Mrs. Jones's Death.

Through the thoughtfulness of a friend MAINE WOODSMAN has been furnished the following article which appeared in the Topeka (Kan.) State Journal very soon after Mrs. A. E. Jones, formerly of Avon, was burned to death.

Mrs. Hattie E. Jones, wife of A. E. Jones the Kansas dairy commissioner at the St. Louis exposition, was burned to death Sunday morning by a gasoline stove accident at her home at the corner of Munson and Washburn avenues.

The accident happened at 8 o'clock in the morning and Mrs. Jones died at Stormont hospital, Topeka, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Jones was in St. Louis when the accident occurred and didn't reach home until today.

Mrs. Jones sacrificed her life in an effort to save her new home from burning. It was while she was running to the flaming stove with a large rug for the purpose of smothering the fire that her skirts became ignited. She rushed out of doors with her dress in flames. Mrs. Mary Warren, who was with her when the accident happened, had gone with a bucket to the pump in the adjoining yard for the purpose of getting water to put out the fire. A neighbor, who lives next door, heard the screams and ran out with a rug which he threw around Mrs. Jones extinguishing the fire. Another neighbor saved the house from burning by pulling the gasoline stove, which was a mass of flames, out of the back door.

The new house was built by Mr. Jones this summer and Mr. and Mrs. Jones moved in only a week ago. Mr. Jones left for St. Louis as soon as they had become settled in their new location. Mr. Jones's daughter says that the last thing Mr. Jones said to his wife before taking his departure was: "Well, Hattie, be careful of yourself. Don't let anything happen to you while I am away."

The only eyewitness of the beginning of the tragedy was Mrs. Mary Warren of 1155 Wayne avenue. Mrs. Warren had been staying with Mrs. Jones during the absence of Mr. Jones in St. Louis. Mrs. Warren says:

"Mrs. Jones and I occupied rooms across the hall from each other. Sunday morning I heard Mrs. Jones stirring around in the kitchen before I got up. While I was dressing Mrs. Jones called me. She said, 'I wish you'd come here. There is something the matter with the gasoline stove.' I went right to her for I was afraid something had happened. She said the gasoline would not drip out into the cups although she had just filled the tank. I looked at the tank and saw that there was a lot of gasoline on top of it. I said to her that she ought to get that gasoline off before she lighted the stove and she intended to. I examined the stove and found the tank was too full. I unscrewed the cap and when I did so that let the gasoline drip down into the cups all right.

"I think Mrs. Jones at once lighted the gasoline and somehow it got to blazing too high. The stove got so hot we could not turn off the gasoline and I, having read somewhere that by throwing something over to stop the holes in the burner the fire would go out, went into the yard to get some sand to throw on but by that time Mrs. Jones was trying to smother the flames with a rug. Then we threw on some water, but nothing did any good. I said to Mrs. Jones, 'shall I go and get some water?' and she said yes. The stove was blazing terribly by that time. Mrs. Jones said, 'Oh my God, the house is going to burn! The house! The house!' She brought another big rug from the dining room and rushed right into the flames to throw it over the stove. Meantime I had seized the bucket and started out the door.

"After I had gone a few steps I turned and saw Mrs. Jones come out on the back porch. I saw that her dress was blazing up from behind. She was screaming and trying to put the fire out. It seemed as though I was paralyzed. I stopped right where I was. She came down the steps and her dress began to burn harder and harder. Then I came to myself and started after the water. Mrs. Jones seemed to try to follow me. One of the neighbors had seen what was going on and he came running out and threw a rug around Mrs. Jones. She was so wild with pain that she fought him and he had to throw her down before he got the rug around her. After that others rushed in and one pulled the gasoline stove out into the yard. That saved the house from burning. Mrs. Jones' clothes were nearly burned off. The neighbors brought a couch out from her house and laid her on it under the trees and Drs. Schwartz and Stewart were summoned.

"The agony of the unfortunate woman was indescribable, though she was rational nearly to the time of her death. At first she objected to going to the hospital, but finally she called one of her neighbors, Mrs. C. C. Munson, and told her where she had placed her valuables and some money for safe keeping. She instructed her to take charge of them and told her what disposition she desired to have made of them. The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made as the family have been waiting for Mr. Jones's return.

Mrs. Jones was a daughter of the late Seward Vining of Avon and Mr. Jones was formerly a resident of Strong.

Grange Notes.

At the regular meeting of North Franklin Pomona grange held with Aurora grange, Strong, only 24 members were present when the meeting was called to order. The regular business being disposed of the fifth degree was conferred on a class of four in full form.

