I Can Sell Your Property

No matter where located. Cash customers waiting for good farms and city property. List your property with me and secure a ready customer.

Every effort is made to bring about sales for the best interest of both buyer and seller.

I spare no expense in the way of advertising or otherwise, to get results, and charge nothing outside of the regular commission.

Property purchased for individuals or corporations, all transactions are considered confidential, and no publicity given them when clients so request.

Loans negotiated on good real estate at current rates of interest. Regular commission, no charge made for preparing papers, and no "extras" of any kind.

My contracts for the sale of property are of the simplest form and are eminently fair to the seller.

The success of any business is measured by results, my record for selling real estate is too well known to need comment. No deal is too great for me to handle successfully, and no sale so small as not to receive my best efforts and attention.

Write me to-day.

Calvin Austin emphatically denies the rumor that the Consolidated Steamship Lines had passed into the hands of J. Pierpont Morgan. "There is absolutely no truth in it," he says. "I have just returned from New York and am in a position to know and I do not hesitate to deny that rumor."

In a recent speech in New York Col.
Bryan had something to say about
"those who are crushed by poverty."
No such tone as this pervades President Roosevelt's Transatlantic proclamation. That is one reason why he was elected president. It is one reason why Col. Bryan can not be elected.

Some of the so-called worthless junk
left by the French excavators at Panama has been brought to life and is now giving excellent service. One of the old dredges, which had been lying in the Rio Grande river for more than 20 years, has been rebuilt at a moderate cost, and is now capable of excavating 120,000 cubic yards of material
a month, or as much as can be removed by four of the most modern 95-ton
dredge steam shovels.

One of the smallest and most perfectly formed infants of premature birth ever known to medical science lives contentedly in a diminutive incubator in the room of its mother, Mrs.
Edna Hess, wife of Charles Hess, a Chicago civil engineer. The baby was born Oct. 9, weighed little more than a pound and measured but 14 inches in length. Over his perfectly formed wrists his mother gently slipped her wedding ring. During the weeks that have elapsed the baby has gained only a few ounces and now weighs but a pound and a half.

The United States is now second in the relative order of war ship tonnage,
her total being 611,616 tons, as against 609,073 for France. On June 1 the war ship tonnage of the United States was 579,722, as against 609,955 for France.
These figures are given by the Navy Department and eliminate vessels more than twenty years old, unless they have been reconstructed and rearm-
ed since 1900; vessels not actually begun,
although authorized, transports, colliers, repair ships, torpedo depot ships, converted merchant vessels, vessels of less than 1,000 tons, except torpedo craft, or torpedo craft of more or less than fifty tons. France, however, is building more rapidly than the United States and when the vessels now building are completed, will again outrank
the United States in war ship tonnage, her tonnage then being 836,112 as against 771,768 for the United States.

ROOSEVELT ON ELECTION.

Thinks Results Much Better Than Five
Or Eight Year Ago.

President Roosevelt issued the following statement regarding the elections held Tuesday, Nov. 5:

"The President regards the results of the elections as extremely gratifying. He has sent a letter of hearty congratulations to Mr. Heney on the result in San Francisco. The victory in New Jersey was precisely what happened
nine years ago in the middle of President McKinley's administration. He had carried New Jersey by 88,000 and two years afterward the Republican candidate for governor had 4,500, the vote being cut down just as has happened in the case of Judge Port. As compared with the elections next preceding the last presidential election, we have done decidedly better than we did in 1903.

"Then, as on Tuesday, Rhode Island and Maryland went against us; but this year we have won a sweeping election in Kentucky for the first time since McKinley's first election and the victory in Massachusetts was also remarkable. The showing in Pennsylvania and Nebraska is equally good.
The showing in New York State as a whole was excellent, far better than
was the case prior to the last presidential election. That the result in Manhattan was due to purely local causes is shown by comparing it with the decisive triumphs in Brooklyn, Buffalo, Albany and in the State generally. This President's own home county of Nassau made a better showing than it ever has
in an off year.

"As a whole the showing has been improvement over what it was five years ago and eight years ago."

POLITICAL POINTS

Dr. Edward B. Taylor, the Good Government candidate for mayor of San Francisco, has been elected by a majority of 41,000 votes. The Union Labor candidate had 17,617 votes. Dr. Taylor's vote was 28,806.

The prohibitionists exult over the elections Tuesday in Delaware and Kentucky. In Kentucky, where 1,500-000 of the state's 2,230,000 population are in "dry" counties, a Republican governor, Augustus E. Wilson, has been elected on a temperance platform, and the Republican mayor-elect of Louisville, James F. Grinstead, has defeated Owen Tyler, who stood for the repeal of the Sunday closing law. The Delaware anti-liquor forces have won two of the three seats in the legislature, though the liquor interests still hold rural New Castle county and Wilmington, where they have more than $6,000,000 in capital invested. From Illinois, comes the report that more counties have joined the prohibition group of ten, and that over 3,000,000 people of that state are in the "dry" districts. Birmingham, Ala.,
called the "Pittsburgh of the South,"
voted the other day the local banishment of the rum traffic. Five states of the union are officially total abstinent. Thirty-four states have widely restrictive local option
statutes, so that the number of people resident in "dry" territory has increased from 3,500,000 in 1870, and from 18,355,000 in 1900, to 33,000,000 in 1907.
In all the states—with the exception of Pennsylvania, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Wyoming and Montana—prohibition sentiment is steadily gaining sweep and influence.
The American people consumed in 1906-1907 a total of 134,142,047 gallons of whisky, or 11,409,252 gallons more than in the previous fiscal year, besides an increased amount of beer. The internal revenue receipts from spirits were $156,336,902, an increase in the year ended June 30 of $12,942,846.

THE COUNTRY'S LIME.

Over Three Million Tons Produced Last
Year—Total Value Was $12,480,653.

The lime produced in the United States in 1906 amounted to 3,197,754
short tons, valued at $12,480,653, an increase over the production for 1905 (which amounted to 2,884,100 tons, valued at $10,941,680) of 213,654 tons in quantity and of $1,538,973 in value. The average price per ton in 1906 was $3.90, against $3.77 in 1905, an increase of $0.13.

These figures are reported by E. C.
Eckel, in an advance chapter from Mineral Resources of the United States,
Calendar Year 1906, published by the United States Geological survey and now ready for distribution.

The distribution of the production by states shows that Pennsylvania, with $2,000,000 tons valued at $7,857,745, has first place. Its nearest competitor, being Ohio, with 331,972 tons valued at $1,100-133. Maine, Wisconsin and Minnesota
each produced more than 200,000 tons,
with values approximating $1,000,000,
and Maryland, Illinois, Massachusetts,
New York and Vermont follow in the order named, with productions of more than 100,000 tons. West Virginia, Alabama and Connecticut each exceeded 90,000 tons, the value per ton incessing in almost every state, the producers giving as the cause the increased cost of fuel, supplies and labor.

Of the total production, 2,647,724 tons were sold for structural uses as building lime, hydrated lime, for sandlime
brick manufacture, for slag cement,
and for quicklime brick; 550,030 tons
were used in various chemical industries.

The number of lime burners reporting production was 102, and 861 of these, or over 90 per cent, gave information as to the character and quantity of fuel used. Coal alone was used by 549 makers; wood alone by 285;
shavings by 3; mixtures of wood and coal were used by 76; of coal and coke
by 9; coal and gas by 9; wood and coke
by 1; and wood, coal, and coke by 1; gas was used by 6, and oil by 5. The total fuel consumed included 481,241 cords of wood, 22,945 short tons of shavings, 501,081 short tons of coal, 408
tons of coke, 24,486 barrels of oil, and 429,578 cubic feet of gas, the gas including both natural and producer gas.

From the total fuel consumed the average fuel consumption per short ton of lime burned with different kinds of fuel has been determined, and using average values for heat units in the various fuels, the average efficiency of the limekilns of the country has been calculated. Comparing the theoretical quantity of heat required in burning a ton of lime, as stated in a volume he has recently published, with the quantity consumed in 1906, Mr. Eckel concludes that the average limekiln wastes almost exactly half of the fuel put into it.

MET IN TENNESSEE.

Doings of the National W. C. T. U.— Single Standard of Purity for Men and Women Alike.

The 34th annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union was called to order in Nashville, Tenn., Friday by its president, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens. Nearly 600
delegates were present, representing every state in the Union. After organization the president delivered her annual address.

"Two decades ago we came here, actuated by the same spirit, inspired by the same hope, upheld by the same faith which are ours today.

"Can we not take for this convention
the same motto that Frances E. Willard gave to the convention of 1887:
'There is nothing inexorable but love.'"
Her ministrations in years gone by had much to do with weakening the foundations of the liquor power and today
we rejoice that it cannot be said as of yore, 'King alcohol is enthroned in the realm of King Cotton.'

Each triumph over the liquor traffic gained in the Southland is of national value, and the temperance victories in Tennessee have gladdened the hearts of good men and women everywhere.

Georgia's struggle, Georgia's achievements will help Massachusetts, Illinois, California, and all other license states
to break away from the bondage of the legalized liquor traffic. Oklahoma's triumph is of greater import than can be easily comprehend. All hail to the new state, which enters statehood life
free constitutionally from a legalized liquor traffic. The lawless, defiant resistance of the liquor trade in Maine, Kansas and North Dakota to an unusually great degree has been overcome.

Maine still remains the most conspicuous target for the liquor men and their sympathizers, and undoubtedly more false statements are made in the ear-deavor to show that prohibition there is a failure than are made in connection with any other subject in any locality on the face of the globe."

The convention Monday defeated a proposed constitutional amendment which would prevent any national circulation from serving more than five consecutive terms.

Mrs. Carrie Nation made a brief talk and was kindly received.

The resolution committee report declares that the prohibition of liquor is a failure than are made in connection with any other subject in any locality on the face of the globe."

Of the 108 freshmen at Bowdoin 61
are church members—ten Roman Catholics, the rest Protestants.

SAVE THE WHITE PINE

The Government Proposes To Use all Efforts to Stop Extravagant Waste.

The position which the United States has held as a lumber-producing nation has, perhaps, been due more to white pine than to any other wood. The timber of this valuable tree which has played a most important part in the material development of the nation is fast disappearing and now it is as costly as the finest American hardwoods.

Rev. Edward Everett Hale, the chaplain of the Senate, who has always taken an interest in forestry, deplores the passing of white pine as our foremost wood, and tells how in his own lifetime he has seen the day when "the masts of every vessel that sailed the Seven Seas were made from New England grown pine; while today very little white pine is left in New England big enough to furnish a good sized spar." He tells also, to illustrate the increasing cost of the wood, that he ordered a set of book shelves on which the cabinet-maker made a price, and then asked whether they should be of mahogany or white pine.

