REDUCTION IN PRICE OF COAL AND COKE

The price of Coal has been reduced to $16.50 per ton, and Coke to $15.00 per ton. As far as it is possible for us to tell this is the lowest price we will be able to make this year.

We advise our friends to order their Coal now, for next winter, as we may be compelled to increase the price at any time without further notice.

If you are in need of a summer fuel, try our Otto Coke. It is cheaper than coal.

PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION

MEMORIAL DAY

Whereas, this nation has been conceived in prayer and devotion by men and women who were moved under God to found a nation where principles of right should form the lasting cornerstone; and whereas the noblest of men have been fostered by a worthy posterity; and whereas the great war has lately laid its costly demands upon our lands, now, therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim:

MONDAY, THE THIRTIETH DAY OF MAY, a day already freighted with sacred and stimulating memories, a day of public memorial, invite my fellow-citizens fittingly to pay homage on this day to a noble dead who sleep in home-land, beneath the sea, or on foreign fields, so that we, who survive, might enjoy the blessings of peace and happiness, and to the end that liberty and justice, without which no nation can exist, shall live forever.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done in the District of Columbia this third day of May, in the year of our Lord, 1921, and of the Independence of the United States the 145th.

WARREN G. HARDING.

EXAMINATION SOON.

For Vacancies in Postoffice Department—What Hays Says.

Only the "good of the service" will be considered in selecting the man from among the three highest for certification to the President for appointment as postmaster. Postmaster General Hays declares in discussing the recent executive order of President Harding on the matter, Congressmen and senators will naturally be heard by the department as to the qualifications of applicants. Mr. Hays said, adding that this meant Democrats as well as Republicans.

Selections made by the Civil Service Commission under the orders of former President Wilson but not confirmed by the Senate, will be ignored and new examinations held for such vacancies, the postmaster general asserted. There are about 5000 vacancies, it was said, and the Postoffice Department is now making up the list by states to certify to the Civil Service Commission. This body, it was declared, is expected to make arrangements for the examination as soon as possible.

STONINGTON QUARRIES.

The prospects of the granite industry at Stonington are evidently looking a little brighter. A. E. Barbour, corresponding secretary of the local union, writes: "Quite a number of the brothers are at work on John L. Goss quarry, I think about 30. I hear they are expecting to start work on the J. C. Rodgers quarry soon. Well, brothers, while we didn't come to any agreement in our conference in Boston April 7 to 9, let us hope that it will be settled for the good of all concerned."

PUBLIC WARNED

Against Fake Solicitors For the American Legion—What Commander Healey Says.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

It has been called to my attention that two young men have recently been in this city soliciting subscriptions to a magazine which they claimed would assist in getting additional government aid for our disabled war veterans. As commander of Winslow-Holbrook Post, No. 1, the American Legion, I wish to notify your readers that this solicitation did not have the sanction of the American Legion, and that I did not hear of their appeal until after they had apparently left the city.

The American Legion, with more than a million members, being the largest veteran organization in the United States, has assumed the leadership in an effort to obtain adequate hospitalization for the disabled veterans of the World War. The need of additional hospitals is very urgent, as hospital cases are rapidly increasing and the "peak" will not be reached for several years.

The Legion through an extensive Legislative Committee at Washington and by every other legitimate means at its disposal is doing everything possible to secure from Congress additional aid for the disabled veterans. This work is being financed entirely by the American Legion from the dues of its members and no contributions for carrying it on has been, or will be asked from the public.

Because of the excellent support given to us in the past and for the protection of our citizens in the future, I suggest that no contributions be made to strangers for any help to solicited by these men. Proper credentials from the local post of the American Legion, J. William S. Healey, Post Commander of Winslow-Holbrook Post, No. 1, American Legion.

THE PRICE DECLINE.

Wholesale prices for April showed a decline of 5 per cent. from March and 42 per cent. from April, 1920, in figures made public by the department of Labor a decline of 43 1/2 per cent. shown from the high peak prices of last May. Farm products showed the largest decrease in April with a drop of eight percent; food articles decreased six per cent; clothing a little over three percent; fuel and lighting materials 3 1/2 per cent. Metals showed a decline of only about 3 1/2 per cent.

THE MAINE JEWELERS.

The Lewiston and Auburn Retail Jewelers' Association will entertain members of the state convention Wednesday and Thursday, June 1 and 2. Headquarters will be at the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce rooms. The Maine Retail Jewelers' Association was organized Feb. 1, 1912. One of the directors is Orvil E. Davies of Rockland.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP
Notice is hereby given of the dissolution of partnership of the firm W. N. Madden & Co., fish dealers, doing business in Rockland, Mr. W. N. Madden retiring. All accounts due to the firm and all debts due by them will be settled by the firm, which will carry on the business under the firm name as above.

ALL WERE MASONS

Great Names That Figured In the Early History of This Nation.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

It is always refreshing to get good news from one's native town. When word reached me that my old Masonic lodge, Eureka of Tenants Harbor, was rapidly increasing in membership it was "tidings of joy;" for I know many of the new candidates and testify to their moral worth and congratulate the lodge in securing such strengthening timber.

Many a reader of history, refreshing his knowledge of the early struggle for independence, will encounter the slogan Liberty, Equality, Fraternity, without seeing anything to suggest a Masonic relationship. It seems that during and since the war our Nation appears to be turning with new interest to the faith of its founders. For the benefit of the young Masonic members, let me point out how generally the leading men of colonial times were concerned in establishing the United States as a Masonic country. Many historical facts and incidents assume a new interest when read in the light of Masonry.

Longfellow's famous poem "Paul Revere's Ride" may be regarded as a Masonic exploit. Not only was Paul Revere a Mason, but so was Robert Newman, who hung the signal lantern in the Old North Church; and also William Dawes, who gave the alarm by way of Roxbury, as Revere gave it by way of Charlestown. Those fiery pamphlets, that warred against the Crown and paved the way for revolution were written by James Otis who was a Mason. Patrick Henry, whose eloquence in the Virginia House of Burgesses—"Give me liberty or give me death"—which helped to bring the south to the support of the cause, was a Mason. So were Samuel Adams, Joseph Warren and Josiah Quincy, who joined with Otis and Revere in laying plans for the Revolution, meetings held in that noted hostelry, the Green Dragon Inn.

Madison C. Peters, who has been writing a little book on "Masons as Makers of America," says that the famous Boston Tea Party was planned in the residence of a Mason, and its descent upon the ships at T wharf was led by members of St. Andrew's Lodge, headed by Paul Revere, then one of the junior officers.

It is generally accepted as a historical fact that Masonic names predominated amongst the signers of the Declaration of Independence. There were 56 signers and all but six were members of the fraternity. At the end of the famous document is a familiar signature recognized by every schoolboy—John Hancock, who was a Mason. John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman of Connecticut and Robert Livingston all had a hand in drafting the Declaration, and all were Masons. Richard Henry Lee, who drew up the preliminary resolutions of independence, was a Mason. With such a showing in the preliminaries of national experience, Masonic participation was only to be expected in the actual inception of government. It is not surprising therefore to find that of a total membership of 55 who sat in the Constitutional Convention, all but five were Masons. Masons and Masonic paraphernalia played an important part in the inauguration of the first President, himself a Mason.

Now take a glimpse at Washington's army. Of his 29 major-generals 20 were Masons. Their pledges of fraternal support must have assisted him in the trying days that were to come, as can perhaps be inferred from the fact that of the non-Masonic major-generals one was Lee, notorious for his Monmouth failure, another was Gates, who constantly plotted to undermine and supplant the commander-in-chief. The third was Thomas Conway and the fourth Thomas Mifflin, whose negligence as inspector of the army made his dismissal necessary. In the entire list of Washington's brigadier-generals, numbering over 60, only one, Stephen Moyland, was without Masonic degrees. The old Vermonters, Ethan Allen, of Thetford fame; Capt. Corcoran of Allen's Green Mountain Boys; Col. Barton, capturer of Gen. Prescott of the King's forces; Henderson, the hero of Harlem Heights, who captured by the British, was paroled by the interposition of a Masonic brother—all were Masons.

Robert Morris, the financier of the Revolution, was a Mason. So was Haym Salomon, a Polish Jew, a Philadelphia, who is said to have given upward of $650,000 to the support of America in the great struggle. Alexander Hamilton, James Madison, John Marshall, all were Masons.

I leave it to the young Masons to decide if this is not a Masonic country, and a record that may well lead members of the Order to look to their laurels.

BASEBALL OUTLAWED

No Games Permitted On Memorial Day But All Right To Dance, It Seems.

Because of a stringent law passed by the last Legislature there will be no baseball games in Knox county on Memorial Day. Just why the public should not be allowed to witness good hearted sport, at hours not interfering with Memorial Day exercises, and the law should place no ban on dancing is not at all clear, and will impress all lovers of the national game as rank injustice.

The new law appears in Chapter 216 of the Public Laws, and is entitled "An Act Prohibiting Public Games and Amusements on Memorial Day." This is how it reads:

Whereas there is grave danger that Memorial Day through thoughtlessness is tending gradually to lose its tender significance and solemn impressiveness as a day devoted to the memory of those heroes, men who dared and suffered when the life of the nation was at stake, most of whom now lie sleeping in the battle zone, on the quiet hillside of the State they loved and served so well; and

Whereas the proper observance of Memorial Day is not alone demanded to those men by our debt of gratitude to those men which we never can repay, but is conducive to the thrill and every essence of patriotism which is in the heart of every true American, conscious of his rich heritage; and

Whereas Legislation to secure the proper observance of Memorial Day is therefore immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, now therefore—

Sec. 1. Whoever on Memorial Day engages in any public outdoor game or sport where an admission is charged or collection is taken, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars or imprisonment, not exceeding ten days or by both fine and imprisonment. Judges of municipal and police courts and trial justices shall have jurisdiction of all offenses under the act.

Sec. 2. In view of the emergency expressed in the preamble hereof, this act shall take effect when approved. (Approved April 9, 1921.)

FIRE AT PLEASANTVILLE

Frank Butler's Buildings Burned Saturday—Had No Insurance.

Saturday was an exciting day in this locality, writes The Courier-Gazette's Pleasantville correspondent. A fire caused by a defective chimney destroyed the buildings of Frank Butler and spread to the surrounding wood-land. Help was summoned from Warren and Rockland, but the apparatus could do nothing for lack of water. Citizens worked with shovels and brooms until the fire was under control. Cinders were carried several miles.

