THE COURIER-GAZETTE. Weekly Monthly ROCKLAND, MAINE

Up the Georges Valley.

A prominent official informs us that negotiations have been opened with a reliable
corporation and that the outlook for the construction of the Georges Valley railroad is looking brighter. With capital already subscribed it does seem strange that this small
line of railroad should not have been built before. There is a paying business for a railroad up the valley and somebody will reap a benefit one of these days. Success to the Georges Valley railroad.

Not Our Jerry.

A dispatch dated Boston, May 15, says: "A lunatic by the name of Jerry Murphy escaped
from Rockland, Me., yesterday and is now supposed to be in Boston. It is thought that he came on the steamer Penobscot last night,
as Capt. Ingraham this morning received a dispatch requesting him to put the man in irons
and return him. The steamer's people, however, have seen no one whom they could have identified as insane." This cannot, cannot be our Jerry as he is not that kind of man; besides, he is not built that way. It must be some other Jerry. Tom and Jerry, probably.

Bangor Merchants Week.

Three races have been arranged for Merchants' Week in Bangor—May 25th. $300 is offered in purses—$100 each to 3-minute, 2:40
and 2:33 classes. The entrance fee is placed at 5 per cent. Entries close May 23d, at 7 o'clock, p.m. Entry fees to accompany nomination. Purse to be divided as follows:
20, 25, 15 and 10 per cent; to be trotted in accordance with the rules of the National Trotting Association. Horses distancing the field
or any part thereof, will receive first money
only. The above races to be mile heats, best 3
in 5 to harness. Admission to park free.
Entries to be made to E. J. Murch, Bangor, Me.

REGISTER BEATON RESIGNS.

Edwin Sprague Appointed.
That some may die but none resign is an old saying that seems to have a black eye in this case, as he has tendered his resignation to
Gov. Burleigh to take effect May 20th. A. A.
Beaton, Esq., was first elected Register in 1884
and is now serving his second term, which would have terminated until January 1893.
He has proved himself to be a most efficient officer, has introduced some new ideas in the management of the office and transacted all of its business to the satisfaction of all with whom he has come in contact. The reasons for his resignation are not stated, but we hear that he will shortly take office and hang out an attorney's sign, having had much legal business to attend to the past two years. We wish him success.

On Wednesday last the Governor appointed
Edwin Sprague, Esq., for the unexpired term.
Mr. Sprague, as all who know him are aware,
is well qualified to fill the bill and we are glad
to know of his appointment.

The Good Templars.

At the meeting of Hamilton Lodge Saturday
evening the following resolutions were chosen to represent the lodge at the session of the District Lodge at Union tomorrow: J. N. Farnham, A. C. Hamilton, Mary Thomas, Theresa Aderton, Emily Dolham, Lizzy Gregory,
Jessie Frye, Inez Harding, Clara Robinson,
Garrle Ripley, W. L. Dunan, Frank Harding,
Nellie Manning, Eva Dunning, Alida Phil-
brook, C. J. Gregory, Melvina Stazetti, Hattie Gregory, Gustav Martin, Lowell Condon, Will Packard, Emma Usher, Maine Ripley, Elias Burroughs. The delegates and members who desire to attend will leave Hamilton Lodge
Hall tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock.

The discussion Saturday evening was upon
the question now before the Grand Lodge.
Resolved, that it will be a benefit to the Subordinate Lodges to increase the per capita tax from seven to fifteen cents per quarter. After a short discussion the resolution was laid upon
the table for one week.

The Ladies Auxiliary meets with Mary
Thomas, Warren street, Friday.

Memorial Day.

The 30th of May will be observed by the Grand Army Posts in this Department in a manner befitting the great services and patriotic devotion of our comrades, who now sleep in honored graves. In its observance the Grand Army not only asks the aid of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Sons of Veterans, but expects the co-operation of loyal citizens. Let be day be devoted exclusively to the solemn purposes for which it was designated. Discourage everything that tends to desecrate its true observance. Seek to place the choicest flowers upon these consecrated mounds and let
it be said at the close of the day,
"They fell, but 'er their glorious graves
Floated from the banner of the cause they died to save."

May 24th will be observed as Memorial San-
day, when Posts are expected to attend religious services, and the clergy are earnestly requested to deliver sermons appropriate to the occasion.

Immediately after Memorial Day Post Commanders will forward special reports to the Department Chaplain, who will report to Department Headquarters all Posts failing to make these reports within thirty days. The Department Chaplain's address is Rev. C. A.
Southard, St. Albans, Maine.

A check of $16,000 for the benefit of the Agricultural College of the State of Maine was awarded yesterday. This is the second payment to Maine under the recent act of Congress.

Birthday Party.

One of the pleasant social events of the season at Waldoboro occurred last Thursday. It being a reception given by Mrs. J. Edwin Eaton to her immediate Rockland relatives
and friends, in commemoration of her forty-fifth birthday. The Rockland company left on the afternoon train, and were met at the depot at Waldoboro by Mr. Eaton and were at once taken to the Medonak House, where the afternoon was spent in social enjoyment
and inspecting objects of interest in the village.
At six o'clock an elegant lunch was served, to which ample justice was done. A team was then placed at the disposal of the ladies, who enjoyed a twilight ride about town. Mrs.
Eaton was the recipient of a costly silver service, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greenhalgh, and a large silver ice pitcher, from her Rockland guests. On behalf of the party the presentation of the pitcher was made by Frank
B. Miller, in the following remarks:
"Mrs. Eaton, I have been selected, by your friends here, as the willing instrument to present you a souvenir of this occasion. It is not necessary for me to offer it in formal speech,
as the silver article itself is more expressive
of the high regard your friends entertain for you, than any thoughts of mine uttered in speech would convey, and now permit me to
place in your keeping this silver ice pitcher,
the gift of your Rockland guests." Mrs.
Eaton, although surprised at this turn of affairs, rallied sufficiently to make a most excellent speech in acknowledgment of the gift.
The company returned on the evening train.
A large number were invited but only the following were able to attend: Fred F. Burpee and wife; George Hix and wife; A. R. Bills and wife; Joseph Greenhalgh and wife; John F. Fogler and wife; Dr. A. M. Austin and wife; Mrs. Augusta Wright, Mrs. Nellie Verrill, L. Wm. Hall, Mrs. John E. Miller,
Mrs. S. H. Webb and Frank B. Miller.

Observation Party.

Last Thursday the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational Church held an Observation
Party to which each member invited a certain number of friends.
The vestry was made into a reception room
and looked exceedingly attractive. When the guests had assembled, cards were passed around containing on the first page eight blank
spaces for names and the page headed with this question, "Think you a little bit can do any good?" Have I not in my day heard long sermons? The object being to have as many instruments as there were blank spaces on the card
played at the same time and for a short time,
and for the players to write down as many as they were able to distinguish. Among this babel of sound the two things most distinct
were bells and a watchman's rattle.

After this test was over and people had had three minutes to jot down their ideas as to what had produced the pandemonium, everyone was requested to blindfold himself and try the feeling test. Eight articles were passed around for each to feel and then each had to wait until the others had gotten through feeling before he was allowed to open his eyes and write down
what had been felt. About the most uncanny thing on record was a kid glove stuffed with damp meat. Another article, which had originally been a chicken monkey but which long ago lost all trace of this animal, was passed around and caused much mystification.
After the blindfolds were removed, the company had to promenade into another room
around a table strewn with various articles,
from a pin ball to a crown, and in meandering
by the table once, to take in and remember and write down what had been seen. When trial actually comes it is surprising to find out of twenty objects how few one can actually keep
in his mind.

When the sense of tasting was tested a kind
of dry meaty stuff was passed around and the company was obliged to eat it and name the
ingredients; when one said soda, sulphur,
salt, sugar, cocoa, mustard and ginger all mixed together it became a difficult matter to analyze its sensations of what he was eating.
The last sense trials were given each to

QUERY DRAWER.

IN THREE COUNTRIES.

206. "Isa"—Alexander the Great is a general that meets the case. He was born at Pella, Macedonia, in Europe, 356 B. C., died at Babylon in Asia, 323 B. C.; and was buried in Alexandria, in Asia.

His imperious conquering will was first displayed in subjugating the wonderful and fiery steed Bucephalus, which his father Philip was about to return unsaddled to the former owner. Alexander's mastery of the mettlesome animal led King Philip to exclaim, "My son, Macedonia is too small a sphere for thee." At the early age of eighteen Alexander was a victor in war, and at twenty succeeded his father as king. He subjugated the rebellious states of Greece, and at twenty-two passed into Asia Minor. Here it was that he cut "the Gordian knot." He defeated the Persians and Tyrians, and then proceeded into Egypt. He founded the city of Alexandria here. In 327, at twenty-nine, he invaded India and conquered peoples hitherto unheard of. His constant Bucephalus died after one of these battles from wounds of honor, and a town Bucephala was reared to his memory. He was carried from Babylon to his own city of Alexandria, and the Egyptians worshipped him with the honors due to a god. Other nations offered him like homage. His body rested in a coffin of gold, prepared by Ptolemy; but his power to conquer was transmitted to no custody. He could have no true successor. Those who inherited his realms were only satraps in name and influence.

Of course, there may be another general, answering to all your conditions, but certainly none more eminent.

PIANO, PIANIST.

207. "Mabel"—The pronunciations of these words follow the original Italian sound. That is the custom, not only among educated people, but also among those who make less pretense to scholarship. The "i" in the piano is the same as in machine, and the "a" has the accent and is sounded as in ah. The word "pianist" retains the same qualities of the vowels and the same place of accent. The best manuals of pronunciation expressly say that the accent should not be on the "pi," and that "an" is not like the article an, in sound. The words may be represented thus: pee-ah-no, pee-ah-nist. The italic syllable in each is accented.

"O. K." AGAIN.

208. "R. M. P."—"O. K." may have stood for "Old Kentucky" before being adopted as the equivalent of "all correct." ("Old Korreet," being far-fetched.) Before that, however, the Haytian port of Aux Cayes was famous for its rum and tobacco. Aux Cayes is pronounced exactly like "O. K." The finest tobacco and rum were Aux Cayes. This derivation still seems to us the most natural one, and we think the other words were put together to correspond to the abbreviation already in use. This view is taken by some of our specialists in the curiosities of language.

FIRST STEP IN READING.

209. "H. A."—"You mean the first learning of words as representatives of meaning. The meaning is already familiar to the child, of course. He has acquired a quite large vocabulary of the names of common things, qualities and actions. The length of this vocabulary depends much on the example he has had, the association with older children, the fluency and laquety of parents and older friends, and other circumstances; but, in any case, it is surprising. It is now proposed to put him in possession of the arbitrary signs, letters and words, which signify to the eye what his familiar speech means to the ear. We should say, then, begin with words and sentences.

Show him something in these arbitrary written or printed forms, which when said to him from the writing or printing has a familiar meaning. Whole sentences, short ones, are best to use; because the child already talks in sentences and complete thoughts are better understood by him than detached ideas. He will not be expected to have a profound knowledge of these sentences at the beginning; for such knowledge is a growth which has not yet attained its full height with us, perhaps. He will surprise you with his quickness in catching the whole sentences, and his enthusiasm amid the new experience of reading. This very fact would establish the method as the best one, were it not also the true one, philosophically. Experience shows that we see wholes sooner than details.

Gradually, we comprehend the details, one by one. The child will next observe the individual words and note them as they are repeated in the varying sentences, and will learn them by heart and become able to reproduce them with his own crayon. After words, will come the separate letters, little by little, and quite soon, I believe, after a few lessons in the wholes. The exact forms of the letters and their sounds or silence are later to receive more critical attention; and then spelling begins. The alphabet method reversed the natural order, and kept the child chewing the indigestible rind—dry and meaningless shapes—without a taste of the juicy pulp for which his appetite was created. It is better, also, to begin with the written or script forms, because you can more easily place them on the board or paper for him and because he can form them after you. It is of little consequence to teach him to print, till he can first write well. As to the pains in passing from the written to the printed characters, you will find little of that required.

