How Can I Increase My Income?

We are a saving people, we are constantly putting away something for a rainy day. These savings are apt to be deposited where they pay from 3-1/2 to 4 per cent or invested in Government or Municipal Bonds, where they net from 2-1/2 to 4 per cent. In the past the income from such investments was satisfactory, but recently the cost of living has so increased that people dependent in a large measure on income, find it more and more difficult to pay their bills. They cannot increase their salaries and must look to their invested funds for an increase of income and many of them are turning to the better class of industrial securities which net a higher rate of interest and which are among the safest investments for this purpose.

We believe that the $100,000 Bond issue of the EL-REY RUBBER COMPANY, interest payable semi-annually at the

City Trust Company

50 STATE ST., BOSTON

which will at par net the investor 6 per cent, rank next to municipal bonds as safe investments and the additional income produced from such an investment helps to take care of the increased cost of living.

The offering of an equal amount of stock with these Bonds as a Bonus, should be very attractive, as statistics show the Stock earnings of various English and other companies operating on similar lines in tropical lands to be from 18 to 40 per cent.

NEWSPAPER HISTORY
The Rockland Gazette was established in 1842. In 1874 the Courier was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1885, and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

Two children, ages about six and eight, wandered into the receiving ward at a London hospital. The elder handed the doctor in charge the following note from its mother: "They have awful cauf. I think it is whooping cauf. You wait a minute and hear them cauf." She was right.

A chauffeur ran over a man in California recently and killed him. The judge gave him 10 years in the penitentiary, but later suspended judgment and put the man on probation. He will stay out of jail just as long as he pays the widow of his victim $25 a month toward the support of her children.

It is probable that the late E. H. Harriman disposed of more money in fewer words than any man ever did before, but there have been some short wits in England. Lord Mansfield took half a sheet of note paper to dispose of his large fortune, and Sir James Stephen used only 13 words in his will. Lord Russell left $1,000,000 with a dozen lines, and Lord Brampton disposed of much more with 400 words.

Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson of New York, who has been living in seclusion since her excommunication recently by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, generally referred to as the mother church, announced Monday that she had resigned from the membership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, New York, of which she was formerly first reader. After her excommunication in Boston she continued to be a member of the church in New York although it was reported that the board of trustees would eventually drop her.

On Dec. 15, Oklahoma will again become a Mecca of the land hungry. Up on that date the State will offer for sale by auction 1,600,000 acres of land which is appraised at from eight to thirty-four dollars an acre. This is about a third as much land as the whole State of Massachusetts contains. About half a million acres are listed as agricultural land, while the rest is better adapted to grazing. No purchaser can obtain more than 160 acres, and in addition to the price of the soil he must pay for any improvements already made by its holders.

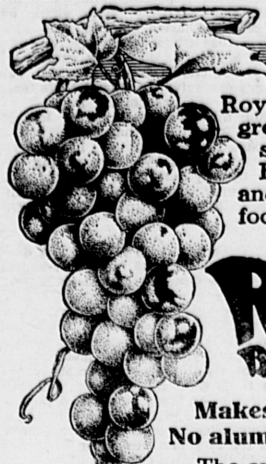

In New York pies of all sizes and descriptions are turned out in the largest pie baking establishments in the country at the rate of thirty thousand a night. Ordinarily this would require the services of a hundred bakers, but with the introduction of the modern machinery the work now requires only a fraction of that number. The trimming of this vast army of pies is now done automatically by machinery, the attendants feeding the machine with pies at one end and taking them out trimmed at the other. The baking is done in rotary ovens, operated by a single man.

Football has claimed a toll of 39 lives and 216 injuries during the present season, according to figures compiled by the Chicago Record-Herald Sunday. This is the largest number of deaths recorded in nine years, according to the Record-Herald figures, which have been kept since 1901. The 39 deaths include eight college players, 29 high school boys and two members of athletic clubs. The injuries were divided among 171 college men, 40 high school players and five from athletic clubs. Twenty-five suffered internal injuries; 19 dislocated ankles; 19 concussion of brain and 19 fractured ribs. Fifteen legs and nine arms were broken, while 12 collar-bones were cracked. There were 15 cases of torn ligaments and 13 fractured shoulders.

OUR FAST DESTROYERS.

The torpedo boat destroyer Preston, built by the New York Shipbuilding Co., completed her official trials a week ago. On the four-hour high speed run she made 24.5 knots. The Preston is the fourth of the five new destroyers of her class to have an official trial. She is a sister ship to the Bath-built Flusser and Reid, and the Smith and Lamson now under construction by William Cramp & Sons. The Flusser made 30.42 on the four-hour run, and the Reid 31.55. The Smith made 28.55. The Lamson has not yet had her official trial. The Reid and Flusser have both been accepted by the Navy Department, the former on Oct. 27 and the latter on Sept. 23.

THAT AROUSTOOK EXCURSION

One of the Surviving Editors Recalls the Trip of Fifty Years Ago.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—You will remember that when I was in your office a few weeks ago, I consulted the Gazette files for such record as I made of the "Aroostook Editorial Excursion" of October, 1888-89 years ago the present fall. That memorable trip was taken at the invitation of the North Aroostook Agricultural Society to visit their annual fair at Presque Isle. The parties backing the expenses of the trip, however, were said to be certain Bangor capitalists interested in the development of the county. The arrangements on the road were made by Messrs. Stetson and Gurney (?), two young Bangor lawyers, who preceded us in a buggy on the trip, and followed us on the return, to pay the bills. The names of many of the 30 or more representatives of the Maine press who made up the party occur in my notes of the trip printed in the Gazette, but no complete list of them, and if the files of any Maine paper, then represented contains a complete list of the excursionists, I would like to see it reprinted.

As I was probably (at 23) the youngest of the party, and am no longer a youth, there can at best be very few survivors of that congenial company. Among those composing it I can recall Elwell of the Portland Transcript, Forbes of the Temperance Journal, Cowan of the Biddeford Journal, Rowell of the Hallowell Gazette, Pike of the Augusta Age, Hanson of the Gospel Banner, Dr. Lapham of the Maine Farmer, Lynde of the Bangor Whig and Courier, Rev. J. C. Fletcher of the Boston Journal (and who represented also a Portland paper, I think), S. H. Chapman, Rockland, who represented the Democrat and Free Press—and there were some others mentioned in my correspondence that I do not now remember. Dan Pike, an incorrigible joker, was the humorist of the occasion, Rev. Fletcher, an experienced traveler, was an enthusiastic exponent of its esthetic and poetic side, while Mr. Chapman, whose basso profundo voice was written of by Mr. Fletcher as rivaling that of Carl Formes, furnished vocal entertainment that was highly appreciated.

