weeks ago, but who is now convalescing as rapidly as possible from it, considering her advanced years. They made the trip by automobile and were accompanied by Mrs. Dow's sister and husband.

Dr. and Mrs. Clas. Cunningham and daughter of Auburn and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chandler of Strong are spending the week at Rangeley.

Mrs. F. M. Hammond is assisting in the National Bank during the absence of Miriam Brackett.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Luffkin of Tampico, Florida, have arrived at Madrid to spend the summer at the home of Mrs. Luffkin's uncle, Chas. Luffkin.

W. S. Badger accompanied his son, Frank to Rangeley last week where he visited relatives for a few days.

Friends in town of Miss Ursel Warren of Lynn, Mass., have received announcements of her marriage to Wallace Morrison which will take place next month.

Miss Ethelyn Beedy, who is training for a nurse in a Portland hospital, came home last week for a short vacation.

Mrs. George Bean went to Byron Tuesday for a week's visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beal are receiving felicitations on the arrival of a little daughter at their home.

Mrs. Ralph Bangs, who was operated upon for appendicitis at her home last Friday, is getting along fine. Mrs. Hurley is the nurse.

The government survey party, which has been located at the Brayman crossing for the last week, is now stationed at Madrid.

Mrs. Bertha Perkins attended the 100th anniversary of her home town, Guilford, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leavitt are receiving felicitations on the arrival of a son at their home.

There will be no dance at the Grange hall next Saturday night on account of the reception.

SPRING AND SUMMER MILLINERY

I shall receive a new line of sport hats this week. Also some pretty styles in the white dress hats.

Remittances Wanted.

For hours the sympathetic mother had listened to her son's tirade against the college that had expelled him in disgrace and against his father for abetting them in it. "Put, dear," she said at last, "you really cannot blame your father for being angry. You must see that you have made a very bad return for all his unremitting kindness." "Ah, that's just it," retorted the irate student. "If it hadn't been so confoundedly 'unremitting' I could have pulled through."

Others Take the Place of Those Who Reeled In

The Barker, Mooselookmeguntic Lake, June 12.—This afternoon the sun has come out from behind the clouds and everybody is smiling, for all declare it has rained long enough.

Several parties have reeled in and gone home the past week, but others have come to take their place.

Not everyone had courage to go out fishing in the cold and rain, but those who braved the weather had good catches.

Armed Plants.

Many plants protect themselves from their enemies by the use of spikes or prickles, and venom, just as certain animals do. Of those using the first-named device there are—as a naturalist pointed out—innumerable examples. The bramble, the gorse, and the holly are familiar instances of shrubs and trees "armed to the teeth," so to speak. Many plants imitate the reptiles in arming themselves with venom. Of these are the deadly nightshade, or belladonna, and the nux vomica. Less destructively inclined are those plants which are simply protected by their disagreeable taste. The common buttercup, which is one of these, is generally shunned by horses and cattle. A plant which, like the skunk, is protected by a disagreeable smell is the figwort. Only that hardy and insensitive animal, the goat, will touch it.

The Pretty Girl.

Give the pretty girl her due. Why should she not have her share of honest praise? Too often when one comes to investigate he finds a half-contemptuous note in the description of some girl whose beauty stands out so prominently that it blinds the observer to her other virtues. Yes, other virtues. In itself beauty is a virtue, just as cheerfulness and unselfishness and sincerity are virtues. It is almost as hard to cultivate these others as it is to take thought and add a degree to beauty. Often they are natural gifts, and yet a girl with these natural gifts is given credit for cultivating them while the one who is "only pretty" is condemned on the ground that she has had nothing to do with her looks, that heredity or luck or something else made her pretty, and that she is satisfied to be pretty and nothing else. Give the pretty girl her due. Admit that whether she wills or not she is doing a service in the world, just as the rainbow or the violet or the mountain do their part. And admit, too, that usually she is glad to render her share to the joy of the world, that, sung but usually unappreciated, she is doing something for the good of humanity.—Columbia State.

Flying Bird Broke Window.

The great speed and force with which birds fly was strikingly illustrated the other day when a partridge crashed through a large window in a country residence near Red Wing, Minn. The window was glazed with plate glass, one-fourth inch thick. The bird, which weighed 20 ounces, was found dead in the living room 11 feet from the window. The impact of its body broke a hole in the heavy glass about three feet in diameter. This window is more than five feet square and close to the ground. It overlooks a large lawn which at certain times of the day is very vividly reflected in the glass. It is thought that the bird was deceived by the reflection and supposed it was flying through an opening when it met its death. All but two or three very small pieces of the broken glass were thrown into the room.

NYOIL FOR GUNS AND FISH-RODS

William F. Nye is the greatest authority on refined oils in the world. He was the first bottler; has the largest business and NYOIL is the best oil he has ever made.

NYOIL HAS NO EQUAL.

Beware of scented mixtures called oil. Use NYOIL on everything where a light oil is needed. It prevents rust and gives perfect lubrication. Sportsmen, use it liberally on your firearms and your rod. You will find it by far the best. Hardware and sporting goods dealers sell it in large bottles (cheaper to buy) at 25 c. and in trial sizes at 10 c. Made by

WHERE DOES AROOSTOOK BEGIN?

All Now Ready at Billy's---Hinds and Wellman Party Will Arrive Soon.

Oxbow, Me., June 5, 1916.

To the Editor of Maine Woods:

It has occurred to me that it might not be amiss to blaze a trail from Bangor, so that "the wayfarer man, though a fool, need not err there in," but come right up to Billy's front door at the Bow. Here it is, as laid out for me by Walter D. Hinds, who often comes over the road in his auto from Portland, viz: Bangor to Oldtown, follow the river to La-Grange, thence to Howland; cross river to South Lincoln, then Lincoln; thence to Winn and Mattawamkeag. A bout a mile and a half beyond Mattawamkeag, near a covered bridge turn to left for Sherman and Sherman Mills; thence to Patten; thence to Moro, and follow road to Oxbow. Good roads, usually, all the way.

Libby's Camps are receiving new comers every week-end now. Late arrivals are: Morris Williams, Philadelphia, Penn.; Edward Brennan, W. R. Reinhardt, J. M. Maurer, Shamokin, Penn. They have gone up river to Lake Munsungan and beyond perhaps.

Last Saturday's arrivals at Libby's were: F. A. Wallace, H. L. Davis, C. D. Morris, C. W. Leavenworth, all from Wallingford, Conn. They went up river Sunday morning to Lake Munsungan, with Charlie Rowe, Charlie Weeks, Ellie Currier and Herman Junkins for guides. Rain fell steadily nearly all day.

