NEWSPAPER HISTORY

The Rockland Gazette was established in 1816. In 1874 the Courier was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1885, and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

Writing for a lost-in-the-mails copy of The Courier-Gazette, E. A. Champney of 88 Prospect street, Manchester, N. H., adds: "It is like losing a friend to lose one of these letters from home."

The Senate not only dotted several 's in the peace treaty but they eliminated the capital 'U' from American government. This is still a Republic with the government divided into three co-ordinate branches.

Three Kansas City cemeteries have issued orders refusing to bury the dead on Sunday. It's hard on those who want to make a "grand display" on Sunday but otherwise it is a relief for the minister. In any event it makes no difference to the dead.

The big point to remember says the State publicity manager of War Savings Stamps is that according to the last published and available bank reports, there are still half a million men, women and children in Maine who have no savings deposits in either savings banks or trust companies. If we can start these people saving, through buying Stamps, they will, in very many instances, become life-long bank depositors. It would be difficult to find any movement of greater consequence to the future prosperity of Maine.

The news print paper supply is rapidly approaching a stage which will be fatal to many newspapers," declares the Chicago Tribune in a recent editorial. "The present normal demand is perhaps 25 per cent. greater than the supply and prices are on a famine basis and going higher. At present rates of advertising it is impossible for most newspapers to make money. If this situation were the result of manipulation or monopoly, it might be dealt with by the usual legal measures, though prosecution and legislation are disappointing in results. In fact, the present situation is the result of short-sighted attempts in the past to restrict the price of paper which has left capital and industry in a predicament, so that the industry now is not able to meet the publishers' needs."

ST. PETER'S CHURCH

White Street, near Limerock

Rev. A. E. Scott, Rector

81 Pleasant Street. Telephone 29-M.

If this telephone is not answered, call 56-X.
Annual Meeting of the Guild (postponed), with election of officers, this afternoon from 2 to 5, with Mrs. Scott, 200 Broadway.

The Canvass is taking place in the Church all over the country; ours comes next Sunday, and we hope to complete it on Sunday afternoon, weather permitting. All are asked to stay at home in the afternoon until called on, though if they prefer they may make their pledges in the Church at noon. The result, so far as possible, will be announced in the evening.

Make no arrangements for Sunday which will conflict with the services the canvass; on this one day the parish asks for first place in your plans. The Bishop will be present all day, and this is a roll-call of all who care for the parish, no matter how little they think they can do.

All communicants, especially those who have been putting it off, are urged to come to the only Communion service next Sunday. The Bishop will celebrate, and this is the right way to start an important day. Services next Sunday, the Third Sunday in Advent, at 7:30, 10:30, and 7:30. Church School at 12:15. No afternoon service.

The blue pledge is the most important of the three to be considered next Sunday; it states the personal service each of us is to give, each in his or her own way. The little leaflet, "Three Million Members," suggests on the last page some of the ways we can help; this leaflet will be presented to us Sunday on a blue card, to be marked and signed. If you can teach, or learn to teach, mark it; if you would join and help to "boost" a men's club, mark it; if you would attend Church School or a special study class, mark it; if you can sing, and would sing regularly in the choir, mark it; if you would join a troop of boy scouts, and work for it, mark that; if you would help form a society for younger women, write that in and mark it; if you would help to make the present Guild a larger and better Guild by joining it, mark that; if you would join a quiet group for prayer and intercession, write that in and mark it; if you have something else in mind you would like to do, write it in and mark it; if you don't know what to do, but are willing to give the Rector one or more hours a week, write that in and mark it. If you want to know more about opportunities to give your whole time to some form of Church work, there is a place to mark that too. Don't say nobody has asked you to do any of these things; you are being asked now. Let the response on the blue cards be a genuine roll-call of the whole parish offering itself for service to God and man. If no one calls on you, telephone or see the Rector about it.

The red-ink pledge states the amount of money, large or small, you will plan to pay weekly during 1920, or until you recall it, for the big projects the reading matter has told you about, all over the world outside our own parish; by these pledges we are to meet our parish's apportionment in making these big things come true.

