Not less important, however, is the election of a trustee officer, is fixing of a suitable compensation for his services. The State law of 1905 says: "The municipal officers shall receive the compensation of the trustee

New England Clothing House

The season for Fall and Winter goods has advanced far enough to clearly demonstrate where to buy Men's and Boys' Clothing when a comparison is made of the goods from other stores. Judging from the steady increase our business shows each month over the corresponding period in previous years, our claim that we offer the most stylish, most reliable goods at lower price than any clothing store in this city we believe to be an assured fact.

An Associated Press despatch of Wednesday states that Henry A. Stanton of Rockland, cook on the steamer Sawyer, was struck by the boom while the craft was in mid-stream, North River, New York, and knocked overboard. A careful search was made for the body but at last accounts had not been recovered.

Mr. Stanton was a native of South Thomaston, but had resided in this city several years and began his career in the mercantile business in the city of New York. He was a young man of excellent character and disposition and the news of his untimely fate was learned with feelings of deep regret on the part of the friends.

Through Philip Howard, his Rockland attorney, George H. Goebel of New York, N. Y., has brought suit in the sum of $10,000 against the Boston & Bangor Steamship Co. Through his alleged action upon the part of the steamboat officials, he claims to have been delayed from fulfilling an important engagement, and this together with the bruises and mortification resulting from his expulsion justify him, he feels in setting the damages at $10,000. CLEANING AND TRUSSING TURKEY.

If you are near a good market where your Thanksgiving turkey can be dressed and sent to you almost ready for the oven you may never have stopped to ask how the dressing is accomplished. Let us suppose that some kind friend sends you in a gift a turkey that has been picked but not dressed (the condition most poultry now reaches the market) and then you need knowledge and need it badly indeed.

I hold it to be the duty of everyone to be prepared for just such emergencies and so will try and tell you how to clean and truss your holiday bird.

To begin, first pull out carefully all the pin feathers and singe the bird over a fire of lighted paper turning it on every side so as to remove all the hairs. With a cleaver or large knife cut off the head and with a smaller instrument carefully remove the oil sack. If the drumsticks are to be roasted the sinews and tendons should be removed and this can be done by drawing them out by means of a hook after the skin has been cut around just below the joint.

The leg may be unjointed but it is better to break the bone just below the joint and thus sever the foot from the leg. When the bird is roasted it is easy to remove this piece of bone and leave the turkey a clean white joint.

Cut a slit in the loose skin of the neck, loosen the windpipe and crop and remove with a steady pull, being careful not to break the crop. Next cut a two-inch slit just above the vent, insert the fingers, loosen the membrane as much as possible from the walls of the cavity, grasp firmly the largest object you can feel, which will be the gizzard, and draw steadily out. With a little practice you will find that you will thus remove the intestinal mass intact. Draw all clear of the body and with a knife cut around the vent and remove it with the large intestine.

When you have made sure that the cavity is clear, wipe the entire interior with two soft cloths the first wet in cold water, the last dry. This is much better than washing as you do not in this way injure the flavor.

The bird is now ready for stuffing which should be used to fill the cavity and so made as to keep the meat moist. Do not crowd it in as a good stuffing always swells in cooking. Remember also that a trussing needle will now must be a long one. Turn the tips of the wings under the upper joints; run the needle through wings and body to the opposite side then back again a half or three-quarters of an inch from the first stitch, draw up the two ends of the twine and tie firmly.

The thighs should be pressed well up on the side of the body and then treated in the same way as the wings and the end of the drumsticks then stitched together. The advantage of this style of trussing is the ease with which the strings may be removed by simply cutting them on the opposite side from which they are tied and pulling them through by the knots.

Brush over the bird with melted butter and dust with salt and pepper before putting in the oven. The oven should be very hot when the turkey is first put in and should be kept in that condition for at least the first fifteen minutes, then the oven may be slower. Careful basting is essential to success in cooking a turkey.

LOUIS ROIE.
Recipes From Many Sources and Acknowledged Worth.