The box supper and dancant given by the local Grange last Thursday evening in the new Grange hall was largely attended by Bowites and many from neighboring villages. The three Raffords from Ashland gave inspiring music which greatly pleased both old and young. The affair netted the Grange about $45.

The Christian Endeavor Society social at the little church on the hill was successfully carried out under the leadership of Rev. N. B. Ackerman and the Misses Parker and MacLaughlin, schoolteachers at the Bow. For a little community Oxbow is wide awake and thinks of something more than household drudgery, potatoes and logging. They read the Bangor and Boston papers, too.

Pasturage is in fine feather, and the crops promise well for a prosperous season. Stream fishing holds good, and fly fishing is now in order on the lakes in the back country.

Walter D. Hinds and party is expected from Portland this week. Everybody knows when Walter "flies" in; he makes the dust fly behind him, and the people know his machine by the speed he maintains, though the night be dark as Egypt.

Other guests are booked for Billy's to arrive soon, and all is now ready for their comfort and sport. Billy has had more inquiries this spring than usual owing, doubtless to more and wider advertising. There's room for all.

Memorial Day observances were hampered somewhat by unfavorable weather conditions. After the ceremonies at the cemetery at Masardis there was a union picnic on the Cole estate opposite the grave yard. The program was not allowed to go by default; better weather next time we hope. Rev. N. B. Ackerman's address was thoroughly patriotic and was greatly appreciated by all who heard it. Mr. Ackerman proposes to hold a week of evangelistic services in the church at the Bow before long. The spirit of Billy Sunday goes before his actual presence in the east, and doubtless will permeate the land from Maine to California. Let the good work go on. Righteousness is simply rightness; and most, if not all, will choose to do right some of the time.

Foxes are often seen hereabouts, and we hear of several large black bears being shot or trapped in regions not very far away. Broods of wild ducks have their temporary homes on and about our streams. Plenty of deer and many moose tracks are seen in the Otter brook country north of the Bow. Billy was over there last week inspecting his hunting camps and reported having seen 12 deer, five in a bunch, on what appeared to be a natural "salt lick." He also captured a good string of trout on the way in.

A party of four from Presque Isle, just in from a trip to Little Pleasant Pond, near Munsungan, showed a small pickle barrel full of sizeable square tails. The fish in Little Pleasant Pond are of good size and very plentiful we are told.

The local Grange initiated nine or ten members last Saturday night. Umcolous Lodge is a prosperous, wide-awake institution, and is fast getting its fine, large building into shape for immediate use. It is centrally located and is bound to become a social center of wide influence for the good of the whole community.

Mr. S. T. Wellman and family of Cleveland, Ohio, will arrive on or about the 15th inst. They will be the first regular guests of the season of 1916 at Capt. Billy Soule's Oxbow home camp. They will have four guides and all the "fixins" to match.

Fly fishing is now on the regular menu, and natural flies are not missing though not yet pestiferous.

The following lines, picked up on the highway at the Bow, sound good enough to be printed. What say you?

Up where the handclasp is stronger;
Up where the smile dwells the longer;
Up where the sun shines much stronger;
Up where the winter's some longer,
That's where Aroostook begins.

Up where the sky is quite bluer;
Up where the home life is truer;
Up where the home ties bind tighter;
Up where the snow fall is whiter—
That's where Aroostook begins.

Up where the pure air is blowing;
Up where the trout streams are flowing;
Up where there's reaping and sowing;
Up where the true sports are going—
That's where Aroostook begins.

Up where a game world is making;
Up where forests are shaping;
Up where there's buying and giving;
Up where there's sighing and singing—
That's where Aroostook begins.

Who the author was I know not. It was written with a pencil, on cheap paper (paper stock is scarce and expensive) and I have taken some liberties with the text. My apologies are extended to the author; I'm sure he has something better up his sleeve.

Yours cordially,
J. C. Hartshorne.

Price, postpaid, cloth bound 60 cents.

FUR FARMING

A BOOK of information about fur-bearing animals, enclosures, their habits, care, etc., and is the recognized authority on fur raising—now in fourth edition—written from information secured from reliable sources, including U. S. Government reports.

Demand for furs is increasing yearly while the supply is becoming less. Fur farming is a profitable industry. Book contains 266 pages, 39 illustrations from photographs; 15 chapters as follows:

Supply and Demand, What Animals to Raise; Enclosures, Laws Affecting Fur Farming, Box Trap Trapping, Fox Raising, Fox Raising in Canada, Skunk Raising, Mink Raising, Opossum Raising, Muskrat Raising, Raccoon Raising, The Beaver and the Otter, Killing, Skinning and Stretching, Deer Farming.

Price, postpaid, cloth bound, 60 cents.

Land Cruising and Prospecting

IS A valuable book for home-steaders, hunters, prospectors, guides etc. The writer, Mr. A. F. Wallace, an experienced land surveyor, land cruiser and prospector, in his introduction says: "To the men who follow the compass.

the trap and the trail, this work is inscribed. It is not intended for the 'Professor' who can tell you all about things after they are done (by someone else)." Contains about 200 pages, 5 x 7 inches, good quality paper, with nearly 40 illustrations and contains 20 chapters as follows:

Maps; The Compass; Examining and Locating; Early Surveys; Corner Marks; Miscellaneous Information; Points for Home-steaders; Prospecting for Gold; Sampling Ore; How to Locate a Claim; Poor Man's Ore Mill; Prospecting for Fur; Prospecting for Pearls; Prospecting for Bees; Rations and Camp Cookery; Camp Kits; Guns, Axes and Packtraps; Building Cabins; Tanning, Etc.; Getting Lost; The Red River Trapper.

Price, postpaid, cloth bound, 60 cents.

MINK TRAPPING

A BOOK of instruction, giving many methods of trapping. A valuable book for trappers as it tells in a plain way what you want to know, that is if you want to catch mink. This book is edited by A. R. Harding, contains about 50 illustrations and nearly 200 pages, and is divided into 20 chapters as follows:

General Information; Mink and Their Habits; Size and Care of Skins; Good and Lasting Baits; Bait and Scent; Places to Set; Indian Methods; Mink Trapping on the Prairies; Southern Methods; Northern Methods; Unusual Ways; Illinois Trapper's Method; Experienced Trappers' Methods; Many Good Methods; Salt Set; Log and Other Sets; Points for the Young Trapper; Proper Size Traps; Deadfalls; Steel Traps.

Price, postpaid, cloth bound, 60 cents.

