COMPANY K RETURNS

From a Very Pleasant Encampment at Augusta.

Capt. Johnson's Address Both Interesting and Instructive.

Special correspondence to Maine Woodsman.

FARMINGTON, Aug. 14, 1905

The second regiment broke camp at Camp Cobb, Friday morning, Aug. 18. Co. K arrived home on the 5:30 p. m. train and although they looked warm and tired they reported a good time and that their tour was very satisfactory. They arrived at Camp Cobb on Aug. 5 at 12:15 p. m., via Winthrop, taking electric cars for the muster grounds. The first day was spent in organizing the guard and getting ready for the rest of the week.

Sunday was quiet in camp as usual, nothing but guard mount at 12:15 and dress parade at 6 o'clock. The usual crowd of visitors, consisting of girls and boys were in appearance all day. There were a great many guests of the officers and men.

There was never an encampment known where the conduct of the men was as exemplary as this and there were practically no restrictions whatever. The men were allowed to go down town immediately after dress parade, returning at 11 o'clock by No. 1 post. No one was put in the guard house during the week.

Monday the regular work at camp commenced in earnest. The first call was reveille, mess call and battalion drill for two hours, recall, guard mounting and mess call again, drill call and battalion drill. During the day on Monday the commissioned officers and non-commissioned officers of the United States army, detailed as instructors by the United States government.

All agreed that he is one of the best if not the best officer that has ever been on the camp ground. He was certainly a gentleman of not only the old but the new school. He endeared himself not only to the officers but the men as well. His address to the noncommissioned officers during the week was right to the point, being not only instructive but very interesting and the officers only hope that Uncle Sam will detail him for the same duty next year.

Tuesday the regiment marched to Togus, Co. C conducting advance guard of the regiment. They arrived at Togus about 2 p. m., and broke ranks in front of headquarters. The old soldiers welcomed them heartily and kindly showed them over the grounds and buildings. "It seems like old times," the old veterans were heard to remark, as they saw the straight young soldiers march to the sound of the bugle.

They pitched their tents for the night beyond the reservation where Capt. Dodd encamped few years ago. Band concerts were given at 4 p. m., and in the evening at 7 the Togus band, one of the best bands in the country. At 6:30 the next morning they were ordered to strike tents a start for Camp Cobb, arriving there about noon. After dress parade they had guard mount, conducted by Cain Johnson, U. S. A., acting as adjutant and you can rest assured this was one of the best exhibitions of guard mount ever given on the hill.

Band concert given every evening at headquarters by Payne's 2d Regimental band and others on the piazza of headquarters. Officers and ladies were assembled and guests of the officers. General Duham was as usual courteous and pleasant, looking out for the welfare of guests at Camp Cobb.

Thursday was Governor's day. In the morning the governor came to camp and the guard turned out for him. A reception was given for the officers where cigars and punch a la Sturgis committee were served.

At 12 o'clock regiment marched to the capitol to visit Gov. Cobb to the camp grounds. After resting they were formed for review of the grandest sights during encampment. Dress parade followed at 4 o'clock.

In the evening Gannett gave a reception to officers and ladies. This bright affair closed the week's gaieties.

The next morning broke camp, after a very successful encampment. They left the hill the 1st regiment, who came into camp that afternoon.

The officers and their wives are very pleasant and courteous to their guests. Col. Newcombe is certainly an ideal colonel and all the officers of the second regiment think so, too. Major Hume, while riding his horse, met with an accident. The girl broke, throwing him off his horse and dislocating his shoulder. Although he carried his arm in a sling he attended to his duties faithfully and was as good-natured as ever.

Capt. Spaulding, the head of the commissary apartment, was also another faithful officer who helped to make the encampment the success that it was.

General Davis and his charming wife as usual were cordial, and as inspector general, he fulfilled his duties to perfection.

Everything was a success and next year may they have as good weather and as good a time.

Stratton.

Everybody was agreeably surprised at the way in which the High School team here held the strong Flagstaff team last Saturday. They made several errors which were costly, but their fielding was wonderful and the way they handled the ball showed that they knew what they were there for.

