NEWSPAPER HISTORY
The Rockland Gazette was established in 1842. In 1854 the Courier was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1895, and in 1901 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1907.

It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after our own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

Now let us forget politics, and turn our attention to Thanksgiving and chrysanthemums.

Is the Duke of Bruzel really engaged to Senator Elkins' daughter. It begins to look as though an official count would be necessary.

The rumor that President Roosevelt would succeed Senator Platt is being settled in Mr. Roosevelt's characteristic manner. He is booming Elihu Root for the job.

An oddity in the election returns from this county was the vote of the little town of Lincolnville, which gave 10 votes for Taft, 89 for Bryan and 27 for Debs, the largest vote of any town in Maine for the latter.

Under the peerless leadership of William Jennings Bryan, says the Democratic New York World, the Democratic plurality in New York City seems to have been wiped out. Peerless leadership is better Republican asset than the Big Stick. Even Roosevelt could not carry New York City.

President Roosevelt in answer to numerous correspondents wrote a letter before election, but just made public, to the effect that his religious faith is purely his own private concern and not a matter for general discussion and political discrimination. President Roosevelt's truisms are thereby increased by one.

Napoleon Lajoie will, in all probability, have made as much money out of baseball this year as any other player in the business by the time he is ready to quit. In his 12 years of big league ball playing he has netted about $5,000 and since the Cleveland manager and second baseman appears to be of a careful nature, he is probably well off in this world's goods.

Besides the 70,000 horse-power used in the turbines of one great new Atlantic liner, the electricity consumed by the vessel, supplied by four generators, represents an additional 2144 horse-power. Electricity is used to illuminate the ship at night, and for a multitude of other purposes, such as operating elevators, of which there are two for passengers' use, eight for baggage and mails, and two smaller ones in the pantries. Electrically driven cranes and winches are also provided, total 6500 electric lamps give the enormous total of over 100,000 candle-power. For heating the first class quarters 60 electric radiators have been fitted, which will produce some 43 heaters in the bath rooms.

Reinforced concrete has actually been employed in shipbuilding. In the first Paris exposition, in 1855, a small boat made of reinforced concrete was exhibited by Lambert. This vessel, which was constructed of wire netting covered with cement, is still afloat and will soon be installed in a technical museum. It was regarded as a mere curiosity and led to no practical result. In 1896 Gabriel de Rome, built an experimental vessel of reinforced concrete, which is still in service on the Tiber and in excellent condition. This same firm since has constructed a large number of concrete vessels designed chiefly for stationary service as bridge pontoons, for which purpose they are eminently well fitted, owing to their small cost of maintenance, as they need not even be painted. It is possible to build vessels of reinforced concrete of any desired form and dimensions. The frames and longitudinal beams are made of concrete reinforced with round bars of iron, and the skin consists of a single or double layer of concrete stiffened with wire netting and made perfectly smooth and watertight by an external coat of pure cement. The boats cost almost nothing for maintenance.

Desperate Coughs

Dangerous coughs. Extremely perilous coughs. Coughs that rasp and tear the throat and lungs. Coughs that shake the whole body. You need a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine, for such a cough. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Ayer's

Any good doctor will tell you that a medicine like Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cannot do its best work if the bowels are constipated. Ask your doctor if he knows anything better than Ayer's Pills for correcting this sluggishness of the liver.

TAFT'S GREAT TASK

Problems Awaiting the Next President—His Attitude Toward The Trusts Most Important to the Commercial Welfare of the Country.

No President since Lincoln has been faced with a bigger task than Taft's. Backed by an overwhelming vote of confidence in the Roosevelt policies, for which he stands, he must be loyal to the trust posed in him by the President. Yet the same things Roosevelt has been trying to do he will do in his own way. The difference can be tremendous.

Mr. Roosevelt has thundered against the "wealthy malefactors," but none of them is in jail. Mr. Taft may refuse to thunder against them. Everything the President-elect has said in his public utterance shows that he does not believe in the penitentiary treatment for conspirators in restraint of trade. Mr. Taft plainly has accepted the great industrial combination as something which has come to stay. Accepting it, he will naturally refuse to go further than his predecessor has gone in the effort to check the trusts. As a natural result the Sherman act would be under Taft, as it was under Roosevelt and McKinley and Cleveland, a dead letter.

There is no halfway course open to the new President, and if there were his temperament does not promise that he would take it. Either the trusts are right, either they can be destroyed, and competition in the great industries restored, or the principle of cooperation must be accepted.

We assume that Mr. Taft will develop his policy in the direction of preserving the industrial combinations. Does he intend to check the trusts as they exist in his speeches, while extending to them the official protection of the Department of Justice. This is what Mr. Roosevelt and his Attorney General have done.

Mr. Bryan has proposed to break up the monopolies and the people have rejected his plan by a huge majority. Does he think that they want the monopolies destroyed by some other plan? We do not think so. While the verdict in favor of the Republican candidate is not a declaration of war against the trusts, it is a declaration of war against the present plan of industrial combination. Mr. Taft's well-known attitude is not hostile to the monopoly, except when it serves its existence. Necessarily for the use of these unlawful means in the maintenance of monopoly, such as railroad rebates, have disappeared. They can exist by their own force.

