THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Thither the Happy Pupils Will Wend Their Way Monday. The Teacher List.

The Rockland Public Schools will open next Monday. It is desired that the parents will continue to show their interest in the schools by sending their children on the first day, that they may get a good start for the school year.

An unusual effort has been made during the summer to place the school buildings in good repair, with special attention to the sanitary conditions. Much credit is due to the chairman of the repair committee, Frank A. Richardson, who has personally supervised this work. The interior of the school-houses is a matter of pride to any one interested in public welfare. The public is invited to go with their children and inspect the buildings where the future citizens are to spend the major portion of their time.

It is especially desired that a large enrollment may be had in the kindergarten. The kindergarten will be as last year, at the Grace Street School. Any child is eligible who has attained the age of 4 years and 9 months. The entering age of the first grade is 5 years and 9 months. The school regulations are as follows: "After the first half of the fall term no child shall for the first time be admitted to the schools unless he is able to do the work of some class already formed."

The superintendent finds on looking over the promotion lists that there is a possibility of a congestion in a few of the grades. The three pupils promoted from the Benner Hill 5th grade will report to Grade 6, McLain Building. The four pupils promoted from the Highland School, Grade 4, will report to Tyler Building, Grade 5. Other transfers will be made by the teachers of the various buildings who will receive their instructions Saturday, Sept. 10, at the teachers' meeting to be held at the McLain Building at 2:30 p. m.

The Rockland teaching staff will be composed of the following personnel: High School: Anna E. Coughlin, principal; John M. Richardson, Lena K. Sargent, Rita M. Calderwood, Flora E. Case, Marion E. French, Ethel L. Howard, Jeannette Simmons, Eleanor Brewster, Sara Tackaberry, Maude A. Preble, Earle L. Ferren. McLain Building: Harriette G. Trask, principal 5th grade; E. Aldana Coleman, 8th, Beulah S. Oxton 8th, Lena Thorndike 7th, Eleanore Griffith 7th, Harriette E. O'Brien 6th, Ruth E. Staples, 3d and 4th, Ida E. Carey 2d and 3d, Anna M. Hall 1st. HECKBERT'S LETTER

"Knew It Was Going To Happen Sooner or Later," He Writes.

Tuesday's mail from England brought to Mrs. Charles A. Heckbert an anxiously awaited letter from her husband, who was to have been a member of the crew bringing the ZR-2 to America. With it came a letter from Frank H. Cutler, of the U. S. Naval Rigid Airship Detachment, Howden, Yorkshire, England, in which is given a concise account of the tragedy which resulted in the loss of 44 lives. "I can't realize yet what has happened," writes Mr. Cutler, "but I know that I have lost some of the best friends and fellows in the world. My husband is in the best of health, and is at present getting some sleep, as he was out all last night in the searching party."

Mr. Heckbert's letter, dated Aug. 26, says, in part: "I have got over the bad news enough to feel like writing you. It was a bad shock to all of us at Howden. The ship had been out 36 hours on her final trial trip and was over Hull on her way back to the station to land. She was going along nicely, and all of a sudden she broke in two and exploded. Walker (the only American saved) ran for his parachute, and found it gone. He turned and ran to the tail of the airship. Just then the explosion came. The remains of the ship fell into the Humber. Walker jumped into the river and was picked up by a boat."

"It sure is a terrible shock to me to look around at the table and see only about a dozen of us left. The boys never speak of the matter at all. Howden was shocked at the news and the church flag is still half mast. I saw the ship 20 minutes before the disaster happened, and the next time I saw it there was nothing but smoke and broken girders. I knew it was going to happen sooner or later. Walker is with me and is all right. We are not going to fly any more in England so don't worry about me at all."

Mr. Heckbert's letter was closely followed by a cablegram stating that he will leave England for home Sept. 20.

Mr. Heckbert has also sent home a splendid group picture of the crew of the ZR-2 with instructions to have it carefully preserved. Later he will have the picture framed, as a sacred souvenir of an occasion which by merest chance did not also include him as a victim.

ROCKLAND THRICE WINNER.

Victorious in Ball Game at Oakland, Firemen's Muster in Randolph and Races in Gardiner.—A Labor Day Worth Remembering.

Rockland, Maine, U. S. A., was distinctly on the map Labor Day. While her baseball team was defeating Waterville at Oakland Park, her hand-tub Albert R. Havener was scooping first prize at the firemen's muster in Randolph, and Geo. W. Bachelder was lugging off the large end of the purse at the horse trot in Gardiner. It would be very difficult to convince any loyal son or daughter of the Limerock City that Labor Day, 1921, wasn't one of the very best holidays in the catalogue. Here's hoping that you, dear reader, were a participant in some of the festivities herein described.

At Oakland Park.

Nature never smiled more sweetly than it did at Oakland Park, and the 8000 persons who visited the grounds Labor Day enjoyed every moment they spent in the open. Following the popular custom of recent years Manager Trim made no attempt to have an elaborate program of sports, but gave the patrons two baseball games which is what now seems best suited to the mood of the average person in Knox county. There was band music galore, with the Oakland Park Band contributing generously as to quantity and quality. The new dancing pavilion was crowded to the piazza rail, afternoon and evening.

The first ball game found the champions of the Twilight League facing an All-Legion team. The game was to have been played for a purse of $100 but when it seemed advisable to save Thornton, the Snows showed their good sporting blood by substituting Upham and playing on a fifty-fifty basis.

The All-Legion team sent 48 men to bat, and they hit for a total of 26 bases, the attack being led by Fogarty and Clifford each of whom made two doubles and a single. In spite of this great batting rally the score was tied when the allotted nine innings were over. The Snows failed to score in their half of the 10th. Averill led off for the All-Legion team with a single, and was advanced by Fogarty's single. Clifford walked and the bases were full. Kenney grounded to Hinkley who threw Averill out the plate. Here was a fine chance for Rogers to win his own game, and he responded with a clean single.

The Waterville team came to Rockland in the last stages of over-confidence, its optimism being due to the fact that it had won the Fourth of July game at Oakland Park and the belief that it had a much stronger aggregation this time. There were other reasons why the visitors expected to win, but had they consulted any first class fortune teller he would have said that the cards didn't read that way. The Waterville team was an ill-starred bunch from the moment it was called out for not touching third base in the first inning until Orcutt was tagged out in the 7th when he listened to a voice other than the umpire's. Gold bricks and wooden money would have found a ready sale among the Waterville players Monday. The five runs which their batting rally netted them in the 6th inning gave them a temporary lead of one score, but it was all for naught.

The Rockland team played practically as it has appeared in the Saturday games this season, with the exception that Sturtevant of Thomaston was behind the bat in place of Hart, who was unable to play. He puts lots of life into the game, and the crowd is always glad to see him behind the bat. Although circumstances deprived Thornton of an opportunity to pitch, he distinguished himself by making a triple, in the making of which he proved that the Dr. Osler theory is all wrong. Lamb and Tripp gave an exhibition of classy fielding.

The Randolph Muster.

The 45 members of the Rockland Veteran Firemen's Association who went to Randolph were sanguine of bringing home a prize, but it did not enter the heads of many persons back home that they would outplay every other contestant, when there were such distinguished opponents as the Senator Baxters and Sagadahocs of Bath. The Albert R. Havener's splendid throw of 229 feet 6 3/4 inches is today the chief topic of discussion among New England's veteran firemen, and falls but little short of the tub's best play, which was 234 feet and 3/4 inch, made at Providence Aug. 16, 1906, when it was known as the Geyser.