Compare the two sets of the forms and see how similar most of the corresponding letters are. The script letter has the advantage of ease of production, the very thing that brought it into existence. Printing, on the other hand, to be correct, demands nice attention to many particulars. How few people that have read print all their lives can make a correct small "g" or an "s." Impertinence in proof reading, detecting inverted "n's" and "s's" and wrong fonts and cases, comes from long experience.

FETTER.

210. "Buzz"—Your query does you no discredit. This word, though ancient enough, has not been in current use long, being given prominence, we believe, by a Phi Beta Kappa oration at Harvard, a few years since. The Greek language was called a "fitch" by the distinguished orator. The word does not name an idol, or figure made to worship, but names any object superstitiously regarded as possessing a certain potency. The object may be one thing, or it may be another. It is thought to control the imaginary being, whose power is favorable or fatal to one's desire. The wearing of a red string or netting, the carrying of a potato in the pocket, or the rubbing of a bean upon the inconvenient exercise called a wart, does not rise to the dignity of fetishism. The amount of superstition involved in the use of these charms falls within the sphere of credulity rather than of worship, rests upon a half-belief in a wonderful coincidence rather than upon a firm conviction of supernatural causes. Greek was called a fitch, because its value was considered to be vastly overestimated. As a means of culture, it was thought to be blindly adored, in consequence of the customs and traditions of a former generation.

Fetich is pronounced fee fish, with the accent on the first syllable. Fetishism prevailed particularly in Africa.

PIETER SCHLEIMH.

211. "X"—He was the hero of a story written in 1814 by the famous poet and naturalist Adalbert von Chamisso. The author was born in France in 1781, was educated in Germany and France, and spent his life in the service of Germany as a naturalist.

In 1815 to 1818, he made a scientific tour of the world. He became famous among his German fellow countrymen by his German poems; but his world-wide reputation was established by the story of Peter Schlemihl, who has passed into proverb as a man afraid of his own shadow. Chamisso died in 1838.

A. M. RUGG.

212. "X"—Please give more particulars as to the object of your inquiry. What was the association of ideas? Are you sure that you have the name exactly? In Dickens' "Little Dorrit," there is a character named "Mr. Rugg." He is Mr. Pancks' landlord at Pentonville, and his description of his occupation is "Rugg, General Agent, Accountant, Debts Recovered." If we do not answer to your satisfaction, write us again.

ART INSTITUTION.

213. "X"—There is a Normal Art School maintained by the State of Massachusetts, and open to the properly qualified from other states. This school is a school of art, the art of graphic delineation, in all its branches, including design. For terms, course of study, and any other facts, write to the Principal of the Massachusetts Normal Art School, Boston, Mass.

"JIMANI" HAS HER SAY.

Our Boston Friend Makes Some Good Points—A Defender of the Rights of Women.

Passing a small shop the other day, kept by a little old woman, I saw a child run in and holding out a penny ring, evidently bought recently, she said, "Mrs. Mooney this ring is too large." "Make it small then," was the reply. The child's perplexed look was amusing. Possibly it was her first experience with one of the problems of life; the endeavor to remedy an evil with the impossible.

That is what Mrs. Annie Besant proposes to do, when she declares Christianity to be inadequate to remedy the evils of society, and offers theosophy as a substitute.

That the creeds which have been formulated by man from time to time, have failed to attract people to apply the truths of Christianity, I freely admit that the truths taught by Jesus Christ have failed or will fail to work out their ultimate end—the salvation of man—never! If theosophists would take the words of Christ in Luke, chapter VI, verses 29 to 35 for a rule of life their theosophy and all its vaporisms, would melt away in the hearty, happy, healthy life Jesus Christ intended his followers to enjoy.

This life was given to us to make the best of what comes to us in it, and to help others about us to do the same, we cannot do our duty to ourselves or others, by dwelling in an unnatural state of ecstatic adoration and communion with the Father, which theosophists call the "higher life." If we would remedy the social evils, we must come down among them, and help their victims in a hand to hand fight against them, and He who sees all and knows will take care of our morality, and give us all the higher life we need on earth, and when he gets ready for us to enjoy the higher life of heaven, he will show us the way to gain it.

Mark Twain says "the charm of pedestrianism is not in the walking, but in the talking; one is not confined to a subject until it is worn threadbare." There is also the charm of letter-writing, one can skip over a good many subjects and still be forgiven. Much has been said lately in regard to a business costume for women. I have no suggestion to offer as to a costume, but I do hope that while the women are showing that they are not inferior to man in capabilities, they will also show that they are not inferior in taste, by adopting a dress, which will be graceful and womanly as well as useful.

I hear many complaints against woman striding the lecture platform, but up to date, have failed to hear any against striding the chamber floor all night with the children.

There is one thing I admire in the COURIER-GAZETTE: Its tendency to boom home industries and improvements.

You have all heard of old Jed Brown, in who upon hearing Rubenstein for the first time was so moved by the power of the music that he jumped from his seat and shouted, "Go it, my Ruba."

So say I JIMANI.

Boston, May 2nd, 1891.

It is said the Boston and Maine, and Maine Central railroads are carrying more passengers than any other railroad system in this country, with the possible exception of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

A Few Items of Interest.

Lady Henry Somerset, with the officers and 30,000 members of the British Women's Temperance Christian Association, sent an appeal to the bishops urging them to use their powerful influence in favor of Sunday closing. Most of them have responded favorably. The Bishop of Bangor, North Wales, writes: "I fully sympathize with the noble aims of your association, and am convinced that the object you have in view is both practicable and expedient in the interests of a large portion of our people. On the whole it seems to me that the closing of these houses on Sunday in Wales has been fraught with highly beneficial effects, and I cannot but think that legislation which has been so salutary in Wales will be found equally beneficial in the large English towns. Any weight of influence that I may have will be readily thrown on the side of your association, and I trust that by the combined efforts of all Christian people the evils which are now inseparably connected with this great traffic, may be measurably lessened, if not removed."

The following is, says the Australian Sunday school teacher, from a boy's essay on total abstinence: "I abstain from alcoholic drinks, because, if I would excel as a cricketer, Grace says, 'abstain'; as a walker, Weston says, 'abstain'; as an oarsman, Hanlon says, 'abstain'; as a swimmer, Webb says, 'abstain'; as an orator, Bright says, 'abstain'; as a missionary, Livingstone says, 'abstain'; as a preacher, Farrar says, 'abstain'. Asylums, prisons and workhouses repeat the cry, 'abstain!' We have heard a long speech with less in it."

Mr. D. Lloyd George, M. P. for Carnarvon, in contrasting temperance sentiment in the country forty or fifty years ago with the present day, noted the fact that Charles Dickens has not a single teetotaler among his male characters, whereas it would be impossible for a Charles Dickens of our days to ignore them. There were one hundred and sixty teetotalers in the House of Commons.

Archdeacon Farrar, in one of his temperance addresses, remarks: "Cruiik-shank, the artist, offered £100 for proof of a violent crime committed by a total abstainer; and the money remains unclaimed to this day. I offer as much for proof of any one case—either in the church or out of it—where drunkenness has been cured without total abstinence; the only safe way of drinking, as an Irishman put it, is to 'leave off before you begin.'"

The drinking, chewing and smoking population of the United States spend fifteen hundred millions of dollars in liquors and tobacco each year; there is one rum saloon to every one hundred and seven voters, east of the Mississippi river, and one to every forty-three voters west of the Mississippi; and two hundred and fifty thousand saloons in these states and territories of the Union, waste enough of hard substance to feed, clothe and pay the house rent of every family in the United States.

Finland seems to be the most favored country in the world as regards temperance legislation. Local option is an old established reform, which country districts have so far derived benefit from that they are free of drink shops altogether. The temperance societies appear to great advantage, when their methods of providing well-stocked libraries, properly lighted reading-rooms, and comfortable and enticing coffee-houses for those they desire to wean from the public house, are compared with some others in different lands.

THE OLD PINKEY.

What was a pinky? A pinky was a vessel such as John Gray and his father used for the purpose of bringing kiln wood to this place from Burnt Coat Island. The pinky was a small vessel with three sails—mainsail, foresail and jib. This vessel was shaped somewhat like a water fowl with very full sides like a fat boy's face when his cheeks are puffed out with molasses candy, the stern was as lean as the bow was fat and came to a peak looking like a rooster's tail in shape. I think the cabin was below the deck forward. Undoubtedly this little craft was modeled after a sea bird, for they would ride the waves like a duck. This little vessel was steered with a rudder and tiller.

The goosene boat was of the same model as the pinky but generally smaller and had two masts and two sails, mainsail and foresail, no bowsprit or jib. This latter described boat was used for fishing. Capt. Henry Verrill's old schooner Increase, which some will remember, was once a pinky, but was changed to a square stern. Some of these little vessels may be still extant, but it has been quite a while since one of them has been seen by R. M. P.

Members of the Craft cannot have failed to notice how popular the higher degrees of masonry are becoming and what large numbers are being advanced. In Portland last week forty-five masons took the 32d degree.

STRANGER THAN FICTION.

Born as a Savage, Sold as a Slave, an American Becomes a Bishop.

Bishop Crowther was born about 80 years ago on the Benue river, the largest tributary of the Niger. He was a little savage boy, and none of his people had ever seen white men, when, in 1821, Mohammedan slave traders attacked the little settlement where he had lived. Among their captives was his mother and her three children, including the boy, Adaji, who was to become the future bishop of the Niger. His father, who belonged to the Egha tribe, died in defence of his home.

The little boy was separated from his captive mother and two younger sisters, and it was many years before he saw them again, says Goldsworthy's Geographical Magazine. In a few months Adaji became the property, in succession, of four masters, having been sold from one to another for tobacco and rum. The great fear that haunted him through all these changes was that he might be sold to the dreaded white man, the Portuguese slave dealer on the coast. His terror of this fate was so great that he once tried to throw himself into a river, and on several occasions attempted to strangle himself with the belt.

The fate he feared, however, overtook him, for he found himself at last confined in a stifling slave shed on the coast, with iron fetters around his neck and a chain fastening him to his comrades in misery. One night he was taken on board a slave ship with a cargo of 187 others, and was soon on his way to Cuba and Brazil. But help was at hand. The British war ship Mirmidon saw the slave ship as she started on her journey and went in pursuit.

The slave was captured, and Adaji and his fellow slaves were taken on board the warship, and on June 17, 1822, they were landed at Sierra Leone, the home of the free. The story of the poor little boy's fright as he was taken on board of the warship has often been told. He thought he saw the flesh of his comrades whom he missed hanging up in pieces to dry, and he was horrified to see objects which he mistook for their heads lying in order on the deck. They were joints of pork and cannon balls. The boy was taken to Fathurst, where his education began. He was a bright student and finally took an extensive educational course in England, where he graduated from the college at Islington.

We almost begin to suspect, on a careful, deliberate view, that disasters might often be checked, in books and on railroads, too, if directors would really direct. Rather more than they usually do.

For the COURIER-GAZETTE.

A GRAIN OF WHEAT.

ALICE L. COLE.

See this grain so brown and tiny that I held within my hand, It is one of countless millions, that are grown in this broad land, Small indeed would be its value, should you rate it with your gold, But how boundless is the promise that this little grain doth hold!

Let us, in the Field of Fancy, where so many sow and reap, Through the swiftly passing seasons, over it our vigil keep. First, one stately stalk is growing, then the sun shines and the rain, Till the one who comes to garner fills his hand with ripened grain.

As was multiplied the sowing, so is multiplied the yield, As with each successive autumn greater has the harvest grown, Till at last broad golden acres rise and fall beneath the breeze.

Like the ebbing and the flowing of the waves on windswept seas; And the harvesters have gathered, man and horse are there to-day: Ere the sun shines in the westward, countless sheaves are reaped and stowed.

Borne, across the fields of stubble, till a rushing sound is heard, Louder than the crickets chirping, or the sound of hoar or bird; 'Tis the rushing of the river, and its once neglected power, Now is made to turn the mill wheel and the wheat is changed to flour.

Flour—to feed the hungry nations; flour—the manna of to-day. Bread is on the rich man's table and for bread the needy pray. O blessed words our Father for our prayer to him hath said; All the world o'er they are echoed: "Give to us our daily bread."

