APRIL FIRST HOAX

Calls Kenneth Nicholson Out of Bed To Far Away Errand.

If Kenneth Nicholson did not possess a calm and forgiving spirit the chances are that he would still be hot under the collar as the result of the hoax perpetrated upon him April Fool's Day. Kenneth Nicholson came here from the wilds of Michigan, some time ago, to learn the various phases of the lime industry. Just now he is making a practical study of the hydrate plant.

Trading upon his well known trait of always being willing to accommodate somebody, one of the jokers called him out of bed at 3.30 Saturday morning and asked him if he would relieve Ed. Eaton from duty at the hydrate mill. It was a pretty severe test of his willingness, for the bed felt powerful good at 3.30 on a morning like last Saturday, but K. N. never hesitated. "Sure, I will,"
boomed his voice back over the phone.

But while he was dressing something prompted him to call up the Gas Kilns. "Cutie" Burns answered the phone.

"Are they working in the hydrate mill tonight?" asked Mr. Nicholson.
"I see lights there," was the non-committal reply.

But when Mr. Nicholson arrived there were no lights and no workmen, and nobody responded to his calls.
Mr. Nicholson stormed to the Gas Kilns.

"What's the meaning of all this,
anyway?" he asked.

"It means," replied some heartless person, "that this is April first."

The man from Michigan headed back to his lodgings and the gathering storm which later developed into an April first blizzard was no more onerous than the storm which was going on in his outraged bosom.

But before the day was over his temperature was back to normal.
Kenneth Nicholson, as stated in the beginning, possesses a calm and forgiving spirit.

But there are others who find April 1st a day on which to get twisted.
The Courier-Gazette's mild allusion to the fact that the Siamese women twins were sisters appeared to mys-tify a lot of innocent bystanders. J.
H. Wiggin was the first caller on the telephone.

"I had to read it over three or four times before I got the hang of it," he said. "What I called up to find out is whether they had the same mother"

THE ROMANCE OF SAUER KRAUT

Dr. Wiley Concurs In What George Wolf Says of This Lowly But Delicious Article of Food.

Occasionally a man awakes to find himself made famous overnight. Not that George E. Wolf, the accomplished hotel man, now with the Hotel La-Salle of Chicago, wasn't already sufficiently known to the traveling public, but when on a recent occasion he delivered before the International Stewards Association his address on "The Romance of Sauer Kraut," it was no long time before his fame began spreading country-wide.

The Courier-Gazette has been given permission by Mr. Wolf to reprint his paper. The fact that sauer kraut in a sense is indigenous to this particular corner of Maine makes this newspaper in a special sense the vehicle for its reproduction. For was it not the German immigrants who more than a century ago introduced to Waldoboro the priceless virtue and value of Sauer Kraut as an article of food?

And is it not now a staple article of diet, not only throughout Waldoboro but in every other corner of Lincoln and Knox counties?

A great deal of humor has been perpetrated on the subject of Sauer Kraut. Mr. Wolf gives us not only sparkling touches of humor, but presents his statements with such sound earnestness, sincerity and sense as makes his article valuable literature for every home. A copy of it was submitted to Harvey W. Wiley, M. D., national food expert, whose reply, which follows the article, concurs in all Mr. Wolf's claims. Here are Mr.
Wolf's exact words:

"I beg of you, don't laugh at sauer kraut. If you must laugh, laugh at me, but remember that sauer kraut is a serious proposition, and a scientific proposition as well. Sauer Kraut is the poor man's dish and the rich man's medicine.

Pasture declared that sauer kraut was the best food for the stomach and vegetable dish on earth. It is part of the fighting ration of the armies of continental Europe. It is the greatest conditioner on the face of the earth.
It keeps your little insides clean and prevents the poisons which make you sick.

I have studied this question from stalk to stomach, and I have read the highest authorities in the world on the subject of the digestive tract.

Before the first bean was born sauer kraut was the source of family happiness and bodily comfort. Before biscuits and dog biscuits had dawned upon the food horizon, centuries in advance of horse pudding, rhinoceros cake, sauer kraut was the great great grandfather of the wholesome diet.

If you're getting old and beginning to smack of the saltiness of the relish of Time, if you are a trifle apprehensive of hardening of the arteries, take the advice of the great authorities of Vienna and get busy with your sauer kraut diet so that your day may be long in the land which the Lord thy God hath given thee.

Those friends of yours who are fading out in the disappearing screen of life will thank you for the information that sauer kraut is now recognized absolutely and positively as a diet cure and is given first place in no less an authority than And's Practice of Medicine.

Just tell them from me that if they have diabetes and want to get well and keep well—sauer kraut will turn the trick.

And you can go further than this and still be on the safe side of the facts in the case. You can carry the message back to the ladies of your heart and homes that if they want to become more beautiful than they are—sauer kraut will make them so.
It is the most wonderful blood purifier we have, vastly more effective than yeast as a benefit for the complexion.

For those of you who revel in the good things of the table, you who look upon life as a feast day and have never stinted your palates or your appetites—for you there is one sovereign remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia
—one positive preventive of stomach trouble, and it isn't pills or powders but just—sauer kraut.

If you live in out of whack, if you are waxing fat, in fair round belly with good capon lined—get you to the sauer kraut keg as fast as you can trot, for sauer kraut is the panacea that will fix your clock in no time.

If you want a tonic, if you are off your feed, if your kidneys are a bit suspicious or your joints have begun to creak with the dagger stabs of rheumatism—good old sauer kraut is the best doctor you can summon—and I now propose to prove what I have said and show you that this thing of sauer kraut is no joke, but a reality.

Over in Russia the leading medical authority of that country says:
"Sauer kraut juice is Nature's own best medicine for disorders of the stomach and intestines. It is the greatest cleanser in the whole category of foods."

And here let me give you the ration of the Russian soldier on military duty—the weekly ration: Black bread 7 pounds, meat 7 pounds, salt 10 ounces, beer 7 quarts, barley 120 ounces—sauer kraut 122 ounces. And the Russian soldier can pack a heavier burden and march longer over hard roads in snow and ice and mud than any other trooper on earth.

A leading authority of Germany has gone on record as follows: "Sauer kraut especially the juice, is an invaluable food treatment for stomach, bowels and blood. There is nothing better for impure blood."

The famous Dr. Brokaw of St. Louis said: "Spinach may be the bloom of the stomach but sauer kraut is the vacuum cleaner."

Still another eminent authority tells us: "I have found the juice of common sauer kraut, in bulk or in cans, to be a most dependable remedy for disturbances of health arising from disordered stomachs. It is a preventive of seasickness, dizziness and vertigo and a direct remedy for gastritis.
I doubt if there is anything equal to it for sour stomach or for ridding the system of uric acid."

Now let me tell you something else.
You have heard of the famous Elie Metchnikoff of the Paris Institute.
Metchnikoff discovered the good little bugs called lactic acid bacilli which thrive in buttermilk, kumiss, matzoon, Bulgarian clabber and yogurt. These are the germs which destroy the poisons in our systems, and the strongest and most energetic of these little friends are the kind that flourish in sauer kraut juice, the very same juice which our wives and our chefs so often throw away by pouring down the sink.