The party rendezvoused at Bangor, went to Oldtown by rail and then took a small stern-wheel steamer on the Penobscot to Mattawamkeag Point. This was a delightful trip, consuming the remainder of the day, and the vistas of foliage in all its autumn glory, down the reaches among the many islands, were nowhere to be excelled, and Rev. Fletcher, I remember, was very enthusiastic about them. Dinner was taken midway on the boat trip at Passadumkeag, where a newly-killed bear was found at the landing. The arrival at the Mattawamkeag house at "early candle light," the cheerful wood fire in the very broad fire-place that welcomed us to the large public room, and the very appetizing and bountiful supper which followed a delightful day spent in the open air, furnishes a very pleasant memory. The remainder of the journey was completed in stages, with midway stops for dinner, lodging at Houlton and arrival at Presque Isle at the close of the second day from Bangor, and distribution of the members of the party for entertainment among the hospitable homes of that flourishing village. If there is any member of that party who is now living, I would be glad to hear from him.

THE MERCHANT MARINE

Congress at Forthcoming Session Will Give Serious Consideration to Important Matters.

"How an American Merchant Marine would aid the Country" is the caption of the following editorial which appears in the current issue of the Nautical Gazette:

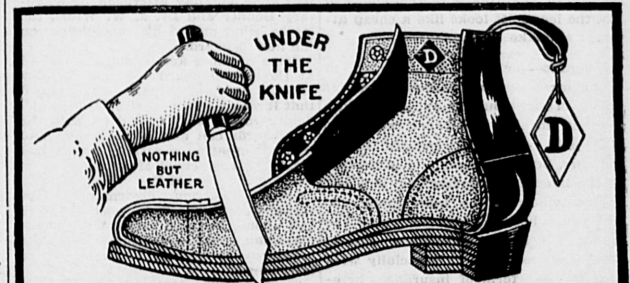

There is every reason to believe that Congress, at its forthcoming session, will take up and seriously consider the subject of extending encouragement to the merchant marine of the United States. It is well known that President Taft is an ardent advocate of ship subsidies, and his sanction of bills seeking to place our deep-sea shipping on an equality with that of other nations which may be presented for consideration in the Senate and House will meet with his hearty approval. There can be no question of the generally favorable opinion existing among the people throughout the country with regard to the Government sharing in the expense of operation of several new lines of steamships of the first-class to foreign countries, particularly to South America and to the Orient.

While on the Pacific Coast the President found the people anxious to witness the inauguration of American mail lines which would be able to successfully compete with the Japanese and other ships now engaged in that trade, and which have driven our shipping off the coast. "I am," which commends itself to me," said the President to those interested in San Francisco, "is to give enough money to the merchants who engage in this trade to enable them to meet the difference they encounter in competition with foreign ships. A mail subsidy can be used for the purpose of experiment. If it proves a failure, then the money will be well spent for having taught us a lesson."

New steamship lines, carrying the American flag into foreign ports, would increase American trade in countries which today patronize our merchants and manufacturers only slightly if at all. The expenditure of $10,000,000 by the Government in subsidizing an American steamship fleet, would result in the building of $25,000,000 worth of vessels in American shipyards, and an increase in our yearly exports of $200,000,000 or more.

The heaviest earthquake recorded in California since the shock of April 18, 1906, was felt in Salinas Monday. Buildings rocked and creaked for 15 seconds and people rushed into the streets. So far as ascertained there was no damage.

"Can a man with a job and a family produce enough from one acre to supply the needs of his own table and add materially to his income? Can he, still holding his job, and using an hour in the morning and two hours in the evening, earn enough to pay for the acre, feed the family without wearing his fingers to the bone; have a better home, with more healthful surroundings, pure air, clean food untouched by alien hands in dark places, and be happy?" asks Charles Dillon in the issue of Harper's Weekly for Nov. 20. The answer was supplied by a year's cultivation of a "trial acre" in western Missouri, and the net income for the year amounted to $1,065.55. It was not more than an average year for crops, either. How it was done is amply shown in this interesting article.

John D. Rockefeller's gift of $100,000 for the investigation and cure of the hookworm disease in the South was the subject of a sensational attack by Bishop Candler of Georgia, who says that it is an insult upon the South, and who expresses the hope that it will not be accepted. There will be several views as to the wisdom and taste of Bishop Candler in attacking a man who offers such a princely gift, apparently made in good faith. The bishop's method of rejecting it is ungracious to say the least. It looks like a cheap attempt to make a grandstand play.

Insurance for those who go up in flying machines is the latest form of policy brought out by an enterprising Scottish casualty insurance company. Not only does this concern insure aviators, but it contemplates protection of the lives and property of innocent persons who may be individually injured or whose possessions may be damaged by falling aeroplanes. Just at present there is not an especially wild field for this form of insurance hereabouts, but who dares prophesy?

Senator Dolliver, one of the ablest and brightest men in public life today, who lectures in Rockland next month, takes for his subject, "A Poor Man's Government and a Poor Boy's Country." A speaker of the senator's calibre will make a great lecture out of a topic like that.

SON CHASE DEAD.

Made Unique Campaign for Congress with "Them Steers."

"Uncle Solon" Chase died suddenly at his home at Chase's Mills, Tuesday. While he had not been well for the past two weeks he had not been considered dangerously ill. "Uncle Solon" was sitting in his chair, just opening his daily paper preparatory to reading it, when all at once he fell over in his chair, dead. Had he lived until next January he would have been 87 years of age.

Coming into special prominence through his activity for the Greenback movement of which he was a firm champion, he gained a national reputation by his unique campaign for his candidacy to Congress by touring the western states with "Them Steers." He had served in the State Legislature at the time that C. E. Blais was a member and later took the stump for Blaine.

Uncle Solon was one of the last Whigs, too, in this part of the country, being one of three Whigs in Turner who paraded around the town hall when his party had won a victory in its last days. At another time he was a member of the Fusion party and had also been identified with the Democrats. Under President Johnson he was for a time, an internal revenue tax collector.