Vanishes the field of harvest; vanishes the busy mill, And a new scene is before me: Ah, great God! 'tis the still! Vile the stream that floweth from it, which I cannot choose but trace Till in rage and dirt and squalor I behold a dying face.

Bear-eyed, swollen, pale and ghastly; throbs my heart with sudden pain, When I trace this weak man's ruin, backward to my little grain. In a bar room, youths are standing, each some mother's hope and pride; But a tempter is before them and another close beside.

Freely is the liquor flowing, sounds a shot and one youth falls, And another on the morrow is within the prison walls. Here father and a mother in a drunken stupor lie, Heeding not their little children who for bread in hunger cry.

As the still fades from my vision, oh that it might fade from earth! So it will when all earth's nations rightly estimate its worth. We have sown the years in fancy; think you now that one small grain Has so power for good or evil, has no strength for joy or pain?

Few indeed the gifts of nature with a promise more complete Than the one which lieth hidden in a little grain of wheat. South Hope, April 10.

THE SPRING VERSION.

Oh, reader, dear, of course you hear the news About the legend that's renewed in every public ground. Wherever you go in public parks "Keep off the grass" is such. They are the words that women just for wearing off the grass.

That we are true to Ireland this tribute doth appear. We strive to keep inviolate our emerald veneer. And some municipalities so true to this have been They've sent men up for thirty days for wearing off the grass.

EAST JEFFERSON.

Vinal & Kennedy have leased the Bay View store.

Anson P. Jackson went to Warren, Monday to work on a milk farm.

Arad E. Lincoff is attending the spring term at Coburn Classical Institute.

Mrs. Abel Trask had a stroke of paralysis last week and is now in a critical condition.

A Society of Christian Endeavor is to be organized here, through the efforts of the pastor.

The Sunday School was re-organized last Sunday; A. W. Bessee, Supt.; S. A. Richardson, clerk.

Most of the town schools began the first Monday in May; Miss Gushee is teaching at the village, Nettie Jones, of Alna, at the Corner and Hattie Glidden, the Center school.

The Ladies Aid Society will give an entertainment at Vinal & Kennedy's Hall, Memorial Day evening; the programme will consist of flag and military drill, address by Rev. C. E. Harden, recitations, music by the orchestra and lastly, supper. A good time is anticipated.

MUSICAL.

As corporations are said to have no souls, the following pertinent words of commendation of Miss C. M. Tibbets new song, "Robin, the Minstrel," by the head of a 'great corporation, Mayor James H. Manning of Albany, N. Y., son of the late Secretary of the Treasury, are unexpected as they are gratifying,

THOMASTON.

The T. S. T. S. are fully organized. M. E. Webber went to Boston Monday. Daniel Welch went to Boston yesterday. Miss Rose Percy returned from Bath Thursday. Capt. Harris Stackpole went to Newburyport Monday. Mrs. G. L. Robinson and daughter returned home Saturday. Washburn Bros. schooner will launch about the first of July. The doors of the shirt and pant factory have been legally closed. The new windows in Jordan Block have added much to its appearance. The Memorial sermon will be preached next Sabbath evening in the congregational church. Mrs. Lucy Southworth and daughter Alice have been visiting relatives in So. Hope the past week. At the town meeting held in Watts Hall on Saturday last, the town voted to raise $200 to repair what is called the toll bridge.

The date of the inspection of B. F. Carr camp of S. V. has been changed to Friday evening the 22nd. A full attendance is desired. The District Lodge, I. O. G. T. will hold their session in Union tomorrow with Rural Lodge. Quite a number will attend from here, weather permitting. Smith and Grady's Comedy Company will play the romantic western play, "49, or The Child of the Sierras," in Watts Hall on Saturday evening, May 30th. Edw. Brown of Bath gave an open air athletic exhibition here Friday evening. Brown is a ball player, and pitched the game for Thomaston when they did Warren up so finely.

There will be an excursion along the railroad to Damariscotta Mills today and tomorrow to give people an opportunity to witness the thousands of alvies go up over the falls at that place. A deed which has caused considerable sensation about town was revealed last Tuesday, as George Young was recovering a reservoir on Main street. After Mr. Young had taken the top from the reservoir he observed a black object floating in the water, and at once took an iron rake and raised the object, which to his astounding surprise, proved to be the form of a new born babe, the flesh being nearly all decomposed. The body was placed in a black cloth, and had probably been there some five or six months previous to its discovery. Corner Otis was called and an informal inquisition held. Mr. Otis thought it would be impossible to obtain any evidence in the case, as the flesh was nearly all decomposed and no trace of features could be seen.

WILEY'S CORNER.

Schooner Eliza Levensaler sailed for New York with live last week. Captain James Thomas has arrived in Boston in Sch. Elia B. Crowell. There was a Sabbath school concert at the church last Sunday evening. Schooner Eugene Borda is on the railway at Tenants Harbor undergoing repairs. School in this District is in good running order. It is kept by Miss Lizette Gilchrist. Last Saturday brought us splendid showers which were very much needed as wells were sitting low. The monuments cut by F. E. Hall have given satisfaction to the parties who ordered the friendship. Mr. Hall and his daughter Mrs. Bam are in the city. Mr. Elwell has not been able to do any work since March. Pastor G. S. Hill preached to a large and attentive audience at Clark's Island on Sunday evening. A very flourishing Sunday school is held there under the superintendence of Mr. Joseph Bam. PERSONALS.—Israel Clark is laid up with a very sore hand and unable to attend to his work. Mr. Melvin Kinney and S. G. Robinson have left Somers Head and come to work at Long Cove. Mr. James Thomas has gone with Captain Singer Kallach as cook. Gertrude, a little daughter of Capt. and Mrs. A. E. Brown, is at present writing very nicely. Mrs. Lovina Wiley, widow of the late John R. Wiley, died very suddenly at her home last Friday forenoon. She ate her breakfast as usual and shortly afterwards complained of not feeling well, and fell into a kind of stupor. Help was at once summoned and Dr. Woodside telephoned for her arrived too late to render any medical aid. At 11 o'clock she passed calmly and peacefully away. It was only the 21st of last March that her husband passed away to his rest. Mrs. W. was a remarkably pleasant and genial lady, one whom was very much respected by all who knew her. The funeral took place from the residence last Sunday, Rev. Mr. Hill officiating.

SOUTH HOPE.

PERSONALS.—L. S. Fogler of Augusta has been home on a visit. Mrs. L. M. Southworth and daughter Alice of Thomaston have been visiting at A. Y. Boggs. Miss Edith Hull of Camden is visiting friends here. Mrs. L. O. Brown and daughter Sylvia of North Hope visited relatives here last Sunday.

CAMDEN.

Isaac Coombs & Co. have contracted to build a barkentine of 800 tons. Arrivals on the Boston boat last week: Mrs. F. E. Richards, Mrs. Whitehouse. The Boston store on Main St. has been painted. Black and red trimmings. The poles are being erected for the additional electric lights on High and Mountain streets. Shaw & Rutter have purchased a large gray horse for their furniture delivery wagon. Mr. C. Buzzwell was at Bar Harbor last week and purchased a buckboard for the pleasure of his boarders the coming summer. Frank L. Higgins & Son have come out with a newly painted coach, the work of parties in Union. It looks as good as a new coach.

The Smith & Grady Co. gave an excellent entertainment Thursday and Friday of last week at Megunticook Hall, and will come again next week. W. R. Gill removed an apple tree from the front of his residence, planted 15 years ago, which improves the appearance of the premises very much. J. H. Montgomery, esq., has commenced on the foundation for a large factory for the manufacture of ready made clothing just opposite F. J. Higgins stable. Rev. Mr. Evans, who has been absent a few weeks, resumed services at Megunticook Hall last Sunday morning. The repairs on his church are nearing completion. Rev. Fred M. Preble, having been in constant service nearly eleven months for his church, will take a short leave of absence this week for a vacation and recreation among friends in the western part of the state.

Very few of our citizens observed Arbor Day by contributing a tree to add to the beauty and value of our beautiful village in coming years. The purpose of the day is designed to fulfill should commend itself to all progressive citizens. PERSONALS.—Mr. H. C. Small went to Boston last week on urgent business. Mr. Bickford arrived in Camden last Saturday, after an absence of a few months. Miss Eva Lovett visited friends in Appleton last week. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McFarlane are receiving congratulations of friends over the advent of a nice little son. There are many burial lots in Mountain cemetery with some one, two, and some three graves thereon, the friends having moved to a distant state, yet feel a deep interest in the sacred place and pay for perpetual care of graves and others show forgetfulness, and still others with no one to prevent their becoming obliterated entirely.

Obituary.—The funeral of Mrs. Evelyn Andrews, aged 80 years, took place at the residence of G. H. Cleveland on Union street Wednesday last, conducted by Rev. Mr. Brastow of Rockport. Many from Rockport (her native place) were in attendance. The pall bearers were from her old friends and neighbors. A select choir contributed some very excellent music. One piece, "Gathering Home one by one," was extremely beautiful and appropriate, embodying sentiment sufficient for a whole service. The remains were interred in Mountain cemetery by the side of her late husband. The funeral of Capt. Fred A. Hosmer, who died in Boston, Mass., May 13, 1891 aged 68 years took place at the residence of his brother Capt. J. F. Hosmer, last Friday, conducted by Rev. L. D. Evans. Conspicuous among the many choice flowers was a large floral anchor with a tag inscribed "From his friends at 17 Milk street, Boston, Mass." Pall bearers were Capt. Isaac Sherman, H. Hemingway, Isaac Coombs and J. F. Stetson. The remains were interred in Mountain cemetery. Thomas Heald died at his residence on Mechanic St., May 15, at the age of 41 years 6 months. The funeral occurred Sunday, the 17th, conducted by Rev. Mr. Evans. The house was packed and a large concourse of people stood outside unable to gain an entrance. The flowers were profuse; the music by a select quartette very appropriate. Members of the Grand Army and a large procession of friends and neighbors escorted the remains to Mountain cemetery. Mr. Heald leaves a widow and several children to mourn his absence.

ROCKPORT.

Mrs. H. J. Tibbets and Miss Della Burgess are in Boston. Some of our citizens attended the theatre in Rockland, last week. Rockport Ice Company have received a cargo of lumber from New York. The Rockport Band is preparing for a large ball, May 20th, in Union Hall. Steamer Lucy P. Miller took a large freight from this port on Saturday for New York. Sch. Edward Everett arrived from Bangor, last week, with the frame of the new sail loft. Our marketman, C. A. Carleton, lost a valuable horse at McLean's mills, last week, by an accident.

On Commercial st., Capt. O. P. Shepard is improving his house and grounds. His neighbor, Mr. F. Hanson has repainted his house in colonial colors; he has also purchased the adjoining lot, and will remove the store now occupying the land. On Monday morning, May 11th, at Camden, Mrs. Eveline, widow of Joseph Andrews, passed quietly away, without severe illness, aged 80 years. Mrs. Andrews was a daughter of the late Eben Thorndike, and has spent her long life near the family homestead; she was a pleasant, genial lady, and her home was once a center for friendly and social gatherings, and many of the older residents here will miss her familiar presence; she united with the Congregational church when Rev. A. Johnson was pastor. Since her husband's death, she has resided, most of the time, with her daughters, Mrs. S. E. Shepherd of Rockport and Mrs. G. H. Cleveland of Camden. One son, Fred A. Andrews, also survives her.

NORTH APPLETON.

U. N. Dyer, 2nd, has been painting L. M. Gashue's house at Appleton. The Ridge school commenced Monday under the instruction of Miss Julia Wentworth of Appleton.

PERSONALS.—Miss Annie Smith is teaching at Bangor. The school in the village is being taught by Miss Nettie Ripley. Mrs. Ida Johnson is at work in the Knox Woolen Mill, Camden. Last week a box of ore was shipped to the Bay State Smelting Works from the Whitefield, Me., mine. It assayed $17.95 to a ton; $15.45 if it was gold, and $2.50 was silver.

APPLETON.

Willard Sherman has the frame of his large barn up and covered in. David Cummings and Stephen Simmons have nice colts about a week old. "Wild" Sleeper has moved into the "Supple Norton" Pease house in Peasetown.

