Just Right for Two!

The 1923 Four Cylinder Roadster

Smart, sturdy — you won't find another two-passenger four cylinder roadster that compares with this new Buick in quality or in price.

Inspect it from any angle—snug, beautifully tailored top; long, low body lines; heavy one-piece crown fenders; lots of room for two people and two compartments for their luggage. A big steering wheel that comes up to you, a shifting lever that operates without bending forward, a transmission lock and improvements which give 1923 Buicks a Class "A" insurance rating.

And, below the surface, the famous Buick Valve-in-Head motor and chassis with refinements throughout which set a new standard of quality and performance in automobiles.

These are just a few of the many distinctive features that make this new roadster a car without an equal in its class.

The Buick line for 1923 comprises fourteen models: Four—2 Pass. Roadster, $865; 5 Pass. Touring, $885; 5 Pass. Coupe, $1175; 6 Pass. Sedan, $1395; 5 Pass. Touring Sedan, $1325; Six—2 Pass. Roadster, $1175; 5 Pass. Touring, $1195; 6 Pass. Touring Sedan, $1395; 6 Pass. Sedan, $1485; 4 Pass. Coupe, $1895; 7 Pass. Touring, $1485; 7 Pass. Sedan, $2195; Sport Roadster, $1985; Sport Touring, $1975. Prices f. o. b. Flint. Ask about the G. M. A. C. Purchase Plan, which provides for Deferred Payments.

Special-Six
Touring

$1275

SAVINGS resulting from capacity manufacture are now offered to the buyer of the Studebaker Special-Six. The new price of $1275 is $200 under its former price.

Studebaker reductions became effective August 1st after Studebaker had completed the biggest seven months in its 70 years' history. And at a time when Studebaker had 15,000 unfilled orders on hand! It is a Studebaker policy of long standing to share manufacturing savings with the customer.

The performance, durability, comfort and quality of the Special-

Six are recognized everywhere. And here's new proof of its endurance: Studebaker's sales of repair parts, covering accidents as well as service, for the first seven months of 1922 were less than they were for the first seven months of 1919, in spite of the fact that 186,000 new cars were sold and put into operation since January 1, 1920.

The Special-Six at $1275 represents a new standard of value—the greatest value Studebaker has ever offered, and that means a value that is positively unapproached anywhere in the industry.

Cowl lights; cowl ventilator; massive head lamps; tonneau light with long extension cord; rain-proof, one-piece windshield; windshield wiper; eight-day clock; thief-proof transmission lock; tool compartment in left front door.

TOURING FRANCE

Rockland Girl's Impressions of the Famed Country of Beauty and Romance.

Prof. and Mrs. C. Wilbert Snow (Miss Jeannette Simmons), who have spent the summer in a foreign tour, are now enroute home and later will visit their Rockland friends. From a recent letter written from Dinard, France, by Mrs. Snow, The Courier-Gazette takes the liberty of reproducing the following interesting paragraphs, adding a little note of regret that it has not been able to present a series of letters of travel from a pen so naturally gifted in that direction as Mrs. Snow's. She writes:

"We are having a wonderful summer. We spent a month in Paris, living in a small hotel in the Latin Quarter, just five minutes walk from the Seine and the Louvre. Every morning I worked on my book of poems and in the afternoon we went sight-seeing. We have been studying cathedrals, and have managed to see the five that Lorraine Taft calls the greatest in France—Amiens, Bourges, Chartres, Notre Dame de Paris and Reims. We think Chartres the most beautiful and Reims the most moving. Reims stands, a grim ruin, in the midst of a city of the dead.

"Leaving Paris we went south through Louraine, down the Loire river, then north through Brittany. We have been studying cathedrals, and have managed to see the five that Lorraine Taft calls the greatest in France—Amiens, Bourges, Chartres, Notre Dame de Paris and Reims. We think Chartres the most beautiful and Reims the most moving. Reims stands, a grim ruin, in the midst of a city of the dead.

"Brittany is much like Maine, with quite a little waste land. It is a contrast to Normandy where the land is intensively cultivated. The impression one gets from Normandy, however, is not one of abundance but of poverty. People who have to use even the narrow strips of land along the railroad tracks for little gardens must have difficulty in making a living.

"We are making our way slowly along to Cherbourg where we sail for home August 20 on the President Polk, a ten-day boat. We expect to be in Maine early in September and shall be delighted to see our Rockland friends and relatives again."

'Tis Stylish to Be Comfortable

Pointed toes are no longer fashionable. Even the style magazines are illustrating properly-shaped shoes for all except the formal social functions.

Many women have found great comfort and happiness in Cantilever Shoes. You will like them, too, because they look so well and because they harmonize so naturally with the shape of your foot. You get real enjoyment out of Cantilever Shoes.

There is no crowding of the toes, no pressure, no restraint. The shoe is modelled upon the lines of the foot and the flexible arch of the shoe is like the flexible arch of your foot. The great comfort in Cantilever Shoes is simply the perfect freedom they allow.

The freedom of the muscles to exercise and keep strong safeguards you against weak or fallen arches. The free circulation helps to keep your feet in good condition, and cool in summer, for feet swell from restricted circulation.

Graceful in appearance, well made, of fine leathers, Cantilever Shoes will give you economical service and a degree of foot comfort which you will appreciate best after you are wearing them.

VICE PRESIDENT COMING

Hon. Calvin Coolidge, Gov. Baxter and Congressman White To Speak Here Aug. 30—Last Night's Meeting.

Hon. Calvin Coolidge, Vice President of the United States, and former governor of Massachusetts, is speeding across the continent from Portland, Oregon, to deliver a message to the voters of Maine, and through the efforts of County Chairman George W. Roberts, Rockland is the place in which he is to be heard. Definite word to this effect was received by Chairman Roberts yesterday, and steps were immediately taken to have the big meeting widely advertised.

Vice President Coolidge will arrive on the New York express Wednesday forenoon and will have quarters at the Thordike Hotel.

The meeting is to be held in Post Office square at 1 o'clock (daylight), and the Vice President will speak in conjunction with Gov. Percival P. Baxter and Congressman Wallace H. White.

Immediately after this meeting the speakers will adjourn to the Republican headquarters on Elm street, where the public will be invited to meet the Vice President informally until 4.30 (daylight).

It is possible that Mr. Coolidge may speak at Bangor in the evening, but the Rockland meeting is an assured proposition.

Last Night's Rally

The wires got crossed somehow at Republican headquarters yesterday, and instead of sending to Rockland Mrs. Mary Hight of Chicago who had been advertised to speak at the Elm street headquarters the State committee sent Mrs. Jennie Flood Kreger of Fairfield, Me. Mrs. Kreger is not an orator of Mrs. Hight's brilliant type, but a roomful of highly interested listeners was impressed by her earnest, convincing and unimpassioned manner. She reached no rhetorical heights, but the common sense logic of this motherly appearing woman made perhaps an even stronger appeal.