The Standard Oil Company probably could keep within the letter of the Sherman law today, as that statute forbids the monopolies of the trusts. The Department of Justice and still control the oil market. So could the Coal Trust and the Beef Trust and the Steel Trust. If the simple fact that they are monopolies is not illegal they are beyond the reach of the law as the Roosevelt Administration and its successor would interpret the Sherman statute.

Probably Mr. Taft does not believe that competition in our great industries and in the handling of the people's necessities of life can ever be restored. If this is his opinion his appointment of an Attorney General and his choice of judges for the high courts of the land will not lean in the direction of destroying the trusts. Under Taft's presidency there will be no turning back from the policy to which the nation has steadily committed itself by permitting the great trusts to combine, to be formed and by refusing to attack them while they were approaching the enormous power they now command over the destinies of the people.

The New York Press believes that under the presidency of William Howard Taft the big question to be settled is whether the cooperative policy applied to this nation by the trusts and the individual form of government are consistent. That the cooperative scheme as evolved by the monopolies is essentially Socialistic, in everything except distribution of the profits, every student of the problem recognizes.

Mr. Taft himself must see that this is true. How to preserve the basic principle of socialism as applied to this machinery of production and still save the individualistic scheme is the huge problem to which the new President must address himself. It may be in his power to avert the extension of the socialistic principle to an experiment which a vast majority of the American people still view with dread and alarm, but which is regarded by a steadily growing and steadfast minority as the inevitable solution.

During the presidency of Mr. Taft Socialism must either suffer a serious check or go forward with increasing strides.—New York Press.

This Week

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A review from the columns of this paper of some of the events which interested Rockland and vicinity for the three weeks ending Nov. 13, 1883.

Sch. George Bird was launched from the yard near the foot of Water street. Her government measure was 212 tons. John McAllister was master-builder, the sails were made by Horace Per-y, the iron work was done by Z. O. Braek, and the outside painting was done by Joseph Ham. The vessel was built for Capt. Wellman Spear and cost $16,000. The store of Spear & May was burglarized. The young man arrested for the crime said that he belonged to an organization of youths who had committed several similar burglaries in the city.

A cigar quite popular at this time was known as "Frank Cat." It was handled by Cobb, Wright & Co. Albert Ulmer was the victim of a shocking accident while running a sherman B. Harper, Tennant's Harbor, engine at A. F. Crockett & Co.'s quarry. While climbing up the engine to get a piece of board he fell and struck the escape pipe, which was thrown out of gear. The steam and hot water poured out until the boiler was emptied, and the young man being unable to free himself received the scalding water on his arms, shoulders and body, being dreadfully burned.

The city government ordered that the railroad time should be adopted as standard time.

Edward H. Bartlett was appointed janitor of the Middle street school-house.

Knox county was represented at Col. by University by Seldon B. Overton, Washington; Randall J. Condon, Friendship; J. Frank Blackmore, Penant's Harbor; O. L. Beveridge, North Haven; Eugene T. Sch. Bodabed, ashore at Delaware Breakwater, was sold by Capt. Hiram Hall, Jr. as she lay, the attempt to float her having proven futile.

The new light at Ram Island, which Capt. Otis Ingraham was instrumental in having built, was put in commission.

Pearl Wright, formerly of Rockland was elected president of the Maine and Central South American Exchange in New Orleans.

Orrin G. Shepherd, who for many years conducted a boarding house at the Brook, died at the age of 62 years.

A. A. Newcomb and family left for San Francisco to reside.

A despatch was received here announcing that the schooner America burnt and sank off Cape Cod. The crew took to the boat, and was picked up by Capt. Cushman of schooner Adelle M. Bird.

Capt. Robert E. Gregory of Rockland was having a three-masted schooner built at Newburyport, Mass.

J. R. Richardson raised 20 tons of cabbages and a ton of horse radish on one acre.

H. M. Brown was located in his new cigar factory on Limerock street.

F. O. Knight and W. A. Hill bought the Newbert house on Sea street, the land on which it stood, and the adjoining Pennington lot.

Capt. Walter Thorndike of Rockport was to take command of the bark Richard Parsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Phinney of Thomaston celebrated their silver wedding anniversary. About 125 guests were present.

Fred H. Jones sold his barber business in Warren to C. S. Smith, late of Boston market. Mr. Jones expects to be assigned for duty this winter at the Belfast pier of the company and will then have more time to devote to the business.

Charles Dana Gibson, the famous artist, who leads the simple life during six months of the year, at his delightful country place, on Seven Hundred Acre Island, has decided that the life is too simple out so far at sea and that a telephone is not only a luxury but a necessity. He will therefore at his own expense lay a cable from Dark Harbor to his island, a distance of about one mile after which he will become a subscriber of the Dark Harbor Exchange, in the New England Tel. & Tel. Co. The cable has been ordered and is on the way and will be laid within a few weeks. Miss Rose Cleveland, sister of the late ex-president Grover Cleveland also has a summer place on Seven Hundred Acre Island.

FORTECOMING APPOINTMENTS.