These little germs in sauer kraut are the fighters which attack and destroy the bad germs which cause disease. They are the Dempseys of the human system, they don't knock when they are needed, they keep on fighting till they win. They're the best friends we've got today in the arena of life.

And I ask you to remember that these germs of health literally live in sauer kraut and sauer kraut juice. These are scientific facts, gentlemen.

Old Metchnikoff tells a story of a weaver of Minsk, Russia, who was a hunchback and so deformed that he scurried ever venturing out upon the street. Children hooted him and the dogs barked, and so the unfortunate man stayed in doors all day. He had no pleasures of life. He had neither chick nor child. But he did have one grand passion—and that was sauer kraut.

As he sat at his loom and worked far into the night, he had two bowls on his bench beside him; on his left a bowl of cooked kraut, and on his right a bowl of raw kraut, and he dipped alternately into one and then into the other eating as he worked—and he lived to be one hundred and three years old, which is going some, if I think. Metchnikoff goes on to say that sauer kraut didn't do it all, perhaps, but he thinks there is no doubt that it helped materially in view of the fact that the longest lived people in the world—the Russians—who were lives of the Balkan states—fairly live on sauer kraut, sauer milk and black bread.

Sauer kraut is the greatest anti-corbatic known. It prevents scurvy.
Captain Cook discovered this fact in the year 1776 and it is still used on British vessels and others on long cruises to keep the sailors in condition. And for this same reason it is an excellent curative for many diseases of the skin.

I admit that I have been deeply interested in this subject of sauer kraut, and I happen to be personally acquainted with the gentleman who conducted the scientific research on sauer kraut. I might go on and tell things about the old familiar dish that would open your eyes to the possibilities of featuring it as a genuine health food of the highest order.

Government reports go further than this and show conclusively the superiority of sauer kraut in food value as against tomatoes 45 calories, asparagus 80, okra 60, onions 115, string beans 95, vegetable soup 40, pumpkin pie, 120, turnips "nix"—and sauer
kraut 125.

Over in Copenhagen, sauer kraut is regularly used as a cure for indigestion and flatulency. An authority of the American Institute says the right dose for such purposes is about three tablespoonsful before meals, and the celebrated Dr. Arnold Lorand of Carlsbad, Germany, prescribes regularly a small wineglassful of sauer kraut juice half an hour before meals and before retiring, and says it is the best health medicine under the sun.

Of course, gentlemen, this is not a medical association meeting and I myself am neither a doctor nor the son of a doctor, but the information I have gathered on sauer kraut seems to me so important and so useful that something ought to be done with it. It is one of the things that ought to be published to the world, and so I have taken it upon myself to bring these facts to your attention. I might continue a length and quote for you many eminent authorities of Europe and America, every one of them earnestly outspoken in their recommendations of sauer kraut. I am informed that Edward Ochsner has given this proposition certain scientific tests at the Augustana Hospital as a dietetic for diabetics, and a humble as the remedy may seem now, this distinguished gentleman is not alone in the matter.

Another famous Chicagoan, Dr. Sadler, credits sauer kraut with excellent values as a most serviceable health food and health medicine.

Dr. Hugo Friedstein, another noted specialist of Chicago, says: "I have repeatedly prescribed the juice of raw sauer kraut for diabetics and with very gratifying results. I have also noted good results in cases of indigestion, dyspepsia and derangements of the stomach."

The "Scientific Review" of France recommends a generous diet of sauer kraut for athletes, for soldiers, for workers generally and for keeping fit.

Now here is the big point. For some unaccountable reason people smile whenever sauer kraut is mentioned.
The average householder seems half ashamed to serve it on the table, yet nearly everybody has a secret liking for sauer kraut and I honestly believe that if the facts about it were made known to the public, sauer kraut would come into its own as a standard world dish and achieve the favor and recognition and popularity to which it is entitled as one of the best gifts of Nature. How often you hear a man say, "By jove, I'm going to order some spare ribs and sauer kraut; we never have it at home, my wife despises it, but I'm plebian enough to like it—and here goes." You've heard this sort of remark a thousand times, and so have I, and my contention is that if the truth about sauer kraut were once realized, and if the general public were once informed of the truly scientific benefits of sauer kraut and especially of sauer kraut juice—it would do more for the health of the people in the world than any other single cheeked, bright-eyed and with keen appetite and increased capacity for other dishes on the menu card that any other one thing I know of.

At any rate, the time has passed when sauer kraut needs any apology from anybody, and you gentlemen concerning things to eat, I think you are the natural heralds of legitimate and truthful food propaganda and that you might go far and do worse than feature some of the delicious sauer kraut dishes such as sauer kraut salad, sauer kraut dol-a-mah, escalloped or baked sauer kraut—and the like.

And now may I tell you a secret, a little word in whispered confidence?
You can make for yourself a concoction to keep a sting in it that will take you back to the good old days—a sauer kraut cocktail. Just take the juice in a shaker with some ice, you know, you remember, and serve very cold in one of those pre-historic little glasses—and believe me, you've got something. The alcoholic content in sauer kraut juice comes delightfully close to the Volstead deadline. Naturally, it may be the part of discretion to keep this feature dark—at least until every citizen has time to put down a barrel or two before they pass a law against sauer kraut.

But seriously, if you do close in appearance to a Bronx—and tastes so curiously like lemonade with a kick in it—that I'm going to take out a patent on it and call it a "Wolf Cocktail." I take this opportunity of inviting your co-operation.

It would be unfair to close this article without calling attention to the point that sauer kraut is high in vit-amines; rich also in mineral salts and iron for the blood, in calcium also,
which is the bonebuilding substance.

Well, this is my story and I want to say in conclusion that you may pin your faith to lettuce and celery because they rest your nerves, you may be a strong missionary for onions, or believe that cucumbers cool the heat of the brain, but the quicker you desert those false gods and convert yourselves to the true religion of sauer kraut the better it will be for both your body and your soul. And so, in the language of the benediction of old: "Pax vobiscum! vivat in aeternum—Sauer Kraut!"

DR. WILEY CONCURS
National Food Expert Confirms Every Claim Made for Sauer Kraut.

I am very glad to give you my opinion of sauer kraut. Cabbage is one of the vegetables which is found to be the richest in vitamin. It contains all three of each vitamin. I am therefore a firm believer in the free and extensive use of cabbage, especially when it is raw.

"Cooking injures some of the vita-mines to some extent, but not sufficiently to make cooked cabbage unwholesome, but the raw eating cabbage is eating it raw, either au naturel or in the form of slaw, provided the slaw has not too much sugar, acids, or spices. "But after all, I think there is no form in which cabbage can be used to such an advantage as in Sauer Kraut."

"You may not know that Sauer Kraut is the father of ensilage. You doubtless are familiar with the greediness and pleasure with which cows eat ensilage. Ensilage is the Sauer Kraut of the dairy industry. Some persons are unkind to insinuate that the reason cows like ensilage is because it contains a little alcohol! It probably does, being well within the limits of the Volstead Act.