The Albert R. Havener was taken to Randolph on Brown's Canal truck to Randolph during the day, accompanied by a goodly delegation from the Veteran Firemen's Association, who in the next 48 hours were recipients of some of the finest hospitality ever shown in the Kennebec Valley. The muster was being given by the Hecla Engine Co., which has twice been a winner in Rockland during the past two years, and which has only been waiting a suitable opportunity to show the Rockland fire laddies how much they appreciated the good times they have had down here in Rockland.

The money which the Rockland firemen took to Randolph might have been counterfeited so far as its use was concerned over there. They couldn't spend a cent if they tried and they tried and they lived literally on the fat of the land during their stay. Albert R. Havener, president of the Rockland Veteran Firemen's Association, was a special guest, with his wife, at the fine home of C. C. Marks, president of the Hecla Association and his Buick car tastefully decorated rode at the head of the procession, with the two presidents and their wives as occupants and with Mrs. Havener acting as chauffeur.

The Rockland Veteran Firemen's Association was given the right of the line, the tub being decorated with flags and bunting to correspond with President Havener's auto. The Rockland Association has not yet risen to the dignity of a drum major and a drum corps, but the company nevertheless made a fine appearance, and was well received. The procession marched into the town during the day, and the Gardner and the visitors had an opportunity to see the new High School building of which that city is so proud. The Albert R. Havener was drawn by a nobby pair of Gardner horses, which are said to have received a special prize for being the best team in line.

The play took place in the afternoon, under evenly matched conditions. The Baxter was the first to take the stand, and when it threw a stream of 222 feet 1 inch, the Bath firemen went down town and engaged the broom. Their joy knew no bounds, and they had the prize money all spent—in their imagination. The Senator Baxter's confidence grew when their deadly rivals the Sagadahocs of Bath made only 220 feet 5 1/2 inches. It was all over but the shouting, thought the Baxters.

The Havener did not take the stand until seven other tubs had played, but it was manned by a gallant bunch of huskies including several of the Heclas, who were all-possessed to have Rockland win the prize. On the brakes also was William G. Robinson, formerly of Warren whose home is now in Gardiner, and who was an entertainment committee all by himself Monday.

Anybody from Rockland was the immediate recipient of special attention from him, and nobody was happier than the ex-Warren ball player when Rockland won the prize. There were three other men just as happy, however. One was John Lurvey, who used to pump on this tub when it was known as the Gen. Berry and who felt again the joys of youth as he helped man the brakes Monday. The other two were William P. Cook and Frank Johnson, who went from the Tugus Soldiers' Home to lend their encouragement.

The Albert R. Havener was on his best behavior Monday. The crew knew that the moment the first stream shot onto the paper. President Havener and Foreman Charles H. Nye were both on the tub. When the second play was made they saw the crowd at the extreme end of the paper indulge in a great demonstration, and knew that the contest had been won. The measurement showed 229 feet 6 3/4 inches, said to be the New England record for this season. "And it was solid water, not spray," says Charles M. Harrington, who was a fireman himself in the days when Rockland fought fires with handtubs.

The brooms which the Senator Baxters had engaged were paid for by the Rockland firemen and there began a triumphal parade in which the Albert R. Havener was escorted by the Rockland company and the Heclas, with the St. Cecilia Band of Lewiston furnishing music. The victors got a tremendous ovation in both Randolph and Gardiner, and their hosts insisted that they spend the night in Randolph, where there was a continuation of the festivities. Only one dispute arose—the Heclas insisting that Rockland is the best place on earth, while the Haveners were equally insistent that Randolph has us "skoon a mile." The Randolph program included among many other things a street dance, wrestling and boxing, and everything was as free as water to the Rockland firemen.

The following is clipped from the Kennebec Journal's report of the muster:

"The merchants of both Randolph and Gardiner did their part and the city was brilliant with flags and bunting. It seemed that every tub within a hundred miles passed through the spot square during the morning hours and each one unloaded a bevy of lads, lassies or staid matrons."

"The formation of the parade was: Platoon of police, chief marshal, Waldron and aides; cavalcade of ladies on horseback, captained by Mrs. Winifred Gray; St. Cecilia Boys' Band of Lewiston; auto, containing officials; Rockland Veteran Firemen's Association, A. R. Havener handtub; Hecla Engine Co., Hecla handtub; Kennebec Drum Corps of Brunswick; Kennebec handtub of Brunswick followed by the Kennebec Veteran Firemen's Association; the Niagara of Brunswick and the Niagara handtub; chief Halliwell fire department; Halliwell drum corps; Halliwell Association, Tiger handtub; Bath drum corps; Bath Veteran Firemen's association; Senator Baxter handtub of Bath; Rockport Drum Corps; Rockport Firemen's association, G. F. Burgess handtub of Rockport; Bath drum corps; Bath association and Sagadahoc handtub; J. W. Plaisted; Farmington band; Boy Scouts, 30 in number in charge of Capt. Grant of Boston; Androscoquin association of 22 men. The handtub of the latter arrived too late to participate in the parade.

"The handtub contest started promptly on time—1 o'clock—with 10 engines, seven in the first class and three in the second class. The results were:

First Class.

A. R. Havener, Rockland, 229 feet 6 3/4 inches.
Senator Baxter, Bath, 222 feet, 1 inch.
Sagadahoc, Bath, 220 feet 5 1/2 inches.
Niagara, Brunswick, 217 feet 8 inches.
G. F. Burgess, Rockport, 210 feet, 7 inches.
Kennebec, Brunswick, 208 feet 2 1/2 inches.
G. W. Plaisted, Portland, 174 feet, 1 inch.

Second Class.

Hecla, Rockland, 206 feet 1 1/2 inches.
Tiger, Halliwell, 200 feet, 5 1/2 inches.
Androscoquin, Topsham, 182 feet 9 1/2 inches.
"At no muster within the memory of the oldest inhabitants were the events run off as quickly as at this, for no sooner had one engine pulled away than the next one was ready to 'break her down,' and at 3:15 all the events were over, not a single delay having arisen."

"While the Heclas made 206 feet, 1 1/2 inches, her record is 208 feet, 4 1/2 inches made at Gardiner in 1898. There was a rather gusty wind but it seemed to have no favorites as company had to it to contend with at some time during its play."

"The A. R. Havener of Rockland justly felt proud of their record and their engine which was formerly called the Gen. Berry and has recently been purchased by the Rockland Association after an absence of nearly 50 years."

The Gardner Races.

There were four events on the card at Gardiner and the Kennebec Journal says that the races will rank with the best ever held by the Gardner Driving Club. There were many Rockland turf enthusiasts among the spectators and they were very proud of the showing made by the Rockland horses entered by George W. Bachelder. The summaries of the two classes in which Rockland people have an interest follow:

CONTENT.

Sweet are the thoughts that savor of content;
The quiet mind is richer than a crown;
Sweet are the nights in careless slumber spent—
The poor estate seems Fortune's angry
frown;
Such sweet content, such minds, such sleep,
such bliss,
Beggars enjoy, when princes oft do miss.
The homely house that harbors quiet rest,
The cottage that affords no pride or care,
The mean, that 'grows with country music best,
The sweet consort of mirth and music's fare!
Obscured life sets down a type of bliss;
A mind content both crown and kingdom is.