The white pine production has shifted from New England to the Lake States, and Michigan was the leading lumber producing state for many years, from 1870 to 1890, with a supremacy based on white pine. In these two decades the cut was 160 billions of board feet, valued, at the point of production, at not less than two billions of dollars, or nearly half as much again as the value
derived from all the gold fields of California until their discovery in the late forties until the present. The rich forests of Michigan were once thought inexhaustible and lumbering continued in a most reckless manner for years.

Suddenly the people awoke to the fact that the thoughtless destruction of the trees had thrown 6,000,000 of acres on the delinquent tax list. These white pine barrens point to the terrible penalty of wasting the forest resources which should have been the heritage of all future generations.

An era of the increasing scarcity of white pine timber is given by the New York F. O. D. quotations on a basis of carload lots. "Uppers" of the best grade cost $97 to $114 a thousand board feet and the "selects" or next lower grade cost $79.50 to $99.50. Men who are not yet middle-aged remember the time when those grades could be purchased at $15 to $25 a thousand feet.
The present quotations on quartered
white oak, which are $75 to $80, offer another basis of comparison which indicates the condition of the market for white pine.

The best stands of this timber now in this country are in scattered sections in Minnesota, New England, and parts of Idaho. The species in Idaho is sometimes called the silver cholla. Some of country's best white pine is found on the Indian reservations in Minnesota and Wisconsin and scattered stands
are found in the states of Wyoming, Montana, Colorado, and one or two other states. At the present rate of cutting the tree will soon be practically a thing of the past. The small stands in the National forests are inconceivable, but they will be managed with the greatest conservatism by the government through the Forest Service, and through this method and practice of reforestation it may be hoped that the fine old tree will furnish timber for other generations.

LUSITANIA RECORDS.

Brings $100,000 in Gold and Knocks
46 Minutes Off Record.

With $100,000 of gold in her strong box and a new trans-Atlantic record
written in her log, the Cunard turbine Lusitania steamed past Sandy Hook lightship at 1:40 o'clock Friday morning. In one grand performance the great vessel broke her own world's record and brought to the relief of the New York money market $100,000 in gold in unprecedented time. The west bound trip was made approximately in four days, 19 hours and 52 minutes. The average speed on that trip was 24 knots an hour. The best day's run at that time was 617 knots. Though improving on every run the Lusitania has probably not yet met the government requirements which will entitle her to financial favor. To earn the government subsidy the greatest ever appropriated for a steamship the Lusitania is required to make a round trip at an hourly average of 24 3/4 knots. The steamer has one year within which to develop this speed and her performance since she was launched indicate that she will fulfill all promises in this line at an early date.

George E. Ball of Exeter, who served in Co. E, First Maine Heavy Artillery, takes exceptions to Allen J. Maker's claim of being the youngest soldier that enlisted from Maine during the Civil War. Mr. Ball states that he was born in Bangor, July 13, 1850, and enlisted Feb. 14, 1864, being 13 years old the previous July. Mr. Ball was wounded four times during his service. He says there is no particular honor in being the youngest soldier in the state
but the difference in the ages between himself and Comrade Maker is so great that he doesn't like to be left out.

On the Tombs in Westminster Abbey

Mortality behold and fear
What a chance of flesh is here!
Think I saw many royal bones
—deep within those haunts of stones—
Here they lie, had roins and lands,
Who now wait strength to stir their hands,
Where from their pulvis seal'd with dust
They pry a lb. 'in k'rat' as is no trust.
Here's an acre sown indeed
With th' richest, royalist seed
That the earth did e'er suck in Si'ce the first man died for sin!
Here the bones of birth have cried
"Though e'en a they were, as I was they died!"
Here are sands, ignoble things,
Dropt from the ruin'd sides of kings:
Here's a world of pomp and state
Buried in dust, once dead by fate.

Davies, Rising and Moore were to serve a lunch of sandwiches, coffee, cheese, doughnuts, tarts, etc. there would have been more than a bare quorum present.

The sum of $44 was realized at the sale of second-hand clothing, which will be used to buy coal, which together with what has already been given by friends, to keep the Old Ladies Home at a temperature desired by the family residing there. It is through the kindness of Charles H. Perry that for the third time so convenient a room has been obtained to hold the rummage sale this week.

Mrs. Jessie Smith, cashier at Hewitt's, was taken suddenly ill on Thursday and underwent a critical operation at Knox hospital. She was reported quite comfortable this morning. It is an odd coincidence that Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. William Wyllie of Warren, is receiving treatment at the hospital at the same time, having fallen from a chair and broken her shoulder some days ago.

A lecture on Esperanto will be given Tuesday evening, Nov. 19, at 7.45, in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, by Miss Alice Robinson of Washington, D. C. Miss Robinson is a fine linguist, and was a member of the first Esperanto group of students formed in America. She addresses the Monday Club in Camden Monday afternoon, and the following Wednesday the Whittier Club of Amesbury, Mass. Lecture free, and a cordial invitation is extended to all, Tuesday evening, at 7.45.

G. M. Titus of Union is making his first trip of the season through Warren, Thomaston, South Thomaston and St. George, buying furs. The pelts which he purchases are those of the mink, fox, muskrat, skunk and coon, and he agrees to pay higher prices for them than are being offered by any other fur-buyer traveling through this part of the state. Mr. Titus has been engaged in this business for nine consecutive years and has been the means of putting quite a large sum of money into circulation.

Labor Commissioner Thomas J. Lyons was in the city Thursday, having been down to Vinalhaven for his first visit since he became a permanent resident of Augusta. Mr. Lyons and his assistants are now very busy compiling the industrial returns which are to comprise the annual report to be issued early the coming year. It will be Commissioner Lyons' first annual report and is to be a notable one in many respects. Nearly 100 pages will be devoted to the industrial progress of the state, and the report will be a valuable one to the communities which respond to Mr. Lyons' appeal for facts and figures. Then, too, there will be an exhaustive department relating to the wages of Maine's school teachers, which have been received from 1600 teachers and will make extremely interesting reading for all who are concerned in the state's educational progress. The commissioner's inquiries in this line have created an immense amount of discussion this summer and the matter has been taken up at nearly every gathering of an educational nature. Already the wages of teachers have been advanced in many cities and towns.

Preselle has a beautiful companion with him on this trip. It is an English coach dog, presented to him by Col. Bob Crockett. Preselle on his last engagement expressed a desire to have one of these dogs, and Mr. Crockett magnanimously selected a handsome pup and shipped him to the Professor, whose delight was hard to express. The dog is named Colonel, in honor of the giver. The dog is said to be a good trooper and enjoys the road. He will be seen parading our streets during the engagement. A warm friendship exists between Preselle and Mr. Crockett.

Among the prominent state officials whose terms of office expire the coming year are the following: April 13, Associate Justice S. C. Strout of Portland; May 19, William A. Walker of Castine, trustee of state normal schools; May 18, Miss Clara M. Farwell of Rockland, trustee of Maine Industrial School for Girls; May 19, Dr. F. E. Freeman of Rockland, member of state board of veterinary examiners; Edward P. Mayo of Portland, inspector of prisons and jails; Nov. 1, William L. Scribner of Springfield, inspector of prison and jails; Nov. 29, Bernes O. Norton of Thomaston, warden of the state prison; S. W. Carr of Bowdoinham, insurance commissioner.

Spear & Co., 408 Main street, have an elegant new line of Picture Mouldings and will frame your Pictures in an up-to-date style.

Thorndike & Hix are remodeling their slaughter house and installing some modern apparatus.

Under the Eastern Steamship Co.'s reduced rates the fare from Rockland to Boston is but $1.75.

Two deer marked Simmons, one marked Orff, and a moose marked De Costa comprised the game arrivals from up-river Thursday night.

A new laundry is being built at the Knox hospital. This, together with other repairs and improvements, will necessitate an outlay of about $1500.

Hon. Byron Boyd, former secretary of state, was in the city Tuesday on business. Mr. Boyd is at the head of one of Maine's newly-organized corporations, the Boyd-Scribner Co. of Augusta, which is to engage in a general lumber business.

Frank H. Ingraham, attorney, is soon to move from Spear block into the office over the Rockland-Rockport Line Co., formerly occupied by W. H. Bird and Fred W. Wight. We shall be very glad to have Mr. Ingraham for one of our neighbors at the Brook.

The Crescent Beach cars will stop running after the last regular car Sunday night in spite of reports to the contrary. The Courier-Gazette makes this statement on the authority of the three receivers, S. T. Kimball, A. S. Littlefield and J. E. Moore.

The Herzog summer home at North Haven was closed this week and the family is back in New York for the winter, although Mr. Herzog returns to this city later on matters of business. The Herzog motor car will probably be stored here for the winter.

During the electrical storm at 12.50 one night last week a bolt entered the house of Dr. W. V. Hanscom on Park street burning out all the fuses and slightly shocking Mrs. Hanscom, who was in one of the upper rooms. Rather an unusual experience in the month of November.

The Maine Central has granted a special rate of $1.50 for the round trip to those who wish to attend the Maine-Bowdoin championship football game in Brunswick Saturday. There will probably be a delegation of 30 or more from Rockland, as this city is personally interested in both colleges. The excursionists can leave Rockland at 8 a. m. and return at 8.35 p. m.

Alfred L. Babb, formerly foreman in the Rockland Star office, and lately of Woonsocket, R. I., has bought the Machias Republican, a prosperous Washington county weekly newspaper. The plant has been owned for some years past by William B. Nash, who has abandoned business for the time being on account of the illness of his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Nash will spend the winter in California.

There was much enthusiasm among the Reds Wednesday night when the announcement was made that they had passed the Blues in the Epworth League's Mile-of-Pennies contest. The standing as reported at that time was as follows: Reds, 103 yards, 1 foot; Blues, 97 yards, 2 feet. There were a large gathering in the Methodist parlors to hear the result and an interesting program to while away the moments while the pennies were being counted. Included were the following: The Epworth League, singing; Clara Thomas, vocal solo; Mrs. Lillian S. Copping, Mrs. Elizabeth Healey, 87 years of age, told in an extremely interesting manner the story of the fall on the copper cent.