Governor Cobb's next list of appointments will probably be made public next Thursday. Included in the list will be that of a warden for the Maine state prison at Thomaston to fill the vacancy which will occur in that office Nov. 29 by reason of the expiration of the term of the present warden, Barnes O. Norton, after four years of valued service. Warden Norton will without doubt be his own successor. Another vacancy to be filled will be that of inspector of factories and workshops, which will occur Nov. 29 by reason of the expiration of the term of the present incumbent, George E. Morrison of Saco. Mr. Morrison has served three years and it is understood that he will be appointed for another term.

As a piece of campaign prediction, President Roosevelt's letter of October 26 to Senator Lodge now appears a rather remarkable piece of work. He then declared that the Republicans would have larger popular pluralities east of the Alleghenies than they had four years ago, probably regaining Maryland, but that west of the mountains popular majorities would fall off heavily, but without going so far as to endanger the electoral vote except in Missouri and Nevada. The Ohio situation, the President then said, was improving. His only slips came in the suggestion that the Republicans had an even chance of carrying Kentucky instead of Missouri, and in his overlooking Democratic prospects in Nebraska and Colorado.

The state of Maryland goes for Taft on the popular vote, and still gives Bryan six of its eight electoral votes. There is evidently a chance for improvement in the ballot law of that state, says the Kennebec Journal.

Ozymandias of Egypt

I met a traveler from an antique land
Who said: Two vast and trunkless legs of stone
Stand in the desert. Near them on the sand,
Half sunk, a shattered visage lies, whose frown
And wrinkled lip and sneer of cold command
Tell that its sculptor well those passions read
Which yet survive, stamp'd on those lifeless things,
The hand that mock'd them and the heart that fed;

And on the pedestal these words appear:
"My name is Ozymandias, king of kings:
Look on my works, ye Mighty, and despair!"
Nothing beside remains. Round the decay
Of that colossal wreck, boundless and bare,
The lone and level sands stretch far away.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
Rockland, November 13, 1908.

What will probably be the last public proclamation to be issued by Governor Cobb appears in the announcement just made for Thanksgiving Day, the text of which follows:

No state is truly great nor can long endure that does not appeal to God for strength in adversity and humility in success. The year now drawing to its close is filled with signs both of warning and encouragement, and that their real meaning may not be misunderstood should be the prayer of all those who love their country and who hope for public and individual well being and of a development of her resources and laws.

Now therefore, I, William T. Cobb, Governor of the State of Maine, in recognition of the custom established by our forefathers and followed by successive generations, do hereby appoint Thursday, Nov. 26, as Thanksgiving Day and ask the people of Maine to devote themselves to its observance and service.

The spirit in which the festival was conceived and the traditions which surround it should incline all to expressions of gratefulness and acts of kindness. Material prosperity may well prove to be a menace to social order, unless it is accompanied by a full sense of its obligations and limitations, but when in the hearts of a people there abides reverence and charity the State is safe and the future secure.

We think this a model paper, brief, dignified, chaste in the character of its English and compact of the spirit that for generations has ruled New England and made this country great. When Governor Cobb goes out of office, he will leave behind a record that will continue to enlarge with the passing years. Not the least among the things that will be said of him will be that during his four years of office his messages and public speeches marked him as a man of a naturally sound and ripe judgment reinforced by the education and culture of a gentleman.

The editor of The Courier-Gazette acknowledges receipt of a large and beautifully engraved card, dated New York City, Nov. 7, and bearing the following legend:

The Outlook Company has the honor to announce that Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, will on March 5th, 1909, become a member of the Editorial Staff of the Outlook, which will thereafter be the exclusive channel for his views on Social and Industrial Topics.

We congratulate the Outlook upon thus attaching to its staff a writer who enjoys the extraordinary distinction of being the greatest as well as most popular man in the world of his time. For we think this is the position that President Roosevelt, in spite of his critics and detractors, will be conceded to occupy. His contributions can hardly fail to add to the prestige of the Outlook, a publication already ranking among the foremost.

Every commercial salesman who visits our city brings word of improving business all along the line. "If everybody in Rockland is having the increase in orders that we are receiving since election day," remarked Manager Bicknell of the Livingston Manufacturing Company to The Courier-Gazette, "things will soon be booming here." The Lime Company already is feeling the effects of improving business elsewhere. If Bryan had been elected this leaping prosperity would be all the other way about. But Taft is the man and the whole country knows it is in safe hands.

Selections from the Favorite Poem corner are always welcomed by The Courier-Gazette. When a reader knows of a particularly good thing that ought to appear there we will be glad to have a copy of it. A lady has just sent in two very fine things—a verse by Louise Chandler Moulton and Thomas Bailey Aldrich's "Nocturne."

Zion's Advocate celebrates this week its 80th anniversary. It is a ripe age for a newspaper to attain, and we know of none among our contemporaries that more worthily wears its years, or to whom congratulations are more justly due, than this staunch and ably conducted organ of the Baptists of Maine.

MADAME YAW COMING.
Director Chapman has secured Mme. Yaw for a series of concerts throughout New England and one of them is Rockland. She needs no introduction to the music loving people of Maine. She was the star prima donna of the 12th Festival, and no prima donna has created greater enthusiasm than Mme. Yaw.