L. M. Gashue has painted his buildings in colors. W. N. Dyer, 2d, and James McCosken are the artists. There were some pickered in Senebec pond, E. D. Gashue and Wm. Newbert took over 50 one day and 40 another. Mr. Sidinger is still quite feeble and James Fuller will carry on his farm this season. We think he could not get a better hand than "Jamie."

PERSONALS.—Will Harwood is attending Normal School at Castine. Winnie Pease, who is attending school at Bucksport, came home on a visit recently. The Ladies Relief Corps gave one of their popular entertainments and a delicious supper at Grange Hall last Friday evening. There was a good attendance and a good time. Henry Cummings is having hard luck this spring. First one of his mules got a kick from one of his horses that broke his jaw. Then he lost an ox. The other day his hog got at some rotten apples and eat enough to kill it. Farm stock has changed hands to some extent recently. Jedediah Simmons, Alden Robbins and Wesley Butler each sold a yoke of oxen; L. M. Gashue bought a good cow of Lewis Sidinger; Gilbert Marsh sold two nice heifers to Alden Robbins and a full-blooded horse to John Lawry of Seabrook.

Artist Pease is not having as good luck with his sheep as usual this spring. He has only 6 lambs from 5 sheep. One sheep lost her two lambs. One of his sheep raised 18 lambs in 7 years. He sold one of them one year for $6.10 and could have sold the other two at the same price but preferred to keep them. Thus the value of her lambs for one year was $18.30. A good income. Mr. Carleton of Rockport lost a good horse one day last week. He left the animal standing in the road and went into Jedediah Simmons' barn to look at a yoke of oxen. The horse went into the yard, the bars being down, to drink. One wheel of the road cart went over the wall upsetting the cart, when the horse commenced running around the yard, breaking his leg on the third time passing around. The horse was worth $200.

Hon. Samuel Sumner died in Ripon, Wis., the 2nd inst., at the age of about 70 years. Mr. Sumner was the son of Samuel and Phyllis Sumner, for many years residents of Appleton, but born in Spencer, Mass. He was a brother of John Sumner who settled in Jackson, Mich., and became mayor of that city, and of Chester B. Sumner, a trader in Appleton for many years, father of Chas. E. Geo. T., and Wm. H. Sumner. Mr. Sumner had five sisters, two of whom, Mrs. A. A. Keniston of this town and Mrs. Dell L. Fish, are still living. Mr. Sumner settled in Ripon and went into trade when the town was very small. When it became a city he was elected its first mayor. He leaves a wife and one daughter who have the heartfelt sympathy of friends in Appleton.

EAST UNION.

Mial Mossman is repairing his buildings. The last dance was not very well attended. Fisher Payson will build a new barn this season. L. P. Lotthrop has lots of carriages on hand to paint. There is a great demand for coopers here this spring. J. Dorman has lots of orders on hand for stone work. Those who attended Luciers Minstrel show were well pleased. F. S. Gould has shut his mills down but will resume work in a few days. Eph. Lermond has got a very handsome lot of small fruit under cultivation. George Merrifield recently caught two speckled trout, each more than a foot long. PERSONALS.—Miss Bertha Lotthrop is at home on a short visit. C. M. Lotthrop has gone to Boston. Tilton Davis is at work in Lotthrop's paintshop. Two young ladies recently went on a fishing excursion up river. They returned the same day, sadder, wetter and wiser, having received a sudden involuntary immersion.

UNION.

The Luciers played here Friday night. Good show and good music. Wingate, Simmons & Co. shipped a fine top buggy to Dunmore, Pa., yesterday. The last rain has done lots of good for the farmers and everything looks green. S. W. Jones has shipped one ton of tape to the Hollowell Granite Co. These taps are from the hardest of iron which he is noted for making. PERSONAL.—C. G. McAlmon is starting for Boston Wednesday for a two or three months' stay. Mrs. J. P. Fish is visiting friends and relatives in Rockland. Mrs. G. W. Bachevalier was in Rockland Saturday. Miss Lilla Bachevalier returns to Westbrook Seminary this week. Our barber has taken unto himself a wife. The Congregational church has received an addition to its interior of two new platforms, one for the choir and one for the library. It is also going to have a new carpet at the cost of about $150. There is also talk of decorating the walls which is very much needed. The pastor, Rev. H. J. Wells, who has been at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., is expected home Saturday next.

MILLINERY.

HAVING just returned from Boston with a new and carefully selected stock of Millinery, I will be prepared to receive the public during the remainder of the season. Thanking old patrons for past favors and soliciting a continuance of the same, I am yours, MRS. O. A. BURKETT, Union, Me. 18-19

VINALHAVEN.

Frank Winslow has some beautiful crayon sketches on exhibition at the B. G. Co.'s store. J. F. McAlister, who has been employed on the car in the big shed for several years, has moved to Rockland. The item in regard to tax rate in last week's news, should have read two cents and eight mills on a dollar. Our mistake. The selectmen have called a special town meeting to be held Saturday at 4 p. m. to act on matters pertaining to the proposed sewers for districts 3 and 4. The charming little Louise Hamletton, whose performances so greatly pleased our play-goers a few weeks ago, will appear here again three evenings next week, commencing Monday. A dispatch from Stockton, Me., Thursday evening to Mr. Joseph Conant, stated that his daughter, Mrs. Hattie B. Snell, was very sick, and another dispatch Friday had the sad news of her death. Despite the inclement weather Saturday evening, there was a good sized audience at the town hall to see Smith & Grady's Company in "Queen's Evidence" and we hear none but words of praise for the excellence of the performance. Next Saturday they appear here in "Fun on the Bristol."

A special meeting of Granite Lodge, I. O. G. T. was held on Monday evening of last week, when it was voted to suspend operations for the present and to dispose of property owned to pay all outstanding bills. This Lodge has been in existence more than a quarter of a century and was at one time the banner lodge of the state. Thomas Cozen got the clothes Saturday. The sidewalks are receiving much needed repairs. Strawberries were selling at two boxes for a quarter last week. The recent rains were welcomed by all who have had empty cisterns. Alwives are quite plenty in Carver's and the Old Harbor ponds. They are caught by the use of torches evenings. John Merthow has purchased the house now occupied by J. H. Hamilton. We understand Mr. Hamilton will move to Rockland. Rev. Mr. Cummins will preach to the Old Fellows next Sunday, May 24, at the Union church, 2 o'clock p. m. The public are invited. PERSONALS.—Geo. Janis of Winterville came from Belfast Thursday with Capt. Burgess. John P. Sullivan of Sullivan is visiting friends here. Sch. Abbie S. Walker Capt. Dobbin arrived here Friday and loaded cut stone for N. Y. for the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of N. Y. Sch. Eliza of Yarmouth, N. S., took a load of paving and rough stone from the Sands lake to be used in the erection of a summer cottage at St. Mary's bay. The Patriarchal degree was worked on two candidates at the regular meeting of Island Home Encampment Friday evening at special meeting of the Encampment, to be held Wednesday evening, May 20, the Golden Rule degree will be conferred on four candidates.

WASHINGTON.

Robert C. Moores of the Augusta stage line has a horse which he has owned for 13 years and which, during that time, has travelled 67,000. Quite a record for man and driver. Mrs. Sarah Doe died in Providence, R. I., last Sunday week, aged about 77. She was living with her son. Mrs. Doe was a daughter of the late William Slater of this town. Her remains were brought here, where the burial occurred Wednesday. Her sons, Elden, Alden and Nathaniel accompanied the remains home. Mrs. Albert Sukeforth died Monday at the age of 80. She was in the garden at work when she was taken with paralysis and suddenly became unconscious. A few moments after being removed to the house death occurred. Her burial was Wednesday. Mrs. Sukeforth was a much beloved woman and a devout Christian. PERSONALS.—W. F. Law has gone to Waltham, Mass., where he will remain for the summer. Williston Grinnell and Joshua Adams of Camden were at the Central House last week. Keuben Vannah of New Orleans, who has been visiting his daughter returned last week. Miss Cora Luce of Union called upon Mrs. York of the Central House as she passed through on her way Thursday, 20 Augusta. C. L. York and F. J. Burket returned from Oakland Wednesday where Mr. York had been to obtain an artificial leg. George W. Jones, Charles E. Young, Charles Gupit and S. Hart of Rockland devoted several hours last week at our trout brooks with success. Hiram Bliss, Jr., left on the two o'clock train Saturday from Waldoport for New York, where he will be until Tuesday.

ATLANTIC.

We had a severe thunder storm here last Monday night. The new road machine has arrived and we are anxious to see it at work. We are very glad to have the rain fall on us once again as the soil was getting dry. A young daughter of Benj. Stinson received a bad cut on her neck, recently, from a piece of brick. Mr. Potengill, owner of a quarry on the other part of the island, arrived Monday, with a new horse and extra hands to work. Sch. Manionomah, Capt. A. G. Smith, started for Portland, the 13th, where he is to have his seine put in order and everything in readiness for the summer catch of the mackerel fishing. Twenty-eight persons were baptized at this place, Sunday. Rev. Dr. Damon of Waterville and Rev. H. W. Hall of Clinton, were present. A large congregation were present from this and surrounding towns. The discourse of Dr. Damon in the forenoon is very highly spoken of by all.

EAST WARREN.

Ellis Starrett is making decided improvements on the place he bought at Cran's Corner. A. A. Skinner is progressing rapidly on his new house, which is being done in a very thorough manner. PERSONALS.—Mrs. Wm. Stone has returned from her visit at Rockland. Everett Overlock is getting up again from his sickness. Miss Della Keating is teaching the Cornhill School (so called). Stephen Crane is very much out of health.

TENANT'S HARBOR.

The town schools have about all commenced. Capt. Lewis Hart has two stylish looking colts. Drummers were quite plenty in town the past week. Don't forget the entertainment tonight in Matven Hall, it's for the benefit of the new church. A sociable was held in the church vestry Tuesday evening week; ice cream, etc., was served. Quite a number of our young people are going to take a ride Memorial Day—rather think we shall have to go too, as we are "most always" in it.

Who will get the cornet on exhibition in G. E. Allen's new store? Why the one that comes the nearest to the number of seeds in the squash, by gosh. Steamer Panceo from Philadelphia has been to Long Cove with a load of coal for the company. We understand she will be employed in the building of the breakwater at Rockland. Capt. Henry Otis has had his residence newly painted, it looks very nice indeed. C. B. Willard, D. H. Willard, Lemuel Ludwig have also had the paint brush at work on their dwellings. PERSONALS.—Miss Maggie Grover is at home for a time. H. F. Kallach is in New York Rockland Thursday night. Bert Clark is at home from Mass. Miss Ada Chadwick is visiting at Miss Maggie Grover's.

Miss Alma Allen is teaching on Clark's Island and Miss Maggie Williams is teaching in Dist. No. 10; Miss Abbie Wall in Dist. 9; Clara W. Long in Dist. 7; Nannie Watts in Dist. 8; Lillian Pedrick in Dist. 12; Alice Long in Dist. 4; Lizzie Gilchrist in Dist. 1. St. George turns out more teachers to the square inch than any other town of its size. In giving these names we have used only those we happen to know, but we will publish the names of every teacher, male and female, who has taught one term or more if they will send in their names on postal card. Send them as soon as possible to Mr. E. E. Allen. In the first issue of June we will publish these names.

The boys were all out with their flyers speeding Friday evening. The Luciers Minstrel show of Wednesday night in Capt. Levi Hart's Hall was a good one and drew out a very large crowd. Capt. Joshua Rawley lost a valuable horse last week. While trying to back him he came over backwards and broke his back. The Lyle & Moore Musical Comedy Co. Friday and Saturday nights did not call out a very large crowd owing to the bad weather. We understand that Capt. Charles Hart of the Sch. Levi Hart now in Pensacola has some what recovered and is expected home soon. Henderson and Snow, in Sch. Seven Up, E. C. Cook in the Crystal and Geo. W. Nathan B. have been bringing in some good fish of late. C. A. Glidden has the Blackmore and Long building nearly finished and when completed will add very much to the appearance of Main street.