The annual fair of the Universalist church is to be held next Wednesday. This year it will be a Colonial fair, and among the attractions will be a gipsy camp with real gipsies, telling fortunes; a Chinese laundry, with two real Chinamen selling valuable packages; a sugar bowl in charge of sweet young ladies, selling dainty candy; apron table, underwear table and general utility table. Supper will be served from 6.30 to 7 on the European plan, consisting of chicken pies, ice cream, cake, pastry, etc. A fine program has been arranged for afternoon and evening. The decorations will be of Colonial character, as will the costumes worn by the participants. Always a money-maker the fair this year will be no exception.

WITH THE CHURCHES

Rev. Russell Woodman returns Saturday and will occupy his pulpit at the Episcopal church Sunday.

At the Congregational church Sunday there will be preaching by the pastor at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at noon.

At St. Peter's church Sunday there will be Holy Communion at 7.30 a. m. Matins, litany and sermon at 10.30 a. m. and evening at 7.30 p. m.

Universalist church: The pastor will preach at 10.30 a. m., subject, "The Natural and the Spiritual" and at 7.15 p. m., subject, "A Restful Life."

First Church of Christ, Scientist, corner of Cedar and Brewster streets, services Sunday 11 a. m. Subject of the lesson sermon, "Soul and Body." Children's Sunday school at 12.15. Wednesday evening meeting at 7.30 o'clock.

First Baptist Church: Preaching by the pastor at 10.30. Subject, "The Upward Life." Bible school at 12. Junior Christian Endeavor at 4. Evening service at 7. Subject, "Luminous Lives." The First Baptist church has voted to celebrate its 75th anniversary, which occurs in 1908. The celebration will be held some time in January.

The services will be as usual Sunday at the Littlefield Memorial church at 10.30 in the morning. Praise and social service in the evening at 7. Mrs. Margaret Kossuth will lead the Christian Endeavor service this Friday evening. The ladies' circle will meet with Mrs. William Larabee Monday evening. Weekly meetings as usual.

The Warren Baptist church has been made glad by the gift from the Hon. Moses R. Mathews of $1,000. The interest only to be used for the support of the gospel. The letter conferring the gift was read on Sunday, Nov. 10, before a meeting called for the purpose and it was accepted with many expressions of gratitude and appreciation.

The wind and tide surely are with us. All the worships of the Methodist church are expecting great things on Sunday. At 10.30 a. m. Robert Sutcliffe answers the question "Why Should I Join a Church?" Mrs. Copping sings Cowen's "Light in Darkness." Reception of members. Sunday school at 12 o'clock. It would occasion no surprise if one hundred are present at the League meeting. Topic "Personal Evangelism." Leader, Miss Mildred Staples. People's popular service at 7.15 p. m. Topic of address, "Facts." Mrs. Maurice Wilson sings "The Heavenly Story." Mr. Harry Sherman has the solo in the anthem. Silver offering. Anthems by large choir. Be punctual in your attendance.

THE Y. M. C. A.

In spite of the severe storm last Sunday a good sized crowd turned out to the Y. M. C. A. at 4 o'clock for the meeting. This Sunday, Nov. 17, R. Laird of Camden will be the speaker. The subject of Mr. Laird's discourse will be "Unfinished Journeys." Miss Edith Jeanne will be the soloist.

The supper to be held at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening is in charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary. It will be served in good style and will without doubt add a substantial sum to the piano fund. The gymnasium work is now in full swing and the classes held so far have been well attended. The basketball teams seem to be more skillful than ever and some good games may be expected as soon as the season opens.

The first of the season was held Wednesday evening. Several new members were present and the older members were out in strong force. The subject for discussion was: "Resolved, that the economic and industrial conditions of the United States demand the election of President Roosevelt." Gen. J. P. Cilley and W. T. Hovey took the affirmative and Frank H. Ingraham and Frank Crandon the negative. The discussion was from a wide standpoint and many shrewd and witty remarks were made. The affirmative argued that the President has already shown undoubted ability and that his firm hand on the rudder of the ship of state will be needed for some years to come. His fearlessness of trusts and combines and his independence of capitalists were also set out in glowing language. The negative side said that if Roosevelt should run and be elected he would find himself in the same condition in which Grant found himself. It also was claimed by them that there are several men in either of the great parties who would serve the country just as well and that while the President's attitude in regard to the trusts is to be commended it nevertheless has had an not altogether wholesome influence upon the industrial condition of the country.

Mrs. Vesta Pierce and Mrs. Lizzie Butler were hosts at the Reel Corps circle Thursday evening.

Dr. J. C. Hill, who has been confined to the house with a bad cold the past week, is again able to attend to his duties.

The O. E. S. Sewing Circle meets next Tuesday evening with Sister Mary Plenic supper served at 8 o'clock. All members of the order are invited, including the brothers.

The full score of the opera "Aida" is now at W. M. Purington's store. Members of the Wight Philharmonic Society are requested to procure the same prior to the rehearsal next Thursday. The price is $1.

There will be a social and buffet lunch at Kimball hall Tuesday evening, Nov. 15, also an entertainment by members of the Harcourt Co. All members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles are invited to be present.

One corner of the ground floor of the Burpee Furniture Co. has been partitioned off into an office, which is occupied by Undertaker Burpee and the bookkeeper, Almon Bird. The walls of the office are composed mainly of glass, admitting an abundance of light.

Two hundred persons sat down to an appetizing New England boiled dinner served by the Universalist ladies Wednesday noon. The committee in charge comprised the ladies of the Colonial fair committee, and they were also housekeepers at the circle Wednesday evening.

The fair at the West Meadow chapel was held last week and although the dull weather kept quite a number away the attendance was much larger than expected. The literary exercises were of a high order and gave excellent satisfaction. The receipts were over $30 and the management was pleased and extend thanks to all who assisted.

The supper from 5 to 7 Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. rooms ought to attract a large crowd of the hungry. The bill of fare will include a large variety of delicious food and you can eat all you want for 25 cents, served by pretty waiters. The proceeds go to the new piano fund.

A UNIQUE LECTURE.

"Our Flag and Other Flags" is the subject of the lecture by Rev. W. J. Day, to be given in the First Baptist church, Monday evening, Nov. 18, under the auspices of the Baptist Choral Association. The following testimonials speak for themselves:

The People's Popular Lecture Course of South Paris has been conducted for several years. One of the most interesting and instructive lectures ever given here was on "The Flag," by Rev. W. J. Day, of Rockland. The exhibit of silk flags was very attractive and the descriptions were of great merit. I wish every lover of our country could hear this lecture.—Howard A. Clifford, pastor of the Methodist church, South Paris, Me.

The people of Jefferson were given a treat on the evening of December 13 in a lecture by Rev. W. J. Day of Rockland, on "The Flag." It was the first lecture in the course for the winter given in the Grange hall. The lecture was interesting, instructive and full of enthusiasm, and repeatedly brought cheers from the audience. It was a masterly presentation of the subject, and is conceded to be the finest lecture that has been delivered in this place for a number of years.—Rev. A. A. Bennett, pastor of Baptist church.

Since the first of the year the state treasurer has received $400 in fines as the result of Sturgis enforcement. Of this sum $300 came from Knox county.

Red Saunders

... By ...
HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHT, 1902, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY

This is the famous story of Red Saunders, big Red, tough Red of the plains and mines. We shall follow this expansive man through his days of toughness and sinfulness up to the great day of his life, the day that shall bring the metamorphosis of Red. This trampster will not give the story away by indicating how this transformation shall come about—whether through the remorse or repentance of Red, his conviction of sin, his fear of the damnation of the wicked, his yearnings for the peace that passeth understanding, or whether it shall be the love of woman that shall bring this giant to his knees and make him a little child. The trampster will only promise that this conversion of Red shall be one of the most interesting and delicious episodes in all fiction, which the reader will enjoy and doubtless remember through all the years of his life.

CHAPTER I.

REDDY and I were alone at the lake beds. He sat outside the cabin leaning a leather hat, hand-eight strands and the repeat figure—an art that I never could master.

I sat inside with a one-pound package of smoking tobacco beside me and newspapers within reach, rolling the day's supply of cigarettes.

Reddy stopped his story long enough to say, "Don't use the 'Princess' Slipper, Kid—that paper burns my tongue—take the 'Granger'; there's plenty of it."

Well, as I was saying, I'd met a lot of the boys up in town this day and they threw as many as two drinks into me; I know that for certain, because when we took the parting dose I had a glass of whisky in both my right hands and had just twice as many friends as when I started.

When I pulled out for home I felt mighty good for myself—not exactly looking for trouble, but not a-going to dodge it any, either. I was warbling "Idaho" for all I was worth—you know how pretty I can sing? Cockeyed Peterson used to say it made him forget all his troubles. "Because," says he, "you don't notice trifles when a man bats you over the head with a two by four."

Well, I was enjoying everything in sight, even a little drizzle of rain that was driving by in rags of wetness when a flatfaced swabby at Fort Johnson halted me.

Now, it's a dreadful thing to be butted to death by a nappy goat, but for a full sized cowpuncher to be held up by a soldier is worse yet.

To say that I was not under the collar don't give you the right idea of the way I felt.

"Why, you cross between the last rose of summer and a hobnobbed flush," says I, "what d'yer mean? What's got into you? Get out of my daylight, you dog robber, or I'll walk the little horse round your neck like a three ringed circus. Come, pull over freight!"

It seems that this swabby had been checked out of the third story of Frenchy's dance emporium by Brone Thompson, which threw a great respect for our profane into him. Consequently he wasn't fresh, like most soldiers, but answers me as polite as a tin horn gambler on pay day.

Says he: "I just wanted to tell you that old Frothead and forty braves are somewhere between here and your outfit, with their war paint on and blood in their eyes, cussing and whooping it to beat hell with the blower on, and if you get tangled up with them I reckon they'll give you a hair cut and shampoo, to say nothing of other trimmings. They say they're after the Crows, but it's a ten dollar bill against a last year's bird's nest that they'll take on any kind of trouble that comes along. They hear's mighty bad, they state, and when an Injun's heart gets spoiled the disease is d-d catching. You'd better stop awhile."

"Now, cuss old Frothead and you, too!" says I. "If he comes cussing hopping on my reservation I'll kick his pants on top of his scalp lock."

"All right, pardner," says he, "it's your own funeral. My orders was to bait every one going through. But I ain't a whole company, so you can have it your own way. Only if your friends have to take you home in a coal scuttle, don't blame me. Pass, friend!"

So I went through the officers' quarters four miles an hour, letting out a string of yells you might have heard to the coast, just to show my respect for the United States army.

about as happy as a small yaller dog at a bobcat's carcass.

Some fellers can run in a rimecabo that'd make the hair stand up on a buffalo robe and get away with it just like a nice, but that ain't me. If I sing a little mite too far in the cellar, down comes the roof a-top of me. So it was this day. Old Johnny Hardluck socked it to me, same as usual.

