EDITOR, OXFORD DEMOCRAT, PARIS, ME.

CONGRATULATIONS.

We are pleased to learn that Hon.

Warren H. Vinton of Gray has been elected a member of the board of agriculture for Cumberland County. Mr.

Vinton was a Paris boy and received his early training on a farm on Stearns Hill.

He is a good farmer as well as a shrewd politician. He likes to drive a good team, and to make a horse when he sees one. He will make an active and efficient member.

Written for the Oxford Democrat.

SEE WHAT YOU LOOK AT.

I was much pleased to read a recent article in your paper by Mr. Tilton of Backfield. I do not know Mr. Tilton,

but I may judge from the apparent depth of his criticisms, he is a man who sees what he looks at, a very valuable acquisition to any man's powers of observation, and I wish there were more farmers like him in this particular for good would come to such through their attention to agricultural meetings and their personal of the papers and agricultural literature.

Very many of us have good powers of observation, but as a rule, they are not applied to the study of the things of things and remarks is concerned, but do we generally enough, actually see what we look at, or hear what is reflected on our ears? The answer to this question is, I think, in the negative. In trying to ascertain how much impression these things

make on us after we are away from them. Do we take in what we see and hear, and then try to put it into words that we can describe to any degree of perfection what we see, or think with

any depth on what we hear?

Thompson's is the product of intelligent activity, and neither agricultural meetings nor agricultural literature is of any moment to those who attend them,

unless they generate these new creations within.

We cannot all be great thinkers, but we are all capable of great improvement in this line. Let us endeavor to get into the habit of seeing what we see,

and then try to put it into words that we can describe to any degree of

perfection what we see, or think with

any depth on what we hear?

JOHN.
We are glad to publish your reply to Mr. Baker's admirable article, first, because you and Mr. Baker and the Democrat aim at the same results and contend for the same things: temperance, morality and a government good enough and pure enough for the best people that God ever created; second, and here we may be wrong, "to err is human," because we think we disagree in your argument the common mistake that lots of good men make, that of allowing a single fault to outweigh and outweigh in your mind all the accumulated virtues, but we ever so great.

Judge Virgin tells a good story. Sitting upon the Hubbard House piazza at Paris the Judge was asked by a member of the Oxford Bar regarding the legal qualifications of a practitioner in another part of Maine. His reply: "Mr. — might sit in this chair while an elephant and a mouse pass up the street before his eyes; of the mouse he could tell you the length of the tail, the texture of the coat and the color of the eye, but he would never occur to Mr. — that he had seen an elephant!"

Why has "John" left the Republican party?

"John" knows that the history of the Republican party is the history of the best country that the sun ever shone upon. He knows that it is the history of his country.

Has "John" seen a mouse?

What reason does "John" give for leaving?

He says it is because the Republican party is flitting with the devil's conclusion—rum.

Partially true and partially false. There is an element of bad in the Republican party that is doing just what "John" charges, no man can successfully deny it. What party is without that element? Even the Prohibition party is not made up entirely of "Johns", and we never heard the Democratic party charged with being exclusively a party of "white-wash" any of the shortcomings of the Republican party, but we believe that the remedy is in the party and not in it. We don't believe in vanishing either the "Republican harlot" or the "Democratic tiger" but we do believe that there is good enough to overcome the bad. We have yet to see a perfect man or even a perfect church, how much less then a perfect political party. That the vast majority of the men who belong to and make up the Republican party are "flitting" with rum we cannot believe.

Must the mouse then obscure the elephant? Must the tail wag the dog? If it can do that trick for any length of time we misjudge "human nature."

A chapter of when:

When "John" can stand up all the Republicans of his town of Rumford in two lines, placing the temperance Republicans on one side and the rum Republicans on the other, and falls to find a large majority on the side of temperance then we are with him.

When "John" can make a list in his mind of the Republicans of Oxford County placing temperance Republicans on one list and rum Republicans on another and find a vast majority on the side of the temperance list, then we are with him.

When "John" can do the same act with the Republicans of Maine and not find the temperance majority a crushing power as compared with those of the party who favor rum then we are with him.

When "John" can see a vote of the Republican party of the United States on the temperance question, unaided and unhelped by men of other parties, (if that were possible) that has not a good working majority for temperance then we are with him.

When "John" can show as a list of the leading Republicans of Oxford County or of Maine that does not contain a good majority of temperance men, then we may count on our vote.

When "John" can successfully explain how a vote for the Prohibition candidate for Governor in the late election aided the cause of temperance more than a vote for Edwin C. Burleigh, the Republican candidate, then we are "prohib."

When "John" can successfully show us how a vote for the Prohibition candidate for Congress in our own District in the late election promoted the cause of temperance more than a vote for Hon. Nelson Dingley of Lewiston, a man who has been fighting the battles of temperance all his life, not only in Maine but in the Halls of Congress, and then show us a good and reasonable reason why the Prohibition party of this district voted almost solidly against him, then we become a member of John's party.

When "John" can successfully show that the Prohibition party has not this far in its practical workings been an aid and "side-show" of the Democratic party, then the men who have worked all their lives for the cause of temperance will have more respect for "John's" party.

When "John" can successfully show that the rank and file the "bone and sinew," or the "cat's paw" (as he chooses to call them) of the Republican party are not on the side of temperance morality and good government then we are no longer Republicans—until then however, we continue to "do business at the old stand" for we have not lost confidence in the party that has fought for liberty, justice, equality, equity and the highest welfare of its people these many years, the party that has given us practically all the temperance legislation that the country has ever seen and has made the country what it is today, the best that the sun ever shone upon.

NEARING THE END!

TWO CANDIDATES PASS THE THOUSAND MARK.

Several Candidates, however, remain. The voting will continue until next Saturday and the next Democrat will give you the name of the Winner.

Less than a week now!

Remember that the contest closes next Saturday!

Remember that votes received after six o'clock next Saturday afternoon will not count.

Remember that nothing but actual votes will be counted and credited.

Remember that nobody but the countess can count the votes.

Remember that the countess is announced in the next Democrat, so don't ask!

Please do not ask nor expect us to count ballots for you at the last moment when it is too late for them to be on it and filled before the contest closes. It will not be done.

Nothing but regular ballots can be counted. The votes of the Democrat will be counted. We don't count ballots and then put them in afterwards. Please do not expect it.

You got from now until next Saturday night at six o'clock to get your papers and cut, fill and return your votes, and if you don't do it in that time it will be in consequence, you are to blame.

"First come, first served," is the order in which we shall fill orders for extra copies, and you should bear in mind that this week's paper is the last one that will contain ballots in this contest.

After the announcement in next week's Democrat all the ballots will be on it in exhibition at our office for any person to inspect or count and satisfy themselves that every ballot has been cut from a copy of this paper.

THE RETURNS.

The votes received up to Monday noon give the following result:
