POLITICAL BRIEFS

Former Governor Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, who is a candidate for delegate at large to the Republican national convention, Thursday pledged himself to the candidacy of Herbert Hoover.

Negro voters will not be allowed to participate in the Alabama democratic primary May 11 under a ruling made today by the chairman of the State democratic executive committee.

The Philadelphia Hoover Republican committee Thursday sent out nominating petitions for the purpose of having Herbert Hoover's name on the Presidential preference ballot at the Republican primary election in Pennsylvania May 8.

Lewiston Sun:—Every Democrat agreed that it was some contention. After matters had been threshed out in a truly democratic fashion before the State Committee Monday night, there was not a ripple among the delegates to indicate internal unrest. All agreed that "Patt" knew best about the prohibition question and that after all a "dry" platform was the proper thing this year. Therefore perfect harmony prevailed and every delegate returned home smiling and happy.

President Wilson was asked if he wished to qualify as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President in a telegram sent him Thursday by Secretary Gardner of the State Democratic Committee. Request that Mr. Wilson's name be placed on the ballots for the primary to be held April 29 has been made. A petition signed by 118 voters, Robert Lansing, former Secretary of State and Senator Reed, for whom petitions have been presented, also were asked by Secretary Gardner if they wished to qualify under the rules governing primaries in Georgia. Both replied that they are not candidates.

EASTER 1920

[For The Courier-Gazette] O risen Lord! Here we hail this Easter dawn And lift our songs to Thee, And not within us own the guilt Of insincerity! How can we in America Our land secure from free, Rejoice and sing while o'er the sea Is Calvary's agony! Oh, rather let us travel In dark Gethsemane, And pray God, if it be His will, To end that bloody deed, Oh, let us sweat the bloody drops, And with Thee vigil keep, While helpless lies Armenia! We hear her plea and weep.

First let us keep the righteous fast—To wash the naked, lift the yoke, The hungry give to eat; To fill with justice mercy, love, Until it overflow. The cup we lift to parched lips—Compassion, pity, show. Then, beautiful on the mountains Shall America's feet be pressed, Bringing her suffering sister, Comfort, healing, rest. Then, heart and conscience chastened, Our land beloved may lay At Thy dear feet her filthiest, And branches of palm and bay. —Beniah Sylvester Oxtom. Rockland, April 2.

The Bath Times has this to say about last Saturday night's game in Rockland: "More high girls basketball team was defeated by Rockland high at Rockland Saturday 8 to 3 in what was pronounced the fastest game played there this season. To the Morse girls, however, it appeared more like a game of indoor football. Miss Whitcomb and Miss Hartnett who have made fine records during the season were closely guarded, and had two players hanging to them most of the time. This game ended the season for the Morse girls, and the most successful season it has been. The girls have played 12 games, losing only four. A game with the Portland girls on the Y surface here resulted in a win for the visiting team. Although Morse loses one star by graduation there are fine prospects for the next two years, as the team will be made up of practically the same lineup which has acquitted itself so well this year."

RESCUED 22 SEAMEN

William H. Thomas of Rockland Chief Officer of Craft Which Did the Stunt.

The steamship Gorge, formerly commanded by Capt. Harold J. Philbrook of Rockland, and of which William H. Thomas of Rockland is now chief mate, got front page recognition in the daily papers recently by timely rescue of the crew of a burned schooner. The Baltimore Star of March 27 thus told the story:

Twenty-two stalwart seamen owe their lives to the fortunate chance that the Hull Steamship Company's ship Gorge, Capt. S. H. Wingate, master, came along just as the five-masted schooner City of Helena was a mass of flames in a heavy sea 80 miles south of Cape Hatteras.

According to the accounts of both captains, the boat load of officers and crew from the burning vessel might have been adrift many days at sea or swamped by the flames but for the Gorge's fortunate appearance. It was 10:30 o'clock at night on March 23, says Captain Wingate when the Gorge overhauled what appeared to be a red flame. Says Captain Wingate:

"Immediately upon sighting the flame I slowed the engine to just enough speed to hold our head to the wind, and attempted to establish communication with the strange vessel, both by radio and by blinker. I did not deem it advisable to bring my ship about because of the heavy sea unless absolutely necessary. A gale was blowing, too. But after all attempts to communicate with her had failed, and instead of a flare the light seemed to steady and increasing in size. We had great difficulty, but finally succeeded without mishap, and headed in the direction of the other ship. We were upon the burning vessel in less than five minutes, and saw a mass of flames in the high wind. The engines were driven from the engine-room by the smoke and the pumps could not be put to work.

The City of Helena was only five years old, of 2,500 tons gross, and was on her way to New York, via Hampton Roads. The Gorge hailed from Boca Grande, Fla. Another Maine officer on the Gorge is John Philbrook of Winterport who is third mate. Writing to The Courier-Gazette Chief Officer Thomas says: "We had a gale of wind, with mountainous seas from Sand Keys, Fla. to Cape Henry, and believe me we were some sea. I snapped some pictures of the big waves also of the burning ship."

WELCOMED MR. KEENE

New Orleans Business and Financial Interests Tender Banquet To Shipping Board Official.

The New Orleans newspapers recently devoted considerable space to a banquet tendered by business leaders of that city to Wilson B. Keene, director of the U. S. Shipping Board's operations in the Gulf of Mexico. Among the influential business men at banquet was Pearl Wright, who like Mr. Keene, is Rockland born. From the Times-Picayune's report of the banquet the following extracts are made:

Put New Orleans and the Mississippi valley in a position within the next few years to purchase the outfit from the United States Shipping Board the ships required for this port's commerce with the world. That should be the goal now in New Orleans and throughout the valley in the opinion of W. B. Keene, director of the Shipping Board's operations in the Gulf of Mexico. He hammered this point home Friday to about 60 New Orleans business and financial leaders at a midday banquet given in his honor at Antoine's. The event was in the form of a welcome by the business interests to Mr. Keene.

Mr. Keene lauded the enterprise and the hospitality which he said New Orleans has the happy faculty of combining in its efforts for commercial development. The city to him, he explained, has always occupied a position of great importance for it was the city to which, 39 years ago, his father and mother came on their honeymoon. They made the trip he said, from Maine in a brig his father owned and which carried a cargo of ice for New Orleans—a precious shipment for this city in those days.

He commented on the rapid strides, especially in a maritime way, New Orleans has made in the past few years and predicted a greater growth in the future. New Orleans has the harbor, the deep water, the railway connections—everything necessary to make it in fact what nature intended it to be—the doorway of the Mississippi valley, and it is this condition that will assure growth, he said.

He stressed the importance of New Orleans and Mississippi valley-owned ships, however, and predicted that the new agreement with operators under which United States Shipping Board vessels now are being operated will do much to bring this ownership about. The new agreement will tend to develop ship operators of high caliber efficiency, he said. It places them on their own feet, and makes it possible for them to develop and to work themselves into a position to actually buy eventually the ships this port requires. "I don't believe any of us here would like to see the government maintain permanent ownership of the American merchant marine," he said. He said that Pearl Wright who built originally from the same town as Mr. Keene, Rockland, Maine—gave the business men a little of Mr. Keene's family history, pointing out that he comes of an old family of ship builders and operators.

A GOOD RENOMINATION

Gov. Milliken on Wednesday, March 31, renominated Warren C. Philbrook as associate justice of the Supreme Judicial Court. Justice Philbrook was first appointed to the supreme bench in April, 1913, by the late Gov. Haines. His present term will expire on Thursday, April 3. This nomination gives Governor Milliken the unusual distinction of having named the entire Supreme Bench of Maine, something that probably no other Governor has ever done. Gov. Milliken has named all the superior court judges of this State.

ASSESSORS ASKED

To Get Information Concerning Principal Farm Crops.

The Department of Agriculture has requested that the board of assessors in each town get some information in regard to production of principal farm crops and livestock and agricultural resources. In order that the farmers of Knox county may be prepared to give such information when asked by the assessors, a copy of Chapter 151, Public Laws of Maine, is given below.

Sec. 1. It shall be the duty of the assessors in each city, town or plantation, at the time of taking the valuation for the annual assessment of taxes, to collect such statistics in relation to the production of the principal farm crops, live stock and agricultural resources, as may be required by the commissioner of agriculture. Such tabulation of statistics shall be forwarded to the department of agriculture on or before the 15th day of May. For such work the assessors shall be paid by the city, town or plantation at the same rate as they are paid for other services.

Sec. 2. The commissioner of agriculture shall prepare and furnish to the assessors such blanks and instructions as may be necessary for the carrying out of the provisions of the preceding section.

The law quoted above is designed to furnish the Maine Agricultural Department data by use of which it can provide farmers and others accurate and reliable reports on crop production. Present conditions make it very important that farmers have such information in order to market their crops to the best advantage. Every farmer, in his own interest, should give the figures exactly and fully, and should help make the law successful by urging that the assessors get the figures from all farms. While it may be difficult to give all the figures when the assessor calls, experience has shown that there is, on the whole, but small change in planted acreages as compared with farm plans about April 15. Similar laws are already in effect in many of the states and have given very beneficial results.

The information is solely for statistical purposes; and not used in any way for taxation.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Peggy Hyland's latest picture is "Faith," which heads today's interesting bill. In this simple story, laid in Scotland, in and near the city of Edinburgh, Peggy Hyland appears as the niece of a hard-headed, grasping old Scotchman, whose love of the girl is the one softening influence of his life. The chief character of the little tale is Adam Harden, the "faith healer." This role is effectively portrayed by Winter Scotchman, whose love of the girl is the one softening influence of his life. He possesses the healing touch, which in truth seems to be possessed by certain individuals, regardless of creed or medical pretense. Adam, who follows along somewhat in the lines of "The Miracle Man," is not in any sense a fakir, but simply a kindly religious man who has a happy faculty in dealing with sick persons. It is he who, in the closing scenes, restores the heroine to health, when medical treatment has failed, and wins over the heart of MacGregor to her rightful lover.