Gosh a'mighty! The liquor died in me after awhile, and I went sound asleep in the saddle and woke up in the middle of old Frothead's gang, the drums "boom blipping" and those forty odd red tigers "hyah-hyaling" in a style that made my skin get up and walk all over me with cold feet.

How in blazes I'd managed to slip through those Injuns I don't know. 'Twould have been a wonderful piece of scouting if I'd meant it. You can most always do any darn thing you don't want to do. Well, there I was, and, oh, doctor, but wasn't I in a lovely mess! That war song put a crimp into me that Jack Frost himself couldn't take out.

It was as dark as dark by this time. The moon just stuck one eye over the edge of the prairie, and the rest of the sky was covered with cloud. A little light came from the Injuns' campfire, but not enough to ride by, and, besides, I didn't know which way I ought to go.

Says I to myself, "Bilby Saunders, you are the champion all around, old fashioned fool of the district. You are a jackass from the country where cars less'n three foot long are curiosities. You sassed that poor swabby that wanted to keep you out of this, footting your hezoo like a man peddling soap, but now it's up to you. What are you going to do about it?" and I didn't get any answer neither.

Well, it was no use asking myself conundrums out there in the dark when time was so scarce. So I wraps my hankercher around Laddy's nose to keep him from talking horse to the Injuns' nose and prepared to sneak to where I'd rather be.

Laddy was the quickest thing on legs in that part of the country—out of a mighty spry little Pinto mare by an thoroughbred Kentucky horse—and I knew if I could get to the open them Injuns wouldn't have much of a chance to take out my stopper and examine my works—no much. A half mile start, and I could show the whole Sioux nation how I wore my hair.

I cut for the place where the Injuns seemed thinnest, lifting myself up till I didn't weigh fifteen pound and breathing only when necessary. We got along first rate until we reached the edge of the Injun camp, and then I stuck my foot in a gopher hole and wallowed around there like a whale trying to climb a tree.

Some darn cuss of an Injun threw a handful of hay on the fire, and as it blazed up the whole gang spotted me. I unlimbered my gun, sent the Irons into Laddy, and we began to walk.

I didn't like to make for the ranch, as I knew the boys were short handed, so I pointed north, praying to the good Lord that I'd hit some kind of settlement before I struck the north pole.

Well, we left those Injuns so far behind that there wasn't any fun in it. I snaked up, patting myself on the back, and as the trouble seemed all over I was just about to turn for the ranch when I heard horses galloping and as the moon came out a little I saw a whole raft of redskins aborning up a draw not half a mile away. That knocked me slabsided. It looked like I got the wrong ticket every time the wheel turned.

I whooped it up again, swearing I wouldn't stop this deal short of a dead sure thing. We flew through space, Laddy pushing a hole in the air like a scared coyote making for home and mother.

A-ways down the valley I spotted a little shack sitting all alone by itself out in the moonlight. I headed for it, hollering murder.

A man came to the door in his underriding.

"Hi, there! What's eating you?" he yells.

"Injuns coming, pardner! The country's just oozing Injuns! Better get a wiggle on you!"

"All right, settle alone. I'll fetch up to you," says he.

I looked back and saw him hustling out with his saddle on his arm. "He's a particular kind of cuss," I thought. "Barbecue would suit most people."

Taking it a little easier for the next couple of miles, I gave him a chance to pull up.

We pounded along without saying anything for a spell, when I happened to notice that his teeth were clattering.

"Keep your nerve up, pardner!" says I. "Don't you get scared—we've got a good start on 'em."

He looked at me kind of reproachful.

"Scared be darned!" says he. "I reckon if you was riding around this nice cool night in your drawers, your teeth 'ud rattle some too."

I took a look at him and saw, sure enough, while he had hat, coat and boots on, the pants was missing. Well, if it had been the last act, I'd have had to laugh.

"You'd find 'em nobow," says he. "Hunted high and low, jack, and the game—just comes to my mind now that I had 'em rolled up and was sleeping on 'em. I don't like to go around this way—I feel as if I was two men and one of 'em hardly respectable."

"Did you bring a gun with you?" He gave me another stare. "Why, pardner, you must think I have got a light and frivolous disposition," says he, and with that he heaves up the great grandmule of all the six shooters I ever did see. It made my forty-five long look like something for a kid to cut its teeth on. "That's the best gun in this country," he went on.

"Looks as if it might be," says I. "Has the country that cast it gone out of business? I'd like to have one like it, if it's as dangerous as it looks."

"When I have any trouble with a man," says he, "I don't want to go peeking at him with a putty blower, just irritating him and giving him a little skin complaint here and there. I want something that'll touch his conscience."

He had it, for a broadside from that battery would scatter an elephant over a township.

We loped along quiet and easy until sun up. The Grindstone Buttes lay about a mile ahead of us. Looking back, we saw the Injuns coming over a rise of ground "way in the distance."

"Now," says my friend, "I know a short cut through those hills that'll bring us out at Johnson's. They've got enough punchers there to do the United States army up—starved and blued. Shall we take it?"

"Sure," says I. "I'm only wandering round the part of the country is here—if it was anywhere else I'd be just as glad."

So in we went. It was the steepest and narrowest kind of a canyon, looking as if it had been cut out of the rock with one crack of the ax. I was just thinking, "Gee whiz, but this would be a poor place to get snugged in," when bang! says a rifle right in front of us, and m-e-a-r-r! goes the bullet over our heads.

We were off them horses and behind a couple of chunks of rock sooner than we hoped for, and that's saying a good deal.

"Cussed poor shot, whoever he is," says my friend. "Some Injun heez, as he howl 'til the rest come up, I presume."

"That's about the size of it—and I'd like to make you a bet that he does it, too, if I thought I'd have a chance to look."

"Oh, you can't always tell—you might lose your money," says he, kind of thoughtful.

"I wouldn't mind that half as much as winning," says I. "But, on the square, do you think we can get out? I'll jump him with you if you say so, although I ain't got what you might call a passion for suicide."

"Now you hold on a bit," says he. "I don't know but what we'd have done better to stick to the horses and run for it, but it's too late to think of that. Jumping him is all foolshness: he'd sit behind his little rock and pump lead into us till we wouldn't tilt in brine—and we can't back out now."

He talked so calm he made me kind of mad. "Well," says I, "that cuss let's play 'Simon says thumbs up' till the rest of the crowd comes."

"There you go," says he. "Just like all young fellers—gettin' hostile right away if you don't fall in with their plans. Now, sonny, you keep your temper and watch me play cushion caroms with our friend there."

"Meaning how?"

"You see that block of stone just this side of him with the square face toward us? Well, he's only covered in front, and I'm a-going to shoot against that face and ketch him on the glance."

"Great if you could work it," says I. "But Lord!"

"Well, watch," says he. Then he squinched down behind his cover, so there waiting to pass in his checks. My pardner threw the muzzle of his gun up. "D-n it!" says he. "I can't do it. He's game from the heart out. But the Lord have mercy on his sinful soul if he and I run foul of each other on the prairie again!"

Then we shacked along down to Johnson's and had breakfast.

"What became of Frothead and his gang?" Oh, they sent out a regiment or two and gathered him in—about twenty-five soldiers to an Injun. No, no harm was done. Me and my pard were the only ones that bucked up against them. Chink out a cigarette, Kid; my lungs ache for want of a smoke.

CHAPTER II.

HOW did I come to get myself disliked down at the Chanta Seechee? Well, I'll tell you."

said Reddy, the cow puncher. "The play came up like this. First they made the Chanta Seechee into a stock company; then the stock company put all their brains in one think, and says they, 'We'll make this man Jones superintendent, and the ranch is all right at once.' So come Jones from Boston, Mass., and what he didn't know about running a ranch was common talk in the country, but what he knew about running a ranch was too much for one man to carry around. He wasn't a bad hearted fellow in some ways, yet on the whole he felt it was an honor to a looking glass to have the pleasure of reflecting him."

Looking glass? I should say he had! And a bureau and a bootblackening jagger and a feather bed and curtains used to open their eyes when they saw that room. "Hello-o-o!" they'd say. "Whose little birdie have we here? Never mind, Jones, he said the feller were a rank lot of barbarians. He said it to old Neighbor Case's face, and he and the old man came together like a pair of hens, for Jones had said in spite of his faults. That was a fight worth traveling to see. They covered at least an acre of ground: 'Never mind, you can't win with us and cross swipes; they hollered, they jumped and they pitched, and when the difficulty was adjusted we found that Jones's coat was painfully ripped up the back and Neighbor Case had lost his false teeth. One crowd of fellers patted Jones on the back and said, 'Never mind, you can't win with us, you've looked a man twice your size,' and the other comforted Neighbor, saying, 'Never mind, Case, you can ease your mind by thinking how you headed up that rooster and he fifty pounds lighter than you.'"

"Jones put on airs after that. He felt he was a hard citizen. And then he felt the air withered to speak harshly to Arizona Jenkins when Old Dry Belt was in liquor. Then he got roped and dragged through the slough. He cried like a baby while I helped him scrape the mud off, but not because he was scared! No, sir! That little runt was full of blood and murder."

"You mark me now, Red," says he, the tears making his big land water courses through the mud on his cheeks. "I shall fire upon that man the first time I see him. Will you lend me your revolver?"

"Lord, Jones, see here," says I. "Don't you go making any such billy-goat play as that. Keep his wages until he apologizes. Put something harmful in his grub, but as you have respect for the Almighty's handiwork, as represented by your person, don't pull a gun on Arizona Jenkins. That's the one thing he won't take from nobody."

"D-d-darn him!" snarled Jones. "I ain't afraid o-o-o of him," and the strange fact is that he wasn't. Well, I saw he was in such a taking that he might do something foolish and get hurt, so I goes to Arizona, and says I, 'You ought to apologize to Jones. What Zony replied ain't worth repeating. And you along with him,' he winds up."

"Now, footer like you that can shoot straight with either hand and you ain't got generosity enough to ease the feelings of a poor little devil that's fair busting with shame!"

"Well, what did he want to tell me to shut up my mouth for? cried Old Dry Belt. 'Men have died of less than that!'"

"Aw, shucks, Zony," I says. "A great, big man like you oughtn't to come down on a little fellow who's all thumb back side and left foot."

"That be blued," says he, only he says it different. "I'd like to know what business such a sawed off has to come and tell a full grown man like me to shut up his mouth. He'd ought to stay in a little man's place and talk sassy to people his own size. When he comes shooting off his big mouth to a man that could swaller him whole without loosening his collar it's impudence; that's what it is."

