PARK THEATRE

Famous Picture, "Hearts of the World," Big Attraction For Today and Friday.

The year's picture offerings at Park Theatre have numbered no event more notable than "Hearts of the World," which will be shown today and Friday.

The Board of Historians, now engaged in compiling The Standard Contemporary History of the Great War, have greeted Mr. Griffith as the greatest of war historians. They further wrote him: "We agreed that your production is the most notable on record that the war has produced."

Staged in France on the actual locale of the story. Battle scenes on the battlefields of Europe. In one scene Mr. Griffith "caught" 150,000 fighting men at Vimy Ridge, and on another occasion 32 airplanes in action.

"The Barbarian," Saturday's feature, has been declared by critics to be one of the most notable films of the year, is a powerful dramatic story of conflict between right and wrong. Its principal character, played by Mr. Salisbury, is a clean, unsophisticated boy of the woods. Knowing no phase of life except his own, he is uncouth and unused to the refinements of metropolitan civilization. He meets a society girl from the city with whom he falls in love. This forms the basis of one of the most beautiful romances of the screen.—adv.

WANT THAT CABLE

People of Swan's Island Are Determined To Get Connected With the Mainland.

A very successful mass meeting of the citizens of Swan's Island, Minn. and Atlantic and with many representatives from the shore towns of Knox and Hancock counties, was held Tuesday evening.

The need of cable connection with Swan's Island by a population of over 20,000 people was clearly shown, and resolutions seeking such connection between the mainland and Swan's Island were unanimously adopted. The story was told from the time when there was no communication between the islands and the outside world; of the strenuous efforts to establish the first telephone lines; of the first consummation of the effort to get cable connection with the mainland, down to the time of war and the use of the cable by the U. S. Government; also of the loss of the cable just after the relinquishment of government control, and of the present efforts to secure the greatly needed reconnection.

A complete story of the meeting, and copy of resolutions will be printed in a later issue of The Courier-Gazette.

The Street Railway Relief Association gives its annual ball at Oakland Park next Tuesday night, and in addition to being an event of special interest will also be the last dance of the season at Oakland Park. Marston's six-piece orchestra will furnish the music and there will be cars to all points after the dance.

IN JUDGE DEASY'S HONOR

Popular Associate Justice Was Evening Guest of the Knox Bar At Muckcross Inn Banquet.

Twenty-one members of the Knox Bar, with Associate Justice Luere B. Deasy, of Bar Harbor and A. H. Whitman, of Portland, Court reporter, as their guests, and accompanied by Ensign Otis, Clerk of Courts Milton M. Griffin and Sheriff Raymond E. Thurston, banqueted at Muckcross Inn, Rockport, Monday evening. The attendance was larger than the average, the menu attractive, all (with the possible exception of Messrs. Dwinall and Tirrell, whose minds were somewhat preoccupied by reason of the jury staying out in the Breen case, and Judge Emery, who mixed too much cigarette smoke with the vintages) were care free and on pleasure bent and the witty and interesting speech of "the Court" was the climax of the evening's enjoyment, following remarks by other speakers and the reading of an original "poem" by Senator Rodney I. Thompson. Autumn leaves and flowers embellished the festive board and the poems were cozy and prettily decorated and furnished additional pleasure to the occasion. It was pleasing to the others present that George H. M. Barrett, of Rockport, was able to attend, he now being the oldest member of the Knox Bar, though deprived of much of the evening's enjoyment by reason of impaired hearing. Mr. Barrett has made much valued contributions to the Knox County Law Library and these were mentioned by Mr. Littlefield in his remarks.

Happily the repast had been finished and the cigars passed round before word came that the jury had agreed, necessitating the departure of the Judge and Clerk and their temporary absence while they received the verdict at the Court House. Rapid transit was provided to and from Rockland by the vice president of the Bar and it was somewhat feared that the party might be detained, en route, by a "speed cup" and not return. The Clerk's own record of 14 minutes, from wharf to wharf, between Rockland and Camden, was endangered, if not surpassed over that portion of the route between the county building and the inn. Meanwhile the County Attorney rendered musical selections on the piano (to keep up his courage, perhaps) and then with "Eddie" Payson as accompanist, other members of the Bar and the Sheriff raised their voices in song and were just warming up to the occasion when the party from Rockland returned, announcing the jury's finding.

It should be mentioned that there were two tables, the older members of the Bar and the guests being seated at the head table. It was observed that Judge Payson seemed a bit restive in the first division and the "youngsters" missed him too, though the separation was but a matter of inches. Judge Pike sat at the head of the second division, dignified for the most part, but the dignity of some others at that table was not so marked.

President Job H. Montgomery was toastmaster and commenced the post-prandial exercises by references to Justice Deasy, relating an experience with him when a practicing lawyer and quoting from one of his charges to a jury in an adjoining county, in a case similar to one which came near being tried at the present term. He expressed the pleasure of the Bar in having the presiding justice as their guest on this occasion.

"His Honor" spoke of some answers received by lawyers from witnesses, that the cross examiners brought upon themselves by prolonged examinations and by "fool" questions (not in Knox county) and in closing, expressed his enjoyment of the occasion and extended his best wishes to the members of the Knox Bar. The definition of kin wood, as given by a witness, and told by Justice Deasy should be given here. The witness said, "Kin wood is nasty, dirty, pitchy fir wood that kills you to handle and you send to Rockland and lose money on it."

Besides those who spoke, the guests, and the county officials, these members of the Bar were present: George H. M. Barrett, Merritt A. Johnson, Edward K. Gould, Edward C. Payson, Alan L. Bird, Elsie W. Pike, Frank H. Ingraham, Gilford B. Butler, Charles T. Smalley, Oscar H. Emery, Frank A. Tirrell, Jr., and Zelma M. Dwinall.

THE McLAIN SCHOOL

Opening Notes of Fall Campaign In the Brick Building On Lincoln Street.

McLain School opened for work Sept. 12 with 378 pupils enrolled. Both teachers and pupils are full of enthusiasm and feel that an unusually successful year is ahead of them.

The school is glad to welcome Miss Helen Piper to its corps of teachers, also Mrs. Beulah S. Oxtun, a former successful High School teacher.

Out-door assemblies start Wednesday. Grade 8-A has the matter in charge and will present a "Back to School" program.

Three Chinese students are enrolled and appear to be enjoying American school life.

Miss Bartlett, librarian, sends in the following welcome notice: "The children's department of the public library will be open on school days from 12:00 noon to 1:15 p. m. and from 3:30 to 8:00 p. m. On Saturdays it will also be open until 8:00 p. m."

Grade 8-A, Miss Trask's room, opened its school year with an enrollment of 41. The average of attendance for the first week was 95.5%, with no one tardy or dismissed.

At its first class meeting, Grade 8-A chose the following officers: President, Nathalie Robbins; vice-president, Oliver Rollins; secretary, Martha Wasgatt; treasurer, Roland Rackliffe. The class colors chosen were blue and gold, and the class marshal Ruth Clark.

Martha Wasgatt and Nathalie Robbins have charge of the music this year.

Grade 8-B has 39 pupils enrolled and has elected the following class officers: President, John Anderson; secretary, Jessie Francis; treasurer, Jeannette Smith. The class voted to hold a meeting every other Friday after school. The class colors are orange and black. The boys have organized a football team with Foster Fildes captain.

Grade 8-C has begun the reading of "Tales from Shakespeare" and is finding the story of the Tempest very interesting. Friday's compositions were based on this drama. This class has decided to organize with regular officers and committees. Our baton will be ready for use Tuesday morning, colors, blue and gold.

Grade 2 has started the year with 100% attendance four days the first week and 100% arithmetic papers the whole week for Duval Cole, Madeline Coffey, Bertha Knight, Cyrus Pinkham, Dorothy Lawry and George Moody.

Grade 6 has formed an Improvement League with the following officers: President, Charlotte Brown; Secretary, Norma Hutchinson; Treasurer, Alice Heiler. This grade had perfect attendance the whole week.

Grade 7-A are planning to have socialized recitations in history each Friday afternoon. Last week's recitation was conducted by May Johnston and proved to be most interesting and helpful.

In grades 3 and 4 Betty Benson has been chosen marshal for September. These grades are using a crimson and green baton loaned by James Emery who attended the fourth grade last year.

Grade 7-A have chosen rose and white for the class colors and Marion Clark for the class marshal. Class officers will be chosen at a later meeting after the pupils have become better acquainted.

Grade 8-A are enjoying a new set of civics, Turkington's "My Country." With such excellent material as these books afford civics bids fair to be one of the favorite studies of the year.

School at the Tyler Building opened with nearly a full attendance. Grade 1 has an enrollment of 31; grade 2, 37; grade 3, 35; grade 4, 42; grade 5, 44; and grade 6, 44.

A STILL DAY IN AUTUMN

I love to wander through the woodlands hoary in the soft light of an autumn day.

When Summer gathers up her robes of glory, And like a dream of beauty glides away.

How through each loved, familiar path she lingers, Serenely smiling through the golden mist, Tinting the wild grape with her dewy fingers Till the cool emerald turns to amethyst;

Kindling the faint stars of the hazel shining To light the gloom of Autumn's mouldering halls, With hoary plumes the clematis entwining Where o'er the rock her withered garland falls.

Warm lights are on the sleepy uplands waning Beneath soft clouds along the horizon rolled, Till the slant sunbeams through their fringes raining Bathe all the hills in melancholy gold.

The moist winds breathe of crisped leaves and flowers In the damp hollows of the woodland sown, Mingling the freshness of autumnal showers With spicy airs from cedar alleys blown.

Beside the brook and on the umbered meadow, Where yellow fern-tufts deck the faded ground, With folded lids beneath their palmy shadow The gentian nods, in dewy slumbers bound.

Upon those soft, fringed lids the bee sits brooding, Like a fond lover loath to say farewell, Or with shut wings, through alien folds intruding, Creeps near her heart his drowsy tale to tell.

The little birds upon the hillside lonely Flit noiselessly along from spray to spray, Silent as a sweet wandering thought that only Shows its bright wings and softly glides away.

The Courier-Gazette

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Maine, Sept. 20, 1921.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydie, who on oath declares that he is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of Sept. 17, 1921, there was printed a total of 5,922 copies.
Before me, FRANK S. MILLER,
Notary Public.

A New York banker, of countrywide reputation, only a short time ago in Russia and familiar with conditions there, lately told The Courier-Gazette that in his opinion Russia is bound to resume her place in the world. "The Soviet government," he declared, is doomed. "Revolution in time will overthrow it. A strong man will issue out of that movement and a limited monarchy will be the result." When that time comes there is little question that the United States will be looked upon as Russia's friend, especially if the food being sent there by the American Relief Association can reach the people for whom it is intended. For one reason or another about every country in Europe is suspected by the Russians of fostering a desire to exploit their country for commercial profit. The United States alone has evidenced a willingness to help the starving Russians out of their present predicament. The people who are going to experience the blessings of American relief will not be slow to let their compatriots know of their grateful feeling toward the United States. When the political reform has been completed the social and industrial reconstruction of Russia will begin, and a huge market will be opened for all sorts of material and supplies. Then we shall see an exemplification of the Biblical injunction concerning the casting of bread upon the waters.

