ARE YOU PROPERLY PAID
For the Time You Spend at the Wash Tub?

In a great many homes housewives have discovered that they have been doing their family washing at a loss. They find in many cases that sending out the washing is costly.

We are making a special price on FAMILY FINISHED WASH-ING for the winter. Tell us what you are paying for your washing all ironed and ready to use. Get our price and see if it is not more reasonable. We iron everything—starch when necessary—do all the Shirts and Collars our modern way with modern machinery. Clothes done our way have a better finish, wear longer, cost you less. We want to prove it to you. Send your washing this week; have it all finished—if it isn't as good or better than you have been having it done, there will be no charge (we mean just that) no charge if not as good or better than your wash-woman is doing it and at a better price.

Everything back but the dirt—sweet and white.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

The men and women of Maine have reason to be thankful for the inheritance of character and self-control handed down to them from their forefathers, for than this there is no finer inheritance. Those early pioneers, coming from across the sea to this unknown land, erected a free government in the wilderness of its woods and on the bleak shores of its coast, and they bequeathed to their posterity the principles of justice and equity. From the earliest times this State has stood for high ideals, and its manhood and womanhood is not surpassed by that of any of its sister States. Now therefore, I, Percival P.
Baxter, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby designate, Thursday, November 24, 1921, Thanksgiving Day in the State of Maine.

And, as the family is the unit of the State,
I call upon the people of Maine to observe this day and to strengthen their home ties by gathering together wherever possible in family groups. I urge our citizens to give thanks to the Almighty, both in their homes and in their churches, for the many blessings He has bestowed upon this State, and to pray that our people may remain steadfast in the right and may be worthy of a continuance of the Divine blessing.

GRANTS NEW TRIAL

Law Court Overrules Verdict
in Notable Dark Harbor Case.

The rescript handed down from the law court in the case of Ralph M. Collamore vs. Preston Player, recalls one of the near tragedies of the severe winter of 1916-1917, when Penobscot bay was ice bound for many months and the towns on its shores were isolated for weeks at a time.

On an island near Islesboro, where Mr. Player, a Boston man, had a summer place, the caretaker, the plaintiff in the suit, and his wife and family spent the winter. Returning from Dark Harbor one night, whither he had gone for provisions, Mr. Colla-more sustained a broken leg, and his young wife, finding him on the shore
after dark, dragged him to the house, built a bonfire and starting up the engine which ran the electric lights turned them all on in the big house.
This attracted attention from the village at Dark Harbor, and a call for help was sent to the naval station at Rockland, one of the revenue steamers going to the island where the family was given medical aid.

Mr. Collamore brought suit against the Boston man for damages and a verdict for the plaintiff was returned.
Now Mr. Player has been granted a new trial by the Law Court, which claims that it was through negligence and the severity of the winter, and not through any fault of Mr. Player that the accident occurred.

Local Hunters Could Furnish Scenario For a Thrilling Serial of Many Episodes.

In Saturday's issue, told in condensed form, was a story of the adventures of a local hunting party.
From the diary kept by one of the lady members of the expedition these additional facts are gleaned.

Leaving Rockland Wednesday evening, Nov. 3, at 5 o'clock, our party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Mc-Rae, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Boody, Mr.
and Mrs. B. R. Witham and Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Morgan, with Mr. and Mrs.
Austin Philbrook on the drivers' seat,
we set forth on our way to the great wonderland of Northern Maine in quest of big game. Driving all night we reached Greenville at 6.55 a. m., where we stopped for provisions. Then going on 46 miles we arrived at Chesuncook Dam Thursday. Crossing Chesuncook Lake we arrived at our destination in time to fix up the camp for the night.

We had a very comfortable trip, and everybody was happy and ready for the next move. During our two weeks' stay in camp we saw the sun but two days, snow falling steadily. This, after the first week, made hunting conditions very disagreeable; in fact almost impossible, although plenty of game was in evidence. Space is too scarce to tell all of the interesting and amusing things which took place during our two weeks' stay in the big woods but our return trip was one that none of the party will forget for years to come.

Breaking camp at 5 a. m. and toting five deer, (3 bucks and 2 does), as well as our wangen a mile through deep snow over a narrow road, in a blinding snow storm, was no cinch, if you ask any of the party. Then making the trip of 15 miles across the lake in a practically open boat was another phase in the story, but when one finds a Captain any more warm-hearted and accommodating than Alexander Gunn they will have to travel
a long, long journey, and then some.

Reaching the Dam in the early forenoon we were very generously tendered warm quarters by Carl Graves, clerk for the Great Northern, at the Chesuncook Operations. We were told here that we might expect a hard passage, and they told us no fairy tales, for a hard passing it was. By churning, pushing, shoveling and walking we reached Greenville at 7 p. m., where we stopped for the night. It was a distance of 46 miles, which was flying compared with what we encountered from Greenville to "four miles below Monson."

Leaving the Greenville line about a mile behind, we struck an experience which has put Peary and Cook in the shade, at least so we think.
One of our men called at a farm to borrow a shovel and the man of the house, E. W. Sawtelle, offered the services of a span of beautiful grey work horses which he informed us could pull us through our difficulties in "big time," and he proved the truth of his assertion.

Through snow two feet on the level,
to five feet, where drifted, we were towed nine miles over hill and down valley, with never a hitch excepting when our boys would have to use a shovel occasionally. We most willingly doff our hats to Mr. Sawtelle, who proved that "a friend in need is a friend indeed." The remainder of our journey through Shirley was a little less strenuous, but was indeed bad enough until we reached Monson,
where we had a lunch at Larabee's restaurant fit for the king. Go to Lar-abee's when you go to Monson. We'll say you'll never regret it.

Leaving Monson we travelled slowly but steadily, and reached Newport Wednesday night at midnight, where we were warmly welcomed by the Worster Brothers at Jones' Inn, given a midnight feast in their wonderful kitchen, and were assigned to the most comfortable downy beds. This is another place you should not pass by if you ever visit Newport. Hats off to the Worsters also.

Leaving Newport at 10 a. m. we plodded our way through slush and rain around detours and over ruts and puddles, until so utterly worn out and tired every one had forgotten to laugh, a thing which they had not ceased to do from the time they started until they returned. Even Line forgot to laugh, and that is something quite unusual as everyone knows who has the pleasure of his acquaintance.
When I last saw Austin Philbrook his laugh had dwindled down to a smile, but I think I could hear him whistling the tune of "Home, Sweet Home" in the distance. Any time you want a chauffeur who has no white feathers in his plumage just call up Philbrook of the Red Speed Wagon.
You'll make no mistake, for he never had a moment's relief from the wheel going or coming.

You ask what about the women?
Well, they were game to the limit,
some of them having walked considerably over five miles through the deep snows to lighten the load, but the writer hasn't much to say about the obust lady, for she seemed to be especially favored—possibly because her puffing and blowing helped to increase the velocity of the wind.

Reaching Rockland at 7 p. m. the bunch took supper at "Monte" and then drifted to their various homes,
leaving but fully satisfied with the trip,
and planning another next year, if all goes well with everyone concerned.

The camera was freely used on the trip and no doubt some interesting pictures will be the result. One of the most interesting to the party was the flashlight of Bert in the far distance.

UNION TRUANCY CASE

Alvin Rhodes Claimed His Boy Physically Unable To Walk the Distance.

Alvin Rhodes, who was charged by the Union school board with neglecting and refusing to send his 7-year-old son, Raymond, to school, was arraigned before Judge Miller in Municipal Court Saturday.

Mr. Rhodes claimed that the lad was suffering from the effects of a sunstroke, and not physically able to walk the two miles which are necessary since the school in the Gleason district was closed and the children transferred to the Round Pond district. W. A. Ayer of the school board testified that he had measured the distance and found it to be a little less than two miles, which had been established by the board as the limit.

Judge Miller expressed the opinion that the fine autumn weather had given an excellent opportunity to test out the lad's physical ability in walking to and from school. He found Mr.
Rhodes guilty, but was disposed to leniency, and imposed upon him simply costs of court, which amounted to $3.20. Mr. Rhodes appealed.

The complaint against the boy was dismissed, on the ground of the lad's extreme youth, and because it did not appear that he was a voluntary truant.
Glover M. Titus was complainant, and R. L. Thompson was counsel for the respondents.

MORE LUCKY HUNTERS

An Expedition Which Brought 1000 Pounds of Deer Meat
Out of the Wilds.

As a sequence to his annual hunting expedition in the Maine woods, George W. Bachelier and party can truthfully say that they have separated a thousand pounds of deer from their native haunts. The hunters, among whom were included E. R. Edwards, Pearl Robinson, C. T. Spear of Bangor and George W. Bachelier left Rockland a week ago Sunday to try their luck in the wilds of Maine, more particularly in the vicinity of West Lake which is some 50 miles above Bangor.