The star of the game was Freddie Therrian, who accepted six chances at third without an error and he certainly swatted the ball, getting three hits out of five times at bat. Taylor pitched a winning game, striking out 11 men and allowing only one pass. Hutchins played a fine game in the field.

The line up:
Taylor, p; Green, c and 2b; Hutchins, 1b; Blanchard, 1b and c; Moody, cf; Therrian, 3b; D. Blanchard, ss; Drouch, lf; Collins, cf; Lincoln, rf.

Those Big Elms Again.

To the Editor of Maine Woodsman:

I noticed in your issue of July 28th a communication from South Sudbury, Mass., in regard to an elm whose girth two feet from the ground was twelve feet, and spread of branches was 75 feet.

I spent a few days this month in the old historic town of York, Me., and noticing some very large trees took the dimensions of two of them.

The first, known as the "Grant elm," has a girth of 17 feet, 8 inches and spread of top 71 feet. The trunk of this tree is sound but the top is partly dead and dying, and those who saw it in years past when it was in its prime, think it must have spread an hundred feet or more.

Another very symmetrical elm stands but a few yards from the York village post office, whose girth is 14 feet, 10 inches, spread of top, 82 feet.

We have in Hallowell some good sized elms several being much larger than the South Sudbury elm. One of these measures 14 feet and 10 inches, spread of top 92½ feet, another measures 16 feet and 8 inches, spread of top 92 feet.

But, the champion elm stands near the power house of the A. W. & G. railway, its girth is 17 feet, 10 inches and has a spread of top, measured at right angles, of 106 feet by 111 feet. This elm has the most magnificent and symmetrical top of any large tree that I ever beheld, throwing out its branches more than 50 feet in all directions. It is also very vigorous, does not show any indication of decay in either trunk or branches; increasing yearly in size of trunk and spread of branches, and bids to live 100 years or more to come.

The girth of all the trees was measured two feet from the ground.

There may be larger elms than these in the state, if there are I should like to hear about them. JOHN W. CHURCH.

Something More In Regard to Large Elms.

SOUTH SUDBURY, MASS.,
Aug. 14, 1905.

To the Editor of Maine Woodsman:

I have just one word more to say for fear Mr. Farrar will think the "starch is all out of my bag."

I did not send the area that these limbs shade, only just the number of feet from the tip of the branches, right straight across to the tip of the opposite branches. The area would be quite a good deal more than 100 feet.

I don't dispute but there may be as large or larger elms in the good old Franklin county, state of Maine, but I never saw one that looked as large to me as this one.

I went blueberrying the other day and I want to tell you of the blueberry bushes here. They call them high bush blueberries here. They grow on bushes as large as a silver dollar and surely eight feet high. The berries look and taste like our good fat blueberries. They were quite a surprise to me.

Can Hold Our Own Without League Players.

FLAGSTAFF, ME., August 8, 1905.

To the Editor of Maine Woodsman:

Dear Sir—Through the columns of your paper I wish to inform Dago of Stratton that within the past six years our score book shows five games of ball won from those "Mighty wallopers" and we don't claim to have any ball-players here.

We think Dago must have been misinformed, or stealing laurels for his team. We also wish to say that we have always played our local team in all games and can hold our own without hiring league players, as they accuse us of doing.

A WOULD BE BALL PLAYER.

Reunion at West Freeman.

The Brackley family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Brackley, Aug. 10. There were 72 present, all of whom were relatives of the family except three who were special friends invited. The table, as usual, was bountifully loaded with the good things which the ladies of the family are capable of furnishing. The day was spent very pleasantly. Music was in order, consisting of piano solos, vio in and piano music by S. F. Brackley and daughter, Verpie, also singing by members of the family with Mrs. Mollie Kilkenney Bradford at the organ. The younger members of the family enjoyed a game of baseball. In the afternoon the business meeting was called to order by Orrin Brackley and it was voted the next reunion be held at Albion Page's in Kingfield the Thursday nearest the 10th of August, 1906.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Rev. Mr. Woodward preached at the Union church. His text was from Matt. xxvi, 52, "All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword."