After a bountiful dinner was served in the dining room below, the meeting was again called to order and the afternoon session was largely attended. A fine literary program was carried out which consisted of

It was decided to hold the regular meetings of North Franklin Pomona grange the third Tuesday in each month, members please note the change of time.

Thus a pleasant meeting was closed.

Allen Camp Meeting.

The Allen camp meeting at Strong formally opened Monday evening with the former attendance of the association for the first night. The chorus was present and finely rendered several selections. The good attendance was considered remarkable owing to the rainy evening.

Tuesday morning dawned bright and clear. At 10 a. m. an eloquent and helpful sermon was preached by Rev. H. H. Richards of Stratton. In the afternoon Dr. L. H. Baker, Delaware, Ohio, gave Bible readings, his subjects being "Prayer" and "The Gift of the Spirit." Mr. Baker is a remarkably interesting and convincing man. He also conducted the evening service, which was very largely attended.

The following pastors are now present at the meetings: Revs. Cory, Craig, Sherman, Baker, Richardson, Swan, Perry, Leech and Howard.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Howard and Miss Keen sang a duet very acceptably indeed.

RALLY.

Opening Campaign In This Town Wednesday.
 Speaking Nominees For Governor and Congressman.

Hon. Wm. T. Cobb, Republican candidate for Governor, and Congressman Littlefield, have been speaking to the people of Franklin county during the present week. On Tuesday afternoon they were at Farmington; they were at Wilton in the evening. On Wednesday afternoon they spoke in Phillips and in the evening at Kingfield.

They had big meetings at each place, and expressed themselves as well pleased with the reception given them all along the line.

The people in this section have heard Congressman Littlefield speak during other campaigns and they are always anxious to hear him again. Mr. Cobb hasn't spoken in the county until this week and there was more or less speculation as to his general appearance, and his ability as a speaker. The people gard to the prohibitory substantially as expressed in Phillips and elsewhere in Franklin county.

Congressman Littlefield referred to some matters of state interest, especially the rather ambiguous reference in their platform to fish and game, in which they said that the fish and game laws should be revised but omitted to say whether they should be more open or closed, more broad or narrower.

He said that he was not prepared to say that there were not chances for improvement in fish and game in common with other laws on our statute books. The paragraph in the Democratic platform referring to this subject can hardly be called a plank, because it isn't square—it hasn't anything to get hold of, anywhere.

It is a log rather than a plank, for it is round, you can get hold of it anywhere and it leaves you nothing whatever to stand upon.

Congressman Littlefield cited the benefit to the country from the tin-plate industry, which was created by a Republican administration in 1890. In 1890 the duty on tin plate was raised to

He said Judge Parker's idea that trusts could be regulated by common law is wrong. Common law cannot reach the monopolies because they do business beyond the boundaries of the state within which common law can only operate. There isn't a trust or a corporation of any size but depends on interstate commerce. Practically all of the manufacturing in Franklin county is for interstate trade. Your spools, your novelties and your lumber, practically all go to outside markets.

I believe Judge Parker's statement is practically a public notice to the trusts that they have nothing to fear from the Democratic party. If the people want something done to regulate the trusts, they will vote for the Republican party.

Witbam pitched the first four innings for Weld and Carrigan the last five. Moore of East Wilton pitched for Dixfield. The chief features of the game were the two home runs by Lord of South Portland, who led the Dixfield batting list.

A large crowd went with the home team to Dixfield, Saturday, but the rain prevented the game.

CONGRESSMAN LITTLEFIELD, From a Photograph by Rev. O. W. Peterson, Taken Some Months Ago on Maine Street, Phillips.

liked him; they liked to hear him talk; they gave him very close attention.

Mr. Cobb referred at the outset to State expenses, the fee system and enforcement of the prohibitory law, the three local issues that were taken up in the Republican platform introduced at the Bangor Convention.

He defended the party in the matter of state expenditures calling attention to the fact that 62 per cent of the $974,000 raised in 1903 was expended for the common schools.

It was turned back into the towns and cities. The amount expended for high schools brings the total per cent expended for education up to 70 per cent.

"For what reason can it be better expended?" someone complain about the "what way?"

"Is it of corruption?" someone would correct it "offenders any quicker?"

In reference to the system, he said that the party had done all that its abolition had done all that direct tion and they would keep their faith.

In our campaign supplement, in the middle of pages 4 and 5 under the big out are printed Mr. Cobb's views in re-about 70 per cent. The production of tin plate in this country the last six months in 1891 was 2,246,702 pounds. In 1894, 166,343,409 pounds were produced and in 1902, 819,840,000 pounds were produced.

In 1900 there were 71 plants with a capital of $28,201,863. The wages paid annually were $10,288,061. There were 14,828 wage earners and the value of the product $41,322,053. The estimated wages since 1891 is $100,000,000.