Mr. Butler's family, consisting of his wife and two children, have met with a heavy loss. Besides all of their furniture, tools and clothing, Mr. Butler lost $50 which was in a suit of clothes. He tried to enter the room, but was badly burned on the back, face and hands. There was no insurance on his belongings. Much sympathy is expressed for the family, and it has taken practical form in the shape of a subscription paper that is being circulated by Arthur Clark.

THE SEA

I am the Sea. I hold the land
As one holds an apple in his hand,
I hold it fast with sleepless eyes,
Watching the continents sink and rise,
Out of my bosom the mountains grow,
Back to its depths they crumble slow;
The earth is a helpless child to me,
I am the Sea!

I am the Sea. When I draw back,
Blossom and verdure follow my track,
And the land I leave grows proud and fair,
For the wonderful race of man is there;
And the winds of Heaven wail and cry,
While the nations rise and reign and die,
Living and dying in folly and pain,
While the laws of the universe thunder in vain.
What is the folly of man to me?
I am the Sea!

I am the sea. The earth I sway;
Granite to me is potter's clay;
Under the touch of my careless waves
It rises in turrets and sinks in caves;
The iron cliffs that edge the land
I grind to pebbles and sift to sand,
And beach-grass growth and children play
In what were the rocks of yesterday.
It is but a moment of sport to me—
I am the Sea!

I am the sea. In my bosom deep
Wealth and wonder and beauty sleep;
Wealth and wonder and beauty rise
In changing splendor of sunset skies,
And comfort the earth with rains and snows
Till waves the harvest and hush the rose,
Flower and forest and child of breath
With me have life—without me, death;
What if the ships go down in me?
I am the sea!

ON MEMORIAL DAY

Allusion previously made in this column to the work of beautifying the city cemeteries has met with response on the part of numerous citizens, who have indicated a desire to co-operate with the Cemetery Association in these practical and necessary measures of improvement. Arrangements are being made for a Memorial Day service of song at the Aechorn Cemetery in which the public will be asked to participate—patriotic songs and familiar hymns, in keeping with the character of the day. This is to take place at 11 o'clock in the morning, so not to conflict with the ordered program of the afternoon, which will be of the usual military character. The cemetery, its every lot neatly mown and the bushes and debris cleared away, and further beautified with the floral decorations of the day, will present a picture entirely new to this community, and certain to elicit the warm commendation not only of those who for reasons of sentiment and affection look upon the place as hallowed ground, but also of that general group who believe that the resting places of the dead are entitled to every possible mark of distinction.

Presidents Harding's order relative to the appointment of Postmasters to offices of the First, Second and Third Class will have the effect of placing those government offices on a truly merit system. President Wilson left the matter of placing these postmasters under the classified civil service until the fifth year of his administration after all the terms of incumbents had expired and their successors had been appointed by a Democratic administration. He then "blanketed" the whole bunch into a classified civil service so that the incumbents would be practically assured of life tenure. His order was manifestly unfair. Mr. Harding's order requires every incumbent, at the expiration of his term, to take a competitive examination and stand upon his merits. The classified civil service system permits the appointing official, in all other instances, to fill a position by selection of any one of the highest three on the list. The Harding order makes this rule apply to postmasters as to all others. This is as it should be. There was nothing but partisanship in the Wilson order.

The scientific fellaers have been telling us of a comet due this way next month, dragging two million feet of tail with which it purports giving our earth a sideswipe. Many of us got the idea when Sunday afternoon's cyclone hit this neighborhood that the comet had misplaced its schedule.

Have you picked out the spot where you think the new High School building should be located? Don't omit a chief essential, namely that there must be plenty of ground about the building, sufficient for the outdoor diversions of the pupils.

That Maine is to have this year an old-fashioned apple crop is glorious news. Slowly we are recovering from the Kaiser's war.

Are the birds more plentiful this spring than usual? Seems so.

State Y. M. C. A. Secretary Jefferson C. Smith was unable to keep his appointment with the Women's Educational club last night and in his place came Assistant State Secretary Morrison, whose address on "The Source of Health" contained much food for thought. "Instead of a man being a body and having a soul think of him as being a soul and having a body," said the speaker. "A man needs a healthy soul as well as a healthy body." Morrison's topic was largely devoted to boys, and he made many helpful remarks relative to right living and right thinking. He told of the boy who went home and was rebuked by his mother for having won a dollar. "Where did you get that vase, mother?" asked the boy, pointing to a beautiful specimen of the model. And it developed that she had won it at a card game. "When mothers come to me wringing their hands and ask if I can't do something to keep them from playing craps, I sometimes tell them that it was probably instilled in them while their mothers were playing cards." Mr. Morrison gave the men a gentle dab. "If some of them were as careful in choosing the mothers of their children as they are in setting a hen," said he, "the world would be better." Mrs. Winnie Horton had charge of the entertainers last night, and Mrs. Marietta Eichen was appointed critic for the next meeting.

Sixteen members of the Quarter Hour Club reported as having given the required time to sold reading. The celebrity Jane Addams, was discussed by Mrs. Jeannette Dunham and Mrs. Georgia Glover. The celebrity for the next meeting will be William B. Bryan. Mrs. Mary Peery Rich read a letter from Gov. Baxter, in which he expressed his intention of appearing before the Women's Educational Club at the earliest possible date.

The annual State Congregationalist conference was held in Bangor last week but circumstances were such that the Rockland church was not represented. The reports showed an increase of 515 church members and 400 Sunday school attendants during the year.

A CYCLONE HITS MAINE

Great Damage At Searsport, Waterville and Portland—Camden On Edge of Tornado—Lightning Strikes At Tenant's Harbor.

A Western cyclone got switched into Maine Sunday afternoon causing the loss of one life, injuring many persons, and doing tremendous property damage.

The sections hardest hit were Waterville, Searsport and Portland. Considerable minor damage was done at Camden and a house was struck by lightning at Tenant's Harbor, but otherwise Knox county could hardly be classed as in the tornado zone. The storm did not strike Rockland until late in the afternoon and lasted only a few minutes. There was a prolonged shower in the evening, but the electrical features were hardly severe enough to be counted. The power was off part of the afternoon and evening, owing to the Central Maine Power Co.'s damages over Waterville way.

A Searsport Associated Press despatch says: "A wind of terrific force that lasted only a short time performed wild capers here today, razing completely three large residences, hurling the tower of the American Chemical Company into Penobscot Bay and seriously impairing communication service."

"The Phineas Pendleton homestead was torn from its foundation and carried 30 feet by the wind and the house on the opposite side of the street as well as the summer home of L. C. Hayner of Worcester were left a mass of debris. Dozens of houses on Steamboat avenue were wrecked. Immense trees were uprooted, some of which crashed through roofs and sides of houses."

"The tornado ripped off the roof of a Main street block and deposited it in the back yard. Considerable damage was done at the yard of the Penobscot Coal Company. One man and a girl were slightly injured by flying debris."

"The freight and passenger shed of the Casco Bay Steamship Company at Douglas's Landing, Long Island, Portland Harbor, was lifted from the pier into the water. Four persons were thrown into the water and Earl Lamoine, aged 17, of Portland was drowned. The others were saved."

"The storm was the worst known in the history of Portland in years and did much damage to fruit trees and buildings. A party of automobilists from Dover, N. H., were in front of the Lafayette hotel when a false brick front of the hotel was blown over, crashing onto three of the machines. The tops of the machines were broken in but the only person injured was Harry Finkleman, who was cut about the head."

In Waterville the damage was general throughout the city, and will amount to many thousands of dollars. The streets were a mass of tangled wires, uprooted trees and fallen branches, making traffic impossible until they were cleared away. Hardly had the wind ceased when the sound of axes could be heard chopping away the fallen trees so the safety of the city might be looked after in case of fire. Telephone service was intermittent and telegraph lines were down all around.

Hart L. Woodcock of Belfast, a caller yesterday at The Courier-Gazette office said: "Nobody can make you understand the suddenness with which it all happened. I noticed the threatening look of things, but thought of it as nothing but the working up of an ordinary heavy tempest. Entering the house by the back door, I walked through to the front, and in that instant of time the cyclone burst on us. Belfast was not in its direct path but it wrenched off great limbs of trees. You couldn't see for the clouds of dust. Automobile tops were blown off. Altogether it was for awhile a frightful sight."

The electrical storm was very severe at Martinsville, where lightning appears to have struck the roof of Herbert Pierson's residence in three places. The bolt passed into the house, knocking off plastering and scattering soot all over the rooms. In the den the telephone was knocked out of the floor, and in one of the chambers a window was knocked out. Mrs. Pierson, who was in the kitchen, was rendered unconscious for a short time, and was found to have small burns on her feet and legs. The baby was asleep upstairs in the only room that seems to have escaped the electrical visitor's wrath. The house will require practically a new roof, and considerable interior repainting. M. S. Bird & Co. of Rockland had the insurance.

THE CHINESE RELIEF.

Returns continue to be received from the Knox county canvass for the Chinese Famine Fund. Reports from Camden, Rockport, Warren and St. George will soon be in and it is hoped to close the matter by the end of this week. Collections taken Sunday in this city make this handsome report: Universalist church total $120, Methodist church total $91.37. The Progressive Literary Society and the W. C. T. U. have contributed $5 each.

The Courier-Gazette fund has received a number of contributions of $5 each from Boston Light Station, to credit of St. George; a dollar from North Haven; $5 from Dix Island. This column will remain open for the convenience of others who may wish to avail themselves of it, the amounts sent in being credited to the indicated town.

The decoration of the platform will be under the auspices of the Campfire Girls and the seating arrangements will be under the auspices of the Boy Scouts of Rockland.

The young ladies from the Relief Corps assigned to decorate the monument are Eva Rogers, Gladys Knowlton, Carrie Carr, Althea Munro and Bessie Haraden.

KILLED AT FIRE

Capt. James C. Kent Died At His Post of Duty in Deering—Formerly Resided in Rockland.

Captain James C. Kent of Engine 6, Portland, who formerly resided in this city, was fatally injured Saturday morning in a fire which destroyed the main building of the Deering High School. Six other firemen were injured and the property loss is estimated between $200,000 and $300,000.

Incendiarism is suspected and a general alarm called all the apparatus of the city to the scene shortly after daybreak, and heroic efforts on the part of the firemen held the fire to the main building, the annex being saved. There was no fire in the building of any sort and there is no word as to whether or not the building was the cause of the fire.