It must not be supposed that because the higher surtax rates are to be eliminated in the new tax bill that men of large incomes are to be relieved of their share of the tax burden. The present high rates have driven men of wealth to invest their money in municipal bonds and other tax exempt securities, of which there is estimated to be about $20,000,000,000 outstanding. The effect has been to reduce the Federal tax received from those men from $900,000,000 to $200,000,000. With those extortionate surtax rates removed, it is expected that money will be turned again into manufacturing and commercial enterprises subject to tax and the net income to the Government will be increased.

Orders have been issued by Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt that all ships and stations of the Navy shall assist in every possible way the Navy personnel in obtaining contact with the Bureau of War Risk Insurance and securing whatever may be due a man from that branch of the Government. The order is similar to one recently issued by Gen. Pershing to officers and posts of the Army. All Navy officers will be required to equip themselves with all war risk forms, and help their men in filling them out and getting them into the hands of the war risk officials.

It is observed that when President Harding sees a great piece of business to be done, he is great enough man to call in great men to attend to it. The instances are numerous, the latest being his felicitous selection of Hughes, Lodge, Root and Underwood as American representatives to the limitation of armaments conference—not a conference for disarmament, as inaccurately called. There is no spirit of jealousy in the President's make-up. His mind is equipped with many tracks, all of them broad-gauge.

We notice in the Boston Herald a "Card of Thanks," exactly after the manner of that form of acknowledgment so frequently printed in the papers of this part of Maine. The Courier-Gazette is of the impression that the card of thanks was original with this paper. We may be mistaken, but we believe a search of the files of 30 to 40 years ago would confirm this belief. The card of thanks is now a familiar sight in the country papers, and even the big dailies occasionally print one—as above noted.

Evidences multiply that the close of the summer vacation period is witnessing increased activity in nearly every line of industry in this section of the country. Many manufacturing plants which have been closed all summer have resumed operations and many which have been running partial capacity are putting on additional help. This is especially true of textile industries. There is also a marked increase in building activities.

Now they begin to stick with fierce annoyance, lending emphasis to what Josh Billings said: "I hate a fl—darn a fl—"

THE RED CROSS DRIVE

Figures completed in the Monday canvass for the local branches of the Red Cross and Salvation Army, show a total of $3836.43, which sum will probably be increased to an even $4000. The returns as compiled in the secretary's office are as follows:

Ward	Cash	Pledges	Total
1	.....$134.15	$17.00	$151.15
2	.....178.10	65.50	243.60
3	.....486.55	13.50	500.05
4	.....868.25	71.50	939.75
5	.....206.35	23.50	229.85
6	.....171.61	43.50	215.11
7	.....67.18	4.50	71.68
No. 8 Team	.....	1250.00	1250.00
Cash	.....234.32
Total	$2347.43	$1489.00	$3836.43

The item "Cash $234.32" probably should be added among the several wards, but the secretary could find no cards to indicate how the division should be made and was forced to enter the amounts on her records in that manner.

Court Orders Verdict For Mrs. Georgia Berry In Alleged Nuisance Case—Other Indictments Will Be Not Prossed—Other Doings of Supreme Court.

The "Fire Zone" Case

Before a drawn jury Tuesday afternoon was opened the much discussed case of the State vs. Georgia Berry. The respondent was one of four property owners in the so-called burned district on Main street, Rockland, who have been indicted at the present term for maintaining a nuisance, through failure to clean up the ruins left by the city's worst conflagration in June, 1920. It was maintained on the part of the prosecution that the present condition of the premises is "dangerous to the safety of the public." The State was represented by County Attorney Z. M. Dwinall, with whom was associated Hon. Edward W. Wheeler of Brunswick. A. S. Littlefield was counsel for the respondent, and had been assisted in preparing the evidence by Ensign Otis, a law student in his office.

Following was the personnel of the jury: Charles A. Wilson, Camden, foreman; Charles Baum, St. George; James W. Campbell, Leroy F. Chase, Maynard Crockett, and Roland S. Rackliff, Rockland; Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory, Rockport; Oliver G. Lermond, Thomaston; Charles M. Lucas, Union; Walter Martin, South Thomaston; Ulysses G. Pease, Hope; and Wooster S. Vinal, Vinalhaven.

At the outset there was a lively tilt between counsel over the expression "common land" used in the indictment. Mr. Littlefield holding that it was not applicable to this case by any definition in existence. County Attorney Dwinall responded to this criticism by saying that the expression was based on evidence that the property is open to the public, used by the public, and that no action has ever been taken by the owners to keep the public off the lot. The language "common land" had been used in the sense that Mrs. Berry is a common owner and it is a common lot.

The Court over-ruled Mr. Littlefield's motion, reserving to the latter the right of exception, and the case proceeded.

The State presented as its first witness Dr. Frank N. Whittier of Brunswick, who is professor of hygiene and bacteriology at Bowdoin College, and who, on Sept. 7, made an examination of the two lots in which Mrs. Berry is an owner. He testified Tuesday that he found these lots covered with ruins, human excrement, much decaying vegetable matter and other materials. Large numbers of flies were attracted by the excrement, and the smells from the place were offensive. Witness saw a rat, but was not certain as to the rodent's exact location at the time, except that it was in a southerly direction from the Whitney store. Among the ruins were the remains of what the witness took to be automobiles, together with twisted iron, burned timbers, broken bottles (essence bottles judging from the labels) and some excavations, perhaps five or six feet in depth.

The effect of these conditions, according to Prof. Whittier, was to breed disease germs, which would be caused by flies. If typhoid were prevalent these conditions would have a tendency to spread it. There is danger of typhoid organisms being present in excrement. Flies carry it to food, and deposit typhoid bacteria wherever they go.

The danger of a bubonic plague, to which Prof. Whittier next testified, drew a sharp interruption from Mr. Littlefield.

"We've got to have something besides imagination to base a nuisance on," said the counsel, "and when Prof. Whittier tells us that there is likely to be a bubonic plague, he is going altogether too far."

"Would you say that there is danger from these rats?" asked County Attorney Dwinall.

"There is," replied Prof. Whittier, unhesitatingly, and he proceeded to cite the cases of San Francisco and New Orleans. Organisms may be conveyed to rats, he said, and once they are infected the bacteria which they give off is likely to be conveyed by flies. This is one of the greatest death producing agencies in the world.

"What is the effect of the decaying vegetable matter?" asked the County Attorney.

"It attracts a great number of flies, and this in my opinion, is the most dangerous feature of decaying matter," Prof. Whittier told of having visited the property the following week and not finding any improvement in the situation.

A chart of the burned district, prepared by Civil Engineer O. H. Tripp, adorned the wall, and there was frequent reference to it. Measurements showed that the Berry lots have a Main street frontage of 110 feet, and are between 325 and 350 feet deep.

Prof. Whittier called once more to the stand, testified that on Sept. 7 he

Prof. Whittier is frequently called to the witness stand in the capacity of an expert, but it is doubtful if he has ever been subjected to such a thorough grilling as he received during the cross examination by Mr. Littlefield.

"Did you ever know of an epidemic of bubonic plague in Maine?" asked the attorney.

"No," replied the witness.

"Do you mean to say that there is likely to be one here?"

"The conditions are liable to cause a plague, but not likely."

"If there have never been any cases in Maine, what leads you to think that the future may be different than the past?"

"The conditions will be different in the future unless the people wake up to the importance of the situation. Years ago the plague was largely confined to foreign countries, but lately it has got a foothold in America."

"Do you want to say that the conditions here may produce bubonic plague?"

"I do."

The cross examination now shifted to the alleged danger caused by the decaying vegetable matter and the decayed grass and weeds on the lower part of the lot.

"Do you mean to say that there is danger from dead grass and weeds?" asked Mr. Littlefield.

Prof. Whittier, averse to giving a mere affirmative or negative answer, undertook to qualify his reply, and was held sharply to the question by the respondent's counsel. He then appealed to the Court to know if he must answer Mr. Littlefield's question without fully explaining his meaning.

The Court explained the counsel's rights in the matter, and the reply was that the dead grass and weeds would not be dangerous without the presence of other substances.

Charred timbers are not dangerous to health, Prof. Whittier admitted on cross examination.

The cross examination of Prof. Whittier was resumed when court opened yesterday morning, and with "unabated intensity," as they sometimes say of storms. The professor had paid another visit to the premises between sessions, and was again sharply interrogated by Attorney Littlefield, also took up piecemeal the bacteriologist's testimony. Under the counsel's searching inquiry Prof. Whittier admitted that evidence of human excrement would not be visible several days later, except by microscopic investigation, and that the premises offered no danger to typhoid patients except as the decaying animal and vegetable matter breed flies.

"What beside human excrement do you find on these premises that you would not find on any other vacant lot?" asked Mr. Littlefield.

"Rotting paper, which has blown there or been thrown there since the fire."

"Isn't this place less attractive to flies than a restaurant, stable or grocery?"

"Judging from the flies I saw I should say not."

On the re-direct examination Prof. Whittier again told what he had found among the ruins, and testified that the wall of a wooden building jutted out over the remains of the brick wall on the southern boundary of the lot. Witness had never known similar conditions to exist elsewhere for so long a period.

Dr. A. W. Foss told the result of his investigations which he had made nine or ten days ago, and in response to the county attorney's questions gave it as his opinion that they were injurious to the public health. On cross-examination he admitted that old iron, bricks and mortar are not injurious, and that the paper, in itself, is not injurious.

"What did you see injurious to health?" asked Mr. Littlefield.

"Nothing."

Dr. Charles D. North testified that the conditions constituted a menace to health, particularly the presence of flies. On cross-examination he said that he saw decaying vegetable matter which was attracting flies, but that the grass and weeds, if inaccessible would not be dangerous to health.

"Now can you keep flies off a vacant lot?" asked Mr. Littlefield.

"I would clean it up."

Dr. North and the preceding witness testified that they made their examination at the request of Walter T. Stern.

Deputy Sheriff Sidney Humes testified that he saw a sign on the side of the wooden building which said "Danger," but supposed it had reference to that building; that prior to Sept. 14 there had been nothing to prevent the public from going onto the lot freely.

Prof. Whittier, called once more to the stand, testified that on Sept. 7 he saw nothing that had been done to exclude the public.

This ended the State's side of the case and Attorney Littlefield asked that the court order a verdict for the respondent, on the ground, that no nuisance had been proved, and that Mrs. Berry had not maintained a nuisance. County Attorney Dwinall asserted that the conditions amounted to a nuisance, and that knowing of their existence Mrs. Berry had made no attempt to protect the public.

Associate Justice Deasy discussed the situation at length, reaching the conclusion that while the place is ugly to look upon that this alone does not constitute a nuisance. Declaring that no evidence had been presented to show that Mrs. Berry, had kept and maintained a nuisance" he instructed the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty."

The other indictments alleging nuisance in connection with the properties of the Main street burned district, will probably be not prossed, as the above trial is understood to have been a test case.