"LEST WE FORGET"

The Courier-Gazette prints the following communication in the hope—and confident expectation—that its appeal to our readers may result in something being done along the indicated lines for the poor, brave chaps who fought our great battles in France, and are still suffering in hospital. It is easy to lose sight of them. A Lest We Forget Committee in every community would be worth while. The correspondent writes:

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Have you heard of the "Lest We Forget Committee" of New York? The writer is much interested in the great work being done by this splendid organization. It is an emergency committee and has no overhead expenses, no red tape, no paid workers. They do not duplicate work—they co-operate with the Red Cross, American Legion, etc., etc. They maintain rest rooms and service clubs where wounded soldiers and ex-service men are entertained and fed.

You might be interested to know that over 3000 disabled men are in hospitals within an hour of Times Square, New York City. These cases are increasing at the rate of 1000 a month. Doctors estimate that the peak will not be reached till 1929-30.

This committee is offering seven suggestions to people who are near at hand and want to be of service. No. 6, however, is universal and I am hoping that many who read this will be interested to the extent of inquiring further. The request is for letters and post cards for those who are bedridden and whose only joy is to receive mail of any kind. I have a list of ten hopeless cases that would greatly appreciate a friendly letter; and I will gladly furnish the names and addresses of these boys to anyone who "Does Not Forget" and would enjoy giving this pleasure. The addresses may be obtained from John R. Egerton, Knox street, Thomaston, Me., either by letter, or by telephone Thomaston 34-3, not later than Sept. 10, and after that at 272 West 77th Street, New York City.

IN APOLOGY.

An accident in the typesetting department compels our paper going to press this morning with a great amount of news matter unset. It will appear in Saturday's issue.

PARK THEATRE

That a crook may reform and stay reformed is admirably shown in "Proxies," a Cosmopolitan production of high merit which will be shown today and Friday. The picture, released by Paramount, is one that commends itself invincibly to every motion picture fan, because of its heart appeal and gripping dramatic qualities. Peter, a butler, portrayed by Norman Kerry, is an excellent specimen of a man whose great purpose is to live straight after spending a term in prison. He accomplishes this against odds and the telling of the story provides the spectator with many a thrill. Zena Virginia Keefe is leading woman.

No better story could have been selected for Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle than his latest Paramount picture, "The Traveling Salesman," which is seen here Saturday. Mr. Arbuckle depicts to perfection the generous-hearted, likable drummer who goes to the small town, champions the cause of the belle of the village, who is about to be demoralized by the profligacy of two villains and is rescued by marrying the one. One of the funniest spots is a poker game which proved that there is virtue in gambling at times—adv.

AT GORHAM NORMAL.

It is learned at the office of the Gorham Normal School that the enrollment for the entering class has already surpassed the total enrollment of the class of 1922, last fall's class numbering 55 students. As there are always registrations a few days before the opening of school the new class will be larger than last year by nearly 50 per cent and the total school attendance will be considerably larger than at any other time since the beginning of the war. It is anticipated that every room in Robie and East hall will be required to accommodate the students in attendance.

NEW FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

Will Be Installed If Purchasing Committee Approves.—Combination Chemical Truck Proposed.—Other City Government Matters.

The September meeting of the City Government, adjourned from Monday, on account of the holiday, was held last night. In the Board of Aldermen there was a wide range of subjects to be considered, the transactions there running the gamut from the granting of permission to have swinging signs, to the passing of an order for the installation of a new fire alarm system. Incidentally there was a discussion of the threatened lawsuit against the city for permitting the alleged nuisance to exist in the "fire zone," and the matter of a new High School building was touched upon briefly. In regard to the latter it appears that the citizens' committee is still awaiting Mr. Littlefield's new draft of a system by which the building can be financed.

The order for the installation of a new Gamewell Fire Alarm system was introduced by Alderman Erskine, and provided for the making of three notes to cover the cost which is $1775. Mayor Thorndike explained that the present system is obsolete and so worn out that the upkeep would eventually amount to more than the cost of a new system. He also said that the city was fortunate in having such a willing worker as the man now in charge of the fire alarm system, Inspector Pinkham. The order was passed, with the proviso that the city purchasing committee deems the new system advisable.

Alderman Erskine had another big card up his sleeve, and he produced it in the form of an order which calls for the appointment of a committee to work with the fire department committee in the purchase of a combination chemical truck and ladder truck, to cost $10,000, the payments on which could cover a long period of time. Alderman Erskine said that the present chemical is often useless until the truck arrives with the ladders. Two men would be sufficient to operate the combination truck, he declared. The purchasing committee was empowered to act with the fire department committee in an investigation.

Two ordinances were given preliminary passage. One calls for the tuberculosis test to be applied to cattle once a year under the direction of approved veterinarians; the other is an amendment to the ordinance in regard to exhorting.

An order was passed for an incandescent light on Glen street, after the committee had made a favorable report on an order which had laid on the table two years.

Alderman Jackson's order for the acceptance of Adams street was referred to the highway committee. Passage was given to Alderman Daggett's order for the printing of 200 copies of the annual city reports.

To the city solicitor was referred the communication of Alan L. Bird and Henry B. Bird relative to the city taking over the sewer on Shaw avenue built by them some years ago at a cost of $836. Under the terms of the contract then made the city was to buy the sewer when four houses had entered it.

The petition of Kenneth White and others for an ash sidewalk on Gay street was referred to the highway committee with recommendations for prompt action.

R. W. Richards was granted permission to build coal scales in front of his proposed office north of "The Bicknell."

Mrs. William Thompson of 28 Winter street was granted a victualer's license.

City Treasurer Virgin departed on his annual vacation leaving a balance of $19,736 in the treasury. The month's receipts were $55,108, and the disbursements were $78,358. Collector Lovejoy gathered in $72,132. Marshal Gilchrist reported 15 arrests, only two of which were for intoxication. The receipts were $192. Commissioner Ross reported that $2477 was spent on the city streets. The monthly roll of accounts showed a total of $9050.

Miss Jeannette Simmons, secretary of the board of overseers of poor, reported that 14 families are being cared for by the State and Municipal Boards of Mothers' Aid. As secretary of the latter Miss Simmons has made investigation, and filed the required reports with the State Board. Seventeen families suffered from irregular employment, but in 15 cases unemployment was linked with some disability. Five able-bodied young men with an aversion to work, have been found. It has been necessary to prod them constantly and in one flagrant case to prosecute. Five wayward girls have engaged the secretary's attention and a plan for the future guidance of these young people has been worked out.

"The situation in our city today is not a gloomy one," says Miss Simmons in conclusion. "Only two new families have been added to the list of city charges during the quarter, and one which had been regarded as permanently dependent became self-supporting. Many others dropped off in June. These have been, of course, summer months, what the winter will bring is uncertain, but we will go forward and meet to the best of our ability each situation as it arises."

Isaac Berliawsky, real estate dealer, was given permission to move a small building from 24 Rockland street to the corner of Chestnut street and Broadway, the expense to the telephone and electric companies to be borne equally between them and Mr. Berliawsky. Victor P. Hall estimated that the removal would cost the telephone company between $75 and $100, and said that the taking down of wires and cables weakens the plant. Supt. Gregory of the Street Railway estimated the expense to his company as only $15, but said that it meant considerable inconvenience and the maintenance of transfer service. Mr. Berliawsky said the work would be done very speedily, and that it would not interrupt travel nearly as much as the moving of some other buildings had done. It would also be the means of improving Rockland street.