The black-ink pledge is for our local parish work, so that as we go forward to bigger things the necessary bills may be paid.

Children fill out the blue card like older people, but have a special card for the red and black pledges, and little envelopes to pay them in.

Tug Fred E. Richards, formerly owned by the Rockport & Rockland Lime Co. but which was taken over by the government at the beginning of the war for the U. S. transport service in the war zone recently arrived back at New York. It was currently reported that the tug was lost soon after the line company sold it, and the difference was not generally known until somebody returning from Overseas told The Courier-Gazette of having seen it in a French port.

The town of North Haven is soon to have electric lights. The plant at Vinlhaven is to furnish the current. A large part of the residences are being wired ready for the light. H. A. Robbins, the electrical contractor, has had a crew working there for the past two months.

CHARLES A. SPRAGUE

Kennebec Journal:—The death of Charles A. Sprague at Los Angeles brings to the vivid recollection of not a few of our readers the August of forty years ago, when he was one of the owners of the Kennebec Journal, and actively interested in the affairs of the community. Mr. Sprague was business manager of the Kennebec Journal, which position he ably held until 1887. For us who knew him there is, notwithstanding the years that have passed, a keen sense of personal loss, a feeling that he has been taken in the best years of a life well lived and from friends of warm regard.

Mr. Sprague was the son of the late Alden Sprague, one of the founders in 1855 of the Rockland Free Press. He was born in Rockland, educated in the public schools here and learned the printing business in his father's office. His age was about 65.

CHRISTMAS CLUB CHECKS

What Be Issued By Security Trust Co. Today—Depositors Have Saved $36,000.

Christmas Club checks aggregating $36,000, and representing praiseworthy thrift upon the part of more than 1250 depositors, are payable today at the banking rooms of the Security Trust Co. After Dec. 15 checks will be mailed for all deposits remaining unpaid.

The Security Trust Co. inaugurated this custom five years ago and by small weekly deposits there has been saved the impressive sum of $176,000.

The Christmas Club makes for a permanent habit of thrift it being estimated that a considerable percentage of the money distributed finds its way back into the savings department. People know how hard it is to form the habit of saving unless they have some definite obligation to meet. The Christmas Club is just such an obligation, but taking weekly deposits of small sums, works no hardship on the depositor. It makes saving easy and thriftiness a pleasure.

Money comes in most acceptably around the holiday season near the end of the year. All the Christmas checks do not go for Christmas gifts as one might suppose. Patrons find them handy for paying insurance premiums, buying coal, and for the thousand and one things one must have.

This was the last meeting of the year before State Grange which many of the patrons plan to attend.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Lieut. John Ashlon was reported dead on a French battlefield—an error. Returning home he found a woman posing as his wife. He accepts the situation and the woman. A second-ly cousin guesses the secret and threatens exposure. A pretty romance is the outcome. The story is told to-day in "The Amazing Wife," Mary McLaren starring.

"The Lost Princess," a delightful romance with abundant touches of sprightly comedy, will be seen Wednesday and Thursday with three twin Fox stars Albert Ray and Elinor Fair. In theme, plot and action the story goes with zip from start to finish; in every foot of film the two stars maintain the excellence of their work. Among the most interesting scenes of the play are those that show some of the inside workings of a metropolitan newspaper, with reporters, editors, printer's devil and all. The love romance of two young writers, on this paper—one of whom proves to be a fugitive princess in disguise—is most cleverly developed and brought to a happy climax—adv.

The body of Frank Dyer, who was drowned from his fishing boat on the Rockland Trial Course one week ago today, has not been recovered, and was probably carried to sea by the strong current. In addition to the surviving relatives previously mentioned in this paper there are two brothers, Leslie of Bath, Philip of Rockland and Elmer of Portland, whose names were accidentally omitted.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Whatever your occupation may be and however rounded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day
for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.