ENGLISH MUFFINS.
Dissolve one yeast cake in one pint of warm water and add one teaspoonful of salt. Stir in sufficient sifted bread flour to make a thick drop batter; add one tablespoonful of melted butter and heat hard for at least three minutes. Cover and set in a warm place until light; then, having the griddle moderately hot, lay on it well-greased rings, and drop in enough batter to half fill them. Do not turn until almost cooked through, then slip off the rings and brown on the other side.

BAKED BANANAS.
Strip off one third of the skin of each banana, and with a spoon loosen the remainder around the fruit. Arrange in a baking pan, the stripped side upmost. On each lay one half of a teaspoonful of butter cut into bits, and sprinkle with one teaspoonful sugar, and one-half of a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Put in the pan one tablespoonful of water for each banana, and bake in a hot oven until the fruit is tender—about twenty minutes.

GAME PIE.

Grouse and quails together make a delicious Christmas pie. Clean and wash the birds; cut the quails in halves, the grouse in four pieces. Turn off the inferior portions—necks, lower ribs, etc., and put them with the giblets into a sauce pan with a pint and a half of water. If your pie requires six birds. While this is stewing, make a good puff paste, and line a large pudding dish, reserving enough for a lid at least half an inch thick. When the livers are tender take them out, leaving the gravy to stew in the covered sauce pan. Lard the breasts of the birds with thin strips of salt pork, and mince a couple of slices of the same with livers, a bunch of parsley and thyme, also chopped fine, the juice of a lemon, pepper, and a very small amount of salt. Make a force meat of this, with bread crumbs moistened with warm milk. Put some thin slices of cold corned (not smoked) ham in the bottom of the pie, next the crust; lay upon these pieces of the bird, peppered and buttered, then a large layer of the force meat, and so on until you are ready for the gravy. Strain this, return to the fire and season; heat to a boil, pour into the pie and cover with the upper crust, cutting a slit in the middle. Ornament with pastry leaves arranged about the edge to form a wreath, and in the middle a pastry bird, with curled strips of pastry about it. The last should be baked separately and laid on when the pie is done, to cover the hole in the middle. Bake three hours if your pie is large, covering with paper if it threatens to brown too fast.

FRUIT CAKE.
Cream one-half cup butter, add gradually one cup brown sugar, two eggs well beaten and one-half cup coffee. Mix and add one and one-half cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon cinnamon and one-quarter teaspoon each nutmeg, mace and clove. Add to the first mixture and beat thoroughly. Then add one-half cup raisins, seeded and cut fine, one-third of a cup finely cut citron, and one-third of a cup finely chopped eggs, dredged with one tablespoonful of flour. Bake in a moderate oven one and one-half hours.

PEACH PUDDING.
Drain off the syrup from one can of peaches; add to it one tin of cornstarch and sugar to taste. The amount will depend upon how much the fruit was sweetened in canning. Boil the syrup and skin until clear. Then stir into it, one-third as much cornstarch, then add Graham flour. Wet the flour first in a little cold water. Stir it as it thickens, and let it cook ten minutes. Put the peaches into a deep dish and pour the thickened syrup over them. Serve cold with cream.

FIG CAKE.
Two cups of sugar, two-thirds of a cup of butter, one cup of milk, four even cups of flour, five eggs, two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, one of soda, sifted with the flour; mix the butter and sugar until creamed, add the unbeaten yolks of the eggs, add the milk and the flour slowly, beating all the time, lastly the whites of the eggs. Flavor two cups of chopped figs and mix in. Bake quickly.

MOLASSES COOKIES.
Heat one cup molasses to boiling point, and pour it over one-half cup shortening; add one tablespoonful of soda dissolved in two tablespoonfuls warm milk. Then add two cups flour mixed and sifted with one and one-half teaspoonful salt, one-half teaspoonful each of clove and nutmeg, and three-quarters of a teaspoonful of cinnamon. When thoroughly mixed, chill, and roll as thin as possible.