"Well, as a favor to me," I says. "Well, if you put it in that way—I don't want to be small about it."

"So Arizona goes up to Jones and sticks out his hand. 'There's my hand, Jones,' he says. 'I'm mighty sorry you told me to shut up my mouth,' says he. 'So am I,' says Jones heartily, not taking in the sense of the words, but feeling that it was all in good intention. So that was all right, and I stood in with the management in great shape for fixing up the fuss so pleasant. But it didn't last. They say nothing lasts in this world. There's some pretty solid rocks in the Coeur d'Alene, however, and I should like to wait around and see if they don't hold out, but I'll never make it. I've been in too much excitement."

"Well, the next thing after Jones got established was that his niece married some out during vacation and pay him a visit. 'Jerusalem!' thinks I, 'Jones's niece!' I had visions of a thin, yaller, sour little piece, with mouse colored hair plunked down on her head and an unkind word for everybody. Jones took me about her being in college, and then I stuck a pair of them nose grabber specks on the picture. I can stand most any kind of a man, but if there's anything that makes the tears come to my eyes it's a botch of a woman. I know they may have good qualities and all that, but I don't like 'em, and that's the whole of it. We gave three loud groans when we got the news in the bull pen. And I cussed for ten minutes straight, without repeating myself once, when it so fell out that the members of the board rolled out our way the day the girl had to be sent for, and Jones couldn't break loose, and your and was elected to take the buckboard and drive twenty miles to the railroad. I didn't mind the going out, but that twenty miles back with Jones's niece! Say, I foamed like a soda water bottle when I got into the bull pen and told the boys my luck.

"Well," says Kyle Lambert, 'that's what you might expect; your sins have found you out.'"

"No, they ain't; they've caught me at home as usual," says I. "Well, I'll give that eastern blossom an idea of the quality of this country, anyhow."

So I tugs myself up in the awfullest rig I could find; strapped two cat-bridge bolts to me, every hole filled, and a gun in every holster; put candle grease on my mustache and twisted the ends up to my eye winks; stuck a knife in my hatband and another in my boot; threw a shotgun and a rifle in the buckboard and pulled out quick through the coil pens before Jones could get his peeps on to me.

"Well, sir, I was jarr'd willless when I laid my eyes on that young woman. I'd had my mind made up so thorough as to what she must be that the facts knocked me cold. She was the sweetest, handsomest, healthiest female I ever see. It would make you believe in fairy stories again just to look at her. Well, here was all the things a man ever wanted in this world rolled up in prize package. Tall, round and soople, limber and springy in her action as a thoroughbred and with something modest yet kind of daring in her face that would remind you of a good, honest boy. Red, white and black were the colors she flew. Hair and eyes black, eyes and lips red, and the rest of her white. Now, there's a pile of difference in them colors; when you say 'red,' for instance, you ain't cleaned up the subject by a sight. My top knot's red, but that wasn't the color of her cheeks. No; that was a color I never saw before nor since. A rose would look like a tomatar alongside of 'em. Then, too, I've seen black eyes so hard and shiny you could cut glass with 'em. And again that wasn't her style. The only way you could get a notion of what them eyes were like would be to look at 'em; you'd remember 'em all right if you did. Seems like the good Lord was kind of careless when he built Jones, but when he built her, he built her right. I'd had my mind made up that she'd be a square with the family."

"I ain't what you might call a man that's easily disturbed in his mind, but I know I says to myself that first day, 'If I was ten year younger, young lady, they'd never lug you back east again.' Gee, man! There was a time when I'd pulled the country up by the roots but I'd have had that girl! I notice I don't fall in love so violent as the years roll on. I can squint my eye over the cards now and say, 'Yes, that's a beautiful hand, but I reckon I'd better stay out,' and lay 'em down without a sigh, whereas when I was a young feller if I had three aces in sight I'd run the rest of the gathering right out of their foot leather—or get caught at it. Usually I got caught at it, for a man couldn't run the mint long with the kind of luck I have."

"Well, I was plumb disgusted with the fool way I'd rigged myself up, but, fortunately for me, Durrough, the station man, came out with the girl. 'There's Reddy, from your ranch, now, ma'am,' says he, and when he caught sight of me: 'What's the matter, Red? Are the Injuns up?'"

KEEP YOUR BLOOD CLEAN

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But this way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, cases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

GLENCOVE

Frank Achorn has moved from Rockport and will make his home the coming winter with his son, Fred E. Achorn.

Mrs. Dexter Clough of Portland was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Jameson, 1st, last week.

Ed Rich spent a few days in Hope last week.

Mr. Crandon and son Frank have moved from Rockville and will occupy the Lincoln Young house.

Geo. K. Jameson has two young foxes.

There was no meeting Sunday.

The Study Club met with Mrs. L. S. Henderson, Wednesday, Nov. 13. An excellent paper, subject, "Shaker Colonies," prepared and read by Mrs. A. T. Coyell, was listened to with much interest by the club members. She spoke of their religion, manners, mode of living, customs, etc., and exhibited some fine pictures of the Shaker people, showing their plain costumes, severe way of combing the hair, and their quaint caps. Some specimens of their handiwork were also exhibited. The club received a special invitation from the 20th Century Club of Rockport to present at an open meeting of their club at the home of Mrs. Oliver Shepherd, Friday, Nov. 15. Mrs. Estelle Merrill of Cambridge, Mass., will speak on the subject "The Literature of the Bible." The next meeting of the club will be held Dec. 11 with Mrs. F. H. Ingraham. Mrs. Henderson will read a paper, subject, "Lime Industry."

The Grange Sewing Circle met at the Grange hall Monday, Nov. 11. The afternoon was spent in tacking a comfortable. Supper was served at 6.30. The following committee were appointed by the president for the apron sale Dec. 22: Mrs. Mame Larabee, aprons; Mrs. Malinda Stevens, fancy bags; Mrs. Louise Ingraham, fancy work; Mrs. Nellie Crockett, grab bag; Super committee, Mrs. Laura Packard, with assistants.

We are all glad to hear that Mrs. Dana Sherer is improving from her late illness.

Miss Lillie Dodge, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. W. R. Hall, has gone to Ellsworth, where she will be the guest of her mother until after Thanksgiving.

Three new members have applied for membership in the Business Men's association and the first of the series of games of pool were played for the tournament Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Carleton leave this week for Palm Beach, Fla., to spend the winter.

The B. Y. P. U. held a social in the Baptist vestry on Wednesday evening of this week. Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening was passed.

The building used by the Eastern Supply Co. suffered from the fire on Monday last quite severely. Although many thought it a total loss it is found that $1000 will about cover the loss, it being mainly the fittings that were damaged. The machinery suffered very little as it was well taken care of early the next morning. The building will at once be repaired and the business resumed.

F. E. Morrow left Tuesday for Boston to select goods for the Christmas holidays for the Eastern Supply Co., and will return the last of the week.

Miss Grace Nash has resumed her position as operator in the New England Telephone Co., having spent a two weeks' vacation with her mother, Mrs. Achorn, in Waldoboro.

The D. P. Ordway Plaster Co. have in their employ now about 90 girls and everything is going at full speed, getting ready for the winter months.

Argo Red Salmon can be served on any table. It can be served as it comes from the can, or prepared in many palatable dishes.

Fred Andrews and son Frank of Riverside, Calif., were at Mr. O. P. Shepherd's Wednesday.

Miss Gladys Jones of Rockland has been the guest of Miss Mabel Pottle this week.

Mrs. T. S. Prince of Camden is visiting her daughter, Mrs. B. H. Par.

Mrs. Edwina Shibles Leach died Wednesday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Shibles, after an illness of several months.

Rev. G. Howard Newton and family were guests at the home of Edmund Coffin, Indian Island, Monday.

The ladies of the Baptist Sewing Circle are planning to have their annual supper and sale of aprons and fancy articles at the church parlor Wednesday, Dec. 4, afternoon and evening.

Henry Bohndell & Son are putting in new masts and resetting rigging on schooner Geo. M. Grant of New Haven, Conn.

Lester Havener has returned from Boston and is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Havener.

There will be a basketball game at the Y. M. C. A. rooms this Friday evening, Belfast High school vs. Y. M. C. A. team.

Fifteen of our young people very pleasantly surprised Mrs. Matthew Greenlaw Wednesday evening at her home in Rockland, and presented her with a set of table linen. During the evening refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and the pleasure of the occasion was marred only by the fact that Mrs. Greenlaw is soon to leave for Charleston, Me., with her father, Rev. W. W. Carver, who during his recent pastorate here made many friends, who regret that duty calls him to another field of labor.

MRS. STEVENS RE-ELECTED.

The National W. C. T. U. in session at Nashville this week, re-elected Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens as president and Miss Anna Gordon as recording secretary. A resolution urging that football be stopped was voted down, after an interesting argument.

The Courier-Gazette goes into a larger number of families in Knox county than any other paper published.

CAMDEN

Miss Grace Hall has a fine position as stenographer for the register of deeds, Clarence Paul, of Rockland.

Mrs. Nellie Kneeland passed through here on Wednesday for her home in Somerville, having spent the summer and fall at her cottage at Temple Heights.

Miss Millie Bump entertained the ladies of the Friday Reading Club on Friday of this week at her home on Spring street. The club are reading of the "Lakes of Killarney."

Mrs. M. A. Willey left this week for Rockland, where she will be the guest of Mrs. Harry Robbins.

Mr. and Mrs. William Grinnell left Wednesday of this week for Spokane Falls, Wash., where they will visit their son. They expect to remain West until May.

The Senior class, C. H. S., will hold a whist at the Grange hall Friday evening of this week. All those interested in whist should avail themselves of this opportunity, and help the class along.

The Christian Science Lecture given last Tuesday evening in the opera house was much enjoyed by all who attended. The speaker, Mrs. J. E. Leonard, our high school principal, who made some very interesting remarks relative to Christian Science and the speaker Frank H. Leonard of Brooklyn, N. Y.

On next Tuesday evening at the Congregationalists vestry the young people of the church are to give "The Heirless." These socials and entertainments are always up to a high standard and should be well attended.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Alice Johnson Curtis to Frank Erastus Mansfield on Monday Nov. 11 at Hollywood, Calif. Miss Curtis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Curtis. Mr. Mansfield is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Mansfield of Hollywood, Calif. We extend congratulations.

Three new members have applied for membership in the Business Men's association and the first of the series of games of pool were played for the tournament Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Carleton leave this week for Palm Beach, Fla., to spend the winter.