Captain Kent had led his men into an upper room on the left wing of the building with a view of hose. They were forced to retreat down one of the ladders. Captain Kent was the first man to reach the ladder. He was over 30 feet from the ground when the heavy metal cornice over the main entrance of the building started to give way. As it swung down the firemen called to their leader but he was unable to reach the ground because he was struck by the cornice. A rain of burning timbers and brick followed the cornice and buried the captain.

When the victim was reached he complained of injuries to his head. His clothes had been partly burned by the flames. A machine was commandeered and the injured man was rushed to the hospital where he died during the day.

The deceased was a son of Capt. David Kent, who formerly resided on Grand street, this city. As a boy he worked for the Western Union Telegraph Co. in the capacity of messenger, and later clerked for the American Express Co. This was 40 years ago. The young man exhibited a great deal of interest in the fire department, and surprised none of his friends when they learned that he had taken up that vocation in Portland.

Captain Kent was about 56 years of age and is survived by his wife (formerly Nellie Bishop of Rockland), one son and one daughter.

The funeral services will be held at Burpee's parlors Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The full program of the Knox-Waldo Music Festival will be printed in Thursday's issue of this paper. It is a popular program of standard music. The work done by High School students is amateur but nevertheless of a high grade. The boys and girls are both intelligent and musical, and respond wonderfully to the skilled training they have received. Nine schools will be represented—Camden, Belfast, Rockland, Rockport, Thomaston, Warren, Union, Winslow and North Haven. Miss Margaret Mitchell has been training the Belfast group and will conduct a difficult arrangement of "The Campbells are Coming". The orchestra accompaniment of this number gives a remarkable imitation of Scotch bagpipes. A final rehearsal will be held at the Camden Opera House Friday afternoon, at three o'clock to which the public will be admitted for 25 cents. This will be a real working rehearsal and should prove decidedly entertaining. The big concert comes off at 8 in the evening; tickets 50c.

Juanhoe Temple Pythian Sisters will entertain Friendship Temple Wednesday. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

WEAK EYES COME BACK TO HEALTH

Weekly Health Talk No. 8.
R. K. Boman, D. C.

There are two kinds of eye weakness. One is due to general or constitutional causes, and the other to some weakness that is local to the eyes alone. Weak eyes is quite a common after effect of fevers or other ailments which fill the system with poisons. When eye troubles are due to defective kidney action, or come as an after effect of measles, scarlet fever, etc., the chiropractic spinal adjustments must correct the constitutional as well as the eye condition. Such cases are apt to be more slow in showing results. But where the trouble is local to the eye as in strabismus, or cross eyes, the results from chiropractic spinal adjustments are directly effective. This is particularly true in children. In adults, of course, the condition is more stubborn, and may resist correction, entirely.

Cross Eyes Corrected
"Several days previous to seeing the chiropractor my baby fell off the bed, striking on her head, causing it to swell, producing much pain, and resulting in both eyes being crossed."
"Several days previous to seeing to relieve the child, and I refused at first to try chiropractic, for I knew nothing of it. But the condition of the baby was so distressing I finally consented. It was remarkable what happened. Her eyes are perfectly straight. The baby is not a year old."—Mr. and Mrs. Val Allen, Chiropractic Research Bureau, State-ment No. 1261.

The W. O. Hewett house on Park street is being repaired.

Examinations for State certificates of teachers will be held in this city June 25.

E. J. Southard entered yesterday morning upon his duties as boss joiner at the Samoset Hotel. He held that position many years at the Cobb yard, and the ship's cabin which he has constructed have been models of marine architecture. The hotel company was fortunate in signing up an artisan of his type.

It has been many years since there was so much local interest in High School baseball, and it is, of course, the fruit of the exciting race which is being waged in the Knox and Lincoln interscholastic League. Every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon cheering teams pass through Main street, and it is quite impossible not to catch the spirit.

Relatives were notified Sunday that the body of Private Clarence Burleigh Huntley had arrived in New York, and further word is being awaited from the War Department as to when it will reach this city. It is understood that a military funeral will be held.

A rifle range for the convenience of the Coast Artillery Corps is to be constructed in Thomaston at the Westend, and handy to the car line. The Ordnance Department of the Maine National Guard has contracted with Fred M. Blackington of this city to build the target frames and target house, the telephone line and telephone terminals. Firing mounds will be built for shooting at 500, 300, 500 and 600 yards. The contract calls for the completion of the new range by June 15.

J. A. Collins, who has been foreman carpenter for the East Coast Fisheries Company the past 21 months, has resigned, and will engage in carpenter work for himself. His shop is located at his Ingraham Hill home.

The Bowdoin College commencement will take place June 19-23. Some of the principal events are: Sunday, June 19, baccalaureate address by President Sills; June 20, Alexander prize speaking contest; June 21, class day exercises; June 22, baseball, Alumni vs. Varsity, annual meeting of Alumni Association, and outdoor presentation of "The Taming of the Shrew"; June 23, commencement exercises.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church meets in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon for work. Important business meeting at 5 o'clock.

The annual parish meeting of the First Baptist Church will be held Wednesday evening at 7.30. The financial campaign starts Thursday evening at 7.30, with music by two orchestras and an address by Rev. J. Harrison Thompson of Portland.

Ellis Baum of Port Clyde is at Silsby Hospital suffering from injuries inflicted Sunday when his automobile struck a pile of dirt on the Thomaston road and turned turtle in the ditch. The young man was pinned beneath the machine and remained in that position until another automobile came along and the occupants extricated him. Mr. Baum has a bad gash on the back of his head and remained in a dazed condition all day. This morning he was fully conscious of what had happened but it will be a day or two before the full extent of his injuries are known.

At the special matinee for ladies only at Park Theatre Friday afternoon, Mr. Mystic Clayton will tell the members of his audience how they can know instantly when their hubby or their sweetheart is using a falsehood.

Two Knox county students are included in the Abraxas, the Junior honorary society at Bowdoin College—Standish Perry of Rockland, a backfield man in football, a member of the track squad, and John Walter Dahlgren of Camden, a letter man in football, a weight man on the track squad, and a member of the band club. For 20 years Bowdoin had a chapter of the Theta Nu Epsilon sophomore society, but in 1913 the active members surrendered their affiliations with the national organization and founded the Abraxas. The Abraxas gives each year a handsome cup to the preparatory school whose freshmen at Bowdoin achieve the highest grade in scholarship. Among the members are Richard Stearns Fuller '16, Rockland; Donald Payson George '16, Thomaston; and Walter John Rich, Jr., '21 of Rockland. Another Junior honorary society at Bowdoin is the Friars, which came into existence in 1906—the first Junior society to be instituted at this college. Frank Pearl Wright of Rockland was one of the 11 charter members. Herbert Alton Lewis '15 of North Haven and Avaril L. Richan '20 of Rockland are also members.

Local merchants have contributed a grand array of prizes for teams and individuals in the Twilight League. There are some jokers in the collection and some very desirable rewards of merit. Just glance into the window of the Thomas Sporting Goods Co. next Tuesday if you want to see an interesting collection.—adv.

The charge for publishing a Card of Thanks is 50 cents, cash in advance. The order. Poetry published with an obituary is charged for at 10 cents a line.

The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Winslow-Hobcock Post will be held Wednesday evening in the Post rooms.

The weather Bureau kidded us into the belief that summer had come with a temperature Saturday and Sunday which was well up toward the 90 mark. The tornado which swept across Maine Sunday afternoon drove the warm wave helter skelter and winter overcoats were again fashionable yesterday. This morning there was a heavy frost.

Things are lining up nicely for the annual levee and ball of the James F. Sears Hose Co., which takes place in the Arcade Thursday night. There has been a good ticket sale, and when Uncle Marston piped up with the big fiddle there will be lively times on the surface. Twelve pieces of the Camden band will furnish music for the street parade.

Schooner Lavinia M. Snow was in port yesterday with 480 tons of coal from New York for Rockport.

Union Memorial Sunday services will be held in the Universalist church next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. J. S. Crossland. All of the patriotic bodies will attend.

Rockland's group of tickets for the Knox-Waldo Music Festival Friday night may be obtained at the Corner Drug Store. The Festival this year, with a chorus of over 300 strong, is to be held in Camden and will be the best ever. Here is just a little hint to the members, and they can aid her and the association by paying the small sum required to Miss Esther Stevenson at the Fuller-Cobb-Davis store, leaving it at Miss Perry's home on Warren street, or taking it to the alumni reception.

H. S. Alumni dues are payable. It is manifestly impossible for the secretary, Miss Doris Perry, to see all of the members, and they can aid her and the association by paying the small sum required to Miss Esther Stevenson at the Fuller-Cobb-Davis store, leaving it at Miss Perry's home on Warren street, or taking it to the alumni reception.

Miss Alice Gross and Elmer Joyce have entered the employ of the Burpee Furniture Co. in the respective capacities of stenographer and collector. These two smart High School students took a prominent part in the recent demonstration of the Commercial department at the Arcade.

The remains of Walter A. Thompson, who died in Bethel, Vt., May 17, were brought to this city, and funeral services were held at the Burpee parlors Friday. Rev. B. P. Browne officiated. The interment was in Sea View cemetery. Mr. Thompson was a native of Monroe, and was employed as a blacksmith in connection with the granite industry.

The Rockland High School team goes to Vinalhaven tomorrow. A defeat will greatly lessen its chances of overtaking Thomaston in the pennant race, but a victory would have an enormously inspiring effect. The Camden game Saturday proved that our team has a real "kick," so all up for Captain Brackett's lads tomorrow.

The sub-chaser 408, which acted as a tender for the superdrednaught Tennessee during the trials of last week, is a product of the Camden Anchor-Rockland Machine Co., being the last of the 480 boats of this type built for the government. She is considered one of the best and staunchest sub-chasers in the entire fleet, and Uncle Sam thinks so well of her that she is not for sale.

Isaac Berliawsky has sold the building at the corner of Main and Willow streets to T. R. Sweetland. Harry Carr whose market occupies the ground floor will continue a tenant.

The New England Telephone Co. is extending its conduit system across Union street to Rankin and down Rankin to Main, where the paying will be removed sufficiently to allow connections with the overhead lines. R. L. Rogers of Bath has the contract, and the work is being inspected by C. C. Huse of Portland, one of the New England's competent underground foremen. The task will be completed in about a week.