EGG SALAD.
Twelve hard boiled eggs, one-half pint cream, butter the size of an egg, a little parsley, chopped fine, one tablespoonful of flour. Take cream, butter, parsley and flour, mix and cook until thick. Slice the eggs, and after each layer of eggs, add one of bread crumbs, over which pour the cream to cover. When the dish is full, bake until brown. Garnish with parsley and serve hot.

DEATH'S CONQUEST.

I so loved one, when Death came for him And all my sweetest treasures she undid To make my hiding place.

The dread shade passed me thus unheeding and I turned me then To calm my love—down her shielding hand And comfort her again.

And, lo! she answered I not, and she did sit All lonely, with her face and the sweet smile of it, In love with Death, not me.

Longfellow's House.

In speaking of Longfellow's house in Nahant, which was burned the other day, the Boston Transcript says: "The house where Mr. Longfellow spent his summers for 25 years, from 1857 until his death in 1882, was at first rented by him of Mr. Thomas Wetmore of Beacon street and purchased, with his brother-in-law, Mr. T. G. Appleton, after the death of Mr. Wetmore in 1860. Until the death of Mr. Longfellow, in 1882, he was always, during the season (except in 1868 and 1869, when he was abroad), in the brown cottage by the willows on the village street, with its sea views and sea breezes. This was the house where a number of years before Motley wrote the first chapters of the 'Dutch Republic.'"

Why He Wouldn't
Had a Very Good Reason But Waited to be Asked What It Was.

"Will you be kind enough to take that sack off the seat?" said a gentleman who got into a train.

"No, sir, I don't propose to do anything of the sort," replied the traveler, who was sitting on the other side of the seat.

"Do you say that you are going to let that sack stay there?"

"Yes, sir, I do."

WHY HE WOULDN'T

"In case you don't remove that sack I shall be under the painful necessity of calling the conductor."

"You can call the conductor, engineer and all the brakemen if you want to. Perhaps you had better stop and telephone to the general manager about it."

"The conductor will put you off the train."

"I don't care if he does. I'm not going to take that sack from the place where it is."

The indignant passenger went along the train, and soon returned with the conductor.

"So you refuse to remove the sack, do you?" asked he.

"Yes, do you persist in refusing to remove the sack?"

"Because it is not mine."

"Why didn't you say so at once?"

"Because nobody asked me."

A New Ending.
Merritt—I had an awfully embarrassing thing happen to me this afternoon. I was walking with a girl when a sudden gust of wind blew off my hat and sent it kiting up the middle of the street.

Giles—You surely weren't fool enough to run after it? You know there is always sure to be some obliging stranger who will chase it for you.

Merritt—So I'd always heard. But a girl began laughing at my predicament, and said I'd have to do some scorching to beat the wind.

Giles—Well, of course, she was a girl and didn't know that some other fellow would do the scorching for her.

Merritt—In the meantime a man had been chasing it up the block, and when the hat scurried around the first corner he knew it was his, for he was running like a Spaniard.

Giles—Just as I told you.

Merritt—I continued very leisurely, and when I got to the corner—

Giles—There was the obliging man with your hat.

Merritt—No. Both the man and the hat had disappeared.

A Long Shot.
Johnny—Paw, will you gimme a nickel?

Father—What for?

Johnny—I want to put it in a slot machine and see if I can't get a dollar.

Father—And what will you do with the dollar?

Johnny—Buy a ticket in a raffle for a bicycle.

Self-Sacrificing.

"Do you promise if we are married you'll give up smoking?"

"Yes."

"And drinking and card playing?"

"Yes."

"And you'll give up your club?"

"Yes."

"Are there any other foolish things that you'll give up, too?"

"Yes, I'll give up marrying."

ONLY ONE GRADE—THE BEST.

CAMDEN.