The B. Y. P. U. held a social in the Baptist vestry on Wednesday evening of this week. Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening was passed.

The building used by the Eastern Supply Co. suffered from the fire on Monday last quite severely. Although many thought it a total loss it is found that $1000 will about cover the loss, it being mainly the fittings that were damaged. The machinery suffered very little as it was well taken care of early the next morning. The building will at once be repaired and the business resumed.

F. E. Morrow left Tuesday for Boston to select goods for the Christmas holidays for the Eastern Supply Co., and will return the last of the week.

Miss Grace Nash has resumed her position as operator in the New England Telephone Co., having spent a two weeks' vacation with her mother, Mrs. Achorn, in Waldoboro.

The D. P. Ordway Plaster Co. have in their employ now about 90 girls and everything is going at full speed, getting ready for the winter months.

Argo Red Salmon can be served on any table. It can be served as it comes from the can, or prepared in many palatable dishes.

The marriage of William D. Hall and Miss Letitia Hatch will take place at the bride's home in Islesboro Saturday. Mrs. C. F. Wood has returned from a visit in Amherst, Mass., where she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. H. DeP. Smith.

Miss Elizabeth Thompson has returned home after a visit of several months in Boston, guest of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Lynn.

The ladies of the Rebekah Circle gave a most successful whist party in the banquet room of Odd Fellows' hall Tuesday evening. The walls were banked with evergreen trees, streamers of green crepe paper were festooned from the chandeliers, while over the entrance national flags were attractively draped. There were 17 tables of whist players, prizes being won as follows: First lady's, a china cracker jar, Mrs. W. G. Butman; second lady's, a box of handkerchiefs, Mrs. H. B. Fales; third lady's, olive dish, Mrs. Ray Eaton; first gentlemen's, a loving cup, W. W. Smith; second gentlemen's, a box of handkerchiefs, E. T. G. Rawson; third gentlemen's, Oliver B. Lovejoy. Refreshments of punch, olives, fancy crackers, etc. were served. The committee in charge of the whist party were as follows: Decorating, Mrs. G. T. Wade, chairman; Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Mrs. J. S. Jenkins and Mrs. Charles H. Achorn; refreshments, Mrs. Nettie Bragg, Mrs. John Simpson, Mrs. J. E. Leach, Mrs. O. B. Lovejoy, Mrs. S. H. Allen, Mrs. Ray Eaton and Mrs. J. J. Veazie. A neat little sum was netted by the entertainment, in addition to the enjoyment derived from it.

The Old Maids' Club was entertained by one of its members, on Greenville street, Wednesday evening. The time was spent in sewing, and old maid's gossip. Light refreshments were served, and a very pleasant evening enjoyed by all.

Miss Neva Chase left Wednesday for Boston, where she will receive treatment at Dr. Goldthwaite's hospital. She was accompanied by Mrs. S. P. Hincley and daughter, who will make a week's visit with Mrs. Hincley's daughter Edna, who is studying violin at Boston Conservatory.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Pease of Appleton have been in this city and Thomaston a portion of the week. Mr. Pease's father, who is a well known Appleton merchant, celebrates his 80th birthday Saturday.

There was a very large attendance at the Congregational church Wednesday evening and the tables were by no means adequate to accommodate all the guests at one sitting. The housekeepers were Mrs. H. A. Butman, Mrs. S. H. Webb and Mrs. J. H. Quint. They provided a harvest supper which was evidently much to the liking of all who patronized it. The entertainment, through unavoidable causes, was much briefer than had been intended, but the quality fully made up for lack of quantity. Thomas P. Hayden sang "The Gondolier Song," which was so liberally applauded that he sang an encore number "The Skipper of St. Ives." Miss Laura Grentham accompanied. Miss Laura Wadsworth's humorous readings were very entertaining, particularly her rendering of Holman F. Day's "Deeding of the Farm." A treat awaited the assemblage in the form of a solo, "Because I Love Thee," sung by Fred C. Stewart, principal of the high school, followed by a second song on recall. Mr. Stewart is a tenor, but his voice has a baritone quality besides that gives him wide range. He sings with great appreciation and is a valued addition to the musical circles of our city, as can also be said of Mrs. Stewart, who played his accompaniments with most artistic finish. Beautiful verses, descriptive of one woman's method of raising a dollar for the church, were read by Mrs. Quint, who stated that the author modestly preferred to remain unknown. The verses appealed so strongly to her auditors' sense of humor and appreciation that they vociferously demanded the writer's name—which proved to be Mrs. S. M. Veazie. Mrs. Veazie earned her dollar by blacking the heels of her husband's shoes and carefully brushing the back of his coat and pantaloons, having noted that, manlike, he often neglected to groom himself as well as he did forward, which common canine attribute was feelingly set forth in the verses.

Francis Harrington will attend the Brunswick-Maine football game in Brunswick Saturday, after which he goes to Auburn to spend Sunday with Supt. and Mrs. H. H. Randall.

The Shakespeare Society meets next Monday evening with Mrs. Evelyn Hix and Mrs. D. N. Mortland will be leader. Mrs. William L. Bean has returned from a month's visit in Boston and vicinity.

Mrs. F. E. Freeman is visiting in Oldtown.

Mrs. Dora Moody of Lincolnville, who has been visiting Mrs. Fannie Thomas, Chestnut street, returned home Friday.

Mrs. Chas. Leach of China is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Williamson, Chestnut street.

W. W. Case is in Boston this week.

The First Baptist church Wednesday evening had a very large attendance, the housekeepers being Mrs. W. J. Day, Mrs. R. I. Thompson and Mrs. C. E. Bicknell. In the evening the patrons were favored with piano solos by Miss Alice Fiske and vocal solos by Lionel Wilson.

Mrs. F. S. Gould of East Union has been the guest of her son, Benjamin Gould, Suffolk Street, the past few days.

Mrs. William Smith of Thomaston, who is in town, calling on friends Thursday. Mrs. Kacklife expects to go to Worcester, Mass., next week, where she joins her husband who has employment there.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Maine and Bowdoin meet at Brunswick Saturday for the decisive game in the Maine college championship series. Out of the nine games played by these two teams, Bowdoin has won six. Last year Bowdoin won 6 to 0, but in 1905 Maine won 18 to 0. Saturday's game offers absolutely no odds in either direction.

Among the important football contests Saturday will be the following: Harvard vs. Dartmouth; Yale vs. Princeton; Pennsylvania vs. Michigan; West Point vs. Tufts; Cornell vs. Swarthmore; Annapolis vs. Pennsylvania State; Williams vs. Amherst; Carleton vs. Minnesota. Interest will be naturally centered on Yale-Princeton game as those are conceded to be the fastest in the country.

Tom Sawyer of this city and Jack Mahan of Lowell are to spar six rounds in this city Nov. 21, evening. There is some delay in the plans not yet foreseen. There will also be some extra line preliminaries.

Portland High 32 to 0 Wednesday. South Portland put up a good argument in the first half, but Portland's goal was never endangered.

The Portland Advertiser has the following to say about the outcome of the Rockland-South Portland game in this city last Saturday: "South Portland high school football players say that they fairly defeated the Rockland team. The Portland team was one which has school team at Rockland Saturday and that the umpire was the only official who questioned the score. The players of the Rockland team said that they were squarely beaten. The umpire claimed that Griffin had hurled a Rockland player after he had crossed the goal line for a touchdown. It is mighty hard to see how he could have called it anything but a touchdown but he did and a long dispute followed which ended by resuming the game. The matter was left to a committee of three and the South Portland boys said Tuesday that the committee reported that the score should be allowed making the score 10 to 5 in their favor." While it is now pretty generally conceded that South Portland, virtually made a touchdown, it would oblige us greatly if the Advertiser would furnish the names of the committee-men who decided the matter. The Rockland players never heard of the decision and are politely skeptical about the matter. Among the football items in Tuesday's Boston Globe was one which has a bearing upon the point in dispute. It is as follows: "The referee is supposed to blow his whistle declaring the ball dead when it has been carried across the goal line, and its forward progress has been stopped in the open field. See rule 16, sec. A, of the rules. There is no arbitrary rule such as 'A' cites."

The New Orleans Picayune published a lengthy account of the wedding of Miss Mary Rugeley, daughter of Frederick W. Sinclair, which took place in this city Oct. 30. The bride's mother, see Mattie Rugeley, was a former resident of this city, and the bride is a cousin of Harry B. Farwell, who officiated as one of the groomsmen. The wedding was witnessed by a large and distinguished assemblage, among the guests being Miss Pearl Wright. Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair will reside in Birmingham, Alabama. The Picayune said: "The bride, a very lovely and charming young woman, is followed to her new home by the love and good wishes of a very large circle of friends."

Food Fair Is Thriving

Over 1000 Persons Witnessed the Baby Show—Music, Magic and Mirth for All Who Attend.

When The Courier-Gazette went to press Tuesday, interest in the Food Fair had scarcely begun to manifest itself. The attendance that day, afternoon and evening, was very small. On Wednesday, however, the community awoke to the fact that there was not only a Food Fair at the Arcade but a first-class one. With the baby show as the special attraction there was an attendance of over 1000 Wednesday afternoon, the building being jammed to its capacity.

The closing days of the fair find it a very popular institution, where one may find plenty to see and hear, eat and drink. The exhibitors express themselves as delighted with the interest shown, and the fair demonstrators are excellent themselves in their efforts to attract patronage to the various line of goods they represent. There is a delightful air of informality about the whole arrangement. Grouped around the large booth of the Staples Piano Co. one always finds a large crowd listening with rapt pleasure to the piano and vocal music as exemplified by the best of our local artists. At the western end of the hall there is Farnham's orchestra by day and the Rockland Military Band by night. Both organizations are doing their most artistic work with popular and classical selections, and if our people have not become acquainted with all the late popular airs it is certainly their own fault. Although the room for dancing is somewhat limited the young folks have managed to derive no little enjoyment in that direction.

C. H. Wilson, the magician and entertainer, had some attentive and well pleased audiences Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and on Saturday comes for a return engagement afternoon and evening. The Saturday afternoon entertainment will be especially adapted to children, although we doubt not that it will be just as pleasing and just as mystifying to the older and wiser ones. "Slicker's" goose-grease" is the inelegant but appropriate phrase which one man used after watching Wilson's performance.