You will recognize these words as those spoken by Jesus to Peter at the scene in the garden when those led by Judas came there to seek and arrest him. Peter determined to offer some resistance to this action and drew his sword to defend his master. In his excitement the blow was not as he intended and he cut off the ear of one of the high priest's servants. Jesus healed the wound and bade Peter put up his sword, uttering the statement that those who take the sword shall perish by the sword.

We have many illustrations of the truth of this statement. We have seen that violence, injustice and wrongdoing have resulted in harm to those who have perpetrated the evil acts. Suppose that you take from the pocket of another his purse. You have robbed him perchance of a few dollars, but you have made of yourself a thief, which is an incalculably greater injury. In numberless ways this principle of reaction is shown and in pointing out instances of this I may well take for my theme, "The Retributive Action of Evil."

Let us look for illustrations in the Bible. In the history of Jacob it is shown very clearly. By the accident of birth the headship of the tribe and the ancestral blessing belonged to his brother Esau. Together with his mother Jacob plotted to secure the coveted blessing. One day when Esau had gone to find venison for his father, Rebekah prepared the flesh of kids of the flock that Jacob might take it to Isaac before the return of Esau. Lest Isaac put his hand upon Jacob's hand and learn the deception she put the skin of the kids upon the wrists and neck of Jacob, that his skin might appear like that of Esau who is described as a hairy man. Isaac wondered at the quick return of his son and said the voice was like Jacob's voice; but he put his hand upon the skin of the kids and said the hands are the hands of Esau. So Jacob obtained the blessing which his blind and aged father intended to have bestowed upon Esau. What did it profit him? In after years like treachery was shown toward him by his own sons when they sold his favorite son Joseph to go as a slave into Egypt. The love of Jacob for Rachel was the brightest spot in his character and his love for her found expression in affection for her firstborn. The jealousy of the other sons of Jacob toward this younger brother led them to desire his death or removal from them. When, after selling Joseph, they took his coat that they had dipped in blood and carried it to Jacob saying, "Know now whether it be thy son's coat or no," their father's grief was in retribution of his deception of Isaac, for doubtless this experience of sorrow had never been his but for that sin of his own.

And Rebekah who aided Jacob and at whose instigation the plot to deceive him was laid, did she suffer for her act? She saw her beloved son driven into exile by the wrath and threats of his brother and never again did she look upon his face.

Again notice Simeon the most cruel of the brothers of Joseph when they were planning for his death. In after years when Joseph had become a ruler in Egypt and his brothers were driven by famine to seek food in that country it was Simeon who remained as hostage while the others returned to their homes. It was Simeon who waited in dreary uncertainty during the months of their absence.

Again take the case of Ahab, the wicked king of Israel. He desired very much to obtain a certain plot of ground belonging to Naboth. The Mosaic law of inheritance forbade its transfer. Ahab and Jezebel plotted together and caused accusations to be brought against Naboth so that he was stoned. Elijah the prophet, foretold to the king that in the place where dogs licked the blood of Naboth should they lick his blood also. And soon this came to pass. Ahab wounded unto death in battle was brought back to Samaria and at the very spot where Naboth died, the dogs licked the blood of Ahab that ran from his chariot. The prophet's word against Jezebel saying that the dogs should eat her flesh by the wall of Jezreel came to pass when she was thrown from a window to her death at the command of John.

When Pilate desired to release Jesus, the Jews who commanded his crucifixion said: "His blood be on us and on our children." You remember what terrors came upon the city in the siege of Titus when the people were reduced to veritable cannibalism and the streets were reddened with human blood.

If we turn to more modern times and to the history of nations, we find the same truth illustrated. You remember the cruelties enacted by Spain. She was the home of the inquisition. She has sent to a death of torture unnumbered Protestants. You know the history of her recent wars. Her sons have been slain. Her glory and power have departed.