DAYS OF OUR YOUTH
Oh, talk not to me of a name great in story:
The days of our youth are the days of our glory,
And the myrtle and ivy of sweet love and twenty
Are worth all your laurels, though ever so plenty.

What are garlands and crowns to the brow that is wrinkled,
This but as dead flowers with May-day besprinkled:
Then away with all such from the head that
is hoary:
What care I for the wreaths that can only give glory?

O Fame, if I e'er took delight in thy praises,
'Twas less for the sake of thy high-sounding phrases
Than to see the bright eyes of the dear one
She thought that I was not unworthy to love her.

There chided I sought thee, there only I found thee:
Her glance was the best of the rays that surround thee:
When it sparkled o'er aught that was bright in
my story,
I knew it was love, and I felt it was glory.

—Lord Byron.

"Whims," the High School paper,
will be issued today.

A number of Knox county cases are being argued at Law Court in Augusta today.

The city schools close tomorrow for the Christmas recess. They will reopen Dec. 29.

The Smith brothers, Charles E. and Harris P., have sold their business in Portland, and will again locate in this city.

Deputy Revenue Collector John J.
Perry has returned from Lewiston.
Mr. Perry and Deputy Collector Almon
P. Richards have headquarters at the Custom House and are working up on delinquent income tax returns.

The outlook for the January term of Supreme Court seems to promise the busiest midwinter session in some years. A number of important civil cases are in order for trial, and there promises to be a large amount of divorce business. Sixteen divorce entries have been made during vacation and 31 cases were pending at the close of the September term.

A new Rockland band, composed wholly of musicians who belong in this city or immediate vicinity is soon to be organized. "Admiral" Roscoe G.
Ingraham who has been trying for several years to realize, has consented to act as director, "until the boys get a-going." "All of my boys are now home from the war except Tyler Clark," said the veteran bandmaster
yesterday.

The sun rose this morning at 7.04 and will set at 4 o'clock. The length of the day being 8 h. 56 m. Commencing next Monday the days will lengthen so far as the afternoon is concerned, but the sun will continue to rise a bit later each morning until the end of the month. The shortest days of the year —for there are seven of them of about equal length—are from the 19th to the 25th, inclusive.

A drizzling rainstorm ceased yesterday forenoon, and the wind shifting to the northwest blew great gusts until well into the night. A number of minor mishaps resulted throughout the city and over near the trotting park a large section of trolley wire came tumbling down. The passengers were obliged to transfer about until John T.
Berry and his assistants completed repairs.

Congressman Wallace H. White, Jr., who is to be the speaker at the December meeting of the Baptist Men's League, is chairman of the subcommittee of Merchant Marine and Fisheries. It is hoped that he will speak upon some topic connected with those interests and a desire is being expressed that the public may be given opportunity to hear him. The committee therefore announces that there will be a free public meeting held in the church auditorium to which a general invitation is given.

All sorts of novelties are offered by the Senior class of Rockland High School in connection with the County Fair, which will be given in the Arcade Friday afternoon and evening.
The doors open at 2.30 and patrons will behold a lively scene, with attractive booths for the sale of numerous articles. The "Mysterious Packages" will contain something of use in any family. There will be foot races and obstacle races in the afternoon and an entertainment and dance in the evening. The entertainment program will include dances of all nations, music by the High School Orchestra and Mandolin Club, singing, etc. The dancing will begin at 9.30.

The Wight Philharmonic Society is a quarter of a century old and has always been a staunch upholder of music in our city, under the able direction
first of its original conductor, James Wight, and next by the late Edgar A.
Burpee, who succeeded him. At its recent election these officers were chosen: President—E. F. Berry; vice president and treasurer, Kelley B. Gie;
secretary, George E. Torrey; assistant,
Miss Lillian M. Baker; director, Mrs.
Faith Berry; pianist, Miss Katherine Burton. The present paying membership is 40. Odd Fellows hall has been engaged for rehearsals. It is desired greatly to enlarge the membership and to this end an appeal is made to all singers and music lovers of Rockland and adjoining towns to associate themselves with the society, for study of the best composers and the general promotion of the cause of music in our city. It is purposed to return to a former custom of the society in revival of public concerts at which the best local talent shall be exploited and new singers brought into notice. The Courier-Gazette heartily endorses the renewed purpose to revive this splendid organization and will gladly aid in every possible way to bring its claims for support to the favorable consideration of the public. Where music thrives the community is prosperous and the endeavors of the men and women who devote more or less of their time to the art deserve the cordial support of the community.