The cost of production in this country in 1891 was $5.30 per one hundred pounds. The cost of production abroad at the same time was $3 per one hundred pounds. The cost of production here March 4, 1904, was $3.65 per one hundred pounds and cost of production abroad at this time $2.90 per one hundred pounds, the annual saving being $13,576 652; the estimated total saving, $75,000,000.

Congressman Littlefield challenged any person to point to one line of legislation that has benefited the country so much as this one act which was created by the Republican party.

Congressman Littlefield showed wherein the trusts were not created by the tariff, as they exist in countries having a free trade. Trusts also handle commodities which are on the free list.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Rev. F. E. Frees of West Falmouth preached at the Union church using as his text a clause from John xiv, 6, "I am the way."

Let us picture the scene where these words were uttered. We see a group of thirteen men engaged in earnest conversation. Twelve of the number are gathered about one man who is their leader. They are listening with evident sorrow to his words. He has told them that his work among them is finished and that now he is to leave them. They are questioning about this journey that he is to take. Peter, the impulsive disciple, asks why he cannot now follow his master. He says that he is ready even to lay down his life for him. But Thomas says that they do not know the way. Then Jesus makes answer that he is the way, the only way to the Father. Philip voices the ignorance that they all have about much that Jesus would have taught them and now it is the Master's face over which passes the look of sadness: "Philip, have I been so long time with you and yet hast thou not known me?"

We frequently say all roads lead to a certain place, to Boston, to Portland, we may say even to this little town. The statement is true. You may start for the place you wish to reach and if you walk along the roads in the right way you will reach that place. But think you it matters not which way your face is turned. If you turn your back upon the city even though your feet are in the way that leads to it your journeying will lead you farther and farther away. You may know the way to the heavenly city in which are the many mansions of which Jesus told his sorrowing disciples, but unless you set your face toward it your traveling will not bring you to its gates or give you an entrance there.

There are many things about this way of life of which Jesus spoke when he said, "I am the way" that make it a way of joy and gladness. I want to speak to you of five things that characterize it. First, it is a pleasant way. There is scarcely anything for which people of this day are striving more than they strive for pleasure. We are continually wearying ourselves in the effort to find some new pleasure or amusement. We are looking for something that shall agreeably fill the present hour. I tell you that this Christian way is a pleasant way. To walk in it gives a very real pleasure and happiness. Often the pleasures that men seek are gone as quickly as the sand that slips through the fingers and leaves nothing in the hand. The pleasures of this way give a peace that remains. Its ways are pleasantness and its paths peace.

If there be anything for which men strive more than for pleasure, it is for gain. The greed for gold is strong among us. Men study to know what business will yield the largest returns. Time and strength are given to accumulate wealth. I tell you today that this way of which I speak is a profitable way. Its returns are far greater than those yielded by any business of the world. "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

To succeed in business one needs some one to help. I have a young friend who was recently admitted to the bar at Portland. When he had finished his studies a man who had become distinguished in the profession of law received him into his office, gave him the benefit of his practice and the helpful influence of his name. My young friend was enabled to win immediate success because of the help of the experienced man. God calls us each to be co-workers together with him. Can we doubt the profit and success of any work or business in which we have a partnership with the eternal God?

But this is not all. It is a reliable way. Nothing more disgusts and displeases a man than to find himself deceived. There are fair promises that are never fulfilled. But this is a way of truth. No one is found who says that God has failed him, we find men disgusted with themselves, deceived by their own weakness which they had counted strength. But God deceives no one. God deserts no one "Let I am with you always."

Again it is a safe way; as a child I was taught that danger was all about us. The thought of danger and of fear clung to me till I came to realize the safety of this way. "Fear thou not, for I am with thee; be not dismayed, for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee, yea I will help thee, yea I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness." You say you know that trouble comes to the godly man, sickness attacks him, lightning may fall upon him, disaster cripple his business and defeat his plans. Accident and death come to him as to others. Yes; but these things are not to the real man, the "I" that dwells in each body. God has not promised that the body shall escape pain and death.

Farm Department.

[Those who are interested in agriculture, and who are willing to contribute to the success of this department in MAINE WOODSMAN, are requested to furnish by mail or in person such facts of interest to Franklin county readers as come under their observation.—ED.]

Farm Notes.

The codlin moth and railroad worm are busy these days. I do not know of any Phillips farmer who has sprayed the blossoms of fruit trees in the spring to check these pests. They crawl out of the apples in the spring and the moths from the worms are ready for work two weeks later.

If at this time the limbs of trees are given a light jar the infested fruit and half ripe apples fall. These may be gathered and made into early cider or boiled for hogs.