And again Russia is an instance of the retributive reaction of evil upon its perpetrators. No other modern nation has been guilty of such gross injustice and inhumanity, such utter disregard of the rights of the people as has Russia. She is reaping today the result of that inhumanity and injustice. Her armies are defeated, her navies are destroyed, her people are in insurrection, her land in a state of anarchy. Her sin has reacted upon herself. As we trace history we find that many a one beside Spain and Russia have fallen through their own sin and injustice.

Wherever any company or society of men have disregarded the rights of others there has been reacting evil. In Colorado there was passed an eight hour labor law. But the influence of mine owners was so exerted that no measures were taken to enforce it. There has been friction between the workman and the employer, lawlessness and bloodshed in the state, violence to nonunion men, much evil that might have been averted had there been a disposition on both sides to respect the rights of others.

The law of which we are speaking is manifest in the lives of individuals no less than in nations and societies. That person who is unkind and selfish, who looks with distrust and suspicion upon others, or who has harsh and uncharitable words for others will sooner or later find that there are none to offer him trust or esteem. Vituperation will not beget friendship.

I have shown you a dark picture. There is a brighter side. I would show you that also. It is true that evil reacts upon the evil doer. It is equally true that good reacts correspondingly. Why is the Brotherhood of American Locomotive Engineers one of the strongest organizations of that nature in the world? It has always had respect to the rights of others. It offers no violence to nonunion men. It indulges in no throwing of missiles, its members engage in no strikes.

The individual who is kindly and honest and just, who is always ready to befriend those in need, who delights in furthering the welfare of others, will find this attitude of mind reacting upon himself in an ever increasing sweetness of character and in the friendship and respect of others.

The two ways are before you: The way of selfishness and disregard of others, of sorrow and loss; the way of helpfulness and justice, of peace and rejoicing. Which will you choose?

Why He Wept.

During the funeral of one of the Rothschild family in Paris a beggar was noticed standing among the on-lookers sobbing bitterly. A bystander touched by the man's grief, endeavored to comfort him. "Do not weep so bitterly, my poor friend," he said. "See, even his relatives are able to restrain their grief more than you are doing." "Then, as a new idea struck him: 'Surely, you are no relation of M. de Rothschild?' "N—no," sobbed the beggar. "That is just why I am so unhappy."—T. P.'s Weekly.

NOT HIS WORK.

But the Employer Accomplished His Object and Taught a Needed Lesson

Those people who are afraid of any work which in the least oversteps the letter of their contract make much trouble for themselves. Tit-Bits tells the story of a coachman who received a salutary lesson in this line. His master, a wealthy broker so fond of flowers that he spends his time in and about his plants, aces some of the gardening himself. One day, having emptied his watering can, he called to his new coachman, who was standing near, and told him to fill it and bring it back.

"Beg pardon, sir," the coachman, said the man, touch his hat.

"Well, that's all right. Just fill up that can."

"Beg pardon, sir, the coachman."

"Well, well, I know. Hurry up with the can; I want it."

The coachman told his hat and made the same reply when something dawned on the bro.

"Oh," he said; "yes, the coachman, and can't bring the well, coachman, go and have the span hitched to the family carriage and bring it here. Have one of the boys ride on the box with you."

The coachman told his hat respectfully and went. He drove up in style.

"Now," said the master, "drive to where that can is, you, hostler, pick it up and get on the box, drive around to the stable the coachman, fill the can with water and have him drive you back again."

It was done, and he brought back filled.

"Now, hostler," cried the broker, "you may go, coachman, remain where you are. I need you again."

The coachman's dignity, but he sat on the seat at carriage for two long hours.

Too Much Horse Sense.

In the classes in equitation at Fort Riley the horses soon become as apt pupils as the riders. On account of this fact, says the Kansas City Journal, some of the most important lessons to be derived from this course by the men are lacking. In order to carry out the intent of the riding school the department has to bring in unbroken horses almost constantly. A carload of wild Indian ponies arrived a few days ago.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Ia. She writes:

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, backache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

The Maine Woodsman.