ICE HOUSE BLEW DOWN

Carl Cole of Camden Seriously Injured
at Rockport When Building Collapsed
Yesterday.

Carl Cole of Camden, an ex-service man, is at Knox Hospital suffering from serious injuries sustained yesterday afternoon when the frame of one of the Rockport ice houses blew down upon him.

The houses had lately been bought by Charles McKinley of Camden, who had torn down one, and was dismantling the other. Mr. Cole was working inside, and was offered no chance of escape when a terrific blast of wind sent the walls crashing inward.

The victim was brought to Knox
Hospital, with several ribs broken, bruised about the head, neck and shoulders, and thoroughly sore all over. He passed a very uncomfortable night, and his condition is such as to give no small amount of concern. A more thorough examination will be made today.

Mr. Cole has a wife and one child.

The recent Thanksgiving donation at the Home for Aged Women brought a generous contribution from the good friends of the city, headed by $50 in money and two tons of real coal, the other articles presenting this varie-gated and comforting list: 45 cans condensed milk, 4 pounds salt pork and 3
of bacon, 3 salt fish, 3 boxes Portenhouse cod, 1 apple pie, 1 gallon milk, 2 pounds butter, 3 quarts cranberries, grapes, 1 turkey, 1 chicken, 2 bars
soap.

Grand Master Workman Roscoe W.
Hanson was present at the last meeting of Rockland Lodge, A. O. U. W., at which there was class initiation, and many applications for membership were received. The grand master presented the lodge with a large picture machine, to be used for the illustrated lecture in the master workman degree.
Supper was served after the work.
Returning to the lodge room Master Workman B. L. Larrabee introduced Grand Master Hanson who gave one of the best talks on fraternalism the lodge has ever heard. Remarks by S.
E. Welt and William Black, and songs
by Robert McIntosh, Roy Black and Miss Jennie Mohan were also on the program. The members danced until a late hour. Since last July the lodge has had class initiation at every regular meeting and there have been special meetings for degree work.

E. L. Pendleton, formerly of this city, died Tuesday in Worcester, Mass.
The news was received by Frank B.
Miller, secretary of Knox Lodge of Odd Fellows, to which the deceased had belonged since July 7, 1880. Mr. Pendleton has two sisters in Rockland, Miss Florence Pendleton of Cedar street and Mrs. L. H. G. Wiergin of Broadway.

M. A. Johnson is at Knox Hospital for treatment, and it is expected that an operation will be necessary. Mr. Johnson has been in ill health for some months, but his legal duties have been especially exacting, and he refused to give up until the step could no longer be postponed.

GEORGE H. SHERMAN

From the Newtown (Penn.) Enterprise:—In the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, Dec. 2, occurred the death
of George Harry Sherman, aged 41 years, a former resident of Newtown. His health had not been the best for over a year and some ten days before his death he went to the hospital for treatment. His ailment was one which physicians had difficulty in diagnosing,
but was probably a type of heart disease.
Tuesday morning he was up and seemed better in a little while died suddenly.

Deceased was the second son of the late George R. and Annie E. Sherman. His father was for a long time an attaché of the Enterprise office, dying in Newtown March 20, 1912.
The mother also died in Newtown a few years later. Harry entered the United States Navy about 11 years ago, and after his discharge
therefrom was located for a time at Rockland, Maine. From there he went to Hardwick, Vermont, where he was with an electric light company for a few years. Latterly he had been at Gibbstown, N. J., where he held a responsible position at the duPont Repauro
Works as safety supervisor and fire inspector, having oversight of an area in which there are over 200 buildings.