Douglas Fairbanks, whose very recent marriage to Mary Pickford has interesting movie fans everywhere, appears Monday and Tuesday in five lively reels entitled "The Matrimonial." The 9th episode of "The Black Secret," is sub-titled "Webs of Deceit," and is another absorbing chapter.

A new serial "The Lost City" begins at the mid-week showings—adv.

LIFE OF SWEDENBORG

From the New Church Press in New York we have received George. Trobridge's "Life of Swedenborg." A book comprising 247 pages. Price ($1.00.) In these days, when the great World War and the sacrifices it involved turn the attention of a grief-stricken world to the Beyond in greater measure than ever before, it seems appropriate that the disclosure of Swedenborg concerning the Future Life should be brought to popular attention. This is done in a masterly way in this book. The remarkable life of the Seer of Sweden and his teachings and philosophy are clearly outlined and told in a spirit of fairness and consistency. And a very remarkable life it was. Every one should make himself familiar with it. It is the story of a mind that came as near grasping the Infinite as any human mind, and that story is told succinctly. Occasionally the disciples of a great teacher are over-enthusiastic and reckless of statement with reference to him. But Mr. Trobridge avoids this; and treats all subjects as clearly as he does carefully and painstakingly.

RELIGION AND LIFE

A book recently published by the New Church Press, of New York, bearing this title has come to hand. It comprises 52 sermons by Rev. Julian Kenney Smyth of New York City, president of the General Convention of the New Church in America. They are intended to be read, one on each Sunday in the year, and to serve congregations deprived of ministerial service as material for pulpit use in case of lay readers, as well as for the library table, to be picked up at any time. There is a spirit of deep reverence pervading these sermons, and at times the style rises to the highest of poetry, bearing conviction with it. They present the true spiritual values of the texts on which they are preached, and each one brings a message of life, since, as the author points out, "All religion is a matter of life and the life of religion is to do good." Finely bound in cloth $1.00, or in Leather $1.25. 332 pages.

BIBLE LOST AND FOUND

Under the title of "The Bible That Was Lost and Found" the New Church Press, of New York, has published a notable book by the Hon. John Bigelow. (120 pages $1.00, with a beautiful frontispiece of the author.) John Bigelow's name is a well known one in America, since he ranked high in the diplomatic service, especially as ambassador to France in the days lying near the Franco-German war. This book tells an experience which he had in Sweden, the deep spiritual values of the doctrines taught by that eminent Swede, Emanuel Swedenborg. The narrative is almost childlike in its simplicity, told in beautiful English and with a charm peculiarly Bigelow's. The story of how he became acquainted on an island with nothing to read, how he found there a man who had a whole chest of Swedenborg's works; how he read, was astonished, accepted and found his life again, after it had been lost to him for years under a cloud of unbelief, reads almost like a novel. It is a worth while book and we feel sure it will find many readers.

[The three books above named, which came to The Courier-Gazette review desk, have been turned over to the Rockland Public Library and can be obtained there by any of the patrons.]

A BOOK OF MAINE HISTORY

In the publication by the State last year in the form of the Maine Boundary Controversy, by Henry S. Burrage, D. D., State Historian, a contribution of high historical value has been made to the records of our people. The history of a dispute that covered a long period of time and was the source of much acrimony between this country and Great Britain is gone into with painstaking care by the gifted historian and his volume of 400 pages, with maps and illustrations, and a well-prepared index, may be safely characterized as the last and complete word in relation to this much discussed episode. Major Burrage was the one man capable of giving the subject the merited attention and besides its array of data his book is written in a style that makes its perusal a pleasure to the general reader. For one copy of the book we are indebted to the courtesy of Hon. Elmer S. Bird of the Executive Council.

ARMENIA AND THE ARMENIANS

The Macmillan Co., New York, have published in a neat volume a translation from the French by Pierre Crabites of his able work telling the story of this one-time great people. Following an introductory chapter on the Armenian question, the book surveys Armenian history from the earliest times down to the present day of the Great War. The geographical situation, the climate, the origin of the Armenians, the formation of Armenian royalty, early religious ideas and customs, the conversion to Christianity, the dawn of Armenian literature, Armenia under the domination of the Byzantine Empire, the Armenians during the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries; these are some of the topics discussed. The author avoids the mistake of going too much into detail. He has written a concise history which gives facts which the average well-informed person desires to know about the country and its people.

PARK THEATRE, APRIL 20, 21

The Courier-Gazette

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Maine, April 3, 1920.
 Personally appearing before me, J. W. CROFT, Notary Public, who declares that he is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that the issue of The Courier-Gazette of April 1, 1920, was printed a total of 6,187 copies.
 Before me, J. W. CROFT, Notary Public.

A correspondent (A. R. W.) writing to the editor, recalling some trifling but amusing incidents of local history, touches upon the name of a former well-known Rockland barber—

"Giuseppe Barile, whose name we of the continental tongue pronounced Ba-ree-ly. They did not so pronounce it in Vinalhaven. They made two syllables of the name instead of three. When Joe's home was in Rockland, he became possessed of the idea of enlarging his sphere and with that end in view he gathered together his barber-shop appliances and established a plant on Vinalhaven, which fact was announced by the island correspondent to one of our journals, it may have been yours, in the following happy and poetic manner:

There was a bold slinger of hair he,
 Who rejoiced in the name of Joe Barile.
 He took up his kit and from Rockland did go
 To make his abode in this fair isle.

"Now isn't that beautiful? So full of atmosphere and drama. The eloquent pronunciation that the islanders gave his high-daddy name is so full of suggestion: A rheumatic panacea, aromatic pomade, bald head-lands, etc. You probably saw this item at the time but I thought it might have passed from your memory and as it seemed to me to have the genuine jingle I thought I must share it with you, as we both appear to be imbued with the poetic instinct and appreciation."

Equal suffrage was defeated in Mississippi and Delaware this week by overwhelming majorities. Friends of the measure—which now lacks but the ratification of one State—now turn their eyes toward Louisiana, whose Legislature meets May 21. The special session in North Carolina will not be called until early in July. In Ohio the ratification of the amendment by the Legislature, is to be submitted to the voters under the referendum act. Bernard Burns is home from St. Anselm's College to spend Easter. The sequel to his activities in Rockland High School was seen in his election as manager of the Freshman class basketball team at St. Anselm's. The team has just finished a wonderful season, not having lost one of its 14 games.

A Northend woman telephoned The Courier-Gazette yesterday that a large flock of fox sparrows is spending the Easter vacation in that section of the city, while on their migration northward. The Courier-Gazette confesses to being a bit hazy on ornithology, but from descriptions given the fox sparrow is somewhat larger than the common sparrow, with fox-colored plumage on his back and tail, the breast being a grayish white striped with brown and a having large dark spot as a distinguishing mark. People who are interested in bird lore—and really everybody should—be have been watching the strangers with a great deal of interest.

Now that awnings are being put up care should be taken that they conform to the city ordinance which says they must be seven feet above the sidewalk. The penalty for not being so arranged is from $3 to $5 a day. Warning should be taken from the experience of one Main street property owner who was compelled recently to remove a wooden awning which had severely injured at least two persons.

Coal prices advanced yesterday, following a sharp advance in freight rates. Egg, stove and nut coal are now $16 each, and pea coal is $14. Prospects of much higher prices next winter make the situation anything but reassuring.

Judging from the way they are splitting their throats with joyous song these mornings the birds must be glad that they have got north again. Well, we're equally glad to greet them.

The Winter and Spring issue of the Telephone Directory made its appearance yesterday. It contains all the latest styles in numbers, and is an indispensable adjunct to the phone itself.

WORKING FOR HOOVER

Nationwide Movement For His Nomination Is Commenced.

The effort to bring about the nomination of Herbert C. Hoover for Presidency at the Republican convention in Chicago in June has met with such success, according to Mr. Hoover's friends in New York, that within the next ten days there will be a national conference of Hoover supporters from all over the country at Chicago. A prominent national committee with a permanent chairman who will direct the Hoover campaign in the future will be established, and national headquarters will be opened.

John F. Lucey, who is temporary chairman of the Hoover National Club said the conference was being arranged because of the insistence of Hoover clubs who wish to coordinate their activities for Hoover as the Republican Presidential nominee. These clubs, he said, were springing up all over the country and Chicago will be chosen as the most logical center from which to direct the campaign.

"Such a national conference will be unique," said Mr. Lucey. "It will be the natural outgrowth of all the Hoover movements." The Hoover National Club was the result of the country-wide formation of Hoover Clubs, and is the temporary organization which is offering its services as a clearing house for the activities of the clubs. Sentiment for Mr. Hoover as the Republican Presidential nominee has been spreading rapidly, and has now gained such impetus and strength that only representatives of all Hoover organizations can decide upon steps to co-ordinate the work of the individual clubs for the sake of a common cause."

Those small ads in The Courier-Gazette are read by everybody. That is why they are so popular and effective.

TRAVERSE JURORS' RESPIRE

Need Not Appear At April Term Till Thursday—Grand Jurors Come As Usual—Court Gossip.

The April term of Knox County Supreme Court will convene in this city next Tuesday, and the grand jury will enter upon its duties at the usual time. The traverse jurors, however, will not be asked to report until Thursday morning, as Associate Justice Warren C. Philbrook is obliged to be in Augusta Wednesday to take the oath of office, having just been reappointed for another term. Members of the bar recall only two cases when Knox County Supreme Court has been interrupted in a similar manner. One was when Associate Justice Bird took the oath of office, and the other—a comparatively recent occurrence—was when A. R. Savin of Auburn took the oath as chief justice.