Because fabulous sums are spent in advertising, some merchants think that it costs a fortune to keep any business before the public. They do not stop to think that advertising space can be bought like cloth or lard or soap—in any desired quantity, as one's business may demand. The man who is selling cigars from a small stand on the corner doesn't need as much space as a department store. But the proper space is just as essential to the best results in his business as is the big store's big ad.
It doesn't cost much to buy a small space in the MAINE WOODSMAN—a space that is suitable for an unpretentious business. And, after all, it's not the size of the space, but what you put in it that counts. Start off with a little space and use it well and you'll need a big one by and by.

"Procrastination"
Is the thief of time," but it's more kinds of a thief than if it has to do with advertising in the MAINE WOODSMAN. It goes right down into your till and takes the dollars out. Have you given this matter the consideration it deserves?

The MAINE WOODSMAN offers Two Prizes. Two Quaker Ranges and Two of the finest Ten Pound Turkeys that money can buy, to the two ladies who receive the most votes, under the conditions indicated below.

Two Quaker Ranges and Two Ten Pound Turkeys
In Two Contests.

A GREAT RANGE.

A GREAT RANGE.

The Quaker Range never has been beaten and never will be beaten as a sure and easy baker and cooker and an economical consumer for either coal, coke or wood. The Quaker Range is world famous and is well known to the good cooks of New England, who always have led and always will lead the world. This range is made by the White-Warner Co. of Taunton, Mass., in itself a guarantee of good faith, and is sold by dealers everywhere. All people unfamiliar with its merits may secure upon application to this office, a full description of this remarkable range. The Woodsman in the last few years has sent out several of these ranges as prizes, and is never yet received a complaint.

HOW THE RANGES WILL BE DISTRIBUTED.

Range No. 1. To the Lady residing in Phillips, Avon or Madrid, receiving the most votes.
Range No. 2. To the Farmington Lady receiving the most votes. One ten pound Turkey will be given with each range.

CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST.

One range and one ten pound turkey will be given to the lady receiving the highest number of votes in either contest. In case that two bona fide contestants do not appear in any contest, or that the total number of votes in any contest fails to reach 1,000, even if more than one contestant does appear, the prizes in that contest will be withdrawn, and will be awarded to the lady receiving the highest number of votes for second in the other contest.
One 30-vote coupon will be issued for every dollar and a half that is paid in on subscriptions for MAINE WOODSMAN, but no coupon will be issued for fractional parts of a dollar and a half, or for any subscription of less than a year. This applies either to old or to new subscribers. One 30 vote coupon for every dollar and a half paid, no more, no less.
To prevent trading among contestants those receiving coupons should fill them out at once, preferably with pen and ink. No coupons will be counted upon which two names have been written, even if one of these has been erased.
Any contestant is at liberty to canvas anywhere for subscriptions, no matter where she resides, but the prize winner must be a bona fide resident of a town in which the stove is to be awarded.
Everyone intending to enter this contest should write to this office for valuable instructions and for printed matter. The two ranges in this contest are full size, Quaker Home ranges, the latest pattern, fitted for either coal or wood, as desired, and they are among the best ranges for general service made. They will be delivered at freight depot nearest to residence of the winners. Quaker ranges may be seen on exhibition at the residence of J. W. Brackett in Phillips or at the store of the Gushee Furniture Company, Farmington.

He was later arrested as above and Monday forenoon was arraigned before Judge Fenderson, who continued the case.

While visiting the Togos home for old soldiers, the boys of Co. OLD HOME WEEK
CHORUS

Old Home week lures back the loved ones,
To the old home's quiet shades,
There we stroll and dream o'er childhood dreams again.
How our thoughts revert to childhood and
to golden days gone by,
When we're in the dear old home,
Way down in Maine.

You will like the melody, so will your friends.

UP-TO-DATE

ADVERTISING.

In these days live merchants are looking for profit. They are placing their advertisements
where, in their best judgement,
they will do them the most good.
Time was, we are told, when the store keeper used to give the newspaper man an advertisement, "just to help out the paper."

