"The Natural Resources of Maine."

(Paper read at Pomona Grange, held in Litchfield, N. H.)

Maine is the most easterly state of our Union, lying to the extreme northeast, and is the largest of the New England states. It has a very productive soil and a beautiful scenery of the eastern states. A prime source of the wealth of Maine is found in her forests, lying for the most part in the northern part of the state. The area of this vast forest is very great, being seven times larger than the "Black Forest" of Germany. The last report of the Forest Department shows that four-fifths of our original forest are still untouched. This is said to be a higher percentage than any other state, and 20 percent higher than the average. Yet in spite of the fact that the younger generation do not look into this great question, and fight for its preservation, the number of our scientific forests is rapidly diminishing.

Knowing that Maine is now exporting about $15,000,000 worth of lumber and manufacture products, it is not surprising that we realize that by using scientific methods this great natural resource alone would support a large population.

Another one of Maine's great natural resources is her water power. When we think of the saying, "Power is the creator of wealth," and realize the amount of power produced by the 233 waterfalls of the 5121 streams represented upon the state map, we cannot help but feel that Maine is a power and has a tremendous wealth. The number of water power now produced is 2,571,911—this is only a very small part of that which
the rivers of Maine, flowing through the state, are capable of producing.

In the Outlook for April it says, "The men who control the water power, or what is sometimes called 'white coal', are the most powerful of the industrial classes of the United States. Their power is only a very small part of that which
the rivers of Maine, flowing through the
state, are capable of producing."

CHAPTER VIII.
Wherein Mrs. Comstock indulges in "Fills" and Billy Reappears.

It was Wesley Sinton who really wrestled with the problem as he drove about his business.
He did not have to ask himself what it meant; he knew. The old Corson gang was still holding together and the law had been joined by a younger brother of Jack's, and they met in the thickets of the few remaining farms of the swamp to drink, gamble and sing. Then, suddenly, there would be a robbery in some country house where a farmer that day had sold his wheat or corn and not paid a visit to the bank, or in some neighboring village.

The home of Mrs. Comstock and Elmore Sinton was the swamp. Sinton's land was next, and not another result of man's error to reach in case of trouble. Whoever wrote that note had some human kindness in his breast, but the fact stood revealed that the swamp was the home of the lawless and the lawless were the home of the swamp. It was a lawless place, and the lawless were the home of the swamp. It was a lawless place, and the lawless

There will be a meeting at 7:30 in G. A. R. Hall this Monday evening for the organization of a Roosevelt Club. Hon. W. L. Libby will be present and speak of the Chicago convention.

Mrs. George Wise will go Tuesday morning to Rockland for a stay of two weeks. Mrs. E. F. Neal of Lewiston will be the guest of Mrs. W. H. Wise, while Mrs. Wise is away.

As announced in last week's Democrat, Mary Bailey of Roxbury, Mass., will give an entertainment in the Grange hall, Tuesday evening, Sept. 27, at 8:30. The close of the entertainment a short social will be held with good piano music.

A union meeting at the Universalist church Sunday evening, Sept. 26, was addressed by Wesley J. Weir, field secretary of the Maine State Sunday School Association, Rev. A. T. McWhorter, and T. N. Newell. The meeting was well attended.

On Wednesday and Thursday morning was furnished by Wheelwright's Band of East Dixfield, and was excellent. It is a little remarkable that in a place of that size it should be possible to maintain so large a band (there were twenty-one) which played at Canton, and do a first class job.

C. V. Knight of Turner was the judge on the thoroughbred track.

A notable exhibit in the horse department was the brood mare and three of her colts, draft bred, belonging to Arthur Parks of Hartford. The mare, which was some years ago, is not very large, but the 2-year-old colt weighs 1250, the yearling 1050, and the sucker is a promising one. They are all after the big black stallion owned by W. W. Farrar of Hartford, which was to be seen at this fair.

The premium stock parade Wednesday noon, and the event was notable for the number of pairs of work horses and yokes of white faced oxen that were seen.

There were also a great number of single horses, most of them of draft breeding, and a considerable number of cattle in different classes.

The president of the society is W. W. Rose of Canton; vice-president, Stanley Bibeau of Rumford; secretary, O. M. Richardson of Canton, who has held the office this year as in years previous by Mrs. W. A. Lucas; treasurer, W. S. Marble of Dixfield. Trustees: E. H. Stanwood of Rumford of horse and racing; Trustee Ezra Keene of Hartford of harness racing; Trustee C. T. Bonney of Canton, superintendent of the fair.

With one of the fastest half-mile tracks in the state, this fair has always been a favorite with the horse men of the district, and it is not surprising that a number of the best horses in the state were present.

There was a great deal of racing, and the interest in the sport shown by the managers of the fair and the people attending was very noticeable.

An exciting smash-up, fortunately without serious consequences, occurred Tuesday afternoon at the first heat of the 2:22 class, the sulkeys of Billy Nelson, driving Danny Joy, and R. O. Jordan, driving Hiram, collided and both horses and sulkeys were thrown from the track. Hiram was thrown from the sulky seat, and was dragged by the horse down the stretch to the stand, where he was assisted by bystanders. Hiram was running around the track with the sulky, and was thrown from the sulky seat, and was dragged by the horse down the stretch to the stand, where he was assisted by bystanders.