When a young man he was appointed to a cadetship at West Point but remained there only two or three weeks, being told that he was not fit physically and that he would be fortunate if he lived five years. Notwithstanding that he went to Washington and personally appealed to the President, he was not allowed to remain. Probably only a few of his class at West Point are now living.

A Fracas About Fumigating

Board of Health and School Board Lock Horns and Shake Hands—Expense Will Be Reduced

The conflict of authority between the city government, school board and board of health as to who shall fumigate the school buildings and how much it shall cost, resulted in a special meeting of the school board Tuesday evening, at which the members of the health board were permitted to present their case. At the outset it may be stated that nobody minced matters, and that language was used for which the speakers are now doubtless sorry, although at the time it seemed the only way to express their heated views.

At the last meeting of the city government there were proposed several bills which had originated in the board of health, and which the committee on accounts and claims had seen fit to present to the full city government without the customary approval. The upshot of the discussion which followed was the unanimous vote of the city fathers that the bills be put in half, and with that decree went an order in secretory to the board of health, to itemize bill for all future disinfecting, besides notifying the proper authorities before proceeding with such work. Unofficially it was reported that the secretary of the board, L. W. Bernal, would not comply with this order.

Acting Mayor Justin L. Cross notified Supt. Stuart that the work would be done by the janitors. The standstill was in this charged condition on Monday when it became known that one of the rooms in the Tyler building on Warren street had been subjected by one of the pupils to scarlet fever infection, several sessions of the school were held that day.

With affairs in this unpleasant condition Supt. Stuart took a hand, causing a special meeting of the school board to be held Tuesday evening in order that he might receive definite instructions, and meantime instructing Secretary Bernal to fumigate the entire building as it was feared that practically the whole building had been exposed to the contagion. The work was done Tuesday afternoon by Secretary Bernal and Dr. J. W. Wilde, the latter being one of his associates on the health board.

Some of these details were explained at the school board meeting Tuesday evening by Supt. Stuart, who stated that it was his intention that the duty might be assigned so that the two boards can act in harmony, and without creating a scene such as had disturbed the school Monday.

Mayor McLean, chairman of the school board, excused, was about to call upon Alderman Cross for an explanation of the situation so far as the health board was concerned, when Dr. Wilde intervened.

"I should like to inquire," said Dr. Wilde, "if this is a meeting of the board of aldermen or a meeting of the school board?"

When assured that it was not a meeting of the aldermen he made some reference to the matter having been fixed up at a secret session of the school board and then proceeded to the previous night, giving Secretary Bernal as the source of his information to that effect.

This statement aroused the instant ire of Cornelius Doherty, who is a member of the school board. "If Secretary Bernal said that we held a secret meeting Monday night he's a liar," said Mr. Doherty.

"I thank you for the compliment," said Mr. Doherty, "I don't care to discuss this matter with you."

Alderman Cross then presented his explanation of the affair. He believes the health board's disinfecting bills are larger than necessary. Some years ago he made a suggestion to Supt. Moulton that the janitors do this work. Mr. Moulton admitted that the idea was feasible, but nothing was done about it because of the controversy about the excessive charges of the present board for disinfecting. Mr. Cross told where he believes a saving can be effected.

THE BARRE LOCKOUT

Is Making Extremely Bad Business for Merchants and All Concerned

The lockout in Barre, East Barre, Williamstown, Montpelier, Waterbury and Northfield is just the same as it was a week ago, there being no signs of a settlement. Everything is flat. This trouble started in Northfield over a tooth tool of four teeth made of 3-4 steel with a 5-8 shank and is used in a pneumatic tool. The men refused to use them in Northfield on account of so much dust, so the bosses locked out the places stated. Stone-cutters, tool-sharpeners and polishers start on strike today, the quarriesmen are being laid off and also railroad men. Merchants are not doing any trade and everything is dead.

The granite business is good in by the wholesale purchase of the necessary materials.

Dr. Wilde: I want to see the buildings disinfected just as cheaply as possible, and it had never occurred to me that there was anything wrong about our bills, as Secretary Bernal had informed me that they were same as charged by Charles M. Titus and Justin L. Cross when they were on the health board. I do think, however, that if the city council thought our charges excessive we should have been told so in the first place instead of waiting until we had done a lot of work. We do claim that our efforts of the past two years must have been quite successful. We are willing to abide by any fair price that the city council may see fit to fix, and I fully agreed with Supt. Stuart that there should be harmony.

Mr. Doherty: Was it a square deal to charge the city $10 for a half-hour's work at the Grace street school house? Secretary Bernal: We are not here tonight to discuss prices that have been charged, but we are willing to sit down and make prices. As to the matter of the Tyler building incident, the board of health did not order Mr. Cross from the room. Supt. Stuart, without consulting our board, engaged a janitor for the work and I forbade him to do it. Our prices are those which have been ruled for 29 years, and prior to that I am told they were twice as high.

C. F. Simmons: Do you think it right to keep on charging exorbitant prices because others have done so in the past?

Secretary Bernal: If you take away fumigating from the board of health do you suppose you can get three men to do the disinfecting work for only $25 per year. As a result of our efforts the city has been practically free from contagion in the past few years, while some other cities have been obliged to close their schools.

L. B. Keen: You believe in using everybody fairly, do you not, Mr. Bernal?

Secretary Bernal: Yes, sir.

Mr. Keen: Then why do you not connect your own premises with the sewer?

Mr. Bernal: Because there is no sewer up my way, and I am not going to dig 500 feet to enter one.

Mr. Doherty: You have had five other put in; why do you not have one built on your own street?

Mr. Bernal: I am willing to pay my assessment in advance the moment a sewer is started there.

The secretary of the board then dwelt upon the disagreeable features of fumigation, and spoke of a former member of the board whose condition was serious because of frequent handling of formaldehyde. "I fumigated one house in which there had been black diphtheria, three minutes after the corpse was taken out," said Mr. Bernal. "Is there any member of the board who is willing to do that for $2.50 or for $2?"

Dr. H. E. Gribbin: I would; I have done it many times.

Mr. Bernal: Yes, but you are a physician.

Dr. Gribbin: Then gave a comparison of the old and new methods of disinfection, showing that under the old method he had a much harder and more disagreeable task than those now operating under the new method.