CANADIAN WILDS

TELLS about the Hudson Bay Company; Northern Indians and their Modes of Hunting, Trapping, etc. Provisions for the Wilderness, Things to Avoid, etc., etc. The author (Martin Hunter) was with the Hudson Bay Company for about 40 years—from 1863 to 1903 and the information is given from almost a half century's experience. This book contains 277 pages, thirty-seven chapters as follows:

The Hudson's Bay Company; The "Free Trader" Outfitting Indians, Trappers of the North, Provisions for the Wilderness, Furs and Poets, About Indians, Wholesome Foods, Officer's Allowances, Indian Packs, Indian Mode of Hunting Beaver, Indian Mode of Hunting Lynx and Marten, Indian Mode of Hunting Foxes, Indian Mode of Hunting Otter and Musquash, Remarkable Success, Things to Avoid, Anticosti and its Furs, Chiseling and Shooting Beaver, The Indian Devil, A Tame Seal, The Care of Blistered Feet, Deer Sickness, A Case of Nerve, Amphibious Combats, Art of Pulling Hearts, Dark Furs, Indians are Poor Shots, A Bear in the Water, Voracious Pike, The Brass Eyed Duck, Good Wages Trapping, A Pard Necessary, A Heroic Adventure, Wild Oxen, Long Lake Indians, Den Bears, The Mishap of Raison.

STEEL TRAPS

DESCRIBES the various makes and tells how to use them. Also chapters on care of pelts, etc. This book contains 333 pages, 5 x 7 in., and 130 illustrations, printed on good quality heavy paper. Just the book that trappers have long needed. Gives the history of steel traps, how made, sizes for various animals with detailed instructions on where and how to set. This book contains 32 chapters as follows:

Sewell Newhouse; Well Made Traps; A Few Failures; Some European Traps; Proper Sizes; Newhouse Traps; Double and Web Jaws; Victor, Hawley & Norton; Jump Traps; Tree Traps; Stop Thief Traps; Wide Spreading Jaws; Caring for Traps; Marking Traps; How to Fasten; How to Set; Where to Set; Looking at Traps; Mysteriously Sprung Traps; Good Dens; The Proper Bait; Scent and Decoy; Human Scent and Signs; Hints on Fall Trapping; Land Trapping; Water Trapping; When to Trap; Some Deep Water Sets; Skinning and Stretching; Handling and Grading; From Animal to Market; Miscellaneous Information.

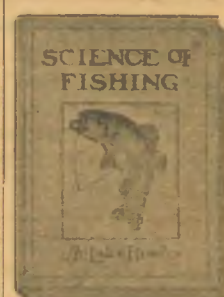

Price, postpaid, cloth bound 60 cents.

CAMP AND TRAIL METHODS

THIS is one of the most practical books on woodcraft ever written containing valuable information for all lovers of the great outdoors. The author of this book has spent years in the woods, so knows what is wanted by the woodsmen, mountaineers, prospectors, trappers and the hardy outdoor people in general. It contains 274 pages and 68 illustrations. There are 19 chapters as follows: Pleasures and Profits of Camping; Selecting a Camp Outfit; Clothing for the Woods; Pack Straps, Pack Sacks and Pack Baskets; Cooking Utensils, Beds and Bedding; Firearms, Hunting Knives and Axes, Tennis and Shelters; Permanent Camps; Canoes and Hunting boats, Snowshoes and Their Use, Snowshoe Making, Skis, Toboggans and Trail Sleds, Provisions and Camp Cookery; Bush Travel, Traveling Light, Tanning Furs and Buckskins, Preserving Game, Fish and Hides, Miscellaneous Suggestions.

Price, postpaid, cloth bound, 60 cents.

SCIENCE OF FISHING

THE most practical book on fishing ever published. The author says: "For those who have caught them, as well as for those who never have." This book describes the fish, tells their habits and HOW, WHEN and WHERE to catch them; also tells the KIND of tackle used for each fish.

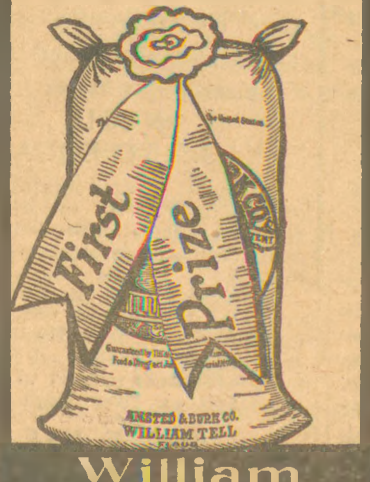

Book contains 255 pages, more than 100 illustrations, 22 chapters as follows:

Remarks on the "Gentle Art"; Rods, Reels; Hooks, Lines and Leaders; Flies, Artificial Baits, Landing Nets, Gaffs, Tackle Boxes, Etc.; Bait-Casting; Fly-Casting; Surf-Casting, Trolling, Still Fishing, Etc.; Use of Natural Baits; Handling the Hooked Fish; Fishing for Black Bass; Fishing for Trout and Salmon; Pike, Pickerel, Muskellunge and Pike-Perch; Sunfish, Carp, Catfish and Suckers; Fishing for Tarpon and Tuna; Fishing for Other Sea Fish; Making, Repairing and Caring for Tackle; General Information; Commercial Fishing; Distribution of Fish—Good Places.

Price, postpaid, cloth bound, 60 cents

A New Questions and Answers Department of Interest to Shooters

THE PEST.

The pest we have always with us. The trapshooting game is not exempt. In fact the pest comes to a full and flowering bloom in this sport. On the day of the tournament he comes rushing onto the scene of action several minutes after his squad is called. His excuses are many—"the auto broke down" or "the trolley was derailed"—in fact any or all of the old stuff is used for this occasion.

While he is stalling the squad master, he feverishly tumbles his gun out of the case, dropping the barrel on the floor with a nerve racking bang just to show how much of a hurry he's in. After he has butchered his gun together he suddenly discovers that he didn't clean the barrel the last time he used it and of course he needs must tear it down again and induce some unsophisticated bystander to loan him a cleaning rod. This job over, they get him to the firing point after he has still further pacified the feelings of the crowd by borrowing a shooting coat and a shell belt and even a box of shells if he can spot a dyed-in-the-wool easy mark.

This has all been but a preliminary to the big show, as it were. The pest gets in his most effective work beginning at this point. Just as a starter, his gun jams. He always keep it in the "punk" of condition, of course. Things go along smoothly for a couple of rounds, then the pest calls "pull" out of turn and assumes a grievous and injured air during the mixup in scoring which follows. During the rest of the event he enlivens the otherwise dull and monotonous afternoon with his sprightly and jovial remarks calculated to soothe the nerves of the most impressive trapshooter. Between events he buttonholes one of the older and more conservative members of the club and after giving him a complete resume of his life from boyhood up to the present minute, he tells him all about how to smash the clays with sundry derogatory remarks concerning the shooting equipment of every one else in the place. He usually ends up by forgetting to pay for his targets.

The pest we have always with us.

1. If I join the National Rifle Association as an annual member, can I buy a Krag rifle from the U. S. Government?

Ans. As I understand it, you can.