.....

The case of the State vs. Charles H. Nye, Jr., who was indicted for non-support of his two minor children, was tried Tuesday. After all the evidence had been presented the Court summoned the counsel to his desk, and announcement was made a few moments later that the case had been settled by the consent of the parties.

It was claimed by the respondent that there had been no unreasonable neglect of the children Eleanor and Emma, and that he was ready to pay the bill contracted at Knox Hospital just as soon as it was presented. He had refused to turn his wages over to Miss Simmons, of the board of overseers of the poor, and did not learn until that day the whereabouts of the child taken by her from the hospital. Mrs. Nye said that her husband had never refused to contribute to her support or her children's; that they had never asked poor department to furnish clothing for children; and that the grandparents on both sides had been willing to take the child. In rebuttal Miss Simmons testified that she had furnished the mother with the child's address directly after it was taken from the hospital. M. A. Johnson for respondent.

A verdict of guilty was returned in the case of the State vs. Albert E. Whipple of South Hope, who was tried on the charge of selling hard cider. Clemency was asked for the respondent, but Judge Deasy affirmed the sentence of the court below—a fine of $500 and costs, and a sentence of six months in jail, with six months additional in default of payment.

.....

State vs. Wyman U. Packard. This was an appealed case from Rockland Municipal Court, where the respondent had been found guilty of having 4100 bottles of Jamaica Ginger in his possession and where he was fined $500 and costs in addition to a jail sentence of six months. In Supreme Court yesterday Mr. Packard pleaded "nolo," and the sentence of the lower court was affirmed, but this sentence was temporarily suspended. This action was followed by the immediate arrest of T. R. Sweetland, who, it is claimed, was the real owner of the Jamaica Ginger, and who will be arraigned in Municipal Court this afternoon.

Alfred Orcutt of Vinalhaven, who had been found guilty in Municipal Court on a search and seizure complaint, could not be found yesterday when the case was called, and his bail was defaulted.

.....

An interesting visitor at the Court House Tuesday was Mrs. Mary S. Burnham, a deputy sheriff from Cumberland county, who has been identified with municipal affairs in Portland the last 23 years. She found a congenial friend in Mrs. Mary P. Rich, Maine's first woman county commissioner, and manifested much interest in Maine's first woman juror, Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory. Cumberland county is preparing to have women jurors, and Mrs. Burnham has been asked to devise arrangements for the convenience of the two sexes.

State vs. Emery Niles. Non-support of children was alleged, but the case was dismissed, as the custody of the children had been given to the mother, when the divorce was granted.

.....

Thirty-five divorce libels were pending when the term began, and ten of these had been heard up to last night.

.....

At 2:30 this afternoon memorial services will be held in honor of the late Lindley Murray Staples of Washington, who had so long been in active practice before the bar. Court may finally adjourn tonight.

SHERIFF CANDIDATE

Austin M. Titus of Union, Court Crier For Six Years, Casts Hat Into the Ring.

The next county election is almost a year away, but evidences are not lacking that some aspirants already have the June primaries in mind.

The first candidate to announce himself is Austin M. Titus of East Union, who authorizes The Courier-Gazette to state that he will seek the Democratic nomination for sheriff. Mr. Titus was a deputy six years under the late Sheriff A. J. Tolman, and served as court crier. He has always lived in the community where he was born and for 52 years has sat on one shave horse, making mast hops. His political glories aside from deputy sheriff have been confined to the offices of constable and justice of the peace. Mr. Titus has many friends, and the few to whom he has confided his present ambition have said "Go it, Sal!"

Ex-Sheriff J. Crosby Hobbs has said nothing as yet to indicate what course he will pursue, but the crowd which so vigorously opposed him last year is said to be grooming a prospective candidate.

For a painful ulcerated tooth use peroxide, either full strength or diluted one-half with warm (not hot) water. Nothing will relieve more quickly and it will cleanse the mouth and sweeten the breath. It is used for sore throat as well as for sores of all kinds, as it is antiseptic and one of the safest and cheapest germicides known. If it seems to make the gums a little sensitive after using, rinse the mouth with a weak solution of baking soda.

All members of the Chapin Class are requested to be present at the church Friday evening to assist the committees in charge of the Teachers Party.

Golf at the Country Club Saturday afternoon will consist of a sweepstakes match, in which handicaps will be adjusted so as to give every player "a chance." Autumnal Saturday afternoon are growing fewer, daylight saving time nears its end, and golf players are making the most of their opportunities.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley B. Crie and son Hiram went Tuesday to Waterville where the young son has entered Colby College.

John W. McConley, who has been spending the summer with his daughter, Mrs. John H. Brubaker, leaves Sunday for his home in Baltimore. He has thoroughly enjoyed every moment of his stay in the North, and as firmly wedded as he is to the Southland, it is a very regretful departure which he is making. Mrs. McConley will prolong her stay well into autumn.

Mrs. George F. Barbour arrived home last night from Lynn, Mass., where she has been making a week's visit.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fales are returning today to Charlestown, Mass., having closed for the season their Crescent Beach cottage, which they have been occupying at intervals ever since last June. "We've enjoyed every minute," said Mr. Fales, "particularly the Twilight League games."

Commencing Monday, Sept. 26, Steamer Vinalhaven will leave Vinalhaven on the afternoon trip at 12:30 p. m.; returning, will leave Rockland at 3 p. m. for Vinalhaven.

The winter passenger schedule on the Maine Central Railroad becomes effective at 12:01 a. m. next Sunday. Train No. 55, leaving Portland at 7 a. m., will thereafter arrive in Rockland at 11:05 a. m.; and train No. 57, leaving Brunswick at 1:50 p. m., will arrive at 5 p. m. Train No. 59, which has been arriving at 8:25 p. m., will not run east of Bath. The outgoing trains will be No. 74, leaving at 7:30 a. m., and arriving in Portland at 12 noon; and No. 78, leaving at 1:45 p. m., and arriving in Portland at 6 p. m. There will be no late afternoon train out of Rockland under the winter schedule. Steamer Pemaquid will run on the present schedule between Rockland, Dark Harbor (Islesboro) and Castine and including Saturday, Sept. 24, with special trip connecting with train No. 80, Sunday, Sept. 25. All service discontinued thereafter. Steamers of the Vinalhaven & Rockland Steamship Co. now landing at Maine Central R. R. Rockland wharf in connection with M. C. trains, will discontinue such landings after Saturday, Sept. 24, and thereafter arrive and leave Rockland from Tillson Wharf.

The old Hurley house on James street, recently damaged by fire, has been demolished.

The regular meeting of Golden Rod Chapter will be Friday night. There will be no circle supper.

The last "Kelley dance" of the season at Oakland Park takes place tonight. The music has been very popular and a big crowd will give it a final try.

It's forcing the season a bit to even think of 1922, but Councilman Harold A. Thomas has our thanks for doing it, through the medium of a beautiful calendar in which the famous fishing schooner Esperanto is done in water colors.

Rear Admiral C. F. Hughes, who has been aboard the flagship Connecticut in European waters, is spending a few days at his old home in Bath, before going to Los Angeles, Calif., to join the Arizona, flagship of the Pacific fleet. Admiral Hughes has many friends in Rockland some of whom were at Park Theatre Tuesday, when his picture was shown during the progress of the Weekly Review.

"It's a pity," remarks a citizen, "that Rockland can't get Massachusetts peaches. I've been eating fruit on a visit to that State—big, luscious peaches, so delicious that you didn't know when to quit. Instead of which we have to put up with this California stuff, picked green and shipped 3000 miles."

Parents of the entering class at the High School are invited to meet with the principal in Room 1 next Tuesday at 8:45 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McMillan have moved back to Rockland. Mr. McMillan is building a brass foundry on Robinson street.

Linwood Joyce, returning from Tenants' Harbor, had excitement aplenty the other day, when his 4-ton Chevrolet truck became stalled on the steep hill at Long Cove and the brakes refused to work. The machine struck a rut, and turned turtle, the top and windshield being smashed. Mr. Joyce had two passengers, but nobody was injured.

Mrs. B. R. Browne will speak at the Rockville church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 daylight.

The line gale arrived last night on schedule time, and was fully as severe as the Weather Bureau had forecasted in the evening papers. Many persons who lay awake through the early hours of this morning went out and counted the chimneys to see how many the big blow had left. They found the ground more or less strewn with wreckage and other evidences that the line gale was not falling off in its battering average. During the night wires were down in some places and lights were out. The Boston boat remained at this port.

The remains of the late Private Charles H. Storer, who was killed in France, arrive in the city today, and will be taken to Union by Undertaker Boggs, who will have charge of the funeral services, the date of which has not been announced.

Martin S. Britto, Civil War veteran and ex-alderman, died at his home on Frederick street Tuesday night. The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the residence of his son, George W. Britto, 136 Camden street. Obituary deferred.

"Hearts of the World" is having a great revival all over the country. Everybody being anxious to see the great picture in which Lillian Gish scored one of her greatest triumphs. This picture, which was originally shown at fancy prices, comes to Park Theatre for today and Friday at prices which are cheaper than staying at home. The music that inspired Mr. Griffith's actors was the shriek of shrapnel on a mission of death. The villains of the piece were not "supers" arrayed in "prop" costumes; they were real German soldiers with the fear of death in their hearts and the sound of death in their ears. The Griffith picture is a great drama, not because it was made under fire at the front, but because it is a wonderfully sweet, human, appealing love story.

Mrs. Ellen Crocker, Medium, will be at 31 Union street from Sept. 23 until further notice, to give readings and treat the sick. 112-11

SIMPLE AND RICH

When coats are at once simple, rich and distinctive they answer all the requirements needed to make them a success. In the model shown here the designer has used the season's new ideas to the best advantage and has produced an original and conservative wrap, plain enough and trimmed enough to pass without criticism.

MAY CATCH LOBSTERS

The law prohibiting persons in the employ of the United States from fishing for lobsters in the waters of the State of Maine has been declared unconstitutional. Light keepers and Coast Guardsmen were affected.

King Solomon Temple Chapter has work on the R. A. degree tonight. The Council has its last meeting of the year Oct. 7.

W. M. Caswell of Appleton, who was arrested in Litchfield by Sheriff Thurston Sunday night, was tried before Judge Miller Tuesday on the charge of forging the name of J. A. Shaw of Augusta to a check for $22. He was found guilty, and was sentenced to four months in the county jail, with four months additional if he fails to pay the heavy costs which are involved in the case.

Recent deliveries by the Rockland Motor Mart include a Buick four-cylinder touring car to Frank S. Lunt of Thomaston, and a Buick six-cylinder roadster to Harrison F. Hicks of this city.

What appears to have been a wholly unavoidable accident occurred on Pleasant street Tuesday afternoon, when an automobile, driven by Mrs. Lucius York collided with Alice Poindexter, a young schoolgirl. The girl had crossed the street ahead of the approaching car, and without giving the slightest intimation of her purpose suddenly turned and ran into the street again. Mrs. York made a brave attempt to avoid running into the child and plunged her car into a hydrant. One wheel passed over the girl's left leg, however, breaking the bones in the foot, and bruising the leg. The automobile was badly damaged. The child is at Silsby Hospital.