This will be the most delightful news to the music loving public of the state, for the thousands that did not hear her and were not able to be present at the Festival, will avail themselves of this last opportunity. Mme. Yaw is now concertizing in the South and West. She will appear early in January in Maine. The first of February she takes Mme. Sembrich's place at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. Next season she has signed for Vienna for three years, consequently this will be the only opportunity to hear Mme. Yaw for a number of years. Mr. Chapman feels sure that Mme. Yaw's tour in Maine will equal that of Blauvelt or Schumann-Heink, where in many places hundreds were turned away. She will be supported by her own company, and most popular and brilliant programmes have been arranged. The date of her appearance in Rockland is Thursday, Jan. 7. Special trains and excursion rates will be made on the railroad, to accommodate the public. It is to be hoped that sufficient guarantee can be raised to bring Mme. Yaw to our city.

WHILE PLAYING TAG.

John L. French, Aged 7 Years, Run Over By Street Car in Camden.

John L., the 7-years-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas French of Camden, was run over and killed by an electric car, while at play near the Elm street school building in that town Wednesday afternoon. An inquest was held, and the jury was unable to reach its opinion that no blame was attached to the Street Railway—the accident being one that no motorist could have avoided.

When the 2:30 car out of Camden neared the school building it was recess time, and a number of children were playing tag in the street. The little boy suddenly ran directly in front of the car, which was moving not faster than five miles an hour. The child was not visible to the motorist until he fell in front of the car. The power was immediately reversed, and responded so promptly to this act that only the forward wheel passed over the lad. One arm and hand were crushed and the backbone was severed. Death must have resulted almost instantly.

The motorist was Frank N. Newhall, said to be one of the most careful drivers in the company's employ. The conductor was Ernest Campbell of Rockland, who was inside the car collecting a fare when he felt the shock and saw that the car had been brought to a sudden stop. Dr. Young was brought to the scene of the tragedy in very few moments, but the little fellow was beyond human aid. Coroner Judkins was called and an inquest was held at once with the following jury: W. E. Schwartz, O. P. Fuller, C. T. Swan, F. B. Annis, W. A. Hosmer and Geo. E. Allen. The following witnesses were examined: Frank L. Newhall, Ernest A. Campbell, Supt. Valentine E. Chisholm, Dr. W. H. Young, S. G. Ritt, Charles Fred Gray, Clifford Quinn and J. H. Hobbs. The verdict was as follows:

"That John L. French came to his death at Camden, Maine, on Wednesday the 11th day of November, 1908, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon from a dislocation of the spinal column, caused by a passenger car of the R. T. & C. St. Ry. Co., passing over his body, and we find further that no blame attaches to said railway for the death of said John L. French."

The victim of the accident was an only child and universally liked. The grief-stricken parents have the sympathy of everyone who has heard of the sad affair.

It is reported that there have been many narrow escapes due to the school children playing in the street near this building, and that the drivers of motor cars have been obliged to exercise extreme caution. At the request of Supt. Chisholm the Camden selectmen, Supt. O'Connell and Principal Wilbur warned the school children of their danger some weeks ago.

Returns from the special elections in the second and third Maine congressional districts to fill short term vacancies in Congress because of a resignation and death were canvassed Tuesday at a special session of the Governor and Council. Congressmen-elect John P. Swasey and Frank E. Guernsey, who were elected at the September election, also were chosen to fill the short terms. Both are Republicans. Mr. Swasey had no opposition, his vote being 15,253. In the fourth district the vote was 16,306 for Mr. Guernsey and 7,781 for George M. Hanson, his Democratic and only opponent.

THE UNIVERSALIST FAIR

In Spite of Numerous Handicaps It Netted $300—"Punkinville Postoffice" Was the Feature.

The annual fair of the Universalist church was held Wednesday in the annual Universalist room. Somebody was kind enough to say that there had been two pleasant days in the history of these fairs, but it will be better that average person to recall a wholly pleasant day other than that of last year.

The rain, however, had much less power to dampen the ardor of the workers than did the illness of the pastor, Rev. E. H. Chapin, who would listen to no postponement on his account. The usual evening entertainment was omitted as a mark of sympathy and respect. Inquiries as to his condition were heard on every hand, and the favorable news from the invalid's bedside often mailed to those who were set forth the Ladies Circle had no hope of making the "big money" that has resulted from other fairs, but they persevered in their efforts and had added $300 to the right side of the ledger when the doors closed for the night. All will agree that this is a most creditable showing, and a much credit should be bestowed upon Mrs. C. M. Walker, who, as president of the circle, was also chairman of the fair. Her assistants were Mrs. W. H. Glover, Mrs. Clara Black, Mrs. Henry Gregory and Mrs. Mary Banks.