"I wish, too, that the lovers of Sauer Kraut would eat it raw. It is much more wholesome that way, and I think more palatable. All the vitamins are preserved in the raw state.

"The slight acidity of sauer kraut is also safeguarded against the destruction of the vitamins in cooking.
It is a well established fact that vita-mines resist high temperatures much better in an acid medium than they do in a neutral or alkaline medium.
The fact of the case is, the American people do not appreciate the value of cabbage in all its forms. Any propaganda which would increase the use of this wonderful vegetable would be for the benefit of the health of the people. I am glad you are understanding through The Sample Case so very important a

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Maine, April 4, 1922.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydte, who on oath declares that he is present in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of March 25, 1922, there was printed a total of 6,154 copies. Before me, FRANK B. MILLER, Notary Public.

Bath has reason to be proud of its High School pupils, who have taken emphatic action to banish the society of "Shifters," which had assumed flourishing dimensions among the pupils. Principal Wilson, becoming aware of the extent to which the society was gaining ground, called the girls into council. The Times adds:

"Some of the girls who had innocently been led into the thing spoke in condemnation of it. Margaret Cummings made the motion which killed the Shifter organization and it was passed by a unanimous vote. Madelyn Chandler made the motion to notify other High Schools of the action. Thus Morse leads in killing an organization which has spread throughout the east and is demoralizing youth everywhere, for it teaches, in some of its degrees, things which lead to immorality and all through it runs the grafting idea in capital letters. It is a galling, grafting game pure and simple and through it women scrape acquaintances with men and a part of the initiation (there are 32 degrees), is arranging petting parties and a general lowering of morale results. It is a loose code which contaminates. The paper clip has served as an invitation to flirtation and to intimacies that self-respecting girls would ordinarily resent. It has passed from a harmless fad to that of a dangerous craze and self-respecting women are side-stepping, recognizing that this organization belongs in the category of senseless and harmful pastimes and incidentally swells the bank accounts of shifter pin manufacturers."

The Shifter movement has got its hold upon Rockland in common with other communities, but we do not learn that it has seriously invaded the schools. If it has, we are confident that the good sense of the pupils will range them on the side of the girls of Morse High.

Tomorrow opens the canvass of the Winslow-Holbrook Post for the sale of their bonds, the $12,000 thereby to be raised to be applied to the purchase of the old Y. M. C. A. property, out of which the post will establish its official home. We are confident our people will meet this appeal to their patriotism in a manner that shall render easy the work of the canvassers.

The remark of a prominent magazine editor that President Harding has no elements of the spectacular is absolutely true. When Mr. Harding was a newspaper editor, he permitted no sensationalism in his columns. Every line of his paper was fit to read in any home. His service in the Senate was without a single appeal to the galleries. His campaign for the Presidency was conducted with all the dignity that is becoming to a contest of that national importance. He has not pretended that he alone can save the nation from its ills nor has he assumed that in him alone are all wisdom and virtue centered. Like the head of every great business concern in private enterprise, he called to his aid men of high ability and entrusted to them the duties and responsibilities of the several departments. He has made the White House the headquarters of a truly popular government, restoring significance to the name of democracy.

All the American troops on the Rhine are to be brought home at once. The announcement will be received with gratification in this country. They have been kept there to assist in enforcing the treaty of Versailles, to which the United States is not a party. It is probable they would have been withdrawn at an earlier date had it not been for the pleas of the allies that they remain. There seems to be no hurry on the part of the allies to pay the expenses of the American Army from German receipts, as the terms of the armistice direct, and it is better that the men come home before the bill is made larger.

According to the Lewiston Journal the candidates who are talked of in connection with the Second District Democratic Congressional nomination are Mayor Louis J. Brann of Lewiston and James B. Perkins of Boothbay Harbor.

The recent address before the Woman's Educational Club by the Rev. E. P. Browne, pastor of First Baptist should have been listened to by all Maine citizens, as it was forceful, eloquent and held the closest attention of his hearers. He revealed some startling revelations as to utterances that have been made from other Maine platforms and convincingly proved the need for greater educational propaganda and watchfulness on right lines. Other towns should invite Mr. Browne to speak.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR

The office of police matron was abolished by the municipal officers. A. S. Niles and John T. Berry were elected parliament. At the annual meeting of the Methuen Club Mrs. Ruth E. Lingwood was elected president. Albert Pierson, who escaped from the Knox County Jail, was recaptured at North Haven by Deputy Sheriff Kallioch. Charles T. Smalley was appointed referee in bankruptcy to succeed R. I. Thompson, who automatically retired when he was elected State Senator. Albert J. Rawley left the employ of the Fairbanks Co., after eight years service, to operate a public garage in Tenant's Harbor. The April term of Supreme Court began, with Associate Justice Spear presiding.

VOTED FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING

Period Will Be Shorter, But Vote Was Unanimous—Fernald and Lamb Re-elected—White Way Extended Northward.

Without a dissenting voice, last night, both branches of the City Government passed the daylight saving order, and the measure promptly received the mayor's signature. Clocks will be set ahead one hour in the morning of Sunday, May 14, and standard time will be resumed on the morning of Sunday, Sept. 10. This is a considerably shorter period than last year, when daylight saving was in effect from the first Sunday in May to the first Sunday in October. It is also a much shorter period than other cities have, but is perfectly satisfactory to the measure.

The popularity of daylight saving last year, when the great majority of people found how much greater comfort they could get out of life, was reflected in the presence at City Hall last night of a large number of citizens, who were ready to speak in advocacy of the measure, had the occasion demanded it. It was also shown by a petition bearing more than 400 names, including the city's principal industrial heads.

The measure was introduced by Alderman M. M. Daggett of Ward 7, and reads thus:

That the City of Rockland shall adopt Daylight Saving in all its departments beginning Sunday, May 14, 1922, and for a period ending Sunday, Sept. 10, 1922; and on the 14th day of May, 1922, at 11 o'clock p. m., all the city clocks shall be set ahead one hour, and so remain until Sunday, Sept. 10, 1922, at which time they shall be restored to Standard Time.

"With such a representative list of petitioners it is evident that the majority of the people decidedly favor daylight saving," said Mayor Thorndike.

The passage of Alderman Daggett's order was moved by Alderman Erskine, and the chorus of "ayes" was unanimous. In the lower board Councilman Harry F. Smith moved that the order have a passage, and the motion was seconded by Councilman Dora E. Crockett. Here, too, the chorus of "ayes" was unbroken.

Next in point of interest last night was the election of two police officers. The terms of Walter J. Fernald and Alfred B. Lamb expired, and both were unanimously re-elected for a period of three years. Other names presented for the aldermen's consideration were Charles Emery, Ralph Clark and Bennie Nola. Mr. Fernald was immediately reappointed deputy marshal, the position which he has filled for several years in such a thoroughly satisfactory manner.

A delegation from the Woman's Educational Club was presented at the meeting to urge the appointment of a police matron. The visitors remained seated in the Common Council Chamber and did not hear the brief debate, which took place in the aldermen's room.