MR. STERN'S COMPLAINT

Health Officer Agrees To Unsightliness of Fire Zone, But Matter Not In His Jurisdiction.

The announced intention of Walter T. Stern, New York attorney, to secure more desirable conditions in the "fire zone" so-called, continues to be the chief topic of conversation on the street. Now that he has Health Officer McCarty's reply, disclaiming jurisdiction in the matter, Mr. Stern is following another task, and developments of an interesting character are expected shortly. Prof. Whittier of Bowdoin College was investigating the ruins yesterday at Mr. Stern's request. The matter was discussed informally at last night's meeting of the City Government, but no action was taken. Mayor Thorndike said that the fire had meant a big loss to the owners of the property. Alderman Erskine wanted to know what an outsider was butting into the thing for. Alderman Sullivan said that it was up to the City Government to do what the law required of it.

David L. McCarty, local health officer, expresses himself in hearty accord with Mr. Stern as to the undesirable conditions which exist in connection with the fire ruins, but says that the matter does not come within his jurisdiction as health officer. Mr. McCarty's reply to Mr. Stern follows:

In reply to your complaint of August 27, 1921, will say, that I absolutely agree with you in regard to the unsightly ruins of which you complain. I personally would like to see the debris removed rather than some fence or other unsightly thing surrounding the several lots upon which the ruins are.

I have examined the ruins several times since the fire, and have yet to find anything that would be termed a nuisance under the health laws. I failed to find anything on any of the lots which I believe would be menace to health. I assume the reason you suggest a fence around the ruins is to avoid possible accidents, and also to conceal the result of the fire.

I have read chapter 25, section 8 of the revised ordinances and I am unable to find anything in that chapter or section which applies to any of the conditions of which you complain, and I believe I am correct when I say that it is not within my jurisdiction, as local Health Officer, to take any action on your complaint.

ABUSED REFERENDUM

Gov. Baxter's Advice Based on Failure of South Thomaston Petitions.

The statement of Governor Baxter respecting his decision on the South Thomaston referendum papers follows:

Under the Constitution and laws of Maine it is incumbent upon the Governor to decide whether or not petitions, filed for a referendum on a legislative act comply with the requirements as laid down in the Constitution and Statutes. There is no appeal from the Governor's decision.

Referendum petitions on the South Thomaston Act were circulated throughout the State and 10,870 names were secured. More than forty witnesses were summoned to Augusta. From the testimony presented under oath it appeared that many names on the petitions were forgeries, that many of the petitions were sworn to as having been signed in the presence of the attesting petitioner and in several cases it was established by the witnesses at the hearing that the persons who swore that the "signatures of all petitioners are the original and authentic signatures of the same persons whose names the clerk has certified thereon" knew absolutely nothing about the signatures on the petition and did not even see a single name placed thereon.

The people of Maine have a right to call for a referendum provided the legal requirements are complied with, but great care should be exercised in securing the names of petitioners. A referendum should be deliberately entered upon and should not become effective unless the people, signed the petition actually knew what sort of a document they were signing and were actually interested to secure a referendum. The will of the people, as expressed by a law passed by the Legislature, should not be over-ridden, unless the people themselves really desire that this should be done. The intent of the people can only be obtained through petitions, and if petitioners names are obtained in any manner other than what is legal and proper the will of the people is thwarted.

The Governor is of the opinion that in the future greater care should be taken in securing names on referendum petitions, so that it will not become merely a matter of paying so much per name regardless of whether or not those who sign the petitions realize what they are doing. The decision which the Governor made at the hearing on Wednesday was based on undisputed evidence and will have a wholesome effect upon the future referendum petitions. His decision means that only petitions that are properly signed will hereafter be upheld. The referendum should be used, but it should not be abused.

"What in the world are you kicking about?" asked the red-headed landlady. "When I took my room you told me there was a single hair mattress on the bed," said the thin boarder. "So I did." "Well, will you please come up to my room and show me the single hair?"

Rockland 5, Pejepscot 2.
Saturday's game at Oakland Park proved rather a tame affair for the reason that Rockland scored its runs in the first three innings, and was never in real danger of being overtaken. Woodcock, an old new England Leaguer was in the box for the Pejepsots, and Rockland made merry with his offerings for three innings. After that only one hit was made off him, thanks to good support. Rogers proved an effective moundsman for Rockland and the Pejepsots earned only one of the two runs made off him, Cottrell, Ference and Curtis did good work in the outfield. The summary: Rockland 2 2 1 0 0 0 0 x-5 Pejepsots 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0-2

THIS TIME LAST YEAR

The Labor Day celebration at Oakland Park was featured by two ball games, Rockland defeating Waterville 6 to 2, with Cottrell pitching for the home team, and the Three Crows winning the Twilight League championship by beating the Chisox 4 to 0. Gov. Brough of Arkansas addressed a political meeting. The Samoset hotel closed a very successful season. Senator Freelinghuysen of New Jersey addressed a Republican rally in Temple hall. Civil War Veterans held their annual reunion in this city. George F. Thomas of the Second Maine Battery being elected president.

There will be no Relief Corps meeting this week.

Rev. B. P. Browne will preach in Rockville Sunday at 2:30, daylight.

The regular meeting of Golden Rod Chapter is Friday night. There will be no circle supper.

The meeting at the West Meadow chapel Sunday afternoon at 2:35 will be led by Mrs. Carl Cassens.

There will be half-hour service on the Highland line from 1 to 10 p. m. today, to accommodate patrons of the Pleasant Valley Grange fair at the head of Middle street.

Mrs. A. J. Shaw has sold her residence on High street, through R. U. Collins' real estate agency, to the Episcopal parish, which will use it as a rectory. The lower flat is at present occupied by Thomas Anastasio.

Supt. Trim estimates that there were between 3,000 and 10,000 persons at Oakland Park Labor Day, and nearly 900 automobiles. In the afternoon there were 450 dancers and in the evening 1,000. The receipts at the Park were the largest ever taken there in a single day.

Harry Mealey, who played with the Lime Company team in the Twilight League the latter part of the summer, returned to Boston last night. In addition to being a clever infielder Mealey injects lots of comedy and pep into the game, and the fans will be pleased to learn that he is coming again next season.

William D. Talbot's Packard car came to grief between Warren and Thomaston Tuesday night, while the chauffeur was making an attempt to dodge a cow. With the perversity of her kind the animal maneuvered back and forth in the highway, and the automobile was finally ditched to avoid a collision. The car turned turtle and was badly damaged. Neither of the two occupants was injured.

ROCKLAND, MAINE

Lewiston State Fair next week.

Delegates to the State convention will be elected at the meeting of the W. C. T. U. in the Baptist chapel Friday afternoon. This is one of several reasons why a large attendance is urged.

The hydroplane "Pelican," which has been summering at the fashionable watering places on the Maine coast, paid Rockland a visit yesterday and alighted opposite Bicknell Terrace, where it was still floating lazily when this paper went to press. It carries a crew of five.