Dr. Wilde said he thought he would perish before he finished disinfecting the Tyler building that afternoon.

Dr. Gribbin said he had worked with Prof. Robinson of Bowdoin college when the use of formaldehyde had just become known, and it did not effect his lungs in the manner described by Dr. Wilde.

The controversy turned into more amiable channels when Mr. Keen remarked that he didn't care who did the fumigating so long as it was done at reasonable prices and well done.

Secretary Bernal figuratively patted Capt. Keen on the back for this sentiment and the cruel war was over. It was decided to have the school and health boards work together on the matter and in the meantime the school board Wednesday evening a schedule of prices was agreed upon.

Bethel, South Ryegate and Rochester, Vt. Men that can get work out of town are leaving every day. We hope this trouble will soon come to a head.

I am now prepared to devote a part of my time to the interests of my patients. Those who want me personally to attend to their work can arrange for appointments.

THE SUGAR TRUST

If It Has Violated the Law the Government Will Proceed Against It With All the Resources at Its Command.

It is easy to believe the report that Mr. Taft will proceed against the sugar trust with all the power at the command of the government if sufficient evidence can be obtained to give a chance of conviction. It is a President's business to enforce the laws, and every President does this, or attempts to do it.

The charges which are brought against the sugar combine are serious, and the law officers of the government are inquiring into them. They have been at their work of investigation for several months, although in a quiet way, and unknown to the country. As a result of this work several officials of the trust, it is said, resigned through fear of exposure and punishment. One charge has been made of fraud in connection with false entries connected with a cargo of sugar from Cuba. Other indictments are believed to be pending.

The recent case which was decided adversely to the Department of Justice is to be appealed. The possibility that new suits will be brought on the charges is still in doubt. The city may rest assured that the law officers of the government will proceed vigorously if proof be secured that the law has been violated. It is noticed that, from the collectors' offices in Philadelphia, Boston and other places, denials are made of certain charges of sugar frauds on the customs at those ports. The accusations of collusion between the agents of the trust and customs officials are serious matters, but the people will not accept them unless proof is furnished. It is noticed that James B. Reynolds, formerly assistant secretary of the treasury, and now a member of the tariff board, has declared that the trust, in his days had never attempted to influence the treasury officials in their action toward it. This was in answer to an assertion of a former special agent of the government that in his investigations of the dealings of the trust at the Custom House, he was hampered by the Treasury Department. Attorney General Wickham, however, is understood to be marking out a plan of campaign which will disclose the real situation. If any chance for a successful attack upon the trust can be found it will be taken. The charges have been so frequent and so persistent that there may be something tangible behind them.

The indictment of the trust official two or three days ago seems to show that, on the face of it, at least, the accusations are plausible. On the other charges the government, a few months ago, recovered $1,350,000 in duties and penalties, and there may be enough evidence found to sustain the present ones. This point is now engaging the attention of the president and the attorney general.

It must be borne in mind that charges against the trust have come up under Republican as well as under Democratic administration. The sugar provisions of the Mills tariff bill of 1888, it was said at the time, were drawn up by the head of the trust, with the consent of the Democratic Ways and Means Committee. That bill was halted in the Republican Senate. A like accusation was brought against the Democratic tariff act of 1894. Except the Standard Oil combine, the sugar aggregation was the first of the trusts, and was the most active of all of them in politics, at the outset.

It was the sugar trust which the Republican National Convention of 1888 had in mind when, in its platform, it made this announcement: "We declare our opposition to all combinations of capital, organized in trusts or otherwise, to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens; and we recommend to Congress and the state legislatures, in their respective jurisdictions, such legislation as will prevent the execution of all schemes to oppress the people by undue charges on their supplies, or by unjust rates for the transportation of their products to market."

Here, in the convention which nominated Harrison for President the first time, the first mention of trusts was made which appeared in any representative platform. The Republican party's attitude toward the trusts was declared at that time, and in the 21 years which have passed since, it has not changed. As a result of the system of trusts, such as the sugar trust, the people are being oppressed, and without feeling all his prejudices against the military education of youths slipping from him like a false rope. Men raised from a childhood in the military spirit, should do what they could to bring into our national life such a spirit as was shown by the march of that boys' brigade of Ballarat. There isn't enough of the Ballarat spirit in this country, and we cannot begin to cultivate it too soon. We thank Mr. Matthews for giving us this picture of the martial feeling existing among the boys of Australia which, better than anything else we have read of the revelations of antipodean character brought out by the visit of our fleet, illustrates the leaven of patriotism that is working among the people of Australia, and that some day, if called upon, will make itself felt in shaping the control of the Pacific Ocean and sustaining the dominance of the Anglo-Saxon race.

AN INSPIRING SPECTACLE

How the Australian Boys Took Part in the U. S. Warship Reception

[Army and Navy Journal.]

We wish that we could have taken some of our anti-military friends by the hand and led them to a street corner in Melbourne, Australia, when the American Battleship Fleet was there, and permitted them to behold an expression of juvenile patriotism bred and fostered by the military training of the boys of the Commonwealth. If they could have witnessed those scenes without feeling that they had yet much to learn about human nature and the hidden springs of human action, we should have felt that there was no need of bringing them back to the States, that they could be left as soldiers, and that which they would have seen was briefly described by Franklin Matthews at the time in his letters to the New York Sun, as reported here, and now more fully in his charming book, "Back to Hampton Roads."

"There had been that day almost a tumult at the Town Hall over a little band of sixty naval cadets who had marched on foot eighty miles from the city of Ballarat, up country, in their dogged determination to see the big show. You see, all over Australia and New Zealand, as well, the boys of the naval cadets. Thousands upon thousands of them are being prepared for a grim day when Australasia possibly may call upon its sons to bear arms. They are the real starting army of this region. These boys were brought scores and hundreds of miles to town to participate in the great military review."