2. Do I have to belong to a rifle club before I can get a Krag?

Ans. You must belong to the N. R. A.

3. To whom shall I send the money when buying a Krag?

Ans. Write to Maj. F. H. Phillips, 1108 Woodward Building, Washington, D. C. He will give you the proper instructions.

4. On the National Rifle Association's blank you have to fill out name, street and number, state and

The Minister who Feels Well on Monday

With many ministers, Monday is an "off day." Not in the way of doing nothing, but in the sense of not feeling well. After the hard work of Saturday and Sunday, comes the nervous and physical reaction of Monday, with that "all-in" feeling. This is a condition many ministers would be glad to be freed from. They can avoid it by giving proper attention to diet, and taking "L. F." Atwood's Medicine to keep the bowels in order, the stomach toned, the liver regulated, and the head clear. This old home remedy is so good that many ministers are glad to recommend it, feeling that they are passing along a kindness in so doing. We will send a free sample to any minister, upon request.

Buy a 35c bottle at your nearest store, or write to-day for free sample.
"L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Me.

city and business. Do I have to be a business man before I can join?

Ans. Not necessarily.

5. Would like to know the maximum range of the .45 Colt cartridge.

Ans. Less than 1000 yards.

6. Would you use smokeless cartridges in a U. S. Army .45 Colt rod ejection revolver?

Ans. Yes.

7. Would they harm the arm?

Ans. No.

8. What is the maximum range of the .30 U. S. Army cartridge as used in the Krag?

Ans. 4066 yards.

9. What is the effective range?

Ans. Effective range is rather an indefinite term. For military purposes the rifle will have sufficient energy to kill at considerably over 2000 yds.

A. J. B., Penfield, N. Y.

1. Could you give me the address of the N. R. Davis & Son gun company?

Ans. Assonet, Mass.

2. Is the Davis gun a standard make gun?

Ans. They have been made for some years.

3. What is the best size shot for woodchucks?

Ans. I do not know—I never use a shotgun for woodchucks. About BB size should do. Don't you think it is rather unsportsmanlike to use a shotgun for such animals even if the woodchuck is not a game animal?

H. W. Lethbridge, Alta., Canada.

1. I have read your Target Tips and Hunting Helps always with great interest and think you may help me with some information on my questions below, for which I should be greatly obliged to you. Being a keen big game hunter, I intend to make an extensive shooting trip to Alaska. Until now I have used the Mannlicher-Schoenauer 9 mm rifle, doubtless an excellent weapon for European game. My experience with this rifle in the Canadian Rockies has proved less satisfactory as the velocity is not sufficient to guarantee a good shot over 200 yards.

Ans. Very little game is killed at much over 200 to 300 yards, even in long range mountain shooting, as beyond this point the factors of accuracy in the rifle and ability on the part of the shooter come in to a great extent. The American rifle you mention is a powerful one, but of course at over 200 to 300 yards the energy falls off as with all big game rifles.

2. Can you tell me why the Continental rifles, though generally higher in price, have a considerable lower velocity?

Ans. Price and velocity have nothing to do with each other. High velocity can be obtained in an inexpensive rifle and it is also possible to make a very expensive rifle which throws a bullet at low velocity.

3. Without question, the frame loading device of the European rifle is a great feature and do you know any American rifles with this frame-loader? In a tight corner everything may depend on a quick reloading of the empty magazine.

Ans. By "frame loading device" I suppose you mean clip loading, that is, rifles which permit reloading the magazine by sliding five or more cartridges from a metal clip. The Government army rifle is a clip loader. The Remington Auto-loading rifle also loads with a clip, and the Winchester Auto-loading rifles have a detachable magazine. All the other rifles made in this country load one at a time into the magazine.

4. Can you give me an address where to buy good Navajo blankets? I want the "real stuff" not made in Birmingham with German dyes.

Ans. You will certainly have your work cut out for you if you get a genuine Navajo blanket made by the Indians with their own native dyes, as most of the Navajo blankets—even those made by the Indians themselves—are colored with modern dyes, German and otherwise. You might try some of the big sporting goods supply houses in the South West.

H. R. Y.

1. If I were to shoot a Springfield 1903 Model (Government rifle), where would I aim at 200, 300, 350, 400, 500 and 1000 yards if my rifle was a zero. By "zero" I mean, the sight being perfect.

Ans. I suppose that you mean that the rifle was zeroed correctly, that is, was sighted with the bullet starting off parallel to the line of sight. If so, at 200 yards you would aim 10 inches above the point to be hit; at 300 yards 24 inches; at 350 yards, 35 inches; at 400 yards, 47 inches; at 500 yards, 80 inches, and at 1,000 yards, 40 feet.

2. How many points of wind would I take in a 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 10, 18 and 23 mile gale?

Ans. You have left out two of the factors which govern the effect of the wind—you do not state from what direction the wind is coming nor the range. It is therefore impossible to answer your question.

3. Where would I aim on the target (18 in. target center) at 500 yds. with the wind blowing at 12 miles an hour?

Ans. Assuming that the wind were blowing from the right to the left, square across the range, it would be necessary to move the wind gauge approximately 1½ points towards the right, in other words, the direction in which the wind is coming; or if you leave the sights at zero, it would be necessary to aim 30 inches to the right of the center of the bull's-eye.

J. I. D., Houston, Texas.

1. Will a shotgun penetrate further on a hot dry day than on a cold damp day?

Ans. Theoretically yes. The temperature has a very small effect on the powder; the hotter the powder the more power, consequently the penetration really should be greater on a hot day than on a cold day. To balance this is the fact that dry air causes greater resistance to the bullet than damp air. Both of these factors are very much of the hair splitting order and for practical purposes may be entirely neglected. The reason that shooters of shotgun shells are cautioned to keep them in a cold place is not because of the effect above mentioned, but because the continued heat has a deteriorating effect on the powder itself.

2. If the gun barrel has already been cut off 2 inches without harming the pattern, will it hurt to cut off 2 inches more? Where can I send the gun to have it rechecked and what will be the price for doing this work?

Ans. The chances are if you have cut 2 inches off your shotgun barrel and it has not affected the pattern, the barrel is a cylinder choke, in which case it will make no difference to have still more cut off. It is not possible to rechoke a shotgun barrel. Sometimes reboring them will improve the shooting qualities but it is not possible to take a cylinder bore barrel and rebore it so that it will be full choke. If you wish to have any work done on a shotgun barrel, the very best place to have it done is at the factory where it was made.

RANGELEY TO HAVE A NOTED SINGER

Handsome Studio Being Constructed for Mr. Schroeder by N. H. Ellis & Son.