The Mutual Benefit Society will give an entertainment at Capt. Levi Hart's Hall Tuesday evening the 19th for the benefit of the new church. The only business that is very brisk in town just now, is house cleaning. That employs about two thousand people, and during this busy season of the year it's hard to tell where a few ropes can be had when night comes on. PERSONALS.—Mrs. Irene E. Meserve and Mrs. W. C. Harbour have returned home from a South Side visit and will visit Martinsville later. Deacon Robert Long, has recovered from his sickness, and we are glad to see him out again, tilling the ground. MARKS NOTES.—Sch. Jesse Hart 2nd and Merrill C. Hart cleared May 12 for St. John to load lumber for New York. Sch. Eugene Borda, is undergoing slight repairs at G. W. Rawley's wharf. Sch. Accumulator of Deer Isle is on the Marine Railway at this place, being caulked and painted. Sch. Brilliant, Hopper is here from Portland with a cargo of provisions. Sch. Searsville, sailed the 12th for New York with a cargo of paving, and the Golden Rule for Calais to load lumber.

RAZORVILLE.

There was quite a heavy frost here Wednesday night. Don't forget the Memorial sermon at the church, 2 o'clock p. m., next Sunday. The rain Wednesday was just "what the doctor ordered" for the grass, and we hope to get more soon. The melodious voice of the bobolink has again greeted us. An old saying is that it is time corn was planted when bobolinks come. How many have got corn planted?

PERSONALS.—Charlie Mears is working for Augustus May of Portland. Geo. Grotten is at work for John Glidden. Geo. Carter of South Hope called on us last week. A lodge of Fraternal Guardians has been organized here, known as Dirigo Lodge. The following officers were chosen:—P. G. Ingalls, Chief Guardian; Mrs. Aldana Lesser, Vice Guardian; Fred A. Howard, Sitting Past Chief Guardian; N. M. Leavitt, Recording Secretary; Freeman Light, Financial Secretary; L. B. Turner, Chaplin; Mrs. Aldora Marr, Guide; Sarah L. Gray, Inside Sentinel; Fred Jones Outside Sentinel. Lodge meets at Ingalls Hall semi monthly. SEAL HARBOR. A new daughter arrived at F. A. Snow's Sunday, weighing about ten pounds. W. A. Adams is having his tenement house painted inside and out. It will soon be ready to rent. T. E. Wiley and Mr. Olson went gunning last week off by Matinic and brought home a few pairs of fine birds. PERSONAL.—Mr. Richardson, paymaster of White Head L. S. S., was in town Friday. Mrs. Herbert Elwell, who has been sick a long time, is very low. Daniel McLeod, from Boston, and Bertha Elwell, from Sullivan, returned last Thursday. S. C. Hall is on the sick list. Adam Kirkpatrick and family visited on the island last week. Carrie Wiley has gone on the island with Mrs. F. L. Barnes. Mrs. Eliza Robinson, of Wiley's Corner, visited at her sister's, Mrs. T. E. McKellar, last week. Mrs. Lucas, of Rockland, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. L. Barnes, on the island.

WEST CAMDEN.

Schools are all in session and running along in good order. Mrs. Jennie Mitchell has raised this year one hundred and fifty chicks. Bert Ingraham, Frank Clark, Guy Andrews and Geo. Keller are working at Rockland. Mt. Pleasant Grange intend to build themselves a Hall in which to hold their meetings. They need it very much. Frank Clark who works on the sewer at Rockland got somewhat bruised last week by the dirt caving in on him. Farmers are getting along well with their farming, though the cold and wet weather has somewhat impeded their work. Mr. A. B. Oxtan has painted his buildings and F. A. Oxtan is making quite extensive improvements on his new house. The ladies of the grange in this place have made a very beautiful quilt which will be given to the clergyman who receive the most votes. Supt. N. A. Luce has added another Voluntary Register for a text book record, and teachers will be required to exercise due care for and return of the books owned by the town. This is for the purpose of furnishing S. S. Committees such definite and particular information as they will need to compel payment for books injured, lost or destroyed by pupils. Should teachers not comply with these requirements they will not be entitled to pay for their services.

SOUTH LIBERTY.

Lumber continues to arrive for the new mill. Silas Hall has moved back here from Warren where he has been at work in the mill for a long time. The Sabbath school was organized last Sunday and officers chosen as follows: Wm. Light, President; A. F. Light, V. President; Jesse Overlock, Librarian; Arthur Overlock, Treasurer. PERSONALS.—Sidney Hannon has arrived home after a successful sea voyage. Alex. Fish is at work for Charles Howard. Fred Millay was in town recently. Mrs. Oliver Whitman and son visited C. E. Overlock recently. Mrs. Edward Bachevalier and grand daughter of Martinsville visited with Mrs. William Leicher a few days ago.

NORTH HAVEN.

C. S. Staples is having a new stable built. Capt. H. E. Calderwood is making repairs on the cottage at Vinalhaven known as the "Point House." The canning factory, A. A. Brown superintendent, is having a very successful season, and lobsters are plenty. Work has begun on another house at Iron Point for Dr. C. G. Weld. It will be located on the cellar of the old Waterman house. PERSONALS.—Mrs. F. O. Smith and Mrs. F. H. Smith went to Rockland Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith left Friday for Seal Cove, Mr. Dusen where they will open their cottages for the season.

GEORGES RIVER.

Swallows, butterflies and bees have put in an appearance. Geo. W. Wilson has purchased a fine looking horse for his business. J. A. Clarke and son Ubertus, of St. George were at A. J. Clarke's last Sunday. The much needed rains came at last. The grass has grown one half since the rain last week. Schooner Eliza Levensaler, Kallach, passed down river last Wednesday, loaded with lime for New York. A tramp in this place last Saturday caused some trouble. It seems as though they would be taken care of by some one. Capt. Hatton Wilson has launched his schooner Conqueror from her winter quarters. She looks very fine with a new coat of paint.

MATINICUS.

Who lost the collar button? Sch. Alena Young is at this place undergoing repairs. Supervisor Young is doing a large amount of farming this season. Weston Ames is having his house repaired, James B. Thompson is boss carpenter. Some very fine quality May baskets have been presented during the campaign. "Thanks awfully." "Fish hawks" are arriving in numerous flocks one flock alighted at the South end last Thursday. William Young is having improvements made on the interior of his house; Alvin Simmons and Willie Young are doing the work. Capt. Eben Cris of So. Matinicus came to this port last Wednesday in his new nabtha launch, Novelty, the sight of which created quite a sensation. J. H. Sanborn of Vinalhaven, was in town last week; he will soon move his family here for the summer. Mr. Sanborn is one of the Matinicus Fishing Co. The finest looking piece of strawberry plants that has been the good luck of the "local reporter" to observe for some time in under cultivation by Lincoln H. Young whose card we notice in The C. G.

Business with the Matinicus Fish Co. is very brisk; at the present time they are making rapid progress preparing to put down three weirs, one at N. E. point, one at Burgess' Cove N. W. of the Island and the third at a south-point, near Sandy Beach. Schooner Volant of Vinalhaven was here the last week with "fishing business" for the Co. and was engaged in putting down weir poles. Capt. W. B. Young has been fitting an office for them over Young & Norton's boat shop and the extensive docks etc., we think will do credit to the carpenter. We understand that the supporters and employees of the Matinicus Fish Co. are all reliable men. Success to them.

FOLKS AND THINGS.

Weekly edition over 3300. Monthly edition $500.

A charge is made for Cards and Resolutions.

Mayor Butler has had a nursery spruce hedge set out at the foot of his handsome lawn.

E. K. Gould, Esq., has been appointed to the office of Public Administrator by the Governor.

Regular monthly session of the Knox County Probate Court is being held in this city today.

The degree team organized by Nahanda Tribe of Red Men are getting in first-class condition for the work.

The meanness of the season was that of a setting of eggs from under the hen at Capt. Hurley's hen house last week.

Progressive Lodge of Good Templars have elected sixteen delegates and same number of alternates to attend District Lodge at Union tomorrow.

Genther, the jeweler, has a novelty in an incandescent gas lamp in his south window. Supt. Frost says they are the best gas light yet introduced.

The new Board of Registration for this city is composed of Nathaniel Jones, chairman, Fred W. Wight and James E. Sherman. The first named are Republicans.

Chickawake Lodge of Good Templars was organized at Rockport with thirteen charter members last week. District Deputy A. C. Hamilton performed the ceremonies.

A new lodge of Knights of Pythias will probably be inaugurated in this city, a petition to the Grand Lodge signed by the required number of Knights having been presented.

Dr. R. B. Miller of this city has been nominated by the Governor to be a member of the board of examiners in the practice of dentistry. Four other members have been appointed from other cities in the state.

The time for the receiving of bids for the Main street retaining wall has been extended until May 23d. Parties who are trying to make an honest dollar will do well to hustle round and get in a bid.

Fixing Up.—Mrs. E. M. Mayo is greatly improving the appearance and accommodations of her house, on Masonic street by the addition of an ell to be used as a kitchen....N. F. Cobb is building an addition to his house.

Lewis Armstrong objected to being arrested by Officer Lee for engaging in a fracas. He got scooped in all the same and was found guilty of assault on the officer next day, and bound over to September term in sum of $300. Bail was furnished.

Officers and trustees of the Rockland Savings Bank have been elected as follows: E. H. Lawry, President; E. D. Spear, Treasurer; John S. Case, W. H. Titcomb, Samuel Bryant, A. J. Bird, E. K. Spear, E. H. Lawry and G. M. Brainard, Trustees.

It has been decided to hold the spring meet of the Maine Division of the Wheel Club at Belfast May 30th. It was hoped to have the club here, but Belfast seems to have been the fortunate one this year. All the owners of bicycles in the city should become members of the club.

The city sewer gang, under command of Capt. Larrabee, finished the Main street sewer Wednesday, and Thursday commenced another on Union. About 300 feet of main sewer will be laid on Union and 100 feet on Grove, connecting with the Lindsey brook sewer where it crosses Union street.

The Ariel Ladies Quartet of this city has been engaged to sing on the occasion of the graduation at Lincoln Academy, Damariscotta. The class concert occurs June 18th in the evening, and on the morning of the 19th comes the graduation. The quartet will sing at both. The graduates are to be congratulated on getting so fine an organization for the occasion.

Limerock Valley Lodge has the following officers for this quarter: Fred Brown, C. T.; Emara Rackliff, V. T.; W. F. Melvin, Treasurer; John Turner, Secretary; F. V. Turner, F. A. O. Rackliff, M. Winnie Blackington, D. M.; Lizzie Levensaler, Chap.; Judson Levensaler, Guard; Arthur Hamilton, Sent.; Mrs. Mary Bartlett, S. J. T.; G. L. Ulmer, P. C. T.; John W. Turner, Lodge Deputy.

Saturday was a day of accidents, none of which, however, were fatal. Wyman Cushman, employed at the South Marine Railway got caught between two planks and broke bones in his right hand. A. M. Rackliff got struck in the eye with a knot at Clark's cooper shop. Allen Mallet cut cords of his left hand with the ax at same place. Wm. D. Erskine, employed at the North Marine Railway, had a plank fall and broke bones of his right foot. Yesterday Mr. Rackliff had the ends of his fingers caught in the cogs of a grindstone. All of the above held policies in the Mercantile Mutual Accident Association and therefore don't feel quite as bad as they would otherwise.

STEAMBOATS.—Capt. O. A. Crockett, the pioneer of the Rockland & Ellsworth line, has purchased the steamer Florence and will have the steamer on the route in a short time. Steamer Mount Desert arrived Thursday from Boston in charge of Capt. Pierce. She made her first trip east Saturday....The Lucy P. Miller, as good as new, is again on the route between this city and New York. Capt. T. M. Bunker of this city succeeds Capt. Oakes as commander. The Lucy Miller is due here again Tuesday....Steamer Mount Desert having been thoroughly overhauled, repainted and put in fine condition for summer service, will leave Rockland on Wednesday and Saturdays, touching at Green's Landing, Swan's Island, South West Harbor, North East Harbor, Bar Harbor and Sorrento, and at Seal Harbor when there are passengers from Rockland, returning from Sorrento on Mondays and Thursdays, leaving Bar Harbor at 9 a. m. The register of the officers is as follows: Master, Capt. W. A. Sawelle; Pilot, Capt. S. S. Conary; Purser, Chas. T. Mason; Engineer, C. H. Allen; Assistant Engineer, Harry Jean; First Officer, John A. Hooper. Daily trips will commence about the middle of June....Steamer Rockland has been withdrawn from the route, and will be overhauled and put in condition for summer service between this city and Bangor, commencing Tuesday, June 24.