The baby show Wednesday afternoon brought out the following pretty children (not a complete list, but the most nearly so that could be obtained):

Maynard Brazier, 2 years, Mrs. Alice Wylie.
Adelaide Trafton, 13 months, Mrs. Frank Trafton.
Roger, 20 months, Mrs. George Robinson.
Ralph Beverly Billings, 8 months, Mrs. John Burns.
Wendall, 2 months, Mrs. Oscar Flint.
Eric Arthur, 5 months, Mrs. Ida Hart.
Bernard E., 8 months, Mrs. W. O. Achorn, Thomaston.
Donald Clifford, 9 months, Mrs. Miles Haske.
Elizabeth Gertrude, 10 months, Mrs. S. H. Rogers.
Celeste Rhodes, 2 1/2 years, Mrs. Minnie Bridges.
Elizabeth Arline, 6 months, Mrs. Maria E. Knight.
Shirley, 6 months, Mrs. A. H. Robinson, Cushing.
Elma Austin, 19 months, Mrs. Harry Rising.
Arthur Pearl, 2 years, 9 months, Mrs. A. J. Richardson, Glen Cove.
Kenneth Phillips, 29 months, Mrs. Maurice Moran.
Carl W., 9 months, Mrs. Lucy Sewall.
Arline Margaret, 5 months, Mrs. H. D. Sawyer.
Maud Lunetta, 3 years, Mrs. C. W. Halstead.
Ruth Louise, 13 months, Mrs. George W. Dow.

The prize-winners were as follows:
Under one year—Carl W. Sewell 1st, Arline Sawyer 2d.

Under two years—Roger Leroy Robinson 1st, Adelaide Shepherd 2d.
Under three years—Celeste Rhodes Bridges 1st, Maude Halstead 2d.

The judges were Mrs. C. A. Carr of Portland, Mrs. D. B. Ordway, Camden and Mrs. Margaret Medbury of Boston.

The twin children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cables were on exhibition, dandled on the knees of their fond mother and grandmother, who listened to many admiring comments.

Crumbs from the Food Fair.
The school children were admitted free of charge Thursday afternoon. Many availed themselves of the managers' kind offer and there was plenty of life in the hall while they were present.

Maurice Proctor says he is in a fair way to sell those 5000 packages of popcorn.

William R. Kimball, who has managed food fairs in Bath several seasons, was on deck Tuesday, and expressed the opinion that Rockland had a first-class show. He was particularly impressed with the decorations.

Among all the booths Mrs. Thomas has attracted more attention than that of Mrs. Thomas, wife of one of the managers. The booth itself is a very attractive affair, while Mrs. Thomas' burnt wood and hand-painted china immediately caught the popular fancy.

The doughnut contest Tuesday brought in seven fine batches, all of which were of medal calibre. First prize went to Mrs. Charles H. Achorn and second to Elizabeth Gregory. The other contestants were Mrs. G. D. Hayden, Miss Crouch, Mrs. P. E. Post, Miss Mamie Nolan and Mrs. L. E. Fitch. The Judge was Miss Alice E. Sheffield, of Portland, demonstrating for the Plymouth Rock Gelatine Co. Miss Sheffield did not eat quite all of the seven dozen.

The vacant booth which had been allotted to a souvenir post card man, was occupied Wednesday by Frank H. Whitney, who is offering a fine line of candy and nuts to appreciative patrons. At short notice the booth was very prettily arranged by Mrs. Whitney.

George Jameson and Benjamin Wiggin are the doorkeepers. The boys don't try any monkeyshines getting by that outfit.

The Rockland Military Band gives a nightly parade from its hall to the Arcade. Charles Ward officiates in the capacity of drum-major.

The booth of the National Coal Tar Co., with its cover of Amattite roofing, makes a very attractive display and expert work which will be explained at the booth. Mrs. Weeks and his assistant, Mrs. Carr, are letting nobody get away ignorant of the merits of Amattite and Carbonol.

Miss Hazel Davis has charge of A. B. Stevenson's candy booth. The bride and Edith and David Briggs are in charge of the exhibit of the Lamson Hardware Co., and Miss Flora Hahn as previously stated.

A lot of Jewish bread made by Mrs. Sarah Cohen was on exhibition at A. J. Huston's booth Thursday. It weighed nine pounds and was of a fanciful appearance.

SHUTE—LAWRENCE.

George Homer Shute and Miss Caroline Lawrence were united in marriage Tuesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, 25 North Main street. Rev. J. H. Quint of the Congregational church officiated, the service being performed at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of about 75 guests. Charles Mitchell of Otisfield was groomsmen, and Miss Helen Flanders was bridesmaid. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Marion Rawson. The bride wore a handsome gown of white lace, trimmed with insertion. The bridesmaid wore a gown of broadcloth. At a lot of Jewish bread made by Mrs. Sarah Cohen was on exhibition at A. J. Huston's booth Thursday. It weighed nine pounds and was of a fanciful appearance.

The groom is quartermaster temporarily on the steamer Minola, a position which he holds regularly on the steamer James T. Morse. The couple will reside at 25 North Main street.

MARINE MATTERS.

Sch. Metheseese, Outhouse, is in Virginia loading railroad ties at a Hudson. Will come to Rockland to refit for winter voyages.

Sch. Lavinia Snow, Wingfield, is due in New York with lignumvitae, fustic and sugar from San Domingo ports. This vessel is chartered to Baragua, Cuba, with general cargo out and coconuts back to New York.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

President John I. Taylor has sold to the New York Americans Hobo Ferris, who has played second base for Boston for the past seven years. The sale was arranged with Clark Griffith of the Highlanders, and Ferris was immediately made a factor in another deal by which he, Denny Hoffman, centerfielder of the Highlanders, and Jimmy Williams, the New York second baseman, were traded for Niles, second base; Hemphill, centerfield, and Glade, pitcher, of the St. Louis Browns.

Charley Haghey, the Lowell heavy weight, well known in this city, has received an offer from London, offering him a match with Jim Roche, the Irish champion. Haghey was over there in 1905. He boxed a number of prominent heavies of that country, among them Gunner Moir and Jack Palmer. The Lowell man will accept the London offer if the terms are satisfactory and he gets expenses.

The Waterville Athletic Club has arranged for another match between Black Fitzsimmons and Dave Sawyer, for Thanksgiving night, providing the Rockland man's jabbing iron is strong by that time. The Waterville Sentinel says: "It will be remembered that in the two bouts which the two men gave here, the first went to Sawyer, because Fitz was counted out in the third round and the second went awash, as Sawyer slipped and in falling fractured a bone of one wrist. The colored man wants to settle the matter as between Sawyer and himself once for all. On the occasion of the bout last Friday night the colored man showed up 40 well that many Black Fitzsimmons backsliders wanted him to take on Sawyer again as soon as the latter can get his hitting apparatus in order. The black boy stated at sporting headquarters that night after the bout that he would rather take on Dave Sawyer or his brother Thomas or he will take them both on in the same evening. Fitz isn't yielding to any considerable extent over what he proposes to do with the colored heavy weight Walter Johnson of Philadelphia Tuesday night but he expects to be alive on Thanksgiving night to meet Sawyer."

REMOVED AT LAST.

The Figures Did Not Appear in the Final Set of Drawings.

A candidate for the royal engineers some years ago was told by his instructor to draw up the plans and specifications for a railway viaduct to connect two high hills, between which ran a small stream.

In due course an excellent set of drawings was presented, one showing the bridge in its completion, with a sketch of the surroundings, and on which sat two men, with their legs hanging over the side, fishing. The drawing was returned with the request that the men be removed from the bridge.

Upon receiving the paper the second time the professor discovered that his instructions had been carried out, but that the two men were seated on the bank of the stream, still in quest of representatives of the fluky tribe.

Again was the paper returned, and this time with positive orders to remove the men from the drawing altogether. Imagine the consternation which overspread the features of the learned instructor upon receiving the papers for a third time to find two little figures and tombstones with appropriate epitaphs situated near the bank of the stream. His orders had been obeyed and the men removed altogether. London Answers.

DOROTHY VERNON OF HADDON HALL.

A superb scenic and elaborately costumed production of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" under the direction of Ernest Shipman, with Miss Gertrude Shipman and a number of prominent English actors is scheduled for production at Farwell opera house, Saturday, Nov. 23. None of the local scenery, properties, or furniture will be used. Mr. Shipman has surrounded Miss Shipman with a company of much strength. Liberality and good taste are conspicuous in the mounting of the play. All of the four acts are rich in picturesque and striking architectural effects, and exterior and interior scenes of Haddon Hall, notably that of the Terrace with its rich foliage and clinging creepers being scenic masterpieces.

DOROTHY VERNON OF HADDON HALL.

The emphatic triumph which signalized the appearance of Miss Gertrude Shipman in Ernest Shipman's beautiful production of "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" has been fully sustained in the subsequent performances and bids fair to be repeated in this city when she appears at the Farwell opera house on Saturday, Nov. 23. "Give us a clear stage, we carry everything" is the order given local Manager Bugley. Scenery, costumes, armor, furniture, swords, quaint old chests, candleabra and coach, in fact everything required in the production has been provided at a cost of $20,000.

THE GREAT PRESCELLE.

The local theatre goes will have one of the strongest attractions of the season at Farwell opera house, Nov. 18, 19 and 20, the great Prescelle in advanced hypnotism and Mrs. Edna May Magoon, the only New England woman hypnotist before the public, and excellent vaudeville. Prescelle who is well known to Rockland audiences, is a guarantee of something good. The reputation he made during his engagement at the theatre will be remembered. Capacity audiences greeted this man of remarkable powers, and the verdict was unanimous that Prescelle was master of the arts and sciences, hypnotism and mental telepathy. Hypnotism, demonstrated by Prescelle as the law of suggestion, will afford us unlimited fun of the uproarious kind, yet refined and moral. The appearance of Mrs. Edna May Magoon will no doubt interest many, as it is very rare that a woman is so good in the capacity. Mrs. Magoon will appear at each performance and introduce numerous scenes of the comedy nature during the engagement. The big musical act, the Knox Brothers and Helene are a very clever trio, offering all the latest comedy and musical stunts with various musical instruments. Mr. John O'Brien will sing the latest successes in beautiful illustrated songs. The latest moving picture machine, the Prescellescope. Seats on sale this Saturday morning.

HARCOURT COMEDY CO.

The Harcourt Comedy Company will close their week's engagement at the Farwell opera house this Saturday with two performances. The play for the night will be "The Little Colonel," and as a special inducement for the children Miss Harris will give away as prizes to the lucky girl an elegant teddy bear and to the lucky boy a large football. This Friday night will be amateur night, and already the advance sale indicates that the S. R. O. sign will be out early. Remember the matinee Saturday at 2:30. Popular 10 and 20c prices.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

Cured By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the Proof is Right Here

For years evidence that inflammatory rheumatism suffers from this most painful disease who does not try this treatment is neglecting the most hopeful means of recovery as is shown by the statement of Mr. E. C. Odell, of Morrison, Ill.