Maine is gradually getting to be the summer haunts of some of the world's great musicians and while Bar Harbor has Paderewski, Kneisel and Harold Bauer, Rangeley is now to have Mr. Theodore Schroeder, the famous Liedersinger and one of the most distinguished American vocal instructors.

N. H. Ellis & Son of Rangeley are now constructing a large, handsome studio building for Mr. Schroeder a mile out of Rangeley village on an elevation overlooking Rangeley Lake and Bald Mountain.

Mr. Schroeder and his pianist, Mr. Carl Safford are expected to arrive the end of June and remain until late September. It is with just pride that the Rangeley community is welcoming Mr. Schroeder and it is hoped and to be expected that other famous artists will follow in his train and gradually come to appreciate the beauties of the Rangeley region.

OUT-OF-DOOR RECREATION

We do not need a hand-board or guide book to tell us when to admire. And every man should owe something to his sense of originality. In brief, then, I prefer the by-way to the highway. On principles, not in a lax, immoral way, but on soundest and most reasonable grounds, I love digressions—in books, in sermons, and in journeys; I am digressing now from Maine's production of fine trout and salmon, the subject of this wandering pen (pencil). Many of your beautiful mountains stand just near enough to the thoroughfare of travel for thousands of people to see them every year, and just far enough away from the beaten track to be unvisited except by a very few of the wise ones who love to digress.

Behind the mountain is the lake which no lazy man has ever seen. Out of the lake flows the stream, winding down along unbroken forest valley, until at length it joins other waters and empties into the ocean. Trout from such streams are unexcelled in flavor. But in spite of this apparent subordination to the lake, stream and trout, the mountains clearly assert their natural superiority. They stand up boldly and dominate their surroundings. The lakes stretched at their feet acknowledge their lordship. Wherever you may go over the waters of the lakes and see old Katahdin looking down at you, you will feel it saying quietly, "This is my domain." Personally, I never see a mountain which asserts itself in this fashion without desiring to stand on top of it, and become a sharer in the dominion.

The charm of Maine for the angler is in its well stocked streams and lakes. I recall many pleasant experiences on streams which plunge down through beds of rocks, making successions of short falls and pools and rapids. Here in the spring and early summer, the speckled trout—brightest and gamiest of all fish that swim—are found in great numbers. As the season advances they move away into the deep water of the lakes. But there are always a few stragglers left, and I have taken them in the rapids at the very end of the season. What could be more delightful than to spend an hour or two in the early morning or about sundown of each day, in wading this rushing stream, and casting a fly in its clear waters?

The wind blows softly down the narrow valley and the trees nod from the rocks above you. The noise of the falls makes constant music in your ears. The water hurries past you, and yet it is never gone. The same foam-flakes seem to be always gliding downward, the same spray dashing over the stones, the same eddy coiling at the edge off the pool. Send your fly in under those hanging branches where the water swirls around by that old log. Now draw it up toward the foam. There is a sudden gleam of dull gold in the white water. You strike too soon. Your line comes back to you. In a current like this a fish will almost always hook himself. Try it again. This time he strikes the fly fairly and you have him. It is a good one, and makes the slender rod bend to the strain. He sulks for a moment as if uncertain what to do, and then with a rush darts into the swiftest part of the current. You can never stop him there. Let him go. Keep just enough pressure on him to hold the hook firm, and follow his troutship down stream. He glides over a little fall, gleaming through the foam, and swings around in the next pool. Here you can manage him more easily, and after a few minutes' brilliant play, a few mad dashes for the current, and one splendid leap out of water he comes to the net and is skillfully landed with a quick, steady sweep of the arm. Temporarily all cares and responsibilities of life are forgotten. You are happy.

After the morning catch of several beauties you turn again to the mountains. The middle of the day is an especially silent and deserted time. The deer are asleep in some leafy covert. The pantridge has gathered her brood in a quiet nook for their noonday nap, and the wood thrush spares her sweet voice until evening. Yet, there is a contrasting charm about this silence as the trail leads you through a tangle of wood roads until you strike upon the long ridges which slope gently from the lake to the base of the mountain. Here you find walking comparatively easy, for in hard wood timber there is little underbrush and the long massive trunks seem like pillars set to uphold the level roof of green. As you walk onward the woods are very quiet. It seems as if all living creatures had deserted them. Indeed, if you have spent much time in Maine forests you will wonder at the absence of life, and almost feel a sense of pity for the apparent loneliness of the squirrels that chatter at you as you pass.

After about an hour of easy walking you have the mountain fairly before you. Not that you can see anything of it, for the woods still shut you in, but the path becomes very steep and every step forward is also a step upward, and as you stop to rest for a moment, you can see already glimpses of the lake below you. But at these you will not care to look, for I think it a pity to spoil the surprise of a grand view by taking little snatches of it beforehand. It is better to keep one's face to the mountain, and then coming out from the dark forest upon the open, feel the splendor of the outlook flash upon one like a revelation. The character of the woods through which you pass as you approach the summit is entirely different from that on the lower levels. The higher slopes and sharp ridges are usually covered with black timber—spruce and hemlock strike their roots among the rocks and find a hidden nourishment. Their needles with the deep, wonderful beds of moss cover the rocks and roots. There are shadows never broken by the sun, and dark, cool springs of icy water flow from the crevices. You feel a sense of antiquity here which you can never feel among the maples and beeches—Longfellow was right when he filled his forest primeval with "murmuring pines and hemlocks." As you approach the open shut your eyes for a moment, draw a few long breaths of the glorious breeze, and then look out upon a wonder and delight beyond description.

Among the Hopi.

Among the numerous tribes of Indians native to North America few have more interesting characteristics than the Hopi, the name being a contraction of Hopit'u, which means "peaceful ones." The last remnants of this once powerful tribe are to be found in the northeast section of Arizona, United States of America, where on a reservation of about 2,600,000 acres, they occupy six villages, or pueblos, which have a population of about 2,000.

DRUGGISTS WILL HAVE OUTING

Mrs. Marble Hostess For the Advance Club of Dixfield.

(Special Correspondence.)