This is the day of the Pleasant Valley Grange fair at the head of Middle street, with a sale and baby show this afternoon, a harvest supper at 6 o'clock and an entertainment and ball in the evening, as the principal features. Half hour cars, and cars after the ball.

Considerable anxiety was felt in this city Monday night and Tuesday regarding Clarence A. Whitney and Artemas Haynes who had not returned from a fishing trip to Green Island. They left here in a motor boat Monday morning, carrying only a light lunch, as they had expected to be back before dark. Homeward bound at 4:30 p. m. with a big "fare" of plover and yellow legs, their engine went dead when they were three or four miles out. They had no oars and not even a boat hook. It was then clear, but no attention was paid to their signals. The Boston boat turned the searchlights onto them, but did not stop. Hunger came, but it was a limited menu from which they selected—a sandwich, two apples and a hard-boiled egg. Tuesday came on foggy and drizzly, and "Jerry" and "June" were much relieved that afternoon when picked up by a lobster fisherman and towed to Spruce Head. They lost no time in getting home.

Knox Pomona Grange meets with Achorn Grange, Cushing, Saturday. There will be some changes in the program. A speaker is expected.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church meets this afternoon having its mid-week opening. The society dues are now payable.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Davis are mourning the loss of their cocker spaniel Fritz, which was fatally injured the other day when overtaken by their automobile in a rutty section of the road leading to the Davis camp at Alford's Lake. The dog had been the property of Mr. Davis for some years, and was a great pet with everybody.

The qualification match, preliminary to the annual contest for the silver golf cup, will take place at the Country Club Saturday afternoon of this week, and every club member who is a player of the game is expected to take a hand. In order that this may be done on a basis of equality the handicaps are to be arranged by a committee of three club members. The contest for the cup will take place next week and to give it further interest, additional prizes will be offered by the club, one of which will go to the runner-up in the finals. A side contest will also take place between the players who fail to get into the finals, the winner and runner-up in which will both receive prizes.

MR. CRIE INTERVIEWED

Believes Lobster License Law Will Stand—Bath Going To Find Out.

Horatio D. Crie, of Rockland, director of Sea and Shore Fisheries of Maine, was in Bath Friday and was asked if he considered the act passed at the last legislature, amending chapter 45 of the Revised Statutes constitutional. The act prevents Maine people who have summer homes at the seashore from catching lobsters for their own consumption, instructing the commission to issue licenses to catch lobsters only to persons actually engaged in the business for a livelihood.

Mr. Crie said he thought it constitutional, that the legislature had the right to discriminate between persons lobstering for a living and those who were not. He further said that to date no case was in the courts which would finally wind up in the law court to determine whether this act was constitutional or not.

He was told that many Maine people who had summer homes and could not get a license believed they were being put off until the summer season was over but Mr. Crie denied any intention of putting off anybody, saying he was simply following the law and it was not up to him to decide its constitutionality, though he believed it would stand a test in the courts.

He suggested that Sabino people who wanted to catch crabs to enlarge the menu might rig up traps similar to an eel trap for this kind of shell fish and they would not require a license at all. Mr. Crie expressed an opinion that the law was not class legislation and could not be interpreted.

A local attorney has been engaged by a Bath man who is determined to see the thing through. If no other way is possible the law as on the statute books will be deliberately broken says this man and Mr. Crie notified the Bath man that the case will finally land in the law court to decide its constitutionality—Bath Times.

OLD LOBSTER CATCHER

Thinks That Maine's Former Law Should Have Been Enforced.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—A few words in answer to the lobster buyer, who wants to know if I think a lobster fisherman gets more than $25.25 a year clear of his expenses. If there is one lobster fisherman on the coast of Maine that does not make that much a year clear of his expenses he better sell his boat and lobster gear and go farming or something else that he is better fitted to do. It is true that a lighthouse keeper has coal and house-rent furnished, but you must take in to consideration that when he needs provisions he has to get into a power boat and go from one to 25 miles (and gasoline costs money) whereas the lobsterman is right at home and can drop into a store and get what he wants anytime. If the lobster fisherman doesn't make double what he did in 1906 when lobsters were selling at 6 to 10 cents apiece, or from 3 to 6 cents a pound, he better pound sand. Will you kindly tell me where I can purchase some lobsters for 30 cents a pound?

You state that lighthouse keepers are saying nothing. Kindly name one who isn't condemning the present lobster law and I will treat you to a good time if you ever come my way. You ask if Maine people have to go to non-residents to find out what you shall have for laws. Do you realize that the non-residents on the coast of Maine, in seven out of every ten towns, pay as much and more taxes in those towns than the residents? They should have something to say about the laws. Did you ever look at the list of applicants for the lighthouse service? I think you would be greatly surprised at the few names found there. I know of a man who sent in application papers a short time ago and had an offer by return mail. Does that look like the long list you speak of?

Let the lobster fishermen help protect the lobsters. I saw three lobster fishermen sit in their boats and wash the seeds off of no less than 150 lobsters they had been saving all the fall. It would be more to the credit of the Sea and Shore Fisheries Commission if they tried to enforce the laws they had, without adding more. There are thousands upon thousands of short lobsters brought into Massachusetts every year. Why not put an efficient crew of wardens along the coast of Maine and get rid of the crowd of fair-weather wardens and farmers rustivating up and down the coast blindfolded. The slaughter of short lobsters can be stopped with an efficient crew of wardens without depriving a single citizen of the State of a right to earn an honest living, whether he is employed by the United States Government or some private concern.

You say you know of one case where a fisherman had to report to the lighthouse officials that his traps were being hauled by a lighthouse keeper. A crook is a crook whether he is in the lighthouse service or not. I noticed that a man had his license revoked for hauling another's traps and he wasn't in the lighthouse service either.

This is from one who has bought and caught over a quarter of million lobsters and who expects to be allowed to catch some more when he comes to Maine next year on his vacation—a former Maine man who is greatly interested in the welfare of his home State.

Former Maine Man.

MR. CLARK'S BIRTHDAY

Popular Secretary of Elks' Lodge Furnishes Brethren With a Supper From His Own Garden.

All Elks are not vegetarians, but all Elks who attended the vegetable supper, given by Albertus W. Clarke at the Home Tuesday evening are convinced that it was one of the most delicious feasts ever served there.

The occasion of it all was Mr. Clarke's birthday—never mind what one, suffice it to say that he is serving his seventh term as secretary, and the anniversary gave him an excellent opportunity to extend the compliments of the season from his own garden. Invitations were extended to his brother officials and to all other Elks who could be reached handily.

Determined that all of the ingredients should be strictly fresh, Mr. Clarke did not gather his vegetables until the day of the banquet, and although the task was performed in the rain, not a detail was slighted. The feast was prepared in Fred Smallwood's gilt-edged style, and the menu comprised mashed potatoes, squash, string beans, cucumbers, beets, cabbage slaw, lettuce, green corn, hot rolls, coffee and doughnuts, and apples. There were two attractive birthday cakes, one from Mr. Clarke's family and one furnished by L. A. Weiss. Lots of nice adjectives were passed about during the supper, and Mr. Clarke's friends are convinced that he is a real farmer as well as register of deeds, secretary of the Elks, etc., etc.