Knocked Down by a Motor Car.

The hearts of the bystanders went into the air when a motor car, driven by a man named Hiram, was struck by a horse and sulky, and the horse and sulky were thrown from the track. Hiram was thrown from the sulky seat, and was dragged by the horse down the stretch to the stand, where he was assisted by bystanders.

Under the vote of the town at the last annual meeting, the school last year purchased of Alton C. Maxin a lot of land for a public dump, south of the Mason Manufacturing Co., between the Grand Trunk track and the river. Access to the dump may be had through the yard of the Mason company. The land for the dump has been burned over, and is being fenced. This lot is conveniently situated, and the dump can be burned over when necessary with safety.

Sheriff-elect William O. Frothingham was serenaded Tuesday evening by a party of friends from Norway who came in a special car, arriving at 9:30. They were accompanied by a drum corps, and formed at the end of the car track and marched to Mr. Frothingham's store, where there was red fire and music. Mr. Frothingham passed out the cigars, and having been notified by telephone that he was expected to make a speech or sing a song, he spoke briefly, but said only a few words.

When a strike held up coal mining for a few weeks last spring, we expected that we should get "soaked" on the price of coal, but we were assured that quantities of coal were at the mines ready to be shipped, and there would be no shortage. Now we are getting the short end of it. Not only is the price in the city but there is no coal. Some coal can be had in small quantities, but no stove coal here yet, and no prospect of any, and the rest of New England and New York is in just the same predicament. And nine dollars a ton for what was coal is a bad thing. It isn't apparent just what kind of a game the "coal barons" are putting up on us, but if they don't look out they will get people mad, and that thing will break out which Gen. Sherman used as a definition of war.

Mrs. Nettie P. Tirrell of this village died Saturday morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. L. F. Powers, in Norway. After a long period of ill health, Mrs. Tirrell was submitted to a surgical operation in the hospital in Portland some weeks ago, and for a time was seemingly improved. Since her return from the hospital she has been with Mrs. Powers.

Mrs. Tirrell was born Sept. 17, 1849. She married Addison Tirrell, who died some years ago. She had no children, though there are living several children of Mr. Tirrell by a former wife. She is survived by two brothers, Orra H. Bumpus and James H. Bumpus, both of Paris. The funeral is at the Baptist church, at 2 p. m. Monday, attended by Rev. E. A. Davis, and interment in Riverside cemetery.

A Good Fair at Canton Park.

ANDROSCOGGIN VALLEY SOCIETY ADDS ANOTHER TO ITS SUCCESSORS.

"It takes the people to make a fair," as was remarked at the fair, and the remark was not then made for the first time. It takes other things, too, but a fair without the people is unthinkable. The first essential of a fair was not lacking at the Canton last week, when the Androscoggin Valley Agricultural Society held its twenty-fourth annual show. The people came by big train loads, by team, on foot, and in automobiles—especially the latter. There is no more striking change in the habits of the people of a decade ago than the cloud of automobiles which fills the grounds. Horse-drawn vehicles are rare, but the automobile is the prevailing method of transportation.

The trains also, which center from three directions at the fair gates, brought hosts of people. For instance, 1100 tickets were sold for East Summer station for Wednesday forenoon's train, and the line of automobiles was long along the line. In spite of a dubious outlook for weather in the morning, Wednesday's fair was the largest of the largest ever seen in the grounds.

It rained some Wednesday afternoon, too, enough of a drizzle to be disagreeable, but the fair continued, though it really interfered not at all with the program. Thursday morning the clouds in the sky doubtless kept some away, but the fair prevented the attendance of a fair crowd.

Tuesday was devoted largely to preparation, bringing in the stock and getting the exhibits arranged in the hall. Canton Grange occupied a large space at one end of the upper hall, and there was a good display of the products of the farm, quills, rugs, and other things which are strictly in the women's department.

In the lower hall were arranged the vegetables and fruit, there being a good showing of fruit and a fair though not large amount of vegetables. Two of the exhibits were of the products of the farm, quills, rugs, and other things which are strictly in the women's department.

NORWAY.

All grade schools in the village commenced Monday, Sept. 23.

Work has commenced at the Norway cream shop and the indications are that the season's pack will be one of the best. The cream is somewhat late but of a most excellent quality. If there is no frost for two weeks the season will be an unusually good one.

The low water in the channel from the wharf to the Crockett Bridge makes the boating very difficult. Capt. Sampson's new motor boat draws but little water and is a great success.

J. E. March of South Paris was before the Municipal Court Thursday, charged with operating an automobile without registration. He pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs taxed at $10.

Chas. F. Hildon accepted the Phi Kappa Phi Scholarship at the University of Vermont at his home. The class organization is as follows:

President—Charles F. Hildon.
Vice-President—Myrtle Hildon.
Secretary—Myrtle Hildon.
Treasurer—Myrtle Hildon.
Social Committee—Myrtle Hildon, Pearl Hildon, Myrtle Hildon, Myrtle Hildon.

The members of Co. D, 2d Regiment N. G. S. M., enjoyed a field day at the range Sept. 15. Orders have been issued for the election of captain of the company to be held at the Armory Monday evening, Sept. 23d.

Capt. Moses P. Stiles to preside.