Rangeley Lake House, Rangeley, June 14.—Late yesterday afternoon one of the most brilliant rainbows added to the beautiful picture of Rangeley in mid-June. Like a cloth of gold Dame Nature has covered the lawns with millions of dandelion blossoms that add much to the picture.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Wm. S. Marble entertained the Advance Club of Dixfield of which she is a member. These ladies in winter time met at the home of some member or Monday afternoon, and their annual meeting which will long be remembered was this week when they accepted Mrs. Marble's invitation to meet with her at the Rangeley Lake House. The following party left Dixfield on the noon train: Mrs. George Stanley, Mrs. W. Giles, Mrs. J. S. Sturtevant, Mrs. J. S. Sturtevant, Jr., Mrs. Morris Keith, Mrs. George Gray, Mrs. Henry Marsh, Mrs. Carroll Howe, Mrs. Pease, Mrs. Ada Murch, Mrs. Walter Small, Miss Ella Holman, Miss Vendrena Ludden. The ride by train and across the lakes was picturesque and Mrs. Marble was at the wharf to extend a cordial welcome. After lunch was served they adjourned to the parlor and held their annual meeting. The rest of the afternoon they spent in visiting the different places of interest in the village, returning in time for 5 o'clock tea. In the evening a banquet was served. The long table in the big window of the dining room facing the lake was most beautifully decorated with ferns and blue violets and there were dainty hand-painted place cards, and the menu an excellent one for which the hotel is noted. The remainder of the evening the ladies spent socially with songs and speeches, for the Advance Club includes some of Maine's most talented women. After breakfast Tuesday morning the party took a walk along the lake shore as far as Pickford's Camps. Just before the boat left lunch was served and the club as they said good-bye to their hostess declared the annual meeting of 1916 the most delightful one in its history.

W. S. Lawson of New York, who came when the hotel opened, was on Monday joined by his wife and daughter for the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Babbitt, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Blakestone and

P. P. Green of Albany, N. Y., were one of the automobile parties touring Maine that spent part of the week here.

Another auto party came Monday, three gentlemen from Worcester, Mass., Wm. S. Allen, Dr. Charles S. Gordon, Dr. Ernest L. Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Fiske of Hartford, Conn., who are on their wedding trip at the Rangeleys, registered here Monday.

E. Nortz of Harve, France, who, before the war had one of the largest coffee plantations in that country, is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Nortz, a charming young lady. They are now refugees in this country, living in New York, and are among those who for the first time are spending some time in Maine and express themselves as much delighted with this place. Tuesday the young lady caught her first American trout, 2½ pounds and several small salmon.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Bowles of Summit, N. J., made a short stay here this week.

M. and Mrs. James H. Work, Jr., of Lawrence, L. I., are among the bridal couples who pass June days at this hotel.

Frederick Skinner entertained his nephew, Gerald N. Thaxter of Boston over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Stohr of Pas-saic, N. J., were week-end guests.

Mrs. Cyrus Walker and maid of San Francisco, Cal., who are traveling through the east in a touring car, accompanied by her friend, Mrs. A. N. Talbot of Washington, D. C., lingered here for a short time this week while making a tour through Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stanley have been joined by their friend, E. E. Seavey of Boston for a few days' fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Richards of Philadelphia on their return for another season were heartily greeted by old friends on Tuesday.

W. B. Wadsworth of Plainfield, N. J., has been here this week while arranging to open his camp on Gull Pond for the summer.

Messrs. Francis Wells and Otto Marte of Hartford, Conn., spent part of the week at this hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sullivan of Newton, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. B. Fuller of Framingham, Mass., are enjoying a ten days' stay at the hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. MacDonald and daughter, Miss Gertrude MacDonald were among the Bostonians who tarried for over Sunday.

Mrs. Ralph R. Kendall and children of Providence, R. I., are spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Marble.

Jas. A. Brigham and Charles R. Adams went over to Loon Lake to try the fishing Tuesday and Mr. Brigham won the cigars by landing a 3½-pound salmon on the fly.

A pleasant party from Gorham, N. H., are here for two weeks' stay, including J. B. Marble's brother, Dr. Henry Marble, his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Marble and daughter, Mrs. Walter Weston and son, Master Henry Marble Weston.

No more delightful or happier party come to these lakes each spring for fishing than this morning regretfully said good-bye until next year. They were John Oscar Erckens, Charles Winthelmer and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wooley. Every morning, rain or shine, they started out with lunch baskets, and the guides cooked their dinners on the lake shore. "Nothing like it! Why fishing is the secondary consideration," laughingly remarked Mr. Wooley when telling of their outdoor feasts. Mrs. Wooley took the honors as well as the largest fish, a 5¼-pound salmon. Each of the gentlemen landed one 4¼ pounds and plenty of smaller ones.

A week from next Saturday members of the Maine Dental Association and friends are coming for their annual meeting which will be held at the casino on Monday, June 26th. They have made no mistake in choosing this, one of Maine's most fascinating resorts for their excursion and we welcome them and hope they will have the best outing ever.

Proof That We Are Sheepish.

The Pittsburgh man who several years ago won a dinner from an Indiana county relative by taking a small piece of wood, a hammer and a nail and blocking traffic on lower Fifth avenue of the steel metropolis by hammering the nail into the shingle resting on the sidewalk has a follower here who did a similar stunt. The New Yorker won his wager by placing a ball of paper six inches in diameter at the corner of Wall street and Broadway and by staring at it got a crowd of a hundred people in five minutes. It proved the old contention of the psychology of crowds, showed that all the yokels are not living in the country and revealed that we humans all are more or less sheep.—New York Letter to Pittsburgh Dispatch.

MANY FISHING AT LOON LAKE

Yorks Camps a Delightful Place for Vacation Days.

These are busy days at the York Camps, Loon Lake, and have been for some time. J. Lewis York, the proprietor, was under the weather a bit for several weeks in the early spring, and so necessarily he has had to hustle since he got a new lease of life, and is now ready to give all the glad hand.

Many guests are now being entertained there who are enjoying the early fishing which was never better. Loon Lake is one of the places which cannot be excelled for its fish record.

Many improvements have been made this season, which will add to the enjoyment and the comfort of the guests. Anyone wishing a combination trip of rest, fishing, enjoy the beauties of nature, or anything that pertains to the out of doors, can find it by heading to York Camps.

After a day in the open you can find all the comforts of home in the modern and up-to-date private camps, of which this place is justly noted.

STRATTON

June 19,

Guy Jones went to Portland last week to spend a few days with his wife who is in the Maine General hospital. Her friends will be glad to know she is gaining.

L. T. Hinds went to Farmington Saturday, returning Monday with his new Studebaker automobile.

Inez Grose and a friend are spending a vacation from Smith's college at the former's home, Hotel Blanchard.

L. T. Hinds has driven his flock of sheep onto Eustis Ridge to pasture. Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Gordon of Kingfield are in town for several weeks' visit.

There will be a horse trot and ball game at the Stratton driving park June 24.

Mrs. Harry Hinds and little son, Glendon of Farmington are visiting at L. T. Hinds'.

Penley White was called to Augusta Monday, June 19, to join his Company, Company K. They will go into camp at Augusta.

Vernon Glidden of Kingfield, who was working for L. T. Hinds, was also called to join his Company K.

Peter Murray Stock Co. will play for two evenings at Lander's hall, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. When they were here last year everyone was pleased with the show. No doubt he will be well patronized this year.