After supper some good yarns were told and the favorite games were resorted to. Those who participated were:

PAYSON-MATTHEWS

The home of Postmaster Edward A. Matthews was the scene Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, of a very pretty home wedding, when his daughter, Doris Helen, was united to Merton E. Payson of East Union. Attended by the brother of the groom and the sister of the bride the young couple marched to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Louise Mank, to their station beneath the arch of evergreen. Rev. C. F. Smith used the impressive double ring service of the Methodist Episcopal church.

After the service the happy pair received the congratulations of the guests, together with the confetti and rice, and then all marched to the dining room where a dainty wedding breakfast had been prepared. There were covers for 20 and each one did ample justice to the occasion, after which the young couple were speeded on their brief wedding trip, with hearty cheer and many good wishes. They will be back presently, presiding at the Union Lunch Room, which they have recently purchased. Among the out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Matthews of Seaport, and Mr. and Mrs. Snow of South Thomaston, grandparents of the bride and groom.

THE KNIGHT REUNION

The ninth annual reunion of the descendants of John Knight of Lincolnville was held at Victor Grange hall, Seaport, on August 27. The hostess for this year, was Mrs. Mary Knight Robbins of Seaport. The day was glorious and members of the family began to arrive at an early hour. Tables were laid in the dining hall and an abundance of good things was served upon them. After a social hour or so, dinner was served and much enjoyed by all. After dinner, some of the sporting members played an interesting game of ball with some of the Seaport boys. Chester Knight, Melvin Knight, James Robbins and Frank Bryant would certainly give Babe Ruth reason for uneasiness had he opposed them. Several balls were lost in Quabbin Lake, or at least, when seen last were headed in that direction.

Roll call of members was next in order, and reading of the records for 1920.

Letters were read from the following absent knifolk:

John C. Gray, Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Anna Knight Baker, Harwichport, Mass., Mrs. Edith Knight Phinney, Pittsfield.

Election of officers for the coming year, resulted in the election of Bradford Y. Knight, president; first vice president, John E. Knight; second vice president, Melvin C. Knight; secretary and treasurer, Susan Knight Robbins.

The company then adjourned to the hall and listened to a piano solo by Miss Ruth Robbins and singing by Miss Priscilla Robbins. Miss Josephine Knight read several selections and Mr. Bradford Y. Knight read a little poem called "Since Susan Got The Vote" and told some humorous stories. After the entertainment ice cream was served in the dining hall, and a number of pictures were taken of the group on the lawn outside. Altogether it was a most enjoyable and successful reunion and some of the various relatives were able to be present although having passed through most critical illnesses, so we all feel most thankful and grateful for this favor.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Otis E. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Robbins, Miss Ruth Robbins, Miss Priscilla Robbins, Master Lawrence Robbins, Master James Robbins, Miss Adelia Heal, Miss Josephine Knight, and Mrs. Alice Hunt, and Miss Catherine A. MERCHANT TELLS OF

A REMARKABLE CASE

Writing from Maxey, Ga., A. J. Gillen, proprietor of a large department store at that place, says:

"I have a customer here who was in bed for three years and did not go to a meal at any time. She had five physicians and they gave her out. One bottle of Tanlac got her up, on the second bottle she commenced keeping house and on the third she did all the cooking and housework for a family of eight."

This sounds really incredible, but it comes unsolicited from a highly creditable source and is copied verbatim from a letter.

Tanlac is sold in Rockland by Corner Drug Store; in Washington by F. L. Ludwig; in North Haven by W. S. Hopkins; in Vinalhaven by F. M. White; in South Thomaston by L. O. Hanley, and by the leading druggists in every town.

FRIENDSHIP

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wincapaw have the sympathy of the community on the death of the little son Russell, who died last Wednesday. He will be much missed in the church and Sunday school, as he was so faithful. He never missed a Sunday from Sabbath school for two years and always knew his lessons. His bright and smiling face will be much missed in the community.

Friends of Cuba Collamore are very glad to hear she is improving. Llewellyn Oliver has returned home after a three weeks' visit with his grandmother, Mrs. Clarence Miller.

Dr. Little preached a very interesting sermon to a large congregation last Sunday in the M. E. church. Mrs. Russell Armstrong rendered two solos. We appreciate the help of the summer people very much and look forward to their coming again next summer.

EAST UNION

This community was very sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Melissa Wincapaw, aged 34 years, who died at her home in Union, Aug. 29. She had been in poor health for a long time. In the early part of the summer she went to Dr. Tapley's private hospital. Although everything possible was done she had a nervous breakdown. Mrs. Wincapaw was always patient with those who cared for her. She was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Blawie of Deer Isle. She leaves to mourn her loss a kind and loving husband, a daughter aged 10 years, her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Blawie of Rockville, three sisters, Mrs. U. S. Wincapaw of East Union, Mrs. Mary Gray of Deer Isle and Mrs. Addie French of Somerville, a brother, William H. Blawie, and two half-brothers, George and Edwin Blawie of Deer Isle.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey of Woburn spent Saturday with their son, David, who is a guest of William E. Dornan. Young Mr. Bailey and Miss Dornan accompanied them to Rockland on their way to Bar Harbor, and returned with B. H. Nichols of Woburn and Mrs. Helen P. Knowlton of Rockland.

The ice cream sale and speaking contest at North Union last Tuesday evening was a decided success. After the sale the welcome speech was made by Evelyn Philbrook, followed by a song by Mrs. Ada Barnes. Little Rebecca Robbins recited "My Kitty" very nicely and Evelyn Philbrook gave another recitation. The contest opened with the recitation, "Float the Flag Over Every Schoolhouse" by Evelyn Hatch, followed by "The Wise Man," by Philip Pease; "Your Flag and My Flag," by Caro Fish; "Independence" by Lewis Fish; "Don't Give Up the Ship" by Leroy Pierce. The medal was awarded to Lewis Fish. At the close of the contest, Supt. of Schools Mr. Barnes gave a very helpful paper to the children, their parents and teachers. Mrs. Leonard has been a teacher in our public schools since her graduation from the High School and beloved by all. The happy couple went to housekeeping at the old Chaplain Plumer house which had been fitted up for their occupancy. All unite in wishing them many years of happy married life.

Our little village got a scare Wednesday when smoke was seen coming from the roof of F. E. Burkett's store. Mr. Burkett was at the Waterville fair and all turned out and worked with a good will and put the fire out, but it broke out again in about an hour. The men soon had it under control. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought it was from sparks from the chimney in the Moneka block.

He went from here 50 years ago and took up the business of buying and selling cattle and has been very successful. THE HILLS REUNION

Members Enjoyed the Splendid View From Clarry Hill in Union.

The 37th annual reunion of the Hills family was held Aug. 31 at the home of E. H. Clarry, Clarry's Hill, Union. The weather man was good and furnished a bright, clear day for the occasion, which was all that was needed to view the beautiful scenery from the hill 644 feet above sea level. From the highest point, eight different counties and 60 miles of coast line can be seen and the distant mountains of New Hampshire.

A picnic dinner was served out of doors and the tables looked very attractive, with their beautiful bouquets of different colors, and great variety of nice food. After a bountiful dinner a short business meeting was held, electing officers for the coming year. During the meeting a rising vote of thanks was given Mr. and Mrs. Clarry for their kind hospitality. A photographer was present and took several pictures of the crowd.

There were about 50 present and among them were parties from Wakefield, Mass., Northport, Warren, Washington, Camden, Belfast and Rockland. Next year the reunion will be held the Wednesday following Labor Day at the home of Henry Hills in Northport, and it is hoped that a large number will be present.