The grand total of seven deer which was slain by the party, had a combined weight of 1,000 pounds and the three bucks average about 180 pounds each.
According to the account other game was as plentiful as deer and the party got a fleeting glimpse of a wildcat and a bear. Scarcely consistent with story book accounts of grizzlies that stride up to a box and wrestle with hunters and wildcats that jump on anybody that looks good to them, both of these specimens were traveling north at a rate that led the hunters to believe they were far more perturbed than the party.

Thoroughly satisfactory accommodation was furnished at the Potter Probie sporting camps, which are located on a lake with an Indian name about a foot long that nobody ventured to spell.

GOOD HOLIDAY PICTURE

"The Courtship of Myles Standish," Thanksgiving Day Attraction at the Park.

Thanksgiving Day pleasure seekers
will enjoy the big double bill at Park Theatre, the conspicuous attraction of which will be "The Courtship of Myles Standish."

The film not only presents some of the most romantic and picturesque occurrences in American History, but is particularly timely at this moment when the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the pilgrims is going on in historic Plymouth. The early part of the film—which incidentally admirably follows the outline of Longfellow's poem and so preserves all the charm of the latter and revivifies it—is devoted to showing scenes of historic Plymouth, Plymouth Rock, Old Leyden Street, Burial Hill, the site of the Standish Monument, the John Alden House, Pilgrim Hall and many other interesting spots familiar to Plymouth visitors. They put the spectator of the film in admirable frame of mind to appreciate the historic significance of the picture which follows, and to almost believe that it is actually John Alden and Priscilla and the doughty Captain Standish instead of their 20th century motion picture counterparts who move before them on the screen.

Beside these leading actors in the motion picture film there is a big cast which embraces soldiers, councilmen, Indians and Pilgrims. The presence of all these lends verisimilitude to the scenes. The landing on Plymouth Rock, stirring encounters between Standish and the Indians, Thanksgiving feast days and many of the other happenings in the early Plymouth Colony are splendidly depicted, and,
of course, the writer of the scenario has not forgotten the famous scene in which Priscilla admonishes Alden, who is attempting to plead the suit of the captain, to "Speak for yourself, John." One of the most captivating scenes in the play, that, which got its need of laughter and applause.

The program is also shown Friday.

Rev. W. L. Pratt, former pastor of the First Baptist Church, will occupy the pulpit of Tremont Temple the coming Sunday. Tremont Temple is without a settled pastor, but the pulpit is supplied regularly by some of the ablest preachers obtainable, and the invitation to Mr. Pratt is a distinct compliment to the reputation which he has so soon come to enjoy in the New England metropolis.

The personnel of the Bowdoin College Banjo Club was announced Saturday. Knox County has a representative in the person of John Walter

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

With pleasure you are viewing any work
a man is doing
If you like him or you love him, tell him
now;
Don't withhold your approbation till the parson makes oration
As he lies with snowy limbs o'er his brow;
For no matter how you shout it, he won't really care about it;
He won't know how many teardrops you have shed;
If you think some praise is due him, now's
the time to slip it to him;
For he cannot read his tombstone when
he's dead!

More than fame and more than money is the comment kind and sunny,
And the hearty, warm approval of a friend;
For it gives to life a savor, and it makes you stronger, braver,
And it gives you heart and spirit to the end;
If he earns your praise, bestow it; if you like him, let him know it;
Let the words of true encouragement be said;
Do not wait till life is over and he's underneath the clover,
For he cannot read his tombstone when
he's dead.

The Courier-Gazette

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Maine, Nov. 22, 1921.
 Personally appeared Frank B. Miller, who on oath declares that he is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co. and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of Nov. 19, 1921, there was printed a total of $579 copies.
 Before me: FRANK B. MILLER
 Notary Public

There was a time not so long ago when one might assume that geese and turkeys were in the habit of laying golden eggs when alive, if the price on them when they were dead could be considered an indication. This year, in the opinion of local market men, turkeys, geese, ducks and chickens will occupy their erst-while prominence in next Thursday's festivities, for there is a drop of from 15 to 20 cents on each pound of these indispensable birds. Native and Vermont turkeys, ducks and geese will be in the close proximity of 65 cents among local poultry dealers; largest chickens will be 45 cents and small chickens and fowls 40 cents. There appears to be a good supply and no one will be obliged to go without an old fashioned Thanksgiving dinner because of shortage or super-height in prices. And everything else that generally receives consideration on next Thursday has come down from the quotations of last year. Native celery will range from 15 to 25 cents a bunch and the Pascal variety will probably be 35. McIntosh Reds, Delicious and Spitz apples are now on the market, together with Toney, Emperor and Malaga grapes. Those who desire Casaba melons, tomatoes and cucumbers, even though they are out of season, may obtain them at the leading grocers.

The necessity of teaching local history in addition to the prescribed course was urged Friday night by Judge Frank B. Miller in an address before the Rockland Teachers' Association. "Footprints of History" was his title. Judge Miller said he would begin teaching local Maine history in the lower grades, following it in High School with United States history and general history, as laid down in the course. He called attention to the important part which Maine has played in history as handed down by tradition and manuscript, but which has never been given a permanent place in history such as Massachusetts events have had. The subject of history is very dear to Judge Miller, whose own contributions from Knox County have been of no small value. The committee served a delicious supper at the close of the meeting, having the valued assistance of Miss Helen Phipps of Rockport, who is meeting with much success in her work as teacher of Domestic Science.

The most welcome man on the street yesterday was Fred H. Sanborn, who was engaged in the amiable task of delivering the new city directory—the first which has been issued since 1917. Mr. Sanborn has taken exceeding pains with this publication, and while he does not for a minute claim it to be error proof, it is easily the most complete directory ever offered to Rockland patrons. The "house guide" alone occupies 41 pages, and the volume complete has 180 pages. Arbor M. Abbott of 26 Park street has the distinction of heading the list, while William A. Young of 112 Thomaston street brings up the rear of the procession.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held Wednesday night at 7.30 o'clock in the Congregational church. Rev. John M. Hatch of the Universalist church will preach the sermon. A special musical program will be given. For several years this service has been held on Sunday night, but this year it was decided to change the date to the evening before Thanksgiving.

At this season so fraught with hopeful world events it is particularly fitting for Christian people to assemble to give common thanks to God. A very cordial invitation is extended the general public to attend.

Knox Lodge of Odd Fellows conferred the second degree on Augustus E. Snowman last night and there will be work in the third degree next Monday evening. The usual 10 o'clock lunch will be served, to which members are requested to contribute out of their abundance. A third degree drill meeting will be held next Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock. The members of the degree staff are earnestly requested to be present if they are sufficiently recovered from their Thanksgiving feasts.

A rubber hose burst in Dr. T. E. Tibbetts' dental office some time Sunday and the surplus water running for many hours, flooded G. W. Palmer & Son's jewelry store beneath. The mischief was not discovered until Dr. John Tibbetts arrived Monday morning. The water was shut off and prompt efforts were made to repair the damage below.

There will be an important meeting of Rockland Encampment Wednesday night.

Arnold Sprague of Eastport, and Judson Carter of Jonesport have arrived at the station as enlisted men.

Capt. L. R. Dunn of the Coast Guard spent Saturday at his home in Tenant's Harbor.

Superintendent of Schools E. M. Tucker of Tenant's Harbor visited the school here recently. He was accompanied by his wife.

"Mike" Sprague picked dandelion blossoms and "Billy" Andrews picked strawberry blossoms here this week.

Capt. and Mrs. A. B. Mitchell and daughter Etta spent the day in Rockland recently.

Mrs. H. W. Andrews and son Horace, who spent ten days in Rockland recently have returned home.

The new station and watch tower are nearly completed and will be occupied soon. For the benefit of former residents who are now scattered around in different States, and are much interested in the new improvements, a full description of the buildings in regard to location, etc., will appear in The Courier-Gazette later.

The boat house is not completed yet. Mrs. Harry Sprague and Miss Arvilla Hill of White Head attended church at Spruce Head last Sunday.

MARTINSVILLE

Mrs. Clarence Freeman and Miss Sarah Johnson were in Rockland and Camden calling on friends last Friday.

CAMDEN CLINCHES PENNANT

Rockland's Failure To Punt Caused Loss of the Rubber Game—Freshmen Win Series.

A crowd of not less than 800 persons saw the strenuous battle between Rockland High and Camden High Saturday, and saw Camden score the solitary touchdown which spelled the county championship for another year. It was the rubber game, and as usual, was played on the Camden—somebody suddenly having lost the recipe which provides for an alternating of the rubber game.

Camden played a staunch game, showing much power on the offensive as well as defensive. The two teams were in fact, as evenly matched as two peas in a pod, and it was a tactical error rather than inferior playing which lost the game for Rockland.

The game opened with Rockland kicking off. With the evident intention of sewing up the game in the first period Camden made two first downs in quick succession, losing the ball after two unsuccessful attempts at a forward pass. Mealey made seven yards and Reed went through for a first down. A blocked punt was recovered by Rockland, Mealey made five yards, but Rockland was compelled to punt. Camden continued its line plunging tactics, for two first downs.