The Rockland Beef Co. received a car of beef last night.

The accident to the Hurley building furnished an excuse to stay at home from church.

The Governor has appointed Deputy Collector T. E. Simeon to a Notary Public.

The new tug boat Sommers N. Smith, the recent purchase of the Rockland Tug Boat Co., arrived Tuesday noon, in charge of Capt. Chas. I. Marston. The addition of this tug to the harbor will insure an occasional excursion during the summer.

The annual sermon to the Grand Army, Ladies Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans will be preached by Rev. J. S. Moody on Sunday morning next in Parwell Hall at 10:30 a. m. The service will be printed in leaflets so as to be easily followed. Special musical program has been prepared.

The Knox & Lincoln railway runs excursions to Damariscotta Mills, to-day and to-morrow, May 19 and 20, at one fare for the round trip from all stations. This opportunity is offered to enable all to see the fish run up the Falls. At this season of the year the alewives go up over the dam into Damariscotta Pond, and to see thousands of these fish struggling up the Falls is a novel and interesting sight.

HORSE AND STABLE.—B. A. Emery of Owl's Head was at the office of Friday with a handsome yearling colt by Ceresus out of his brood mare by the peer Aral. Mr. Emery recently had another foal by the same, which he intends to raise for a matched pair....Berry Bros. & Co. received a lot of new carriages on the boat Saturday morning for use in their stable....Chas. Kiff has a new horse....Hon. A. P. Crockett bought a span of driving horses at Gardiner last week.

The interest in the new liquor law seems to be on the increase if we can judge by the attention that it is receiving from the newspapers. We presume that the condition of things in Rockland are about the same as in other places of like size, which means plenty of liquor if you know where to go for it. Several seizures have been made the past week, and a seizure now means something serious for the seller. Our advice to the dealer is "don't get caught," for the penalty is sure and swift.

The fifth annual report of the Factory Inspectors of the State of New York, recently published, contains an article on "The Restriction of the Hours of Labor in Factories and Workshops," by Maine Deputy Inspector L. R. Campbell, a resident of this city. The address is written in a comprehensive manner abounding with statements and statistics well calculated to sustain the assertion that the world's production of such a quantity as to allow the reduction of the hours of labor in nearly all of the leading industries to ten or less hours a day.

Last Thursday morning the new bell of St. Bernard's Catholic church was blessed by Fr. O'Brien of Bangor, in the absence of Rt. Rev. Bishop Healey, who was detained at home by illness. Fr. Doherty of Augusta and Fr. Phelan of this city assisted at the ceremony. Fr. O'Brien delivered a short address on the history and significance of bells, which was listened to by a large congregation. Music was furnished by the choir, the Deacons being especially well rendered. The bell was rung Sunday for the first time and its tones are very clear and musical.

CHURCHES.—Services will be held at the Congregational church next Sunday morning and evening with preaching by the pastor.... Trinity Sunday, May 24, 10:30 a. m., at Parwell Hall, Morning Prayer and Sermon to the Edwin Libby Post, G. A. R. Text: "I have fought a good fight." II Timothy iv. 7, by Rev. J. S. Moody of St. Peter's....At St. Peter's 12 M., Sunday School, 7:30 p. m., Evening Service and Baptism of Adults; Wednesday evening, May 20, Address to Confirmation Class.... Rev. T. E. Rayner, who is to supply the Cedar Street church the coming summer, preached at the First Baptist church Sunday morning.

Canton Lafayette, P. M., L. O. O. F., is arranging for a big dinner to be held in this city July....At a recent dinner of the committee, consisting of Chas. E. Weeks, E. W. Berry, W. H. Bird, G. L. Blithen, W. F. Manson, H. I. Chubb, was appointed to make the necessary arrangements. They propose to make it the biggest time Rockland has ever seen. They will invite all the Cantons of this Battalion—Cantons King of Bath, Casco of Brunswick and Vinalhaven of Vinalhaven—Canton Palis of Belfast, that some 30 or 300 Chevaliers will be in line in the parade. The regimental officers of the Grand Lodge of Old Fellows, and other dignitaries in the order will be invited. The program is for a parade, revid, dinner and a big ball in the evening. We hope the Chevaliers of Lafayette will meet with no obstacles to disarrange their plans.

SHORTS.—The rain of Saturday was most welcome.—Our merchants are constantly improving the attractions in their show windows and no town can show better ones.—Something for nohah is the C-G monthly.—The June number will be of unusual interest.—Let us have the clothing manufactory.—Are any of the many dogs be neglected.—Blue fish and shad in the market.—The Memorial Day orators are now out in the barn, getting on their voice.—Sidelinger had some old fashioned lobsters last week, 7 pounders.—Dandelions look very pretty on the C-G. counter.—Our gun club flourishes.—J. T. Rankin has caught a seven pound trout, 23 inches long.—Chief Templar Bange has appointed A. C. Hamilton of this city as district deputy.—The harbor complaints of her mail facilities, move to Rockland and you will be well served.—Refrigerators are now hungry for the cooling coil, with two companies doubtless we shall all be able to get enough.—Our ship news columns contains all the latest marine happenings.—The plate glass windows in H. N. Keene's look very nice.—No old fashioned coaches for Rockland, nothing is natty but fresh and bright.—Brother Ward's new ice creamery is the pride any joy.—Our city has good restaurants, not cold hash concerns, but dining rooms that would be a credit to any place.—The "silent steed" seems to be thriving.—There was a collision on Middle street Sunday, some damage was done the teams but no lives lost.—H. B. Webster will have a house built on Clarendon street.—Chas. Mason has contracted for a house on South Main street.—The Maine Music store has been repainted.—J. R. Smith talks of buying a farm.—Miss Rosa M. Keene is book keeping for Chas. T. Spear.—Are we to have a circus this summer.—Havens is bottling a vast amount of soda this summer.—We saw some very handsome carriage work at J. F. Hall's carriage factory this week.—The home orchestra at the Salvo, performance was all right—their music was good.

The pupils of Mr. A. L. Tyler's school pre- sented him yesterday with a beautiful volume of Longfellow's poems, the occasion being Mr. Tyler's birthday.

The police searched four houses on the Point Friday night and succeeded in capturing one little lovely half-pint bottle of the ardent. Rum is pretty scarce in Rockland just now.

In the course of some very true and pertinent remarks on the Methodist plan of changing ministers, Bishop Foster says "the right man in the right place," no matter where he may come from, is a vital principle of Methodism. The force of this reminds one of the motto of the "Three Guardsmen" "one for all and all for one."

Last October the firm of James G. Butler & Co., tobacco manufacturers of St. Louis, Mo., commenced to pack in each box of several brands of their tobacco a certificate entitling the retailers handling the goods a certain number of votes, one to each pound, for their favorite salesman. The vote was taken in districts, this district comprising Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. The man receiving the largest number of votes would be entitled a six weeks' trip to Europe any time during the summer of 1891. All the expenses, such as railroad, steamer and hotel fares, in fact every expense for transportation and subsistence from Rockland and return to be paid by the tobacco firm. Last Thursday the John Bird Company of this city received a telegram from St. Louis firm stating that the senior member of that concern, John Bird, Esq., had received the largest number of votes from the retailers of Northern New England, and under conditions named was judged the most popular salesman and therefore entitled to the complimentary European trip, which may be a tour to England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, France, Switzerland, Germany, etc., as desired. The prize is transferable or the firm will not pay $350 in lieu of it. Mr. Bird has not as yet decided whether he will make the tour or transfer the right.

The groceryman of the district named went into this business with a large cargo of courage and the result of votes thrown speaks right out loud for our Rockland representative. When it comes to selling goods in fair weather or foul, under favorable or unfavorable conditions, in the face of opposition and competition, we doubt if New England can point out a man that is master of the situation every time and more able to get there with both feet than John Bird, Esq., of the John Bird Company. "Some men are born great, some achieve greatness while others have greatness thrust upon them." We don't claim this quotation to be quite as the author wrote it, but it will serve to illustrate our claim, which is that the winner of the prize in this contest is a natural born salesman who will turn defeat into victory and has never learned the meaning of the word fail.

FACTS AND FICTION.

"That new reporter spells 'victuals' 'v-i-t-a-l-s,'" said the intelligent com-
positor. "Yes, he's fresh; make 'r right
and dump'r in here—want to get to press in just three minutes," responded
the foreman. And this is what the public read when the paper was issued:
"The verdict of the coroner's jury was that the deceased came to his death from
the effect of a gunshot wound in the victuals."—Clipper.

A railroad is being built on the Congo for
the transportation of goods and passengers along that portion—some 240
miles—which cannot be easily navigated.
Mr. Stanley thinks the road will be completed in about three years. The road begins 110 miles above the mouth of the Congo, at the point where the navigation by ocean steamers stops, and extends to Stanley Pool in the Upper Congo basin, which begins an unobstructed waterway of 1,100 miles. In the basin of the Upper Congo there are 8,000 miles of navigable waters, and the country, according to Stanley, is rich
with all the products of the equator.
People who can live in New Orleans he says, can live in the Congo country, and
he expects the region to fill up by immigration. There is, however, in his opinion, "an immense trade to be done
with the population already there as soon as the way is opened to them by the completion of the railroad."

The substantial features of the new $2
certificates have been decided upon and some of them in a few months, believe in circulation. They will bear a handsome vignette of the late Secretary Windom, and will take the place of the present $2 certificates issued under the Bland act bearing the portrait of General Hancock. A new issue was thought necessary because of the excellence of the counterfeits of this certificate which were recently discovered, and the old
certificate will now be called in as rapidly
as possible.

Every employee in the service of the American Express was requested May 1 to file a bond, in proportion with the salary received, to insure the company
against losses, the outcome of dishonesty
or carelessness. The bonds were furnished by the company in every case and
a certain amount will be deducted from
the salaries of the men to remunerate
the bondsmen for the risks they take.
The rate on one thousand dollar bonds per year will be $2.75. Each employee will also have to furnish a photograph of himself, give a partial history of his life and a complete personal description
of himself. The employees are very much incensed at these new regulations.

Belfast will have the spring meeting
of the wheelmen on May 30th, the parade will be the first thing on the programme. Probably 150 wheels will be in line. Next will be a grand dinner at the Crosby Inn, where the wheelmen
will be quartered during their stay.
After dinner there will be a short run
along the north shore, where a clam-bake will be served. In the evening a special wheelmen's picnic is being arranged, after which the will be the other lunch at the Crosby Inn. Train will be taken at 7.20 the morning for Borham, where connections will be made for Portland. Half fare has been granted on the Maine Central.

Some rare old decoration was discovered
in tearing down the ancient Cooper
house in the town of Randolph, the other day. The south parlor of the old manse was hung with French paper bought in Paris sixty years ago. It represented foreign scenes, mostly French—picturesque boats, placid waters, great trees
reaching from floor to ceiling, women
milking cows, quaint houses, horses as large as life, and a variety of other pictures which perhaps with historical interest, if only they had been held with which to unlock them. It was a fascinating study, and it seemed a pity
that it must of necessity be destroyed
with the demolition of the house. The many tenants took great pride in and
care of this pretty story, and when it was comparatively fresh when it came to its destruction. Few of these old pictorial hangings, which were once to be found in almost any of our towns that sent out ships are now left in Maine.

A party of about fifty accompanied
the United States Commissioners to Cobossee pond, near Gardiner last week to witness a test of the Holmes'
graphite ring for proof, invented by Philip H. Holmes of this city. The test was conducted by Commander N.
M. Dyer, Inspector of ordnance at Portsmouth Navy Yard, to determine whether the ring would impart to the projectiles the necessary rotary motion
and conform to the laws of ballistics.
A Morfitt field-piece of 3.12 inch bore
was used. Seventeen shots were fired,
each weighing 16 pounds, at two ranges
one one-third mile and the other 1.4
miles. The test proved very satisfactory in every particular. Among those present were Gov. E. C. Burleigh, Adj.
Gen. H. M. Sprague of Auburn, Lieut.
Col. W. T. Choate of Augusta, Gen.
Luther Stephenson, Jr., of the National Home at Togus, and Dr. R. H. Chase of East Braintree, Mass. A test with a six-inch rifle cannon, firing two hundred rounds, is soon to be made at Washington, D. C., under supervision of the War Department.