Moore and spent the most of her married life in Union, Me., until three years ago coming to Whitinsville. She was a kind neighbor and always ready to give a kind word or helping hand to those in need. Although she had lived in Whitinsville a short time the beautiful floral tributes showed how she had endeared herself to many hearts. She was a member of the Methodist church and the W. C. T. U. In her home she was loving and kind, and will be greatly missed by her husband and children. ROCKLAND HIGHLANDS

Hoyt Emery and family are moving into the Brad Sherer house behind the mountain. When this is accomplished there will be five inhabited houses between the Beech Woods neighborhood and the Alvin Oxtun place—a distance of more than two miles. I can remember when there were eighteen houses on that road besides the two schoolhouses. Now there are eight. The timbers of two others are standing but they are in such a ruinous condition as to be uninhabitable. All the rest have been taken away or burned down. I find very few persons who have any remembrance of the little old fashioned schoolhouse which stood this side of Sherer's Mill, near the road which teamsters use in winter for getting wood from "up the bog." Jennie Kallenberg taught in that schoolhouse and Flavilla Ingraham in the one at West Meadows the first term I ever attended school. What changes time brings! Of the parents of pupils in all that big West Meadow district, I think there are only two now living. Agnes Ingraham and Emily Blackington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Benner Jr., spent Sunday at his old home on the mountain.

Mrs. Susie Smith has returned from Belfast and is with her daughter Hazel on Rankin street.

The upper end of Rankin street is much improved by the gravel which has lately been deposited there. Some of the ruts were more mud holes in wet weather, several inches in depth.

A new way of washing

You just soak your clothes clean instead of the old rubbing and boiling.

JUST imagine your clothes washing themselves for you overnight!

Imagine their washing themselves without any washing "machinery" whatsoever—no boiler, no washboard, no washing machine, or suction funnel.

You just put your clothes to soak—with a new soap product.

You have been told so often of machines that would wash your clothes for you, of products that would get the dirt out without any work on your part, that the story of this new product is going to be hard for you to believe.

It is hard to believe that a simple soap product, absolutely harmless, can, just by a soaking overnight, so loosen the dirt in your clothes that when they are rinsed in the morning, all the dirt comes out.

As a matter of fact, if the overnight soaking is inconvenient, three hours soaking will accomplish the same wonderful result.

"Soaking Clothes is Certainly Easier Than Rubbing Them" says Mrs. Terry

"When I first used Rinsol I thought if it only saved half of the usual rubbing it would be wonderful. The directions for mixing it up were easy to follow—and I got a beautiful sudsy tub for the clothes to soak in over night. And in the morning—most of the dirt dropped right out in the Rinsol suds, as I swished the clothes up and down. One or two really ground-in spots came out like magic when I put a little dry Rinsol on the spots and rubbed lightly between my hands. Two good rinsings and the clothes were beautifully white and ready for the line at 9 o'clock instead of not till noon. There wasn't any of the exhausting work that washing had always meant before. Soaking clothes clean is certainly easier than rubbing."

Mrs. M. A. Terry, New York City.

More convenient to use than any other because it is already cooked—Ready for the Crust.

We, New Englanders, prefer the old-time Mince-meat for pies—mince-meat that is as pure as it is wholesome. "Maine-Maid" Mince-meat is faithfully prepared according to good old Down-East recipes;—those that have been praised the country over.

When the folks suggest more mince pies, be sure to ask your grocer for "Maine-Maid" Mince-Meat.

WATERMAN'S BEACH

Did you see the storm sign hung up in the heavens Saturday, just before sun set? I told our boys it was a sure sign of a storm. Sunday just before sundown it rained, snowed, hailed and thundered. I was just making the last round to see if I could induce the bidders to bid more, and when I opened the door the pulleys passed over the cracked cord and commenced to pick up the hailstones. I guess they thought it was pearl barley; it looked like it, and those pulleys had been fed pearl barley when they were baby chicks and it looked as though they remembered it.