The Pageant of the Year, which is to be repeated in the Universalist vestry tomorrow evening, is one of the most successful events ever given by Rockland amateurs, and reflects especial credit upon Mrs. Helena Blithen Roberts, who conceived and arranged the entire spectacle, and who even selected the characters with a view to their special fitness for the parts assigned. Professionally prepared pageants fail in many of the essentials which so pleasantly characterize Mrs. Roberts' Pageant of the Year.

James Doherty of Columbia avenue who is employed at the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corporation's crusher sustained a double fracture of his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, Saturday. Mr. Doherty was trying to throw a large stone when a piece of limberock as large as a tea kettle came down the shaft at great speed striking his arm. Jimmy's good left wouldn't be of much service in the ring just now, but the smile is still there.

ROCKLAND HIGHLANDS

Richmond Greely, R. H. S. '23, left Thursday for Boston. He will be connected with the Temporary Home for Boys at Wellesley Hills as instructor.

Barney Traven has moved into the Blanche Jones house vacated some time ago by Ernest Benner, who moved into the Sherer house on the mountain road.

Mrs. Sylvia Phinney is at her old home for a short stay.

Johnson Mayhew has moved into Frank Farrand's cottage, formerly known as the Fuller Blackington house on the West Meadow Road.

Mrs. Eva Payson is visiting her brother, Luke Brewster. Bobolinks have arrived and are singing lustily. Blue birds have been with us all the spring in large numbers, and this morning Albert Quinn reported seeing a humming bird which alighted on a bush and sat there for some time, apparently without the slightest fear, while the boy who had never before seen one at rest viewed it with great interest. If you are ever fortunate enough to hold a humming bird in your hand he will "play possum" and while you fancy him dead he will carefully open one eye, and then—whiz! and he is gone.

MAINE APPLE CROP

State Horticulturist Takes Cheerful View In Spite of the Recent Heavy Frosts.

State Horticulturist Frank H. Dudley says that the apple crop in Maine for this year promises far better than could have been expected, especially following such heavy frosts. "The reports from orchardists in different parts of the state show a full crop of apples in prospect," said Mr. Dudley. "This means that we may expect over 6,000,000 bushels of apples to be harvested the coming fall."

"We have made extensive inquiries by telephone in the various sections and find hardly any injury to the blossoms by the frost. The lowlands in Oxford county report a small amount of damage. We also expected that there would be heavy damage in York county, but reports from there say while the thermometer went down to 26 degrees, the damage was trifling. Up in Pittsfield the frost was heavy, but a heavy fog prevented it from doing much damage. The report from Washington county also says that it is not believed that the blueberry blossoms were out enough to have been injured."

"As to the apple orchards, with the improvement in machinery there seems to be no good reason why they should not be cared for. At the present time there are 34 dusters to help keep the orchards free from insects and fungi, as well as hundreds of sprayers."

"The apple crop in this state last year was recorded as 60 per cent. of the last ten years' average and about 45 per cent. of a full crop. The apple crop in 1911 amounted to 2,367,000 barrels; in 1914, about 2,407,000 barrels; in 1915, 720,000 barrels and in 1916 about 1,680,000 barrels. Taking this crop into consideration, the full crop indications of the present time for 1921 seem welcome news."

MONHEGAN

Rev. William Brewster of Rockland is in town.

Louis Marcus, manager of the Stoughton Furniture Co., was in town last week on business.

Capt. Cass Brackett of Monhegan is in Portland having a new C. O. engine installed in his boat Novelty. He had the pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson of Worcester, who took Capt. Brackett and his family on a long shore ride in his new Buick car to Cape Cottage, Knightville, Pleasantdale and around the city. They thoroughly enjoyed meeting the Thompsons who have been coming here for the past 22 years.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Graham Norcross, railroad manager, and his secretary, Jimmie Dodd, are marooned at Sand Creek siding with a young lady, Sheila Macrae, and her small cousin. Unseen, they witness a peculiar train holdup, in which a special car is carried off.

CHAPTER II.—Norcross recognizes the car stolen as John Chadwick's, financial magnate, whom he was to meet at Fort City. He and Dodd rescue Chadwick. The latter offers Norcross the management of the Pioneer Short Line, which is in the hands of eastern speculators, headed by Breckenridge Dunton, president of the line. Norcross, learning that Sheila Macrae is stopping at Fort City, accepts.

CHAPTER III.—Dodd overhears conversation between Rufus Hatch and Gustave Henckel, Fort City financiers, in which they admit complicity in Chadwick's kidnapping, their object being to keep Chadwick from attending a meeting of directors to reorganize the Pioneer Short Line, which would jeopardize their interests.

CHAPTER IV.—To curb the monopoly controlled by Hatch and Henckel, the Red Tower corporation, Norcross forms the Citizens' Storage and Warehouse company. He begins to manifest a deep interest in Sheila Macrae. Dodd learns that Sheila is married, but living apart from her husband. Norcross does not know this.

CHAPTER V.—Hatch, aware that Dodd has knowledge of his and Henckel's participation in the Chadwick kidnapping, offers him inducements to leave Norcross. Dodd refuses. Leaving the office, he is knocked senseless by a passing car. He awakens to find Norcross has disappeared and is believed to have resigned and gone east.

CHAPTER VI.—Dodd connects Norcross' disappearance with machinations of Hatch and Henckel, and on recovering strength sets out to solve the mystery.

CHAPTER VII.—With Kirsan, the road's master mechanic, Dodd gets a line on Norcross' disappearance. They follow a clue given them through a missing locomotive.

CHAPTER VIII.—The rescue party finds and releases Norcross from captivity to which he had been lured. Norcross resumes control of the Pioneer Short Line, refusing to give place to man whom Dunton has sent to take charge.

CHAPTER IX.—Dodd follows an emissary of the Red Tower people, spying on Norcross, to a coal yard where he overhears a plot to put Norcross out of business, and at the risk of his life frustrates it.

CHAPTER X.—At the home of Sheila Macrae, Dodd is witness of strange actions of a man he believes has designs on the life of his friend and boss. He prepares to defend him.

CHAPTER XI.—The sudden return of Sheila's uncle drives the intruder away. Later Dodd recognizes him as Howard Collingwood, nephew of President Dunton of the Pioneer Short Line. A series of wrecks on the line, impossible to explain, cause alarm to the management.

CHAPTER XII.—Dunton, night dispatcher, routes passenger and freight trains to meet on a single track. Disaster is narrowly averted. Dunton commits suicide, leaving evidence that he was bribed to bring about collision.

CHAPTER XIII.—Evidence accumulates that Norcross' enemies are plotting his death, but against all advice he decides on a trip on a special train over the line. A pilot engine, traveling ahead, discovers displaced rails which would have thrown the special down a mountain side. Norcross hears for the first time that Sheila Macrae is married. He refuses to believe it.

CHAPTER XIV.—Hatch and other owners of the Red Tower corporation call on Norcross and inform him they have proof that in the recent election the road has made use of bribery. Hatch gives Norcross proof that the actual bribing was done by Howard Collingwood. Hatch demands Norcross' immediate resignation as the price of silence. Norcross learns from Sheila that Collingwood is her husband, and feels the ground has been cut from under his feet.

"I saw you as I was coming away from Kendrick's last night," he began, with a bickering rasp in his voice. "Did you go up against the gun I had loaded for you?"

Mr. Norcross cut straight through to the bottom of that little complication at a single stroke.

"What Mrs. Collingwood said to me, or what I said to her, can have no possible bearing upon anything that you may have to say to me, or that I can consent to listen to, Mr. Collingwood."

The derelict sat up in his chair. "But you've got to keep hands off, just the same, at Kendrick's, and in this other business, too. If you don't, there is going to be blood on the moon! Get me?"

The boss never flinched an eye. "I'm taking it for granted that you are sober, Mr. Collingwood," he said. "If you are, you must surely know that threats are about the poorest possible weapons you can use just now."

"It's a plant, from start to finish," grunted the man in the chair. "I haven't done a d—d thing more than to cash a few checks—for expenses, and turn the money over to Bullock. Now Hatch tells me that I was working with a spotter—his spotter—and that he can send me up for bribery. It's a lie. I don't know what Bullock did with the money, and I don't want to know."

"But you had orders to give it to him when he required it, didn't you?" Mr. Norcross cut in.

"That's none of your business. I want you to choke this man Hatch off of me!"

The boss had picked up his paper-knife. "I don't know why you should come to me for help," he said. "You have been handling-glove with these conspirators ever since you came out here. Two days ago you knew that they had set a trap for my special train on the Strathcona branch—a trap that was meant to kill me!"

It was a random shot, and I knew that Mr. Norcross was just guessing at where it might land when he fired it. But it went home; oh, you bet it went home!

"D—n you!" gurgled the boomer, half starting to his feet. "Why shouldn't I want to see you killed?"

"Why Shouldn't I Want to See You Killed?"

I want to see you killed? Haven't you done enough to me?"

"No!" the word was slammed at him like a bullet. And then: "As I told you in the beginning, we won't go into any phase of it that involves Mrs. Collingwood. Get back into your own boat. Are you trying to tell me now that Hatch is threatening you?"

"He's played me for a come-on. He says he's got the whole business down in black and white, with affidavits, and all that. He had the nerve to tell me less than an hour ago that he'd burn me alive if I didn't toe the mark."

"What does he want you to do?"

"He wants me to stick around here so that he can use me against you. He knows how you're mixed up with Sheila and that you can't turn a wheel without making it look as if you were going after me on your own personal account."

There was silence for a little time. It was an awful muddle, with bloody murder sticking out of it on every side.

"If you have come here with the idea that I can force Hatch's hand, you are very much misled," said the boss at the close of the electric pause. And then: "Has he made it appear to you that he was merely trying to help you avenge your own fancied wrongs?"

"He said I ought to get you; that any man who would make love to a married woman ought to be got."

My chief was looking past the derelict and out through the darkened window.

"You don't know me, Mr. Collingwood, but you do know your wife; and you know that she is as far above suspicion as the angels in heaven. Let that part of it go, Hatch was merely using you for his own ends. If he could persuade you to kill me off out of the way, it would be merely that much gained in the business fight. You haven't done it thus far, and now he is using your check-cashing excursion as a club with which he proposes to brain the entire railroad management, your uncle included, if we interfere with his plans."

Collingwood scowled up at the ceiling, shifting the dead cigar from one corner of his mouth to the other.

"So that's the way of it, is it?" he commented. "He was working for his own pocket all the time, and Uncle Brock stands pat and slips him the ace he was needing to make his hand a winner. Between you and me, Norcross, I believe this d—d piker needs killing a few times, himself."