The death of the Rt. Rev. Henry A. Neely, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Maine, which occurred Monday night, was not unexpected but brought sincere regret to all who knew him, and especially to those who were associated with him in St. Thomas church at Camden. The little church and dear old Camden I love so well, he often said, most touchingly. Expressions of heartfelt sympathy are being sent from far and near to Mrs. Neely, who, although an invalid for many years has been untiring in her devotion all through Bishop Neely's long illness. On Thursday night the clergy of the Diocese watched over the body, and the funeral took place today, at noon, attended by the Bishops of many of the Dioceses in this section of the country.

Word comes from a reliable source that the Rockland, Thomaston & Camden Street Railway contemplate building a line from Camden to Northport. It is believed that the line will be built, and it seems too good to be true, and yet, many are already beginning to croak from fear it may go by their residence, or otherwise "upset the town."

The object of the entertainment is to increase the gymnasium fund, and the Camden people would be well advised to encourage so worthy an object.

The bottle burst, letting both hands down on the ragged glass, inflicting six quite large cuts besides several smaller ones. Dr. Plummer of Union was summoned and dressed the wounds. One cut in the wrist had to have several stitches taken in it; the wounds had also to be probed for broken glass. In Theatrical Circles.

Items of Interest As Well As Coming Events At the Farwell Opera House.

The bookings being made by Manager Crockett means that the patrons of Farwell opera house are going to be treated with some rare attractions during the cold season. The patronage makes Mr. Crockett feel warranted in securing some of the very best companies on the road.

The Lyceum Comedy Stock Company has been booked for Farwell opera house for the evenings of Feb. 22, 23 and 24. This company will come here from New York and will play popular prices. The plays will not be of the namby pamby kind but will be first class in every particular. We are requested to announce that this will positively be the best repertoire company ever appearing in our city.

Another company booked for late in the season is Fitz and Webster in "The Breezy Time," a musical farce that is now convulsing with laughter crowded houses nightly. There are twenty people in the company and the organization has its own band and orchestra. The piece is brim full of specialties of the right kind, and there are numerous other things to make the evening pass away pleasantly.

Manager Crockett believes that the people demand Uncle Tom's Cabin at least once a year, so he has made arrangements for the appearance here on the evening of Dec. 12 of Midway's Mammoth Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. There will be a white band, a colored band and a colored drum corps, together with Topsy, Marks, bloodhounds, "donkeys" and colored folks in plentiful numbers. The ladies and children—and the men—all like Uncle Tom's Cabin for there is an attraction to this piece that never grows old or threadbare. There will only be one Uncle Tom's Cabin at Farwell opera house this season and Dec. 12 is the date.

An attraction of more than usual importance that Manager Crockett has secured is Hi Henry's Minstrels, booked for Farwell opera house for the evening of Nov. 27. The booking was made Tuesday by telegraph and Mr. Crockett, as well as the theatre-going public of Rockland and vicinity, is to be congratulated. This is undoubtedly the best minstrel organization on the road in this country. The company travels in two special cars, has a band of forty pieces and an orchestra of twenty-six pieces. It has cost the management considerable to get this attraction but no doubt on the appearance of the company here standing room only will be at a premium.

On next Wednesday evening "The Devil's Auction" will be the play of the patrons of Farwell opera house. This is the same company as was here a year ago. Those who went then—and there were hundreds—went home thoroughly delighted with their evening's entertainment. This year with the same company the enthusiasm should run considerably higher for presence of electric lights, the house will greatly enhance the effectiveness of the production, which is of a spectacular nature. Pretty girls—and a number of them—clever men, good singing, and a number of the best acrobats, superb scenery, lighting changes, startling stage effects, lively action and everything in motion means an evening of unusual enjoyment. "The Devil's Auction" is no stranger to our people and we predict a full house for next Wednesday evening. This company is under the management of Charles Hyale, who is also manager of "The Evil Eye" and "The Three Temptations." All three attractions have met with deserved popularity on the road.

"The American Girl" is coming December 1. Give her a good reception.

"The Sleeping City" is not a sleepy play by any means but rather is replete with life and action. It is a comedy-drama and has a decided snap from beginning to end. The piece abounds in funny as well as stirring situations. It is booked for Farwell opera house for Tuesday evening, Nov. 14.