The petition asked the appointment of a police matron "to assist in the charitable work and to guard the morals of the young people of the community."

Alderman Erskine moved that the order be tabled for 30 days. "It's a question," said Mayor Thorndike, whether there is work enough for a police matron to warrant the salary she would receive. "We ought to have a woman police officer for that missioner Room reported expenditures in his department to the amount of $652.

The order was tabled.

Another important matter which came before the City Government last night, and received favorable consideration was the extension of the "White Way" zone from the Granite street limit, previously fixed, to Gay

Park. Alderman Robbins, in presenting the order said that the Central Maine Power Co. would street the four poles free of charge, the city to pay the additional lighting cost. If the work were done later the construction cost would fall upon the city. The order was passed.

"I understand," said Mayor Thorndike, "that the Central Maine Power Co. has already expended $14,000 on what it thought it was going to get for $10,000. The order just passed makes the job what everybody thinks it ought to have been at the start."

Alderman Erskine's order for the purchase of a motor driven street sprinkler was passed. "We have drifted along with the old ones till the limit seems to have been reached," said His Honor. A motor driven sprinkler will do away with horses in the sprinkling department and will be able to cover much more territory.

Passage was given to Alderman Robbins' order for an 8-inch sewer on Chestnut street. The committee reported favorably on this proposition last year, with the recommendation that the sewer be built.

The finance committee was authorized to abate such back or out-laid taxes as seem advisable.

E. O. Philbrook & Son were given permission to build an extension on to their garage.

The petition of E. B. Ingraham and others for a street light at the corner of Masonic and Union streets was referred to the lighting committee.

The offer of Mrs. E. N. Brown of Milford, Mass., to give the city a bond of $100 for the care of the Eugene N. Brown lot in the Richardson cemetery was accepted.

Wyman Packard and John Lanigan were given separate permits to hold sparring exhibitions the present month.

The petition of L. S. Henderson and others for the improvement of the lighting committee, as was the Washington street, was referred to the petition of William Young and others for a sidewalk on Bunker street.

An order was passed for the printing of 200 copies of the city reports. Harry D. Phillips, A. C. McIntosh and Boynton Shadle were appointed assistant engineers of the fire department, with Fred Cheyne as driver of the Chemical.

Police appointments additional to those above mentioned were: Special Police—Henry G. Perry, Addison L. Shute, Edward H. Lothrop, Edw. U. Price, Ralph Clark, Levi Mank, A. C. McIntosh, Frank M. Sherer, Charles H. Emery, John Linell, Forrest K. Hatch, Hiram Davis, O. B. Brown, Simon Hart, Bennie Nola, Cyrus J. Gross, William A. Seavey, Wyman Cushman, William S. Stinson, Elbridge L. Orbeton, Roland Rackliff, William J. Frye, Augustus Huntley, George W. Stevens, E. P. Harrington, Harry D. Phillips, W. G. Richards, James Gray, Sanford A. Kaler, John Koster.

Fire Police—George J. Kenney, Paul Seavey, George Williams, Frances W. Hall, Albert Grant, G. C. Simmons. Watchmen as Special Police—Robert Hussey, Fred M. Smith, Philip McRae, Angus McRae, W. S. Pettie, Elmer Studley, John Chaney, Ezra Sholes, Robert Burnett, W. O. G. Walker, Prince A. Tower, Frank M. Ulmer, James J. Roberts, L. K. Blackington and G. O. B. Crockett.

Marshal Gilchrist reported only nine arrests for the period between Feb 14 and April 1. There were three arrests for intoxication—Road Com-missioner Ross reported expenditures in his department to the amount of $652.

Tax Collector Lovejoy gathered in $3,771 on taxes and $172 on interest. City Treasurer Virgin's report showed receipts amounting to $12,011 and disbursements of $16,735. There was $273 in the city's till when the month ended. The roll of accounts carried a total of $9,493.

NEW ENGLAND COKE

A CREATURE OF HABIT—THAT'S WHAT MAN IS

Fuel extravagance is an old and costly habit. It is hard to break away from old customs, but you cannot afford to keep on burning coal just because it has been your habit. You certainly cannot be so fond of dust, smoke, soot and ashes—of expensive, unclean conditions—as to be unwilling to give NEW ENGLAND COKE a trial—that's all we ask. NEW ENGLAND COKE will do the rest. NEW ENGLAND COKE does not burn out firepots or grates, and should not be confused with the old-fashioned gashouse coke.

The Maine branch of National Vocational Education meets in Portland April 21-22. The railroad offers special rates, good for April 19-24. A. P. Gooding, and possibly others will attend from this city.

A stated communication of Aurora Lodge will be held Wednesday evening. Reception of petitions, balloting for candidates and work on the Fellowship degree. The worshipful master desires a full attendance.

An example of service, with a capital S, was demonstrated last week when Photographer Tyler hurried into the Western Union office at 4:45 p. m. with an S. O. S. call for some mounts for his polo pictures. The telegram was destined for a Boston photo stock house which closed for the day in just 15 minutes. But everything worked fine, for the required mounts were delivered at Tyler's studio a few minutes past 11 the next morning.

King Solomon Temple Chapter has work on the Mark Master degree at its regular meeting Thursday night. The regular meeting of King Hiram Council will take place Friday night, and arrangements will be made for the visit to Camden in May. The Council has received intimation that a visit from it would be very welcome at Bar Harbor—so much so that 100 candidates could be secured there.

Frank M. Ulmer, past chancellor of Gen. Berry Lodge, K. of P., is a candidate for grand outer guard of the Grand Lodge, which meets in Bangor next month. The assistance of delegates from Knox and Lincoln counties is requested.

The two-masted schooner, J. S. Glover, having rested on its side all winter at Bicknell's wharf with its hull full of icy salt water, was moved further along the wharf by the lighted Radium Saturday and afforded a chance to rest on her other side while she is being caulked.

The subject of the Primary Law is strong in the limelight just now, because its rejection is foreseen by both leading parties. People hate to take the trouble to vote so many times. So the subject on which Rev. Mr. Rounds is to speak before the Educational Club April 10 is to be of special and timely value. Maine women have never before had a chance to vote in a primary election.

John Robinson has entered the employ of V. F. Studley and has charge of the music department. Mr. Robinson was 11 years with the Maine Music Co. and several years with F. H. Thomas in Camden. He is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. Hodgdon, Beech street, Friday afternoon at the usual hour. Ladies will please go prepared to work on comfort bags.

The Uniform Rank, K. of P., will convene with the Grand Lodge K. of P. in Bangor next month. Members of Key Company are requested to make preparations to attend in body, as per general orders.

The name of Arthur B. Packard of Rockport was accidentally omitted from the list of directors of the Camden & Rockland Water Co., when the report of the annual meeting was published in this paper.

Angus McLeod's three smart hens never faltered in the month of March. The calendar sheet handed to "The Courier-Gazette's" poultry editor yesterday showed one egg or more for every one of the thirty-one days. The aggregate was 74 eggs. "Guess that'll hold Oscar Blunt for a while," says the proud Angus.