The naturalization cases, which are always in order for hearing on the second day of the term, will be called Wednesday morning, but will be continued until Thursday, and the petitioners need not present themselves until the latter day. Thirteen naturalization cases are in order for hearing this term.

The much advertised Hawken cases are in order for trial this term, but may again be continued, owing to the fact that M. A. Johnson, senior counsel for the defense, is not yet able to stand the strain of an extended legal battle.

The alienation of affections case—Adabelle Arnold of Camden vs. Mary A. Young of Matineus—which was interrupted midway of its trial at the January term, owing to the fact that important witnesses could not get here from icebound Matineus, will probably be heard this term.

ably heard this time, and it will, of course, be necessary to begin all over again, as a new jury will hear the evidence. Damages are sought in the sum of $5000.

The case of Mary A. Dyer vs. the Maine Central Railroad is assigned for the second day of the term, after several continuances. The criminal docket will include the case of State vs. Clifford C. Steele. The respondent belongs in Stoneham, Mass., and two indictments were brought against him in Knox county for giving alleged worthless checks to Knox county farmers from whom he had bought cattle. The defense is understood to be that Steele had an arrangement with the Stoneham Trust Co., whereby the bank would stand behind him if his account was overdrawn while he was away on cattle buying trips. For some reason the arrangement was suddenly discontinued and the cattle buyer found himself in the toils. Extradition papers were issued after this county had been pelted with lots of trouble and expense, but Steele came to Rockland voluntarily at the January term. The cases were continued with the understanding that the matters were to be settled. Steele furnished bail in the sum of $2500, and a similar arrangement was made in Lincoln county. Steele, meantime had brought suit against the Stoneham Trust Co. The trouble does not appear to have been adjusted, and the cases may be taken up at this term.

The divorce mill is running short of stock, and may not do much business this term.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Soviets Plot an American Revolution

The so-called "Ambassador" Martens, agent of the Russian Soviet Government, immediately after he had finished testifying before Senate Investigating Committee, was surrendered to the Department of Labor, for investigation with a view to possible deportation. At the same time, the State Department made public certain documents, seized on a soviet courier at Riga on the 8th of March, which disclosed the Russian soviet leaders urging the American Communist parties to unite to seize power in the United States, and establish a dictatorship of the proletariat, and formulating a program for them to follow in establishing an "underground organization" for the purpose of "revolutionary propaganda" among the masses, leading up to "armed insurrection."

A Devastating Tornado

Eight western and southern States were swept by a devastating tornado or series of tornadoes Palm Sunday. The known dead in six central Western States—Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin and Missouri—numbered 95, while 55 were killed in Georgia and Alabama. Illinois was the hardest hit of the central states, with thirty dead, more than one thousand injured and more than two thousand made homeless. The property loss in the Chicago area alone is estimated to have been the result of two storms. One developed in Alaska, traveled through British Columbia, and joined a storm from the Southwest, which developed in Southern Arizona and Nevada. The wind at the core of the tornado is estimated to have had a velocity of from 200 to 200 miles an hour.

The Third Term Question

The question whether President Wilson intends to seek, or to permit, his nomination for a third term in the Presidential office remains unsolved, so far as any utterance of his is concerned. The party managers are a good deal perplexed by his reticence. The matter was brought rather sharply to the front on the 25th of March by a vigorous speech by Congressman Humphreys of Mississippi, attacking the third-term idea, and bringing forward many arguments and historical precedents against it. A striking feature of the occasion was the warmth of the applause which greeted the speech from the Democratic side of the House. Simultaneously with this speech, and an indication that a third-term movement is well under way, members of Congress and others received a letter from the American Tariff Reform League, asking support for a proposed "drafting" of Wilson and Marshall for re-election, and soliciting subscriptions for a publication to promote that enterprise.

Hever a Republican Candidate In response to inquiries from the Hoover Republican Club of California, Herbert Hoover has announced that

A POLITICAL RUMOR

Says That Warden Ham Will Be Augusta Postmaster If Republicans Win.

"In the event of a Republican victory in November, in the country at large, it is said that Chairman Frank A. Ham of the State committee, will be handed over the Augusta postoffice, and that Sheriff Edward D. Harwood of Kennebec county will go to Thomaston to take over the wardenship. At least, this is the program being tentatively formulated by some of the politicians.

"If it hadn't been for Hiram Johnson out in California kicking over the he will accept the Republican nomination for President "if it is felt that the issues necessitate it, and it is demanded of me" but that he will not himself seek the nomination. His acceptance is conditioned on the adoption of a "forward-looking, liberal constructive platform on the treaty and on our economic issues" and one that is neither reactionary nor radical in its approach to our great domestic questions." This announcement is to some extent clarifying as to Mr. Hoover's status; but the situation is still somewhat confused by the fact that Democratic Hoover Clubs are continuing their activity.

A Campaign of Assassinations

The more extreme Sinn Fein are giving their movement for the liberation of Ireland the form of a campaign of assassinations. Almost every day brings a new tragedy—constables and officers of the government usually the victims. Many of the murders are committed in broad daylight, and sometimes in crowded streets. The most melancholy crime of the sort was on the morning of March 26, in Dublin, when Alan Bell, a magistrate, 70 years old, and for many years an official of the royal constabulary, was dragged by a gang, some of whom were masked, from a crowded tram car, and shot four times in cold blood before the eyes of the passengers. The assassins ran away, and no arrests were made.

The Irish Bill in Parliament

After two days' debate the British House of Commons, on the 31st of March, passed to a second reading, by a vote of 348 to 94, the long-pending Irish Home Rule bill. Those who voted against it included Mr. Asquith and his followers among the Independent Liberals, the Irish Nationalists, and a few Unionists. The measure has been carefully worked out, with a view to conciliating, if possible, the conflicting elements in Ireland; and, if it were given a fair trial, it might achieve good results. But the extreme Sinn Fein element will be satisfied with nothing short of complete independence; and this the British Government will not concede. The present outlook is for further outbreaks and increasing restlessness.

Russian and German Reds

Despatches from Berlin, Cologne and other points report that Russian Red army officers are directing the German Spartacists, whose army is being rapidly organized and armed on the exact model of Trotsky's forces. "The revolution was originally planned for the 1st of May; but the leaders decided that the fiasco of the Kapp monarchist movement gave them an opportunity to hasten their plans, and to start a Red mobilization in Germany, which had been prepared up to the smallest details. Trotsky is credited with an ambition to bring Red Russia into close alliance with Red Germany, and through this alliance to dominate the nations of the world."

traces at the time of the Hughes' campaign, Warden Ham might be selling postage stamps at the Augusta office now. Of course, if Sheriff Harwood pulls out on his third term campaign, he might be able to fill out his full two years before going to Thomaston, but this circumstance would be only a ripple in the political bucket.

"There's one thing sure, if Warden Ham pulls off another campaign successfully, he'll be entitled, so his friends think, to one of the juiciest plums in this part of the planet."

Schools in this city and Rockport open next Monday.

The Sunshine Society will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. W. B. Miles, a business meeting which all are asked to attend.

Commencing tonight Paradise Cafe, opposite Hotel Rockland, will become an all-night restaurant. The fluent proprietor, Bert Angell, will be day manager, and his efficient assistant, Millard Sprague, will have charge nights. And there where Millard will have a chance to get a word in edgewise.

Good music and good time at the regular Saturday night dance in the Arcade. "Blowing Bubbles" is the title of the novelty dance for next Wednesday evening.

"Best schedule for years, and prospects fair" is the way the situation sizes up at Cony High School, Augusta, this spring. The schedule includes two games with Rockland High, the first in Augusta April 24, and the second in this city May 8. Only three members of last season's team are in game this year—Hill, Plummer and Brown. A new battery must be found.

The Ladies' Aid supper of the Littlefield Memorial church will be held next Wednesday evening and will be in charge of the men. The following will act as nurses: Frank Gregory, Edgar W. Barter, Rev. Howard A. Welch, Earl C. Randall, Harry P. Chase, William Bowden and Freeman Robinson.

L. H. Snow of Ingham Hill received news yesterday of the death of his father, Eben A. Snow formerly of South Thomaston. The deceased was a resident of Wetmore, Colo., and was 70 years old.

The masquerade skating carnival Thursday night was a success beyond Manager Tarr's expectations, and a crowd which occupied nearly half of the skating surface saw an array of costumes which averaged much better than any masquerade which has been put on here for many years. The judges—Mrs. Ralph G. Whitney of Thomaston and Miss Ava Boardman of Thomaston and Mrs. Frank Clark of Rockland—awarded the prizes thus: For Women—Mrs. A. Winslow, best costume; Miss Annie Laid, second; Mrs. V. F. Studley, most comical costume; Mrs. Carleton F. Morse, second; Perley Miller, second; Neil Kenner most comical costume. Edward H. Doughty, second. A graceful skating contest is soon to be staged.

The nominating committee of Winslow-Holbrook Post made its report last night, three members having been named for each office. The election takes place at the May meeting, when the Auxiliary will serve a complimentary banquet in Grand Army hall. The new flag may be presented to the Post at that time.

At the Skating Rink next Monday night Marion Haskell and H. L. Rector will settle a little argument as to which can skate two miles faster. A warm contest is expected.

At the regular meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge Tuesday night there will be degree work and an entertainment, also the 6 o'clock circle supper.

Capt. F. W. Kent arrived this week from Portland to take command of Capt. John A. Stevens' schooner, Gilbert Stancliffe, which is ready to sail for Thomaston with a cargo of lumber. Capt. Kent has been in the steamship Massachusetts during the winter. He has just sought a residence on Cumberland avenue, Portland, and will move there from 130 Free street, his present home.