The reception tendered "The Real Widow Brown" at Farwell opera house Monday evening was such a genuine expression of approval as to bring a blush to the youthful cheeks of the "widow." Every seat in the house was sold before the curtain went up for the first act and more than 100 "standing up" seats were also sold. The managers of first-class companies acknowledge Rockland to be the best show town of its size on the circuit. Monday night the audience went home perfectly satisfied, having seen a performance that was laughable to the limit. It was a strong company in every respect.

"The Dazzler"—Cosgrove and Grant's comedians in the "New Dazzler" were seen last night at Music Hall by a very large audience, which included friends and admirers of the play and its manager, John F. Cosgrove, and its musical director, William Way. For a first performance by the new aggregation it was an instantaneous success and went with a dash and snap from the rise of the curtain in the first act to the finale in the closing scene of the last act. "The Dazzler" is sparkling with new musical gems and the pretty girls who sang, looked radiantly beautiful in their new and handsome costumes, designed expressly for this season's tour. Three more performances of this comedy will be given tonight, tomorrow afternoon and evening—Lovel Sun. This company will appear at Farwell opera house, Nov. 11.

Dramatists of established reputation write plays only upon order. Their ordinary preparations are five hundred dollars upon the delivery of a scenario, and five hundred dollars more upon the completion of a play. "If the finished work does not realize expectations," writes Franklin Pyles, of "The Theatre and Its People" in the November Ladies' Home Journal, "or if the manager for any other reason does not desire to put it on the stage, the money paid is forfeited and the ownership reverts to the author. But if the manager decides to produce the piece the author receives a percentage of the gross receipts and the balance of the cost, payable weekly, after the amount previously advanced has been deducted. Ordinarily it increases with the amount of money taken in. More than one native drama has earned one hundred thousand dollars for its author. A dozen have yielded fifty thousand dollars each; three times as many, twenty-five thousand dollars, and a goodly number, ten thousand dollars."

JESUS IN BUSINESS.

What the Immediate Result Would Be of Following His Precepts.

The author of "In His Steps," Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, writing on "Is Christianity Practical in Business Affairs?" in the November Ladies' Home Journal, contends that "the immediate result of applying Christ's teachings to everyday life would, without any question, be the actual loss of almost everything in the way of money, and social position, and political power for vast numbers of persons who are now rich, or successful or powerful through the exercise of selfishness; that, in a Christian method of life, I have not the slightest doubt that if the merchants of Philadelphia, for example, should begin at once to do as Jesus taught, they would be bankrupted for very many of them, perhaps for the majority. If not bankrupted, then enormous losses would follow. This fact alone would prove that Christianity cannot be applied to modern business; it would simply prove that modern business does not square with the teachings of Christianity. That this is so business men themselves frankly confess. The statement so often made, that the Golden Rule cannot be made to work in business, is not a confession of the foolishness of the Golden Rule, but of the selfishness of the business world."

CLEVELAND COAT OF ARMS.

E. L. Cleveland, of Houlton, the prominent potato dealer of Aroostook, and a former resident of this section, has received from his brother, W. A. Cleveland, of Salem, Mass., the Cleveland coat of arms. It comes through Sir Guy de Cleveland, who was commander of spearmen in the 13th century of the battle of Poitiers, and at the siege of Boulogne, and who was knighted for his bravery. The description of the coat of arms is as follows: The support or chevron is sable and ensigned with a chevron ensigned. The crest is a demi-onion, habited as a knight in armor, holding a sword aloft. The motto is "Pro deo et patria." The present family holding the coat of arms were descendants from Moses Cleveland, who came to this country in 1635 and settled in Woburn, Mass., taking the Freeman's oath in 1643. The family name was derived from the town of Cleveland in Durham county, England, the name being a corruption of "Cliff" and "Land," and is of English origin. Mr. Cleveland prizes the family coat of arms very highly.