In Social Circles

Mrs. F. A. Goddard of Brunswick is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Masonic street.

Miss M. E. Kane, who has been spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Flye, left Tuesday for Brookline, Washington, D. C., where she will spend the winter.

Mrs. Emily Hitchcock entertained a few friends at luncheon at the Thorndike Tuesday. Mrs. Levi B. Gilchrist of New York was among the guests.

Capt. and Mrs. James E. Staples and daughter Ethel returned yesterday from a delightful three days trip to the White Mountains. Their praises of the trip include the careful driving of Fred A. Clark, in whose auto the trip was taken. Mr. Clark has made several previous trips to the Mountains and knows all the points of interest.

Capt. Albert F. Pillsbury left Rockland Tuesday for New York and Washington. Mrs. Pillsbury will join him soon when they will return to their home in Berkeley, Calif.

Edwin Martenet and Miss Ann Martenet, who conducted the popular little Jack-o-Lantern Tea Room this summer have returned to New York to resume their studies—Mr. Martenet at Columbus University and Miss Martenet at the Art Student's League. They were well pleased with their success and plan to return next summer and reopen the tea room with many additional novelties.

John W. Thomas will go to Bangor tomorrow on a short business trip.

Mr. Guy S. Lord, who has been visiting her mother during the summer has returned to Portland, accompanied by her husband, who has been spending a few days here.

Mrs. F. L. Studley of West Somerville, Mass. is visiting relatives in this city.

Alfred I. Babb is visiting his former Rockland home, after an absence of 21 years. He has been located the past 13 years in Machias where he was publisher and proprietor of the Machias Republican until it became merged with the Machias Union. He has not fully decided as to his future work and meantime is finding pleasure in looking up old friends who remember his versatility as a printer, billiardist, etc., etc.

FOSTER-BISHOP

Tuesday evening, the marriage of Mervyn Chapman Foster and Miss Vera Bishop took place at the home of Capt. C. M. Rogers, Rev. E. P. Browne of Rockland officiating, and the single ring service being used. The ceremony took place in the parlor beneath a bower of evergreen prettily decorated with asters, dahlias and hydrangeas and a large white wedding bell hung directly over the couple. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by George W. Britto, who also before and after the ceremony sang several selections in a pleasing manner. Refreshments of cake, sandwiches and ice cream were served in the dining room which was decorated with green and white crepe paper and bouquets of handsome flowers. Again the wedding bell was conspicuous, being suspended over the table. The bride's gown was a becoming one of white georgette trimmed with white silk ribbon and the bridal bouquet was of white roses. Her traveling suit was of brown with hat to match. The groom is one of Ash Point's promising young men. He is in the employ of the Charles W. Livingston Co. The bride is one of Owl's Head's most popular young ladies and after her graduation from Rockland High School in 1919, taught school successfully in that town. They have the best wishes of their many friends and acquaintances.

Registration at Rockland High School has passed the 345 mark. Not all students have returned, so it is possible that the attendance may equal, perhaps exceed that of last year. There are fewer tuition pupils. The delegation from Swan's Island is much smaller. For the first time since 1912 there has not been a Joyce from this neighboring town. The distribution of pupils by rooms is: Room 1, seating capacity 91 pupils, has 146; Room 2, capacity 32, has 40; Room 3, capacity 32, has 50; Room 5, capacity 52, has 57; Room 6, capacity 48, has 53.

LATE NEWS DESPATCHES

Eight hundred persons are reported to have been killed and many injured yesterday by explosions in the Badische Anilin- und Fabrik Works at Oppau near Frankenthal in the Rhine Palatinate.

W. C. Oesterich in charge of Democratic state headquarters has conceded the election of Holm O. Bursum, Republican, as United States Senator over Richard Hanna, Democrat in New Mexico.

OWL'S HEAD

L. A. Arey leaves here very soon to spend the winter in Okmulgee, Okla., with A. H. Philbrook.

George Gilbert, who spent the summer at Crescent Beach, enters Clark University in Worcester.

S. P. Whitney is riding in a Ford sedan recently purchased by him.

R. R. St. Clair and family have moved from the Maddocks' house into the Rainbow cottage.

Frank Young has moved into the David Smith house.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Perry and daughter of Concord, N. H., and Wesley Wignall of Ileria, Mass., are guests of Mrs. J. E. Perry.

N. A. Tiffany has gone to Norwood, Mass., to work for the Norwood Press.

Joseph G. Maddocks, has gone to Boston.

Bion Whitney has left the employ of M. T. Jameson & Co.

We think the Foster-Bishop wedding is the first to take place in the new town.

MRS. FENNO ST. CLAIR

Isabella, wife of Fenno St. Clair, formerly of Rockland, died Sept. 17, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Merrill, in Newtonville, Mass., after a long illness. The remains were brought to this city Tuesday, and the funeral services were conducted at the home of Mrs. R. L. Jones, Highlands, a sister of Mr. St. Clair, Rev. W. S. Reynolds officiating. The floral offerings were particularly beautiful, a mute testimony of the loving sympathy of friends and relatives.

Mrs. St. Clair passed practically all of her life in Rockland, being married to Mr. St. Clair May 2, 1874. Three children were born to the union, two dying in infancy. A year ago the Rockland home was broken up and they went to make their home with their daughter in Newtonville.

Mrs. St. Clair was of a gentle, sweet and thoughtful nature, greatly respected by herself to all her friends and relatives, of whom her loss is a sad one. And a very great loss to those bound with the ties of love—the husband, daughter and son-in-law, all who gave her such tender faithful care in her last illness. Two grandchildren also survive—Fay and Eleanor Merrill.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Returning home after a day's shooting, Dyck Calhoun, a young Irish gentleman of the time of the French and American revolution, meets Sheila Llyn, seventeen-year-old girl visiting in the neighborhood. They are mutually attracted. She never knew her dissipated father, Ernie Boyne, her mother having divorced him and resumed her maiden name.

CHAPTER II.—Reaching home, Dyck and Leonard Mallow, son of Lord Mallow, with a message from the attorney general summoning Miles Calhoun, Dyck's father, to Dublin.

CHAPTER III.—They go to Dublin and there Mallow quarrels with Dyck and a duel is arranged. They fight with swords and Dyck is victorious.

CHAPTER IV.—Ernie Boyne, secretly in French employ, gets Dyck drunk and tries to persuade him to join in revolt against England. They quarrel and Dyck is overheard to threaten Boyne. While the former is overcome with drunken wine, Boyne's second wife enters the room and stabs her faithless husband to the heart.

CHAPTER V.—Hours later the room is entered and Dyck arrested on a charge of murder. He does not know he killed Boyne or not, he was so muddled with the drugged wine.

CHAPTER VI.—Sheila begs her mother to go to Dublin with her to help Dyck. Mrs. Llyn opposes the idea. A letter from Mrs. Llyn's wealthy brother in America invites them to come and live with him, and they decide to go.

CHAPTER VII.—Dyck refuses to enter any plea to the charge of murder except "No Defense." He might have escaped by revealing Boyne's treachery but refuses to do so, on Sheila's account. He is sent to prison for eight years. Sheila writes Dyck, assuring him of her belief in his innocence and urging him to come to America after his prison term.

CHAPTER VIII.—Released after serving four years, Dyck is welcomed to freedom by his servant, Michael Clones, and a humble friend, Christopher Dogan. Those two are all who care to remember him. He is practically destitute, his father dead and his estate swallowed by creditors.

CHAPTER IX.—In London, almost penniless, Dyck receives a letter from Sheila inviting him to come to America and sending money for the voyage. He feels he cannot in honor go to her.

CHAPTER X.—With Michael Clones, Dyck joins the British navy as an enlisted man. There seems nothing else to do. Bad conditions in the fleet result in mutiny.

CHAPTER XI.—Dyck, joining the mutineers, is charged with murder except the ship, the Ariadne. Disappointed with the conduct of the other ships' crews, Dyck breaks with them and sails the Ariadne toward the West Indies. He arrives in time to turn the tide of victory in a battle between the French and English.

CHAPTER XII.—Calhoun is arrested for his part in the mutiny but thanked by the admiral for his work in the battle.

CHAPTER XIII.—The British government gives Dyck the freedom of the island of Jamaica, of which his old enemy, Lord Mallow, is governor. With a companion, Dyck secures treasure worth $24,000 from a sunken Spanish ship, and becomes a wealthy and respected planter.

CHAPTER XIV.—Sheila, with her mother, comes to Jamaica to look after a plantation she owns and more than that, she the girl comes to see Dyck. He begs Mrs. Llyn to tell Sheila that Boyne was her father, which she has never known. Mrs. Llyn demurs.

CHAPTER XV.—Lord Mallow, who had known the Llyn's in Ireland, attracted by Sheila's beauty and vast wealth, determines to win her and her money. Fearing she has an affection for Dyck, he decides to tell her about her father, but Calhoun anticipates him and tells Sheila the whole story himself. Loving Dyck as she does, the girl is heartbroken over the situation.

CHAPTER XVI.—Lord Mallow informs Sheila he has word from London to keep Dyck confined to his own estate. He asks Sheila to marry him and she is tempted, seeing in the alliance a way out of the difficulty, now she knows she can never marry Dyck, but she evades giving him a definite answer.

CHAPTER XVII.—The Maroons, unruly blacks, rise in rebellion and devastate parts of the island. Calhoun has seen the uprising impending and has others in the island, but Lord Mallow has always made light of the possibility. Calhoun, against the expressed wish of the governor, has sent to Cuba for bloodhounds, the only means of fighting the blacks in that wild country. The governor, seeing the alliance a way out of the difficulty, now she knows she can never marry Dyck, but she evades giving him a definite answer.

CHAPTER XVIII.—The bloodhounds, facing popular indignation for the suppression in connection with the uprising, gives Calhoun full charge of the operations against the Maroons, in which the hounds are employed.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Clash of Race.

In King's house at Spanish Town the governor was troubled. All his plans and prophecies had come to naught. He had been convinced there would be no rebellion of the Maroons, and he was equally sure that his career would be made hugely successful by marriage with Sheila Llyn—but the Maroons had revolted, the marriage was not settled!

Messages had been coming from the provost marshal general of reports from the counties of Middlesex and Cornwall, that the Maroons were ravaging everywhere and that bands of slaves had joined them with serious disasters to the plantation people. Planters, their wives and children had been murdered, and in some districts the natives were in full possession and had destroyed, robbed and ravaged. He had summoned his commander of the militia forces, had created special constables, and armed them, and had sent a ship to the Bahamas to summon a small British fleet there. He had also mapped out a campaign against the Maroons, which had one grave demerit—it was planned on a basis of ordinary warfare and not with Jamaica conditions in mind. The provost marshal warned him of the futility of these plans, but he had persisted in them. He had later been shocked, however, by news that the best of his colonels had been ambushed and killed, and that others

though it was only three-fourths that of the French?"

"Go on with your tale of the hounds," said Lord Mallow.