The Crozier undertaking establishment at 9 Charenton street, which has been under quarantine on account of diphtheria, has been released, and Mrs. Crozier and Mr. Bowes are prepared to go on with the business in their usual satisfactory manner. The telephone call, day or night, is Rockland, 662. 39-41

Funeral services of the late Mrs. A. S. Rice will not take place Sunday as announced, being postponed to some early day of which due notice will be given. Difficulties of railroad service between Florida and the North has occasioned delay in the arrival here of the remains.

James A. Collins has had the telephone installed at his residence, Ingham Hill. The call is 759.

The special picture, Checkers, which will be shown at Park Theatre Monday and Tuesday is the kind that interests everybody. Exciting situations in every reel.

The remains of Mrs. J. M. Spitz, who died at her home in Everett, Mass., will be brought to the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Hanrahan, Saturday. Funeral services will be held at St. Bernard's church Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Spitz is survived by her husband and three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Hanrahan, and Elizabeth Daley of this city, and Mrs. Jennie Averill of Middleboro, Mass.

A number of school children were seen hunting for dandelion greens Thursday.

When the Grand Masonic Lodge of Indiana met in Indianapolis the other day visitors were asked to rise when their State was called. Only one man responded to the call for Maine, but the solitary visitor from the Pine Tree State got a great hand, and nothing was too good for him during the remainder of the session. Hyman Alperin was the man. The degrees from the 1st to the 32d, inclusive, were conferred, and at the close of the session there was a Shriners' ball.

The local churches are offering their usually attractive Easter programs. Wish we knew what kind of weather to guarantee.

The local drug stores will continue to close at 9 p. m. through the month of April, an agreement to that effect having just been reached by proprietors.

Walter H. Butler has received his commission as recorder of the Rockland Municipal Court, and qualified yesterday.

The steam trawler Widgeon arrived late Thursday night with 321,000 pounds of fresh fish for East Coast Fisheries Company. In this enormous cargo were 300,000 pounds of codfish, said to be the largest fare of cod ever landed at an American port. There were 20,000 pounds of haddock, and about 1000 pounds of halibut.

Claremont Commandery, Knights Templar attends Easter services at the Congregational church tomorrow morning, meeting at the armory at 9 o'clock.

When the books were closed at the Methodist Church last night, the 18 teams had come within $100 of raising the year's budget of $7000. It is confidently believed that the goal will have been reached by next Wednesday. This year the practice of making organization pledges was dropped.

A. A. St. Clair of Portland, a brother of Asa P. St. Clair of this city, fell on the ice a few days ago and fractured a bone in one of his legs, according to information received by Frank B. Miller, secretary of Knox Lodge of Odd Fellows, to which Mr. St. Clair belongs. The jinx appears to be on the trail of the Portland St. Clair, who had both legs broken last summer when he was run over by an automobile.

No stranger to Rockland is Al. Benson, who tonight closes his engagement at Park Theatre as a soloist, with moving picture illustrations. Nearly a score of years ago he came here as a child actor with the Bennett & Benson and Morse-Peyton repertoire companies, and thus began a theatrical career which has taken him pretty much all over this country and on an extensive tour of Europe. The singing of illustrated songs between acts has been his special forte and in his younger days it was his father who manipulated the stereopticon slides. The evolution of this feature brought films in place of slides, and Rockland this week is one of the many places which is being treated to a novelty which everybody is enjoying. Mr. Benson has a very pleasing voice, the songs are among the most popular hits of the day, and the pictures are very beautiful. An even more interesting point in connection with Al. Benson is that he is a direct descendant of the first Fanny Stanford, the first woman to play the part of "Little Eva" in the celebrated play "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Small wonder that the stage has been chosen by or for the young man as the scene of his life work.

The Burpee Furniture Company announce the services of a licensed lady embalmer in their undertaking department. Mr. Alden Ulmer, for twenty years with Mr. Edgar Burpee, is assistant in this department. Service day or night. Day telephone 450, night calls 781-W.

BLETHEN CHAIRMAN

Rockland Ex-Mayor Heads Republican County Committee—Primary Contests.

The Republican county committee organized yesterday, with these officers: Chairman, G. Herbert Blethen of Rockland; secretary, Edwin H. Bowlers of Rockport; treasurer, Raymond E. Thurston of Union; executive committee, the above officers and Charles A. Benner of Thomaston and Thomas E. Gushee of Camden. There was a good attendance considering the disagreeable weather and traveling, and a spirit was shown which augurs well for a vigorous contest in the fall. The new chairman, who was thrice elected as mayor of Rockland, has served on political committees the greater part of his life, and his experience and determination to be on the job until the polls are closed will be a valuable asset to the new county committee.

There will be at least two Republican contests in the June primaries. H. D. Sawyer of Warren and John W. Lane and Lucius H. C. Wiggin of Rockland have taken out nomination papers for the office of sheriff, while George W. Starrett of Warren and Wilbur P. Strong of Thomaston would like the county commissioner nomination. Adelbert L. Miles is a candidate for nomination as judge of probate. And there will be in the field for the other nominations.

The committee that runs the Monday night dances in Temple hall are to be congratulated on the success of this winter's course. With the aid of Marston's orchestra they have increased the interest and attendance from a few to "a full house." The next assembly is Monday night.

The proceeds from the Easter supper at the Universalist church were $102.63.

If there's anything that will take the joy out of life it's a good old fashioned boil, wherever found. If you brought it ask Bert Angell, who has just got the upper hand of 13 of them.

So far as the local banks know, it's a false alarm about counterfeit quarters being in circulation. The story arose from the fact that some have three stars under the eagle, some do not. A difference in dates and mintage is understood to be responsible. Anyhow the banks are taking both kinds. So will most of us.

Battling Knight of Rockland was rather outmatched in his six round bout with Young Dyson of Lewiston at the Rockland Athletic Club Thursday night, but stayed the limit, and proved to his supporters that he has a game disposition as well as a punch. He was knocked down twice in the fifth round and once in the sixth, staying once for the count of nine. Dyson has had much more experience than the Rockland boy and gives promise of becoming one of Maine's best young boxers. The semi-final bout was between Roach of Portland and Mayo of Lewiston, the latter having a considerable shade better of the argument. The preliminary lasted only two rounds. Boardman trimming Thorndike by the K. O. route. McGuire of Camden acted as referee, Charles N. Cohen having severed his connection with the Rockland Athletic Club. The next exhibition will take place April 19, and the fans will have another opportunity to see Young Dyson, who has been matched with Kid Wallace of Nashua for a double-six. Battling Knight will appear in the semi-final with Kid Boulter of Lewiston.

St. Peter's Church (Episcopal). See notes on page one of this paper.

Rev. William Brewster will preach at the Galilee Temple Sunday 2.30 p. m. and in the evening at 7.30.

First Church of Christ Scientist, Cedar and Brewster streets. Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock. Subject of lesson sermon "Unreality." Sunday school at 12.10. Wednesday evening meeting at 7.30.

The Salvation Army revival meeting for Sunday evening will be held at Salvation Army hall, it being impossible to obtain a church, on account of the Easter services. Several recruits will be enrolled. Evangelist Charlie Wilbur Wood will conduct the service.

Easter services will be held at the Congregational church at the usual hours, 10.30 in the morning and 7.15 in the evening. At the morning service the sermon theme will be, "Life Everlasting." Claremont Commandery, Knights Templar, will attend in a body. At the close of the service new members will be received and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. The quartet has arranged a special musical program for both services. The Church School will convene at noon. Visitors are cordially invited to all services of the church.

Littlefield Memorial Church, Rev. Howard A. Welch, Minister; Morning Worship at 10.30; sermon, "The Empty Tomb;" special Easter music by choir; anthems, "Glorious Victory," Wilson; "Our King Hath Risen," Victor Kinspatrick; "The Three Crosses," Jordan; Solo by Mr. Welch; Sunday school at 11.45; Baptismal and Communion service (at the First Baptist church) at 3.30; Easter concert by the Sunday school at 7.15. Tuesday evening, Interchurch Conference at the First Baptist church. Thursday evening group meetings will be held in six homes.

Pratt Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. J. S. Crossland, pastor. Easter services all day Sunday. Special Easter music at the morning service at 10.30, with solo by Mrs. Armstrong. The pastor's subject will be "The Empty Tomb and Its Meaning." Sunday school will assemble at noon, with classes for all. Epworth League meeting at 6.15 p. m. Theodore Perry will lead, and the subject to be introduced will be "The Power of an Endless Life." A lively evangelistic service will commence at 7.15 p. m. Otho L. Hatch will be in charge of the service, and the pastor will deliver an appropriate message.

At the Church of Immanuel Easter Sunday services will be held at 10.30 preaching, Rev. Mr. Allen's sermon topic being "Life Triumphant." Sunday school at noon and Junior Union at 4 p. m. A double quartet will present this music at the morning service: Sopranos, Mrs. Katharine Veazie, Mrs. Phyllis McFarland; altos, Miss Gladys Jones, Miss Lena Lawrence; tenors, E. H. Veazie, Chester Wylie; basses John Robinson, Charles A. Rose, Jr.; organ prelude, Alleluia, Dubois; soprano solo and chorus "The Marvellous Work," from "The Creation." Hayden, solo by Mrs. McFarland; duet and quartet, "The Magdalene," Warren, Mrs. Veazie, Miss Jones, Mr. Veazie, Mr. Robinson; solo, "Easter or Triumph," Harker, Mrs. Veazie; organ offertory, "In Paradise," Dubois; chorus, "Hayden; organ postlude, "Unfold Ye Portals," from "The Redemption," Gounod.