The unique feature of this year's fair was the "Punkinville postoffice," over which A. T. Whittier presided. "Reuben Hayseed," and "duly appointed" was the presiding genius. The booth was appropriately decorated in red, white and blue, and over the doorway was the coat of arms, a large pumpkin hollowed out to contain a number of small flags. There were a score or more private boxes, ingeniously arranged, and many manufactured from cancelled postage stamps. In the "unclaimed letters" list were the following names: Obadiah Walker, Eliza Ann Glover, Susanma Gurdy, Josh Gurdy, Maria Porter, Cyrus Rhodes, Jonathan Moulton, Adeline Burpee, Matilda Black, Rebecca Greene, Cynthia Tibbets, Nehemiah Chapin, Ed Williams, Harvey St. Clair and Mirandy Frohock. One sign read that "the males would arrive at meal time and depart at hayting time." Another sign read that "the females would be one quart of 'pumpkin cedes'." A copy of the Punkinville monthly courier was conspicuously displayed on the walls.

Those who called for letters, and nearly everybody did, found either five or ten cents due, before they could receive their parcels. Nobody was heard to complain at what was given in exchange. The postmaster's assistants were Mrs. Whittier, Mrs. George A. Flint, Mrs. John Stevens, Mrs. T. G. Rawson and Mrs. M. C. Daniels. There was no waiting for "males" except what was done by the shrewd money-earners on the inside. The "Punkinville" was a most successful one, and made a great hit.

While waiting for their packages at the postoffice the people, and a fine chance to overcome their thirst at the punch table, which was in charge of Mrs. Frank L. Haskell, Mrs. Walter H. Spear and Mrs. O. B. Lovejoy. Mrs. J. E. Rhodes was in charge of the basket booth, having for assistants Mrs. J. R. Frohock, Mrs. Warren Williams and Miss Hope Greenhalgh. Part of the sale came from the "Punkinville" and the remainder from the sale of Mrs. Rhodes and members of her committee. The oyster table was in charge of Mrs. Alice Gay and Mrs. Henry M. Wiley. The utility table was managed by Mrs. Joseph Veazie, chairman, assisted by Mrs. G. Prescott and Mrs. L. R. Campbell. A score of many kinds and colors were sold by Mrs. Mary Banks, Mrs. Frank Lamb, Miss Flora Wise, Mrs. George Palmer, Miss Laura Sylvester, Mrs. David Talbot and Mrs. E. W. Berry. The art and craft table was located in one of the attractive booths which had previously served at the Pleasant Valley Grange fair. Mrs. Edna S. Byrnes was chairman, assisted by Mrs. E. S. Farwell, Mrs. W. H. Harrington, Mrs. M. G. Butman and Mrs. Arthur Shea. Mrs. C. B. Greenhalgh, Mrs. D. M. Murphy and Miss Faith Greenhalgh were in charge of the poultry table. The cake table was presided over by Mrs. Henry Gregory, Mrs. Eliza Keane, Miss Emma Spear and Mrs. J. K. Gove. In charge of the candy table were Mrs. A. S. Black, Mrs. J. R. Adams, Mrs. M. E. Wotton and Miss Martha Cobb.

The Y. P. C. U. girls had one room all of their own, and the way they picked up nickels and dimes was a caution. In charge of the different departments in this room were the following ladies: Doll table, Mrs. Clark; Elizabeth Covel and Bernice Pernal; flower table, Lena Thorndike; fancy articles, Loreta Kenniston, Jesse Hall and Edna Wheeler; aprons, Kate Kenning, Jennie Wheeler and Alice McCurdy; art table, Ruth Blackington, Madelyn Brown and Lucia Burpee; refreshments, Anna Cobb; tea table, Lena Lawrence and Mildred Pitt. Miss Nora Kenniston was chairman of the Y. P. C. U. department. The decorations were worthy of a special note. The background was a green tree, and Japanese umbrellas were hung in the corners. Tiny electric lights were festooned from the corners, while over the entrance in electric letters was the sign "Y. P. C. U." The electrician was Albert Thurston, a prominent member of the Y. P. C. U., and who displays a deal of genius in electrical work.

Supper was served on the European plan. The menu cards were gotten up in most artistic fashion by Miss Faith Greenhalgh, the penwork which some contained being the product of Miss Nellie Cochran's skill. The eatables included oysters on the half shell, oyster stew, chicken pie, lobster salad, baked beans, cabbage salad, nutmeg pastry, cake, etc. Mrs. M. S. Williams had charge of the kitchen, and Mrs. C. H. Tibbets and Mrs. R. L. Smith had charge of the dining room.

Thursday morning pleasant weather resumed its place on the schedule. DINGLEY COUNTED OUT. A Michigan dispatch states: E. N. Dingley, editor of the Kalamazoo Telegraph, son of the late Congressman Dingley, author of the present tariff law, was astounded on election day, when M. H. Lane, president of the Michigan Buggy Co., walked into the editorial office and demanded possession of the paper. Lane explained that a company of local capitalists composed of himself, S. B. Monroe of the Kalamazoo Trust Co. and Victor Palmer, secretary of the Michigan Buggy Co., had purchased the paper from Dingley's mother, Mrs. Nelson Dingley, of Lewiston, Me. The deal having been just completed, Editor Dingley had no knowledge of the negotiations, and issued a statement in which he said: "I am shocked that I should thus be secretly sold out and turned out by my own relatives and friends. I have spent 20 years in building up the Telegraph, and this treatment is outrageous."

SHAKE IN A BOTTLE.