That would be considered a senseless performance now.

We want advertisements from people who want to get their money's worth out of their advertising.

We want advertisements from people who intend to give their advertisements some care and attention.

We want advertisements from business people who realize that they have something to say to the more than ten thousand
readers of MAINE WOODSMAN,
if they would make their business all that it should be.

To such people, the MAINE
WOODSMAN advertising columns present indeed a rare bargain.

The MAINE WOODSMAN has the readers—more than ten thousand of them—without which all advertising would be a failure—
money thrown away.

But IT PAYS to advertise in MAINE WOODSMAN. If in doubt try it.

Classified advertisements only one cent a word.

Mr. Brackett, who is in the newspaper and advertising business in Jamaica Plain and Boston, spends Saturdays and Sundays with his family at Ocean Park. This week he staid over a day or two longer than usual to engage in a tennis tournament at Old Orchard.

—Considerable excitement was caused near Wilbur & Co.'s store last Friday afternoon by a man who had apparently taken too much of the ardent. His wife and three small children evidently wanted him to go home but he wasn't in a hurry. Finally he was taken into a separate team by T. R. Wing and conveyed to his home much to the relief of a large crowd that had gathered, but who didn't enjoy hearing the little children cry.

—Frank W. Chick of Madrid had an experience a few days ago while driving from Madrid to Phillips that he will not soon forget. He found that he was about to meet an automobile and drove into a dooryard. The horse was apparently not afraid of the machine and ate grass while it pulled by and went out of sight. After it had actually gone out of sight he began to describe a circle and he began operations without warning. The result was that the wagon was overturned with Mr. Chick under it. Mr. Chick was in a very unenviable position but he hung to the reins in spite of a very disagreeable feeling on account of his legs and arms being more or less mixed up with the wheels. Finally he got on his feet and managed to straighten things out. When the horse was conquered and "all in" he was as docile as a lamb.

REACH THE SPOT

To cure an aching back,
The pains of rheumatism,
The tired-out feelings,
You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases 'tis the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Charles Bierbach, stone contractor, living at 2625 Chestnut St., Erie, Pa., says:

"For two years I had kidney trouble, and there was such a severe pain through my joints and limbs that I could not stoop or straighten up without great pain had difficulty in getting about and was unable to rest a night, arising in the morning tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were irregular and deposited a heavy sediment. Doctors treated me for rheumatism, but failed to help me. I lost all confidence in medicine, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me so quickly and so thoroughly that I gladly made a statement to that effect for publication. This was in 1898, and during the six years which have elapsed I have never known Doan's Kidney Pills to fail."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Bierbach will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

DECADENCE OF CHEWING.

War on Spitters in Public Cause of Falling Off in Tobacco Users.

"The crusade against expectorating in public places has cut into the tobacco business," said a dealer to a customer. "Some years ago I kept a tobacco cutter on my counter and a boy was so engaged in cutting plugs for customers that he had little time for anything else."

"Now we cut up a few plugs in the regulation size and put them in a canister. Twenty-five cuts will last several days where we used to sell that many in a half day. However, what we have lost in that way is more than offset by sales of cigars and cigarettes and smoking tobacco."

"Ten years ago I had a regular trade in chewing tobacco that paid half of my rent. I would have to quit business if I relied upon such a trade now. "Several smaller dealers whom I know do not keep plug in stock. And yet there was a time when the old tobacco chewer was more wedded to his quid than the old toper was to his dram. He chewed wherever he went, in church, in society and at places of amusement."

"The war on spitters has stopped all that."

Letter to Phillips Lawyers.

Dear Sirs: What would be the result of selling poor paint with this guarantee?

"If you have any fault to find with this paint, either now in putting it on, or hereafter in the wear, tell your dealer about it."

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

That means pay damages, don't it?

Here's another guarantee. "If your state chemist finds this paint adulterated, we will pay his bill, and send you $1000."

We stand by both of these guarantees; as we are the maker, we know all about it.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidney. Mary H. Walters of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at W. A. D. Cragin's drug store; price 50c.