The evangelistic services will continue each week at Littlefield Memorial Free Baptist church. Rev. O. W. Stuart has had a wide experience in this kind of work and the straightforward manner in which he presents his stirring message is proving very helpful. A wonderful service was enjoyed Sunday night, and at the close three decided to walk the better way. Mr. Panquette, a talented baritone singer, brings the Gospel story in song and delights his audiences. Mr. Panquette will give a synopsis of his life's story at the evening service Sunday, April 9. Considering the traveling the services have been well attended. People of all the churches are cordially invited.

Miss Kitty Coburn has sold a lot on Limerock street to Leroy Coombs, who will build a residence there as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Mr. Coombs is an employ of the W. G. Glover Co.

The wooden bridge, more than half a mile long, which spans the Sheepscot river between Wiscasset and Edgcomb, was opened to public travel last Thursday, after having been rebuilt. It is said to be the longest structure in Maine, being 3250 feet in length, and is an important connecting link in the highway for automobilists traveling between Bath and Rockland.

This is probably the last week of roller polo this season, and consequently the games tonight and Wednesday night between Rockland and Woonsocket. The Rhode Island team brings to this city three of the fastest men who played with the American Association this season—Wiley, Bouchard and Dufresne. Mitchell, the halfback is a speedy semi-professional, while Grosse, who comes with the team as goal tend, needs no introduction. Kenney, who flashed so brilliantly in the Bath game Saturday is to be given a chance, and will start the game as first rush. The Knox Electric and Red Tops will play the second game in their series before tonight's big game.

Plans for the annual summer schools and encampments of the National Guard troops of New England have been completed by the officers of the 1st Army Corps area, under the direction of Col. L. C. Sherrer and approved by Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards. About 16,000 guardsmen will go into camp during the summer months under the present arrangement. The Coast Artillery Corps, in which Knox county is particularly interested, will attend school at Fort Williams, Portland harbor, June 5-11. Where the Coast Artillery Corps camp will be held is undecided.

HELP THE BOYS

American Legion Bonds Are To Be Sold Wednesday and Thursday—Buy One.

Citizens of Rockland:—

If a man in uniform calls at your door, would you refuse to grant him any request within your power? Well, then, when a worker in the Bond Sale calls at your door Wednesday or Thursday, just imagine that he is in uniform, because it isn't very long ago that he donned khaki or blue, not because he had a thirst for adventure, but to make the world a safe place for you to live in. Now that he is home and doesn't wear a badge of distinction, he hasn't forgotten the years he gave.

And we hope the citizens of Rockland haven't forgotten what the boys did. Those who boasted of the splendid war record of our city now have a chance to show their appreciation by boosting this sale. We ask you to give what you can, with a smile. We feel as did Edward E. Hale when he said:

"Look up and not down,
 Look forward and not back,
 Look out and not in,
 Lead a hand."

Mrs. Ensign Otis, Mrs. Eugene Lamb, Miss Pearl Borgerson, Publicity Committee.

GRANITE MEN IDLE

Unable To Agree On New Bill of Prices—Six Hundred Out.

Affairs are at a complete standstill in Knox county granite quarries, pending the signing of a new agreement.

The Granite Cutters' International Union voted unanimously to reject the agreement proposed by the manufacturers, embodying reduced wages, and President James Duncan declares that work will not be resumed until the new contract has been signed.

The action applies to all New England shops affiliated with the Board of control of the granite industry. The latter announced it would put into effect the American plan of open shop if its offer was rejected.

The local concerns affected, and approximate number of men employed are:

Joseph Leopold Co., Vinalhaven, 175 men.
 Roberts Harbor Granite Co., Vinalhaven, 75 men.
 Booth Bros. & Hurricane Isle Granite Co., 150 men at Long Cove and 30 men at Hall Quarry.
 St. George Granite Co., Wildcat, 70 men.
 John C. Meehan & Sons, Clark Island, 75 men.

MRS. L. A. COLSON

Lucy A., widow of Benjamin Colson, died March 25, at her home on Shaw avenue. The deceased was born in Northport in 1846, the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. James Drinkwater. The family came to Rockland when she was only two years old, and this city had been her home more than 70 years. A large circle of friends held her in high esteem and will mourn her demise. She is survived by a son, W. Edward Colson, and a daughter, Miss Caro Colson. Rev. John M. Hatch officiated at the funeral services March 27.

Silas A. Morton is very ill with grippe at his home on James street. He is being cared for by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. A. E. Morton, of South Portland.

SHEETROCK
"The Fireproof Wallboard"

A Better Place
 to Live In

You can work wonders with Sheetrock. You can make your home or office new or old, by finishing off your attic or other available space with Sheetrock. The expense is much less than you might think. And remember that Sheetrock is fireproof and can not warp. This is because it is made from rock. We will be glad to tell you other interesting facts about Sheetrock.

IN THE MOVIE WORLD

Items Which Deal With the Public's Most Popular Recreation.

(By R. Wall Doe)

That Clarry Hill correspondent who writes for The Courier-Gazette must live in a very desirable place. Here a few weeks ago they told us that crows were beginning to put in an appearance there and in last Saturday's issue they had seen a robin. If crows are any sign of spring it's been coming spring all winter down to the "Krag" for there have been a half dozen feeding just above the bridge all through the winter. Crows are mighty interesting birds to watch if one can ever get near enough to them without being seen. I remember one spring I was working on Kellogg's Island just off Dark Harbor, and the crows were very plentiful. During the dinner hour I had a special place under an old spruce where I used to consume my lunch, and as the island abounds with field mice I soon learned why the crows liked this little island so well.

Sitting well under the branches of the old spruce I would throw crusts of bread out into the open and watch for the mice to come and get them. Field mice, or at least this island breed of field mice, were terrific fighters. One noon two of them were engaged in quite a battle over a piece of meat when suddenly from the top of my spruce shade tree a big crow swooped down and literally fell upon the two mice. He was scarcely six feet from me and I could plainly see the fracas that followed. Mr. Crow had aimed his swoop carefully and under his feet were the two squealing mice. He pecked rapidly between his toes and finally rose in the air with one limp mouse dangling from his beak. I remembered quite well that only one mouse fell victim to the crow, for the other ran into the folds of the leg of my overalls and hid. I followed the flight of Mr. Crow, and when he was well up over the ledges he dropped his prey down upon them, which must have finished Mr. Mouse, for the crow circled down upon the ledge and ate him then and there.

Oh yes, kind reader, the mouse that hid in my overalls came out after the excitement was all over and carried off the disputed piece of meat to his subterranean tunnel under the grass. This is supposed to be a moving picture column, but that Clarry Hill person got us started on crows and we had to tell you that little yarn. By the way this Clarry Hill correspondent doesn't believe in getting too elated over signs of spring, for after announcing that robins had been seen in that locality they go to work and take the joy out of life by adding: "The mosquitoes will soon be with us." We've fished those brooks in the vicinity of Clarry Hill and we can appreciate just what that means.