Mrs. Kreger went emphatically on record as opposed to the Shepherd-Towner bill, "a meddlesome measure which isn't going to give Maine anything, but which is going to cost it a great deal," and the primary election law, which serves principally the candidate who has lots of money and wants to get elected. "Only the rich man can afford to bring his name before the public for two elections," said Mrs. Kreger, and self-appointed candidates are not apt to be as good as those selected under the old convention system. Let's get rid of the primary law."

Mrs. Kreger spoke briefly on enforcement—not simply liquor laws, but enforcement in general. "We are passing through a chaotic period," she said, "when the law is not respected as it used to be." The speaker evidently had no illusions as to what goes on under the noses of the enforcement officers. "I live in Somerset county," she said, "and after midnight I venture to say that I could go out and overhaul automobiles and find lots of liquor. But in these days when there are so many high-powered cars on the highway, and so many joy rides, what would conditions be like if the old days of temperance were back?"

Turning to the subject of taxation she said: "We've got a bonded indebtedness, to be sure, but the money's ours. It has been spent on our roads and in the form of a bonus for our soldiers." Maine's mothers' aid bill was referred to as "the best in the United States, with other States coming here to borrow our pattern."

Mrs. Kreger discussed very frankly the unfortunate phases of the struggle between labor and capital, and referred to the vast improvement which has been made on the State's roads. Senator Rodney I. Thompson paid his respects to an extended and somewhat wrathful editorial which had been evoked because of his joking allusion to his opponent, a seller of coal, who was riding around in a Pierce-Arrow, while he (Senator Thompson) was a buyer of coal and had to use a five-year old Dorr.

"It appears from the editorial that I am mistaken," said Senator Thompson; "my opponent's car is a Packard, not a Pierce-Arrow." Senator Thompson also paid considerable attention to candidate Pattangall, contrasting his attitude on the railroad tax when he was in the Legislature of 1911 with his present attitude on it when he is a candidate for governor. Today he is telling the voters that it is the people who are paying the railroad tax, but in 1911, when a Democratic Legislature was enacting the laws it was the railroads that it came out of.

"The watchword of that Democratic Legislature was reform," said Senator Thompson, "but it managed to make an appropriation for Hungarian partridges. And it was found necessary to hold a special session in 1912 which cost $80,000. There is much talk among the Democrats about special legislation, but when Plaisied was governor 300 private bills were signed, and when Curtis was governor about the same number were passed. Mr. Plaisied has threatened to fire State Supt. Thomas if he is elected. Does 'Pat' want to go back to the old system of slates and slate pencils, or shall we have a continuation of the present efficient methods?"

Senator Thompson paid a tribute to Gov. Baxter, who is attending to the present coal problem while his opponents are saying funny things.

The Camden Meeting

Camden Republicans, men and women, to the number of 70, were given a rare treat last night at the club headquarters when addressed by Mrs. Guy Gannett of Augusta and Miss Betsy Edwards of Indiana.

President Z. M. Dwinal of the Republican club called the meeting to order and briefly stated its organization plans and functions. He introduced Mrs. Gannett as the leader of the Republican women in Maine. Mrs. Gannett, an easy, attractive speaker, brought a message from the Republican women of the State. It was a plea for loyalty, for organization, for united effort and for courage to combat the Democratic propaganda. She explained the machinery of the absentee voter law and urged its use.

Miss Edwards is a woman of nationwide fame as a political organizer and successful speaker. She has a charming manner and an easy delivery which captivated her audience at once. Miss Edwards was in Maine two years ago, talked to Camden women in a pouring rain and after this talk all walked down and registered. On June 19 of this year in another rain storm the women of Maine outvoted the men in the primary election. Maine is the best organized State in the Union as far as women are concerned.

Women vote as they do all things, courageously and well. They have become intelligent voters who value the importance of the ballot. Organization is absolutely necessary in politics. No candidate can succeed without some organized support. The independent voter disregards this fact and loses the value of his vote. Always vote your straight party ticket. There is no such thing as sex legislation. Men and women legislate for the things in which they are experienced. Thus men legislate in the field of business and taxes while women lean toward the home, social laws and education. Both are vitally interested in each branch.

No tax is popular and we kicked when taxes were low. Now we are paying the promissory notes made during the war and the efforts of this administration have lightened this burden. The Democrats cannot stampede the women of Maine with the cry that high tariff means high prices. The women are too intelligent to be taken in by any such fallacious reasoning. No Democrat ever ran to history where we see low tariff invariably preceding business stagnation and tight money. The Democrats passed the Simmons-Underwood bill giving free trade in the North and protection in the South. It took the tax off potatoes, wheat, hides and wool—all Northern products—and gave protection to cotton, peanuts, rice and other Southern products.

One ounce of gold will buy 17 hours of labor in the United States; 90 in Japan; 120 in France and 201 in Germany. American labor cannot compete with this low paid labor and keep its high standard of living. The tariff question must be approached carefully because we have a large and diversified country. Hides are a great product of the West; New England makes shoes. No tariff on hides prevents the West from buying New England shoes, yet a tariff on hides prevents New England from making shoes. So Congress must make haste slowly. Congress today is facing and postponing the result of two years of planless drifting during the Wilson regime.

Miss Edwards came out squarely and stated emphatically that she was a Republican by birth, training and belief and always had been in spite of the fact that certain papers had said that she was a Democrat. Her grandfather, a Union soldier in the Civil War, and her grandmother a staunch abolitionist. She said she was proud to be of the party of Washington, Monroe, Webster, Clay, Lincoln, McKinley, Roosevelt and Harding. Republicans always have stood for humane and moral things. For other reason this administration justifies itself by the great achievement of the Disarmament Conference.

Miss Edwards was given a rousing round of applause and after adjournment the people enjoyed an old-fashioned get-acquainted bee.

The recent removal of electric wires from the west side of Main street, incidental to the installation of the White Way, is soon to have the happy result of a reduced insurance rate for those who have property on that side of the street, and similarly, of course, when the Central Maine Co. removes its wires from the east side of the street. The proposed rate reduction is small, to be sure—only 3 cents on $100, but the aggregate will run into thousands annually. Property owners should feel properly grateful to Maynard S. Bird & Co. who called the attention of the New England Insurance Exchange to the fact that the Central Maine Power Co. had made these improvements.

The parishioners of the First Baptist church always have a warm corner in their hearts for Rev. Dr. E. C. Herriek of Fall River, in spite of the fact that he was guilty of grand larceny when he stole one of Rockland's nicest young women for a bride. Sunday morning there was a goodly congregation to hear his vacation sermon, ingredients of which furnished his hearers with much wholesome food for thought. Dr. Herriek chided France for what appears to him to be a very selfish attitude in today's world problems. Her bravery in the war was sharply contrasted with her present standing, which has lost. Dr. Herriek said, "more of the world's esteem than any other country except possibly Russia and Turkey."