"Your honor, as the hounds went away with Michael Clones there was greater applause than I have ever seen in the island except when Rodney defeated De Grasse. Imagine a little sloop in the wash of the seas and the buccaners piling down on him, and no chance of escape, and then a great British battleship appearing, and the situation saved—that was how we were placed here till the hounds arrived. Your honor, this morning's, this early morning's, exit of the hounds was like a procession of veterans to Walhalla. There was the sun breaking over the tops of the hill, a crimsonish, grayish, opaline touch of soft sprays or mists breaking away from the onset of the sunrise; and all the trees with night-lips wet sucking in the sun and drinking up the light like an over-seer at a Christmas breakfast; and you know what that is.

"Then, suddenly, the sharp sound of a long whip and a voice calling, and there rises out of the landing place the procession—the sixty dogs in three wagons, their ten drivers with their whips, but keeping order by the sound of their voices, low, soft and peculiar, and then the horses starting into a quick trot which presently would become a canter—and the hounds were off to Salem! There could be no fear with the hounds let loose to do the hunting."

"But Suppose That When They Get to Salem Their Owner Is No More."

"But suppose that when they get to Salem their owner is no more."

The Custos laughed. "Him, your honor—his no more! Isn't he the man of whom the black folk say, 'Lucky buckra—mornin', lucky new-comer!' If that's his reputation, and the coming of his hounds just when the island most needed them is good proof of it, do you think he'll be killed by a lot of dirty Maroons! Ah, Calhoun's a man with the luck of the devil, your honor! He has the pull—as sure as heaven's above he'll make success. If you command your staff to have this posted as a proclamation throughout the island, it will do as much good as a thousand soldiers. It will stop the slaves from revolting; it will quell the Maroons, and I'm certain sure Calhoun will have Maroons ready to fight for us, not against us, before this thing is over. I tell you, your honor, it means the way out—that's what it means. So, if you'll give me your order, keeping a copy of it for the provost-marshal, I'll see it delivered to Dyck Calhoun before morning—perhaps by midnight. It's not more than a six hours' journey in the ordinary way."

At that moment an aide-de-camp entered, and with solemn face presented to the governor the last report from the provost marshal general. Then he watched the governor read the report.

"Ten more killed and twenty wounded," said the governor. "It must be stopped."

He gave the Custos the letter to Dyck Calhoun, and a few moments later handed the proclamation to his aide-de-camp.

"That will settle the business, your honor," said the aide as he read the proclamation.

To be continued—Began August 11. Back copies can be supplied.

Cuckoos and Cowbirds.

There are a few birds that lay their eggs in the nest of other birds, the latter being of entirely different species or even families, says the American Forestry Magazine. The nestlings of such species are reared by their foster parents. The cuckoos of the old world have this habit, while in America it is the cowbird which is the guilty one. In either case only a single egg is deposited and the young cuckoo, as it grows, manages to push the rightful occupants off the nest, being fed by its parents until it is ready to shift for itself.

WHEN THE FAMILY DOCTOR FAILED

Relief From An Unexpected Source Made Aged Woman Well Again.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Freeman of 77 Draper St., Dorchester, Mass., writes Priest's Drug Co., Bangor, Me.:—

My mother has been a sufferer from chronic indigestion for many years. Treatments with our family doctor offered little if any relief. On my husband's return from a business trip to Maine a few years ago, we decided to try a bottle of your Priest's Indigestion Powder which he had purchased at your store. Relief was immediate, but as the attacks continued more or less, she continued taking it (several bottles in all) for a few years and now does not know the pains of indigestion. We keep it on hand all the time, buying two or three bottles at a time in case any of the family needs it. I have recommended it to several neighbors and friends, all of whom reported relief.

For sale by all druggists. If your dealer does not carry Priest's Indigestion Powder, insist on him ordering from the wholesaler of Priest Drug Co., Bangor, Me. Samples sent free. Mention paper in which you read this advertisement—adv.

WATERMAN'S BEACH

How times have changed. When I was a boy living at the Southend in Rockland there were shipyards north of the Atlantic wharf and one near where the Railroad wharf now is. Nearly every family that lived near by planned to get chips enough from the yards to last all winter to kindle their fire. The yards were not fenced in, in those days. I can remember large ships that sailed South were often hauled out on the railway to be recovered. We boys were always on hand to pick up the copper nails and little pieces of copper that the workmen cast aside. What would the owners of the shipyards think today to see 15 or 20 men, women and boys picking up chips and scrapiron after the workmen had got through the day's work?

As for lobsters, as Boze says, all we had to do was to take a gaff, paddle about in the eel-grass and get all the lobsters we wanted. Those times we boys went out in boats and gaffed fish that schooled in near the shore. We used those fish for bait to catch mackerel over at Jameson's Point and Easter's Cove. No wonder the old-timers think it strange that our law-makers make laws telling us who shall fish, and the length of the fish that shall be put back into the water.

I had a letter from my niece, dated San Francisco, Sept. 8, 130 a. m. It was landed in our doorway on the 13th at 2 p. m., all for two cents. I was wondering how much it would have cost if that letter had made the trip in 1849.

Last week I received some books from Capt. William Freeman from Honolulu, 2100 miles out in the ocean from San Francisco. Four cents brought the books, looking as fresh as though they had come from Rockland. What a wonderful Uncle Sam we have. It had been many years since I received mail from "Bub" Freeman.

The San Francisco letter informed me that Will Freeman (that is what his cousin Mary called him) had written my niece that he had been seriously sick. The only way I can figure out how Will and Mary happened to be thinking of Uncle Charles at the same time is because I was thinking of them. This is one of many of my little beliefs.

OBSERVED BY GRANGE

Pleasant Valley Folk Carry Out Program For National Constitution Day.

The 134th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution fell on Sept. 17, and has since been observed as National Constitution Day by Granges throughout the country, at the request of Almon S. Bisbee, executive secretary of the United Americans of the State of Maine. Fred X. Dow is State chairman, and William T. Cobb, Hiram W. Ricker and B. G. McIntire are among the directors.

Pleasant Valley Grange held a very interesting session Tuesday night, during which the lecturer presented a program in which every member took part. The foundation of this program was "The Constitution of the United States," and many facts were brought out in connection with its history which were both interesting and educational. During the program patriotic songs were sung and a tableau entitled "The Star Spangled Banner" was given by Miss Phyllis Tolman. At intermission refreshments were served and all agreed that this was one of the most pleasant and profitable sessions of the season.

Nearly all the members were arrayed in old fashioned costume, provoking a great deal of fun and laughter. The program follows:

What is the constitution and other facts, Sister Adelle Bartlett.

Proposed Amendments, Worthy Lecturer.

Amendments accepted and ratified, Sister Adelle Bartlett.

Reading account of the great parade in Boston, celebrating the Ratification of the Constitution, by the Massachusetts convention Feb. 9, 1788, Sister Phyllis E. Tolman.

Reading of the eleventh amendment and waiving the State calling for the passing of it, Sister Georgia Manson.

Reading of the 1st amendment, Legislative powers, Art. I, Sister Sprague.

How has the constitution been modified, Sister Julia Post.

Reading of Section 1, Art. 7, Brother Sprague.

Reading of Art. 11, Sec. 1, Method of electing the president, Brother F. E. Post.

Reading of the Preamble of the constitution of the United States, adopted Sept. 17, 1787, Secretary.

Singing of "America" by the Grange, Adella Veazie at the piano.

Why the 4th of March was selected as Inauguration Day, and salary of the president at different times, Sister Bartlett.

Reading of the fashions in dress at the period the Constitution was adopted, Brother Bartlett.

Qualifications of the president, Art. 11, Sec. 1, A. Sheridan Bartlett, Jr.

How bills become laws, Sister Sprague.

Who are citizens of the United States and what are their rights and the 14 amendments, Brother Arthur D. Bowley.

Remarks upon the adoption of the constitution, by the different states, Brother Jesse A. Tolman.

Reading of Abraham Lincoln's reverence for law, Brother F. E. Post.

Tableau, Goddess of Liberty, Sister Phyllis E. Tolman.

Singing of "Star Spangled Banner" by the Grange, Adella Veazie at the piano.

Reading of a speech delivered by Capt. Isaiah Snow of Harpswell, Me., who was a delegate to the Massachusetts convention that ratified the constitution of the United States, Feb. 9, 1788, Secretary.

THE SHAW FAILURE

Union Light &amp; Power Co. Principal Creditor of Man Whose Liabilities Are Said To Be $60,220.

News of the bankruptcy petition of Hollis M. Shaw of Watertown, Mass., was a complete surprise to Maine investors in the Union Light & Power Company at Union, who are named as Shaw's principal creditors. Shaw's liabilities are listed at $60,220, with no assets.

Mrs. Audrey Hitchborn of Augusta, conservator of the estate of Miss Eliza Stanley, wealthy Augusta woman, is pressing a claim for $16,000 against Shaw in the State courts, following a finding for her of $14,000, with costs and interests, by a master to whom the matter was referred during the earlier proceedings.

All of Shaw's creditors are wealthy and prominent in Farmington and will join efforts in an investigation of Shaw's investment of their money, which totals $60,000.

Shaw was a former resident of Winthrop in this State, and was known as a stock and bond agent. He conducted a stock farm at Winthrop and was also interested in promotion of a fox farm and in some mining stocks. His wife and three children, also residents of Winthrop, were recently there for a summer vacation period, but returned to their Massachusetts home several weeks ago.

The first litigation begun in the Maine courts was the suit of Mrs. Hitchborn in behalf of Miss Stanley, who sought to reclaim property entrusted to Shaw for investment and to rescind the agreement under which Miss Stanley surrendered the property to him for investment. When the matter went to Harold E. Cook of Gardiner, judge of probate in Kennebec county, sitting as master in chancery, he found against Shaw for $14,000. Shaw then took an appeal from the master's finding to the law court and the matter is now there for determination.

Shaw's biggest exploit was promotion of the Union Light & Power Co., at Union. As a proposition it failed to materialize after a large sum was subscribed for its stock. Menor A. Will and Fred H. Daggett, grain dealers at Strong, each advanced $12,500 toward the promotion of the light and power company which was expected to develop immense resources in that section of the state. C. O. Sturtevant of Farmington, an electrical supply merchant, put in $11,000, and all these investments are now listed by Shaw as loans. Maine creditors intend to ask State officials to make an inquiry into Shaw's affairs before they are adjudicated in a federal court of another jurisdiction, and local attorneys have been consulted with reference to concerted action.

Mrs. Lora Hardison and Mrs. O. G. Nutting left Tuesday for Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Fifield and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grindle were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Young at Crockett River.

A wedding of interest to friends in this town took place in St. John's, N. B., on Wednesday August 17 at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. F. S. Dowling, when Miss Cecile E. Sisson, daughter of A. W. Sisson of Andover, N. B., was united in marriage to Owen P. Lyons, Jr. of Boston, Mass. The bride wore a handsome gown of brown satin and lace with large picture hat to match. After three weeks spent in New Hampshire, they will reside in Boston.