In some way those Ballarat kids had not been included in the forces entitled to transportation. The boys, ranging in years from eleven to sixteen, had set their hearts on seeing the American fleet, and joining in the review. They were told that no means may call upon its sons to bear arms. They were disappointed. You bet they were. Then the proper spirit arose. Those lads declared they would march. They couldn't ride they would walk. And walk they did! Their march fastened the eyes of the Commonwealth upon them. Right kind of stuff, they exclaimed. Just before they set out it was announced that a fund had been provided to send them on. They spurred it. Walk they had decided to do, and walk they would. So the boys came five days before the Fleet arrived, marching on an average sixteen miles a day. The people came out to greet them and to cheer them everywhere. Schoolhouses were thrown open to them for sleeping places. Food was provided for them. They got footsore and weary. But give in? Not one of them. And on the morning the Fleet came these sturdy lads staggered into Melbourne, one of them so tired that they had their eyes shut as they marched, their heads fairly nodding in sleep. They had had the distinction the night before of being visited at a place called Sunshine, where they were stopped, by the Hon. Alfred Deakin, the Prime Minister and the great orator of the Commonwealth, who told them that they had advanced so far toward the goal of Melbourne that there was nothing for the government to do but to capitulate and make the best terms possible. Maybe that didn't please the youngsters! Well, Melbourne, which is as large as Boston, capitulated the next morning. The Lord Mayor, Sir Henry Wood, came on the Town Hall steps. The rest of the people jammed the streets. When the boys swung into Collins street, the main thoroughfare of the city, the mob broke loose from police restraints and overwhelmed the kids. Women picked them up in their arms and kissed them. Men raised them on their shoulders, and the populace cheered with mighty roars. It was a tremendous triumph for the boys. Then the police cleared the way for them, and they were paraded to march to the Town Hall. "Here they are, sir," said Lieutenant Adeney, their commander, to Captain Creswell, the naval director, "sound and healthy, and not one of them dropped out! All the time the boys were in the city they were petted and praised."

We should like to know how any man with real red blood in his veins could have seen that column of tired boys marching into Melbourne, or even read the description of it as vividly penned by Mr. Matthews, without looking down deeper into the human heart than he had ever looked before, and without feeling all his prejudices against the military education of youths slipping from him like a false rope. Men raised from a childhood in the military spirit, should do what they could to bring into our national life such a spirit as was shown by the march of that boys' brigade of Ballarat. There isn't enough of the Ballarat spirit in this country, and we cannot begin to cultivate it too soon. We thank Mr. Matthews for giving us this picture of the martial feeling ex-

Thomaston Poisoning Case

Six Days' Old Daughter of Dr. Fred James Victim Of Carbolic Acid Administered By a Party At Present Unknown.

Corrosive poison, feloniously administered, caused the death of Agnes James, the six days' old daughter of Dr. Fred James, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury, which spent Thanksgiving Day in an investigation of Thomaston's latest sensation.

The jury does not assume the responsibility of fixing the crime upon any person but the affair is to be given a thorough sifting by the county attorney, with the strong probability that an arrest may follow.

Dr. James is comparatively a newcomer in Thomaston, Nov. 18th his wife gave birth to a female child, while ill herself with scarlet fever.

Tuesday morning Dr. G. L. Crockett, who had been the physician at child-birth, was summoned to Dr. James' house and was told by the latter that somebody had poisoned his child.

The strong odor of carbolic acid, drops of which were found on the infant's clothing, and which had already begun to irritate the mother's throat, proved that this poison had been administered in some manner. The child died Wednesday afternoon without regaining consciousness.

An autopsy was held by Medical Examiner Crockett and Coroner Judkins Thursday forenoon, the result being ample proof that corrosive poison was the cause of death. Almost every organ was inflamed and there was clotted blood in the internal organs. Coroner Judkins promptly impaneled a jury which was composed of William L. Catland foreman, Charles H. Cushing, Burns Dresser, E. R. Bumps, William A. Payson and E. D. Carleton.

An examination of the three persons who comprised the active members of the household when the crime was committed, failed to produce any testimony of an incriminating character. Mrs. Alice N. Crouse, a neighbor, who had been assisting in the James household since the birth of the child, admitted having purchased carbolic acid, but claimed that it was for use in connection with Mrs. James' sickness. Annabelle Curtis, a maid in the household, knew nothing of the affair until traces of the poison were discovered on the child's dress.

The jury then marched to the quarantined home of Dr. James, where a crowd gathered while he stepped onto the porch and had his testimony recorded by the coroner's stenographer, Miss Olive Maguire. He merely knew that his child had been poisoned, and he exhibited paternal indignation over the crime.

The jury, strong in its opinion that murder had been committed, and that somebody should pay the penalty of the crime, nevertheless felt obliged to render its verdict without implicating anybody in its authorship.

The Sea street sewer, which has been a long hard job, is nearly completed. William W. Spear, Roy L. Knowlton and Donald Philbrick are spending Thanksgiving week at Moxie Pond in pursuit of big game.

Fred M. Smith at Crescent Beach has about 25 acres of land under the plow this fall. He has some curiosity to know if any other South Thomaston farmer can beat that record.

Five remarkably handsome apples, which grew on two clusters on the farm of Mrs. Samuel Cole at Deer Isle, were received at this office Wednesday. Mrs. Cole must be possessed of a well ordered orchard that can produce fruit of this character.

The launching of the four-masted schooner from Cobb, Butler & Co.'s yard Saturday will take place between 10 and 11 A. M. Although it may be nearer the latter hour before the handsome craft is released, it is always well to be on hand early at a launching.

As last year, the first week of Advent, beginning on Sunday, will be observed as a week of prayer, in which by vote of its convention the churches of this diocese generally join. There will therefore be a short service with brief address nightly next week, excepting Saturday, at 7.30 in the Parish room of St. Peter's church. The special aim being intercessions for all mission work everywhere.

Wight Philharmonic Society held a profitable rehearsal last evening with attendance of 40. The latter half of Samson and Delilah was sung with the exception of the more difficult parts, the duet of Delilah and the High Priest adding interest and beauty to the music of the concluding scene. Several new voices took part in the chorus work for the first time. Mrs. Caroline Sumner Reed, mezzo-soprano, and Geo. H. Gardner of Thomaston, tenor, renewed membership after a lapse of several years. The association is glad to welcome any such whom the present high tide of enthusiasm is drawing back in considerable numbers. Adam Cole, tenor, a prospective new member, ran over the parts with the chorus demonstrating the fact that his voice, of lyric quality, would be a highly acceptable addition to the tenor ranks, and his ability to read fostered by his connection with the Catholic choir, make him doubly desirable. Tenors being everywhere at a premium.