When the second period opened Mealey had been replaced by Sleeper. A forward pass, Calderwood to Thurston brought Camden well into the visitors' territory, but Rockland held splendidly and the ball fell her possession when a matter of inches only separated it from the Rockland goal line.

And here came the fatal error of not immediately kicking out of danger, for the field is down grade near the goal line, and Rockland was entirely at disadvantage. Result, ball lost on a fumble, and in Camden's possession on the 1-yard line. On the second play Snowden went through for a touchdown.

The scoring ceased at this point but the excitement did not. Camden kicked off and Reed ran the ball back to the 40-yard line. Rockland was penalized five yards, but made a first down. The orange and black then surged across the field, but order was finally restored. Black says that somebody on the sidelines stopped him, but he had no means of knowing who did it.

It was now Rockland's ball on Camden's 18 yard line, and it did not seem possible that the awakened team could be stopped. At this juncture came a 5-yard penalty, and for Rockland was held for downs, with a loss of five yards. Camden made the first down and then punted to Sleeper, who ran the ball back to Camden's 45-yard line. Rockland made a first down, and then fumbled. A Rockland player recovered the ball, but punting was necessary and the period ended.

The captains of the four Maine college football teams have made their selections for the All-Maine team, a composite of which gives Bowdoin four positions, Maine two, Colby four and Bates three, an extra quarterback and halfback being in the list. This is the composite team:
 Ends—Gibbons, of Bowdoin, McKee, of Maine; tackles—Guiney, of Bates, Lowery, of Colby; guards—Cook, of Colby, Eames, of Bowdoin; center—Enholm, of Colby; quarterback—Woodbury, of Bowdoin, Young, of Colby; halfbacks—Moulton, of Bates, Small, of Maine, J. Smith, of Bowdoin; fullback—Davis, of Bates. Morrill of Bowdoin received one vote for halfback and one for fullback.

The Bowdoin Freshmen defeated the Bowdoin sophomores Saturday 12-6. Charles Berry of Rockland played fullback on the victorious team. Though not a letter man, Berry was a member of the varsity squad this season, and gave a good account of himself.

ODD BURGLARY CLUE

House Afire Gave Marshal Gilchrist An Idea Which Resulted in Two Arrests.

Fire which partly destroyed the tenement on Broadway occupied by Ellsworth E. Waltz, Saturday morning, also furnished this clue to the burglarizing of a Maine Central freight car, which is alleged to have been done on the night of Sept. 23 by Waltz and another Maine Central employee named Lester Pondexter.

Watching the salvage of the tenement's contents Marshal Gilchrist had his attention attracted by some very unusual articles which were being brought out. He inquired as to Waltz's vocation, and finding out that he was a railroad employee became instantly suspicious that he might have had a hand in some of the car breaks which had taken place in the upper freight yard.

These suspicions were communicated to the local Maine Central authorities, and detectives were sent to Rockland to investigate. They found that Marshal Gilchrist had already made good headway with the case and did not hesitate to compliment him for the shrewd and prompt manner in which he had undertaken it. These articles were recovered:
 Bull Durham tobacco, valued at $11.52; case of tea, $21; cross-cut saw, $6; case of coffee, $19.20; case of milk, $4.50; case of sausage, $4.50; cotton gloves, 90 cents; case of Five Brothers smoking tobacco, $38.40; case of enamel ware, $10; total, $116.02.

The police also found a large quantity of pie filling which had been dumped in the swamp alongside the "Old Depot".
 The investigation revealed, the officers say, that Pondexter was Waltz's partner in the alleged burglary. Both men are said to have confessed. They furnished bail.

Battery Care in Winter

What To Do If You Lay Up Your Car

Take or send your battery to the nearest Willard Service Station to be stored until you need it. The additional security and convenience of leaving this to the Service Station far outweighs the moderate expense Willard Service Stations are responsible to over three-and-a-half million battery owners and they can be trusted to do the job right. Your storage battery is too valuable to be put in the hands of anybody but an expert.

DRY STORAGE

Dry storage is recommended for all batteries with wood insulation which have given a summer's service.

The plates will be disassembled and carefully stored in a dry place. In the spring, new insulation is put in and the battery charged and put in condition for service.

With the wood-insulated battery this is the only method by which you can be sure that your battery will be in serviceable condition in the spring. Wood insulation is constantly deteriorating and cannot be trusted to last through a second driving season. Both trouble and expense are saved by dry storage.

WET STORAGE

Wet storage means that your battery will be kept properly filled with pure water and charged at regular intervals to keep the plates in a healthy condition.

This form of storage is recommended only for the Still Better Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber insulation, or for a wood-insulated battery that has been in service only three or four months.

Unless injured by abuse, Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation does not require renewal and the battery therefore should not be disassembled as long as it continues to operate.

If you do not intend to run your car this winter, write, telephone, or call upon our Willard Service Station immediately for full particulars about the storage of your battery.

Remember Willard Service Stations are responsible to the Willard Company for assisting every car owner to get as much service as possible from his storage battery.

Faces downward, and bleeding profusely from cuts and bruises, they were found some minutes later, and picked up for dead. Kolosky was found to have no serious injuries, but Smith was taken to Knox Hospital with a badly injured shoulder. He has no broken bones, however. The affair caused a big crowd to collect, with the attending excitement.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion holds its meeting Wednesday evening at the Post rooms. Every member is requested to be there at 7 sharp. Special business is to come before the meeting.

The churches and charitable organizations are today distributing baskets of Thanksgiving dinner among the poor. A lively interest was manifested in the three weeks contest by the Epworth League of the Methodist church between the Daisies and the Buttercups, which started last Sunday night. The Daisies won the first lap, with a total attendance of 82, while the Buttercups had 29. Watch this paper for next Sunday night's result.

The first lecture of the illustrated series which was given at the Universalist church Sunday evening may be said to have been a success in more than one way. In the first place, a large audience was present. Every seat on the main floor, from which the pictures could be seen to advantage, was taken, fully 350 persons being present. The slides which pictured the story of the play were of superb quality. Many persons commented upon their clearness and excellent coloring, as well as being exact scenes taken from the drama as produced by talented actors. The likeness of Frank McGlynn, the actor, to Lincoln was a thing that one could hardly believe. The lecture was read by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. M. Ratcliff, and although mostly in story form followed closely the original play. The lecture was prefaced by a series of extracts from literature which were thrown upon the screen. The music of the evening besides the hymns was a duet by Messrs. Wyllie and Robinson and a contralto solo by Miss Gladys Jones.

A full house enjoyed the Pilgrim service at the First Baptist church Sunday evening. The choir presented a unique appearance—the ladies with "Priscilla" caps and kerchiefs and the men with "Alden" collars and cuffs. The choir with special soloists, rendered selections of unusual quality and appropriateness. The pastor's sermon was an appeal for a return to the stern simplicity and bracing faith of the Pilgrim Fathers. Many remained to a quiet after-service of devotion.

J. H. Simonton is to hold a shooting match at his farm all day Thanksgiving.

Co-operation Everything.
Outside the realms of literature and scientific discovery, no man has ever accomplished much through his own unaided efforts. The ordinary human life is not long enough. The big prizes have always gone to those men who have had the faculty of securing the loyal co-operation of other men. And always the greater and more wholehearted the co-operation the bigger the prize. But the really big man does not arrogate to himself all the credit for his achievement. He realizes how it was done, knows that there is sufficient honor and reward for all, and is always ready to give credit where credit is due.—Force.

THE HORSE WAS THIN

But Union Farmer Said He Was Doing His Best To Fill the Crevices.

Henry Franklin of Union pleaded not guilty in Municipal Court Saturday to the charge of not properly feeding his horse. The complainant was Glover M. Titus, who is an agent for prevention of cruelty to animals. Mr. Franklin was formerly a driver in New York. He read the seed catalogues and decided to quit walking on the bottom of the ocean, and go to raising chrysanthemums and mangel-wurtzel beets where the footing was a little more sure.

So he bought a farm which proved to be very much in the suburbs of Union and proceeded to make it furnish a living for his family, which included seven children between the ages of 7 and 12. He also bought a "plug"—the name generally bestowed upon an equine which any man is willing to sell for $15, the price which he paid for it.

The horse could stand in front of his window any time in the day without at all obscuring Mr. Franklin's view of the neighboring hills, but the new owner did his best, he claims, to fill the vacancy.

Testimony was shy when it came to establishing a case of neglect or cruelty, and Judge Miller decided to dismiss the case, providing Mr. Franklin would in some manner get rid of the attenuated animal.

Mrs. Arthur Burns will entertain the members of her Sunday School class Tuesday evening at 7:15 at her home.

The social given to the members of the M. E. Sunday School Friday evening was well attended by young and old. A fine program with games and refreshments were enjoyed by all. Those in charge were Mrs. Arthur Leigh, Mrs. E. O. Patterson, Mrs. Cora Morrill and Mrs. Marion Weidman.

Last Thursday evening the ladies of the M. E. church organized a Foreign Missionary Society to be known as the Clara Weidman Auxiliary. Wednesday evening the ladies of the society in Rockland are invited to be present, and plans for the future will be made.