The Village Improvement Society of South Thomaston now and then encounters a bright spot in its work. Recently one of its members ordered a supply of lumber from the mill which is being operated at Ballyhoo by Mr. Page. "Why didn't you tell me that lumber was for the Village Improvement Society?" asked Mr. Page, when he learned of its destination. And without waiting for a reply he handed the member a crisp ten-dollar bill. The lumber was being used in repairing the old bridge.

What is likely to be a rare sight this winter was witnessed at Fred R. Spear's wharf yesterday when a schooner was discharging 453 tons of coal for the Central Maine Power Co. Lots of folks eyed it as enviously as though it had been a gold mine.

THE LOST CARES
The little cares that fretted me,
I lost them yesterday.
Among the fields above the sea,
Among the winds at play;
Among the lowing of the herds,
The rustling of the trees,
Among the hum of the bees,
The humming of the bees.
The foolish fears of what may happen,
I cast them all away.
Among the clover-scented grass,
Among the new-mown hay,
Among the rustling of the corn
Where drowsy poppies nod,
Where the thoughts die and good are born,
Ours in the fields with

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Maine, Aug. 24, 1922.
Personally appeared Frank S. Ladd, who on oath declares that he is pressman in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of Aug. 23, 1922, there was printed a total of 7,280 copies. Before me,
FRANK S. LADD,
Notary Public.

THE ONLY HELP:—For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee.—Isaiah 41:13.

Writing from Washington, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, vice chairman of the Republican National executive committee, says: "The eyes of the nation are turned on the Republican women of Maine, and she quotes the familiar saying that as Maine goes so goes the Union. In other words, the interest that Maine women exhibit in the coming election will be communicated to their fellow-women throughout the country who are to deal with the general election in November. "That the women in Maine are making a strong campaign to bring out a record vote for the Republican nominees, is evident from the many reports that have reached national headquarters." Mrs. Upton writes, and she alludes to the fact that in the recent tours by members of the State and local committees and candidates in every county, chiefly for survey and organization work preparatory to the intensive phase of the campaign, it was notable that the meetings were more largely attended than were similar meetings in the memorable campaign of 1920. This was also true with respect to Knox County where the Republican women in that campaign made a most remarkable demonstration of efficiency in organization and effectiveness at the polls, an effectiveness which every sign promises to be repeated in the coming September.

Announcement in The Courier-Gazette of the action to be taken immediately by the Central Maine Power Co. to construct a second power line between Rockland and the Kennebec aroused a great sense of satisfaction among all classes of our people, who to a varying degree have been brought under discomfort by the frequent interruptions to business and social life through the breakdown of the single service line by violent and repeated tempests. The intention of the company to build this second line was interrupted by the war, which sent costs of material and labor to a point that rendered construction impossible. Though these costs have become greatly modified the undertaking yet remains something of magnitude, but the company is unwilling longer to see its service to the public restricted, therefore declines to postpone operations beyond the present season. The additional line will be installed before the snows of winter and will furnish all possible protection against interruptions to which the single line is susceptible.

It is a righteous appeal that Governor Baxter makes to the federal fuel administrator that Maine be given a priority with respect to coal shipments similar to that given certain of the northwestern states. Weather conditions here, as the Governor points out, greatly tend to restrict the channels through which such shipments must be made, the three rivers, Kennebec, Penobscot and St. Croix. A survey shows that in these rivers there now are about 5500 tons of anthracite and bituminous coal to meet an estimated requirement of 250,000 tons. "Our people cannot live and our industries cannot operate without proper fuel supply," Governor Baxter says, and adds, "If we should be obliged to depend upon rail coal its cost would be almost prohibitive." This is very evident and furnishes reason enough why the appeal should have favorable consideration.

REPUBLICAN MAYORALTY CAUCUS

The Republicans of Rockland are hereby notified to meet in caucus at City Council Room, Spring Street, FRIDAY, AUGUST 25, 1922, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Mayor to fill the unexpired term of the late Hon. Reuben S. Thorne. All to transact such other business as may legally come before said caucus.

THE CONTEST NARROWING

Tonight's Game Between Rockport and Lime Co. May Determine the League Winner.

Four teams are still in the pennant fight, with the chances strongly indicating that the winner will be either Rockport or the Lime Company which are now separated by only 18 points, in the former's favor. Tonight's game is between these two teams and will be a vitally interesting and important contest on that account.

The standing:

Team	Won	Lost	P. C.
Rockport	9	5	.643
Lime Company	10	6	.625
Snows	8	7	.533
Texacos	8	7	.533
Electrics	7	9	.437

Texacos 6, Electrics 5
Darkness put an early stop to last night's game and was nearly fatal to the Texacos, which had a lead of five scores when the Electrics went to bat in the last half of the 5th. It was almost impossible to see the ball, and with four innings constituting a game in this league the 5th should never have been played. In averting this threatened disaster much credit belongs to the Samoset Foster, who must have eyes like an owl, for he made two pretty catches in that inning. Flanagan and Linnell both pitched good ball, but the former's wildness in the 3d was probably the means of preventing him from having a victory. The score:

Lime Co. 11, Snows 1
Like the pitcher that went to the well once too often, Elmer Rising overworked and not fully recovered from his late illness, was sent into Tuesday night's game, and received a bad bumping. His brother Everett Rising succeeded him in the 4th, but it is doubtful if anybody (with the possible exception of Delaney), could have stopped Wotton's Wallopers that night. The game was really sewed up in the 2d, when the Lime Company scored five runs on four singles; a double, a pass and two errors. In justice to Manager Kenniston it should be explained that Elmer Rising would not have been sent to the mound had it not been for the failure of Feehan to put in an appearance.

Wotton was traveling on high in this game, and while he had only three strikeouts to his credit he also held the Snows to two singles, both of which were made in the 1st inning, without avail. The one score on the Snows' side of the ledger was made in the 5th by Everett Rising, who had reached first on L. Rogers' error. He stole second, was advanced to third when Wotton fumbled Harding's grounder and scored on a decidedly wild pitch.

The game was unusual in two respects, one being that there were only four strikeouts, and the other that there were but two stolen bases. Wotton fattened his batting average by making three hits in three times up, two of them being doubles. Brackett's foul catch was a feature. The score:

SEASON NEARLY OVER

Children's Playground Will Close Next Wednesday, With Field Day.

"The Children's Playground will surely be carried on another year," says Willis I. Ayer, commenting on the very satisfactory season just closing. The official wind up of the season will take place next Wednesday in the shape of a formal field day. The program of events will be published in the Saturday issue.