This early made cider makes first-class stock for vinegar if not wanted for other purposes and next season's crop of moths is very largely destroyed.

Many eminent orchardists claim that it is always wrong to prop the limbs of an overloaded fruit tree, especially of a young tree. It is claimed to be a better practice to remove some of the smaller fruit and use as stated above. The late Maj. S. Dill was very much opposed to propping the limbs of fruit trees.

Several Phillips farmers—Mr. Arthur Graffam for one—have for several years broken up some of their grass land in August. Of course they have found some good results from this practice or it would not be continued in the warm weather and incident to the dry soil of this month.

Another Phillips farmer, W. S. Hodges, is trying a new thing in a small way this fall, it is this: Having considerable land in one of the pastures which is covered with the common brakes, one acre has been mowed, the brakes put into the hog pen and the land harrowed two ways with a spring tooth harrow. One man drives the team and the other rides the harrow. A few days later it is proposed to sow a dozen pounds of clover seed on this piece. If the cattle are kept off long enough next spring probably the feed on this piece will in time pay well for the work done.

The mention of brakes for the pig pen suggests the thought that they make nice mulch for apple trees. If they are thus used be dead sure to trample the first snows down solid around the trees and thus interfere with the work of mice next winter. It is better still to put a roll of the wire screen used for windows around the young trees. This will protect them thoroughly some two feet above the soil.

POPE'S SISTERS DODGE HEAT

Pius X. Orders Ladies to Leave Rome and They Go to Summer Palace.

The Gordian knot is cut, and the sisters fled the heat and are in Castle Gondolfo, says the Pall Mall Gazette. Before the decision was taken, great was the commotion in the little apartment in the Corso Vittorio Emanuele. However, in stepped his holiness, and not only insisted that they should leave Rome, but indicated where they should go, and, as the good ladies would as soon think of cutting off their heads as dispute anything that Pius X. decides upon, they are already safe in the papal summer palace.

The palace, with its immense grounds, is one of the few temporal possessions left to the pontiffs after the Italians took possession of Rome. It dominates both the Mediterranean, on one hand, and the tiny historic lake of Albino on the other, and is only about an hour by rail from the Eternal City. The palace is a rambling old pile, with enormous halls in which regiments could be accommodated; a fine chapel, but, alas! bare of furniture. At one time it had quantities of antique furniture, priceless marbles and old tapestries, but these have in the main vanished into thin air.

Children's Spring Tonic.

After a long winter the children's blood flows sluggishly, the bowels are irregular and the channels of the body clogged. This is the chance for which disease has been lying in wait. No time should be lost in clearing the blood and regulating the stomach with a good spring medicine. For children's ailments nothing equals Dr. True's Worm Elixir. A few doses will expel worms, if any, and tone up the whole system. A better spring medicine cannot be found. Twenty thousand bottles were sold in March alone. Price 35 cts., at all druggists.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband should be a woman's constant study. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Potts tell their stories for the benefit of all wives and mothers.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make every mother well, strong, healthy and happy. I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and weariness. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was, and the wonderful results she had had from your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try what it would do for me, and used it for three months. At the end of that time I was a different woman, the neighbors remarked it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. It seemed like a new existence. I had been suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, but your medicine cured that and built up my entire system, till I was indeed like a new woman.—Sincerely yours, Mrs. CHAS. F. BROWN, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., Vice President Mothers' Club."

Suffering women should not fail to profit by Mrs. Brown's experiences; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure other women who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration. Read the story of Mrs. Potts to all mothers:—

Kingfield Churches.

EVANGELICAL CHURCH.

The pastor preached from the text found in I Cor. I, xxx, "But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom and righteousness and sanctification and redemption." He said in part:

Full salvation comprehends the full provision of the Gospel for body, soul and spirit. Through sin, that giant octopus, which reaches out its tentacles and seizes men and women in its ever tightening embrace, the entire man has been wrecked. We cannot fully comprehend the enormity of sin until we fully consider its ultimate results. But Christ has come to fully restore to us all that we have lost by sin. "When sin abounded, grace did much more abound." To be full partakers of the benefits of the atonement of Christ, we must first be "in Christ."

As the branch that bears fruit is united to the vine or trunk, so intimately must we be united to Jesus Christ. This means more than faith in a historic Christ or mere intellectual assent to the truth. It means a personal contact, a vital union with Christ, so as to partake of his life and nature. "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold all things are become new."