Mr. Lyons was born in Vinalhaven and spent his boyhood here, the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lyons, of Augusta. Mr. Lyons went to that city about 14 years ago and became interested in electricity. He is another one of our Vinalhaven boys, who have made good and is now employed in Boston as wireless electrician for the Government. Friends and relatives here extend congratulations and best wishes.

Tuesday morning Charles Chilles, Superintendent of the Quarry Department, at Leopold and Co.'s Granite Works, met with a serious accident. While hoisting a large block of granite, the derrick hoists slipped from the stone, coming towards Mr. Chilles, who had the presence of mind to grab them before they struck him. He was carried about 30 feet and dropped into a gourd pile. Medical attendance was called and found his shoulder dislocated, many body bruises and several cuts about his head. He is now at his home suffering from injuries received.

Mary M. Gerrish, died Saturday after a long illness. She was the widow of Benjamin Gerrish and the daughter of Nathan and Elizabeth Brown and was born in this town 88 years ago. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Melville Brown and Mrs. Lyford Coombs also three sons, Joseph, William and Frank. Services were held Sunday from her late residence, Rev. C. H. B. Seliger, pastor of Union church officiating. Interment was made at Poole's Hill cemetery.

Every issue of The Courier-Gazette carries the home news of Knox county to every State in the Union and to many foreign lands.

THOMASTON

The Ladies' circle will meet at the Baptist vestry Wednesday. A picnic dinner will be served at noon. A large attendance is desired as there is special business to come before the meeting.

Mrs. Mary Ahern entertained friends at the Edgerton Farm in Cushing, Wednesday. Those present were: Mrs. Amos A. Dow, Miss Jennie Moody, Mrs. Murray Miller, Fred Kallio and Mrs. Merrill Kallio of Rockland.

Mrs. John E. Walker motored from her home on The Ridge, Phillipsburg, Friday to attend the musical and tea given by Mrs. Charles Harmon of Portland, in honor of her sister, Mrs. George W. Percy of Oakland, Calif., who has been a recent house guest of Mrs. Walker.

Ralph Swift of Bangor spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Swift.

Circle supper will be held Monday evening at G. A. R. hall, followed by an important business meeting.

Dr. Harold Jameson has returned from Bar Harbor where he has been spending the summer. He will visit his father for a few days, then return to the Peter Bent Brigham hospital to resume his duties.

Charles Pierce and John Pierce of Portland, who are visiting Mrs. Robert Shibles of Camden, were in town Tuesday looking up old friends.

Ralph Oxtun left this week for Lewiston, where he will enter Bates college.

Mrs. Lucy E. Fales arrived Wednesday from Rochester, where she has been spending the summer with her sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jordan are spending the week at Cranberry Island.

Darius Williams of New York and Dark Harbor has leased Mrs. Katherine Simmon's house and will occupy it this winter with his family.

Walter Trefethen and daughter Eleanor motored from South Portland on business Wednesday and were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmus Morse.

Of interest to Thomaston friends will be the announcement that Mrs. Ada Morse Clark of Washington, D. C., and Polo Alto, Calif., was married Sept. 17 to Dr. Arthur W. Grose of New York City. The ceremony took place at the home of Mrs. Catherine Kay in South Walpole, Mass., sister of the groom.

Mrs. Clark has been spending the summer at the home of her uncle, Charles A. Copeland, in Warren.

Methodist Church Notes—The service for the coming week will be as follows: Preaching Sunday at 10:30 and 7 o'clock; King's Herald Band at 3 and the Epworth League at 6:15 o'clock. Church school at noon.

Classes for all ages, with invitation to any who do not attend another school. The first Sunday in October the school will be reorganized with a cradle-roll class for children under 4. Prayer-meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A chorus choir of young people has been formed who will sing each Sunday evening. Come and join it. Last Sunday was a red-letter day in this church and at Cushing also, the Lord's Supper being administered to a large number of reverent and earnest people. At Cushing the communion service, the gift of a former resident of the town, was used for the first time. One man remarked that it was the first time he had seen the communion administered in that way. Plans are under way in both churches for the observance of rally day and rehearsals will soon begin for a rally day concert.

CAMDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hills were weekend guests of Mrs. Hills' mother, Mrs. Alice Fuller.

Miss Eda Hopkins has returned to Massachusetts, after being in town several weeks.

Mrs. Julia Hopkins is ill at her home on Mechanic street.

A very enjoyable time was had at the picnic at Mrs. M. Shepard's cottage at Rockport, last Wednesday. There was an abundance of nice food and the Ladies' Aid decided to stop to supper. There were about 30 present and all went home thanking Mrs. Shepard for the manner in which she entertained them.

Edmund Doherty and family have moved into Mrs. Eva Heald's house on Mechanic street, recently vacated by Mr. Fenwick.

Mrs. Amos Stockwell was a weekend guest of his sister, Addie Wynot. While there she called on friends.

Edmund Doherty motored to Portland Wednesday with his uncle, J. H. Annis and James Frohock of Boston. They returned home in the Frohock car after visiting at Mrs. Edna Paley's cottage in Belfast. Mr. Annis' brother and sister here, his brother Cole of Simonton Corner and Mr. Frohock's aunt, Mrs. Charles Burgess who has been confined to the house with a sprained knee for several weeks.

Mont Heald is soon to move into the Knowlton house on Mechanic street, recently vacated by Allen Payson.

Mrs. Rose Paley of Belfast visited her sister Mrs. Charles Burgess, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Maddocks are attending the Liberty Fair this week.

Lydia Hopkins is visiting for a few days with her sister, Mrs. Walter Clark, Moody Mountains.

WARREN

O. A. Spear has returned with his brother to Springfield, Mass.

Henry Teague returned to Colby Tuesday.

Mertie Haskell is stopping with her father, George Haskell, for a short time.

Mrs. Bennie Starrett visited her sister, Mrs. Ginn in Rockland Tuesday.

Hiram Moody has gone to Colby.

Another one of Mr. Colpitts' demonstrations was held at Edw. Nash's and a large number were present. Roast beef, onions, potatoes and custards were baked in the roasting pan at one time. Everything was fine and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Miss Jameson's opening at Mr. Jameson's store was well patronized.

There will be a candidate at the Congregational church Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Gordon and Mrs. Simpson motored to East Gardiner Wednesday to attend the King's Daughters' convention.

Mrs. Belle Mills attended the Grange circle Wednesday at South Warren.

Leo Frost, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Butler, aged 20 years, died of typhoid fever, at the hospital at Old Town, Sept. 15. He was unusually bright and a promising young fellow, who had many friends. And the deepest sympathy of the entire community goes out to his aunt in the great sorrow. The large attendance and the beautiful flowers testified to the esteem in which he was held.

Last Monday evening, Sept. 19, the Rebekah Degree Staff met at the I. O. O. F. hall for a dress rehearsal, and incidentally to wish the popular degree master, Frank Montgomery, many happy returns of the day, it being his birthday. At the conclusion of the rehearsal a treat of ice cream and saltines were served, and furnished by Mr. Montgomery and his mother. Before the refreshments disappeared Sisters Teague and Hahn entered each carrying a mysterious looking package which they in turn presented to Mr. Montgomery with the best wishes of the degree staff. Although a complete surprise, Mr. Montgomery thanked them in his usual pleasing manner and immediately proceeded to open the box presented by Sister Teague. After removing the first paper a pink box tied with the lodge colors pink and green was seen. When the seventh and last box was opened he found a $5 gold piece, two new $1 bills and a quarter. Sister Hahn's package proved to be a fine lettered birthday cake, which all sampled and testified to the ability of two of its members as cook. Mrs. Grant and daughter Miss Grant of America Lodge of Dorchester guests of Mr. Montgomery were present also Miss Harriet Cusball of Thomaston. It was one of the more pleasant evenings which the degree staff enjoy.

SOUTH WARREN

Proper Way to Relax.

Better than even relaxing by diversion is the habit of relaxing by pure will. Learn to throw yourself down in the sun or in the shade by day or night and just for a few moments absolutely ease all strain, forget all pressure, no matter how overwhelmingly urgent it may appear. Make the mind blank, make the nerves and muscles soft, flexible, quiescent. Only when you have learned really to do that will you begin to perceive how great and unnatural is the state of strain in which you commonly live. And if you learn that profound and beneficent secret of relaxing at will—and it can be learned—you will not only live longer and far more happily, but you will do more work when you do work, and the work will be better done—YOUTH'S COMPANION.

CEDAR SHINGLES

They are at the Thomaston station ready for delivery from the car this morning. If you want Shingles and want to save the price of carting and storing it will be necessary to act quick as they ought to be all gone by Friday night at the prices I am asking.

The Chapin Class of the Church of Immanuel (Universalist) have arranged an informal party for the public school teachers Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the vestry of the church. The ministers of the city, the school board and the librarian and assistants of the public library have also been invited.

Mrs. C. H. Benner, Mrs. W. B. Gardner and Mrs. A. E. Averill spent Tuesday in Belfast.

Mrs. Austin Smith left on the afternoon train yesterday for Portland to join a party for an auto trip over the Mohawk Trail. They will visit Boston, New York, Washington, Philadelphia and Atlantic City, and return in season to attend the Brockton fair. In the party with Mrs. Smith are Mrs. Wyman and Mrs. Fuller of Portland and Mrs. Small of Brockton.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Peva of Concord, N. H. is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Foster, Cedar street.

Miss Marie Lunden of Rockport spent several days recently at Warren Gardner's.

Mrs. Frank Simmons, Mrs. Carl Bessler and Carl Bessler, Jr., of Everett, Mass., are visiting Fred Sherer at the Meadows.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. (Dr.) J. C. Hill, who was on a visit at her old home in Castine during the sessions of the Federation of Women's Clubs last week, the Deacon Hall house was opened to inspection by the delegates. This house was built more than 100 years ago, and retains its Colonial style, with the original wall paper, window hangings and many pieces of valuable antique furniture.

Mrs. Milton M. Griffin who was recently operated upon at Silsby Hospital, for appendicitis, has returned to her home on Suffolk street, and is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Randolph Kelly, who has been spending the summer in Camden, entertained eight ladies at a luncheon in the Camden T Room last Friday. Mrs. Edna Waldron Norris of New York and Miss Mabel Snow of Brookline were among the guests. Mrs. Kelly has closed her house and returned to her home in Lexington yesterday.

Dr. Mary Rueter has been in Boston for several days.

Mrs. Annie Bird returned recently from a week's stay at Otis Villa, Ash Point.

Invitations for a dancing party at Temple Hall next Monday evening, have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Levensaler Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jameson, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sleeper and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Smith.

Robert Law, Jr., and family have closed their summer home "Roxmont," and left Monday for Port Chester, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Barker have closed their cottage at Crescent Beach, and returned to Dorchester, Mass.

Ralph M. Choate is having his annual vacation from the Jameson & Beverage Co. store.

Mrs. Edna (Wardwell) Clements of Lowell, Mass., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Donald Karl, Granite street. Miss Bernice Tibbets of Augusta is visiting relatives in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sidelinger of Nobleboro were guests of Mrs. H. B. Waltz Tuesday.