WOMEN do suffer!
Even so-called healthy women suffer!
But they are not healthy!
The marks left by pain are on the young faces of many of our daughters. Pain that leaves its mark comes from a curable cause. If that cause is not removed its influence reaches out and overshadows a whole life. The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so uniformly successful for over a quarter of a century in overcoming the suffering of women, is that it is thorough and goes directly to the cause. It is a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

MUST WOMEN SUFFER?

Miss Emily F. Haas, of 148 Freeman St., Greenpoint, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I wish to state that I used your Vegetable Compound with the greatest success. I was very sick for nearly a year with hysteria, was down-hearted and nervous; also suffered with painful menstruation and pain in back and limbs. I often wished for death, thinking nothing would cure me. I had doctors, but their medicines did me no good. At last, by the advice of a friend, I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am happy to say it has entirely cured me."

JENNIE SHERMAN, of Fremont, Mich., Box 748, writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I feel that I must write you and tell you what your medicine has done for me. I had neuralgia of the stomach for two years, so bad that I could not do any work. I had two or three doctors, but did not seem to get any better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and improved from the first, had better appetite, and after taking three bottles of Compound and one box of Liver Pills, can say that I am cured. Your Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine."

THE OUTLANDER FRANCHISE.

An old Bristol Channel shipmaster who sailed a packet in steam up his command at a South African port to tempt fortune anew in the Rand, asked me the other day: "What benefit should I gain by ceasing to be an 'Outlander' and becoming a duly enfranchised burgher?" "I have been on the Rand now for thirteen years," said he, "and I have made $35,000 out of my $20,000 of savings. I could not do this if I were still an 'Outlander.' According to the programme—the official programme of Sir Alfred Milner and the Colonial Secretary—I should be required to forego my allegiance to the Queen, and submit to all the laws of the Transvaal in regard to commanding. I could become a burgher on the seven years' retrospective franchise. And then I, who have fought the sea most of my life, might be called upon to take up arms, as a citizen of the South African Republic, against the very peoples, not excluding the English, who enabled me to make my money—From the Mariner."

HIGH PRAISE FOR TRUE'S ELIXIR.

Thousands of endorsements from the medical profession have been given to Dr. True's Elixer since its establishment in 1831. One of the latest of these is contained in the following letter:

DR. J. F. TRUE, DEAR DOCTOR: The records of our institution showing the clinical results of the use of a kind of character, fully demonstrate the "remedial value" of Dr. True's Elixer. For the result there is contained in the following letter:

MR. J. E. LILLY, a prominent member of the medical profession, has written a wonderful letter from a "rightful death." In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Epilepsy, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. Nothing helped me. I expected the end of my life. I heard of Dr. True's Elixer, and I bought a bottle. I continued to use it and now am well and strong. I can't say too much for this medicine. It is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble. Regular sizes 25 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at F. H. Donahue Drug Store, Rockland; G. L. Robinson Drug Co., Portland; Rose & Chandler, Camden. Every bottle guaranteed."

PARKER'S HAIR BALM

A WALDOBORO QUINTETTE.

Andrew Newbert of Waldoboro has a looking-glass 100 years old. Nearly $10,000 was paid out to the farmers in the vicinity of Waldoboro at the corn-canning factory last week. Booth Bros. & Hurricane Granite company's pay roll, Waldoboro, for the month ending Oct. 15, was about $8,000. Alonzo Sidersparker, of Waldoboro, has a stone mortar and pestle made and used by the Indians, which is quite a curiosity. He got it in the far west. The annual fair of the North Waldoboro M. E. church, which was held last week, was one of the most pleasant affairs ever held in that place. The proceeds far exceeded all expectations, footing up $110. This will go a long way to liquidate the church debt.

SATISFY YOUR APPETITE.

When going on your picnic or sailing on the bay, Your appetite no doubt increase in an English, who enable me to make my money—From the Mariner.

But if you go before you start to C. E. Rising's store, And buy some pastry and fresh bread, All kinds of sandwiches make according to your order, Which can't be beat by any man on old Maine's rocky border.