Affected His Heart

Mr. Odell, who is well known and highly respected in Morrison, says: "I suffered with inflammatory rheumatism for eighteen months before I found a cure. I had always been more or less troubled with my kidneys and indigestion. The attack came on a few years ago when I was living in New York state. All of my muscles were inflamed and I was swollen from head to foot. I couldn't walk any distance at all without resting. The pains were dull and aching and once in a while were sharp and shooting. The rheumatism began to affect my heart, causing it to palpitate. I was troubled with dyspepsia and couldn't eat anything but bread and milk."

Cure Was Permanent.

"I was under a doctor's treatment for about a year, but didn't derive any help from it and in fact I think I grew worse. I saw an account of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and began to use them. The relief was almost immediate and I took the pills until cured. I have never had the rheumatism in any form since. My wife has been very much benefited by using the pills as a tonic and recommending them highly as I do." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were originally a prescription used in the doctor's private practice and their benefit to mankind has been increased many thousand fold by their being placed on general sale with doctors' orders. They are entirely safe, contain no opiates or other habit-forming drugs. They build up the blood, strengthen the nerves and have cured rheumatism in almost every form. They are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., who lost a foot at Gettysburg, writes: "Electric Bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. For several years I had stomach trouble, and paid out much money for medicine to no purpose, until I began taking Electric Bitters. I would not take them for what they have done for me." Grand tonic for the aged and for female weaknesses. Great alterative and body builder; sure cure for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by Wm. H. Kittredge, druggist, Rockland, and G. I. Robinson Drug Co. Thomaston, 50 cents.

When the Stomach, Heart, or Kidney get weak, then these organs always fail. Don't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is simply a makeshift. Get a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is prepared expressly for these weak nerves. Strengthen these nerves, build them up with Dr. Shoop's Restorative—tablets or liquids—and see how quickly help will come. Free sample sent on request by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Your health is surely worth this simple test.

FOR THE BUSY MAN

Constant Reader Tells What He Missed In Last Week's Papers.

"Seems to me I heard there was an election the other day," remarked the Busy Man, as he broke in upon the studious quiet of his friend Constant Reader.

"Yes," was the reply. "An important change was effected in the face of political affairs, and results were attained that will prove far reaching. Whether the financial crisis, the panic of prosperity as it has been termed, had any bearing on the results is not apparent from any surface consideration of results. But little prestige was gained or lost by the men most prominent in the public eye politically. The greatest surprise was caused by the outcome of the voting in New Jersey. But that was mainly due to the fact that the newspapers in their early editions of Wednesday, read by many persons before they went home after enjoying the election aftermath of the crowds in Park Row and along the Great White Way, were misled into the belief that the Democratic candidate had defeated Judge Fort, who resigned his seat on the bench in order to accept the nomination for Governor. The succeeding day's news, however, showed a gross error in computation in the county of which Jersey City forms the chief part, and the tables were turned. There is talk of a recount, but that will probably only result in easing the minds of the talkers. In Manhattan no one was surprised, I think, that Fusion met with confusion, while in Brooklyn there was a happy surprise to those most interested in the fact that the majority of the Republican candidates for prominent offices were successful. It was certainly a feather in the cap of Timothy L. Woodruff, state chairman, who boldly entered the debating arena in the course of the campaign and discussed the responsibility for the financial situation with 'Pat' McCarren, the 'Long One' of Democratic politics, both in Brooklyn and in the State Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Woodruff received a congratulatory telegram on the results of his conduct of the campaign in Kings County from no less high a source than the President himself."

"How about the voting in states further away?"

"In the Old Bay State the principles of the Puritans received their vindication by the reelection of Governor Curtis Guild, against whom no fewer than three Democrats contended, by a comfortable majority, but Boston candidates, though not any especial significance. Outside of state contests there was the most interest in the mayoralty fights in Cleveland and San Francisco. In the former Mayor Tom L. Johnson gets a fourth term by a comfortable majority over Congressman Burton, who will go back to his work in Washington despite the efforts of the administration to find a new field for his energies, and he will doubtless secure reelection to Congress next year. In Cleveland, the habit of electing him and Johnson on alternate years. In the city at the Golden Gate the forces of law and order had a significant victory over those represented by the men who had control of its affairs until the uprising of the people drove them from power after the seismic convulsion which wrought so much ruin to the city."

"After the conflicting reports in regard to the change of date and change of route for the visit of Secretary Taft from the Far East he has now returned to his former plan of taking in the principal cities of Europe on his return journey, and will hobnob with rulers on the way. While the Kaiser's plans provide for his absence from Berlin while Mr. Taft is there, it is now expected that the latter will see the ruler of Germany on the Isle of Wight, whether he is going after his visit with his uncle King Edward at Windsor Castle, and by making a trip to England Mr. Taft will also be able to pay his respects to the English sovereign. What bearing these visits and the welcome he is to receive when he gets back to 'little old New York' will have on the political prospects of the Secretary of War the wisest are endeavoring to ascertain. Governor Hughes, who registered from the Hotel Astor, cast his vote for the fusion ticket although he had not been persuaded to express any opinion on the local political situation in the course of the campaign. President Roosevelt came to his Oyster Bay home to set a good example in voting, and returned the same day to Washington, where he is engaged in the final revision of the message which

Rheumatism Cannot Be Cured Unless Uric-O Is Used

Sudden Deaths, Heart Failure and Paralysis Are Caused By Poisonous Uric and Rheumatic Acids

The rheumatic person is skeptical regarding the claims of almost any remedy advertised as a cure for rheumatism and one can scarcely blame him for being so. All the plasters and liniments combined never actually cured a case of rheumatism. They may relieve it in one quarter, but it is sure to break out somewhere else. The only true way to cure rheumatism is to drive it from the system as long as the Uric and Rheumatic Acid remains in the blood, one is never entirely free from the trouble. This is where the value of Uric-O as a permanent cure for rheumatism comes in. It seeks out the rheumatic poison in the blood, muscles and kidneys, renders it inert and harmless and drives it out of the system. That is why Uric-O is such an admirable and effective cure for rheumatism.

The reason that Uric-O is such a wonderful cure for rheumatism is, that it is designed and prepared to cure Rheumatism and Rheumatism only. It is composed of perfect antitoxins for the rheumatic acid poison in the system. That is the secret of its wonderful success. Rheumatism simply cannot exist in a person's system if Uric-O is used. Uric-O is sold by druggists at 75c and $1.00 the bottle, but if you still feel skeptical about its efficacy you can test it free of charge by cutting out this advertisement and sending same together with your name and address, also the name of your druggist, to The Smith Drug Company, 261 Smith Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y., and they will send you a sample bottle free. To persons who write and say they have never used Uric-O and want to test it thoroughly, and will agree to take systematic and regular directions, they frequently give a regular 75c bottle free.

Uric-O is sold and personally recommended in Rockland by Cyrus W.fills at The Green and White Drug Store.

he will transmit to Congress when it meets in the first week of next month. The recent financial flurry and the election have been factors in the situation to be considered.

"The President's views on the results at the polls are that they were extremely gratifying, directing especial attention to the figures in New Jersey, which are similar to those in 1898, when an election of Governor in an off year in national politics had almost identically the same outcome. The enthusiastic supporters of Dr. James R. Day, Chancellor of Syracuse University, who has made himself the spokesman of corporation interests and has harshly criticized the President, put him forward as a logical candidate to oppose the Republican nominee next year. As Dr. Day declined a bishopric at the hands of his Methodist brethren three years ago, there are not wanting those who say it was from political ambition. Another man who has figured in the educational field in this state—Dr. David Jayne Hill, former president of Rochester University—is making rapid strides in the political field. From an assistant secretaryship in the State Department in Washington he went to Switzerland as minister and thence to the Netherlands, and now will become Ambassador at Berlin, succeeding Charlemagne Tower."

"The Lusitania, which brought over much gold, made a new record in time of crossing the Atlantic, but rivalry would while is expected when the new Mauretania, which made more than twenty-six knots on her trial trips, goes to sea. At the same time the Lusitania is going toward the rising star of the big North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie, which came in earlier in the week, not only brought a large amount of gold, but also a distinguished group of passengers, among them being Joseph H. Choate and General Horace Porter, who expressed much gratification over the results of the Hague peace congress, which they attended officially; George J. Gould, John W. Gates, William H. Crocker, Arthur P. Heinze and Jan Kubelik, the violinist, and his wife, Countess Czaky Czoll. There has been a lot of talk of the third of the huge battleships of the Dreadnought class. The first war airship, or air warship, for this country has been contracted for, to be built in St. Louis. The record of railroad accidents for the year shows the enormous number of

A GUARANTEE OF QUALITY

The Knox County General Hospital Solicits Support

From all who believe in the maintenance of an institution organized and carried on for the relief of suffering. The Hospital is carried on at a large annual expense which its earnings fall far short of meeting; therefore its continuance from year to year devolves upon the contributions of those who give, in large or small amounts, to the support of worthy institutions.

You Can Help

By giving $5,000 for perpetual free bed; $250 for an annual free bed; $5,000 for naming a ward; $5,000 for naming the operating room; $1,000 for naming a private room; by contributions of furniture, pictures, old cloth for compress, fruit, vegetables, provisions, books, flowers, anything that can be utilized in an institution of this character.

But Most of All Money Is Needed

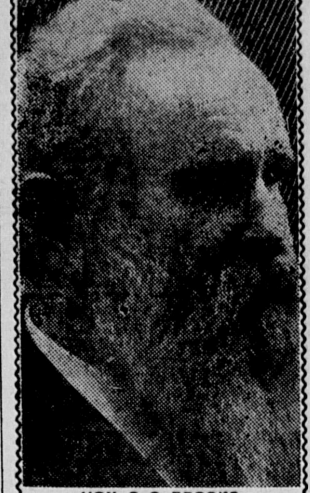

Can you not afford a cash contribution? No amount is too small, none too large, to do good.

The Courier-Gazette will be glad to receive any funds that its readers in any part of the country may be disposed to forward, and same will be promptly turned over to the Hospital management.

MAYOR OF SUNBURY Says Peruna Is a Good Medicine.

Hon. C. C. Brooks, Mayor of Sunbury, Ohio, also Attorney for Farmers' Bank and Sunbury Building and Loan Co., writes:

"I have the utmost confidence in the virtue of Peruna. It is a great medicine. I have used it and I have known many of my friends who have obtained beneficial results from its use. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."

HON. C. C. BROOKS.