Mrs. Sanford Chapman is visiting in Boston.

Mrs. A. T. Smith, nurse, has returned from a four month visit with relatives in Halifax and Montreal and is staying with Miss Parmelee, 9 Claremont street.

Miss Kate Wendell and nephew, who have been spending the summer at their Crescent Beach cottage, have returned to East Milton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Artemas Haynes, Jr., returned last night from Cape Cod.

Frank B. Fish, former auditor of the East Coast Corporations and upon whom the active charge of the local offices devolved, during the receivership, leaves next week with his wife and son for his former home in Portland. The family will spend the remainder of the season at their cottage "The Crest," at Paimouth Foreside, where Mr. Fish will take an indefinite rest. Mr. and Mrs. Fish have been prominent in social affairs here, and their approaching departure occasions much regret. Their residence on Talbot avenue will be closed.

Misses Erma Pettinill and Evelyn Kaler left Wednesday morning for Portland, to enter a business college.

The Dorcas Club were entertained yesterday by Mrs. Elmer S. Bird, at her Mirror Lake camp. Mrs. Vinie Ulmer, who has been Mrs. Bird's guest, has returned to her home at the Highlands. Mrs. Lester Sherman will remain with Mr. and Mrs. Bird for the balance of the week.

Ira B. Northey, formerly deputy warden of the State Prison, who has recently returned to Maine from Florida, motored to Rockland Tuesday, bringing home his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nellie Bird, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Northey in Richmond. Mr. Northey called on relatives here and returned home yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi B. Gihcrest of New York will entertain the Summer Outing Club at the Country Club Saturday.

OUR BUYERS have all returned from market, having made large purchases before the advances in the cotton and cotton piece goods market took effect. We offer many lots of merchandise at the lowest price of the season and at prices far lower than will prevail later on. Cotton mills have already advanced their prices from 10 to 30 per cent, as raw cotton has advanced from 60 to 80 per cent. Our foresight will afford you a big opportunity to purchase seasonable goods at much lower prices than could possibly be had on today's market.

FARM BUREAU DOINGS

Numerous Projects For the Women of Knox and Lincoln Counties.

Under the caption, "What the Farm Bureau Can Do for the Women of Knox-Lincoln Counties" the Knox and Lincoln Farm Bureau News says: Four or five communities in Knox and Lincoln counties are interested in organizing a women's division of the Farm Bureau. Without any doubt other women in these two counties will be interested to learn just what kinds of meetings these women members may have if they wish.

A—Clothing Project

Dress Forms—Of course everyone knows "Betty" is the most popular throughout the State of Maine. Yes, "Betty" is our dress form and is mighty useful for fitting dresses and coats. The materials needed for making a "Betty" are: A tight fitting, light weight gauze undergarment with high neck; inch of gummed paper; one pint of shellac or shellac substitute; pasteboard for mounting.

These dress forms cost about $1.50 each. Cheap enough when compared with a commercial one.

Foundation Patterns—Meetings at which each woman has a pattern fitted to herself so that she may be able to make dresses and waists without the bother of fitting or alterations.

Clothing Construction—The object of these meetings is to teach the selection and care of clothing and the construction and remodeling of garments.

Millinery—Millinery meetings are held both spring and fall so that the women may be instructed in the renovating of materials and the making and trimming of hats.

B—Food Project

Work in this project includes meetings on preserving and nutrition. The object of the canning is to promote better methods of food preservation and to increase the amount of farm products saved each year by preservation. A nutrition meeting is to help women to plan better balanced meals through knowledge of food values and to teach new methods of preparing foods through various demonstrations.

C—Health

Everyone realizes the value of these health meetings. Women will be instructed in first aid hygienic living, care of sick room and patient and community and home sanitation.

D—Household Management

This project includes household accounts and home conveniences. The object of the accounts books is to help women to know the distribution of their expenditures and to know the value of the products furnished by the farm. In this way one gains an idea of where the money goes. It is seeing this done in black and white that helps one to spend more wisely the next time.

The chief purpose of the home convenience project is to save time and strength for all busy women. This is accomplished by talks on rearrangement of their kitchens if inconvenient.

Correcting heights of working surfaces.

Procuring or making such home conveniences as fireless cookers, pressure cookers, chemical closets, running water, tea wagons and floor coasters.

Surely with all these meetings to choose from these communities ought to plan an interesting program for next year as well as having some of them before December.

One county alone saved this money last year:—$224.25 making cookers at home; $15,238.48 in preserving food; $665.70 making dress forms; $59.00 making patterns; $99.00 renovating hats; $16,286.43 total. Don't these figures speak for themselves?

ROCKLAND HIGHLANDS

Heavy white frosts were seen in this vicinity last week. No crops injured by them as far as known, even the flowers looking as fresh and fair as ever.

Miss Selinda Green of Waltham, who has been the guest of Mrs. Martha Allen this summer, returns to her home this week.

Letters from Mrs. D. O. Smalley reports the family well and having a very enjoyable trip about the country. The last stopping place being Houlton.

Mrs. Wesley Oliver, who is with her son in West Buxton, is reported as being in better spirits and gaining in health.

Farmers are harvesting their second crop of hay—mostly clover, and are having fine weather for it. There is an unusually good crop of tomatoes and no rot. Beans also did especially well this season. I have not heard from other parts of the county, but nearly all my friends tell me that their sweet peas were almost a failure. So were mine. A white light killed many outright and others simply stopped growing and dried up.

A question which is asked on nearly every trip down town with flowers, is "Where is your place?" I tell them "At the Highlands." Then follows an interesting argument as to just what constitutes that part of the city called Rockland Highlands. We who live there generally speak of all above the Cousin hill, the Middle street hill, and the upper part of Lincolncrook street, also the Old County Road, as constituting a part of the Highlands. I find that others include the West Meadow Road, and the Bog Road in Rockland Highlands. Can any one tell me just where the line can be drawn or if there is a line? Many persons include all that portion above the hill, from the Rockport line above, to the Thomaston line below. I'd like to know just where Rockland Highlands is situated.

EMPIRE THEATRE

"Sham" Friday's feature, is a highly entertaining story based on society foibles. Miss Clayton has the role of Katherine Van Riper, a "gentle grifter" of irreproachable social standing; one of those who entertain the best society—and forget to pay their bills. A wealthy marriage seems the way out—but before this happens a real romance evolves which carries the interest at high pitch to the final fade out.

The most sumptuous home on Fifth Avenue and the most sordid hotel in Fish Alley are among the contrasting scenes in "Rich Girl, Poor Girl," the fanciful Arabian Nights story of modern New York, in which Gladys Walton plays a dual role Saturday.—Adv.

ROCKPORT

Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Orcutt and Miss Lilla Thurston are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kneeland in Bath. Capt. Harry Lane left Monday for New York to assume command of a barge.

Mrs. Edgar S. Bohndell and son Henry have returned from a few days visit with relatives in Boston and vicinity.

Joseph Gould has returned to Tilton, N. H., after spending several weeks with his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Thurston.

Miss Lillian Bartlett is attending the Farmington Normal School.

A large delegation from St. Paul's Lodge F. & A. M. were guests of St. George Lodge of Warren at their inspection Monday evening.

The regular meeting of Harbor Light Chapter O. E. S. was held Tuesday evening. A picnic supper was served at 6.30.

Earl Dow is in Boston this week on business.

Miss Lucy Stinson has returned to Gorham Normal School after spending the summer vacation with her parents, Capt. and Mrs. G. W. Stinson.

Mrs. Herbert Grant and son Ellsworth and Mr. and Mrs. Miles Standish motored from Quaker Hill, Conn. Monday and are guests of Mrs. David S. Kent.

Rev. H. H. Hathaway and son Florin of Swan's Island were guests of Rev. and Mrs. Andrew Young at the Moody parsonage, Monday.

The Knox Bar Association gave a banquet to Associate Justice L. B. Deasy Monday evening at the Muckross Inn, which was one of the best attended and most delightful events the association has ever held.

The dining room presented a most attractive appearance with its decorations of Autumn leaves and at 6.30 26 members sat down to a most appetizing banquet which was well served and greatly enjoyed. Following is the menu: Lobster Stew, Fillet of Sole, Tartar Sauce, Broiled Chicken, French Fried Potatoes, Lobster Salad, Ice Cream, Cake and Coffee. Those present were Hon. L. B. Deasy, A. S. Littlefield, J. H. Montgomery, L. R. Campbell, Reuel Robinson, E. K. Gould, E. C. Payson, A. H. Whitman, Court Stenographer, A. L. Bird, R. I. Thompson, M. A. Johnson, G. H. M. Barrett, F. B. Miller, E. W. Pike, F. H. Ingraham, Z. M. Dwinall, M. W. Griffin, C. F. Roberts, O. H. Emery, Walter H. Butler, F. A. Tirrell, Jr., G. B. Butler, Sheriff R. E. Thurston, H. L. Withee, C. T. Smalley and Ensign Otis. J. H. Montgomery acted as toastmaster and those who responded were: Justice L. B. Deasy, A. S. Littlefield, Frank B. Miller, L. R. Campbell, Walter H. Butler, Ensign Otis, H. L. Withee, C. S. Roberts and an original poem by R. I. Thompson was read. Fred H. Chester proprietor of the Inn received unanimous congratulations for the splendid banquet and courteous hospitality.

SOUTH THOMASTON

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Clapham of West Sullivan, are guests of Mr. Clapham's sister, Mrs. W. S. Clarke. They are charter members of Oasis Chapter O. E. S., one of the oldest chapters in the State and visited Forget-Me-Not Chapter Monday evening at its first fall meeting.

D. D. G. M. Mrs. Laura Maxey of Goldenrod Chapter of Rockland will inspect Forget-Me-Not Chapter Oct. 17. There is considerable work to be done at the next meeting of our Chapter and it is desired that all officers and members will remember the date and make special effort to be present.

Friends of Elmer Rackliff are sorry to learn that he is ill in a Rockland hospital. We all hope for his speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Harlow celebrated the 47th anniversary of their wedding last Saturday. They spent the day in Rockland with dinner at a hotel and moving pictures in the afternoon and returned home to find their home illuminated by electric lights and soon after about a dozen friends came to congratulate them and wish them many years more of wedded happiness.

At a recent town meeting it was voted to give the triangular plot belonging to the town in front of West-saweskeag Inn to be used as a place to erect the Soldiers' Memorial. Since the division of the town this seems to be the spot most favored. We would like to know what Ash Point thinks in regard to this as they gave us splendid help in raising the amount we already have toward erecting it.

Misses Blanche and Mildred Pierce have been guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pierce the past two weeks. They are employed in Augusta.

Mrs. Emily Watts has been confined to her home with a slightly scalded foot.

Mrs. Zebadiah Simmons is a guest of her sister Mrs. Belle Allen at her old home, the Butler place, Pleasant Valley avenue.

Mrs. Lizette Rollins and Mrs. I. Newton Morgan enjoyed a few days of last week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Witham at their camp on Green's Island. The trip over was immensely enjoyed as a more placid beach, or a more perfectly gorgeous sunset could not be possible anywhere.