HIS NAME ON HER BREAST.

A handsome young actress in Chicago
got herself in much and lasting trouble
the other day through the efforts of a reporter to interview her. The reporter went to the stage door and sent in his card. On the card was simply his name and the title of his paper, written with an indelible pencil. The pretty young actress received it just as she was going on the stage. Telling the messenger that she would see the reporter after the scene, she thrust the card in the bosom
of her dress and tripped lightly upon the stage, where she was to take part in an ardent love scene. The night was warm. The indelible pencil side of the card, which she had thrust in the bosom
of her dress, happened to be turned the wrong way. It left its imprint in perfect letters, and, as the pretty actress
has failed to find a soap that will remove
it, she can appear no more, at least for the present, in décolleté costume.

Green Currant Pie.—One cup green
currants, one cup sugar, and one egg;
bake in two crusts, as any fruit pie. It will be found very nice.

Observations and Comments.

Between 1880 and 1890 the value of the manufactured products of the United States has increased from about $5,000, 000,000 to $8,000,000,000. And this increase of $3,000,000,000 is under that policy of protection which free traders
are so in the habit of deriding as inimical to the progress of the country.

Guatemala boasts of the third largest
national band of musicians in the world,
being exceeded only by those of Austria
and Mexico. It is proposed to increase the number of instruments to two hundred, so as to surpass Mexico, and then
send the aggregation to the Chicago exposition. Guatemala does not occupy
a large space on the map, but what it lacks in size it is going to make up in noise.

Last month over 12,000 Italian immigrants arrived at New York, with no
fear of Judge Lynch before their eyes.
If they come with the intention of becoming good citizens and with the capacity to become such, they are welcome; but those who are not up to the standard their room is much better than their company.

To keep flat-irons clean and smooth,
rub them with a piece of wax down up
in a cloth, then scour or rub them on a
paper strewn with coarse salt.

A small box filled with lime and
placed on a shelf in the pantry or closet
will absorb dampness and keep the air
in the closet dry and sweet.

To banish red ants from the pantries,
strew whole cloves around the shelves.
The same is also considered a good moth
exterminator.

When washing fine white flannels,
add a tablespoon of pulverized borax to
a pailful of water. This will keep them
soft and white.

Soak clothes, that fade, over night in
water in which has been dissolved one
ounce of sugar of lead to a pailful of
rain-water.

For the making of good bread three
things are indispensable—the right kind
of flour, good yeast and careful baking.

A dish of plain, nourishing soup is a
wholesome first course at dinner, as it
warms and invigorates the stomach.

To freshen leather chair-seats, val-
ises, bags, etc., rub them with the well-
beaten white of an egg.

Bake loaf cake in square pans. The
slices will be much neater and the cake
seems to taste better.

Put bits of camphor gum in trunks or
drawers to prevent the mice from doing
any injury.

FASHION NOTES.

Crepons of all kinds are to be much
worn; they are produced in small and
coarse crinkles and in different weaves.
The round skirt is still worn in Paris
by a large number of women who sensibly
refuse to accept the train for the street.

Pen-wipers have little wooden handles,
and are made in the shape of a reversed
hook, the silk imitating the color of that
gorgeous flower.

Feathers seem to have disappeared,
although small bunches of black plumes
are always used, often combined
directly with flowers.

Many tiny wings stick out at unexpected corners on bonnets; not always
real bird wings, but artificial wings of
every conceivable kind.

Leg-o'-mutton and bishop sleeves will
be very popular in any summer textures,
the styles being more appropriate to
them than to thick stuffs.

Boxes for small photographs are of
cardboard handworked with beads in
lotus flowers and papyrus, and adorned
with bows of embroidered kid.

Tulle in every color and dotted with
fine or coarse spangles in blue, green,
gold, or silver is much used in trimming
toques as well as the large forms.

Nearly all the woolen striped goods
show a curious ribbed effect. Cheyrons
weave in many variations are seen in the
cheviots and all of them are beautiful.

One of the prettiest things in embroidery which comes from Paris is a
charming combination of gros-grain
ribbon with the old embroidery stitch in
floss silk.

The suede pocket-book and card-case,
with clasps and corners of embossed
silver, have given way to larger books
made of fine seal, alligator, log and calf
skin.

A round skirt with a coat with laques is very ugly. For little street
skirts the hem will still be turned up
and stitched on the outside, as has been
done for some time.

ROBIN ADAIR.

Lippincott's.

The hero of the popular song of
"Robin Adair," which is attributed to
Lady Caroline Keppel, was Robert
Adair, a surgeon (1710-1790), well
known in the London fashionable circles
of the eighteenth century as the "Fortunate Irishman."

His devotion in an early amour drove
him from Dublin to London. On his way he fell in with a lady of fashion
who had been slightly hurt in a runaway accident. He travelled with her in her carriage to London as surgical attendant, and on their arrival was presented with a fee of one hundred guineas
and a general invitation to her house.
There he met Lady Caroline Keppel,
daughter of the second Earl of Albemarle, who, forgetting her high lineage,
fell desperately in love with the Irish surgeon at sight.

The Albe-marle family, dismayed at
the project of such a marriage, took Lady Caroline from London to Bath,
and tried every means to make her forget her fever, but in vain. At last their opposition was withdrawn, and the couple were united.

It was at Bath that Lady Caroline is said to have composed the words of "Robin
Adair," setting them to the plaintive
Irish tune of "Eileen Aroon," which she had heard her lover sing.

The original song of "Eileen Aroon"
is attributed to one Carol O'Daly, an early Irish bard who flourished apparently before the tenth century. A Munster poet of the seventh century rewrote
the words, and in this form it was translated by John Aymer and paraphrased by Gerald Griffin. It is in Griffin's paraphrase that the song is known to this generation.

The first temperance paper published
in the world was established in Boston,
in 1825 or '26—we are not certain which
—by the Rev. William Collier, a Baptist clergyman, bearing the title of "The Philanthropist."

AROUND THE HOUSE.

Oil of turpentine, or benzine, will remove spots of paint or varnish from cotton or woolen goods. They should be washed in soap suds after the application.

The dirt rays of the sun should never strike a mirror. The action of the rays on the quicksilver will ruin any mirror in a comparatively short time.

When the shoes are stiff, after being out in muddy or wet weather, rub the leather thoroughly with vasoline, which
not only softens, but preserves it.

To keep flat-irons clean and smooth,
rub them with a piece of wax down up
in a cloth, then scour or rub them on a
paper strewn with coarse salt.

A small box filled with lime and
placed on a shelf in the pantry or closet
will absorb dampness and keep the air
in the closet dry and sweet.

To banish red ants from the pantries,
strew whole cloves around the shelves.
The same is also considered a good moth
exterminator.

When washing fine white flannels,
add a tablespoon of pulverized borax to
a pailful of water. This will keep them
soft and white.

Soak clothes, that fade, over night in
water in which has been dissolved one
ounce of sugar of lead to a pailful of
rain-water.

For the making of good bread three
things are indispensable—the right kind
of flour, good yeast and careful baking.

A dish of plain, nourishing soup is a
wholesome first course at dinner, as it
warms and invigorates the stomach.

To freshen leather chair-seats, val-
ises, bags, etc., rub them with the well-
beaten white of an egg.

Bake loaf cake in square pans. The
slices will be much neater and the cake
seems to taste better.

Put bits of camphor gum in trunks or
drawers to prevent the mice from doing
any injury.

FASHION NOTES.

Crepons of all kinds are to be much
worn; they are produced in small and
coarse crinkles and in different weaves.
The round skirt is still worn in Paris
by a large number of women who sensibly
refuse to accept the train for the street.

Pen-wipers have little wooden handles,
and are made in the shape of a reversed
hook, the silk imitating the color of that
gorgeous flower.

Feathers seem to have disappeared,
although small bunches of black plumes
are always used, often combined
directly with flowers.

Many tiny wings stick out at unex-
pected corners on bonnets; not always
real bird wings, but artificial wings of
every conceivable kind.

Leg-o'-mutton and bishop sleeves will
be very popular in any summer textures,
the styles being more appropriate to
them than to thick stuffs.

Boxes for small photographs are of
cardboard handworked with beads in
lotus flowers and papyrus, and adorned
with bows of embroidered kid.

Tulle in every color and dotted with
fine or coarse spangles in blue, green,
gold, or silver is much used in trimming
toques as well as the large forms.

Nearly all the woolen striped goods
show a curious ribbed effect. Cheyrons
weave in many variations are seen in the
cheviots and all of them are beautiful.

One of the prettiest things in embroidery which comes from Paris is a
charming combination of gros-grain
ribbon with the old embroidery stitch in
floss silk.

The suede pocket-book and card-case,
with clasps and corners of embossed
silver, have given way to larger books
made of fine seal, alligator, log and calf
skin.

A round skirt with a coat with
laques is very ugly. For little street
skirts the hem will still be turned up
and stitched on the outside, as has been
done for some time.

ROBIN ADAIR.

Lippincott's.

The hero of the popular song of
"Robin Adair," which is attributed to
Lady Caroline Keppel, was Robert
Adair, a surgeon (1710-1790), well
known in the London fashionable circles
of the eighteenth century as the "Fortunate Irishman."

His devotion in an early amour drove
him from Dublin to London. On his way he fell in with a

My Case is a Miracle!

PRAISE GOD, I AM WELL!!

LEWISTON, ME., OCT. 28, 1890.

DANA SARGAPARILLA CO.—

Gentlemen: Over two years ago I have been a great sufferer with weakness peculiar to my sex. I would have for days at a time a terrible bearing-down feeling, accompanied by great exhaustion and severe pain in back and limbs. I would go to bed fatigued, and rise in the morning more exhausted than when I retired. Often after rising I would have a period of trembling, until at last my nerves were in a state of complete prostration. I would have little or no appetite. Almost constant headache, accompanied by strange sensations, etc. Such was my condition when I first heard of DANA'S SARGAPARILLA. Though I am but forty-three years of age, yet my hair is gray, and I look like a person near sixty years old.

While visiting my daughter, Mrs. Hardy, in Bangor, Me., she persuaded me to try a bottle of DANA'S SARGAPARILLA, and to please her I did so. That bottle helped me a little. The second one gave me a good appetite, and caused me to rest better nights. I continued to use it, and continued to improve, till I had taken eleven bottles. And, praise God, I am WELL! IT HAS CURED ME! I feel like a new person. I have increased in flesh from ninety-one pounds to a hundred and forty-six pounds, and enjoy life once more. MY CASE IS A MIRACLE, and I will do all I can to tell others.

Yours with respect,
ELIZABETH A. BROWN.

FREIGHTS AND CHARTERS.

Boston, May 14.—Fixtures have continued on a limited scale throughout the past week, and rates remain about as previously quoted. Spot sailing tonnage is but slightly in excess of requirements, however, and a few warm days would stimulate the ice movement sufficiently to clean up what little there is in port.

A Free Bicycle.

The people are called upon to vote again. J. F. Gregory & Son propose to give a Safety Bicycle to the chap getting the largest number of votes. These contests always create a great deal of enthusiasm and we are looking for a pleasant competition.

A CLEAN BUSINESS

And a Good Pay Roll

A Chance for Rockland.

Rust, Mowry, Payson Co. of this city, have received communication from the firm of Browning, King & Co., clothing manufacturers, New York, in regard to establishing a large clothing factory in Rockland. The local company now employ about seventy-five persons in the manufacture of pants. The new concern propose to employ about 350 men and women, pay ten per cent more wages than is now allowed and guarantee a yearly pay roll of $50,000 for a term of years. It would be necessary to erect a suitable structure for the business and it is said that such a building would cost about $15,000.