Soon after Wednesday the equipment will be taken down and stored for use another year.

The Children's Playground became a reality in Rockland only after agitation for several years on the part of citizens and the press. Rev. John M. Ratcliff of the Universalist church was the man who headed up the movement this spring and the entire community responded to the call. A drive was put on by the school children of the city under Supr. H. C. Hall and as a result of that, and of voluntary gifts, well over $500 was handed to treasurer Henry C. Chatto. The Y. M. C. A. lot was secured, and equipped with modern apparatus. Dorothy Blaisdell and Emily Pease were secured as play directors. The attendance has been large and steady coming from all parts of the city.

The very general interest, and the great volume of favorable comment, make the necessity and success of the Playground another year assured.

A South Thomaston man writes: "I would like to have you put a few lines in your paper so that the selection can see it, about the automobiles which go here at the rate of 25 to 30 miles an hour. Perhaps the selection will establish a speed limit for the protection of its citizens."

Knox County Odd Fellows will have their annual field day in Camden, Monday, Sept. 4, which is also Labor Day. The details are still in the making, and will be announced in due season. Bangor Fair is drawing its usual Rockland contingent this week—a considerably larger delegation, in fact, than in the old days, when it was necessary to go by train or boat.

The eagle eye of officer A. S. Niles espied an auto license bearing in addition to the number the capitals P. R. and the figures 1922-1923. Curiosity is the mother of information and Officer Niles discovered that the car was from Porto Rico, where the licenses are issued for the fiscal year July 1 to June 30 rather than the calendar year.

It pays to have good brake linings in these days of congested Main street traffic. The usual procession containing in its midst a truck wagon with a pole projecting behind followed by a Ford was obliged to stop suddenly. The Ford brake linings were worn and a broken windshield resulted.

The Courier-Gazette received a call yesterday from a former fellow-townsmen, who is mighty spry for a man going on 87—Freeman W. Smith of Verona. Mr. Smith was down to attend the Fogler-Payson reunion, an event which he has missed only a very few times since the organization was formed about 55 years ago. Yesterday he entertained the reunion with an interesting sketch of the Payson family, based largely on information which he received 52 years ago from the late John P. Payson of Boston, which incidentally goes to show that Mr. Smith is not troubled with lapse of memory.

The Achorn Store in Camden carries the Butterick patterns—adv. 12-11 100-101

Bill Brickland, former Rockland twirler, pitching for the Star Taxis of Lewiston against Bar Harbor, Tuesday, held the last named team to two singles and Lewiston won 3 to 0. Brickland struck out 12 men.

J. Raymond Kittredge, a former Rockland druggist, has returned to New York, after a short home visit, and will be associated with his brother, Scott F. Kittredge, in conducting a Durant motor car agency at Bayside, Long Island.

Linwood Rogers is having a two-week vacation from Maynard S. Bird & Co.'s. One of the first things he did was to drive about 30 yards over the center of the bunker on the second hole at the Country Club. There are those who feel that this is almost enough for one vacation.

In line with the progress so much in evidence at the Northport, F. A. Stanley has added another story and a pitch roof to his mill at the foot of Rankin street. House and Sherman, are preparing to remove their storage battery and service station to the quarters in the Stanley building recently vacated by the Knox County Motor Sales Co.

After 31 years' absence from his native city no wonder a chap misses old, familiar faces. That is the way it is this week with Ellery Cook (a brother of Charles, Arthur and Tom) who used to know everybody on the street, but finds only a few of them now. Mr. Cook, who has been in Portland all these years, is head porter at the Fal-mouth Hotel. He is taking it easy for awhile, recuperating from an operation for appendicitis.

Another example of Northernd progressiveness is to be found in Fred Fernald's market at 489 Main street. Mr. Fernald has conducted a market in the Training Station building for some time, but growing business compelled him to make his present quarters in the southern half of the Abbott store. The store has an all glass front, giving a very attractive display window. The interior has been redecorated with a refrigerator built in. A new electric meat and coffee grinder has been added to the equipment, the whole making a neat addition to Rockland's business establishments.

There was an old-time smile on Joseph Leopold's features when a Courier-Gazette reporter cornered the Paving King at the Thorndike Hotel Tuesday evening prior to Mr. Leopold's departure for New York. Mr. Leopold led the way in settling strikes among the paving quartermen in this section, and has the satisfaction of seeing goodly crews at work in his quarries at Vinalhaven and Swan's Island. Schooners Frances Goodenow and Thomas H. Lawrence are loading 1100 tons of curbing and paving at Swan's Island, while the barges Hopkinton and Stratford are at Vinalhaven taking on about 300,000 blocks for New Yorkers to tread. And these are some of the reasons why Mr. Leopold smiled.

Whenever two certain members of Winslow-Holbrook Post, American Legion, get together it is in order for them to recall a never-to-be-forgotten incident which took place down at Fortres Monroe during wartime. The two certain members referred to are E. C. Moran Jr., who was serving at the Fort with the rank of captain, and Kenneth V. White, who was assistant bandmaster on the U. S. S. Mississippi, which was lying near Fortres Monroe. Artillery practice was in order up where Carl was holding forth, when somebody mixed the orders. The blunder came near being a fatal one for a 14-inch projectile barely cleared the "Missy's" superstructure. Carl was nowise responsible for the near tragedy, but Kenneth dodges every time he appears in the office.

ATTENTION, G. A. R.
 There will be a regular meeting of Edwin Libby Post, on Saturday, Sept. 2, William H. Maxey, Commander, F. E. Aylward, Adjutant.

Carl Freeman is moving from Union street to the "New Bicknell."

Frank Gregory is having his annual vacation from the letter carriers' force.

The Trinity street sewer was started yesterday, with W. H. Simmons in charge. About 300 feet will be laid this year.

The new section of Street Railway track is completed as far as Maverick square.

The addition of conspicuous red and black signs bearing the words Highlands and Southend on the sides of the cars is a distinct accommodation to the car riding public.

John Reuben Shaw, who served a long time as foreman of the J. Leopold Co.'s quarry in Vinalhaven, predicted the early opening of the Wharf quarry. Mr. Shaw was asked to "cruise" the property recently by New York parties.

The Gulf Refining Co. received its first carload of gasoline at its North-end plant yesterday.

H. W. Thorndike, deputy collector of customs for the port of Rockland, is managing owner of a fine brig constructed by Capt. C. R. Magee of this city. She is now docked in the George Roberts Co.'s wharf, Limerock street.

Arthur F. Hall, a former Rockland boy who went to Akron, Ohio, last May, has already been promoted to assistant manager of the large advertising concern by which he is employed. He now has an office of his own and an assistant.