FREEDOM

P. D. Thurston is lumbering in Unity.

Simon Bradstreet has bought a boiler and engine and will build a mill soon.

R. L. Overlock, who has been in the Waldo County Hospital for the past three weeks, returned home Saturday.

I. N. Quigg has a crew sawing staves and heads and making barrels. Daniel Griffin is working for Sumner Smith yarding railroad ties.

Mrs. W. A. Overlock has been having a serious time with a sore eye.

Mrs. R. L. Overlock is teaching the fall term in the Davis district.

NOTES FROM JAPAN

Knox County Boy Writes From the Beautiful Land of the Cherry Blossoms.

George S. Johnston, a former Knox county boy (son of Arthur E. Johnston who was formerly of Washington but now lives in Kennebunk) writes interestingly of his first impressions of Japan, where he is spending four years in the employ of the American Trading Co. The Courier-Gazette is permitted to make the following extracts from his letter to his parents:

"The style in Japan seems to be to take a nap around noon-time, where ever one happens to be, especially on the street cars. I come home to lunch every day (it takes one-half hour on the street car and three-quarters 'by walk'). Nearly everyone on the car takes a nap, whether they need it or not. When they get to their destination the conductor, if he doesn't happen to be asleep also, goes in and taps them on the shoulder and they walk off, bobbing their thanks. If the conductor fails to wake up and carries the passengers by his stop, the dickens is to pay and instead of bobbing it is something very different."

"The car service in Tokyo is admirable. One of our men, coming up with me the other night, said it reminded him of the New York subway. 'It was so different.' If the car crew happens to want a bite to eat, they simply stop to get it and leave the car and passengers till they get ready to move on. When the cars get out of time—and it occurs frequently—they run to a switch-back, making every one get off and take another car, while they go back and start again on the next run."

"We arrived May 27 in a rainstorm. It started us in very well, for it has rained eight out of every ten days since. June is the rainy month, or 'Nuybal,' and during that time it is supposed to be very humid, so much so that the mold forms on shoes and clothing over night. This year, it hasn't been so bad, due to the fact that there has been a considerable amount of snow on the Mountain Fujiyama, 25 or 30 miles south of us. The dampness has made it very disagreeable however. The Japanese are an odd people and do things in funny ways—as for instance, all street traffic turns to the left. The carpenters work towards themselves when planing or sawing. They take an American saw and change the handle to the other end and do the cutting when pulling it towards them. I haven't yet seen a left-handed monkey-wrench, nor seen them drive a nail backwards, but wouldn't be surprised to see either."

"They try to copy everything they see, and no wonder. They still have many of their old customs, especially in government work, but are getting away from them as fast as practicable. All the small boys and girls one sees coming from school have English primers among their books and although they don't speak English very much, they can all read it. The majority seem to have a great desire to learn and they have the greatest faculty of remembering things they hear, and usually one explanation is enough for them."

"One can buy almost anything, but it has to be made for them. The shoe stores carry samples, the same as a salesman in the States. When you find a style that suits you they measure your feet and in the course of time you get a pair of shoes, for which you pay a very good price. There is no such thing as a cheap place to live any more. It costs more to live here than in Boston. We pay 75 cents for a pound of fair butter, 40 cents for an egg, 55 cents for a small piece of fresh salmon. Breakfast foods are practically double the price of the States and rice fully as much. A dress costs as much here. We do not see the lovely embroidered kimonos that we saw at home, for they are made for export only. Plain black is the usual color and is worn by the wealthiest. The class in dress is determined by the obi worn by the women, some of which cost into the thousands. Our rent is $50 a month, a small Japanese house. Gas costs about $6 a month and electricity the same. Silk is a fine quality but it is no cheaper than in the States."

"There is no such title as 'Honorable' in Japan today. Everyone is addressed as 'Mr.' only instead of saying, for instance, 'Mr. Yato,' we say 'Yato-san,' which means the same thing. It is the same in addressing ladies, simply add the 'san.' Here in the house I am 'Don-san,' Ethel is 'Oak-san' and the cook is 'Cook-san.'"

"Tokyo hasn't a semblance of a sewer system, surplus water from storms being carried away by ditches beside the road. One sees very few teams. Once in a while a horse or an ox is hitched into a shafted contrivance and led along by a string. The most of the carting is done by the men in two-wheeled carts, even to excavating for buildings. The George A. Fuller Co., of New York and Boston are putting up three large buildings, one of them about the size of the Fidelity Trust Building in Portland. All the excavating for foundation was done by hand with spades and hand carts. I have watched two men hauling wooden piles (50 feet long and eight inches at the top), through the streets, a good load for a horse, and keep it up day after day."

"The streets are very narrow and crooked. The one passing our house is five or six feet wide and so crooked that from any point you cannot see more than 50 feet. The city is divided into districts called 'Ku.' The wards are called 'Cho.' So our house is in Asabuu-Ku, Ryudo-Cho Tokyo. The Company runs an automobile morning and night to carry its engineers to and from home. The other day the auto broke down and the Jap chauffeur sent a letter to one of the men saying, 'The gadasha (auto) has bust; you will have to go by walk; I am sorry for you.' There are quite a number of autos here, but the city government recently imposed a special tax of between $250 and $500 a year, depending on size in addition to the regular tax and license fee. They need the money, I guess, but it is depriving the customs of a large amount that would come to the government through duty. They do many short sighted things like this."

MACKEREL FOR BAIT

The Improvidence of Some Present Lobster Fishing Methods.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—In a recent issue of your paper I read some notes from one of your correspondents in which the following statements particularly caught my attention, and I find them worthy of remark: "The fishermen have been getting some mackerel . . . They are what we used to call tinkers. The lobster fishermen are using them for bait . . . the lobster law has driven the lobster fishermen out of business."

Let us take the last statement first. Why the camouflage? Whom does this writer think he is fooling? Certainly not the lobstermen. They know what, and just what, the matter is with the lobster business, and furthermore, the vast majority of them are satisfied with law. In fact, they are all satisfied except a few unthinking or selfish ones who want to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. They know that if the law is obeyed or enforced the business will continue indefinitely as a paying occupation. Not a bonanza, by any means, but an occupation where an industrious man can make a comfortable living and put away a little to provide for old age. They also know that if the law were changed, making it legal to dispose of shorts, in a year or two everything would be caught up and then—bloody!—where is the lobster industry?

I wonder if you people who have been accustomed to pay high prices for mackerel have given his other statement any thought. Just think of it. We all know that for some reason the mackerel have been decreasing in numbers, with correspondingly increasing prices, and now, for the first time in many years that they have appeared in any numbers along the coast, the lobstermen are using them for bait. Lovers of this delectable fish—think of it!

The lobsterman will tell you that a haul that will average a pound to a trap is an exceedingly good one, worth now 20 cents. It takes from 15 to 20 of these tinkers to fill the bait bag for one trap for one setting. If not molested, and given a chance to arrive at maturity, what would these fish be worth? Think of it, when next you go to market and pay fifty, sixty, seventy cents, or even more, for a mackerel, that you read in the paper where the lobstermen were using 10 or 12 potential dollars' worth of these fish for enough bait to catch 20 cents worth of lobsters. Oh, the improvidence of it—the wickedness of it!—Think it over. Cael.

Matineus, Sept. 20.

MATINICUS

The flappers are gone and the boys are lonesome; the birds are winging their way southward; the farmers are harvesting their crops; the lobstermen are laying in their winter supply of bait; and the voice of the coal throughout the land, conclusive evidence that autumn has arrived and that winter will soon be with us.

Now is the time of year when it behooves the fly swatter to get busy.

Owl's Head: I can go out and get a dozen different definitions (none of them extremely complimentary) of what a fish warden is, but of what use is he? My question is still unanswered.

Yacht Sunbeam with Drs. Loughlin and Coombs have been here on the hygienic educational campaign. Both doctors delivered interesting and instructive lectures and the moving pictures told the gripping story, "The End of the Road."

The cemetery is undergoing some long and much needed improvements. Capt. A. M. Ripley is boss "improver."

It is said that one of our young men is contemplating a course in Red Cross nursing.

Little question for today: How much longer will the lobster industry continue as a profitable industry?

MATINICUS ROCK

A very strong breeze of wind was our Monday morning greeting. Last week was not very pleasant for us rough sea prevailing. We got no mail from Saturday to Friday. The Sea Coast Mission Boat came to the Rock last Thursday morning and Capt. A. P. McDonald was unable to land. This is the first time we ever saw that boat out to the Rock.

Some said they liked to hear from us, this is our latest bit of news—seven baby puppies were born in the home of M. D. Gott Monday. A very smart little family.

The Red Clover Club gave a shower party at the regular meeting last week in honor of Mrs. M. D. Gott, who will soon go from this station to Great Duck Island light station. The party was a complete surprise to Mrs. Gott. She found there was a cobweb for her to untangle and at various ends was a little remembrance for her to carry to her new home. Mrs. Gott has joined with us in all our good times and we hate to see her go.

A great treat came to us last Saturday in the shape of clams. We had a great big clam chowder for Sunday dinner. We gathered indoors and every one had as good an appetite as if they had been outside. No one called on for pies or cakes.

Merrill Eassey met with a painful accident at school by falling and dislocating his arm at the elbow. His playmates telephoned for the doctor who took him to the hospital at Rockland, where the bones were put in place. We are pleased to learn that no bones were broken and he can play ball again soon, of which sport he is very fond.

George Ames has purchased an auto.

Juanita and Janet Johnson are attending High school in Rockland.

Edric Plumer of Union was the guest of Mark Ames Thursday. He has been employed at Silsby Hospital, Rockland, during his vacation from Boston University.

People are looking forward to Union fair the last of this month. We may go to fair afar, but the fair that is the most interesting to us is our old

BURKETTVILLE

A happy party gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith Sunday, it being Mrs. Smith's birthday. A bounteous dinner was served, each one doing justice to well filled plates. Mr. Hart favored us with many old time selections on the violin, Mrs. Blanche Arnold playing accompaniments. Mrs. Smith was the recipient of many useful gifts. The guests departed at a late hour wishing her many more happy birthdays. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Linscott, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Linscott of Rockland; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. William Knowlton and daughter Barbara of Waterville; and Mrs. Alice Gordon and Jewel Hart of Warren. The only disappointment of the occasion was the absence of three of Mrs. Smith's daughters, Esther, Pauline and Helen.

FAM-O-the Detective

HOW often we used to say: "I wonder whether that knock is carbon trouble or not?"

Now we just put in a call for FAM-O, the famous investigator and fearless sleuth. If it's carbon trouble he soon finds out, and the culprit is brought to justice—and justice in the case of carbon trouble means complete extermination.

If it isn't carbon trouble FAM-O will refuse to work on your case—but 90% of all motor trouble is caused by accumulated carbon, so the Old Sleuth usually finds you to do.

You'll be surprised at FAM-O's charge for his services—$1.00 for several days' work! Of course he knows that you'll give him a steady job keeping carbon away or he'd be likely to put in a bigger bill!