Whatever may be the short comings of the C. O., it certainly has never been found wanting when the opportunity occurred to say a word in favor of a new industry in our city. Unfortunately the aforesaid new industries have been few and far between but the hour for a break has now come and if we fail to catch on while there is a chance, all of us, old and young, rich and poor, big business or small will have cause to repent. But this must not be, all should put their shoulder to the wheel and give the project a try, not with wind alone but with good hard dollars in the shape of a subscription. Rockland needs and must have some business in order to keep our young people at home and to induce others to move in. As we all know the lime industry at certain seasons of the year is dormant and at such time, having no work, money is scarce with all that depend on the kilns for a livelihood. If we can get some business that runs the whole year, every branch of business will receive benefit from their pay roll. If this project fails through we are likely to lose the Mowry Payson industry, for the New York firm have a location treaty guaranteed them in case Rockland "sours" and the local firm son will probably follow them. We certainly cannot afford, through lack of energy, to let this chance slip away, and to lose one already established, and doing much good, would be doubly unfortunate.

The Board of trade held a meeting last evening, President F. C. Knight in the chair. S. A. Burpee was chosen secretary, pro tem. Question of a proposition from Browning, King & Co. of New York regarding a clothing factory was brought before the board by Pres. Knight. As stated in the foregoing the New York firm desires a suitable building erected also steam boiler, electric motor, and heating apparatus for same. They to furnish all machinery used in manufacturing.

The New York firm in addition to guarantee regarding pay roll, agree to forfeit 6 per cent on cost of building in case they do not carry out this agreement or fail to continue the business for period named. The property would be kept insured by them which insurance, in case of fire, would go to owners of property.

It was suggested that a stock company with a capital of $15,000 be formed to erect a factory. The following gentlemen were appointed as a committee to take the matter in hand and report at a future meeting: Samuel Bryant, chairman; Hon. E. A. Butler, E. W. Berry, W. T. Cobb, F. C. Knight, S. A. Burpee, James Donahue and W. S. White. Remarks were called for and enthusiastic speeches in favor of the factory were made by the following gentlemen, viz: President F. C. Knight, Hon. Saml. Bryant, Hon. E. A. Butler, E. W. Berry, H. H. Crie, James Donahue, M. W. Mowry, T. E. Simonton, J. S. Rowe, C. M. Walker, F. M. Shaw, O. E. Blackington, H. N. Keene, M. A. Johnson and others. A committee was appointed to solicit subscription for stock, as follows, viz: F. M. Shaw, chairman, C. A. Rose and Rodney Fye.

An informal vote was taken to see who would take stock and nearly all present signified their willingness to do so.

The meeting throughout was strongly in favor of the plan proposed and we hope to see the factory backward will be taken in the matter, C. O. in and win.

CHARITY WITH A VENGEANCE.

The Red Tape of a Kingston Institution May Cost a Poor Man His Life.

KINGSTON, N. Y., May 14, 1891.—A case of extreme inhumanity in which a prominent official of this city is the leading spirit has just come to light. Last Thursday night the schooner Thomas Borden, of Rockland, Me., arrived at this port for a cargo of cement. During the voyage from Maine Warren Judding, the steward of the vessel, was taken sick with the grip and when the boat reached Wilbur in the Roundout Creek he was suffering severely from its after effects.

Dr. W. Connolly, a leading physician, was summoned. Seeing that the man was in a critical condition and needed constant care and treatment such as he could not well receive on the vessel he ordered a cab and sent him to the city almshouse. On reaching there Superintendent William R. Scott refused to admit him on the doctor's certificate and insisted that he should be committed to the institution by one of the regularly chosen city physicians.

Dr. Connolly offered to pay for the stranger's board and treatment, but even then the superintendent would not receive Judding nor allow him to be seated in his office for a couple of hours while legal or other steps to be taken to secure his entrance.

An order from Mayor Kraft was obtained authorizing and directing the superintendent to receive and give the stranger proper treatment, and to send the bill to the Common Council for his maintenance and attendance. This order Superintendent Scott refused to honor on the ground that the Mayor had no authority in the matter.

In the mean time Judding was driven back to the vessel in an exhausted condition and had to be carried on board to bed. Commissioner Turner was subsequently seen and issued an order to admit the sick steward but he was so feeble it was not deemed advisable to again remove him. Today he is sinking rapidly and the chances are that he cannot live long. His present trouble is pulmonary consumption, superinduced by the grip.

A fleet of twelve fishing boats landed 20,000 lbs. of cod, haddock and hake for Stephen Chase & Co. last Friday morning.

Sch. Henri N. Woods brought in 13,300 of cod and 1000 lbs. of halibut from the Georges, for Stephen Chase & Co., one day last week.

The small boat fishermen of Cape Elizabeth have been doing well lately. Cod and haddock are plenty off the Cape and the boats return with large fares which bring high prices.

Amusements and Announcements.

The Opera House will be open for skating this evening.

Prof. Rankin will be in the city next week to arrange for opening his class in dancing.

The Burglar Company with A. G. Lipham in the title role and Valie Egar as "Editha" will be a strong attraction.

The Heroes and Battlefields of the Civil War, under the auspices of Edwin Linby Post, at the Opera House Wednesday night.

The South-end knitting bee will meet with Mrs. Elish Hall at her new house on Mechanic street next Wednesday evening, 20th.

Lathrop's Boston Stock Co., with Max Freeman and Miss Kate Rober in leading roles, is booked for May 29 at the Opera House.

Remember Mrs. Thorndike's levee and ball at Farwell hall next Tuesday evening, May 26th. It is a worthy object and should be well patronized.

The Ladies Sewing Circle are to give a supper and concert in the basement of St. Bernard's Catholic church next Thursday evening. This promises to be a very enjoyable occasion and all are invited to attend.

Mr. Gus. C. Knight, of Belfast who is to open classes in banjo and mandolin in this city, is the son of G. L. Knight, and is a most competent and thorough instructor on those instruments. Any information about the classes, prices, etc., can be had by calling on E. P. Sullivan at the Rockland News Co's store.

The music at the Salvini play, under the direction of Prof. Meservey, was greatly enjoyed by the large audience present. The programme was as follows:

Overture—Salutation, Walz—Sweet Smiles, Grand Selection from the Opera Sonnambula, Gavotte—The Lover's Dream, Schottische—The Darkey's Dream, Lament.

The Smith & Grady players, at Farwell hall last evening were greeted by a larger house than on their previous appearance. The drama "Queen's Evidence" was presented in a very satisfactory manner, and was well received by the audience. Next Monday the company appears in the great extravaganza.

"Fun on the Bristol." Give them a big house; the prices are only 15, 25 and 35 cts, so you can afford to go.

It hardly seems to be necessary to mention the merit that abounds in "Old Jed Fronty" of Bucksport, but, "he and hisen" are coming to Rockland and will be seen and heard in Farwell Hall the 22d of this month (Friday) and the merits of the play will be passed on by some eight hundred people who will laugh until their sides ache. Dora Wiley "The Sweet Singer of Maine" will be with the party. Tickets are, now on sale, Mr. Jas. P. Forrest of Bangor was in the city a few days since making all the required arrangements.

Mr. John Lloyd, possessing one of the most beautiful Tenor voices ever heard in this country, has just been engaged by the management of the Boston Symphony Orchestra Club for the tour of the coming season, which will hereafter have two great singers instead of only one as heretofore associated with the orchestra company. Miss Laura Barnham, the prima donna, with a beautiful high soprano voice and marvelous execution, is the latest addition made to this company. There is a strong probability of this company, with eight great artists, appearing in this city during the coming season.

That bright little actress, Miss Louise Hamilton is to return to Rockland this week for three nights at the Opera House, opening Thursday night with the musical comedy Polly; Friday night presenting The Little Treasure; Saturday night, Capitola. Since their appearance here they have played in nearly all the principal cities and towns in the state, receiving flattering notices wherever they have appeared. Miss Hamilton is supported by an excellent company, the musical portion of the performance being under the direction of a fine pianist. In short, the entertainments given by these artists are well calculated to please a popular audience, and are such as a conscientious critic can cheerfully recommend to an appreciative public. The prices are placed at 15, 25 and 35 cts.

A fine audience composed of Rockland's best people greeted Alexander Salvini at the Opera House Wednesday night. Mr. Salvini appeared in "The Three Guardsmen," as D'Artagnan, a part that is particularly well suited to this robust, active actor, and his presence on the stage has the effect of inspiring the other actors, who are all good. The second act, where he becomes allied with "The Three Guardsmen," fairly carried the audience, and won a round of applause seldom heard in Rockland theatres; and in the fourth act where he leaps from the cabin of the ship to swim ashore aroused the audience to the extent of a call for the actor before the curtain. Such actors as Mr. Salvini are seldom seen in Rockland, and Manager Holmes of the Opera House has won the good opinion of Rockland theatre goers for affording them a privilege that only the larger cities have heretofore enjoyed. It was a big undertaking.

The invitations for the Graduation Ball of Class of '91, B. H. S., are to be issued this week. The committee having the ball in charge have shown excellent judgement in selecting the famous Naval Battalion Band and Orchestra of Boston for the concert and ball. The orchestra is second to none in Mass., while the soloists are an attraction in themselves. Mr. Greene, for a recent performance has received the following flattering notice:

Mr. Henry A. Greene, the American Bottesini, performed an exceedingly difficult fantasia for the contra bass, the most ungrateful member of the string family. His last night's performance, while it proved a positive novelty in itself, was a public recognition of abilities of a very high order. To sustain even a fair degree of technique upon the contra bass, with its large, coarse strings, increased distance and sluggish vibrations, implies incessant application, and we might say resignation; but to be able to execute well after the manner of the virtuoso of the violin is an almost herculean undertaking. Mr. Greene is an artist, and it was well to demonstrate in public that we possessed so unique a performer.

Granite Chips.

Howard & Green, Bluehill, recently finished, at their granite works, a fine soldiers' monument for Shirley, Mass. The monument was hauled from Bluehill to Ellsworth, by ten horses and was shipped by rail to its place of destination. It is a fine piece of work and a credit to the manufacturers.

The Mt. Waldo Granite Works are doing an active business and are shipping large quantities of stone, having already loaded eight large vessels this season. At Hayward Pierce's granite works three more derricks are being put in place and 100 men, four horses and eight oxen are kept busily employed.

LAUNCHING ON LAND.

Capt. Hurley's New Two-Story Building Takes a Drop—A Frightened Lot of Passengers, but no Lives Lost—All About the Catastrophe.

The building erected this season by Capt. W. P. Hurley on the Lindsey privilege at the South-end is in trouble. The structure is two stories in height and was used as a store, being well stocked with groceries and miscellaneous goods. The building sat upon cedar posts—those in the rear being about six feet above ground. Last Saturday the wind came, and the rain fell, also the building. Capt. Hurley and several other gentlemen were in the store when the launching commenced and a wild scramble for the open air and liberty took place. Nobody was injured. The building slid downward and backward five or six feet and stopped, the posts spreading and breaking until finally it reached terra firma and stopped on a sharp angle. The chimneys broke off, scattering the bricks around like hail, the windows were somewhat smashed but the fact that the building stood the test so well is evidence that it was well put together.

Inside the store confusion reigned on deck. Everything lay in the lee scuppers. Molasses and syrup, corn, flour and grain, eggs and soap were thrown in friendly heaps together and it looked as though a western cyclone had been fooling around in that vicinity. Capt. Hurley had contracted to have a cellar and build a foundation under the store at an early day, but it was delayed too long. The space under the store had been used some of late by the workmen on the kiln and about the property as a storage place for the tools and materials such as cement, lime, etc. It is a fortunate thing that none of the men were under the building when it fell—although some of them had been there but a short time previous. The structure will be raised and placed back in its original position.

The bids for the construction of a new engine house and machine shop for the Limerock Railroad Co., were acted upon and contract for erection of the same was awarded to W. H. Glover & Co. of this city. The building will be 40x65 feet and is to be used by the corporation as a general construction and repair shop. Tracks will be laid through the building and everything about the place will be arranged in a first-class manner. It is understood that Day & Morse, the machinists, will remove from their present shop and locate in the new building, where they will carry on business as heretofore, in addition to the Railroad Co's work. Out of town jobs coming by water can be discharged at R. R. wharf and loaded aboard cars which will run direct to the shops.