The pastor showed his pictures in the chapel Monday evening and Miss Grant had a store full of boys from the saw mill, Monday being pay day. It looked as though Spruce Head wasn't down and out quite yet. If it were, it would be the pulleys passed over his store and H. R. Waldron hung out his horse shoeing single we would be in clover again.

Our school is closed on account of there being no wood for the fire. With thousands of cords of wood growing in the woods it looks as though some one wasn't on his job.

The South Thomaston item telling us about the wood lots that are to be cut over was O. K. Thanks. It will look strange when the big trees are cut down and we can see our neighbors' that only live a mile or so away.

In a letter recently received from our niece Mary Godfrey Drake, in San Francisco, she tells us the weather in that part of the world is none too good. On Thanksgiving day they had an unusual wind which did damage to the shipping and on the following Monday night had a slight earthquake. The high living costs they have as well as wages are 93 cents, butter 77 cents, turkeys are 55 cents and 65 cents a pound.

How do you fill the paper coming over either day? We think it is fine. I haven't been a mile from home since last February, but the press now-a-days keep one in touch with the outside world. What a lonely life without it.

WALDOBORO

BY MOTOR TO FLORIDA

From Rockland To the Verdant Land of Flowers In Eleven Days Actual Running Time.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

I must begin with an apology for my delay in writing this promised article. We left Rockland on the morning of Nov. 2, arriving at our winter home in Coconut Grove, Florida, on Nov. 15. As we visited and rested and saw the sights along the way, we spent but eleven days in actual running time. Our speedometer measured a distance of 2123 miles.

We had all of our had weather and mud the first forenoon between Rockland and Gardiner. The Bath ferry was off time and it was necessary to make the detour. We left Rockland in a rainstorm, but the skies cleared before noon, and we did not have another drop of rain until we reached Florida. It was necessary to have our car washed only once—that was in Boston. The only time that went flat very obnoxiously did so while the car was standing in the garage at Jacksonville.

We ran to Boston the first day, to New York the second. There we were delightfully entertained by Miss Polly Wood in Mrs. J. M. Taylor's beautiful apartments on Riverside Drive.

Our friends, Dr. and Mrs. J. David Quinn of Rockland, N. Y., came here and we had the long trail about noon. We made the short run of 111 miles over excellent macadam to Philadelphia, where we tarried for the third night. The next forenoon we followed a beautiful winding way into Baltimore, where we spent the afternoon and the following day visiting friends and motoring about the beautiful parks for which the city is justly famous.

Our next line led through Washington and on to Richmond, over narrow, red clay roads that were smooth and beautiful because there had been no rainfall in several weeks. We realized how difficult they would have been after a storm. We enjoyed the splendid hospitality of Hotel Jefferson during our over-night stay in Richmond and it surely rivaled New York's best. We ran to Raleigh, North Carolina, the following day and over to Southern Pines the next morning, where we spent the Sabbath. It was not at all difficult to understand why so many Northerners are enticed there to enjoy the high, dry, sunny winter climate.

Leaving Pinehurst on Monday morning we soon came into the wonderful new sea island cotton belt which extends across the southern part of North Carolina and northern South Carolina. For miles in every direction the fields stretched away, white with a very abundant harvest. We were told that this cotton has an extra long fiber which makes it valuable in the manufacture of automobile tires and that it sells for ninety cents to a dollar a pound. The production this year was running from 700 to 1000 pounds to the acre. The crop is a new one in that section and is bringing a great boom to the South. Land that sold for $30 an acre a few years ago is selling now for $500. As we rolled through the Carolinas and Georgia we saw great fields of maize, sweet potatoes and sugar-cane that were being harvested by groups of singing, happy colored people.