The boss sat back in his swivel chair and I could just imagine that he was trying to get some sort of proper angle on this young fellow who, in addition to his other scoundrelisms, big and little, had wrecked the life of Sheila Macrae. I knew what he was thinking.

He had a theory that no man that was ever born was either all angel or all devil, and he was hunting for the redeeming streak in this one.

When you looked right hard at the haggard face you could see something sort of half-appealing in it; something to make you think that perhaps, away back yonder before the spoiling began, there used to be a man; never a strong man, I guess, but one that might have been generous and free-hearted, maybe. I got a fleeting little glimpse of that back-number man when he turned suddenly and said:

"One night a few weeks ago when I was full up, Hatch got hold of me and told me you were out at the Kendrick place with Sheila. He made me believe that I ought to go out there and kill you, and I started to do it. Do you know why I didn't do it?"

"No," said the chief, mightily quietly. "Well, I'll tell you. One night last spring up at the Bullard you slammed me one in the face and dragged me off to my room to keep me from making a bigger ass of myself than I'd already made. I haven't forgotten that. In all these crooked years, nobody else has even taken the trouble to chuck me decently out of sight and give me a chance to brace. Drunk as I was, I remembered it that night when I was climbing up to a window in the major's house and trying to get a shot at you."

Mr. Norcross shook his head, more than half sympathetically, I thought. "Let that part of it go and tell me about this other trouble," he said. "How badly are you tangled up in this political business?"

"I've given it to you straight on the bribing proposition. Uncle Brock used me as a money carrier because—well, maybe it was because he couldn't trust Bullock. I didn't know definitely what Bullock was doing with the checks I cashed for him, though I supposed, of course, it was something that wouldn't stand daylight. It was only a side issue with me. I was coming out here anyway. I knew Sheila had made up her mind—God knows she's had cause enough; but I had a crazy notion that I'd like to be on the same side of the earth with her again for just a little while. Then this—" he trailed off in a babble of maledictions poured out upon the man who had trapped him and used him.

The boss straightened himself in his chair, but he still was speaking gently when he said:

"You are not asking my advice, and I don't owe you anything, personally. Mr. Collingwood. But I'll say to you what I might say to a better man in like circumstances. You have done all the harm you can, but, as I see it, there doesn't seem to be any need of your staying here to suffer the consequences. Why don't you go back to New York, taking your wife with you, if she will go?"

Collingwood's smile was a mere teeth-baring grimace.

"Sheila made her wedding journey with me once, when she was just eighteen. The next time she rides with me it will be at my funeral. Oh, I've earned it, and I'm not kicking. And about this other thing: I can't duck. You know what Hatch is holding me for. He told me just a little while ago that if I stepped aboard of a train, I'd be arrested before the train could pull out."

It was a handsome little precaution on the part of the chief of the grafters. If a fight should be precipitated—if the boss should try to checkmate the C. S. & W. gobble—the arrest and indictment of President Dunton's nephew would serve bully good and well as a dramatic bit of side play to keep the newspapers from printing too much about the other thing.

"If you really want to go, I think it can be arranged in some way, in spite of Hatch and his bluffing," Mr. Norcross put in quietly. "So far as our railroad troubles are concerned it will neither help nor hinder for you to stay on here, now."

As if the helpful suggestion had been a lighted match to fire a hidden mine of rage, Collingwood sprang to his feet with his dull eyes ablaze.

"No, by God!" he swore. "I'm going to make him come across with those affidavit papers first! You wait right here, Norcross. You think I'm all cur, but I'll show you. There isn't much left of me but hound dog, but even a hound dog will bite if you kick him hard enough. Lend me a gun, if you've got one and I'll—"

"Hold on—none of that!" the boss broke in sternly, jumping out of his chair to enforce the command. But before he could make the grabbing move the corridor door slammed noisily and the madman was gone.

HOW TO LIE IN BED.

[Springfield Union.]

How to lie in bed so as to get the best kind of sleep and rest is not as simple a question as it might appear. The matters of circulation and breathing, of the various physiological and psychological, unconscious and subconscious processes, are all to be considered. The posture of the body and how it is supported when reclining are matters of serious importance to the sufferer from rheumatism and other ailments, and functions which continue during repose as well as during action.

A feather bed or one in which the springs and mattresses are weak and uneven will of course tend to bend the middle of the body away from a horizontal line. If one lies on the back, then, the lower back or hip will be below the line of the head and feet. The spine is bent and this tends to some crowding and congestion of tissues and organs in front. A person who stoops or bends forward by reason of years or from another cause might enjoy unusual comfort from a feather or other such bed, in lying on his back. The effect of gravity upon a feather bed would tend to bend the body away from its usual axis if one were to lie on the side or upon the stomach, and so some unnatural strains or cramping result. A good mattress, well supported, keeps the body in a freer horizontal line, and is soft enough at the points where the sharp shoulder bone or hip needs leeway, to "give" there some. The weight of the body then is not responsible for the cramping posture when one lies on the back or side.

Unless one's back is bent forward, the shoulders rounded and head carried forward, there should be no particular trouble in sleeping on the stomach. With the face turned slightly to the left, the pillow fixed so its support comes under right ear and shoulder and the right arm lying along side of body downward, the left arm is drawn up so that elbow and forearm carries weight of left shoulder and hand is up near face. A little study or adjustment of pillow and posture may be needed in the individual case and temperament, and also a changing over from side to side, but in ordinary cases it would seem as though a position could be assumed which would minimize discomfort, a feeling of stiffness, strain or cramping.

SOUTH THOMASTON

The tune was $105 that the crowd ate and danced to last Friday night at the Grange hall—and such a crowd! No less than 500 people passed in and out the doors during the evening and it was the best time of all. Many came only for the pleasant ride, good supper and the delightful dancing to Marston's good music, but many others came because they realize our position and are in sympathy with our announcement. We intend to fight the bitter end regardless of published opinions of "outsiders" who do not come out in a straightforward manner, but choose to hide behind an anon.

All persons know that a disinterested party will take no part in a fight like we are making and therefore the article signed by an "outsider" is rather thin and of little consequence to us. We are willing the world should know where we stand and are not averse to having our names signed to any article we see fit to place before the public. We realize that our efforts are being watched with interest by many who are not in sympathy with us and we surely expect opposition, but we fear none of it. Our motto is "Smile and keep on a-pegging," and that is what we intend to do, regardless of all which may be said or done against us. Come again next Friday night—everybody.

CHIEF JUSTICE DIES

Head of U. S. Supreme Court Was Former Summer Resident of Camden.

Edward Douglas White, chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, and formerly a summer resident of Camden, died in Washington, D. C., Thursday, following an operation of last Friday.

He was born in the parish of Lafourche, La., Nov. 2, 1845. His parents were Catholics, and he was of that faith.

Chief Justice White served in the Confederate Army during the Civil War; practiced law among the people of Louisiana, and became a sugar planter on his lands. In 1874 he was elected as senator in the Louisiana legislature. Four years later he was appointed associate justice of the Supreme Court of the State.

In 1891 Mr. White became a national figure. A senatorial contest was waged in Louisiana, and he entered the race. He had managed the campaign of Governor Nichols for re-election and had been prominent in the reform movement.

The legislature finally chose him to succeed Senator Rustin. Chief Justice White was in the Senate three years before he was elevated to the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States by President Cleveland, in 1894. During that period, he distinguished himself on two occasions. Once was in the debate on the Anti-Option law, when Senator White made a profound legal argument against the constitutionality of the measure. The other occasion was during the struggle over the repeal of the Sherman Act, when he advocated the views of President Cleveland. It was known to entertain on the subject. His nomination to the bench ended a memorable contest in the Senate. Two New Yorkers had been nominated by President Cleveland, but both failed of confirmation. Throwing to the winds the custom which for 88 years had kept a New York man on the bench, Mr. Cleveland named Senator White. He was confirmed within an hour.

Almost as unusual as his appointment as associate justice was his elevation to the chief justiceship. In 1910, when President Taft was sought by various factions of the Republican party to appoint first this man and then that to succeed Chief Justice Fuller, the President boldly disregarded the custom regarding the selection of justices from his own party and that precedent favoring the promotion of an associate justice to the chief justiceship, and sent to the Senate the nomination of Justice White. His nomination was confirmed immediately.

SELENIUM AND TELLURIUM.

Cancer Can Be Cured By Them, Says American Chemist and Scientist.

"Cancer" can be cured by radium, says Mme. Curie, the Polish-French scientist now visiting America.

"Cancer" can be cured by the use of selenium and tellurium, a more plentiful and less costly element, says F. W. Humphreys of Brooklyn, an American born student of chemistry and science, who has devoted years to the study of the cause of cancer and the discovery of methods for relief.

The medical world has struggled for years in an attempt to combat and conquer the dreaded cancer. Notwithstanding all the effort and expenditures put forth, statistics show the disease is continually increasing and the number of deaths now exceeds the toll taken by tuberculosis.

This appalling condition exists in all civilized countries, and in Great Britain the disease is referred to as a plague. It is making remarkable inroads in our own country, and in New York City records show a constant annual increase in the number of cases and resultant fatalities is quite alarming. There were 5,361 deaths from cancer in the city of New York in 1920.

For the purpose of further developing methods of control and treatment of disease by the use of selenium and tellurium discovered by a number of local scientists, chemists and physicians, the Basic Cancer Research has been organized and an efficient laboratory established at 347 Union street, Brooklyn.

The object of this institution is to perfect the application of the special rare elements discovered, and to freely disseminate the information amongst all physicians, that the benefits may quickly reach the greatest number of sufferers. The plan of the board of managers also includes the establishment of hospitals and institutions in various large centers of population for the free treatment of patients who are unable to pay.

Through the education of the people and special instruction to physicians it is hoped it may soon be possible to gain control of and eradicate the disease which now appears so great a menace. F. W. Humphreys, one of the organizers of the new institution, estimates that within 10 years, or perhaps less time cancer will no longer be considered a fatal disease.

ADMITTED ERROR

Handwriting Expert In Will Case Acknowledged Con To Rockland Lawyer.

Experts in hand writing are not always infallible, writes Sam Connor in the Lewiston Journal. As a rule they do not claim that they are. Most of the men engaged in that work admit that at times they are fooled.

However, the results achieved by them are such as to cause most attorneys, when they have a case of handwriting which is questionable, to call in the experts. Merritt Johnson of Rockland, one of the prominent attorneys of Maine, had a recent case where a question of handwriting before it was finally disposed of presented, some very interesting features.