Mrs. E. W. Butman was knocked over and severely shaken up yesterday when struck by a bicycle ridden by Edward Benson of 2 Willow street. Mrs. Butman was returning from market and had just stepped off the curb. She was picked up by a passing automobile and carried to her home. Besides suffering from the shock she received a cut on her nose caused by the breaking of her glasses.

The item which has been appearing in the coming events column to the effect that Knox Pomona Grange meets with North Haven Grange was only partially correct. It is Limerock Valley Pomona which meets there on that date, having Knox Pomona as its guest.

A new and thoroughly modern electrical display sign has been installed on the front of the Rubenstein Brothers' haberdashery. When connected up it will be the latest edition of a revolving light system, being a new you type, now you don't afford of red and yellow effects.

Considerable excitement was caused last night by the manoeuvres of a strange craft in the harbor. She had a very powerful search light and kept into Jameson's Cove carefully inspecting every inch of dock and shipping. Rumor had her a big-boat scout but she turned out to be a prosaic tug, after a barge at Bicknell's wharf.

Talk about your dahlias! Just wander up onto Camden street and see the 400 plants which are in full bloom on William H. Larrabee's premises. As to varieties, Heinz, the pickle merchant, is only a piker. Mr. Larrabee has been raising dahlias these many years, and he has all shapes, sizes and colors in his wonderful collection.

Rockland folks who saw the two big parades in Thomaston yesterday regretted their less fortunate townsmen with glowing accounts of both. And the opinion seems to be pretty general that Rockland will attempt no more Home Week parades until it can at least equal the fine showings made in the neighboring town yesterday.

The dust will fly on the Camden road Saturday for the baseball fans are going en masse to see Camden make a better showing against Togus at home than it did in Togus last Sunday. Incidentally the fans want to get a better knowledge of the team which Rockland is to face one week from Saturday in the opening game of the great Camden-Rockland series. The Camden-Togus game Saturday begins at 3 o'clock, standard.

A horse attached to a wagon containing a Finnish woman and three children became frightened at a lime-rock engine near the Hewett Bottling Works this morning and dashed between the Flint and Porter buildings. All the occupants except the smallest child were thrown out and their escape from serious injury was due to the fact that they landed on the grass instead of the pavement.

Isaac Berliawski has bought three lots of land, one on Maverick street and two on Knox street. He has bought from Myron Webber the house and lot on the corner of Crescent and South streets. Harold Robbins has sold his house and lot on the corner of Ocean and Water streets to Myron E. Webber, through Mr. Berliawski's agency.—Mr. Berliawski has bought from Dora Brewer the house and lot on 42 Beechwoods street, Thomaston.

Richard S. Fuller, a Rockland boy who at the completion of his war service went to Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he was associated with the White Oil Co. as assistant manager of its Oklahoma-Kansas division, and later became interested in oil lands upon his own account, has just brought in upon one of his leases a well that is producing 400 barrels of oil a day. Mr. Fuller received the pleasant news in Montreal, where he has lately become associated with the Red Star Refineries, Limited, a Canadian corporation capitalized at $5,000,000, which has secured the exclusive rights for the Dominion of Canada of the Ramage Process patents. The Barnsdall Corporation of which Robert Law, Jr., is president, own these patents for the United States and Mexico and for over a year have been putting on the market the famous product "Supergas," one of the gasoline family but having over 20% more efficiency than the best grade of gasoline. The Red Star was fortunate in having got the Canadian rights. A great many individuals were seeking them, but because of its high personnel and unique position in Canada the Red Star was able to secure them. There is being built in Montreal a plant with initial capacity of 1000 barrels and ultimate capacity of 10,000 barrels. Besides this plant the Red Star propose to construct five other refineries throughout the Dominion. Mr. Fuller was brought up from Tulsa to become production manager of the Montreal refinery and director of future plants constructed. He is a member of the corporation's executive board.

POOR PICKLE YEAR

And a Short Tomato Crop—
But Cabbages Show Well.

A favorable season for cabbages, a bad year for pickles, and a short tomato crop, summarized the situation as it is represented to a local wholesale concern this week by one of Portland's large firms which deals in food products. Here are the quotations:

Pickles—"Last year we had wonderful pickle growing weather and mighty poor cabbage growing weather. Reports are that this year is exactly reverse. We are having very good cabbage growing weather and very poor pickle growing weather as cool nights 'put a crimp' in the growth of pickles. Reports today indicate that the pickle crop, taking into consideration the reduced acreage, will not amount to over 40 per cent of a normal one."

Tomatoes—"The estimated 1922 pack tomatoes is slightly over nine million cases which is six million cases less than the 1918 pack. In view of the above and taking into consideration the cleaned up condition of the 1921 pack, look for an active market on the new crop in the near future with a general stiffening of prices."

Miss Edna Hineckley, formerly of this city, died suddenly in a Boston railroad station a few days ago, while on her way to visit friends here. Miss Hineckley was in the Red Cross service Overseas during the war, and was making her home in Boston.

Sailor White meets Bing Conley in Lewiston tonight, and on the night of Labor Day will fight N. Bruseau in Sherbrooke, Canada, for the light heavyweight championship of Canada.

Bill Roper, the famous Princeton coach is rusting at Monhegan. Rumor has it that some of the Princeton players will join him there before the season closes.

The Republicans will hold a caucus in the City Council rooms tomorrow evening at 7:30, to take action in regard to the mayoralty nomination. No candidates have been mentioned.

THE APPLE MARKET

From the weekly letter of Kingman & Hearty, "The House built on the Apple," we are able to give our readers the following information: The apple market remains unchanged, with receipts fully equal to the demand. York State Duchesne are lower; bushel baskets, as fine as ever we saw put up, are selling here from seventy-five to eighty-five cents. Green apples are selling very hard, from fifty to seventy-five cents per bushel. There are no Bartlett pears of any quantity here yet. Gravensteins No. 18 per box, $1.00 to $1.50. Gravensteins, drops, 50 to 1.00. Duchesne, per box, 50 to 1.00. Wealthies, 50 to 1.25. Pippins, 50 to 75. Clapp Pears, 75 to 1.25. Bartlett Pears, 1.00 to 1.25. Boston, Aug. 21, 1922.

POULTRY CULLING

Why Feed Useless Hens?—
Demonstrations For Knox and Lincoln Counties.

Last year 13 poultry culling demonstrations were held in Knox and Lincoln counties by the College of Agriculture Extension Service, in cooperation with the Knox-Lincoln County Farm Bureau. At these demonstrations 1744 hens were examined and 498 of them or 28% were removed, as not laying. The census figures show there were 141,523 hens in this county.

Figuring that 25% is a fair average for all flocks there are 35,380 culls in the county. Unless those culls are removed from the flock it simply means that approximately one-fourth of the flock is consuming feed without giving any returns for it. They are taking up valuable room in the house which should be given to the hens that lay, and it takes time and labor to care for them. If they are taken out and sold early in the season a better price can be obtained for them. The good hens left that have proven themselves to have the qualification for steady and continued egg production are the valuable hens to use as breeders the following spring.