We tarried over night at Columbia, the beautiful, thriving, bustling capital of South Carolina. The road leading from there to our next over-night stop at Milne, Georgia, was mostly deep sand which we crawled through at a snail's pace. One could not help feeling quite safe, however, for one in the deep rut there was no possibility of getting out. All you had to do was just keep on keeping on until you came to the end.

We had an experience at Milne that was most amusing to one of the party. We were late for the night train and were hungry, but the train, grills, hot coffee and soggy southern biscuits came in, the rest of the party lost their appetites, tilted their aristocratic noses into the air and fasted. Not so the writer of this article. Her appetite had been sharpened by years of travel while lecturing through the South. She easily ate all four portions and went to bed happy.

When we reached Augusta, Ga., we were told that the old route via Savannah to Jacksonville had been abandoned and we were directed to Waycross by the former route. The route, via Swainsboro, Vidalia, Envidale, Town Bluff Ferry, Hazlehurst and Alma. We found improved clay roads most of the forenoon, but after leaving the ferry we came into deep, toilsome sand.

We were especially charmed with Alma, Ga. It is the county seat of a brand-new county that is opening up splendid possibilities. We found groves of pecan nuts and made purchases in the local market for a fourth of what the nuts were costing in the North. Waycross also gave us a surprise, for there we found a large, flourishing southern city in the midst of a great carnival to celebrate "Prosperity Week." On our arrival a city officer approached us saying:

"You are from the North, I reckon? At any rate you all look that way to me."

We pleaded guilty to the charge. He then said:

"The key to the city is y-o's. If you all see anything here you want, 'just take it.'"

We refrained from a too liberal application of the cordial greeting, but we entered into the spirit of the occasion, and we should not have a good time, honey.

We shed our winter clothing there and emerged in the thinnest of summer apparel. After another half day's crawl through deep sand that stretched anywhere through the landscape, we came suddenly upon the brick pavement that Jacksonville had sent out twelve miles to meet us. From that time our four-hundred-mile road along the east coast of Florida was as near perfection as our honored townsman, David Tabor, would have us make it.

I have never seen Florida more beautiful. There is a gorgeous riot of splendid color everywhere. The late rains have caused everything to burst into bloom—for there seems to be no regular time for flowers here. They come according to moisture. We found more building in progress in Miami than in all of the rest of our long journey. A score or more large apartment houses or hotels are either building or expanding. Over 400 new residences, many of them magnificent, have been started since January 1st. Every man who can hold a job or a hammer is being pushed as fast as ever the union will allow him to go. The industry does not cease day or night. There is a scramble for building materials of every kind and although carloads of it and train loads of workmen are arriving it seems impossible for them to be ready for the rush of tourists that has engendered everything possible in advance. We realize that we have an abiding place, although we too are rushing to build extra sleeping rooms, that we may entertain friends.

Since arrival, every day has been simply perfect. When it showers, it does so during the night and the sun shines out in the morning. We have no suggestions to offer the Weather Man. We have made a garden. The lettuce and radishes planted after supper on Thursday were up before we were out looking for a hotel or a hammer being pushed as fast as ever the union will allow him to go. The industry does not cease day or night. COULD HARDLY WALK ACROSS THE FLOOR

Mrs. Brock Regains Her Strength After Taking Tanlac.

"Before I took Tanlac I just did have strength enough to walk across the floor, but now I feel better than I ever did in my life," said Mrs. Frances Brock, living at 43 Myrtle street, Portland, Maine, to a Tanlac representative recently.

"I had the worst sort of stomach trouble and had scarcely any appetite at all," she continued, "and could hardly eat anything at all, only toast and the very light foods, and what little I did manage to force down would cause the worst sort of pains in my stomach and stomach that were so bad I thought I would die, and at times I would become so dizzy and faint that I could hardly stand on my feet. After the least little exertion I would become so weak I would have to lie down and rest until I could regain strength enough to get up again. My nerves were in such terrible condition that I could hardly get a wink of sleep and would get up in the morning so weak and tired I could hardly move."