Easter services at the First Baptist church will be of the same attractive nature as in recent years. The Choral Association has been preparing an unusually fine program, including the following selections, for the morning service: Low In The Grave He Lay; I Am He That Liveth; Fisher; Christ Our Passover; Nevins; Solo, Avar Richman, Be Comforted Ye That Mourn; Fisher; Solo, Mrs. Lillian Joyce, Day of Days, Van de Water; Instrumental duet, Oscar and Ernest Crie. Rev. W. L. Pratt will preach on The Easter Joy, "Then Were the Disciples Glad When They Saw the Lord." At 3.30 there will be a double quartet for the service, the Littlefield Memorial church uniting with this church in the ordinance of baptism and communion. The service, of high grade, consists of a Sunday school concert with a spiritual pageant, "Her Easter Chorus," followed by hymns by pastors Pratt and Welch. The chorus will sing "An Easter Carol," Annie Harrington Small; "In the End of the Sabbath," Coerne. This vesper service is open to the public who are cordially invited. Members of the Littlefield Memorial church are especially requested to be present and share in the communion service.

Albert Marshall who has been very ill with pneumonia died at his home at North Cushing Thursday. Obituary will appear later.

The Burpee Ambulance Service is offered day or night. Day call 450, night 781-W.

Be sure to patronize the Cross-roads Country Store, which will be open for business Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, April 8, in the Congregational vestry. IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Myron W. Clinton
"The mountain brook sang lonesome like,
And lingers on its way."
As if it waited for a child
To join it in its play.

Oh, dear Gene Field, those tender words
You wrote in days of yore,
They well might mean the rippling stream
That flows beside my door.

But few the years that intervene,
With mingled grief and joy,
Since by its banks there laughed and played
My neighbor's fair-haired boy.

Today the ice king's clasp was loosed
From steamed and from still
Today the brook goes rippling by,
But the merry laugh is still.

Today by streams of silvery sheen
His happy footstep sings,
While the little brook sings lonesome-like
And lingers on its way.

HAS NO PAIN NOW

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Warner.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and I can do my housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good in female weakness, and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LESTER E. WARNER, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved.

ROCKVILLE

School is closed for one week vacation. Adelbert Babbidge is home from Boston.

Mrs. E. Woodard and son Donald of Camden were in town Sunday calling on friends.

Sydney Farrington and family have moved into his new home, the I. B. Keene place.

Capt. W. P. Richardson has purchased the Willey house in Camden for residence. He and Mrs. Richardson are having their household goods moved there this week. We are sorry to lose such good neighbors.

Mrs. Jason Packard has been very ill in the Silsby Hospital. We hear that she is much better. Her son Mont and daughter-in-law Mrs. Karl Packard have been with her.

Miss Alice Emery is visiting her grandmother Mrs. Sarah Sylvester.

Mr. Pattangall, who has employment in Bangor has been home on a short visit. His sister, Miss Viola Pattangall returned to Bangor with him.

Harry Rogers is visiting in North Haven. Miss Mildred Ross of Rockland is the guest of Mrs. Rogers while Mr. Rogers is away.

Mrs. Annie Thurston has employment in Rockland.

John Ranlett is occupying his cottage at the head of Chickadee Lake.

Several flocks of wild geese have been seen. Robins and chickadees have come. The snow is disappearing very fast, and at last spring appears to be here. It is as welcome as a day in June.

Miss Alice Tolman, who has been spending her vacation at home, returns to Cothby to resume teaching Monday.

Eggs will be $1.50 per dozen and poultry $1.00 a pound next winter. Better get a hen.

WEST ROCKPORT

Meetings were held Sunday for the first time during the past for several weeks. We were all pleased to hear the bell.

John Dunbar of South Hope visited his aunt Mrs. Arthur Clark recently.

Mrs. O. Rokes after an absence of several months in Rockland is now at her home.

Charles Burgess of Camden visited friends here Tuesday.

Howard Carroll of Rockville visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Fernald last week.

Schools are closed this week.

The ladies mission circle will hold an all day session at the home of Mrs. C. Fernald on Thursday of next week.

Mrs. A. B. Oxtun is visiting friends in Rockland.

The farmers in this vicinity are pleased to see the snow leaving their fields.

"Smash, Otis?" Daniel laughed. There was no mirth in the laughter.

"If Symington Otis Gets in My Way I'll Crush Him!"

"Smash Otis, you say? If Symington Otis gets in my way I'll—crush him!" And with a spasmodic movement his fingers contracted, and from wrist to shoulder beneath their tweed covering the rippling muscles of his arms stood out in cords.

Otis was planning another of his celebrated bear raids. He was resolved it should be the mightiest he had ever led. He gathered in money from every available source. Realizing the market disfavored him, he was determined to conquer it by sheer force of capital.

His first onslaught, started in April, made little if any impression, and he redoubled his attack. Still the enemy showed no sign of weakening. Again and again he charged, but every rush was met and repulsed. He was overwhelmed with buying orders. They swamped him from every side. He stopped, puzzled. He had not accounted his opponent half so powerful.

Otis, however, was not the hesitant sort of general. Marshaling his heavy artillery, he dashed upon the battlefield, fighting with the implacability that from the beginning had characterized his long career in financial warfare. This charge, too, was easily buffeted. But no white flag was shown. Beating a retreat, the grim old warrior gathered his forces together for a fresh onset. The next clash, he decided, would be the decisive one.

By the middle of June Fitzhugh was all but czar of the pit.

When Fitzhugh formulated the plan to corner July wheat it was understood that, no matter what might arise, he was to be free to follow the dictates of his own judgment. For this and other reasons the names of the Packington millionaires were never disclosed, and few knew the main fount of his mammoth resources.

His marvelous vitality gave continual wonder to his associates. He was made of iron. He would work eighteen hours a day, dispatching with sureness and speed the thousand pressing duties that crowded upon him, taking his meals on the wing, and requiring of the twenty-four but four or five hours for sleep. Most amazing of all, he displayed never an ill sign of the red-hot tension under which he worked, but seemed to thrive on it. He was always fresh and eager for each day's tasks.

His last battle with Symington Otis was the most spectacular of the final trilogy. It began on the morning of July first and lasted for three terrific days. As the gong sounded on that first morning Fitzhugh appeared in the pit, girded for the fray.

With the stroke of the opening gong Otis' lieutenants began to sell wheat. There were three of them, with orders to sell half a million each. Then came an unfathomable surprise: Fitzhugh sold wheat! Bushel for bushel, he sold as fast as his adversaries.

The price reeled and dropped dizzily. The preceding day it had closed strong at one dollar; by eleven that morning it was unsteady at ninety-six and a half.

At the height of the furious conflict, Fitzhugh, who was the core of it, became aware of some one tearing at his arm and yelling in his ear:

"Dan! Dan! Have you gone crazy?" Beholding Hunt screaming at the top of his voice, he wrenched loose from the mob surrounding him and, seizing his subordinate under the armpits, lifted him clear outside the pit.

At the close of the day's session wheat had dropped to ninety-four and an eighth, where it swayed uncertainly. Otis had sold two million bushels. Fitzhugh had sold a like amount.

When he reached his office Fitzhugh found his three coadjutors waiting him in ominous silence.

"Good-day, gentlemen!" There was no answer beyond an uneasy cough from Hunt. Fitzhugh looked at the three stony faces silently condemning him.

In good truth, he laughed, "a Daniel come to judgment!" But when he sat at his desk the vertical lines were between his brows. He took a deliberately long time to light a cigar, then, extinguishing the match and depositing it carefully in an ash tray, he settled himself comfortably in his chair and said:

"You all remember it was agreed in the beginning I was to run this thing, and I shall run it in my own way or not at all."

"But confound it, man," exploded Marsh, who had been holding his tongue with difficulty, "what in the name of common sense do you mean by selling?"

Glad that one of the tribunal had shown some life, Fitzhugh swung his chair round briskly so that he faced the speaker.

"Who owns the most wheat—Symington Otis or us? How long will his crowd last if they try to outsell us? Don't you see?"

"Not for a minute!" broke in Allport, reddening under his collar.

"I'll make it clearer. Suppose Otis' crowd knocks July wheat off fifteen or twenty points. Very well. Immediately they stop selling—perhaps before—I'll begin buying. Then, as an elastic band that has been stretched to its utmost, July wheat will spring back. It'll go to a dollar. It'll go beyond a dollar. I'll see to that!"

"It does sound plausible," hesitated Hunt, desirous of supporting his leader, yet still somewhat doubtful.

"I don't like it," said Marsh sourly. "Mr. Otis," continued Daniel, and there was a hard ring in his voice that caused Hunt and Allport to exchange meaning glances, "thinks he has me on the run. He's boasting how he licked me in today's skirmish, of how I turned tail at the first fire. But wait till he springs my pitfall. Wait! I've got him!"

The discussion lasted until nearly midnight. By grace of his power of persuasion no less than by his dominant personality and strength of purpose, Fitzhugh finally induced the others to admit that his course was the best one. When they went out through the quiet, brightly lighted offices, the four were on very amicable terms; and the hot words of discussion that had frequently passed between them were quite forgotten.

"There's one thing," Fitzhugh said in passing, "I want to impress upon you three. When we have defeated Otis, I want to deal with him in my own way. Remember that!"—looking keenly into each face. "I want to deal with Symington Otis in my own way."

Promptly next morning Otis renewed the combat. It occupied every minute of that day's session, and, as on the preceding day, raged with a tit-for-tat uproar. When the closing gong sounded he had sold, altogether, over four million bushels of July wheat; wheat of which he owned not a grain, but which he expected to buy later—and deliver as promised—at a lower price than he had sold it for. And, the same as yesterday, his opponent had sold with him bushel for bushel.

Otis was flushed with the elation of his obvious victory.