It is very easy to distinguish the non-layers; it is practicable and profitable.

September 11 to 16 is poultry culling week in Knox-Lincoln county.

Poultry culling demonstrations will be held as follows:

WATERMAN'S BEACH

Dr. Peaslee entertained the following guests at a clam bake Sunday: Mrs. E. P. Wing, Mrs. D. B. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Brown and daughter Barbara of Randolph, Misses Ethel Henshaw of Lynn, Mass., and Olive Staples of Boston, Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Peaslee and son Edward, Jr., of Thomaston, Mrs. L. F. Peaslee, Harold Peaslee and Mrs. G. F. Baker of Boston.

A. B. Waterman finished harvesting his blueberries last Monday. I understand the Thomaston factory is still paying six cents per pound. We would be glad to have the Thomaston scribe let us know how many pounds of blueberries the factory handled this season. One man reported that they handled twelve tons last Tuesday and seven tons one night. It looks as though the blueberry and lumber business might put the old run down farms in business again. It is easy to harvest two tons of blueberries off an acre and the timber growing on some of the old farms would sell for more money than the whole farm would bring a few years ago. Come back to the old farm, you city folks. Start a blueberry patch, sell off some of the trees, spend the money to improve the old home and enjoy life once more.

Monday a four horse team hauled a big steam boiler into the Simmons wood lot to be used at the Leavitt mill. You should come down and see the lumber piles beside the road and the two double teams and a truck toting lumber to the wharf. No idle men around here.

The Wilsons of New York, who recently bought the Coleman cottage, have invited about fifty of the natives to a corn roast on the shore near the cottage this Saturday evening. We understand that there will be lots of good things to tickle the palate at the cottage and lots of fun for the young folks. There are no flies on the Wilsons.

Capt. Todd is home to enjoy a few days' rest from steamship life.

One would hardly know the Alonzo Maker place since the Todds have slicked it up.

Come down and have a clam bake on the beach before the days get too cool.

C. D. S. G.

SOUTH WALDOBORO

C. Lyndon Winchenbach and daughter Geraldine of Bedford, Mass., have been visiting George N. Winchenbach.

About 50 members of the 302d Company, Coast Artillery Corps, left Monday morning for the annual two weeks' encampment at Fort Williams, Portland.

Miss Monica Gregory returned to Rockland Monday. While here she was the guest of Miss Eliza Patterson.

Miss Bertha Dolham of Roxbury, Mass., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winslow.

The Knickerbocker Five played Tuesday evening at North Haven.

Miss Laura Sanborn of Washington, D. C., is the guest of relatives in town.

Mrs. W. A. Johnston, daughter May and sons Owen and Alden of Rockland, are guests of Mrs. Ira Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Roberts, who have been guests of Capt. and Mrs. E. S. Roberts, left Tuesday for Swampscott, Mass.

Miss Ruth Ross left Tuesday for a two weeks' stay at North Haven.

Funeral services of Seth Morton were held Saturday, at the home of his mother, Mrs. J. Morton, Elder Norman Wilson of the latter day Saints church officiating. Mr. Morton was killed instantly August 16th at the Leopold Granite Quarries, where he was employed. He was born in Vinalhaven 24 years ago, the son of the late J. E. Morton. Besides his mother he is survived by his wife and baby, also two sisters; Mrs. Lora Hanley of Rockland and Mrs. Nina Brown and brother, Joseph Morton of this town. Deceased was a member of 302d Company Coast Artillery Corps. The company attended and performed the military burial service a squad of the company, under bugler, Maland Ames, sounding taps. The funeral and the loss of one of Vinalhaven's finest young men, cast a gloom over the town and the entire community extend sympathy to the bereaved family. Interment was made at Ocean View cemetery where were: William Chiles, Roy and Charles Webster, Albert Osgood, Max Conway and Ned Klitredge, members of the C. C.

Joseph Leopold returned to New York Tuesday.

NORTH HAVEN

LaForest Thurston was the guest of Fremont Beverage and family over Sunday.

Miss Clarice Ellis who is spending her vacation with her parents is on a short trip to Camden, guests of friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Beverage of Portland, who have been at the Cooper Farm the past week have returned home. Sunday they entertained with a picnic, sixteen being present. A delicious dinner was served out of doors under the apple trees.

The Katielle Chautauqua has just closed its second year's engagement here and has signed up for next year. Much credit is due to Dr. Leyonborg treasurer, Leon B. Stone, Henry Duncan and all others who helped to make things run smoothly. Although we did not go over the top this year we certainly got our money's worth in six good entertainments. Next year we trust every one will come forward and help to put it over so that a few will not have to stand for what the whole community enjoys.

J. F. Cooper of Rockland was in town last week.

W. M. Noyes, who has been visiting in Vinalhaven, has returned home.

Mrs. Mabel Woodcock, hostess at Franklin Square House, Boston, who has been visiting Mrs. H. M. Noyes, has returned home.

Did You Get the Bottom
Price, After All?

The man who buys a "long discount" tire usually finds himself troubled by the above question.

Did he pay less for the tire than his neighbor might have paid, or actually did he pay more?

Did he get the bottom price, when all is said and done, or could he perhaps have driven a sharper bargain?

Was the net price really more than he might have had to pay for a tire of established reputation and value?

In the belief that the average motorist prefers a frank and open transaction, we built the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord and discounted the "discount" in advance.

Instead of listing it at a high price, to enable the dealer to attract you with a so-called "long discount," we list it as low as we profitably can.

We build it of high-grade long-staple cotton, using the patented Goodyear method of group-ply construction, and sell it at a lower price than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown worth.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Richardson leave tonight for New York, where they will make their home with their daughter, Mrs. Otis R. Lewis. Mr. Richardson has been chef at the Thorndike Hotel a great many years, and is leaving behind an exceedingly large number of friends.

Mrs. Irving Gamage and son Hall of Winchester, Mass., are guests of Mrs. B. B. Smith for a week or ten days.

Marcell Hannan of Providence and Mr. and Mrs. Wells, Hannan of Cranston, R. I. were in the city Tuesday on their way to Washington where they will spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. John S. Glidden and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Overlock. Marcell Hannan was for many years a member of the Providence police force, and is now employed as special at one of the motion picture theatres. His brother, Wells, has been boss farmer at the Cranston, R. I. State Prison for 27 years.

Mrs. Marion Cobb Fuller is the guest in Augusta of Miss Theresa Stuart.

Mrs. Glenn A. Lawrence accompanied by her two children is visiting her former home in Ellsworth, making the journey by automobile and acting as her own chauffeur.