This was a will case. The writing was in a strong flowing hand and the question of its genuineness and of that of some of the signatures was raised. At the first inspection the opinion was that the body of the will as well as the signatures—that of the maker and the three witnesses—were all written by the same person.

One of the leading handwriting experts of New England was called into the case. He was given the will and asked to render an opinion on it. After several hours study of the document under a powerful glass the expert passed the will back. "The body of the will and the first signature are undoubtedly written by the same person," was his verdict, "but beyond that I will not go. I have studied this writing and applied every test to it which I know. There are so many twists and quirks to the writing that I am positive as to the body and first signature; that writing could be imitated only photographically. As for the other signatures I cannot say; it is possible that four people might write like that, but hardly probable; I can't help you."

Later Mr. Johnson went hunting these witnesses out. The first, a man more than 70 years of age, who was an invalid confined to the house of rheumatism. He was shown the will and his signature. "It is my writing," said he, "but I don't remember of ever signing the paper."

That surely sounded strange, so Mr. Johnson talked with him for some time. In the course of the talk he asked the man what his business had been. "I was a sail maker," was the answer. Having in mind the fine writing which the man had admitted was his, Mr. Johnson asked him if he was the bookkeeper.

"No, no," was the reply, "I used the pen and awl."

"How did you learn to write that way," he was asked.

"It seemed to come natural to me; I only got the common school education in writing and did considerable practicing."

He was asked if he would write his name and said he would if they would give him a steel pen. Such a pen was procured and he wrote his name. It was identical with the writing on the will.

The next one of the witnesses to the will was a woman, also more than 70 years of age. When the reason of the call was stated to her, she said she remembered it perfectly; that the deed was signed 10 years before in her house. She and the other woman witness were there and the man came in and about the same time the maker of the will, who was a neighbor came.

After greetings the woman said to them "Why can't you witness my will?"

Upon their agreeing to do so, she went home and returned with the document which they did witness. Having told that the old lady had not seen the will, said, "and now I can tell you just how the names appear, the order in which they are arranged for Mrs.—told us just where to place them," and she told the order exactly.

Samples of her known signature, as well as that of the man, were sent to the expert who had studied the will. In returning them to Mr. Johnson he admitted his error in one word; he wrote:

just sick

Not quite ready to give up but very near it. The cheapest and best plan when you feel this way is to "give up" for a day or two, stay in the house, keep quiet, eat lightly of simple food and take a mild laxative that will REACH THE LIVER. You may have a favorite pill or tablet, but don't overlook the fact that NOW you need a prescription to give you RESISTANCE—a tonic for the vital organs to assure good digestion, pure blood and natural action of the bowels and kidneys. We recommend "L. F." Medicine because it has helped so many. 60 doses for 50 cents. "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Me.

TENANT'S HARBOR

Mrs. Mary J. Simmons

In the passing of Mrs. Mary J. Simmons, whose sudden death occurred at her home May 15, St. George lost one of its most highly respected citizens. A well-spoken lady came to a peaceful close, and many regret to learn of her demise. She was born and had made her home in this town the greater part of her life, where by her genial manner and kindly spirit she won a large place in the hearts of her friends and townspeople. She united with the Baptist church in her early life, and the 23d Psalm was a great comfort to her in time of trouble. Hers was a beautiful Christian life. She always remembered the sick and those in sorrow with cheering words and helpful deeds. She was a charter member of Puritan Rebeccah Lodge and also its oldest member at the time of her death. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Treva Hooper of Martinsville, Mrs. Walter Merchant of Rockland and Mrs. A. I. Stuart of Bath, and a son, Walter Simmons of this place; also a step-daughter, Mrs. Levi Robinson of Rockland, two step-sons, Capt. J. W. Simmons of Providence, and two sisters, Mrs. George Johnson of Gloucester, Mass., and Mrs. Emma Ludwig of Bridgeport, Conn., also survive her. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at her late home, and were largely attended. Rev. S. E. Packard of Waldoboro officiated. A profusion of beautiful flowers were silent testimonies of love and esteem. Interment was in Seaside cemetery.

He sees when their footsteps falter when their hearts grow weak and faint, He bids them rest for a season, for the pathway has grown too steep. And folded in fair green pastures, he giveth his loved ones sleep.

Weep not that their toils are over, weep not that their race is run; God grant we may rest as calmly, when our work like theirs is done! Till the world's end yield with gladness our treasures to him to keep, And rejoice in the sweet assurance, he giveth his loved ones sleep.

SPIRITUALISTS IN CAMDEN

Fifty-Six Voting Delegates Present At Annual Convention—Lively Set of Resolutions.

A steady growth of interest in psychic matters was noted in the annual reports of the Maine State Spiritualist Association, which held its annual convention in Camden Saturday. The trustees of the Harrison D. Barrett Foundation reported a substantial increase in the endowment fund, the income of which will be used the coming year in spreading the faith to sections of the State not now covered.

The business meetings were held in the Firemen's Hall, and among the active participants were two of the association's most venerable members, Samuel E. Gile of Etna, aged 87, and Freeman W. Smith of Verona (formerly of Rockland) aged 85. Fifty-six voting members were present, and prominent among them was Mark A. Barwise of Bangor, who was one of the leading members of the last Legislature. The meetings were presided over by Arthur C. Smith of Bangor, who was re-elected president of the Association for his fifth term. Other officers chosen are George E. Whipple, Portland, and Dr. Josephine E. Cony, Augusta, vice presidents; Mrs. Mary Drake Jenne, Etna, secretary; Mrs. Florence Hawes, Lewiston, treasurer; These officers, together with Joseph E. Mullen, Lincolnville; Frederick E. Hall, Unity; Mark Johnson, Madison; and Chester H. Lucas, Portland, comprise the official board of directors.

Mrs. Ellen E. Foss of Etna was elected to the board of trustees for three years.

President Smith, Frederick E. Hall, George E. Whipple, and Winfield S. Waldron of Hallowell were elected delegates to the National Convention.

Among the resolutions adopted were the following:

We believe in Infinite Intelligence. We believe that the phenomena of nature, both physical and spiritual, are the expression of Infinite Intelligence.

We affirm that a correct understanding of such expression and living in accordance therewith, constitute true religion.

We affirm that the existence and personal identity of the individual continues after the change called death.

We affirm that communication with the so-called dead is a fact, scientifically proven by the phenomena of Spiritualism.

We believe that the highest morality is contained in the Golden Rule: "Whatsoever ye would that others should do unto you, do ye also unto them."

We affirm the moral responsibility of the individual, and that he makes his own happiness or unhappiness as he obeys or disobeys Nature's physical and spiritual laws.

We affirm that the doorway to reformation is never closed against any human soul here or hereafter.

CAMDEN

Charles Atkins is at Knox Hospital, Rockland, for an operation and throat treatment.

"A Couple of Million" which is to be produced by the High School students about the middle of June, is a 4-act royalty play, destined to prove very popular.

which will be held in Detroit next October.

Several places have asked the privileges of entertaining the next convention, but Portland will probably be chosen, it was said.

Public lectures and seances held Saturday night and Sunday proved very interesting, and were attended by the general public as well as the delegates. Converse E. Nickerson of California proved an eloquent lecturer. The seances were conducted by W. S. Waldron of Hallowell.

Among the resolutions adopted were the following:

We believe in Infinite Intelligence. We believe that the phenomena of nature, both physical and spiritual, are the expression of Infinite Intelligence.

MANCHESTER MAN WAS FORCED TO QUIT WORK

Trip To Canada Fails To Help
Boulanger — Takes Tanlac and Improvement Has Been Wonderful.

George Boulanger, 180 Beach St., Manchester, N. H., relates an experience with Tanlac both interesting and remarkable. He says "Nearly a year ago I had an attack of nervousness and stomach trouble that came near putting me out of business. I became very weak, felt tired all the time and lost all my energy. In fact I got so bad off I had to quit work.

"I took a trip to Canada trying to recuperate, but after staying there six weeks I came home feeling worse than when I went away. The indigestion caused weak spells when every bit of my strength seemed to leave me, and the cramping in my stomach and pains through my chest were so bad I couldn't even take a long breath.

"I could eat but very little at any time and even that always hurt me severely. My back over my kidneys pained me terribly and my sleep was so broken that I felt as bad in the mornings as on going to bed at night.

"A friend advised me to take Tanlac and in a short time I felt myself improving all over. My troubles are all gone now, my nerves are steady and my sleep is sound and restful. Seven bottles did the work, but I'm going to take a couple more bottles to clinch the splendid results.

"My wife is just as proud as I am of my restoration to health and both of us are glad to praise the medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Rockland by Corner Drug Store; in Washington by F. L. Ludwig; in North Haven by W. S. Hopkins; in South Thomaston by L. O. Hanley, and by the leading druggists in every town.—adv.

PARK THEATRE

Clayton, the Mystic Marvel, and Fine Lot of Feature Pictures in Double Bill.

The Mystic Clayton industriously polished a shining crystal globe at Park Theatre last night, and astonished some two-score of the spectators, who had propounded questions in response to his request.

The method of operation is very simple. Two assistants pass among the audience small envelopes. These are numbered. Within is a card on which you are asked to write your name and the question you wish to ask. Then you seal it and return it to the assistant, who in turn carries it to a table on the stage. It is not touched by Clayton. Then comes the crystal globe. Gazing into this Clayton calls out, say, number one, gives name signed on card and asks the party to raise his or her hand. Then the Mystic tells you what you have asked and the answer. These questions vary from matters of love to questions of investments, lost articles, and queries as to health.

Clayton does not claim to be supernatural and spurns the suggestion that he is a fortune teller. Psychic phenomena and mental study enable him to perform his astonishing feats. Friday afternoon he is to give a special matinee for ladies only.

"Don't Call Me Little Girl" is the title of today's feature, in which Mary Miles Minter has the role of an 18-year-old who is being treated like a child in order that her mother may appear young. She finally decides to strike and family affairs are turned topsy-turvy.

A production de luxe is "The Devil's Pass Key," Wednesday's offering. It is the tremendous story of an American playwright in Paris who dramatized the indiscretions of an unknown woman and brought himself fame and fortune. Then he learned the woman was his own wife. What did he do to untangle the meshes and scandal and gossip?

Bebe Daniels comes a-starring Thursday in "You Never Can Tell." You never can tell what a pretty girl is going to do next. There was Rowena Patricia Jones who set her cap for (rather someone else's for cloak) for a rounder, and caught a prince who was on the square.—adv.