If you have lived about these shores For any length of time, You've eaten New Domestic Bread eight cases out of nine; For it's the leader in the trade and sells like hot cakes, too. To beat it out one whit is hard for anyone to do.

At shore resorts, hotels and stores, You'll find it everywhere; No more the housewife cooks until with heat she's nearly dead— But buys from C. E. Rising's carts, which carry all around. All establishments are the best in Rockland to be found.

BELFAST.

Asa A. Howes has returned from a business trip to Rockland. F. E. Cottrell has been in Belfast during the past few days, from Camden, making the trip to Rockland, where he has resided in the past. He is now employed in the Bean shipyard.

Mrs. John S. Fernald has been visiting in Camden and Rockland during the past few days with friends and relatives. Mrs. Andrew E. Clark, who has been very ill with a fever, is now recovering and her many friends will be glad to learn that she will soon be up and attending to her household duties with no set back.

The Belfast bowling team and A. E. Clark Camp, Sons of Veterans, of this city are planning an excursion to Rockland for some date in the near future. Both organizations are on very friendly terms with the corresponding organizations at Rockland and it is expected that several of these visits will be planned and carried out during the coming winter.

The Belfast Band have been engaged to go to Deer Isle at some date in the near future and furnish music for a parade, concert and ball, to be given in honor of the return of the crew of the America's cup defender, the Columbia. The band boys thoroughly appreciate the honor of such an occasion and will indeed do honor to themselves.

The Waldo County Good Templars District Lodge will hold their next meeting with the lodge at Lincolnville, where they will meet on Saturday, Nov. 4th. A pleasant program is being arranged for the event by the Lincolnville lodge.

MONHEGAN. Dr. Gregory of Boothbay was called here last week to attend Mrs. Wm. G. Humphrey, who is quite sick.

S. G. Studley returned home Sunday from a visit to Portland.

Some interesting notes from our correspondent appear among fishing items in another column.

WITH THE FISHERMEN.

A Few Stray Notes Savoring Strongly of the Briny Deep.

At Swan's Island, canners are running heavily on canned clams.

At Robinson's, the sardine factory closed for the season, and at Lubec very few factories are putting up sardines in oil. Most of them go the mustard pot.

Boston led Gloucester in the receipts of fresh fish last week, receiving 2,240,000 pounds, as against 1,973,000 pounds received at Gloucester.

Portland is the largest lobster market in the country. Thirty smacks sailing from there catch 300,000 monthly; small boats bring 60,000 more.

The canned salmon pack of the Pacific Coast aggregates over 3,100,000 cases, and it is quite remarkable that orders for salmon have to be turned down owing to scarcity. The demand is enormous.

The mackerel pack of Portland will not reach 1,000 barrels this year. A bad drop from the old time pack of 100,000 barrels annually.—Argus.

Mackerel have again made their appearance at Provincetown Harbor. A small school entered the bay and harbor Sunday night, and the few men who had kept nets in the water brought various sized lots to land Monday morning.

Monhegan.—The Courier-Gazette's Monhegan correspondent writes as follows: Capt. Julian Young, in schooner True Republic of Cushing, is chartered by parties here to bring a load of herring to be used for lobster bait. Steamer Mary Jane, Capt. F. Marshall of Port Clyde, is making regular trips here for fresh fish. The outlook is that a very few fish will be salted here as long as they can be disposed of in that way, as the fishermen feel they can obtain better prices than in any other way. Sloop Leslie & Alice and steamer Nadine are away selling herring for lobster bait. The last of the summer catch of fish was shipped Monday.