At the Christmas bazaar to be given at the G. A. R. hall by the ladies of the Baptist society, Dec. 1st, there will be a magazine booth where subscriptions will be solicited for these magazines, Woman's Home Companion, Pictorial Review, Good Housekeeping, McCall's Fashion Magazine, Ladies' World and Embroidery Magazine. Many of these magazines are taken in the city. A renewal will be just as welcome as a new subscriber. If you are considering either of these magazines for the coming year please telephone 155-13 or write to Mrs. R. A. Crie for single rates or club rates. There are many friends out of town whom the Society would be glad to number among its subscribers and who would be pleased to help the good cause along.

It gives quick relief and a cure soon follows, no opiates or alcohol, pleasant to take, guaranteed and sold by all dealers in medicine, in 25c and 50c bottles.
Gentlemen—I have a word of praise for your Oil. For three months I had a very hard cough. I tried several different remedies without getting any relief. I called on Dr. Briggs of Whitefield, N. H., and he said I was going into consumption. I also took his medicine and got no relief. I was advised by H. G. Wheeler to try Ballard's Golden Oil. The first dose gave me relief and I continued taking it as I found I was gaining, until I had taken three 50-cent bottles, and my cough stopped. It has been over a year now and I have good strong lungs. I recommend it to all.

NEW POSTAL CARDS.

The Issue of 1910 Will Contain Number of Interesting Innovations.

Designs for the new postal cards to be issued by the government have been approved by the Postmaster General Hitchcock. The cards will be furnished to the Postoffice Department by the Government Printing Office, in accordance with a contract effective on January 1, 1910.

On the ordinary card the head of the late President McKinley will appear, as now, but a much better likeness has been selected. On the new small card, intended for index purposes and for social correspondence, a likeness of President Lincoln will appear. The 2-cent international card will bear a portrait of General Grant.

An innovation has been made for the double, or reply, post card. On the first half will appear a portrait of George Washington, while the stamp on the second, or reply, half will be a likeness of Martha Washington. The borders of the stamps on all of the cards will be diversified in design. On all the cards the words "Postal Card," required by the Universal Postal Union Convention, will appear on the borders of the stamp, and not, as now, as a separate inscription.

The paper to be used is the best for the purpose yet manufactured. It will be more attractive than the paper used in the present cards and will "take ink" better than the paper now employed.

Purest Flour

"Of the various qualities of flour obtained from the same wheat, the lower grades are those most contaminated with grease, dirt, and objectionable bacteria; the freedom of flour from these, increases with its purity."
Pur. Wm. Jago, the well-known English chemist.
The purity of William Tell flour is due to the costly equipment and exceptional care to keep the grain and flour clean.
The wheat is stored in hermetically sealed tanks at the big mills of Ansted & Burk Co.
Before grinding, it is cleaned six times.
Neither grain nor flour ever touches anything but the bright, clean surfaces of dust-proof machinery. Even the flour bags are sewed up by machinery.

Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust settles, or settling, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.
You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

NEURALGIA OF THE SCIATIC NERVE

Is Sometimes Called Sciatic Rheumatism.

One of the Most Painful Diseases but It Can Be Cured as This Maine Case Shows.

Sciatica is neuralgia of the sciatic nerve. Its origin is generally rheumatic and is the direct result of taking cold. For this reason the disease is commonly known as "sciatic rheumatism."
Lack of blood is almost always associated with neuralgia. One medical authority has defined neuralgia as "the cry of the nerves for better blood." This is true because the nerves receive their nourishment through the blood. Build up the blood, the impoverished nerves are fed and the neuralgia pains disappear. Absolute rest is the best aid to proper medical treatment. Rest and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure most cases.

Mrs. Alfred Stafford, of R. F. D. No. 1, Hartland, Me., became afflicted with sciatica while in a run-down condition through overwork. She says:

"From July, 1907, to March, 1908, I was afflicted with sciatica and from July to September I never left my rooms. The pains were in my limbs, back, and hip and were so great that I was helpless during the greater part of my sickness. My limbs, especially at the ankles, were swollen and lame. My stomach was weak and bloated with gas. I was so nervous that the least thing excited me. I was unable to get much sleep, had slight palpitation of the heart and was run down in flesh and strength. "I was treated for eight months by doctors, who gave me tonics, but without help. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and found relief after a short trial. I took several boxes in all and was cured. I regained my strength and weight and am as well as ever. I would like to persuade every sufferer from sciatica to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Every nervous sufferer should have a copy of the new edition of our free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System." Send for a copy today.
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

FROM NEW YORK

Huge Hotel-Teatro Soon to Be Opened—

Last Dutch Farm House On Manhattan Island Torn Down—Solo Survivor of 'Old Ironsides' Crew Passes Away—World's Largest Chrysanthemum Is Valued at $12,000.

New York, Nov. 22.—This city is fast becoming the musical center of the world, according to those who follow most closely the developments in this field of artistic entertainment. They declare that America is fast taking away the lead of European countries so far as interest in this subject is concerned. Already more money is expended upon music in New York than in any two other cities, not excepting even London, Paris, Vienna or Berlin, of which and the merely fashionable claim to being the true home of musical art. The sum total of the yearly expenditure for harmony of a more or less highly developed sort is estimated to be between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000. This includes of course the two great operatic establishments maintained in rival splendor on which about half the total sum is poured out. Then there are the regular symphony and other series of concerts and the capitals by prominent musical artists which represent an outlay of some $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 more. The remainder of the vast sum paid out every year goes to pay for private entertainments and for the activities of the rapidly increasing number of musical societies. It is in this latter field that those interested in musical progress see the surest indication of a growing appreciation of music and a real fondness for it as distinguished from the merely fashionable patronage which sets the tone for the widely-famed operatic productions. Most of the activities of the musical clubs and societies center around the big hotels and the development has become so pronounced that in the largest and newest hotels special provisions have been made for catering to musical tastes. In the new extension of the Hotel Astor, for example, the largest single room in any hotel in the world is equipped with a stage as large as that of the ordinary theatre and contains seating accommodations in its floor space and boxes for over 2,000 persons. The Hotel Dutton, the second largest pipe-organ in the world. This huge hotel-theatre is to have its opening performance on Dec. 8 when the Mozart Society, recently founded by Dr. Adolpho Waldstein, to give the first of a series of concerts devoted to the interpretation of the music of the great composers. From one to a half dozen less elaborate musical entertainments are given in the hotel and the rapidly growing demand for good music comes not only from New Yorkers but from the hundreds of thousands of visitors who flock here from all parts of the country, so that it would seem that Americans as a whole are becoming interested in a form of art of which they have long been accused of being neglectful.