In Social Circles

In addition to personal notes recording departures and arrivals, this department especially desires information of social happenings, parties, musicales, etc. Notes sent by mail or telephone will be gladly received.

Esten W. Porter of New York was in the city the last of the week, called by the critical illness of his brother J. M. Porter in Waldoboro.

Masters Robert and Hervey Allen, Jr. are at the Copper Kettle while their parents are on a trip to Boston and vicinity.

Frank P. Wight who is on the staff of the Mutual Shipping Service, Inc., Boston, was a guest over Sunday at his former home on Claremont street.

Capt. E. A. Butler, who has been spending the winter on the West Coast and in Honolulu, leaves San Francisco the last of the week, and expects to arrive home June 1st, which very closely follows the schedule laid down by that methodical gentleman in advance of his tour. Through the medium of The Courier-Gazette, sent to him with religious regularity by his business associate Capt. Charles E. Hall, he has kept thoroughly posted on home news. To Capt. Hall he writes: "I have remained well, and enjoyed myself very much with my old friends as well as the new ones made. I saw Mr. and Mrs. Maynard S. Bird as they were on the point of starting for home May 15." Mr. and Mrs. Bird were returning from Japan.

Stephen H. Cables, Jr., who has been a student at the American School of Osteopathy, Kirksville, Mo., is home for the summer, and will be employed during the summer at the store of M. B. & C. O. Perry.

H. B. Bowes, recently operated upon for appendicitis at Knox Hospital, has returned to his home on Claremont street, and is making quick recovery.

The Ladies Aid of Littlefield Memorial church will meet with Mrs. Barter, 2 Adams street, Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cooper, Thomas Benner and Joseph Damon, arrived home yesterday from Waterville, whither they had motored to spend Sunday with Mrs. Cooper's sister, Mrs. L. E. Young. Their departure for home was delayed by the great tornado which left so much wreckage in the streets that traffic was impossible until late at night. The elements dealt destruction all around, and Mr. Cooper says it was a sight he will never forget.

Mrs. Florence Haley Cowie, who has been spending the winter at Boca Grande, Fla., has arrived at Bethlehem, N. H., accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Haley. "I hope Rockland friends traveling through the mountains this summer will look us up at the Bethlehem Country Club," writes Mrs. Cowie.

N. L. Witham and Earle Brewster have been visiting in Boston and Portland.

The Patchwork Club of the Relief Corps will have work Thursday forenoon as there is much to be done before the State convention. Picnic dinner will be served. The Relief Corps has its work meeting in the afternoon, and its regular meeting in the evening. The circle supper is to be an extra nice one, they say.

The Thursday Charity Club will be entertained by Miss Arau and Mrs. Annie Haskell in Camden Thursday.

Capt. and Mrs. Israel Snow, Francis Snow and Isaac Snow, 2d, motored to Bangor Sunday, where they were joined by Miss Kathleen Snow who is teaching in Millinocket, and Miss Ruth Spear and John Philip Waite, who are attending University of Maine.

George E. Carr, who has been visiting his son Nelson returned to Seaport yesterday to view with his own eyes the damage done by Sunday's tornado.

Miss Frances Wheeler of Dorchester, Mass., is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Richan.

Alden Webster of Orono is making a brief visit with his daughter, Mrs. Clarence A. Whitney.

Miss Thelma Oxtan gave a utility shower at her home on Warren street last evening in honor of Mrs. Russell Wood. Arrangements had been made quietly and Mrs. Wood was not aware of the presence of 19 friends until she entered the room. She was the recipient of many useful gifts, candy, music and refreshments made the time slip by very pleasantly.

Mr. and Mrs. Flood (Grace Austin) who have been making an extended visit in California, left San Francisco for Rockland last week.

Mrs. G. L. Crockett is visiting her mother Mrs. Philona Furbush in East Wilton.

The Dorcas Club, scheduled to hold its weekly meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Annie Bird at her apartments at The Laurie, turned the occasion into a recognition of that lady's birthday, bringing with them the essentials of a dainty supper. The great surprise of the affair doubly added to the pleasure of the rally whose anniversary was thus celebrated.

C. Angus McInnis is home from Eagle Rock, Va.

Mrs. Howard Waltz and Mrs. Ellis-worth Waltz spent Sunday in Damariscotta Mills.

George A. Morse has returned from Portland with a favorable report concerning his son Harry, who has been in ill health for the past four months.

A utility shower was given at the home of Mrs. E. W. Thurlow, Oak street, Friday evening, for Miss Jeannette McCourtie, of Clark Island, whose marriage takes place the coming month. Miss McCourtie has been employed at Mrs. Thurlow's ice cream parlors the past nine years and her departure next Monday will be sincerely regretted by the patrons as it certainly is by Mrs. Thurlow. The shower was planned for a surprise, and nobody doubted its success when the lights were turned on and Miss McCourtie found a company of 21 assembled. The gifts included cut glass, linen, agate ware, etc., and all were attached to strings which led the happy recipient to all parts of the house before the fine assortment had been retrieved. Lunch was served.

Mrs. Clara Egan and Edna McIntire attended the Grand Lodge of Pythian Sisters in Portland last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Whitney arrived yesterday from Fruitland Park, Fla., where the season has been an unusually successful one. There had been no rains since February until a week ago when a thunderstorm started a succession of them. The winter was one of the finest ever, according to Mr. Whitney, and he comes back nicely bonded to prove that it has agreed with him.

Tybo Huckle was in Bath yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Morey returned Friday from Union, where they passed a week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gleason. They report a most delightful outing, and were royally entertained at the large farmhouse where everything possible was done to make their visit enjoyable in the extreme.

Announcement cards received yesterday read: "Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Perkins Pillsbury announce the marriage of their sister Anna to Mr. Homer Allen Yates, on Saturday, May 21st, 1921, at Springfield, Mass." The married couple will be at home after June 1 at 1059 Beacon street, Brookline. The bride, who is a lovely and accomplished young woman, has been a frequent visitor to Rockland, where she is held in affectionate regard by a wide circle of friends, from whom warm congratulations will be extended. The bride couple are expected to spend a portion of the summer at Owls Head, where they have a cottage.

Dr. J. W. Wilde arrived home from Bath last night.

Verne B. Paul L. and Mona A. Noyes who have been recent guests of their brother, Warren Noyes, Orange street have returned to their home in Topsfield.

Camp Fire Girls and Boy Scouts to the number of 33 accompanied by their guardian, Mrs. Horatio D. Crie, went to Oakland Park for a picnic supper on the beach Saturday afternoon. The menu included fruit, hot nuts, cake and marshmallows toasted. Eighteen different varieties of wild flowers were found. The afternoon passed away all too quickly with playing games, singing, etc. The hike home by moonlight was one of the best features of the outing, and many plans were talked of for future trips together.

The W. C. T. U. is to meet Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. George A. Brewster, Rankin street, new members especially being asked to attend.

"The Pageant of the Year" which is being repeated at the Universalist vestry tomorrow evening, will be supplemented by other attractions. No admission is charged, but an offering will be taken.

Mrs. Malvie K. Sprague, who has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. A. F. Pillsbury in Berkeley, Calif., since September, 1919, arrived home last night, accompanied by Mrs. Pillsbury, who will spend several weeks here before starting for the Pacific Coast, and who plans to be in Cambridge when her son, Edwin Sprague Pillsbury, graduates from Harvard Law School in June. Mrs. Sprague and Mrs. Pillsbury on their journey eastward made a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Whitcomb in West Medford. Mrs. Sprague comes back after her prolonged absence in excellent health, and treasuring happy memories of her stay in the West, which gave her an opportunity to visit numerous points she had always desired to see, and concerning which she wrote from time to time a series of most entertaining letters. One of her trips from Berkeley was to the home of her niece, Mrs. Derk Vinkemulder in Colfax, Calif.

Fishing Tips

Knox county fishermen have been backing up their yarns this spring with some pretty good strings of salmon, but when Harold B. Burgess came into The Courier-Gazette office yesterday morning and displayed the 8-pounder which he had just caught in Megunticook Lake, all other entries in the several prize contests shrank to the size of minnows. Mr. Burgess has done considerable fishing this season, and without much reward, numerically. But his catch of a 7-pounder a week ago, supplemented by his latest prize, makes him feel that his season has not been spent in vain. He was one hour and 10 minutes landing the 8-pounder. Charles Hopkins of Camden was his boat-mate at the time. The fish is high line for the $15 fishing outfit offered by Mark Ingraham of Camden, the prize offered by the Thomas Sporting Goods Co. and the 21 meals at the Bee Hive.

ROCKLAND'S SWEET REVENGE

Takes a Game From Camden In the Shadow of Mt. Battie—Upton Pitches No Hit, No Run Game Against Vinalhaven High.

Saturday's Results.
At Camden—Rockland High 9,
Camden High 7.
At Vinalhaven—Thomaston High 4,
Vinalhaven High 0.
At Newcastle—Lincoln Academy 21,
Rockport High 11.

The League Standing.
The Saturday games in the Knox and Lincoln League brought about some radical changes in the official standing. Thomaston High increased its already commanding lead, and the runner up is now Rockland High, which has jumped from fourth to second place. Lincoln Academy, which got away to a fast start, losing three straight games is now tie with Camden and Vinalhaven for third place and all three are but a half game behind Rockland.

Thomaston has three more games to play, one each with Lincoln Academy and Camden away from home, and one with Rockland on home ground. It is hardly reasonable to suppose that she will lose all three, certainly not if she continues the present stride—but should she lose two of the three, it would still be possible for Rockland, Camden or Vinalhaven to win the pennant. Lincoln Academy could only tie; Rockport is already eliminated. At this writing Thomaston certainly looks to be the best bet. The following:

Won Last Per. Ct.

Thomaston High,	357
Rockland High,	300
Camden High,	250
Vinalhaven High,	250
Lincoln Academy,	300
Rockport High,	900

Rockland 9, Camden 7.
It took several years to perform the deed, but Rockland High school has at last won a game in Camden. A big crowd witnessed Saturday's struggle, the outcome of which remained in doubt until the last man was out in the last inning. Mealey's clean handling of a hard hit grounder turned the scales in Rockland's favor, and the 9th inning rally which had held so much hope for the supporters of the home team ended in their bitter disappointment.