Little Fable Binney sister to the now famous Constance Binney, has been a frequent visitor to our theatres lately, having starred in "A Wide Open Town" and "The Girl From Poughkeepsie," both of which were shown here recently.

William S. Hart bids farewell to the screen in "Travelling On," his last picture under his Paramount contract, which will no doubt be seen here before long.

The program at the Park for the next two weeks offers a variety of stars that ought to hit every film fan's favorite. Among the most well known stars that can be seen here between now and April 15 are Betty Compson, Eugene O'Brien, Florence Reed, Tom Mix, Wm. Collier Jr., Harold Lloyd, Marion Davies, Clara Kimball Young, Wallace Reid, Elsie Ferguson, William Farnum and Pearl White.

Don't forget the date of the Harold Lloyd Comedy, "Among Those Present." It will be shown at the Park theatre April 6 and 7.

Yes, we can agree with The Courier-Gazette that Wid Gunning's screen version of Charles Dickens' story "Our Mutual Friend" seen at the Park Theatre was a "cocking picture," and if this can be interpreted as a fair sample from the competitors of our American picture producers across the water our home producers better look to their laurels. The outstanding quality of this feature was however partially lost to an ill natured audience which had just suffered through the meanest "comedy lemon" ever seen on the local screens. Personally we believe that the two reels that preceded "Our Mutual Friend" should be called in and banished to the sewer ("Quick Arabella, the ripe eggs.")

In an effort to make this column more interesting we will start next week giving a detailed comment and criticism of the Thursday and Friday Specials. Readers of The Courier-Gazette who at an time do not agree with the writer on any subject dealing with motion pictures are welcome to make it known to the Moving Picture Department, Courier-Gazette, and signing your own name and it will be taken up through this column.

Our polo players seem to enjoy the movies when "off duty" at the Arcade. They were nearly all at Park Theatre Friday afternoon to witness Bill Farnum in "Perjury." Welch entertained the bunch narrating the perils of polo and helped along the piano player by humming many of the airs.

Coon Ice Cream Co.,

Lewiston, Me.

Gentlemen—Your letter of March 9 with the accompanying express package containing one hundred dollars in gold was duly received. I note the hope expressed in your letter that I will get as much pleasure in receiving the package as you do in sending it. If you do get as much pleasure as I have you are certainly a very happy company, for my happiness is only exceeded by my surprise.

Please accept my gratitude and also my very best wishes for the complete success of your business.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Harry E. Fisher.

Several thousand letters were received during the contest, which closed Feb. 15, and every letter and suggested name was carefully considered. It has been impossible to acknowledge each individual letter, but we heartily appreciate the interest shown in the contest, and assure the contestants that the judges had a hard job on their hands in making a decision with so many good suggestions to consider.

The delay in making this announcement was due solely to our inability to get the cut from the engravers.

"OUR KIND OF FOLKS"

The President in a recent address pronounced against alcoholism; frankly declared that he enjoyed being near people, and wanted them to enjoy being near him.

At a rally of Republican women in Kansas City recently, Representative Alice Robertson of Oklahoma, said: "We have in the White House the most human of people—your kind and my kind."

The manifestations of the spirit the President possesses and confesses are proving a valuable asset. He and his party as well as profiting by them.

The President's first act, in office was a strong act. He opened the door of the White House and said to the people, "Walk in."

The war, and other things, had barred them for some time. They had become restive under the restraint. The war now over the movement among the people having become normal again, so cordial an invitation issuing from so high and cordial a source gave the greatest pleasure and was instantly accepted. The people have been walking into the White House—their home—freely ever since. Old-time scenes of hospitality are again the rule.

The home life is the life, and the White House is, and of right should be, the first of American homes. Its influence carries far; and where that influence is genuinely and thoroughly human the effort is observable in all sections.—Washington Star.

Every issue of The Courier-Gazette carries the home news of Knox county to every State in the Union and to many foreign lands.

PARK THEATRE

Eugene O'Brien has a powerful role today in "The Prophet's Paradise." Turkey—colorful, mysterious, awe-inspiring Turkey—forms the background for the picture. The star role presents an American adventurer in Constantinople who meets adventure through his attempts to rescue a beautiful American girl from the evil hands that would feature her as the prize chattel in a spurious slave sale.

Wednesday will be a big day at this theatre for it sees the climax of the great four-part serial, "The Mistress of the World." The title of this chapter is "Saved by Wireless." You will see a terrific earthquake destroy the great City of Ophir; the appalling slave revolt while the city crumbles in ruins; the amazing discovery of the Queen of Sheba's treasure vault; the thrilling airplane rescue of the beautiful queen and her lover; how they send an important photo by wireless; the climax to the most magnificent novel, and costly series of cinematographic scenes given to lovers of entertainment.

The special program for Thursday and Friday is marked by two noteworthy features—"Florence Reed in 'The Black Panther's Cub,' and Harold Lloyd in the three-reel comedy—'Now or Never.' The Black Panther's Cub is a scintillating, fascinating, and enthralling epitome of Parisian life. The scenes here are a powerful episode of an English ride to the hunt to the barbarous splendor of a court of ancient Rome; beautiful women, maddening dances of wild Apaches, etc.—adv.

Studebaker

A SIX FOR THE PRICE OF A FOUR

You can buy a Studebaker LIGHT-SIX today at a four-cylinder price!

But you cannot buy Studebaker LIGHT-SIX performance in ANY FOUR.

You can get more for your money in the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX than in any other car in the thousand-dollar class. Because:

- (1) Studebaker had the biggest volume in its history in 1921.
- (2) Studebaker sales in 1921 were 29 per cent greater than in 1920 while the total of all other makes was 45 per cent less than in 1920.
- (3) Studebaker is the world's largest builder of six-cylinder cars—builds nothing but sixes.

Studebaker builds the LIGHT-SIX for less than it costs most manufacturers to turn out a four, because it is produced complete in the Studebaker plants.

The average list-price of the better-known fours is $1200. This does not include the high-priced fours. The Studebaker LIGHT-SIX Touring Car lists at only $1045.

Studebaker builds economically and sells at a low price because of continuous large volume, efficient production and skillful purchase of materials.

The new low price of the LIGHT-SIX was established without lowering the quality one iota. Its intrinsic value is unsurpassed in the industry, regardless of price. Today's price of the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX is the lowest at which it has ever been sold.

THE NEW LIGHT-SIX

The Red Sea.
The Hebrews called the Red sea the Yan Suph, or sea of weeds of sedge. The Red sea is really red, due to a minute bright red plant, a kind of seaweed so small that 25,000,000 can live and thrive within a single cubic inch of water.

THE APRIL TERM

Poor Train Arrangements
Cause a Delay in the Opening.

If it had been possible to follow a time-honored custom the April term of Knox County Supreme Court would have been in full swing when The Courier-Gazette went to press this forenoon. But Associate Justice Charles J. Dunn of Orono missed the morning train out of Bangor, and by consulting the schedule had a first-class demonstration of why Rockland has been begging to be put back on the map. Only 60 miles away Judge Dunn found that he had no way of getting into Rockland by the choo-choo cars until 11 a. m. the next day.