U. S. NOT A CAT'S PAW.

New York Tribune: There remains, then, the crowning folly of trying to use the United States as a catspaw. We observe that the more rabid members of the Anglophobe party in this country still cling to it. But there could be nothing more preposterous. It is idle to chatter about applying the principle of the Hague Convention to the case, because that Congress, at the direct instance of Russia, its author, declined to recognize the Transvaal as a party to any international negotiations. If, therefore, the Congress of The Hague has any application it is to the effect that the Powers participating in it are not to intervene. It is idle to talk of friendly or impartial mediation, because from the very nature of the case any mediation would necessarily be partial to one side and unfriendly to the other. And, after Great Britain's generous and most helpful sympathy with the United States last year, to propose that this country should take sides against Great Britain, in a case, moreover, where its own interests, so far as it has any, are on lines exactly parallel with Great Britain's, would be worse than midsummer madness. And so we reckon that the Boers will have to play out the part of George Dandin to a bitter end, unaided if not unregretted.

NORTH WARREN.

Mrs. G. B. Young and daughter Hattie have been in Union recently. Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Studley visited Mrs. D. W. Merry Thursday. Eugene Caldwell was at home from Massachusetts for the winter. A band of gypsies passed through this place Monday. Mrs. Ellen Fuller has been visiting at Mrs. W. H. Fuller's. Mrs. M. C. Batchelder was here Thursday.

"If I were sick and wanted to get well, I'd find out how some one else got well who had the same sort of sickness as mine."

If your sickness is like hers, Mrs. Jacobs' story will interest you. "I was very sick indeed," writes Mrs. Mollie Jacobs, of Fenton, Kent Co., Delaware, "and my family doctor said I had consumption. I thought I must die soon for I felt so awful bad. Had a bad cough, spit blood, was very short of breath, had pains in my chest and right lung, and also had dyspepsia. Before I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' I was so weak I could not sweep a room, and now I can do a small washing, and I feel like a new person. I believe that the Lord and your medicine have saved my life. I was sick over two years. I took 13 bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets."

Are you sick? Are your lungs "weak"? Have you obstinate lingering cough, with bleeding lungs, weakness and emaciation? Thousands in just your case have been cured by the use of

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

It always helps. It almost always cures. Sick persons are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter absolutely without fee or charge. All correspondence is strictly private. Write and get a specialist's opinion on your case, free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

AFFLICTED MONARCH.

THE EMPEROR OF GERMANY Is a Victim of Producing a Chronic Catarrh, Running Ear.

EMPEROR WILLIAM OF GERMANY.

The Emperor of Germany has a running ear. Just think of it; a man at whose beck one of the strongest armies and navies of the whole earth could be set in motion, a man whose rule is absolute over the country of medical universities, a man whose slightest caprice could press into service the most noted savants and philosophers on earth, has a running ear and is unable to find a cure!

Now contrast the experience of the following citizens of the United States with the Emperor of Germany. Like the Emperor, they failed to find a cure. But, unlike the Emperor, they happened to be plain citizens of the United States, rather than the center of the inner court of the most exclusive and carefully guarded aristocracy of the world. In his position nothing but the remedies that have met the approval of the most fastidious medical orthodoxy could ever reach him. In the position of these American citizens, however, they had access to remedies

Scott Bostick, of Sumpter, S. C., cured his ears by Dr. Hartman's proved and disappeared. They were at perfect liberty to try anything they chose to. They chose to try the remedy that had cured others like themselves, and thus they found a cure.

Running of the ears, deafness or all other affections of the middle ear, are due primarily to chronic catarrh. Running of the ears properly called chronic catarrh of the middle ear, as well as catarrh located elsewhere. This has been proven over and over again in innumerable cases besides the ones just mentioned. Deafness and running of the ears are but symptoms of chronic catarrh of the middle ear. Peruna cures the catarrh, when the symptoms disappear, whether it be running ears or deafness or any other affection of the middle ear. The remedy is compounded according to the formula originally devised by Dr. Hartman of the Surgical Hotel, Columbus, O., the noted writer entirely free from this horrible disease. A free book treating catarrh in all of its different phases and stages, written by Dr. Hartman, will be sent free, by addressing The Peruna Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

The microbes that cause chills and fever and malaria enter the system through mucous membranes made porous by catarrh. Peruna heals the mucous membranes and prevents the entrance of malarial germs, thus preventing and curing these affections.