A charming dance was given Tuesday night by Mrs. J. M. Baldrige at "The Barn" on the Warren estate. That was the night that the lights went out and any inconvenience due to a lack of illumination was avoided in unique fashion by parking automobiles in such a fashion as to permit their headlights to stream into the four large doors—sort of a spot light exhibition number, in which everybody laughingly participated. Music was by Kelley's orchestra.

Mrs. Guy Ganett of Augusta, vice chairman of the State Republican Committee, is the guest of Mrs. W. T. Cobb.

Mrs. Elmer Marston and daughter Dorothy of Portland, are the guests of Mrs. Marston's sister Mrs. Clarence Rollins, Broadway.

Mrs. Emory Howard and Miss Alfreda Perry entertained sixteen of their friends at the Perry home on Warren street Tuesday evening, music being a chief feature of the pleasant occasion.

Mrs. Bertha Gower of Milbridge, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Small. Dr. and Mrs. Frank H. Richardson and two children of Medford, Mass., are spending the week in this city. At present they are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall of East Millinocket were recent guests of Mr. Hall's sister, Mrs. Edward Richardson.

The seashore at Glen Cove Tuesday afternoon, when a party of friends, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Rhodes, enjoyed a clam bake, supplemented by roast corn and all that goes with those delectable viands to make a nice picnic supper. The few sprinkles of rain did not mar the beauty of the scenery or add any discomfort, and all pronounced it a happy time. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Ingraham, Miss Eliza Hayden, Miss Ada Young and Miss Alena Young of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard H. Rhodes of Brookline, and little son, Henry Hill Young of Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Young of Southboro, Mass., Mrs. Mary F. Dunbar and daughter, Miss Sybil Dunbar, and Miss Carolyn Howard of Winslow.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR

Great relief was felt in this city when it was learned that Charles A. Heckbert was not aboard the ZR-2 which was destroyed during the trial flight over Hull, England.

The mail contract for the Rockland-Matthews route was awarded to Capt. Stewart T. Ames of Matineux.

Prominent lime manufacturers from all over the country were here to inspect the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corporation's new gas plant.

The Charles W. S. Cobbs arrived here from their European tour.

The Postoffice picnic took place at Clark Island. Eighty in the party.

Marcell Hannan of Providence and Mr. and Mrs. Wells, Hannan of Cranston, R. I. were in the city Tuesday on their way to Washington where they will spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. John S. Glidden and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Overlock.

APPERSON RECORDS

Which Will Doubtless Remain Such For a Long Time.

Certain tests which in themselves offer proof of Apperson endurance, together with satisfying speed, have just been completed. At the finish the Apperson made possible the posting of the following official A. A. records which without a doubt will remain as a record for some time.

1002.5 miles in 12 hours.
1492.5 miles in 18 hours.
1928.75 miles in 24 hours.

Additional trials were made with the following results: The first 1,000 miles of travel at an average speed of 83.5 miles per hour. When the 1,500-mile mark was passed the average speed per hour had been held to 83.2 miles. Although weather conditions were beginning to interfere at this point, the run was continued to the 2,000-mile point which when reached showed an average speed per hour of 80.3 miles.

While not under A. A. supervision an additional endurance test was made with the result that this same Apperson covered a distance of 275 miles in 40 hours elapsed time straight running the maximum for one hour's running being 86.25 miles.

This accomplishment of the present day Apperson is indisputable proof of its stability and endurance—evidence in itself that the Apperson motor can be depended upon to perform satisfactorily under the most trying conditions and with the additional assurance of speed to satisfy.

PALERMO

Several from here attended church at North Palermo Sunday.

Rev. J. R. Clifford of Kennebunk, a former pastor, gave an interesting sermon.

Mrs. Fred Proctor and children of Winslow have returned home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Fred Proctor. Mr. and Mrs. Yeaton of Winslow were guests at Harry Morse's Sunday.

Miss Gladys Bailey of Augusta visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailey for the weekend.

Miss Charlotte Morse returned from Winslow Sunday, having passed a week there with relatives.

Forrest Howard and Carroll Rowe motored to Waterville and Augusta Wednesday.

Mrs. Amelia Bradstreet, son Russell and daughter, Mrs. Grace Turner, motored to Lake Umbagog Tuesday, where a fine shore dinner was enjoyed with friends from Massachusetts, who are passing the summer there.

Will Grady was a business visitor in Augusta Friday.

Mrs. Isabel Matley of Ohio is a guest at the Grady home for the week.

All roads led to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Norton of Palermo Aug. 19, where relatives and friends to the number of 53 from Massachusetts, Bangor, Winthrop and Augusta were entertained. A bountiful dinner was served under the trees on the lawn.

The only thing lacking for the occasion was a doctor, and, wonderful to relate, none was needed.

J. H. Belden of Winthrop is passing a few days at the home of his niece, Mrs. Lena Rowe.

Master Walter Norton of Augusta, who visited his uncle Fred Norton for two weeks returned home Saturday.

There is an old phrase about making a monkey of anybody. It has always been used in a derogatory sense, but we are not so sure that such a usage is always appropriate. Making a monkey of a great many persons would oftentimes be making them far more agreeable and interesting than they actually are. In fact monkeys are extremely fascinating little creatures, and we do not see the idea of alluding to them when desirous of calling somebody a fool. If it is necessary to make anybody for the time being into some kind of animal, why not make him into a stupid lecherous beast like an armadillo or a hedgehog, instead of an alert, bright-eyed and mischievous monkey? All of which brings us to the observation that monkeys for years and years have possessed the subtle faculty of capturing the undivided attention of this human race. And that which is more important, insofar as concerns their organ grinding owners, they always seem to have an inveterate habit of picking up every coin that comes within the range of their bright little eyes.

Of course all the tricks that organ monkeys seem to have at their command are desirable, from a commercial standpoint, but we venture to say that the very first stunt they are taught, is that of picking up every penny that comes their way. Just how they are taught all their different acts it would be very interesting to know. Do the owners teach them? Are there institutions that aim to infuse in monkeys wage earning capabilities? If one happens to be an Italian organ grinder that wants a good partner, where does he turn to secure his little crowd-grinder? Why is it that organ grinders are almost invariably Italians? We never heard of an American organ grinder. Is it that Americans are too proud to stand around cranking off impossible music while an animal earns his bread and butter? Whether that is the reason or not, monkeys are dead sure money gainers and we are sorry that they themselves get so little from the comparatively large salaries which they command.