How far we have traveled in the span of a single lifetime. The changes that have taken place in the building of naval vessels and the methods of sea fighting was strikingly suggested by the death here a few days ago of the last survivor of the crew that manned the famous old frigate Constitution—more familiarly known as Old Ironsides—on her trip around the world. The last link connecting the present generation with the most

Again On Sale In Rockland—Poorest Person May Help Stamp Out Tuberculosis

The Red Cross Christmas stamps, which were handled so successfully in this and other Maine towns last year, have been placed in the hands of Cyrus W. Hills, the druggist, who will be the distributing agent.

The stamps come in sheets of 100. They sell at one cent apiece or one dollar per sheet.

The stamps will be forwarded to trustworthy persons who may make arrangements to sell them, it being understood that all money received for them and all unsold stamps shall be returned before the end of the year. Persons selling the stamps, of course, contribute to the good cause that little portion of their time and trouble required to take charge of and sell the stamps.

The Federal Government has given permission for their sale in the post-office buildings, and last year many were sold in these places. Many were also sold at various church fairs, which are so numerous at this season of the year, and many of the stores aided in this work.

These stamps will not, of course, carry mail matter, but on letters, cards and packages they will bear messages of cheer and good will and the pennies which buy them go to aid the hopeful fight against penitence and suffering.

The proceeds go to the Maine Sanatorium at Hebron, a brief statement concerning which follows:

The campaign of state departments of health against the ravages of tuberculosis was started by the state board of health of Maine. That was in 1889. The educational work of the board was followed by a marked diminution of the tuberculosis death rate, but the board felt the need of auxiliary influences in the work such as would come from the existence in the state of a well-equipped sanatorium for tuberculous patients. The work of such an institution would be followed by three beneficial results:

Many of our young men and young women would be saved from consumptive graves.

Every case cured would lessen by one at least the number of homes from which the disease might otherwise be spread.

Every patient trained in the sanatorium would become an apostle of right living and of care against the spread of infection.

With these views, the state board of health called a meeting at the state house in December, 1900, of those persons in the state who might be interested in this matter. The result was the incorporation of the Maine State Sanatorium Association. With this initiatory action, it seemed best for the state board of health to withdraw and to leave the management of the association in the hands of a board of trustees chosen from our well-known business men.

The sole object in view in constructing and managing The Maine Sanatorium is to make it a public benefaction—to provide a place for persons, whether with limited means or well-to-do, where they may receive within their own state, and not far from friends and home, such treatment as world-wide experience has shown gives the best assurance of restoration to health in cases which are in any wise curable, this treatment to be made available at as low a price as is compatible with first-class service.

What the association wishes to do is to pay off its indebtedness as soon as possible. It wishes then, aside from the one now under construction, to build one or two more cottages. Then, with accommodations for larger number of patients, the cost per person can be lessened. Then, when debts are paid and the sanatorium as originally planned is completed, the money which comes to the association by donation, by request or otherwise, may go almost entirely to those who need to receive treatment in the sanatorium. The bill at the end of the trustees appeal to the people of Maine and the well-wishers of Maine for their continued aid and for help just now in a larger measure.

VAUDEVILLE BILL AT THE FARWELL

Without question one of the most important bills ever offered at Farwell opera house for some time is the present one. Yesterday at both matinee and evening performances there were record breaking audiences. The pictures were a big feature. Dora Blake's Rival, a dramatic picture of western life, keeps one interested from start to finish and calls forth much applause. The others were all good and far above the average. In the vaudeville line the Three Amiotts, the world's most wonderful gymnasts and presenting the famous child wire artist, head the big bill and are a whole show in themselves. This is the greatest gymnastic act ever at the Farwell and to see it is well worth twice the small admission asked. But even without this great act the program would be one of the most entertaining ever played in a vaudeville house as Falk and King, singing and talking comedians, in their burlesque drama, are two very funny fellows and kept the big house agog with laughter. Mr. Austin is pleasing the patrons the last half of this week in his rendering of "I've Got to Make Love to Somebody" and "Two Blue Eyes," two well known and popular ballads. Every child and every lady should be sure and see the great Saturday matinee as it will prove one of the most pleasing events in the amusement line. On Monday there will be still another big double program headed with two big acts out of the ordinary and which are sure to be the talk of the town for the first half of next week.

KNOX POMONA GRANGE.

Knox Pomona Grange held a very interesting meeting with Seven, Fred Grange in Union, Nov. 18. Meeting was called to order at precisely the appointed hour, with nearly all the officers present. After the regular order of business the 5th degree was conferred upon nine candidates. At the noon hour dinner was served to about 100 hungry patrons. As the patrons assembled again in the main hall, a very able address of welcome was given by Mrs. Ada Hawes and responded to by A. T. Clifford, who always has something nice to say to the patrons. The question for the day was ably discussed by the various members, followed by the musical and literary program. It was a profitable session and closed in form about 3:30, giving all ample time to reach home before the darkness of night closed in around them. The next session will be with Evening Star Grange, Washington, beginning at 10 a. m., Dec. 16.

HOW TO GAIN HEALTHY FLESH

C. H. Pendleton Advises Use of Samose.

While thinness may not be a disease, yet it is in reality a condition that needs attention. Under the nourishing power of Samose healthy, natural flesh will soon be attained.

This remarkable flesh-forming food strengthens the system generally and builds up the flesh (issues) so that good, natural plumpness results.

An ounce of flesh is better than a pound of theory. C. H. Pendleton believes that the best possible demonstration of the flesh-forming powers of Samose is to have it tried by his customers, and to induce them to use it, he offers to pay for the Samose in case it does not give satisfaction. No stronger proof than this can be given of his faith in it.

He has seen hundreds who were weak, thin and scrawny, become plump, robust and strong, solely through the use of Samose.

MARINE MATTERS.

Capt. James W. Hawley arrived home this week from a trip to New York and Baltimore. He said that the outlook for business among the owners of shipping was of a most encouraging nature. Everybody was talking of the good times ahead, especially for the merchant marine. One day last week one vessel owner held off for a dollar coal freight from Baltimore to Boston. Capt. Hawley said that there was every sign of a good business next summer.