Vacation Is Over.

Again the school bells ring at morning and at noon; again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged.

The little girl that a short time ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red who would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health.

Now is the time when many children should be given a tonic, which may prevent much serious trouble. No other is so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation. It aids mental development by building up the whole system.

Equally good as a medicinal preparation are Hood's Pills, which are so well adapted for both children and adults. In small doses they are a laxative, in larger doses an active cathartic.

INGRAHAM-COFFEY

Edward C. Ingraham of this city and Miss Mary C. Coffey of Brighton, Mass., were married last evening at the priest's residence on Broadway, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. J. L. Drury. Mrs. Andrew Coffey, sister-in-law of the bride, acted as matron of honor, and Postmaster John L. Donohue was groomsmen. The bride, who is a strikingly attractive young woman, was becomingly gowned in dark blue georgette, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The matron of honor wore a gown of Canton crepe.

The couple thought their plans had been quietly laid but were un deceived in that regard when they emerged from the parsonage and were greeted by a large group of friends and large quantities of confetti. They are on a honeymoon trip which is necessarily abbreviated by the fact that Mr. Ingraham at this busy season of the year is unable to leave his duties as waybill clerk at the American Railway Express office, where he has been an employee 12 years. Mr. Ingraham is a son of the late Capt. Otis Ingraham, and is exceptionally popular. The bride has been a frequent visitor in this city for some years, making her home here with her brother, Andrew Coffey.

She is a graduate of Maine Wesleyan Seminary at Kent's Hill, a past worthy matron of Nokomis Chapter, O. E. S., of Newport; vice grand of Priscilla Rebekah Lodge of Skowhegan and vice president of Sorosis. Mr. Lightbody was born in Warren, but later moved to Waterville, where he was graduated from Waterville High School. He followed this with technical training in mechanical engineering in Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind. Immediately after this he went to the torpedo station.

THE LOBSTER MARKET

Supply and Not Prohibition Responsible for Wavering Prices.

In view of the argument recently advanced by a Rockland citizen that prohibition had spoiled the lobster market in the cities, the following from a current issue of the Atlantic Fisherman will be read with interest:

"The trade handled more live lobsters so far this year than in the same time last year. On the whole, the business has not paid so well, owing to excessive supply, and the consequent weakness of the market. In March receipts from Nova Scotia were uncommonly large. When the season closed in that section about 1,000,000 pounds were held in storage cars for reserve shipment, and the same quantity for a like purpose was stored in the Maine towns. For this reason there was a steady influx of reserve stocks during June and July. Added to this was the extraordinary catch in the waters of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey. This congestion rattled the market and sent the price down to about 40 percent of where it was last year.

"On the Gulf shore of New Brunswick the season opened on the 15th of August, and since then a brisk business has been carried on by importing live lobsters by air-rail from that locality, which is increasing its live shipments to the United States every year, on account of canned lobsters (the former staple output there) finding little or no demand abroad.