"It's all over," he confided to a friend that evening, as he sat down smilingly to a well-ordered dinner. Otis was living at his club these days, his wife and daughter having gone abroad for the summer. "All over but the shouting. Tomorrow I'll finish him. He'll be snuffed out of the Chicago wheat pit like a snuff—just as I once told him a long time ago."

Simultaneously with the dawning of the third day of battle Otis took the aggressive. And simultaneously there came a surprise. His promises of wheat were gobbled up as fast as they were offered. Buying orders poured in from all sides, deluging his traders. He increased his selling. The buying likewise increased. He began to fight desperately, flooding the pit with his selling commands. But it was as though he poured sand in the ocean.

Fitzhugh had not appeared on the "floor" since the first day. From his private office he sent orders to a dozen or more brokers. All these orders were, "Buy July wheat." All were to take effect this morning. He called Paris. These cablegrams also read, "Buy July wheat." They, too, became effective this morning. In all, he issued instructions to purchase twelve million bushels, or approximately double the amount he had sold on the prior two days.

The market that morning was like a kite in a windstorm. It zigzagged crazily. Shortly, however, it steadied, hung stationary an instant, then bounded upward. Up, tugging determinedly, it climbed with a rapidity that outstripped its falling the day before. Otis gave orders to cease all selling. Like a released spring, the price leaped higher still. At the close of the day's session it stood at a dollar and twenty-five cents, with a tendency to mount beyond.

The next day was Sunday. Monday's trading increased in frenzy. The price ascended more and more stiffly. Otis did nothing. He dared not cover his promises by buying. By so doing he would put up the price on himself. He dared not sell, for every bushel he sold would be sold at a loss. Word passed swiftly from mouth to mouth that Symington Otis, the big bear, had fought his final fight and was down at last.

Near the close of the day's session, without exactly knowing why, he went on the "floor" for a few minutes. A man shouted in his ear:

"July's gone to a dollar and a half!" Without answering, without even looking at the man, he stood watching the monster turmoil. The uproar was deafening.

The old speculator turned away. Very carefully, very slowly, he made his way through the hurly-burly, descended the steps that led to the ground floor, his hand sliding jerkily along the banister. When he entered his broker's office his hair was no more white than his face, and as he sat down and held his hand a moment over his eyes his fingers trembled as one afflicted with palsy. It was the first time in his twenty-odd years of speculating that he had been seen unnerved. He looked at his broker and shook his head.

"He's done it," he said, with a pitiable pretense of smiling. "He's done it. He's done it. He's done it."

He's got us. He's cornered the market. Authoritative news of the corner went out over the land. The name of Daniel Randolph Fitzhugh loomed gigantic on the financial horizon. He controlled all the wheat. He could exact for it whatever price he wanted. If he chose, he could get fifty dollars a bushel.

He was the King of Wheat. His name became a household word. Scarcely a man, woman, or child in the middle West but prattled of him. The farmers lauded him as a benefactor of humanity.

Others condemned him as a thief. Thousands of letters of every description flooded his mail. Leaves of bread dwindled in size. Mutterings reached him. His life was threatened.

His wealth multiplied with prodigious leaps. At no time could he tell how much he was worth. He knew it was more than fifteen millions and less than thirty.

Then there came a day when he was to settle with Otis. The defeated gladiator made the appointment for eleven o'clock that morning in Fitzhugh's office.

At five minutes to eleven Fitzhugh was alone awaiting him. He had given orders that none but Otis was to be admitted, and that afterward they were not to be disturbed. As he lolled back in his cushioned chair before the mahogany desk, and gazed round the luxurious room, a reverie came over him. He recalled his first venture in wheat, made with a few thousands won in a poker game; he remembered the time he had worked for Quigg for four hundred dollars a month. And then, his memory slipping his control and leaping back further still, he thought of the time when—No! Had he been a dishwasher? Had he slaved in the scullery of a filthy kitchen for a miserable weekly pittance?

The door opened. Symington Otis entered.

In these days of his monarchy Fitzhugh saw many sorts of characters exposed raw and naked to his gaze. He saw men come cringing to him, begging and pleading. He saw others enter, blustering and trying to outface him. Otis behaved in neither manner. He walked in quietly, and, closing the door, remained standing, with no greeting whatsoever. He looked ten years older than his actual age. Fitzhugh returned to his chair. The silence had lasted fully half a minute before he spoke.

"It has been agreed, Mr. Otis, that I shall deal with you as I see fit."

Otis nodded. He did not speak.

"My rule has been to give no quarter and ask none. I see no reason why your case should mark an exception. I see every reason why it should not. For eight years or more your hand has been against me. You have opposed my ventures, obstructed my path, hindered me in every way."

"I came here," interjected Otis coldly, "to talk business; not to discuss our personal affairs."

"And we are going to discuss those affairs. Mr. Otis"—Fitzhugh rose, and, with his hands resting on the desk in front of him, leaned toward his visitor, who now stood opposite—"I will let you out of my corner on only one condition."

"Which is?"

"That you tell your daughter—"

"You need not go further! I will consider nothing that involves my family."

"Then you refuse to deny to her—"

"Absolutely!"

"—the preposterous falsehood you repeated?"

"I repeated no falsehood. It was the truth."

"It was a lie! The woman is dead now, and I shall say nothing against her."

"But You, and You Only, Can Undo the Wrong She Did Me."

her. But you, and you only, can undo the wrong she did me."

"Mr. Fitzhugh, I must ask you to come at once to business."

"For the final time, will you tell her—"

"No! Absolutely, no!"

"Then you will take the alternative."

Fitzhugh turned and pressed one of the pearl buttons on his desk. His expression was one many Chicagoans had seen to their sorrow since last July; the facial muscles tense, the stern jaw thrust forward, his eyes hard as agate.

A young man entered. Fitzhugh nodded to him, and he departed, returning presently with a small, round top table, which he placed near the desk. In the center of the table was a plush box not unlike a jeweler's ring case. Otis looked on as a child who fears the dark. He had not even a remote idea of what the box contained, nor could he imagine what the table portended, yet he felt, nevertheless, that some sinister torture was impending.

"You are short to us," said Daniel, after locking the door upon his employee, "seven million bushels of wheat ranging in price from ninety-six cents a dollar and ten. I am going to settle our transaction in less than one second."

PE-RU-NA

This Lady TELLS Her FRIENDS

Mrs. Mary Fricke, 507 Bornman St., Belleville, Ill., is just one of the many thousands of ladies throughout the country who, after an agony of years, have at last found healing, strength and vigor in PE-RU-NA.

Her own words tell of her suffering and recovery better than we can do it: "I suffered with my stomach, had awful cramps and headaches so I often could not lay on a pillow. Saw your book, tried PE-RU-NA and got good results from the first bottle. To be sure of a cure I took twelve bottles. I have recommended PE-RU-NA to my friends and all are well pleased with results. I will not be one day without PE-RU-NA. Have not had a doctor since I started with PE-RU-NA, which was about fifteen years ago. I am now sixty-three years old, hale, hearty and well. Can do as much work as my daughters. I feel strong and healthy and weigh near two hundred pounds. Before, I weighed as little as one hundred. I hope lots of people use PE-RU-NA and get the results I did." An experience like that of Mrs. Fricke is an inspiration to every sick and suffering woman.

If you have catarrh, whether it be of the nose, throat, stomach, bowels, or other organs, PE-RU-NA is the remedy. It is not new; it is not an experiment. PE-RU-NA has been tried. PE-RU-NA has been used by thousands who once were sick and are now well. To prevent coughs, colds, grip and influenza and to hasten recovery there is nothing better.

PE-RU-NA will improve the appetite and digestion, purify the blood, soothe the irritated mucous linings, eradicate the waste material and corruption from the system. It will tone up the nerves, give you health, strength, vigor and the joy of living. Do what Mrs. Mary Fricke and thousands more have done—try PE-RU-NA. You will be glad, happy, thankful.

The Good Cheer Sewing Society meets Tuesday afternoon in Temple hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenne St. Clair, who have been occupying the Williams house on Warren street, have broken up housekeeping and will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fales until next fall, when they go to Boston to reside with their daughter, Mrs. Ralph Merrill, and are meantime staying with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Davis, Fulton street, until they go to the Little cottage, Ingraham Hill, for the summer.

Mrs. Arthur C. Whittier and Miss Marion Whittier of Bath are guests of the former's mother, Mrs. L. M. Andrews in this city.

Mrs. Sumner Waldron returned from Boston Thursday after being three weeks in the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, where she was operated on by one of Boston's best surgeons, Dr. Charles Howard. After taking a much needed rest she will be ready for work again.

The next meeting of Lady Knox Chapter, D. A. R. will be held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Justin Cross, 8 State street. The report of the State annual conference at Augusta will be given at this meeting.

W. S. White went yesterday to Boston, where his sister, Mrs. Lucy Kennedy is making excellent recovery from her serious illness. He returns to Rockland the first of the week and will then make another trip to Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cooper leave Monday morning for Washington, D. C., where they will visit their daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Lord at the Ontario Apartments. Enroute they will spend the night in Boston with Mr. Cooper's sister, Mrs. Elita Smith. Mr. Cooper plans a stay of two or three weeks in Washington. Mrs. Cooper will remain a month or longer and upon her return will probably be accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Lord and children.

There will be an afternoon card party for ladies at the Country Club next Wednesday afternoon. Will those who plan to attend please notify Mrs. Clinton.

Miss Charlotte Buffum, accompanied by her cousin Miss Alberta Robinson of Portland, is a guest of relatives in Woonsocket, R. I.

Raymond Frank, who was groomsmen at the Hewitt-Foss wedding Wednesday evening, has returned to New York. He was the guest here of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hewitt.