Measure your Christian experience by this, it is the eternal standard set up by the Word of God. I ask you will the men turning over a new leaf produce such a state of excellence? Will reformation do this work for you? No! No! There must be a new existence, a new life, with its new purposes, new springs of joy, producing new hopes, new ambitions, new satisfactions. This cannot be done without repentance and faith in an unseen power greater than sin. "Whosoever ever abideth in him, sinneth not," any other teaching is not Scriptural. In Christ we find all things that pertain unto life and godliness.

1. "Wisdom"—One of the saddest features of sin is that it darkens the mind and shuts out the knowledge of God. The sinner's eyes are blinded to the truth, to his own best good, to his highest interest and to his own peril. Men may spend their whole lives in seeking the wisdom of this world, but if they fail to gain that true wisdom that cometh from above, the poorest, most intellectual man who is taught of God is wiser than he. We read that "the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." True wisdom reveals to us God and our relationship to him as rebels having broken his laws. It also reveals to us God's love and the way of salvation through Jesus Christ.

2. "Righteousness"—We are not saved by our own righteousness, but by the righteousness of Christ. Man's righteousness is but filthy rags in the sight of God. Through the obedience and sacrifice of Christ God's justice was satisfied and the repentant sinner's faith in Christ has made him acceptable unto God. "As by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous."

3. "Sanctification"—This is the will of God, even your sanctification. Sanctification is the "act of divine grace whereby we are made holy." While justification is the act of God, committed, sanctification is the act of man, committed, the native of sin or the native of holiness. This is an experience of holiness, and is condition of consecration and faith, of obedience and condemnation; of deliverance from unholy temptations and appetites. Christ also loved the church and gave himself for it, that he might sanctify and cleanse it. God, the Father, wills it; Christ, the Son, provides it and the Holy Ghost accomplishes it.

4. "Redemption"—Full redemption includes the body and will be realized when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption and the mortal shall have put on immortality. Blessed hope and promise of immortality. But so far as our spiritual nature is concerned, there is complete redemption now. Are you enjoying it?

ANOTHER series of baseball games at Weld this week, and the Weld people are shouting for their boys and giving them every assistance, as usual.

It is the duty of every man, whether a republican, democrat or a member of any other political party, to vote. Vote according to your convictions, but vote.

HORRORS! "Old Man" Moore, founder of the Phonograph has so far taken up the habits of the breezy West as to accept a liquor advertisement for his newspaper, the White River Journal of Kent, Washington.

Weld Baseball.

THE town of Weld has a class of citizens who are absolutely loyal. They believe in their own town and they show it plainly upon every occasion. It is brought out very plainly in the support the people give their baseball team. Our Weld correspondent, speaking of baseball writes us as follows:

There is probably no town in the state—or in New England—where the people are more enthusiastic over baseball than they are in this little town of Weld. Whenever there is a ball game, work of every kind is thrown aside and all go to see their team beat or get beaten, as the case may be. Nor do we have to look far for the cause of this enthusiasm. For years, with few exceptions, Weld has had a winning team and although they have been beaten several times this season, they are still in the game as they certainly proved themselves to be in the series of games with the Hartfords recently. We still think we have a team of which any town might well be proud.

St. Louis Excursion.

Mr. E. C. Bowler, editor of the Bethel News, made plans last spring to take his family to the St. Louis Exposition. Some of his friends heard of it and wanted to join. They joined and others heard of it and they wanted to go along, too. It worked like an endless chain and although Mr. Bowler at first had no intention of taking anybody but his family the result was that he took 64 people. The 64 had a happy time at small expense and Bowler got interested. Now he's getting up another excursion to go by special train via the White mountains, Montreal, Niagara and Chicago, with automobile ride and five days at St. Louis, all for $70. There are no extras to be charged up. The $70 pays fares, sleepers, all side trips, admission to fair and all board from start to finish.

We don't get a cent for this notice, but we know Bowler. We think it would be worth $70 to be conducted to the St. Louis fair by him, even with some of the side trips and fixin's (that other tours don't have) left off. If any of our readers have been thinking about going to the fair and would like to be one of a party that will all get acquainted and be like one big happy family, they should write to E. C. Bowler, editor of the Bethel News, Bethel, Maine. His train will go from Portland Sept. 19. Then the weather will be comfortable and the fair will have reached the limit for attractions.

DEPOSITS MUCH SEDIMENT

Amount of Earth Carried by Mississippi River Declared to Be Enormous.

The capacity of the Mississippi for filling up canals and old channels is something awful. Government engineers have found that the amount of solid matter annually carried past Vicksburg is enough to make a block of earth 300 feet high and a mile square, says a writer in Ainslie's. Some of this is spread around on the valley between here and the sea, and the rest goes out into the Gulf of Mexico.