Mrs. Alonzo Russ of Medford, Mass., and Mrs. Marshall E. Reed and son John Fredrick and daughter Dorothy are guests over Thanksgiving of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Weed.

All members of the Baptist Sunday School are invited to the supper at the vestry Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. We are hoping that every class will be well represented. Do not disappoint us.

VINALHAVEN

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Johnson and mother, Mrs. Ethelyn Jeffrey and son Meredith have moved into the Leaf house on East Boston street owned by J. S. Hall.

Miss Maxwell and Miss Rush of the Chautauqua arrived Friday evening and a business meeting with the Guardians was held at Union church vestry Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A series of lectures by Miss Maxwell was enjoyed by an interested audience. This was followed by a concert given by the Russian Cathedral Quartet, which took the audience by storm, and was most assuredly a wonderful quartet. Great praise was given Mr. Eves, pianist and accompanist, also Miss Lowe for her instructive lecture, "Danger Signals on the Road to Health."

I. L. Hall who has been spending the past week in town returned Friday to Bath.

L. A. Coombs returned Thursday from Belfast.

Fred Robbins has returned from Knox Hospital very much improved, having recently underwent a serious operation. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins were guests of Mrs. Mary Noyes before returning to Heron Neck Light.

Quite surprised was Mrs. I. W. Fifield Thursday when returning home, at the supper hour with her husband. Turning on the lights, she found her house filled with Silent Sisters and their husbands, 23 in number, waiting to greet her on her birthday and wish her many happy returns.

In her absence the Sisters had prepared an excellent chicken supper and fixings, which was served at 5:30 o'clock. The large birthday cake, with its appropriate candles and pink and white decorations, was made by Mrs. Charles Chiles and sampled by all. Mrs. Fifield received a very useful gift with poetry attached, for which she very charmingly expressed her thanks. She also received long distance calls of congratulations. At a late hour the guests departed.

Surrounded by a family gathering, Mrs. Hannah Robbins, Monday evening celebrated her 87th birthday at her home on Chestnut street. A remarkably well preserved woman, for one of her years, Mrs. Robbins still possesses all of her faculties. She is one of Vinalhaven's smartest old ladies and without the aid of glasses sews, knits and reads. She was generously remembered with gifts in memory of the day. Refreshments were served.

Frederick Jones returned Friday from Belfast.

Wednesday, Nov. 16, Wendell L. Smith and Leola Bradstreet, both of this town, were united in marriage by Rev. C. H. B. Seliger, pastor of Union church. The marriage ceremony took place at the parsonage and the bridal couple were attended by W. Edward Johnson, a friend of the groom and Mrs. Freeman Hopkins, a sister of the bride.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and a graduate of Vinalhaven High School, class of 1919. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bradstreet, a graduate of the class of '21 V. H. S. and one of the town's popular young ladies. The single ring service was performed. The bride was gown in yellow satin with georgette. The bridesmaid wore white organdie. Congratulations are extended from a large circle of friends to the couple who are to make their home this winter with the bride's parents.

At Union church parsonage Thursday evening, Nov. 17, Miss Josephine Clark was united in marriage to Edward MacDonald, Jr. by the pastor, Rev. C. H. B. Seliger, the double ring service being performed. The bridal couple were attended by Miss Margaret Young and Arthur S. Pierce. The bride wore a traveling gown of navy blue tulle. She is the daughter of the late Lewis and Annie (Smith) Clark, a graduate of Vinalhaven High School, class of 1913, and another of our town's popular young ladies. The groom is the son of Edward and Effie (Allen) MacDonald. They are now receiving congratulations from their many friends and expect to commence housekeeping in their home at Granite Island. C. F. Grimes left Saturday for Boston.

WATERMAN'S BEACH

It makes one feel sad to see their old friends passing away. In the death of Iola Wiley Vinal, one of our oldest friends passes on. The Wiley family came to Rockland about 1870 and moved into the Atlantic house at the southeast. I lived in the house that stood only a few feet east. This house was moved over to what was then the Colson line. I remember Iola as a pretty, rosy cheeked girl, always full of fun.

I was over to the Foster farm Friday and sampled Mr. and Mrs. Foster's anniversary cake and a quarter of a pumpkin pie. Aunt Annie and Uncle John were married Nov. 15, 1876, and always lived near and most of the time on the Foster farm. They want their friends away from home to know they are enjoying life as well as they did 45 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rackliffe are expected home any time now. They left Seattle some time ago but were planning to make a few stops on the way. They spend the summer months in Alaska.

Agnes informs me that Lee Mann is to be boss of Two Bush Light, relieving Leroy Elwell, who has been transferred to Indian Island Light, near Rockport. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Mann are pleased that they are still to remain where we can keep a touch with them.

Harry Cowing went to Camden last week and brought home a new Knox engine for his lobster boat. Harry got a little doubtful about the boat one getting him back home these windy days. He says the Camden gentlemen are good to do business with. In regard to the price of lobsters, I see they are from 8 to 10 cents a pound in Boston, but 40 cents in Augusta. One must remember the 10 cents per pound is the buying price and the 40 cents the selling price. The same thing can be figured out on the egg market. The buying price is 60 cents here and in Boston the selling price is $1.25. The lobster fishermen got 15 cents a pound from the smack captains last Wednesday. One would hardly think we were obliged to use canned milk and creamery butter here in the country, but we do.

Ernest Meservy says the new Coast Guard station is located where the shipyard was before. They built small boats from the fishermen there. I think Frances Grant will remember the old ship yard.

Barrels and barrels of apples have been given away here this fall, but if want claims you have to pay anywhere from 50 cents to $1 a peck.

SEA GULL RACES.

"I must tell you all about it," said the first Sea Gull to the Seaside Fairy. "In the first place the reason you saw us acting as we did was because we were running races. We were running what is known as relay races. Each one of us ran so far at a time, and then the next one ran."

"You see, all along the harbor, right out to the gate of the sea there are posts where there are buoys. Now on each of these posts was perched a sea gull. That was when you saw us."

"Well, we were all racing toward the river which is beyond the harbor, and so each time one of us raced to the next post beyond us, we shoved the sea gull off, which was on the post, and sent him on to another one."

"Then he did the same to the next sea gull. You saw us doing that?" "Yes," said the Seaside Fairy, "and it did look so funny. Every one of you did the same thing. And you each moved the other away!"

"Just as though two of you couldn't get along together."

"Oh, but that wasn't what we meant," said the Sea Gull.

"It was simply that we were running our own kind of a race."

"What have you been doing today, Sea Side Fairy?"

"I was watching what was going on," said the Sea Side Fairy. "I saw a little girl gathering many pretty shells to take to some children in a hospital. The children in the hospital can't get out and pick up the shells themselves and they will be glad to have the ones gathered for them today!"

"I once heard of a small boy in a hospital who played with a little toy swan and who used to have the swan sit upon a piece of blue paper to make believe the swan was in a real pond."

"And then someone gave him a sea shell which had really come from the sea, and he smelt the sea shell to see if it smelt salty!"

"Well, the Wishing Fairy sent this message to the little girl who gathered the shells today, for the little girl wanted these hospital children, and this little hospital boy, to have some shells which had come right from the sea itself! And right along by the seashore."

"She found so many beautiful shells. Some were pink and others were blue, and some looked like little houses, she said."

"Of course, they were the shells where the Sand Children live after the shells are tossed up on the shore by old Mother Ocean."

"Then I saw a beautiful white butterfly with black spots. His wings were edged with deep blue and he was so beautiful. And I heard some Meerschmum—the Word and Material.

The word meerschmum—the material of which pipes are made—is derived from the German meer, meaning sea, and schum, meaning foam or froth—seafoam. It is hydrated silicate of magnesium, and will float on water. It is found chiefly in Asia Minor, Livadia, the island of Fuboea and on the Scandinavian coast. When first taken out it will make lather. When carved for pipes it is baked dry, boiled in milk and polished. It is then boiled in oil or wax. The pipes absorb the oil of tobacco and become a rich brown in color. The crude material as found in the earth in Turkey is in deposits not much larger than eggs. The mines in Eskichehir are a thousand years old. The meerschmum on the Scandinavian coast is washed up by the sea and appears on the surface of the water as a thick white substance.

"You Are Looking Impatient."

One says that the beautiful white butterfly looked almost artificial because he was so gorgeous looking.

"And it seemed strange to me that when people think things are very lovely, they say that they hardly look real, or that they look like lovely pictures!"

"And when people see lovely pictures they say how real and lovely they look just like the real things!"

Strange, Sea Gull, very strange, I say. "But Sea Gull, you are looking impatient. You are moving your wings as though you wanted to be off."

"Yes, Seaside Fairy, I must be off, for we are going to have more races again this evening. You see, not only did we have our races going up to the harbor and beyond to the river, but we raced back again."

"And we found it was such fun that we want to run those races again."

"Good-by Seaside Fairy, you'll see us again."

And off flew the Sea Gull to run more races with his friends and family and relatives from the gate of the sea, up into the harbor, beyond to the river, and then back again.