Advice of Noted Authority, Also Gives a Simple Prescription.

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an old eminent authority, who says that Rheumatism and Kidney trouble walk, or in here, and also tells what to do in case of an attack.

Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Just try this simple home-made mixture at the first sign of Rheumatism or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney regulator, and almost certain remedy for all forms of Rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Any one can easily prepare this at home and at small cost.

Druggists in this town and vicinity, when shown the prescription, stated that they had never seen it before. Ingredients, or if our readers prefer, they will compound the mixture for them.

The Archbishop Won.

Dr. Whately, some time archbishop of Dublin, once had an encounter with a young aid-de-camp, and the prime minister emerged victor. At dinner the soldier asked this singular question, "Does your grace know the difference between an archbishop and an ass?" "Sir, I do not," answered Dr. Whately. "One wears the cross on his mitre and the other wears it on his back," explained the tactless officer. "Do you know the difference between an aid-de-camp and an ass?" "No, your grace, I do not," was the reply. "Neither do I," said his grace.—Liverpool Mercury.

Greeley's Writing.

During the early part of the nineteenth century the bad writing of great men became a national byword. In fact, poor writing was considered by some people as almost a sign of genius. Horace Greeley was such a poor writer that his correspondents were sometimes obliged to guess at his meaning. It is related that a reporter on the New York Tribune who received a letter from Greeley discharging him from the office as a letter of recommendation to the editor of another paper.

A ROMANCE OF STEEL

The Rise of a Great Industry and Enormous Fortunes.

KELLY AND THE AIR BLAST.

The Flash of Genius Which Provided the World With a New Metal—Robert Massey's Device—Captain Bill Jones and Andrew Carnegie.

As late as the middle of the last century cheap steel was unknown. It was then sold at 25 cents a pound. The railroads were using iron rails which wore out in less than two years, and the total output of iron and steel in a year was less than is now made in four days.

Then came to William Kelly, a Pittsburgh Irish-American, that flash of genius which provided the world with a new metal, something as strong as steel and as cheap as iron.

Kelly was an iron maker and needed charcoal. In time all the wood near his furnaces was burned, and the nearest available source of supply was seven miles distant. To cart his charcoal seven miles meant bankruptcy unless he could invent a way to save fuel.

One day he was sitting in front of his furnace when he suddenly sprang to his feet, with a shout, and rushed to the furnace. At one edge he saw a white hot spot in the yellow mass of molten metal. The iron at this spot was incandescent. It was almost gaseous. Yet there was no charcoal—no fuel. Kelly was puzzled. He was suddenly reminded of the fact that iron is made by the blast of air. At one edge he saw a white hot spot in the yellow mass of molten metal. The iron at this spot was incandescent. It was almost gaseous. Yet there was no charcoal—no fuel.

But people said he was crazy when Kelly asserted that pig iron could be changed into malleable iron by the air blast, for every iron maker believed in those days that cold air would chill and ruin a piece of iron. Kelly was trying to burn his idea next, said one manufacturer, and Kelly, through lack of means, could not turn his idea into the success he deserved.

Then, seven years later, came Bessemer, who made the new process a commercial success by the invention of his celebrated "converter" and received $100,000,000, worldwide fame and a knighted as his reward. Kelly received $500,000 and comparative oblivion, although his idea was the nucleus of the Bessemer process by which iron is purified from carbon by the direct introduction of oxygen. When Bessemer applied for and obtained a United States patent for his "pneumatic process" Kelly claimed priority for his invention, and his claim was allowed by the patent office.

Another pioneer of the steel trade was a device for removing a difficulty that baffled Kelly and Bessemer, fared even worse than Kelly, for he lost his patent by failing to pay the necessary fees and in his later years was dependent upon a pension of $1,500 which he received annually from Bessemer.

The difficulty which Munster removed was this: "The air blast clears the molten metal of carbon and of all impurities, including sulphur and phosphorus. But a certain quantity of carbon is necessary to harden the metal into the required quality of steel. Instead of endeavoring to stop the process at the right moment, Munster asked, 'Why not first burn out all the carbon and then pour back the exact quantity that you need?' This was a simple device, but no one had thought of it before."

The man who took the invention of Kelly and Bessemer into his hands, developed it into one of the wonders of the world and made the Carnegie millions was Captain William R. Jones—Bill Jones, as he was known—who seemed to live with the sole desire of topping over the idea that England owned the steel trade. He could have been a millionaire many times over but he cared little for money. When he was offered a partnership he replied:

"No, Mr. Carnegie, I don't know anything about business, and I don't want to be bothered with it. I've got trouble enough here in these works. I'll tell you what you can do—these were his exact words—"you can give me a thundering big salary."

"After this, captain," replied Carnegie, "you shall have the salary of the president of the United States—$25,000."

The famous scrap heap policy was originated by Jones. He did not believe in waiting until his machinery was worn out. The moment that an improvement was invented old machinery was dragged to the scrap heap and the latest devices put in its place. He made the shareholders gasp on several occasions by asking permission to smash up $500,000 worth of machinery that was as good as new, but outworn. Jones died, as he had lived, in the midst of an industrial battle at the head of his men. He was killed in an accident in the company's works. "Carnegie, looking upon poor Jones as he lay in the hospital, sobbed like a child."—"The Romance of Steel" by Herbert K. Casson.