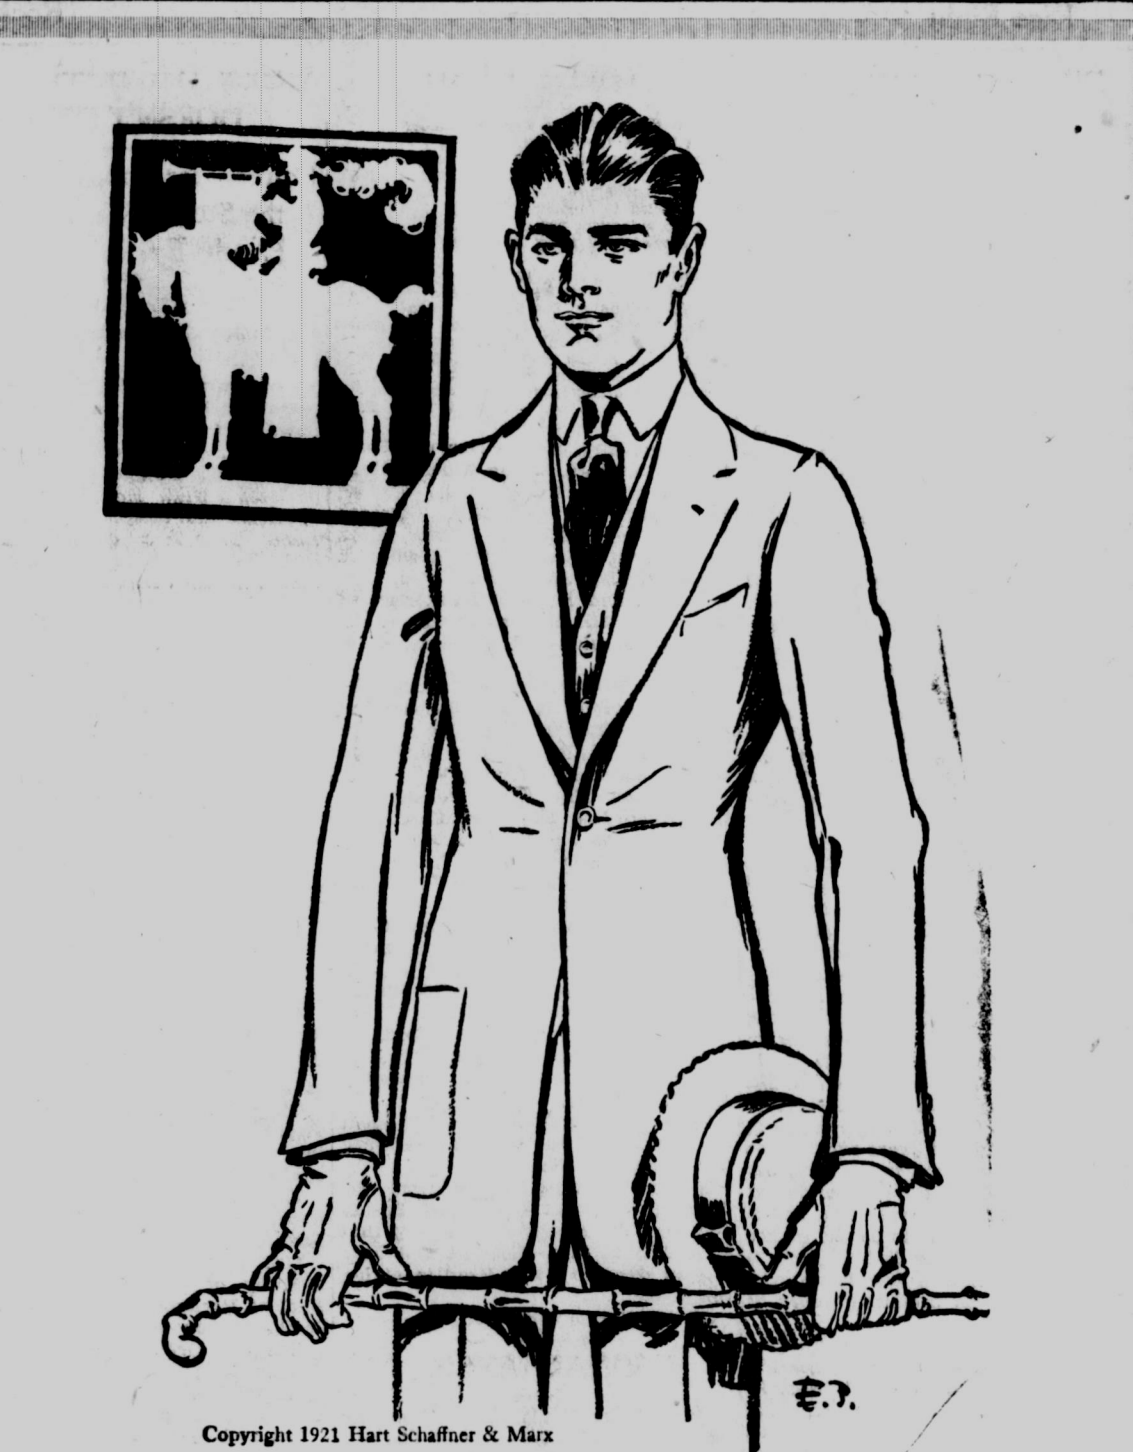

"Active fishing begins in Maine the first of September, and a still larger supply is predicted, in which case the prospect for better sales is not of the brightest. A little more than two months after that Grand Manan, N. B., will start in; and judging by the past lobster record of that place, there will be no lack of consignments coming in during the greater part of next winter."

DR. W. W. PARMALEE

Death of Former Rockland Physician Who Was Prominent in Auburn.

The following obituary is from the Lewiston Journal:

The community and the State will be deeply grieved to learn of the death at about 4:30 o'clock, Friday morning, at the Central Maine General Hospital of Walter Woodruff Parmalee, M. D., a prominent physician, surgeon and specialist of Lewiston and Auburn.

Dr. Parmalee underwent an almost hopeless abdominal surgical operation a week ago.

Dr. Parmalee was born in Rockland, Me., in 1874, and was accordingly 47 years of age. After graduation from the schools he went to work in a drug store, and along in the nineties came to Lewiston and worked in a Lisbon street drug store for a number of years. He was all of this time interested in the study of medicine, and always had in mind a course of medical study. He was active in social life, a favorite with young people in this community.

While here he was married, his wife being Miss Josephine Howe, daughter of Dr. W. S. Howe, a physician of prominence in this community, who had come here some years previous from Pittsfield, Me. The marriage occurred Sept. 16, 1902. Soon after they removed to Burlington, Vt. Dr. Parmalee took a course of medicine in the University of Vermont, graduating in the class of 1906. Following his graduation they returned to Maine, and Dr. Parmalee began practice in Hebron. He removed to Lewiston and Auburn, settling in Auburn 11 years ago. Since then he has specialized in the eyes, ear and throat, and has through persistent work and constantly increasing merit and good repute come to be one of the leading specialists in Maine, with a large practice and a fine home and business-office—all promising years of continuing success.

Only a few weeks ago, comparatively, he was arranging for a vacation at the Bethel Inn. He had been in consultation with experts on the stomach and the intestinal tract, and they had not pronounced his disease subject to the knife. He was accordingly planning to tidy up his affairs here, sell his automobile, get away into a quiet place of rest for a few months and come back and resume his work. He had only a few years previous taken over a large house on Court street, Auburn; fitted it with expensive apparatus; refitted it into fine offices and operating rooms, and had developed an enormous business that kept him constantly at work.

He was a skillful surgeon, operating on the eye, ear and throat at the Central Maine General Hospital, with marked success. In short, he had established himself thoroughly as a capable, skillful and progressive educated specialist. His standing was constantly coming to be more and more appreciated over the State of Maine. He had a pleasing manner; an active and interested concern in all affairs; a capacity to make friends. He has passed on at the very best of his opportunity at the height of his usefulness.

Dr. Parmalee leaves a wife and six children—five boys and one girl. Their names are William, Emory, John, Walter W. Jr., Richard and Anna. He leaves also a brother, George Parmalee of Grosse Island, Mich., and two sisters, Harriet and Elizabeth Parmalee of Rockland, Me.

Dr. Parmalee was a member of Ashlar Lodge of Masons, of Lewiston Commandery, Kora Temple, and of the subsidiary Masonic bodies. He was a member of the B. P. O. Elks and of the various Medical Associations—Androscoggin Medical, Maine Medical, American Medical.

FRANK F. CLAPP.

Frank F. Clapp probably the most widely known travelling man in the State, died at Charlesgate Hospital, Cambridge, Sept. 1. He underwent a very delicate surgical operation three weeks ago.

The deceased was born in Damariscotta, Jan. 29, 1853. In 1872 he became associated with the firm of J. Peavey & Bros., and remained with them until his death. He was a past president of the Quarter Century Traveling Men's Association of Maine, a Mason, Knights Templar, Shriner, Odd Fellows, Elk, K. of P. and also a member of several societies and clubs.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Oliver F. Roberts of Chicago, and a son, F. Austin Clapp of New York. The funeral services took place Sunday from his late residence, 125 Dexter street, Malden.

Prompt action will mean the possible saving of money, as the pension commences from the filing of the claim. Mr. Buchanan wishes to assist his comrades in every possible manner. OWL'S HEAD

I know the great eagle has its shoulder
Set square to the storm tonight,
And, maddened, the wild sea horses
Are tossing their manes of white,
I know that above, in the heavens,
A seabird is beating the gale,
And the outermost rim of the harbor
Is blotted, and misty and pale.

I know the good ship shudders
As she rounds the point tonight,
For the depths of the desolate ocean
Hold bones that are bleached and white,
But fainter than command or vineyard
That back in the sun's bright beam,
Is the thought of thy wild, bright beauty,
The smile of thy waves and their gleam.
The smile of thy waves and their gleam.

Mrs. Lillian Welch of East Lamoine, Me., writes the Priest Drug Co., Bangor, Me.:

Some months ago I sent for a sample, also a bottle of Priest's Indigestion Powder. I never have indigestion myself but my employer suffered something awful. I begged him to give your powders a trial. He did so and I have not heard him complain of his stomach since. That is a year ago. He only took the one bottle. He always says that if his food hurt him again, he will certainly get more of your wonderful powders. I do not believe in drugs as a rule, but these powders seem to be a healing medicine and not like most drugs. I have advised several to use it and they have received much benefit after giving it a trial.

For sale by all druggists. If your dealer does not carry Priest's Indigestion Powder insist on him ordering it from the wholesaler or Priest Drug Co., Bangor, Me. Samples sent free. Mention paper in which you read this advertisement.—adv.

The Swan's Island Minstrels aided and abetted by Captain Van Zandt of New York City, gave a benefit performance in Odd Fellows Hall on Tuesday evening before a very large and appreciative audience. The interlocutor was Frank Milan, and the endmen were Tom Gibson, Bert Smith and Forest Staples and Carlyle Stockbridge.

Many local hits were made which the audience approved and applauded. The chorus made up of a large number of the prominent young men of the three villages was well trained by Musical Director Stewart and gave great satisfaction. In the orchestra Steward Stephens presided at the piano, Ray Stinson produced wonderful music from the violin, and versatile Eddie Robinson made the drums, cymbals, triangle, chimes and other accessories respond in pleasing fashion.

Tenor solos by Forest Staples furnished special attractions. Clog dances, shuffles, and many interesting skits and stunts added to the program. A considerable sum for the benefit, which will be announced later, was realized.
