Another Whack at Ramford Sellers.

A SCORE OF LIQUOR CASES AS THE RESULT OF DETECTIVE WORK.

Rumors that "potters" had been at work in Ramford were proved correct when on Sunday, the 19th, twenty-one warrants for violation of the liquor laws were served by the officers in that town.

The cases were heard before Judge McCarthy of the Ramford Falls Municipal Court on Monday. A number of them are old offenders of much experience in the courts, others are new. Some of them were bound over on hearing, others waived hearing and furnished bonds.

The Supreme Judicial Court, so that all the cases will come before that term. The respondents are as follows:

Louis Fortner, single sale and common seller.

Dan McCafferty, single sale and common seller.

Thomas J. Curran, single sale and common seller.

George G. Brown of the Ramford Drug Co., single sale and common seller.

E. L. Coville, single sale and common seller.

Edmund Bowers of the Red Cross Pharmacy, single sale and common seller.

Nicodetto St. Pero, single sale and common seller.

The Ramford Bottling House, common seller.

Peter Perry, single sale.

A. J. Thibodeau and Vito Buccino were discharged for lack of sufficient evidence.

All but one of the drug stores of the town are included in the list of complainants.

Will Close Out the Norway Shop.

THE B. F. SPINNEY CO. TO GO OUT OF BUSINESS IN THAT TOWN.

It is definitely settled, according to information received by the Norway Board of Trade last week, that B. F. Spinney & Co. will wind up the business of making shoes in the Norway factory, and the plant will be sold.

This move is directly due to the death of L. P. Bartlett of Lynn, Mass., a few weeks since. The head of the firm is B. F. Spinney of Lynn, now over 80 years of age, who started the business in the Norway shop about forty years ago.

For many years Mr. Bartlett had been associated with him, and much of the time had been in immediate charge of the Norway plant.

In consequence of the death of Mr. Bartlett, and the desire of his widow to realize on his interest in the concern, an examination of the plant and affairs of the company has been made. B. F. Spinney, partner of the latter in the shoe manufacturing business in Lynn, and another partner in the Norway factory, but gave no intimation with regard to what move would be made until the Board of Trade was informed a few days ago.

Frank Spinney is interested in a shoe manufacturing business in Lynn, and it was hoped that if B. F. Spinney & Co. were to close out the Norway factory, the firm of Spinney & Spinney might be induced to transfer their business to the Norway factory, but efforts toward that end were unsuccessful.

Since the shoe factory was established in Norway, it has employed several hundred men, and has been the leading industry of the town. While the discontinuance of the business is a setback to the town, it is felt that so large and well-equipped a plant will not be allowed to remain permanently idle, and vigorous endeavor will be made by the citizens of Norway to induce some other concern to take it over.

The valuable horse of W. H. Cushman of Mechanic Falls met his death in a strange way. Mr. Cushman had been out and was putting a rope on the wagon and his sister, Mrs. Ward, was just stepping into the carriage when the horse made a dash for the water.

High up on the slope of Mt. Katahdin, above the timber line, there has been established a station for the fire patrol in that section that ought to prove of a great deal of benefit in fire protection in that section. The station has a telephone, and is far above the timber line, and is a most desirable place for a fire patrol station.

Michael Carmichael, son of Sylvia and Columbus Carmichael and grandson of Shilborth Patrick of England is the son and pedigree of a beautiful Angora cat, valued at $1,000, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Morse of Stockbridge, Mass., who are spending the summer in Norway.

George Thompson of Phillips, 90 years of age, has just completed the building of a dam 75 feet long, the age of its builder and the method of doing the work make it a most unusual performance. Thompson has been entirely unaided and all of the dirt used in the dam was hauled to its place by his own team.

The timber used have been dragged across country from an abandoned farm more than a mile away. The small logs Thompson hauled on his shoulder but the heavier pieces he dragged with a rope. The dam is on the farm of his son-in-law, Fred Ross, near Phillips village. A pond about 75 feet in diameter has been formed. As the water comes from springs and is pure and cold, Thompson believes it would make an ideal place to raise trout and plan to stock it with brook trout within a few days.

The town records of Fairfield, which are being copied in payment of a tax, under the direction of Town Clerk W. J. Bradbury, are now complete in their splendid new, typewritten, loose-leaf form for 1912.

In other records, the work of copying the records of the town meetings has been finished down to the year 1881. This does not, however, represent a tenth part of the town records expended upon the records, before they are in the shape desired by the town officers; for they are to be instantly available to those who desire to consult them; they must be indexed and indexed in such a thorough, painstaking way that any desired fact may be instantly available. This is the task upon which Mr. Bradbury and his assistants are now bending their energies. In addition to this, also, is the immense amount of material in the shape of vital statistics, intention of marriages, etc., all of which is to be indexed in conformity with what is generally approved and up-to-date methods.