"Good-by, Sea Gull," said the Seaside Fairy, and she smiled as she watched the Sea Gull soar up into the air and fly off!

A Misused Art.

It would be almost better not to learn to speak at all, than to use the magic of speech to wound and anger those about us. Who would suppose when the baby's little tongue is struggling with hard consonants and mysterious diphthongs, that she would master the most wonderful of all arts, only to be better equipped for wounding the hearts of her nearest and dearest? The art of speech is cruelly used, unless it is used only for the highest things.—Girls' Companion.

Miss Blanche Hill has returned to Augusta after a few weeks' visit with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill.

Mary Gregory of Rockland is visiting Ethel Creighton.

Elizabeth Wentworth was a recent guest of Euda Lermond.

Philip E. Tripp of Fall River Mass., is visiting friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Watts of Thomaston are guests of his sister, Mrs. Emma Alden.

George Hills is working at Liberty for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leonard have returned from a visit with friends in Bangor.

Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Ufford were in Rockland on business Monday.

Thurston Bros. are extending their lines to Levi Merrifield's home.

Chauntauqua is in full swing here, everybody goes, rain or shine, and all feel well repaid. Mr. Boyl is a live wire and held the closest attention of the large audience. His lecture is worth the price of the whole ticket.

Bert Warren, who has been boarding with Mrs. Bertha Simmons, returned to his home at Honeyoye Falls, N. Y., Monday. Mr. Warren came to Union two years ago to take charge of the Bachelor's Evangelist, and made many friends who were only too glad to welcome him when he arrived Sept. 3. Mr. Warren is a hustler from the word go and lost no time in hunting up the fruit growers. He has shipped from Maine 40 carloads of apples, leaving in their place something like $20,000. His shipping points were Union, Warren and Winslow's Mills. Mr. Warren, by his fair and genial ways won the confidence and esteem of the people and will be followed to his home by the best wishes of the hosts of friends who expressed deep and sincere regret at his leaving town.

RAZORVILLE

Malcolm Clark, who has been working for his uncle Oscar W. Carroll at Rockville for the past few weeks, has returned home.

The lucky hunters in this vicinity are Linwood P. Jones, Maurice Powell and Mont Grotton. Each got a deer the past week.

Alvah Young, now going under the name of Robert Gregory who lived at Alonzo Grotton's several years ago, and has been in the State school for boys at South Portland, and took a leave without permission about a year ago has been visiting at Mr. Grotton's for the past few weeks. He left for parts unknown as unceremoniously and unannounced as he came.

James Augustus Clark, who has been working at Dexter for the past few months, visited friends here Wednesday.

B. K. Ware, manager of the Washington Telephone Company, and William O. Luce, president of the company, are in Boston on business.

Mrs. Rose Smalley is working for Mrs. Elmina Jones who is in poor health.

All kinds of weather has been served up here on the bill-of-fare for the past month. One day the thermometer stood at 16 above zero, then we had several snowstorms with sleet and hail, and a lot of fog and mud. It looks much more like April than the last of November. The rain was very welcome, however, there are wells that have never been known to go dry before and some are hauling water for nearly two miles for their stock and household purposes and others are driving their stock a long distance to water. It will need a long and heavy rain as it has been dry practically all summer.

The many friends here of John L. Howard of Union, formerly of this place, will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed the regular carrier for the R. F. D. route No. 1 out of Union.

APPLETON

Miss Annie McLain has gone to Campello, Mass., where she will spend the winter with her niece, Mrs. Sadie Lewis.

Mrs. Julia Bills has gone to Portland for the winter.

Mrs. U. S. Gushee and Mrs. L. J. Hall attended the all-day meeting of the Willing Workers Society, which was held on the Ridge Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Pitman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison F. Hawkes have gone to New York for the winter.

Mrs. Susan Proctor, who has been ill, is reported as being much better.

The melting snow, together with the recent rains, have started many of the wells which have been dry for months past. In this are we reminded of the verse in Psalms: "Who passing through the valley of Baca make it a well; the rain also filleth the pools." And likewise of the passage in Isaiah: "For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater."

NORTH WALDOBORO

The Ladies' Aid, an auxiliary to the M.E. church has become such a powerful adjunct that it is almost an essential part of it. They recently purchased a fine piano and held a fair last Tuesday and Wednesday evenings to raise funds to pay for it. And this fair is what we are aiming to report and do justice to all participants. Everything was organized in a systematic way and the different booths assigned to the ones deemed best adapted for the various features. Mrs. Addie L. Walker, chairman of the supper committee, piled up $56.67, the highest of any department. This was closely followed by the apron booth, conducted by Miss Della Burnheimer with a total of $55.25. Miss Burnheimer's fund included a gift from T. H. Braden of Lowell, Mass., who some years ago married a North Waldoboro belle, but who passed over a few years ago. We refer to one whom we knew as Miss Nellie F. Burnheimer, afterward Mrs. Braden. The gift was $35, given in memory of his departed wife, Mrs. Sadie A. Davis came next in line with her candy counter, netting $32.61; $5 of this was contributed by Mrs. Sarah A. Storer, a native of this place, now of Lawrence, Mass. Her assistants were Linda Feyler, Mrs. Flora Mank and Mrs. Ruby Walter Miller. A surprise was sprung when a letter was read from E. C. Teague, who has been a "shut in" for many weeks, expressing his regret in being unable to attend and wishing them greatest success. The letter was accompanied by a contribution of $31.75. Mr. Teague is a member of the Legislature and during his confinement wrote many letters to his brother law makers soliciting a small contribution with the result as above stated. Next in line comes Mrs. Florence Shuman with $30.20 from a handkerchief sale. Seemingly a large amount for so small an article! It would remain so, after deducting a few outside contributions, among them a gift of $10 from K. L. Dymore, a popular undertaker from the Hub. Mrs. Oradell E. Stahl, head of the fancy work table was assisted by Mrs. Lella Whitehouse and Mrs. Maggie Caldwell. There were rare and beautiful hand made articles at this booth that only those of experienced eye and taste could appreciate which made sales difficult. However, every article was disposed of, which proved the great salesmanship of those in charge. As Newton Newkirk says: "You don't sell a man anything when he wants it; you only deliver it. But when you sell the man an article they don't want, you're a salesman."

$28.60 was the proceeds from this sale. The five and ten cent counter was in charge of Mrs. Maud Mank. This afforded amusement for the children as they knew their money's worth would be forthcoming, but remained a mystery what they would get until opened. $12.16 was realized from this source. The ice cream was in a net in income of $10. This was a grand showing considering the high price of the ingredients, and much more could have been realized if the supply had been equal to the demand. Well, now here is something unique at an event of this nature. Rev. Geo. B. Davis, pastor of the church here, happens to be an expert penman and seemed to attract more attention than any other feature. It was interesting to watch him dexterously twirl his pen, then glide with ease along the card, leaving in its wake, perfect letters, spelling the name of one who solicited his services and was willing to pay the price. His scheme added to the growing fund, $5.50. Last and least was the pop corn sale by Miss Belle Sprague. Penny sales climb slow and it was considered well done when the proceeds footed $33.25, the whole totaling $265.96. Considering the very bad traveling, it was conceded to be the greatest financial success in the history of the church and no doubt had the roads and weather been favorable, the proceeds would have exceeded $300. Writing in their memory we may have failed to mention some who so generously assisted but Mrs. Nellie Oliver, Mrs. Lydia Morse, Mrs. Lena Miller and Mrs. Jennie Mank were prominent in making the supper the success that it was.

General debility—failure of the strength to do and the power to endure—is cured by the great tonic—Blood's Sarsaparilla—cured.

Edward Whitney of North Warren visited relatives here last Sunday.

W. J. Smith visited his nephew in South Thomaston a short time ago.

MODERN DAY MIRACLES

How Twentieth Century Scientists Have Rubbed the Magi's Lamp and Made the Age-old Dream of Alchemy Come True

(Told in Eight Sketches) By JOHN RAYMOND

No. I THE AGE OF CHEMISTRY

Within the last few years the world has been electrified by the vast strides made in the field of science by the creative chemist. Indeed, within a generation the influence exerted upon the entire fabric of our civilization from within the laboratory has been so enormous that we are prepared at last to accept the oft-repeated statement that we have passed beyond the age of machinery and have entered into the more mysterious age of chemistry.

What this new era is to bring forth in the way of scientific discovery rests upon conjecture, but certainly, the miracles performed in the last half century have been sufficient to warrant almost any expectancy. America has heard that Germany's chemists saved her from an early disastrous defeat, both in the field and in the matter of obtaining supplies. Without the tremendous expansion of her plants for the production of nitrates and ammonia from the air by processes developed by her great chemists the war, without question, would have ended years before it did, as a result of the exhaustion of Germany's explosives, if not from the exhaustion of her food supplies because of the lack of fertilizer for her fields. So great, in fact, have been the accomplishments in the last few years that scientists now declare that a nation without applied chemistry will be "defenseless in war and laggards in peace."