Think what that means. Instead of a river of water, this is a river of land. It would make a solid stream of earth five feet deep, and nine feet wide, flowing night and day as fast as a man can walk—four miles an hour—all sliding down out of the northern half of the country toward the sea. Year in, year out, that endless line of earth goes on. It would take a force of more than 50,000 men, working in eight-hour shifts, to throw the dirt into the stream, supposing the river bed were rigid and an inexhaustible supply of dirt on the bank. It would make 25,000,000 wagon loads every year.

INABILITY OF PRINCE PU.

His Highness Laments Fact That in Three Days He Had Not Learned Poker.

Three days after the arrival in this country of his imperial highness, Prince Pu Lun, nephew of the emperor of China, the party of Chinese arrived in Omaha on a special Union Pacific train bound for St. Louis. Representatives of all the local newspapers were at the station and the prince consented to be interviewed. As the interpreter was the only member of the prince's party who could speak English, the conversation was carried on through that personage, and the interview consisted of just one question and one answer.

"How do you like the country, prince?" was asked.

"The country is very fine. I like it. But I am satisfied that I could never become a good American citizen. Actually I have been in America three whole days and I cannot yet play poker."

Then Pu Lun bowed and smiled and retreated into his car.

FARMINGTON NEWS.

Special correspondences to Maine Woodsman.
FARMINGTON, Aug. 23, 1904.

The gubernatorial and congressional candidates, Cobb and Littlefield, spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience in Music hall Tuesday afternoon. Wheeler's band was present and enlivened the occasion with appropriate music. Messrs. Cobb and Littlefield were at their best and presented strong, well worded arguments in favor of their position. Mr. Littlefield frequently enlivened his remarks with stories particularly appropos to the occasion. Many prominent Republicans of the county were present at the meeting. Hon. H. H. Rice and Hon. J. W. Fairbanks had the meeting in charge, Mr. Rice acting as chairman. The candidates were quartered at Hotel Willows while in town.

The work of preparation in the ranks of Co. K is going forward very nicely indeed, the boys drilling twice a week. Co. K's mascot, Bradbury's goat, is now being fed a diet of shingle nails three times daily, instead of his former diet of tomato cans. Thus it is hoped to give him a constitution as hard as nails.

The company is now practicing shooting at the range to get in readiness for the state regimental match at Brunswick Oct. 4. General orders No. 15 have just been received by Inspector of Rifle Practice Lawry and he is beginning to wonder who he will pick out for his team. The sergeant squints his eye and says, "If nothing happens we'll make 'em go some." Probably there will not be much more excitement until the return of the company from Manassas. Sunday, week, the officers, commissioned and noncommissioned, and a few privates took a walk over the countryside for the purpose of estimating, distances, etc. The drills of the company are now very fully attended and every man is satisfied at the end of the drill that he has done his share of the hard work.

The quartermaster sergeant is very busy brushing clothing and every man will go south spick, span and clean. The coveted prizes of corporal and lance corporal were awarded at a recent drill to Private's Gilkey and Roberts.

New shoes are very much in vogue now, the men giving directions to have the shoes shaped to their corns and bunions. Of course in the physical emanation no corns and bunions appear, as in the case of the ladies.

Quite a number in the company are having their teeth filled in order to put the hard tack under subjection the quicker. Private "Fawn" Campbell says "The d—d stuff soaks up like a piece of rubber." Considerable complaint exists among the company from the fact that they are allowed to take only what they can carry. One nice thing, however, is that everyone is used alike in the army.

The new men who have just come in show that their several months as "rookies" have done them much good. They are doing great work.

GOLD RESERVE STATISTICS

Figures of Our National Banks Compared with Great Foreign Institutions.

Recent statistics show that the national banks of the United States, the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Bank of Germany, the Bank of Russia, the Bank of Austria-Hungary, the Bank of Spain, the Bank of Italy, the Bank of the Netherlands and the Bank of Belgium hold about 40 per cent. of the entire stock of gold in the world. The statement of the national banks of this country to the comptroller of the currency on June 9 showed that they held on that date $391,609,529 gold, while the great foreign banks on the same date held about $1,791,595,000 in gold. The amount of gold in the national banks of this country on June 9 compares with $166,000,000 in the Bank of England, $177,000,000 in the Bank of Germany, $561,000,000 in the Bank of France and $423,000,000 in the Bank of Russia on the same date. The fact that 40 per cent. of the gold supply of the world is held by these principal reserve banks indicates the great strength of these institutions.

Dearest mother thou art sleeping
Where no pain can mar thy rest,
Sweetly sleep in Jesus' keeping
He will crown thee with the blest.

Darling mother, how we miss thee,
And our hearts are filled with pain,
But we hope ere long to meet thee,
Never more to part again.