Naming Jap Ships.

In view of the periodic discussion about the appropriate naming of warships, it is of interest to learn that Japan has named her big battleships after great mountains and the small war vessels from some well-known natural features of the country. It may also be mentioned that at the end of the name of every Japanese ship is either the termination "kan" or "maru." "Kan" means war vessels, and is applied, of course, only to the emperor's fleet. "Maru," which means round, is applied to merchant vessels—why, it is difficult to say.

BRUSH YOUR STRAW HAT.

That Is the Way to Keep It Protected from the Marring Effects of Rain.

"Yes, I know," said the hat man, "people never think of brushing their straw hats, the straw doesn't seem to be a hat made to be brushed, the dust doesn't show on it so much, and so they brush all their other hats and let their straw hats go."

"But if they would brush their straw hats as they do the others they would keep fresh and looking much longer; this is not so much on account of the brushing itself as because of the protection that brushing it, keeping it clean, gives it from the effects of moisture."

"What puts a straw hat out of business, in appearance, is rain. Let drops of rain fall on a dusty hat and every drop spreads and fixes the dust on which it falls and makes the hat dingy. The same rain falling on a clean hat would have far less effect on its appearance."

"Brush your straw hat, and the ribbon, too, just as you would any other and you will have the satisfaction of keeping it in fair condition, a hat fit to wear the season through."

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

DR. T. Felix Gouard's Oriental Cream or Magical Beautifier.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash, and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 67 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut (s. patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend Gouard's Cream" as the least harmful of all the skin preparations. For sale by all druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers in the United States, Canada and Europe. FRED. T. HOPKINS, Prop., 37 Great Jones Street, New York

Worms?

Many children are troubled with worms, and treated for something else. A few doses of Dr. True's Elixir will expel worms if they exist, and prove a valuable tonic if there are no worms. See druggists. DR. J. P. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Me.

Norse Legend.

According to a recent work on Norway, the scantiness of the soil in that country is explained by some of the country people as follows: At the creation of the world the angels whose duty it was to scatter the soil forgot Norway. Seeing this, the guardian angel of the land made complaints to the Creator. What was to be done? Impossible to restart the whole of the creation for the sake of Norway. "Come, my little angels," said He; "look carefully and perhaps you may still find a little earth." The conscience-stricken angels swept the floor of Heaven, and the little dust they found they gathered in their draperies and scattered over the Norwegian rocks.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Children's Spring Tonic.

After a long winter the children's blood flows sluggishly, the bowels are irregular and the channels of the body clogged. This is the chance for which disease has been lying in wait. No time should be lost in cleansing the blood and regulating the stomach with a good spring medicine. For children's ailments nothing equals Dr. True's Worm Elixir. A few doses will expel worms, and set the whole system on a better springing medium cannot be found. Twenty thousand bottles sold in March alone. Price, 35c at all drugists.

DAUGHTERS OF NOBODY.

Ultra Fashionable Society Shown Up by Rejected Applicant for Membership.

"The fad of tracing one's ancestors back as far as possible has a firmer hold in the east than in the west," said Mortimer E. Walker, of Boston, relates the Milwaukee Sentinel. "One winter I spent some time in a certain southern city which is noted for its blue-blooded and exclusive inhabitants. There was much jealousy in the highest social circles, as there were two factions which desired the honor of being the original grandees. Finally the leader of one faction gathered together a few friends and started a society known as the Daughters of Ferdinand de Soto.

"This was supposed to be the ultra fashionable society of the city, and one by one the aspiring matrons produced the indisputable proof that they were eligible for membership. Finally one of the younger set had the temerity to try and force an entrance into the charmed circle. She was black-balled almost unanimously.

"She determined to be revenged, and to that end did a little real investigating which was more thorough than any ancestor hunt which was ever made in that city. The result of her investigations she made public, and the result was the utter rout of the daughters. For the young woman proved beyond the question of a doubt that Ferdinand de Soto had died a bachelor."