Previously unheard of scientific feats have been reported from the laboratory, but because of necessity, they were performed so quietly they were robbed of their glamor and their trappings of romance while lesser achievements on the field of battle and in the council chambers of diplomats have been hailed by throngs.

Those of us who have left the classroom and the study hall behind find it difficult, lacking technical knowledge to comprehend this swift transition from one era to another, an amazing period when the nations of the world are making serious plans to scrap their worthless armaments and navies, depending for protection entirely upon the subtle but deadly agencies developed secretly in chemical laboratories. We who are not chemists hear strange tales these days, no less strange because they are true, of rubies and amber, ornaments of ivory, shimmering silks, colors of every hue, and exotic perfumes—once the precious cargo of desert caravans—produced from a substance as ordinary as coal tar.

Truly, chemistry has descended into the depths of the earth and extracted the secret formula of nature. The modern researcher, by constant diligence and untiring effort, has performed the mysteries which kept the alchemist of other centuries groping in the dark and branded him as one allied with the devil himself. The researcher, in finding in coal tar, not only things of beauty, but remedies for most human ills, has outdressed the alchemist by transforming a base substance into something far more precious than gold.

From this black, sticky mass he adorns M'lady with colors rivaling nature itself in their barbaric splendor. He distills perfumes that equal the jasmine and he makes terrifying gases that one day will make war unthinkable. Thousands of articles upon which we depend, from TNT to paving blocks, from atom of roses to fertilizer, and from illumination gas to royal purple, are derived from the same substance.

As recently as 1700 a man who dared to say that he could produce a ruby from a lump of coal would have been accused of practicing the black art and doubtless would have ended his career at the stake. In these centuries we have gone far. To-day we accept these miracles but few of us know how the miracles are wrought. And yet there is no mystery.

The succeeding sketches will show how the accidental discovery of an English boy at work in a laboratory in 1850 started the development of creative chemistry, and will tell how it is possible to produce a silk purse, a bottle of perfume, the colors of the rainbow, a variety of medicines, food-stuffs and poisons, all from the same material.

MARY REARDON

A year's illness marked in its final stages by intense suffering, heroically borne, ended Friday with the death of Miss Mary Reardon, which took place at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Sullivan, Pleasant street. From that sister, and from her nephew, William J. Sullivan, whose home it also is, the deceased received unceasing care and devotion. Even as Miss Reardon had unselfishly devoted her life to brightening the pathway of others, so was she rewarded in the dark hours of her own affliction.

Miss Reardon was born in Rockland 64 years ago, the daughter of John and Mary Reardon. With the exception of a brief interval during the World War, she had spent her whole life in Rockland, devoting herself largely to her vocation as dressmaker. The most enduring memory which follows her demise is that which comes from her readiness to aid the distressed. In time of sickness and in the homes of the bereaved she was often found, a ray of comfort to the suffering and the bereaved.

The funeral services at St. Bernard's church yesterday morning were conducted by Rev. Fr. Drury. The bearers were Mr. Frank Donohue, George E. McLaughlin, William Sweeney and Fred Carlini. The burial was in the Catholic cemetery in Thomaston.

Thermometer Scales.

There are several different systems of dividing the thermometer scale. The one in common use in all English-speaking countries is the Fahrenheit. In this the boiling point is 212 degrees, and the freezing point 32 degrees above zero. In the Centigrade thermometer, the freezing point is taken as the zero, and the boiling point is reckoned at 100 degrees. It will thus be seen that the 100 degrees on the Centigrade scale and the 180 degrees (212 minus 32) on the Fahrenheit scale represent the same difference, in temperature range, that between boiling point and freezing point.

Their Debts.

Some people feel they owe so much to themselves they never pay anybody else.—Cartoons Magazine.

KEPT HER WORD.

So Edith married a farmer. And she always said she would marry a man of culture. Well, she did—a man of agriculture.

AND DIVORCE IS THE KNIFE.

That courtship makes a fellow spoony. Is known to every lover. But marriage is another tune. It makes a man fork over.

Probably Enough.

Proper Way to Relax.

Better than even relaxing by diversion is the habit of relaxing by pure will. Learn to throw yourself down in the sun or in the shade by day or night and just for a few moments absolutely ease all strain, forget all pressure, no matter how overwhelmingly urgent it may appear. Make the mind blank, make the nerves and muscles soft, flexible, quiescent. Only when you have learned really to do that will you begin to perceive how great and unnatural is the state of strain in which you commonly live. And if you learn that profound and beneficent secret of relaxing at will—and it can be learned—you will not only live longer and far more happily, but you will do more work when you do work, and the work will be better done.—Youth's Companion.

Two of our well known citizens became entangled in a heated argument Saturday night. Their subject was "The rise and fall of the great nations, or should single men work." After using all the language known, but has never been seen in print, the stuff that would make Link McKee look like an amateur; and threatening to carve their monograms in each other's side you could read it from either side, they both struck a foolish side motion, ran into the fence and called the race a draw.

LABOR UNAPPRECIATED.

"Why did you resign from the movies?"

"It was this way," said the ex-film actor: "I drove a motorcar at 60 miles an hour off a pier into the sea, swam out to a capsized boat and rescued the heroine, carried her to shore and fought a battle with three make-believe smugglers and when I sat down to recover my breath, what do you suppose the director said to me?"

"Bravo!" probably.

"No. He said: 'A little more action, please.' Then I quit."

Shifted Responsibilities.

"The trouble with most politicians is that they promise more than they can perform."

"I avoid that," replied Senator Sorghum. "I keep a man hired to make my promises, and if the promises don't come true I administer a shocking reproof to him, with the disappointed constituent as a highly approving audience."

Its Effect.

"No wonder Elsie never puts up her hair in papers or patent arrangements. Her husband is such a passionate man."

"What has that to do with it?"

"Why, his language when he gets excited is enough to make any one's hair curl."

THE POLO SEASON OPENS

Arcade Rink, Crowded To the Rafters, Sees a Revival of This Popular Indoor Sport.

Mayor Thorndike threw a red ball out of the Arcade gallery last night, the referee's whistle blew, and roller polo had been revived in Rockland after a lapse of 15 years. The game was too one-sided to furnish all of the thrills that go with a roller polo contest, but this very fact served to show that in the Rockland Regulars we have a team which can doubtless hold its own with any that Portland, Bath or Lewiston may send as the season advances. None of the players had practiced to any extent, as the paraphernalia was not all here until Saturday, but all of them did surprisingly well.

The crowd was the largest which has witnessed an indoor sporting event in this city for many years, and resulted in some unfortunate mixups as to the seating of patrons. Henceforth reserved seats will be on sale by the Thomas Sporting Goods Co., and Manager Allen guarantees that every patron will receive satisfaction. Many patrons were turned away last night, unable to get seats. Among the fans present were quite a number who saw the H. M. E.'s make their famous record in the same rink about 30 years ago.

The Arcade team, composed mainly of players new to the game, were plainly outmatched by the Regulars, all of whom have won laurels in amateur polo years ago.

At the end of the second period the Regulars had caged the ball 13 times and the Arcade team had but a soft, easy goal. The latter team shifted its lineup the third period, and the spectators were treated to a belated sample of the real thing, with each side scoring four goals.

The Skinner brothers gave a fine exhibition of passing and juggling, and found a valuable ally in the person of Neil Kenney, who is not only speedy on skates, but has a good goal stroke.

The defensive work of Larabee and Simmons made it difficult for the Arcade players to get near the cage. The former showed the crowd how blocking was done in the old days.

About the only seasoned player on the Arcade team was Scott, who formerly played with Lewiston. His regular position is goal tend, but he did good work on the rush line. Allen and Gilchrist made a surprisingly good showing, considering their inexperience, but it was Wheeler who put the real pep into the Arcade's work, after he left the cage, in favor of Hart. The change was one that should have been made sooner. The summary:

THE AMERICAN'S CREED
I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States, a perfect Union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies.

The Climate of Finland.

The climate of Finland is rigorous but healthful, marked by long winters and short but hot summers. It lies within the zone of cyclones and anticyclones, which pass over northern Europe from west to east at intervals of two or three days throughout the year and give variability to the winds and weather. The mean annual temperature varies between the southern and the northern boundary from forty to thirty-four degrees Fahrenheit, ranging from sixty-four to sixty-two degrees Fahrenheit in July. The extreme range of temperature is about 110 to 115 degrees Fahrenheit. The prevailing winds in winter are from the south and southwest and in summer from the north, northwest and west. The amount of rainfall varies from ten inches in the northern part, being greatest during August.

Judging a Poet.

There are two ways of measuring a poet, either by an absolute aesthetic standard, or relatively to his position in the literary history of his country and the conditions of his generation. Both should be borne in mind as co-efficients in a perfectly fair judgment. If his positive merit is to be settled irrevocably by the former, yet an intelligent criticism will find its advantage not only in considering what he was, but what, under the given circumstances, it was possible for him to be.—James Russell Lowell.

SANG IN COSTUME

Miss Loraine Wyman, New York Artist, Delights a Critical Audience.