In a material way the glory of Augustus applies to President Eliot. He found a Harvard of brick, and leaves it the modern equivalent of marble. He found it poor and ill equipped, and left it with an endowment of $20,000,000 in funds and probably nearly as much in value of the plant. And endless comparison may be made, testifying to the like growth, in the number of students and of instructors, in the value and efficient use of collections, in the development of new modes of extending Harvard's influence. President Eliot, however, must take great pride in the fact that during his administration and largely owing to his exertions the Harvard College of 1869, with all its delightful, old-time associations, was converted into the great modern university of today, dealing with every form of human activity in its teaching and spreading far beyond academic limits its range of instruction. It is admirably well done through every moment of an unprecedented long administration is left by President Eliot, work that must seem to the body of Harvard graduates like a new foundation of the University. Degrees will hardly seem genuine without his well-known firm signature.—New York Sun.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Four Big Football Games Scheduled For Saturday—Knox County Ice Polo Prospects.

Four football games will be played Saturday on which the eyes of all those interested in the most popular of college sports will be focused. Yale will take the field against Princeton, and the game will have a distinct bearing on the so-called championship; Harvard will line up against Dartmouth in the test before the battle with Yale the following Saturday, while Pennsylvania and Cornell will go West to meet Michigan and Chicago respectively for games that will provide a thorough and complete test of the respective merits of two of the leading teams in the East with two of the strongest in the Middle West. Other interesting games are scheduled between Annapolis and Pennsylvania State, West Point and Washington and Jefferson, Brown and Vermont and New York University and Union, among others, but the four first named will hold the center of the stage, as so much hinges on the results. The annual meeting between Yale and Princeton is naturally the centre of interest, although not to the exclusion of the other three, as the Dartmouth team proved itself by defeating Princeton Saturday and earned a forward place in the ranking, while the intercollegiate games should settle, for this year at least, the much mooted question between the East and the West.

Interest in college football circles now centers on Saturday's game at Orono between Bowdoin and U. of M. That will close the college season and it will be a battle royal. Both teams have been defeated and neither of them can have a clean claim on the 1908 championship, but they will fight for the victory with no less desperation. Both have special reasons for wanting their game. Bowdoin is anxious to wipe out the disgrace of last Saturday's slump and to close its season with a victory over a strong rival. Maine is anxious to win because the Bowdoin game is the big game of its schedule toward which all its plans and preparations are made. Moreover, it has never yet defeated Bowdoin on its home field at Orono and it has the memory of that 34 to 5 defeat at Brunswick a year ago fresh in mind. It will be a hard game and one worth seeing.

Five men on the Bowdoin eleven and four on the U. of M. eleven will play their last college game next Saturday. The Bowdoin players who graduate next June are Capt. McDade, center, Burton, quarterback, Manter, right halfback, Gastonguay, fullback, and Hughes, right end. The members of '09 on the U. of M. team are Capt. White, right tackle, Ham, right guard, Black, center, and Ray left tackle.

Coby will not play the winner of the Maine-Bowdoin game for the college football championship of Maine, on the ground that her coach has gone and that it would be foolish to keep in training two weeks for that purpose. The Kennebec Journal sizes up the championship thus: "This will be another of the years when no eleven will have a claim to the Maine championship. Some writers will figure out 'percentages' and talk about 'ties,' but no football team can call itself champion unless it has beaten all three of its rivals. The attempt to figure out football championship as baseball championships are figured out, when each baseball team meets each of the other teams several times is a harmless newspaper amusement, but it proves nothing. Unless one of the four Maine college eleven has beaten all three of its rivals the 'championship' can be traced right around in a circle."

Saturday's game at Orono will be the 13th between Bowdoin and U. of M. and of the 12 already played Bowdoin has won eight and U. of M. four. Bowdoin has won the last two games.

South Thomaston boasted two crack-adjack ice-polo teams last winter—one at Ash Point and one at the Keas. Some excellent games were played and the suggestion has lent itself to the idea of having a Knox county series the coming winter. W. H. Jackson, manager of the South Thomaston high school team called The Courier-Gazette by phone yesterday to see that his team would be in the game this season and desired to see a league formed. Assuming that South Thomaston's two teams, Rockland High and Thomaston High, formed such a league, the series could be played after the style of college leagues—each team playing two games with all the others, one at home and one in the other team's town. Thomaston will have a dandy skating pond at the Creek this season, while Rockland and South Thomaston each have numerous good places where games could be played. Perhaps Camden and Rockport would like to enter such an arrangement. The Courier-Gazette and Manager Jackson will be glad to receive the views of all interested in this subject.

A BATH LAUNCHING.