And so it came about that Clerk of Courts, Milton M. Griffin, called court to order at the appointed hour, directed the clerk to announce a postponement to 1:30 this afternoon, and a placard to that effect adorns the main entrance to the Court House.

Indications point to a rather uneventful term, and a short one. The case of Heisted vs. Knox County Electric Co., which seemed fair to occupy two days will be continued, as the plaintiff has just been operated upon for appendicitis at Knox Hospital.

Four cases are marked for trial on the opening day—Hix vs. Grinnell, Griffin vs. Kurst, and Hyler vs. Hill. The case of Medomak Canning Co. vs. Wormell has been continued by agreement.

A short criminal docket is also in prospect. Divorce cases always constitute a thrifty crop. This term 42 are pending.

Sheriff Thurston announces the following disposal of his deputies for the present term: Crier, E. Stuart Orlerton, in charge of grand jury, Charles E. Heckbert; in charge of first jury, William H. Robinson; in charge of second jury, Granville N. Bacheiler.

R. W. Brown will act as messenger.

White hats begin to show their heads; not the all-white hat just yet, but combinations of white and black and white and yellow. Yellow gives every indication of being extremely good in millinery as in other departments of dress. White and yellow frocks have been in both domestic and imported models, and the combination is very much used in sports wear. Dandelion is the warm shade of yellow most frequently seen, in preference to the citron or lemon shade. Yellow flowers on white hats should be excellent from a stylistic angle as well as from an artistic point of view. A note of black, perhaps in shiny, lacquered leaves, supplies the crowning touch. In this color range, millinery descends to wood browns, nut browns, pheasant and cinnamon shades, from dark brown to black. Brown in a soft, medium tone is very smart for hats, and is seemingly independent of the costume, for brown is not espe-

UNCLE SAM'S BILL

The Democratic press is freely criticizing the Harding administration for its action in presenting America's bill for the cost of its military occupation of the Rhineland.

The United States government acted wholly within its rights in presenting its bill for reimbursement. It is proper that the bill should be presented at this time. It does not merit criticism for having done what was clearly its duty. It would have been open to criticism if it had been less vigilant. Why should anyone in this country be more concerned about the rights and sensibilities of a European country than about the rights and the valid claims of his own country?

Europe has been coddled long enough. It is time to do some thinking about the United States—Sioux City Journal.

OUR GRANGE CORNER

Knox Pomona Grange met at Warren Saturday with Limerock Valley Pomona as guests. The day was one of the worst, if not the worst, of the past winter, but the day had nothing on the Patrons. The brave and loyal Patrons were present in goodly numbers and the day was just as joyous inside the closed doors of Warren grange as it could have been in the loveliest day of Autumn.

Yet we owe, oh, so much of it to the visiting Patrons, who gladdened our hearts by their presence as well as their generous response to the program. All topics as previously given were well taken and several additional ones given.

Another pleasant feature of the meeting was the meeting with our past Lecturer, Mrs. Johnston, who now resides in Kennebunk, York County and came to meet and renew friendships.

These monthly meetings are growing in popularity and constitute a school for all. The Grangers will not forget the kind hospitality of Warren Grange whose members did so much to make the meeting pleasant, and looked so well after the needs of the inner man—and woman—at the noon hour.

The degree of Pomona was conferred upon nine candidates, consisting of seven men and two women.

HARRY LLOYD COMEDY

Three Reels of Uninterrupted Laughter Mark "Now Or Never."

There's a comedian who has the whole moving picture world laughing, is name is Harold Lloyd and he is coming to Park Theatre Thursday and Friday.

"Now or Never" is three reels of Harold Lloyd at his best. From the time the be-goggled comedian appears on the screen in one of the funniest automobile escapades this reviewer has ever seen, to the final fadeout, "Now or Never" hardly gives your face a chance to relax from a roaring laugh into a grin. And as is always true of the Lloyd brand of fun, it is clean and genuine. The action, except for a few opening scenes, takes place in a train or, more truthfully, on a train, for the agile comedian is in it, on top of it, and under it, and gives you several gasps and thrills. His efforts to amuse a precocious four-year-old girl left in his charge, to put her to sleep, and then to get her dressed, are as full of human interest as they are of humor; while his antics in the washroom are a riot!—adv.

Art of Beilharz Is True Mirror of Life

Famous Impersonator and Entertainer to Appear Here in Near Future
—His "Hoosier Schoolmaster" is Classic of Lyceum World.

For more than eighteen years Noah Beilharz (pronounced Bile-harz) has been one of the leading character impersonators of the American platform, using wigs and makeup. In an adept manner, Mr. Beilharz effects all of his changes of character in full view of his audiences and his performances are a true mirroring of nature. His "Hoosier Schoolmaster" is a classic and his program of miscellaneous readings is equally attractive.

F. J. SIMONTON COMPANY

THE PRATTLER

XLVII.

Yesterday we were presented with an ostrich egg and yesterday also we read the most ridiculously funny story about ostriches that has come to our attention in a long time. The egg was given us by Captain M. J. Marston as a memento of one of his cruises; the story we read in a New York paper. It seems a coincidence that both should come into our life on the same day. We nearly had hysterics in reading the story and thought it a pity not to pass it along. That which follows is just as it came from some versatile reporter's brain:

HOPEFUL OSTRICH IS DECEIVED

Baldy McCorkle, the popular ostrich keeper at the circus, was on the job again today as usual, as if nothing had happened. Which makes him all the more of a hero in the eyes of the thousands of men and women who make up the community now in Madison Square Garden. To tell the story properly it is necessary to be quite frank. It is a real inside story of circus life and has been published nowhere else.

After the show was over last night Baldy bedded the two ostriches that belong to the show this year, combed their plumes, dug holes in the floor of their cage so that they could rest their heads therein in case of danger, and, in short, saw to it in general that Fetch and Carrie were comfortable. Fetch and Carrie are the names of the ostriches. Fetch, of course, is the male. Fetch and Carrie are very much in love with each other, and they are also extremely fond of Baldy McCorkle, but no fonder than Baldy has been with them.

"I love them," Baldy used to repeat over and over. And Fetch and Carrie would always answer his protestations with an answering "Coo-coo!" And maybe Fetch would kick Baldy in the excess of his affection.

Having bedded Fetch and Carrie last night, Baldy went out with a couple of the elephant keepers to a third avenue emporium where they sell "third rail." After two drinks Baldy announced that he felt moved to an irresistible desire to go forth and engage the Bingham Brothers in mortal combat, and he announced that he would grant John and Charles the privilege of naming any twelve men, including Jack Dempsey, to join them.

"It will not avail them one jot or tittle," he hollered.

So Willy, the bar boy in the joint in question, threw Baldy out on his own say-so. Baldy went back to the Garden from force of habit. He went into the ostrich pen to see how Fetch and Carrie were coming on. He ended by falling asleep in the straw, beside Carrie.