Percie Danico and Daniel Reed were out home from Big Island over Sunday.

The village schools closed last week for the summer vacation.

To Clean Unvarnished Paint.

Put upon a plate some of the best whiting, have ready some clean, warm water and a piece of flannel, which dip into the water and squeeze nearly dry; then take as much whiting as will adhere to it, apply to the paint, when a little rubbing will instantly remove any dirt or grease. Wash off well with water and rub dry with a soft cloth. Paint thus cleaned looks equal to new and without doing the least injury to the most delicate color. It will preserve the paint much longer than if cleaned with soap, and it does not require more than half the time usually occupied in cleaning.

Doc Wasn't on the Job.

A few years ago a party of tourists from the U. S. A., among whom was an Iowa doctor who could always be depended upon to say the unexpected, were visiting in Stratford and were being shown through Shakespeare's home. As they came to a certain room the pompous guide halted and in a very impressive manner announced: "This is the room where the great poet was born." One of the party in a very subdued tone exclaimed: "Well, doc, what do you think of that?" The M. D. shook his head and sadly replied: "I'm afraid I'm a little late."

WORDS FROM HOME

Statements That May Be Investigated
Testimony of Phillips Citizens.

When a Phillips citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Phillips resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

Henry W. True, tailor, Main St., Phillips, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills at different times and they have never failed to give relief. I know of no other medicine that is so effective. When I have slight attacks of kidney trouble, I get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Preble's Drug Store and a few doses make my kidneys all right again."

OVER THREE YEARS LATER Mr. True said: "I never use any other medicine but Doan's Kidney Pills for they answer my purpose."

his grandfather, Mr. Chandler, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. J. Ward.

Quite a novel idea of a birthday party was carried out by Mrs. Will Smith at her home Saturday evening. There were ten invited ladies whose birthdays were within a year of Mrs. Smith's. On account of the rain not all were present. The house was prettily decorated. During the evening the guests were invited to the dining room where a lunch was served by her daughter, Mrs. George Beal, which consisted of sandwiches, cocoa, ice cream, saltines and a beautiful birthday cake. She was presented with many pretty and useful gifts, among them was $5 from Mr. Smith. At a late hour the guests departed wishing Mrs. Smith many happy returns of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewey and son, John returned to their home at Bar Harbor Monday morning after spending the winter in town.

Frank Simpson is spending the week with friends at New Vineyard.

Miss Ada Smith went to Ogunquit last week to do table work during the summer.

Mrs. Clarence Brackley is gaining slowly from her recent surgical operation which was performed at Dr. Bell's hospital.

A large number of relatives were in town last Wednesday to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Herbert Cook. Although Mrs. Cook had been in a critical condition for some weeks it was a great shock to her friends to hear she had passed away Monday morning. The funeral was held at the Methodist church Wednesday at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Cook leaves besides her husband, three small children, one sister, Mrs. Thaxter Cook of Farmington and several nieces and nephews to mourn for her.

HOW PINEAPPLE JUICE AND PEP-SIN RELIEVES STOMACH TROUBLE.

The juice of pineapples contains ferments used by the stomach in the digestion of food. Pepsin is supplied by every stomach, but many times in insufficient quantities. These two when combined with the other ingredients in Natol Pineapple Pepsin Compound furnish to the stomach exactly the right proportion to digest the food. Strong laxatives are an injury and are not needed where the food is properly digested.

Natol Pineapple Pepsin Compound is not a patent medicine but a corrective and assistant in overcoming all stomach troubles. One bottle (50¢) is usually enough to give permanent relief. All druggists and Floyd E. Parker.

A COMBINATION THAT WORKS WELL

Doing Great Good This Spring.

A superlative blood-purifying medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, combined with a superlative iron tonic like Peptiron Pills, makes the ideal Spring Medicine.

No other medicine possesses such curative properties as these two restoratives working together.

They reach the impure, impoverished blood, and the run-down, exhausted system. They awaken the appetite, aid digestion, purify and vitalize the blood, give renewed strength to the whole body, produce sound, natural sleep, and a complete restoration to good health,—the greatest of all earthly blessings. Two dollars invested in these two medicines will bring better results than four dollars spent in any other course of treatment or attendance.

LITTLE JOHNNY SMILES

Why is little Johnny pleased?
Because he doesn't have to fill the coal-hod any more.
Is that all?

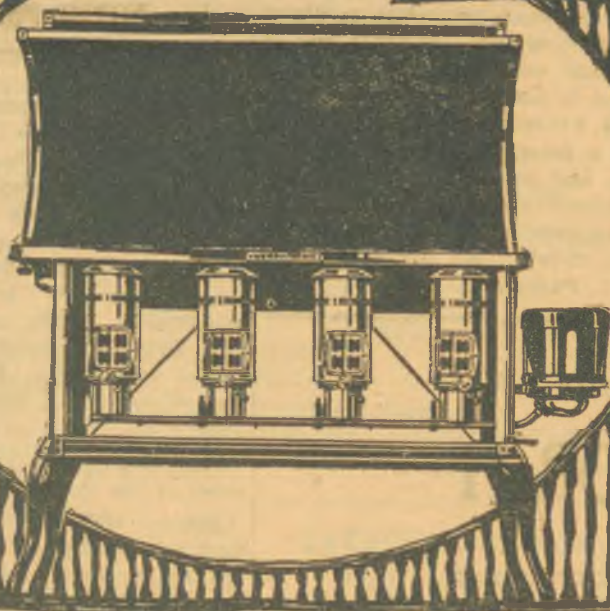

No. He doesn't have to fill the wood-box any more either, nor empty the ashes. You see, Johnny's mother has bought a New Perfection Oil Cook Stove. Instead of coal or wood, she burns Socony Kerosene Oil, and it costs her only six cents a day to cook for a family of six.

How nice for Johnny!

Look for the long blue chimney burner—that's what makes the New Perfection efficient and trouble-proof. The 1916 models have the new patented reversible glass reservoir and many other improvements. Sold in 1, 2, 3 and 4-burner sizes (by hardware, furniture and general stores) everywhere.

CURED OF WORMS

Familiar signs of worms in children are: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of lead tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grieting of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever. If your child shows any of these symptoms, start using Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller at once.

"My little son is gaining every day and I think more of Dr. True's Elixir than all other such medicines put together," writes Mrs. Ida Gagnon of Manchester, N. H.