Miss Beulah Crozier is home from Bath on a short visit.

Arthur S. Baker is back on duty at his insurance office, after a fortnight's experience with grippe.

Henry Alperin is home from Winnipeg, Canada, where he has been employed at a buyer in one of the important departments of the Liggett drug stores. He is undecided whether to return there or take advantage of other openings which are offered him, one of them being in Los Angeles.

Avard L. Richman, Standish Perry and Frank A. St. Clair are home from Bowdoin College during the Easter recess.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Fuller arrived home from New York last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa P. St. Clair went to Portland this morning.

Franz M. Simmons has been housed on a week with the grippe, but was planning to report for duty at Richards' store today.

Ross Wilson, first officer of the freight steamship Kentuckian, American-Hawaiian line, has been spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. John O. Stevens and at his Thomaston home. He has lately returned from a voyage to Italy and Chili. He left this noon for New York to rejoin the ship.

SMART TEAM WE SAY

The Cony High School basketball team, claimant to the girls' championship of the State, came here last night expectant of an easy victory over the Rockland High girls, whom they had defeated 16 to 4 in August. At the end of the first period, however, Rockland led by a score of 6 to 3. The disheartened visitors failed to make another point, while Rockland increased its score to 11. While Misses Winslow and Snow made all of Rockland's points every member of the team deserves praise, and too much cannot be said for Misses McLoon and Moran, who broke up the Augusta offensive in fine style. Coach Bigger was immensely pleased with the result of the new alignment. Miss Stirling excelled for Augusta. A dance and social followed.

MICKIE OBSERVES EASTER

NO, SIR, MICHAEL O'BRIEN YOU CAN'T GO DOWN TO THE TRAIN TO GATHER NEWS ITEMS FOR THE PAPER, FOR YOU'RE GOING TO CHURCH WITH ME. I SHOULD THINK YOU'D GET ENOUGH OF THAT PRINTING OFFICE DURING THE WEEK WITHOUT HAVING IT ON YOUR MIND ALL DAY SUNDAY!

MICKIE'S COLUMN

Waitin' To Begin Work Gradually, Friday After Dinner, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I come not here to talk, as the guests facetiously remarked to their hostess as they met for the afternoon game of question.

This office is the greatest place for humorists that you ever see. Every time the foreman stops to light his pipe he says something, and so we are kept in a pretty near continual gale of laughter, as the feller said, I was standing in the stove yesterday waiting for the fire to come up, which being low in its mind I had been standing there quite a long time, and the Boss came in sudden I almost didn't have a opportunity to recover myself. The Boss was full of excitement over the arrival of a box of new clams what Charlie Godfrey had sent up with his own hands from Clamwaterman's Beach, and the Boss said he was going to have 'em baked in the shell for supper. When he had gone out I hadn't more'n got back to the stove, when the linotype girl what wears her hair on both sides of her ears at once wanted to know what clams was, anyway.

This was just the chance, for the foreman, owing to the linotype girl hein raised over back in the country districts and not knowin' nothin' about our ways here on the coast, and so the foreman, after stoppin' to light his pipe, lit into her. The clam, he says, is a amphibious animal what lives in the water, and outer the water, and walks on the banks of the ocean. It's natural habitat, he says, not knowin' what the words meant, is the tall hillery bushes which flourish on the bank and which it climbs for the purpose of gettin' at the bilberries, which it is ravenously fond of and which gives the medicinal properties to clam water, causin' it to be highly recommended for influenza, now that the country is experiencin' such a un-holy drouth, says the foreman, his voice takin' on a bitter tone.

"The manner of securin' the famous insect," the foreman resumed, after pausin' to light his pipe, which while he was stoppin' to make a jesture with it had gone out, "the manner of securin' 'em is as follows," he says, quotin' the introduction what the Boss always uses for a long editorial that he cuts out from an exchange. "Just after the sun has sunk to rest and the crescent moon is crescent in whichever quarter of the heavens is windy," he says, "the fishermen's wives stand under the bushes and engage in singin' a low and gentle hymn, meantime holdin' their aprons extended in eyther hand.

"In eyther hand," repeated the foreman, noticing how wide open the linotype girl had got her mouth, and liftin' another eyebrow toward me standin' over by the stove, "whereas the clams," he says, "smooth and bewilder by the soft cadences of the hymn, releas their grasp on the bushes and drop gently and in vast numbers into the extended aprons."

The foreman stoppin' just then to light his pipe, the linotype girl, kinder comin' two, says:

"I believe you're foolin'. What kind of a hymn could effect a clam that way?"

The foreman put on a kind of a injured look, same as when the Boss findin' fault with him, as he always has to.

"What kind?" he says, as if he felt pained to have his word doubted by any of us who knowed him, which naturally would be just the reason why 'didn't you ever hear of that familiar hymn beginnin'.

"Clam on the listenin' ear of night—'If not,' he says, 'wats the use,' he says, 'of me tryin' to furnish you gratis instructions?'"

Just then the Boss hollered up the stairs that voice what he knows so well how to use.

"Mickie!" he yells, in a purely gratooltue way, as the feller says, "come down here and shock them clams!" The linotype girl stopped everything right where she was and the look she gave the foreman was, as the feller says, the look of a startled fawn.

"Can they shock clams?" she says, with a risin' inflection.

"Can they shock clams?" eked the foreman, kickin' himself on the calf of the leg at such a chance to score, "I guess you'd say so if you'd seen what I've saw on the bathin beaches round here in summertime."

Which is what I said at the very first, that this is a great office for humor to break out in.

Yours for the breaks, Mickie.

Longing For Someone

Dear Mickie:—I have no wish for bifurcated garments. I have no love for Madam Nocturne. In vain I have sought for golden sceptre. In vain the allurement of the movie screen.

My wants are simple and my tastes domestic. A cottage on the hillside, warm and tight, a cup of milk, a slice of golden butter, Someone to greet and welcome me at night.

Someone to view with me the haunts of wild-ings.

Someone to see with me the things I see, Someone to be companion, friend, and helper, Someone to read the books I love, with me.

Far from the sordid, greedy gaze of Mammon, Far from the wiles of brazen suffragette, My love and I through sylvan glades would wander.

Soul mates, untrammelled by the world—and yet

Could dreamer, thinker, wanderer through the woodland

Provide the shoes with which to wander there? And then, would human male companion Be long content to live on love—and air?

Be still, my throbbing heart, and cease thy longing!

Away! these hopeless dreams! for well I know The surest prop of woman's love is ever The strong right arm of him who shovels snow.

Rockland, April 1. Addiepie.

Uttering Good Sense

Dear Mickie:—I like you and I like your Column and I like you generally, but also I like some sense now and then and I wish more of your appreciative women readers (I'm one of them) would turn in to you now and then some of the good ideas that occasionally get into your department.

I like to hear about hen raising and I like to try the other women's recipes. Here are two that deal with meat and they are worth knowing in these days when meat is even higher than when the cow jumped over the moon.

Irish stew with dumplings: 2 pounds mutton (neck), carrots, turnips and potatoes, seasoning. Wipe and cut in pieces the mutton. Put in kettle, cover with boiling water, and cook slowly two hours until tender. After cooking for an hour add vegetables cut into small pieces. Thicken with ¼ cup flour, diluted with water to form a paste. Season well and serve with dumplings.

Beef balls with dumplings: To a cup and a half of beef from the shank, put twice through a food-chopper, add a third of a cup of bread crumbs, salt, pepper, a teaspoonful of lemon juice, a little nutmeg and a beaten egg. Shape into balls lightly, and let them stand for half an hour or more to become firm, then roll them in flour and brown in the frying pan with three table-spoons of lard or some salt and pork fat. Then add a tablespoon of flour to the remaining fat and a cup of stock. Season well, add this mixture to the meat balls and simmer in a closely covered dish for an hour and a half.

Lady Knocks.

Another Lonesome Guy

Dear Mickie:—

Since it is the rage

To save a corner of your page

For all the poets, fools and sages,

And other cranks of the madhouse,

Perhaps it would not amiss

If you will kindly publish this,

I've listened to the sighs and groans

Of Mr. O. B. Joyful Jones,

I've watched the paper day by day

To see what he had got to say;

When his ad. ran in the C-Gazette

I knew a wife he'd sure to get.

But now success is really his,

Another soul is on his prize,

Because so many have replied

And 'tis a problem to decide

Which one for him will be the best,

And what to do to soothe the pain.

Now, Mickie, dear, twist me and you,

I'm really sort of lonely,

I need a wife to bake my beans,

To knit my socks and mend my jeans,

And after Jones has made his bid,

Dear Mickie, won't you use your voice,

And tell those maidens, left in the cold,

That I am just as good as gold.

And Mick, your friend I will remain,

A scribble of Vinahaven, Maine.

March 25.

Still Harping On Joyfull

I'm ashamed of you, O. B. Joyful Jones,

Where you ought to have brains you're nothing but bones.

Writing for Mickie to find you a bride

When I am living right here by your side,

For thirty-nine years I've waited to marry,

But boys seem to shun me like the old harry,

But now it is Leap Year and can propose

I won't have to wait any longer for beaux,

I'm glad, O. B. Joyful, that you live so near,

For you and I have shared till sick of your lot,

A good hot clam chowder will go right to the spot.

When we're married, dear O. B. you won't feel forsaken,

I'll keep home fires burning if you'll bring home the bacon.

North Haven, March 30. Dan D. Lion.

'Nother of Them Poets

Hello, Mickie!—Best wishes for April 1st. Say, Mickie, don't bother the help too much with your tricks.

Tell the Boss that when I didn't find any of that continued story in Tuesday's paper I was almost mad. Gee! Mickie, where does he get those stories?