The five masted schooner Fuller Palmer, named in honor of Dr. A. L. Fuller of Boston, a business associate of William F. Palmer of Boston, the Harboring owner, was launched Tuesday from the yard of Percy & Small for the Palmer fleet of five masted. The dimensions are: Length 209.4 feet, breadth 48.3 feet, depth 27.4 feet, gross tonnage 3600. She will have a carrying capacity of 5400 tons and is constructed for the coal carrying trade. Capt. Otis W. Clark of Boston will go in command and the schooner will be ready for sea this week. The crew will consist of 14 men. There is telephone connection to all parts of the schooner. Her cost was $150,000 and she is the 8th schooner built by Percy & Small. The craft was christened with flowers by Mrs. A. L. Fuller and Fannie and Paul, the two children of William F. Palmer.

Wednesday there were 42 westward bound vessels in the harbor, awaiting favorable weather. Thursday 23 of them sailed.

Mr. Hix was a genial, courteous gentleman with a kind and generous heart, which made friends for him wherever he went but especially in his native city. During his last years he became a devout Christian with unfaltering faith in Christ, which gave him great comfort and which stood by him to the last. The funeral Wednesday afternoon was attended by many old friends. The flowers were lavish and beautiful. Rev. W. J. Day in brief but pointed remarks paid a fitting tribute to the deceased. Rev. W. O. Holman offered prayer. Interment was at Achorn cemetery. The bearers were F. J. Simonton, Joseph Greenhalgh, R. C. Hall, Capt. Joshua Bartlett.

Mr. Hix married 50 years ago next Jan. 8, Miss Susan Farrand. Had he lived until that time they would have celebrated their golden wedding. All who knew them intimately must agree in pronouncing their domestic life to have been the happiest possible. They had two sons one of whom died many years ago from a sad accident. The other, Harrison F., who survives to care for his mother in her elder years, is one of our best known business men.

KILLED IN DUEL

Former Senator Carmack of Tennessee Shot By a Political Opponent.

Ex-United States senator Edward Ward Carmack, editor of the Tennessee, was shot and killed Monday by Robin Cooper, a son of Col. Duncan C. Cooper. Mr. Carmack was going north in Seventh avenue and Col. Cooper and his son were approaching Seventh avenue, on Union street. Soon after they came in sight of one another the shooting began. Robin Cooper, it is said, fired three shots and Senator Carmack two.

Senator Carmack fell to the ground with the quiver of shots and died instantly. Robin Cooper was shot in the right shoulder, but was not seriously hurt.

It is said the trouble had its origin in the recent Democratic gubernatorial primary, in which Carmack was defeated. Carmack has, as editor of the Tennessee, been rather caustic in his editorial criticism of what he called the Democratic machine and had printed several editorials about Col. Cooper. Within the last few days, it is said, Col. Cooper told Carmack that these editorial criticisms must cease. Monday morning another editorial in reference to Colonel Cooper appeared in the Tennessee and this is supposed to have been the immediate cause of the trouble.

Senator Carmack spoke in Rockland from the court house steps in the September campaign eight years ago, his companion on that memorable occasion being no less a personage than the three-deafened Presidential candidate, William J. Bryan.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to develop, the kidneys become clogged with blood and the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this advertisement in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The only valuable testimony which any household remedy can have is the testimony of those who have used it. It is worse than useless to discuss Peruna from a theoretical standpoint. It is what Peruna will do, not what people say about it, that constitutes evidence. The housewives of the United States know what Peruna will do. They have tried it. They have realized its benefit in the family. They are the ones that are competent to speak of it. Self-appointed critics know nothing of it whatever.

Peruna Their Family Medicine.
Mrs. Anna C. Hyde, 712 E. Yamhill street, Portland, Oregon, Vice President Literary and Educational Organization of New Hampshire, writes:

"I am pleased to endorse Peruna as an all-round good family medicine, and one that is safe to give children. I give it to mine at the least suggestion of a cold, and take it myself to build up my strength and nerves."

"My sister, who is living with me, uses Peruna, too, and she is loud in its praises."

"Your medicine is certainly worthy of praise."

Backache, Headache.
Mrs. Tressie Nelson, 609 N. Fifth Ave., Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"As Peruna has done me a world of good, I feel it my duty to tell of it, in hopes that it may meet the eye of some woman who has suffered as I did."

"For five years I really did not know what a perfectly well day was, and if I did not have headache, I had backache or a pain somewhere and really life was not worth the effort I made to keep going."

"A good friend advised me to use Peruna and I was glad to try anything, and I am very pleased to say that six bottles made a new woman of me and I have no more pains and life looks bright again."

Catarrh of Bowels.
Mrs. Maggie Durbin, 1332 North street, Little Rock, Ark., writes:

"I was troubled for five years with a chronic disease. I tried everything I heard of, but nothing did me any good. Some doctors said my trouble was catarrh of the bowels, and some said consumption of the bowels. One doctor said he could cure me. I took his medicine two months, but it did me no good."

"A friend of mine advised me to try Peruna and I did so. After I had taken two bottles I found it was helping me, so I continued its use, and it has cured me sound and well."

"I can recommend Peruna to anyone, and if anyone wants to know what Peruna did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

Kidneys and Bladder.
Mrs. Gus. H. Carlson, Box 201, Ortonville, Minn., writes:

"I had catarrh of the kidneys and bladder. I have taken Peruna until now, and I do not think I need to take it any longer."

"I feel well, and my tongue is clear, and I have no bitter taste in my mouth. I am very thankful for Peruna."