But we'll look beyond the shadows,
And will dry the falling tear,
For the Saviour gently whispers,
"I will raise her never fear!"

MR. SIDNEY A. GAY.

Mr. Sidney Adairum Gay, whose death occurred Aug. 5, 1904, at the home of his son, Alphonzo Gay, in Augusta, was born in Salem, Maine, May 27, 1831. He was the son of Elijah and Abigail Turner Gay and one of a large family of children and is survived only by one sister, Miss Safrona Gay of Augusta, who is now 82 years of age. He spent the most of his life in Salem and Phillips, making this vicinity his home during a long life with the exception of eight or ten years, when he was employed by Mr. Bailey in the manufacture of oil cloths at Winthrop.

Mr. Gay was a man of sterling character, square in all his dealings and one whose word could be relied on. He early gave his heart to God and was connected to the Christian Baptist church and was a member at his death of the Christian Church of God, one established by the late Rev. E. V. Wheeler. He was always ready to lend a helping hand to the cause of Christ in church and Sabbath school work and lived an exemplary Christian and temperance life, never using intoxicating liquors or tobacco in any form. He was a kind and affectionate husband and father and held the respect of the community in which he lived.

Mr. Gay was married to Miss Lozenia Haley about 1851, the union being blessed with a family of eight children, four boys and four girls. Three sons, Alphonzo of Augusta, Sidney A. of Readfield and Leander of Phillips and one daughter, Mrs. Orvand Byron of Phillips, survive him. Since the death of his wife, which occurred some 15 years ago, he made his home with Leander on Bray hill. The past winter, however, he stopped with his daughter, Mrs. Oliver Gordon of Industry, whose death last February saddened his stay at her home. He went about two months ago to Augusta, where he died. Mr. Gay's health for many years was very poorly but not so bad as to hinder him from some business until the past few years. Although a great sufferer he bore his troubles very patiently and trusted firmly in his Father till the end. His remains were brought to Phillips for burial, the funeral services being held at the Blethen schoolhouse Saturday, Aug. 6, at 2.30 p. m., Rev. Charles E. Woodcock officiating. The interment took place in the cemetery in the Sampson

Stratton.

There was a ball game Friday on the Stratton grounds between the Flagstaff regulars and a pick up team from Coplin.

The scores were 4 to 20, in favor of the Coplins.

There was a fine dance in the evening for the ball boys in Green's hall.

THE HOG AS A FORESTER.

Wild and Semi-Wild Swine Destroy Hindrances to Young Pine Growth.

There are innumerable minor influences that come in for the forester's consideration, and what is recommended in one instance is discouraged in the next, says a writer in Outing. Take the matter of grazing in a forest. Throughout the more extensive woodlands of the middle west run thousands of wild or semi-wild hogs. In the Tennessee forest it was recommended that every possible effort be made to exterminate these, for the reason that they eat the mast and thus prevent the growing of young trees from the seed. But in the working plan before mentioned it is advised that hog grazing be encouraged. The reason for the difference is this: The former forest is chiefly mast-bearing hardwood. The latter is mainly pine, and what hardwood there is in mixture serves as a hindrance to young pine growth. Therefore, in this forest, the presence of hogs which eat the mast and check the hardwood is a benefit; while in the other, where hardwood is the staple, the animals are a nuisance.

The Golden-rods.

Special correspondence to Maine Woodsman.

FARMINGTON, Aug. 18, 1904.

Once again the fields and roadsides are made beautiful with this ever welcome flower. Ever welcome and yet its presence makes me feel that summer is waning and fall approaching.

There are quite a number of varieties of golden-rods. I wonder how many who pass through the fields and along the roadsides can tell the different kinds. The largest variety, Solidago Canadensis Varglabrata, is the earliest to bloom and makes very beautiful bouquets; the lance-leaved golden-rod, Solidago Lancolata. The flowers are in dense corymbed clusters.

Another kind found along the edges of woodlands bordering on the roadside is Solidago squarrosa. This species has the largest flowers of all of the golden-rods. The white golden-rod is a pretty plant and not very common. This is Solidago bicolor. A variety of this which is yellow in color is Solidago bicolor, variety concolor. Sometimes both are found quite near together, but generally are found somewhat apart.

Solidago puberula resembles the variety of the white golden-rod, Solidago bicolor, varconcolor, except that the former is more branched. Solidago serotina has the leaves very smooth and is a roadside plant. Solidago rugosa has very rough leaves. The leaves are very numerous on the stalk and quite wide. Solidago latifolia grows in the woods, especially in clearings as well as by the roadside.

Solidago caesia grows in the southern part of Chesterville near pine growths. The flowers are small and but few of them.