Judging from the ease and copiousness with which coins poured into the jeans of the little chap that held the interest of crowds along Main street the other day, we would venture to state that that monkey probably earns more money in a day than most young men of Rockland. And he does it perfectly unconsciously, too. Every day he runs through his repertoire of stunts, regardless of whether he has a headache or is feeling spry, and money flows into the coffers of the organ man who stolidly continues to grind out discordant renditions of "Over There" or some ditty that was popular before the war. Probably for half a century and more there have been thousands of monkeys named Jocko who have capered about Italians with slouch hats, long mustaches and shining teeth. And if all the money that these bright-eyed little wage earners have turned in could be placed in a pile, it might do quite a lot toward paying the war debt. To go back to our opening remark—most organ monkeys are able to make monkeys of everybody along the street.

There is a most ferocious appearing representation of a monkey's big brother on a billboard near the corner of Limerock and Main streets. We do not know whether it is supposed to depict a gorilla or just a plain, everyday wildman. At all events the creature does not present to the public a particularly kindly aspect. In fact, pure undiluted venom spurts from the beast's eyes and his lips are curled back, displaying very formidable and tusklined teeth that somehow do not convey impressions of a very good-natured disposition. It presents a leering sort of threat that can be seen way across the street. They look as though their owner would like nothing better than to sink them into something or somebody as soon as possible! After remarking to a friend that we had seen more attractive animals, our friend said: "Yes, that is quite a piece of bridge-work they put on that chap."

We were on fairly intimate terms with a wildman once, at least we knew him about as well as anybody usually gets to know a wildman. This wildman's name was Zip and his origin was supposed to be enshrouded in mystery. The last time we saw Zip was two years ago and he was then 81 years of age, having been one of the leading attractions in Barnum's original shows at Broadway and Ann streets in New York City years and years ago. We were working on a New York newspaper and met Zip in Broadway at a freak emporium on Broadway that went by the name of the Human Curio Palace, an institution that had followed in the wake of national prohibition, being located in an erstwhile popular bar and cafe. Zip occupied one end of the former bar and he was indeed a curious appearing wildman, or what-ever he was. He was advertised as Barnum's original Zip the What-Is-it, and it would have required a number of shrewd guesses on the part of most anybody to determine whether he was man or beast.

Zip himself did not appear to know or care, providing they came around with three squares a day. What was a little thing like one's origin compared to a good square meal? In addition to Zip, there were any number of other human freaks, all of whom were lined up on the top of the former bar and were included in a general story about the place that we wrote upon going back to the office. Zip was not particularly versatile in his accomplishments for amusing the great American public. It was his appearance that got him by. In the first place he was black in complexion and wore some sort of a hairy, tight fitting garment that lent him a shaggy and wild appearance. His head was shaped much like an egg, only more elongated, and was closely shaven except for a crowning top-knot that grew stiffly upward for several inches. He could not speak a word of any language that anybody had ever heard before and his chief accomplishments appeared to be the assuming of various ludicrous attitudes or moods, two of which we recall as "Ajax defying the lightning," and "A maiden's prayer." The proprietor of the place was rather pleased with the account we gave him and invited us out back to have supper with the freaks. We did not know whether to consider this a compliment or an insult, but finally accepted and enjoyed ourself exceedingly. We sat right across the table from Zip. He must have had a neat piece of bridge-work, too, for the food that that Zip did put away!

Question for today: How much money would an organ grinder make without a monkey?

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Rockville Young Folks Receive Benefit Of This Popular Institution

The children of Rockville are once more enjoying the privileges of a Vacation Bible School after several months when no services have been held. During the past week they have had the special advantages of a Vacation Bible School conducted by two enthusiastic and energetic women of Rockland, who received the necessary training and inspiration for their work at the Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist church earlier in the summer and who are spending a few weeks with relatives in this village. These young Christian workers are Miss Edna Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gregory of 6 Center street, and Miss Frederica Sylvester, niece of Mrs. James W. Emery of 230 Limerock street.

The Vacation School was held in the Free Baptist church of the village each morning from 9 to 11 o'clock, when a varied and interesting program was carried out consisting of songs, Lord's prayer, 2nd Psalm, flag salute, Bible story and dramatization, games, hand work including paper cutting and folding, sewing cards, drawing and color work; motion songs and marching. On Saturday a picnic was enjoyed on the steps of the schoolhouse near the church, this being the only day place to be found after the heavy showers of the preceding day and night; but the little folks had the best of times and did full justice to the picnic lunch in spite of prosaic surroundings. On Sunday, State Sunday School Missionary Willard E. Overlock paid them a visit and held services which were an inspiration and an uplift to the faithful workers and their little flock. They hope he will come again.

The roster of the school follows: Those attending every session were: Dorothy, Gladys, Josephine and Mary Tolman, Jane Bronkie, Beulah Callahan, Doris Hall, Brainerd Thurston, Lena Farrington and Louise Tolman; those who attended part time, Elizabeth and Alice Eds, Kenneth Thurston, George Hall, Roger Bronkie and Charlie Tolman. Each was presented a reward of merit in the form of a badge. The parents of these children are grateful to the young women who so gladly devoted a week of their vacation days to bring entertainment, training and instruction to the little folks. May this bit of Christian service prove but the beginning of larger work in the Master's vineyard in future days.

Did you ever stop to think that---

"The public utilities are just as much interested in the growth of your community as we are?"

"They probably have more money invested in the city than any other corporation or individual?"

"They must grow constantly in order to keep ahead of the demands for service?"

"They are on the job day and night?"

"They are interested as you are in the development of more business; in the bringing of more industries to the community?"

"Under our system of public regulation the rates charged by the utilities are fixed by commissions created for that purpose for the mutual benefit and protection of the public, the investors and the utilities?"

"The public utilities must be permitted to charge fair rates which will enable them to pay investors a fair return on their money and to enable the companies to obtain from investors additional capital when needed to build new plants and other facilities in order to give adequate service?"

Illinois Committee on Public Utility Information.

The points mentioned above are some of the reasons why a public utility preferred stock is a good investment.

Especially the 7% Preferred Stock of the Central Maine Power Company. Price $107.50 a share—yield 6 1/2% net.

KNOX MODEL "G" MOTORS

FOUR CYCLE, VALVE-IN-HEAD TYPE

The most practical power plant for the commercial boat and cruiser.

Every owner is more than satisfied with the economy and power shown by this motor. INVESTIGATE NOW.

TESTIMONIAL

South Brooksville, Me.
February 24, 1922.

Camden Anchor-Rockland Machine Co., Camden, Maine.
Gentlemen:—
Thank you for sending the new gaskets for our 16 H. P. model "G" motor. I like my motor very much. I have been using it now over a year; it has never caused me any trouble. It runs very smoothly and is very economical in every way, burning less than 1 1/2 gallons of fuel per hour, under full load; that is one of the good things about your Knox Motors, their economy on burning gas.
My motor is installed in a freight vessel, sixty-ton capacity, schooner rig. She will make five miles per hour when light. There are several people watching my motor work, and it is bound to bring you more business soon. Yours very truly,