An abundance of "ifs" intrudes upon the retrospect of this game. If, for instance, the Rockland players had followed their grand opening of the first inning they might have clinched the game in the first inning. Instead they committed all the offences known in the baseball calendar and failed to make a single tally. If Calderwood had been "yanked" in the third inning when he was dealing out compliments with such a lavish hand, Rockland might not have accumulated its quintet of runs. But it was thought that Calderwood's wildness was but the matter of a moment and the embryo Davidson did not take his place in the box until the 5th inning. If the aforesaid embryo Davidson, yelped Willey, had not have a ball to great height, i. e. to the rafters of the grandstand, in the 5th inning Rockland might not have taken the lead. And so it goes.

That first inning brought gray hairs into the devoted heads of the Rockland fans who have been so long taking their medicine in Camden for several years. 'Twas like his, Ordo Record struck out, but Dodge fozzled the third strike. Rockland's initial batsmen were safe at first. He stole second, and undertook to score on Mealey's single, with no more chance of doing it than a snowball has of remaining hard and crisp in hades. He was thrown out at the plate with ridiculous ease. To make matters worse Mealey was caught napping at second, and the same fate overtook Brackett who had followed with another clean single.

Camden was first to score, Hanson's single bringing home Calderwood, who had reached first on Record's error. The 3rd inning was a jubilee occasion for Rockland, five scores being made with assistance of four homers and singles by Brackett and C. Record.

Camden tied the score next inning by a vigorous onslaught upon pitcher Flanagan. Willey led off with a smashing liner to right field. The brisk wind carried the ball far over Cohen's head, and Willey went to third. A smart single by Ben sent him home. Hanson won hits a line drive to left field. Clyde Record, proceeding on the assumption that it is a foul makes no attempt to return the ball, and a spectator finally restores it to the playing surface. Two runs had meantime been scored. There was a prolonged argument as the result of this unusual incident, and only the cooler judgment of Rockland sportsmen prevented the Rockland team from leaving the field. Camden scored once more in this inning, when Morse singled, stole second and third, and went home on a passed ball.

Encouraged by its good fortune Camden substituted Willey, who proved very effective in spite of the four bases on balls and two costly wild pitches. Flanagan steadied down amazingly after the demoralizing 4th inning, and struck out seven of the next nine men who faced him.

Only one earned run was made off him in the remainder of the game. Willey scored a run for Camden, in the 8th, but sharp work on the part of Record and Ludwig headed off what promised to be a bad inning.

Thus the two teams came to the home stretch 6 and 6. Eight men on the Rockland team batted in the 9th, with a net result of three runs, which were produced through two bases on balls, a wild pitch, Record's single and Ogier's brace of mishaps.

Camden went to bat in her half of the 9th three scores in arrears, and facing a most dubious outlook. But the head of the list was up and Camden was in no quitting mood. Ogier fielded to Mealey. Clark singled, reached third on steals, and scored on Dodge's sacrifice. Ludwig to Frackett. Calderwood singled. Mealey erred on Willey's grounder, and when the excited spectators took count of stock they found that Camden had men on second and third, with two down, and two scores needed to tie. Bean made a fine offer to save the day, but Mealey came across with a fine play and the suspense was over.

The score:

Thomaston 4, Vinalhaven 0.
Upham pitched a no-hit, no-run game at Vinalhaven Saturday. Only 27 men faced him and second base was forbidden ground. Risteen threw out the only two who tried to steal second, by perfect throws to E. Lindsey, who had the ball waiting for the runners. Upham started the only double play of the game in the third inning after he had walked the first man up. The next man hit to him an easy grounder, which was thrown to E. Lindsey, and by the latter to Elliot for a neat double play. The game by innings:

E. Lindsey hit the second ball pitched on a single to center and stole second. A. Lindsey struck out. Sawyer fled to second and Feehan struck out. Vinalhaven went out on two grounders to short and second and a pop fly to third. Newbert singled in second for Thomaston but died at second on a fielder's choice. Lineken reached first, but the next two were easy outs.

In the third, with one down, Bontell was safe on Sawyer's error the only slip-up for Thomaston, but was put out a second later by Risteen's beautiful throw. Raymond struck out. E. Lindsey drew a base on balls in starting the third for Thomaston, but the next three men were easy outs. Arey walked for Vinalhaven, but died at second on a neat double play. Hall struck out. In the fourth Newbert started the ball rolling for Thomaston with a scorching triple to right, and scored on Capt. Lineken single to the same place; Lineken stole second, and Elliot put him on third with a neat bunt down the third base line. Risteen scored his captain with a timely single to center; Upham walked and E. Lindsey went out stealing. Risteen to E. Lindsey, on a perfect throw, Raymond was out Sawyer to Elliot.

In the sixth Arey deceived his second base on balls, but was caught napping off first, after Lynch lined to Sawyer, who made the catch with his bare hand. Hall fanned. In the eighth after Snow had fanned—the ninth strike out for Upham—Bontell was hit by a pitched ball, but went out stealing. Risteen to E. Lindsey, on a perfect throw, Raymond was out Sawyer to Elliot.

In the ninth Capt. Lineken disposed of the first two men on two beautiful stops and throws of hard hit balls. Hall fled to Sawyer for the last out of the game, and Upham had achieved what every big League pitcher desires—a no-hit, no-run game.

Camden High defeated Belfast High 12 to 7 in Belfast Friday, with four pitchers taking turns in the box. Nickerson pitched for Belfast. Camden made 15 hits and 7 errors. Belfast made 12 hits and 9 errors. Willey started at bat making a double and a triple. Clark accepted all of his eight chances at second.

One of the most interesting spectators at Saturday's game in Camden was John H. Flanagan of the Rockland Post Office staff, whose son is doing such highly creditable work in the box for Rockland High this season. Leroy D. Perry also of the Rockland Post Office staff, acted as body guard, but neither man wore the 45 Colt prescribed by Postmaster General Hays. In fact they appeared to be very much among friends for the Camden Post Office boys with whom they are very popular remained with them on the sidelines all the afternoon.

Camden already has a local team and it will make its initial appearance in Belfast Saturday. George Boynton, who did such good work in the box for Camden last season will again be on the mound. To the sporting editor he looks fit. Rockland will undoubtedly have a local team, but as a rule nothing much is ever done in that line, here until the High School season is over.

Charlie Wotton, a Rockland student who is adding much to the athletic lustre of the Abbott School, won the interscholastic championship in the Bowdoin courts Saturday. The Portland Sunday Telegram said: "Wotton's form was excellent and his endurance stood him in good stead. Webber of Gardiner, Wotton's semi-final opponent, played a very fast game. Wotton is a senior at Abbott and intends to enter Bowdoin in the fall. He is not only a star tennis player, but also an all round athlete who should make a noteworthy addition to Bowdoin's string."

VINALHAVEN

James Sanderson, who arrived last week from Boston, is employed at the electric plant.

Helen and Harry Tolman of Montague arrived Wednesday and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Roberts. Mr. Tolman will return home Monday. Albert Carver of Boston University arrived Saturday for the summer vacation.

The High School orchestra is rushing rehearsals for the Music Festival at Camden. They are under the direction of Supervisor of Music, Albra Vinal Smith.

The Sewing Club was entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Carrie Cassie, where an excellent supper was served.

Mrs. Alley, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Knowlton, returned Saturday to Camden.

Arthur Thomas is employed as clerk at C. S. Libby's grocery store.

The Deborahs will hold a candy sale on Wednesday at 4 p. m. in the Union Congregational church vestry. The president, Miss Sophronia Tolman, will be in charge.

Arthur Hatch returned to Thomaston Monday, having spent the weekend with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bunker and Lowney Bunker went Saturday to Sullivan, called by the death of their father.

The Wednesday evening meetings of the Christian Science church which were discontinued during the winter months, will be resumed June 1st.

GREEN'S ISLAND

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Witham were visitors at the lighthouse last Thursday afternoon and evening.

Mr. Gupill of Crane Isle was the guest of Bradford Bray Wednesday night.

Mrs. Bert Witham left Friday morning for her home in the city, to be absent several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robbins were at Vinalhaven Friday, guests of Mrs. Mary Noyes. Mrs. Robbins had not been away from the station for five months.

NORTH HAVEN

THE U. S. CHAIN TREAD
One of the few tires of which it may be said that they deliver economy year in and year out and tire after tire.
The U. S. Chain Tread gives sufficient traction on all ordinary road surfaces. It is probably the handsomest, and by all odds the most popular, of the whole U. S. Fabric Tire line.

"As in the greatest cities so in his own home town—the U. S. Tire user gets fresh, live tires of current production."

"In every section, however remote, you find a dealer in fresh, live U. S. Tires."

Economy rides on U.S. Tires—

If you could get together all the car owners you know, you'd probably find that their tire experiences had been much the same.

Most of them have taken their fling at "job lots," "discontinued lines" and "surplus stocks." Soon or late, nearly all settled back on quality first as the one sound assurance of tire value.

As soon as a man forgets the cut-price tag, and comes to the dealer who concentrates on a full, completely sized stock of U. S. Tires—he learns what it means to get fresh, live tires—not once in a while but every time.

Not merely in the big cities, but in his own home town.

Not merely for the heavy car, but for the medium and light-weight car—a full selection of size, tread and type.

Your U. S. Tire dealer can give you this service because of the service he gets from his neighboring U. S. Factory Branch. There are 92 of these Branches. Each gets its share of U. S. Tires, so that the dealer is always supplied with fresh, live stock.

U. S. Tires sell as fast as they are made. There is no over production. No surplus piled up waiting for a "market."

Wherever you buy a U. S. Tire—you buy a tire of current production, as full of life and value as the day it left the makers.

PORT CLYDE

Mrs. Minnie McLain and daughter Pauline of Thomaston spent the week-end with Mrs. Charles Gillmor.

Miss Rosamond Wilson has returned from Portland where she has spent the past few months.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Marshall of Rockland were recent guests of Mrs. Addie Marshall.

Mr. Seavey of Boothbay is assisting his son Fred Seavey in the store.

Mrs. Myrtle Taylor and daughter Barbara of Tenant's Harbor were calling on friends here Thursday.

Miss Chaplin, the district nurse, gave an interesting talk in the public library last Wednesday evening.

Capt. Charles Gillmor has hired the schooner H. S. Glover, and will carry freight from Rockland to Portland and places between. This new line is a great convenience to the people and undoubtedly will be well patronized.

Capt. Gillmor is assisted by Frank Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Laforest Teel of Thomaston were in town recently.

Quite extensive repairs are being made on the Ocean House.

Mrs. Broadbent and family of New York are in town for the summer.

Plans are being made for a concert to be given in the Baptist church Children's Day.