Solidago nemoralis is the most common of the species, every old field and pasture being full of it. The flowers are turned to one side and bent over like a curled feather.

The golden-rods belong to the great family, Compositae, and are in bloom a good while, being generally killed only by the frosts. One flower is made up of several flowers, each independent of the other and all collected into a large head.

Then do not despise them
Because with their coming
One feels that summer
Is passing away,
Let us enjoy them
And drink in their beauty,
Bright yellow golden-rod
Now holdeth sway.

STRONG NEWS.

Special correspondence to Maine Woodsmen.
STRONG, Aug. 23, 1904.

In an interview with M. A. Will recently, Mr. Will gave the following facts and figures in regard to the Strong waterworks: Work is being pushed on the reservoir, located about 1200 feet from the corn shop on land owned by Elias Porter. This reservoir will have a capacity of half a million gallons, will be 14 feet deep and 100 feet in diameter. This reservoir can run 1000 gallons an hour for eight hours continuously, with no inflow, before the supply is exhausted. Its perpendicular height above the level of the village will be 185 feet. The pipe used in the village mains will be six and eight-inch, purchased in Philadelphia of the firm of R. D. Ward & Co., and is daily expected to arrive. C. N. Taylor of Wellesley, Mass., has the contract that includes, in a general way of staking, ditching, laying the pipe, covering it, etc. He is engaged on this part of the work now with a crew of Italians, about 75 in number.

Instead of coming from the pond direct, the Barto brook, tributary to the pond, will be dammed 350 feet below the pond. From this dam the water will descend 500 perpendicular feet to the level of the village. The pressure near the bridge hill is estimated at about 90 pounds, in other portions of the village the pressure will be somewhat below this figure.

The house erected below the bridge, on land owned by M. A. Will, for the

Each year thirty acres of potatoes are planted and last year the yield was 9350 bushels of potatoes, raised at a cost of 14½ cents per bushel. At the prevailing prices for this vegetable last year it is easy to see that Mr. Hayford was a sure winner. 999 bushels of potatoes were put in the cellar in one day by the crew of six men employed for this work.

Mr. Hayford also raises 125 tons of hay and about 2000 bushels of grain, feeding this mostly to large work horses of which he makes a specialty. This year took exactly seven days to harvest this hay crop, two six inch foot machines being used. Mr. Hayford expressed surprise that the farmers in this section had not all finished haying by this time.

Mr. Hayford was in Salem last week and attended the old home week celebration, he being a native of the place. He said while there, that there was no reason why the Salem flats, by proper application of chemicals, to be determined by an analysis could not be made to bloom like the rose. He claimed that $10 worth of the right kind of chemicals would grow 200 bushels of potatoes on one of this ground. Here is a hint for Salem farmers, for it is evident that they know whereof they speak. The Woodsman that he had just gray matter.

Strong Churches.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The Doors Wide Open. Eccl. ix, 10. The only failure we ever need to fear is failure that comes through neglect of duty and privilege, for duty unheeded and privilege disregarded mean in former case the penalties of transgressed moral law and the latter the withdrawal of privilege and the infliction of the evils attendant on its rejection. Unquestionably the greatest duty of man is to love the Lord with all the heart, mind, soul and strength and the second is very similar being, really, coordinate with it, to love his neighbor as himself. The greatest privilege is to be children of God through faith in Christ by the power of the Holy Spirit. The reason so many fail to see the importance of these truths in their proper place is not bad intention but indifference. "The door of indifference is always open and many enter in thereat."

The human heart has two sets of doors—doors that open toward God and toward man. The heart is both receptive and disseminative.

These doors may be completely closed, partially open or wide open. When closed the character is godless, selfish and inhuman. When partially closed partial religious and a "pretty good fellow," but when wide open the whole being is consecrated to the service of both God and man. Devotion to God is measured by fidelity to the highest welfare of man if done for Jesus' sake.

In every church to secure the most efficient service there must be unity of effort with a definite object in view and a wholesome spirit of effort that expects results. But the organization may be ever so perfect yet its efforts will be futile without the infilling of the Holy Spirit.

The doors of large promise are wide open for an era of great advance throughout the Christian church as well as in our own church. There are signs of the morning everywhere.

For this church the door of opportunity stands wide open and great things are ours if we only claim them. The Allen camp meeting is such a door. Its future and usefulness depend largely on the support it receives from the people. Shall it be a permanent institution here ever increasing in power to help and bless? What is your personal responsibility toward it? The latter question answers the former. This great privilege unimproved means its withdrawal and its bestowal upon a people fitted and worthy to receive it. Let us enter in at evening door of opportunity for the glory of God and the salvation of souls.