The six-masted schooner Ruth E. Merrill, which arrived in Portland Sunday from Baltimore with a cargo of over 5,000 tons of coal for the Maine Central Railroad, made the round trip from Boston to Baltimore and back to Portland in the quick time of 13 days, including the time used in loading the cargo of coal. Captain George Wallace, the master of the Merrill, has the reputation of being one of the smartest skippers in the coastwise coal trade and has many quick trips to his credit since he has been master of coasting schooners.

The appearance of the Bath-built steam schooner Frances Hyde reminded the residents of Kittery that the only other steam four-master ever on the coast, at one time hailed from Portsmouth. She was the Walker Armington, built at Rockland in 1883. She was purchased in 1897 by Harry W. Anderson of Exeter, a former Bath boy, who had her auxiliary power removed. She foundered in Chesapeake Bay the following year after striking shoal and was lying down from Baltimore to Kittery.

WONDERS OF TOYLAND

Small Wonder That Children Look Forward Anxiously to Christmas Season.

With the approach of the holiday season the attention of many a fond parent and many an anxious kid is directed toward toyland. The new toys this season will be of a most marvelous character, and are described by an exchange as follows:

The aeroplane toys promised last summer by the inventors, following upon the successful flights of the aviators, will make their appearance in the shop windows by the first week in December. Most of these are imported, and the models that will be shown are as numerous as those exhibited in recent races at Reims. The French are the leaders in this species of toy making. In fact the light, airy, artifice toys from abroad will be shown in France, while the German products are marked by the same stolidity and soli-dity that are characteristic of the land where they are made.

Some of these aeroplane toys are very expensive, wholesaling at $10 apiece. These are really for the grown-ups or for boys who have real mechanical skill. There are others, however, made to retail at as low a price as $5 to 50 cents. These aeroplanes are made for actual flying, the motive power coming from the ordinary steel spring power familiar to toy handkerchief mice in toyland when Peary and Cook began their scurrying. The up to date Teddy bear of the French make winds up and is calculated to indulge in a number of humorous romances. Another member of the bear family evolved by the French inventors is of large stature, and when wound stalks majestically about the room, moving one leg at a time in a most dignified fashion, with his red tongue lolling out over a grass muzzle. This toy is made to sell at $6. The pink pig is another mechanical toy, cost $2, which will sell well. It squeaks, rolls its pink eyes and well it squeals, rolls its pink eyes and Other foreign toys that are believed to have a big sale ahead are birds, many in the likeness of pigeons which when wound up strike and dance their heads and coo. Some of the smaller birds are made to emulate the boom-crang, returning to the hand after a brief flight. The Apache dance, popular in the vaudeville shows of the last year or two, is reproduced by a couple of clinging figures which after being wound up perform some gyrations.

The automobile and the motor boat,
models of which appeared in toyland
soon after the first machines appeared, are again to be big sellers. The improvement in these toys has kept pace with the inventive genius of the men who make the rear end of the matter.
Very expensive models are found in the factories this year. Electric toys of bewildering profusion are being put on the market. One that hails from France consists of a number of little soldiers who are made to go through various manoeuvres by electricity according to the familiar medium of cord and socket.

The solid tendency of the German toy manufacturer is illustrated in what is called "The Aerial Navigation Department." The Germans have discovered a new composition known as meteplast, which is complete at the latter end finish as well as rougher handling than the old lead and tin toys. The toy spoken of is made in ten series, to retail from 15 cents up to $5. The collection is very complete at the latter end. There is the model of the dirigible airship, with officers and regulars of the aerial navigation battalion,
now a distinctive part of the German army. One officer is using a glass, another is telegraphing; there is a regular heliograph station and even portable telephone, another a field, a shed for the airship to be stored in.

The ingenious toy men have even taken advantage of the Marathon craze, and have reproduced what they call the Marathon racer, a coaster for children. It is proclaimed to be a development of the idea the youngsters have evolved by riding in a cramped position on one side of an express wagon, propelling it with the free foot.
The spinning egg and the jump, and frog are two new games that promise to prove popular. By means of a string an egg is made to spin, and the count is made from the number upon which it finally rests. The frog game consists of a catapult that propels a frog against a netting. When properly made the frog catches upon this netting, and the count is based on where it lights.

North pole games will be in legion, although most of them are based on old ideas. For instance, a board is marked with the route of the various explorers and the game is to determine which by a series of movements, can reach the pole and return first in safety.
By means of another board, the question of which reached the pole
first, Peary or Cook, can easily be settled. A globe is used as the map, and two sets of figures running from 1 to 6.
Peary and Cook, the players, get six markers each, and those take turns in covering the figured disks. If Peary leads out by putting a marker on 6 and Cook follows with one on 3, he announces the total of 9, and the game is continued until won, the victor being the man who can first reach 21 with his marker. There are many variations of old ideas all applied to the new game, the goal always being the pole.
Eskimo dolls, Peary and Cook man-ikins, rubber balls made in the shape of the globe, with all its familiar lines of continent and ocean, with the north pole standing out prominently, are common today.

The presence of Roosevelt in Africa has also given the toy makers ideas and reproductions of bull hippopotami, elephants, lions and the like are many.
One of the oddities is the butec toy, named after the butec, one of the queer birds Mr. Roosevelt bagged. The comic supplement humorists are also drawn upon for ideas for plaster and rubber figures.

In the old familiar lines of wooden toys, toy houses and household outfits, dolls and the like many innovations will be seen. A French doll house is equipped with every modern device, bathub and telephone, electric lights and a range for electric cooking with real doorbells. The doll is perennially popular, and the nation grows richer
each year for ideas for plaster and rubber
figures.

The most wonderful dolls from the mechanical standpoint come from Paris. They talk, walk, sing and gestulate, and are marvelously gowned.
Their cost runs as high as several hundred dollars.

CHEVALIER AT KEITH'S.

That Albert Chevalier has lost none of his art but on the contrary has increased his drawing power as an entertainer, is being evidenced at Keith's,
where he is delighting large audiences
with his characterizations of English types with which his name has been for years identified. Those who have seen and heard him can readily understand the great sensation he created in Chicago, and it is no surprise to hear that he is being held over for another week at Keith's. Chevalier never was better than he is now and unlike most great artists who have endeavored to maintain their reputations, he has not only found worthy successors to such years identified. Those who have