Miss Loraine Wyman of New York afforded a delightful and refreshing glimpse into Brittany, a land of fisher maids, color and romance, to those who attended the folk song concert which took place last night under the auspices of the First Baptist Choir. The songs of French Folk Lore were included in the second portion of Miss Wyman's program when she appeared in the costume of a sardine fisher maid of Brittany. If the fisher folk over here bear the slightest resemblance to Miss Wyman, and if they sing at their work as Miss Wyman did, then sardine packing in France must be a most enchanting occupation and a more intimate revelation into this industry would be acceptable to all who were present.

There is a tender and irresistible appeal to folk songs which have come down through the ages of many lands and most of them are set to exquisite and haunting sweetness of melody. Miss Wyman sang her songs of the Kentucky Mountains, Brittany and old England, with a graceful charm, a sincerity and plainness that touched many a heart string and left her large audience convinced that she had gone straight to the heart of the people she portrayed.

In 1910 Miss Wyman studied two winters in Paris under the tutelage of Mme. Yvette Guilbert, making her debut at the Gymnase Theatre in Paris and Bechstein Hall in London. Since her return to America, she has made a specialty of French and English Folk Songs and has met with country-wide approval in annual recitals. Many of the songs she collected herself among obscure corners of the Kentucky Mountains and amid humble, ignorant folk unused to the ways of civilization, but her rendition of them is as refreshing to her audiences as a cool, mountain breeze on a summer's day. Modern jazz music is sacrilegious compared to the sweet appeal and the soft, melancholy minors that dominate Miss Wyman's songs. She was splendidly accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Emerson.

The program was interspersed with several well chosen selections by the First Baptist Chorus Choir, which gave conclusive and oral evidence that it is a credit to the teaching and the direction of Mme. Eleanor Cote Howard. Numbers rendered included: "Unfold Ye Portals" from Redemption, by Gounod; "The Belfry Tower," by J. L. Hatton, and "The Miller's Wooing," by E. Fanning.

SAINT OF EIGHTH CENTURY

To Swithin, Bishop of Winchester, is Traced Tradition Concerning Forty Days' Rain.

St. Swithin or Swithun was bishop of Winchester from 852 to 862. According to the "Eleventh century Life," attributed to Gotzlin, he was tutor to Egbert's son, Ethelwulf, under whom he was made bishop. He was a devoted builder of churches, and a man of unusual piety and humility. He also built the bridge at the east side of Winchester. He died in 862 and was buried in the churchyard of Winchester, having asked, says William Malmsbury, to be laid where "passers-by might tread on his grave, and where the rain from the eaves might fall on it." It was fabled that he performed many miraculous cures after his death, and, although never regularly canonized, he was translated with great ceremony on July 15, 971, and received his title of saint on his translation, when his remains were deposited in the cathedral. It is said, though unfortunately not by contemporary chroniclers, that this translation was delayed in consequence of violent rains. Hence, the still current belief that if it rains on July 15, St. Swithin's day, it will continue to rain for 40 days.

Giant French Machine.

From France it is reported that the Etablissement Schneider of Creusot, manufacturers of guns, armor, locomotives and other steel products, are hard at work on a new four-engined military airplane in which the four engines will be arranged in tandem inside a central fuselage. The wing span will be about 100 feet, and the power plant is to consist of four engines of 400 horsepower each. The machine will be designed for bombing work, and will carry several machine guns. The Farman "Goliath" pilot, Lieut. Gonin, has been engaged to test the first machine, while it is possible that Casale, who has already tested the Blériot "Mammouth," will test the second machine.—Scientific American.

Snow Geese.

The only known flock of snow geese in existence, containing more than 5,000, weighing an average of eight pounds each, arrived recently at Cape Tourmente, Quebec, on its annual northern migration from the Southern states. Each year the birds make this a stopping-off place on their way to the Labrador coast, and have been known to do so for more than forty years. The flock has been closely protected, and this year moving pictures were taken of them by the moving picture service of the Dominion parks branch, Ottawa.

Sea Serpent Proved Hawser.

The first sea serpent tale of the season was brought to New York by the liner Munatun, from Antilla, Cuba. On Sunday Captain Andrew Osborn saw something off the port bow. Passengers lined the rail and the Munatun was headed for the object. When alongside, seamen reached down with boathooks and grabbed it. They drew up a 34-foot length of a ship's hawser with a wooden keg on one end.

Colors Affect Moods.

People who are planning to redecorate their houses may find interesting suggestions in these hints from a dissertation on color: Green, the color of all foliage and herbage, is naturally the most restful of all. Blue, the color of the sky and of the sea, is conducive to serious mood, and often gives the impression of coldness. Yellow is the color of sunlight and of almost all fires. From these associations it takes on a cheerful aspect. It gives the impression of warmth. Red, the color of blood, is exciting and stimulating. To be surrounded by it tends to make one hasty and excitable. Black is the color of night and mourning. It is always a depressing color. It makes us feel gloomy. Purple gives something of the impression of black, but at times conveys the idea of elegance. This is probably due to its long association with royalty.

Suggestion Does Much.

When you come down to breakfast in the morning, to be greeted, perhaps, with the suggestion that you look ill and tired, you may, if you are very suggestible, actually feel ill and tired for the rest of the day, unless you have the sense to counter that unwise suggestion by the opposite one that you are looking well and feel refreshed. On the other hand, supposing that you are feeling somewhat out of sorts and think you look faded, a friendly remark that you are looking very well and fit will "buck you up" immensely, and you will actually, in the course of the day, suggest yourself into a corresponding

MARSTON'S ORCHESTRA

AMERICAN LEGION

A Group of Items Which Will Interest Buddies Everywhere.

One grand assault on the magnificent digestion was expected during the visit to that great America. Tres bien, and one had been in the training for the glorious eating. But, pour l'amour de Mike, it is less chevaux of other colors to train for the unexpected company of a wild bob-cat, is it not that it is?

Consequently the undomesticated kitten presented Marshal Foch by Montana members of the American Legion now bays the moon in a cage at the Bronx Zoo, New York, and Le Marechal sleeps of nights.

The untamed tabby, brought 1500 miles by airplane by Montana Legionnaires and given the marshal at Kansas City, rapidly changed into a white elephant. The Foch party carried it in a strongbox from the West and through several Eastern cities, newspaper men of the special train standing guard. But when the Foch special stopped in New York for an hour en route to Princeton University and while the allied generalissimo was still abed, the Montana mascot was quietly transferred onto a truck and hurried through the early morning hours to the zoological gardens. The spirit of the Montana Legionnaires and their bobcat was highly appreciated, but "Vollat!" as the French said it.

An effort to prohibit the holding of dances in the public school at Kotonah, N. Y., was defeated by the American Legion and the Village Improvement Society of that place.

When the Y. M. C. A. in Somerville, Mass., burned, American Legion men rescued 24 lodgers, clothed them and turned the Legion clubroom into the temporary Y. M. C. A. of the city.

Fifty per cent. of the men employed on the new highway projects in Minnesota are ex-service men, according to report received by the American Legion Employment Bureau at Minneapolis.

Hundreds of letters and telegrams have been received by the War Department from members of the American Legion in all parts of the country in refutation of the charges of Senator Watson of Georgia, as to the hangings without court-martial and other derelictions in the A. E. F.

A Christmas gift to the ex-service men of the United States in the form of the passage by Congress of the Fordney-McCumber adjusted compensation bill, is a prediction made at Washington by John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the American Legion's National Legislative Committee.

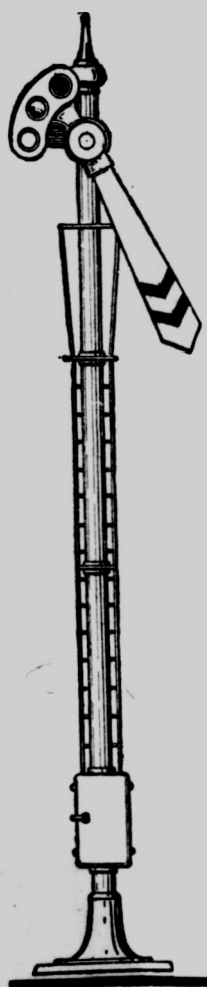

A bronze tablet has been erected in Brookline, Mass., to the memory of Albert E. Scott, a former newsboy known as "Scotty" who was killed behind his machine gun in France. He is believed to have been the youngest American soldier killed in the World War. The American Legion participated in the unveiling ceremony.

In a campaign to collect overcoats for jobless ex-service men in New York, John Golden, the theatrical producer, offered one of the best seats for his play, "Thank You," to every person bringing a discarded overcoat to the theatre. Several hundred coats were obtained and distributed through the American Legion Welfare organization.

A few hours after he had been released from the military prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, where he was serving a sentence for a "buddy" who had saved his life in France, Harry W. Haley, was greeted at Springfield, Mo., by several thousand citizens of that place headed by the American Legion. Haley is now ensconced on a ranch near Springfield where he is the guest of Col. R. P. Dickerson, commander of the National Loyalty League.