Mrs. Martha Lander, who now bears the distinction of being the oldest woman in town, observed her 86th birthday on the 14th. There were present her son, W. V. Lander and his daughters, Pauline and Martha of Newton, Mass., her son, A. W. Lander, wife and little son, Wint who live near, and son, C. D. Lander and wife who reside with her. W. V. Lander and daughters presented 180 pinks and a dozen roses with green, cherries and other presents. Mrs. C. D. Lander made the cake with dates arranged for the birthdays of Mrs. Martha Lander, W. V. Lander and his girls, whose birthdays come very near together. Mrs. A. W. Lander made the cake with candles likewise arranged. Other remembrances were booklets and many post cards. It is pleasing to note that Mrs. Lander, notwithstanding her years, continues in excellent health taking a lively interest in all that pertains to her family and friends.

The Willing Workers Club of girls met at the Universalist vestry Friday to do fancy work preparatory to the fair. This was their first meeting and was under direction of Miss Lena Towsley and Mrs. Newell Batchelder. The members are Willmer Woodard, Marie Merchant, Agnes Porter, Apphia Stanley, Lou Carville, Alice Towsley, Laura Corson, Mrs. Ardene Sweetser and Emma Dolbier.

Children's Sunday will be observed at Grace Universalist church June 25th. Special care is being taken in arranging the program. The sermons are to be delivered by the young people and the music is to be furnished by a choir of children.

Gene Perry of Boston is visiting his mother, Mrs. Irene Perry.

F. A. Crossman returned Friday night from a business trip south. Saturday he went to Brunswick to be present at the graduation from Bowdoin of his son, Alfred, whom he expects will accompany him to Kingfield for a short visit.

Rufus Dyer has purchased of John Quint his farm which lies in the edge of Freeman a short distance from Kingfield. Mr. Dyer will take possession July 1st. Mr. Quint has not decided where he will locate.

The Sanders Engineering crew began mixing and pouring cement for the west end abutment of the new bridge Friday. Weather permitting the work will progress more rapidly from now on.

A social will be given in the Universalist vestry Thursday evening, June 22nd. Miss Lena Towsley will tell stories. Refreshments will be served.

Rufus Dyer and Peter McVoy have been relaying the wall at the south end front of the French Block.

About 30 members of Mt. Abram Lodge, F. & M., visited Davis Lodge of Strong Friday evening. These lodges exchange visits annually.

On the evening of June 26th the Chamber of Commerce will invite all citizens of the town to be present and discuss the program for the centennial. The co-operation of all is very necessary and earnestly desired.

THE BLOOD AND THE BRAIN

Among the many important physiological facts that should be as well known by people generally as they are by physicians, is the dependence of the brain for its proper action on the vitality of the blood. If this is impaired, the blood affords an imperfect stimulus to the brain, and, as a necessary consequence, languor and inactivity of the entire nervous system follows, and a tendency to headache or faintness makes its appearance.

It is probable that no other medicine ever produced has done more in the way of revitalizing the blood, making it pure and rich, than Hood's Sarsaparilla which should certainly be given a trial where there is any reason to believe that the blood is defective in quality or deficient in quantity.

to resume her work at Wentworth Hall, Jackson, White Mountains, where she will remain for the season. Her sister, Mrs. Frances Mitchell, who has been with her for several weeks stopping with their uncle, Geo. Richards, returned to her home in Lawrence, Mass., the same day.

French hall was crowded to witness the graduating exercises of the Kingfield High and Grammar schools, which were carried off in a pleasing manner with an interesting and varied program of music, essays and readings. The music for the entire program including the marches was furnished by the school orchestra, it being their first public appearance. Both the High and Grammar school orchestras gave two selections which were very creditable. The H. S. orchestra played for the marshalling of the school into the hall and out again at the close of the exercises. The instrumental duets by Wilma Woodard and Esther Alward, Erma Tufts and Sibyl Landers, Marie Merchant and Kendric Libby, piano and cornet, were well rendered and very pretty. The choruses by 72 pupils of the High and Grammar schools were fine, Miss Irwin being musical director. Beatrice Hutchins, Amy Parsons, Hildred Thompson, Cora Barden gave recitations and Asa Small a declamation which received much applause. The salutatory and essay was given by Dana Tufts, K. H. S., '16, and the valedictory and essay by Barbara Benson, K. H. S., '16. Both showed much careful preparation and were well delivered. The prayer was delivered by Rev. Russell O. Norris, pastor of Evangelical church. Diplomas were conferred on the two graduates of the High school and the 32 graduates of the Grammar school, 16 boys and 16 girls, by Superintendent L. P. Hosley whose remarks were concise and laudatory. All of the graduates were seated on the stage, the High school being at the extreme right. At the left of the hall were seated the members of the school board, Dr. O. W. Simmons, L. N. Wyman, Dr. J. E. Cartland, Supt. L. P. Hosley, and the teachers, Miss Eda Maxcey, Miss Annah Farnum, Miss Barbara Benson carried a beautiful bouquet of pinks, a gift of the Juniors. The ushers were L. P. Hosley, Percy Wilber, Coburn Butts, Philip Porter. Those composing the Grammar school orchestra were: Charlie Dolbier, drums; Kendric Libby, cornet; Cecil Knapp, violin; Emil Winter, piano. The High school orchestra were: Dale Potter, bass viol; Leland Page, cello; Deane Davis, cornet; Irving Stevens, violin; Charlie Dolbier, drums; Miss Irwin, piano. Emma Dolbier was the organist for the choruses. The dance which followed was well attended, most of the dancers being the young people and pupils of the schools. Peerless

The regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held Monday evening, the president, Dr. O. W. Simmons presiding. Additional centennial committees were announced: Provisions and lodgings, Orren Tufts, Earl L. Wing; committee on parade, R. A. Huse, with power to appoint assistants. H. G. Winter and E. E. Tufts were elected to membership. The committee on entertainment was instructed to repeat "The New Minister" at the time of the celebration. It was voted to instruct the president, Dr. Simmons to invite Governor Curtis to be present. Adjourned for one week.

A Timely Warning

ELEVEN well-known automobiles have advanced in price within the last ninety days.

The Maxwell Company has not increased their prices. We do not know what their plans are, but we do know and you know that materials entering into the construction of good automobiles now cost from 20 to 300 per cent more than they did six months ago.

Nothing is to be gained by delay. Much may be lost.

Not only may you lose several dollars in the purchase price, but you are sacrificing the enjoyment, the relaxation, the health-giving properties—everything, in fact, that makes motoring the favorite pastime of the nation.

We urge you to come in and investigate the Maxwell.

Or, we will refer you to any number of Maxwell owners and let them tell you their own story in their own way.

They will tell you what they have told us. That the Maxwell is good-looking—that it is powerful—that it is comfortable—that it is economical—in short, that it is the best investment they ever made. They will tell you more and they will tell you gladly and freely.

That's the way they feel toward us and the Maxwell Car.

Whatever you do, don't put this off. We have a few cars on hand and can take orders for immediate or future delivery—at present prices. If you can't come in today, phone us for a Maxwell demonstration.