I'm sending along a little poem, but for mercy's sake don't think it applies to you. You're doing great work and I'll bet you are some happy. Hope you'll let some others read that little "pome." It may do them good. So long, Mickie.

R. K. O.

Others

In this world, filled with complaining,

When you think you're all alone,

Don't give up the struggle,

For this world is not your own.

Why not think of others?

Who aren't, as you are, blest

With something that's worth having—

Just think of all the rest.

There are others who are burdened,

There are others who are sad,

Forget your own small troubles,

Help some others who are glad.

In 2000 Counties This Month

The Forces of the Church of Christ Will Gather To Face the Facts

IN 2000 counties in the United States the pastors and laymen of 30 great denominations will meet in conference this month.

It is the kind of conference that generals hold before a critical engagement; that business men hold before entering a new market. A conference of judgment, not emotion; a clear-eyed facing of the facts.

A Survey that Business Men Must Admire

For more than a year hundreds of workers have been quietly engaged in making a scientific survey of the mission fields, and of America county by county.

The facts developed are startling. No such picture of America's religious situation has ever before been drawn.

On the basis of these surveys thirty Protestant denominations are uniting in a

Nation Wide Cooperative Campaign

Each of the thirty denominations has its own "Forward Movement" organized and officered. The Interchurch World Movement is the clearing house for all of these.

It is the agency which the churches have created to avoid duplication, to foster cooperation and make sure that every man and dollar render the utmost service possible.

The month of April will be devoted to making the facts of the survey known to America; in the week of April 25th-May 2nd, will come a united simultaneous financial campaign.

Whether You Are Inside the Church or Out

To every man and every woman who loves his country, these 2000 county conferences are vitally important.

For the facts developed by this great survey show vividly what forces are at work in America—and what kind of a country this country is to be.

See that the pastor of your church appoints delegates. Any pastor can tell you the conference place and date. Or write direct to the

THE KALER TRAGEDY

A Corrected Version of Shooting Given—Boy's Funeral Takes Place Sunday Afternoon.

No event in recent years has aroused more universal sympathy for all concerned than the shooting affair at 92 Pleasant street Wednesday night, when Walter Kaler, aged 10, was accidentally killed by Bernard, his 15 year old brother. An erroneous impression was created by the newspaper report that Bernard was playing with a loaded revolver.

The correct version, as furnished to The Courier-Gazette by the family, is that the boys had ceased their playing. Bernard then fitted cartridges to his newly purchased revolver and it was while breaking the weapon down to remove them that the revolver became accidentally discharged. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton N. Kaler, had only that day become aware that Bernard had bought the revolver, and had no knowledge that there were cartridges in the house. The parents speak of Bernard as a very careful and trustworthy boy, and this is the estimation which neighbors and all others who knew him place upon the unfortunate and heartbroken lad.

Walter, the deceased, was a pupil in the First grade, Grammar School, having been promoted one year, because of exceptional smartness, at the recommendation of Supt. West. He was also a member of the cradle roll of the First Baptist Sunday School. He gave early promise of musical talent, and was very fond of all kind of sports in which children engage. An active, sunny disposition made him a general favorite. The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. W. L. Pratt officiating.

"Purely accidental," is the decision in regard to the shooting, rendered by Medical Examiner Crockett. The county authorities have been investigating somewhat another phase of the case.

Look round the house and see what you have to sell, then put a small ad. in The Courier-Gazette. It will find a buyer.

THE DOUGHBOYS' MEALS

Uncle Sam Bought Great Quantities of "Corn Willy" and "Gold Fish."

Corned beef and salmon—the familiar "corn willy" and "gold fish" of the American soldier's diet—in the amounts of 14,003,817 pounds and 207,845,550 pounds respectively, were purchased by the Army during the war, according to the final report of Major General Rogers, quartermaster general. Of the third ingredient, beans, of that famous trio, which made the Yankee doughboy the most envied person in hungry Europe, 130,388,162 pounds were bought.

The appetite of the soldiers could not keep pace with the supply, and the report showed that millions of pounds were still on hand after the signing of the armistice.

"Smokes"—issued as a part of the ration for the first time—proved the most popular article on the subsistence list, approximately 5,601,000,000 cigarettes and 200,500,000 cigars being requisitioned, not including supplies shipped overseas to the various welfare societies. The government paid $57,131,000 for tobacco. Nearly 55,000,000 pounds was purchased.

JEWISH PASSOVER

Those of Jewish faith in this vicinity will be interested in the following notice prepared by the Tract Commission, Central Conference of American Rabbis Union of American Hebrew Congregations:

Passover, the Feast of Unleavened Bread, began Friday evening, April 2, 1920 and ends Saturday, April 10. The Passover, in Hebrew "Pesach," was an agricultural festival originally, but at an early period was transformed into a festival of redemption by connecting it with the wondrous deliverance of the Hebrews from the Egyptian yoke. It is this memorable event which is commemorated in the festival, and the ritual ceremony observed during the seven days in which it is celebrated among Reform Jews, or eight among the Orthodox, is identified with the Exodus of the Hebrews from Egyptian tyranny and further symbolizes joy in the triumph of liberty and freedom over tyranny and oppression.

This festival, falling in the spring time of the year, was utilized by the Synagogue as a means of consecrating the Jewish home to God as the "Keeper of Israel" who slumbereth not nor sleepeth. Exultation over Israel's glorious redemption, holding out the promise of a greater day of liberty to those who still chafe under the yoke of oppression, is the resounding note of the Passover today. During the Passover week the Matzo, unleavened bread, is eaten. This food is characterized as the "bread of affliction" and is a reminder of the hasty Exodus of the Israelites from the land of oppression.

The feast of Passover is ushered in with a home ceremony, the "Seder," on the eve of the festival, in which all members of the household participate in reading a richly adorned tale of deliverance, the "Haggadah," reciting the various events leading up to the Exodus and immediately following. This celebration breathes an exuberant spirit of thankfulness and joy, and is replete with songs and thanksgiving. The symbolism of the Seder reflects the hard state of servitude and the bitterness of oppression, as well as confident hope in the final triumph of freedom for all mankind.

"IS GRANDEST ON EARTH," SHE SAYS

Mrs. Daley Gains Seventeen Pounds Taking Tanlac—Thought Case Was Hopeless.

"They said I couldn't live more than six months longer, but I'm still here and feeling fine," said Mrs. Mary Daley, of 530 Oak St., San Francisco, Cal.

"I have actually gained seventeen pounds since I began taking Tanlac," she continued, "and to look at me one wouldn't think that for several months I was unable to do my housework. I suffered from gastritis all the time, would bloat terribly and always felt miserable. I had no appetite and felt nauseated all the time. I was so nervous the least little noise would startle me and it was almost impossible to get a good night's sleep. I had light sweats and was so run down and weak that the slightest exertion would almost exhaust me completely. I lost weight dreadfully and was told that I couldn't live six months at the rate I was then going down hill."

"Nothing helped me until I began taking Tanlac and I honestly believe it is the finest medicine in the world for it has made me just like a new person. My appetite is splendid and I never have the slightest indigestion any more and I never enjoyed such fine and refreshing sleep in my life as I do now. My house has eight rooms and I do all the work with ease. Tanlac has been a God-send to me and I would be selfish not to tell others about it."

Tanlac is sold in Rockland by Corner Drug Store, F. M. White & Co., Vinalhaven, Whitney & Brackett, Thomaston, and by the leading druggist in every town.

FAT FOLKS LEARN HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A Simple, Safe, Reliable Way

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear. If you are carrying around 5 or 10 pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation, diet or tiresome exercise, spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from any good druggist a box of Tascos; take one tablet after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Tascos is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps digestion and is designed to consume the excessive fatty tissue by increasing the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Even a few days' treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight, foot-sleight become lighter, your work seems easier and lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial, there is nothing better. For sale by Sheldon's Pharmacy, Rockland; Pendleton's Pharmacy, Rockland; McDonald's Drug Store, Thomaston.

Poultry and Eggs are luxuries. Better raise your own on table scraps. Buy some day old chicks or set a hen.

WHY WARREN REJOICES

Warren Shoe Factory

The citizens of Warren are greatly cheered by the announcement that work is again to start up in the shoe shop, April 12 being set as the tentative date. The factory will be operated by a wealthy corporation which has factories in Massachusetts and Lewiston and which proposes to develop in Warren a plant as large as available help will permit. The concern manufactures women's shoes, and at first will confine its efforts to a stitching room. The uppers will be sent to the Lewiston factory. The Warren Building Association is lending its efforts toward securing help, and expects that the industry will be the means of bringing many former residents back to the good old town on the Georges River. New hands as well as experienced ones are solicited. All persons desirous of obtaining work are urged to enroll at once with G. D. Gould at the Security Bank in Warren or with Postmaster Matthews. Once assured of hearty co-operation the new company will install the other departments of a full fledged shoe factory. All up for Warren!

ARE YOU GOING TO PAY $1.50 PER DOZ. FOR EGGS NEXT WINTER?

NOW IS THE TIME TO RAISE CHICKENS. SET A HEN NOW, AND HAVE PULLETS LAYING THROUGH NEXT WINTER.

Every family can keep a small flock in their back yard without cost by feeding table scraps, which are usually thrown away. This is a sure way to reduce the high cost of living.

EVERY GOOD HEALTHY CHICKEN THAT YOU HATCH IS BETTER THAN A $5.00 BILL.

The chicken, if it turns out to be a pullet will pay 100% dividends on $5.00 every year. The $5.00 bill in the bank or in bonds will earn you only 20 to 25 cents—which is 4 to 5% interest. This is why the chicken is better than a $5.00 bill.

POULTRY AND EGGS ARE LUXURIES. Are you going to be one of those to make a start to cut the cost of living and have these luxuries in your home?