More than a million members of the American Legion have pledged themselves to assist in the American Education Week campaign, Dec. 4-10, under the auspices of the Legion and the National Educational Association, composed of school and college teachers. The purposes of the campaign are to inform the public of the accomplishment and needs of the public schools and to secure support and co-operation of the public in meeting these needs.

The Block Signals Are Working—

In some respects, human experience is like railroadings.

Every moment of the business and social day the block signals are giving right of way to keenness and alertness—while the slow and the heavy must wait on the sidetrack for their chance to move forward.

The ability to "go through" and to "get there" depends much on the poise of body, brain and nerves that comes with correct diet and proper nourishment.

That's why so many choose Grape-Nuts for breakfast and lunch. Served with cream or milk it is completely nourishing, partly pre-digested, and it supplies the vital mineral salts so necessary to full nutrition.

Grape-Nuts has a rich, delightful flavor, is ready to serve on the instant—and is distinctly the food for mental and physical alertness and speed. At all grocers.

"There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts

STOLE THE PARSON'S CAR

A Sunday Night Episode In Camden Which Shows How One May Laugh At Locksmiths.

No respecter of persons is Lenwood Buxton. Not much else is known about him, except that he also possesses another name and colossal nerve. The other name is Lenwood Gilman. The colossal nerve was demonstrated Sunday night when he halted in front of the Methodist church in Camden, and took charge of the perfectly respectable Ford motor car owned by the pastor of the church, Rev. B. W. Russell. The good parson has unbounded faith in humanity but fearing that the Ford might not stand without hitching he turned the key on it and put the key in his pocket. Then he proceeded to his pulpit to spread the gospel.

Buxton, or Gilman, to give him the benefit of the doubt, cursed softly when he found the car locked, and bethought himself of a bright idea. Pushing the car out into the street, he took advantage of the down grade, and getting aboard coasted to the nearest garage.

EXPLANATION

We had to change the music advertised for our opening ball at the Training Station tonight from the Park Band of 10 pieces to Marston's Orchestra of 7 pieces, on account of so much business in this line at present. The change is still better, but both drives o. k. and the best in the city, for all occasions. The floor is being surfaced and will be in best of shape for dancing and the midwinter evenings with Marston's of 7 pieces each night. We want all to come. We will try to satisfy in both music and dances. Doors open at 7. Grand march at 8—three hours of dancing. Ladies' and gents' clothes checked and brushed. Floor directors. Steam heat and good time. Come. All welcome. No war tax. Ladies' 25c; gents' 35c. C. U. Russ.

We are ready now to make those winter MEMORIAL WREATHS that you want for the cemetery about this time of year.

Our PINK CHRYSANTHEMUMS and POM POMS are blossoming in profusion and we are picking Violets every day. The season for these blooms is short. Don't neglect to enjoy them while they are at their best.

Our prices are reasonable. VISITORS are welcome at the greenhouses during business hours.

"I've lost my key," he said to the man in charge; "can you fit one for me?"

The man could and did, and the Ford disappeared. Eventually the church service was over, and Pastor Russell discovered his loss. Never mind what he said. Mr. Russell is a Christian man and whatever he thought or said probably reflected his Christian sentiments.

The authorities spread the alarm in other towns and keen-eyed sleuths watched all the lanes which the car might take. With traveling conditions in the hazardous condition they now are it was not generally thought that he could get very far, but "Lizzie" was still on her good behavior, and Buxton, or Gilman, reached Bangor before he was apprehended.

Sheriff Thurston was notified, and a warrant for the man's arrest was issued by Judge Miller. In due time Buxton, or Gilman, will be back to face his accusers.

PARK THEATRE

Constance Binney has the stellar role today in a decidedly interesting picture called "The Magic Cup." The story deals with the adventures of a little working girl who is lifted from the scullery of a great New York hotel to a life of luxury in a wonderful Long Island Country place, by a gang of crooks who have learned, from a pawn-shop keeper, that the girl owns a rare old silver goblet which bears the crest of a distinguished family of Irish nobility. The girl doesn't know much about her ancestry, but her mother had told that the goblet was a family heirloom; the crooks pretend to represent this family and for a time the girl is very happy with her supposed grandfather. Then the real grandfather appears, and claims not only the cup but the girl.

There will be a notable picturing offering Wednesday when "The Bonnie Brier Brush," will be shown. The story is as clean, sweet and wholesome as a breath from the heather-covered hills of Bonnie Scotland. It is one of the few screen offerings that relies for its appeal on fine characterization and human interest, and it is unique, for it is a story without a hero and without a villain.

What prettier romance could be unfolded on Thanksgiving Day and Friday than "The Courtship of Miles Standish," which heads one of the best bills ever offered in a Rockland picture house. The other subjects are: "Dawning," "Magazine," "The Cave Man Dentist," "Torchy, a la carte," and "Indian Prologue."

ROCKVILLE

Yes! We've had lots of rain, too, we also have a little sunshine. It's Vesper's new baby girl.

Payson & Robbins' auto truck of East Union broke a wheel while going through here. The Lamson Brothers gave first aid, and the auto was soon homeward bound.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ames of Rockland are moving into their home here for the winter.

Mrs. Addie Fitzgerald of this place recently underwent a serious operation in a Lewiston hospital. At present she is resting comfortably. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clough were in Rockland recently, and purchased a new violon. That means a few evenings are engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Robbins were in town this week on a business trip.

Mrs. Alice Babbidge and sons Charles and Frank attend church and Sunday School in West Rockport. This is another reason why our attractive little church should not be closed.

Mrs. Fannie Brewster leaves Wednesday for Lewiston, where she will be the guest of her sister Mrs. Perry for Thanksgiving. From Lewiston, Mrs. Brewster will go to California for the winter.

Cliff Hamilton, Johnny Ham, and Lu Alyward of Rockland called on John Ranlett Sunday and were pleased to see him so much improved in health.

There will be no meeting of the Community Club on Thursday, as it is a holiday. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Clough on Dec. 1 at the usual time.

Mrs. Fannie Brewster expects to spend the winter in San Francisco with her daughter, Miss Emma Brewster, who has been there for some time. Mrs. Brewster plans to leave next week to visit her sister Mrs. Ernest Perry in Lewiston and her mother who is spending the winter with Mrs. Perry. From here she goes to San Francisco travelling in company with Mr. and Mrs. Flood who have a home in San Francisco. Mrs. Flood was formerly Mrs. Grace Austin of Rockland.

Miss Mabel Oxtun is in Rockland with Mrs. Haines for a short time.

Mrs. Haskell is the guest of Minnie O'Neil in Rockland.

Harry Rogers has had repairs made on the interior of his house. Mr. Oxtun of Thomaston is doing the work.

Nathaniel Carroll has had his house piped from a spring in his field. Some one inquires: "Is it right to neglect our church?" No it is not right, but it is a greater wrong to neglect our Creator upon whom we are dependent for all we have, even the breath of life.

The sun will be a welcome visitor after so many stormy days.

MINE BOSS SAYS

HE WAS HELPLESS

Arizona Man Was simply Down and Out and Couldn't Even Move Himself—Feels Fine Now.

Harry E. Scott, a well-known mine boss, whose address is Box 683, Tombstone, Arizona, writes:

"I was down and out nearly all the time with rheumatism and finally got to where I couldn't move, even to feed myself. My wife thought I would never get well again, and she knew my condition better than anyone else.

"I was absolutely helpless when my wife started giving me Tanlac and in four days I ate a hearty meal for the first time in many months. Tanlac put me on my feet and I'm back on the job working hard and feeling just fine. I have gained eighteen pounds in weight, too."

Tanlac is sold in Rockland by Corner Drug Store; in Washington by F. L. Ludwig; in North Haven by W. S. Hopkins; in Vinhaven by F. M. White; in South Thomaston by L. O. Hanley. E. W. Crie, Criehaven and by the leading druggists in every town.

True Art Selects and Paraphrases.

When the novelist introduces a bore into his novel he must not let him bore the reader. The fellow must be made amusing, which he would not be in real life. In nine cases out of ten an exact reproduction of real life would prove tedious. Facts are not necessarily valuable, and frequently they add nothing to fiction. The art of the realistic novelist sometimes seems akin to that of the Chinese tailor who perpetuates the old patch on the new trousers. True art selects and paraphrases, but seldom gives a verbatim translation.—Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

Charles H. Felch, blacksmith, 31 Gay street, Rockland, says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in the home quite frequently and they have always proven beneficial. Some years ago my kidneys began to give me trouble. My back pained severely and it was hard for me to keep going at my work. I was so lame across my back. My kidneys didn't act regularly so I decided to use Doan's Kidney Pills. They weren't long in ridding me of the trouble. I gladly recommend Doan's."

Our pastor has sent in his resignation. He has been with us nearly two years, and is very popular with both old and young and we are very sorry to part with him. He has done much good and his cheering words and pleasant smile will be sadly missed. He is called to a larger church in Brookline. Our loss will be their gain and our best wishes go with him and to his wife who sometimes filled the pastorate if he was absent.