Probably he snored. At any rate, Carrie awoke and pulled her head from the hole in the floor of the cage. In the dim light of the Garden's basement she saw Baldy's bald head. It glimmered there in the straw just like an egg. In fact Carrie had often heard Baldy called an egg—a hard boiled egg—by the roustabouts of the circus.

Something in the maternal heart of her leaped with joy. She rose and carefully seated herself on Baldy's head. She gazed about her with considerable pride. She wanted to wake Fetch and tell him, but she thought she wouldn't. Baldy was dreaming that he was a steak smothered with onions. An hour later at 4 a. m., Dexter Fellows happened to be passing through on his way to work. He heard muffled groans in the ostrich cage and looked in. He sensed the situation at a glance, although Dexter himself is not bald, but extremely hirsute.

In five minutes fifty men were gathered about the pen trying to coax Carrie off Baldy's head. Fetch was now awake and he and Carrie thought the people had come to congratulate them. Carrie wouldn't budge. Dexter tempted her with all the little delicacies so dear to the heart of an ostrich—frankfurters and sauerkraut, chocolate fudge, sundaes, minnows, limburger cheese, tacks, etc., but to no avail. Baldy's kicks grew weaker and his groans fainter. They poked Carrie with sticks, but Fetch resented it. All seemed lost.

"Let us not be discouraged," said Uncle Ed Norwood, "you never can tell. She might hatch something out of Baldy's head after all."

Dexter Fellows, who had been called to the office to receive a delegation from the country press, returned in excitement at this moment.

"I have it!" he shouted. "I have it!"

The crowd parted as he made his way to the pen.

"Baldy," he said, but not without emotion, "can you hear me?"

Sound and jiggled his left foot faintly.

"This is your last chance, Baldy," said Dexter Norwood, "you never can tell. She might hatch something out of Baldy's head after all."

"Ka-taw-ki! Ka-taw-ki!" crowed Baldy.

Fetch and Carrie merely laughed. They were not deceived.

"Can not you strike the plaintive pizzicato note of the young ostrich?" urged Dexter. "Try again."

Baldy crowed again and again, never, however, striking the right note. He crowed like the frumious bandersnatch, like the killool bird, and like the New Rochelle glink, but not like a young ostrich. All really seemed lost. Then, suddenly Baldy let out a faint "Ba-a-a-a-a!"

"The ostrich note!" cried Dexter, triumphantly.

"Ba-a-a-a-a!" said Baldy.

"Ba-a-a-a-a!" answered Carrie, with a gladness mother cry, and with a joyous gleam she leaped from Baldy's head and prepared to view her first hatch. Fetch did likewise.

But in an instant two roustabouts had dragged Baldy in a condition of collapse, from the cage, and Doctor Lester Thompson was applying restoratives. Carrie gazed sadly into space with the air of one whom Destiny has thwarted.

It would be interesting to know just how much of this tale is truth and how much fiction. Having ourselves written several "zero stories" in a New York paper we would venture to say that McCorkle was the ostrich keeper, got drunk fell asleep in the cage and had a bald head. The rest we suspect is ingenious embellishment.

The Courier-Gazette is read by more persons in this part of Maine than any other paper published.

"WE ARE STARVING"

Mr. Dane Gets Pathetic Message From Parents In Poland After Eight Years' Silence.

"We are starving and in need of clothes"

This was the harrowing message received Saturday by Hill N. Dane, from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dane, in Poland—the first word he has been able to get from them since the European war began in 1914.

Mr. Dane at intervals has sent money and letters, but they were invariably returned, and he remained in ignorance as to whether they were alive or dead, until a New York Jewish paper stated the parents were seeking information as to the whereabouts of their son.

This inquiry had been inaugurated through the Baltic American Line Co. and met with very prompt results.

Acting upon the clue furnished by the New York paper Mr. Dane two months ago sent a registered letter containing a draft. This time the letter and draft were not returned, but in their place came a letter from Mr. Dane's sister. One side of the envelope contained stamps which represented 5000 rubles, while on the other side was a registry certificate of the same value.

In normal times 10,000 rubles would have meant prohibitive expense in sending a communication by mail, but such has been the depreciation of European currency since the war that the 10,000 rubles would not be the equivalent of a very impressive sum in American money.

The communication from Mr. Dane's sister was very brief—the substance of it being set forth in the despairing message above quoted. Particulars were promised in another letter. The failure of Mr. Dane's letters to reach their destination had been due to the suspension of postoffices in the region where the Danes were living.

Through the New York office Mr. Dane immediately cabled $100 to his parents, and by parcel post is sending shoes and clothing.

Meantime he is a prey to anxiety as to the welfare of his unfortunate relatives.

NEW TRIAL DENIED

In the Case of Carrie A. Black of Rockland and Ernest E. Black of Waldoboro.

The Law Court has overruled the motion for new trial in the case of Carrie A. Black vs. Ernest E. Black. Parties were formerly husband and wife, but were divorced at the January term of court in 1921. Mrs. Black claimed that her husband, prior to the divorce, agreed that if any such contract could be shown, there was no consideration and that it was therefore void. Verdict for Mrs. Black, $1733.30.

The decision, received the last of the week by Clerk of Courts Griffin, says in part:

"The evidence was somewhat conflicting as to the amount of the net proceeds of the sale of the property, the defendant claiming it did not exceed $2,500, and the plaintiff contending it was in excess of $3,000. The questions in dispute were solely of fact, and for the jury. The issues were clearly presented by the presiding justice. The jury evidently found that the preponderance of the evidence supported the plaintiff's contention as to an agreement being arrived at, but found the amount received was as contended by the defendant. While the evidence was conflicting and discloses a regrettable lack of appreciation on both sides of their marital responsibilities, and the jury's verdict was arrived at after additional instructions by the court upon the importance of their agreeing, we cannot say upon the record before us that it is manifestly wrong."

WEST ROCKPORT

Mrs. Henry Fogler and brother Aaron Andrews have returned home from Camden, where they have been spending the winter.

There were no services held in the church Sunday on account of the bad traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. McLain and son Carl returned home from Camden Sunday for the summer.

The Ladies sewing circle will meet April 6 with Mrs. Fogler.

Mrs. A. Haskell of Rockville is the guest of Mrs. Will Brown and family this week.

Miss Mabel Simmons returned to Dexter last week after a week's visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Blake returned from Beverly, Mass., recently where they spent the winter.

Wesley Keller is able to be out after an attack of grippe.

Mrs. Willie Simmons is ill at her home on the Warren road, Dr. Crockett of Rockland is attending her.

Mrs. Copeland of Warren and Mrs. Robbins of Rockland Highlands were recent guests of their brother S. J. Andrews.

Friday evening, March 24 was Ladies' night at Mt. Pleasant Grange. The program consisting of tableaux, songs and music was well carried out. Pop corn and homemade candy were served. Another session was held Friday evening March 31, the men taking charge. The play entitled "Wanted: A Wife" was a success and met with great applause. Tableaux and singing made the evening a very enjoyable one. Ice cream was served.

Miss Carrie Sherman visited relatives in Rockland during the past week.