"Friends of mine who had been benefited by taking Tanlac, urged me to try it, but I would not take it until one day I read a statement in the newspaper from my uncle, Mr. Angelo, that he had been relieved by taking Tanlac and decided I would give it a trial, and after taking the first bottle the pains in my stomach and back that I used to suffer with so much had all disappeared. I was then troubled with dizzy spells and my head was taken four bottles in all and my stomach is in fine condition and I have such an appetite I am hungry all the time, and eat anything I want without any bad after effects. I have regained my strength so I can do a great deal more work than I ever did before and it is a pleasure to my housework, and I can walk almost any distance without getting tired. My nerves are simply fine, and I sleep all night long just like a baby and have to tie an alarm clock to the head of my bed to wake me up in the morning, and I get up feeling rested and refreshed and ready for my work."

"After Tanlac had done so much for me my husband, who was a sergeant in the U. S. Army during the late war, decided to try it, as he had been in bad health for about fifteen months. He took four bottles and now he is in the best of health and feels fine and has gained forty pounds in weight."

"We both feel that we owe a great deal to Tanlac and have persuaded several other friends to take it, and they are all getting good results. We will always recommend Tanlac and if anyone doubts this statement we will be glad to tell them personally what we say here."

Tanlac is sold in Rockland by Corner Drug Store, and in Thomaston by Whitney & Brackett—adv.

TALES OF THE SEA

The new Thomaston built schooner M. Vivian Pierce, which is now on her way back to this country from her first overseas trip, has just effected a second very profitable charter, getting $15 a thousand on lumber from a Gulf port to Montevideo on Buenos Ayres.

The old schooner A. F. Kindberg, of Machias is a wreck on Folly Island, off Cape Porpoise and believed to be a total loss. The old schooner was built in East Haven, Conn., in 1864, and has weathered many a storm along the New England coast, often visiting this port. Her master, Capt. Sanford E. Gray, and the crew, all hailed from Machias, from which port she sailed with piles for New York.

Four members of the crew of the two-masted schooner Mary E. Lynch were drowned Friday when an unidentified tug struck and sank the vessel, which was lying off the foot of 32nd street in the Hudson River. The captain of the sunken vessel, Andrew M. Francis, was rescued. He and the other members of the crew, all negroes, live in Miami, Florida. The schooner was loaded with stone and arrived in New York Thursday from Stonington, on her way to Oseining, N. Y. She registered 185 tons and was built at Newcastle, Me., in 1890.

Just as soon as the craft now on the ways in Newcastle is launched, a five master will be started. The Dolly Madison will be launched on the first spring tide in January. The vessel to follow her will be known as the Paul Jones. The keel will be 240 feet, beam 42 feet minimum depth of hold 23 feet, 6 inches, flush deck and three houses. The Paul Jones will be the third vessel launched by this concern. The first was the Virginia Dare, which was launched May 30. The tonnage of the Paul Jones may be much different from that of the Dolly Madison, about 1,000 net.

Portland papers say there appears to be a difference of opinion in regard to the identity of the wreck outside of Montserrat. The government people feel sure that it is the wreck of some small coaster, while men who have been scouting about it on private account say that can't be so, as the stump of the mast measures full 30 inches in diameter. This would call for a big three-master or perhaps a small four-master. They think the masts are those of the Charles C. Lister, which was dismasted in the big gale and which was towed into Rockland. They think the alleged hull under water won't be found when divers go down, if they ever do. On the other hand, some men who have been dragging around with cranes, have brought up some fine embroidery cotton which causes them to think that there is a hull down there and that included among those on board was a woman who was doing fancy work in her spare moments. It will be recalled that the wife of the skipper of the Lister was on board at the time of the trouble, but the hull of the schooner and supposedly everything that was in it is now safe in Rockland harbor. It is said that there is a large anchor and a lot of chain cable lying around in the vicinity, which is supposed to have come from this same wreck. In fact the whole affair is a decidedly mixed situation.

The Portland papers are in error as to the statement that the captain's wife was on board the Lister when that craft was wrecked. There were no women aboard.
