BATH GETS ANOTHER

Ex-Governor William T. Cobb, president of the Bath Iron Works, Ltd., announced Tuesday that his firm had been awarded the contract for an uncompleted lightship, a duplicate of the ships now under construction for the Department of Commerce. The Iron Works will launch and deliver the hull at its yard. The first launching day in Bath in months will be today, when the first of the five lightships being built at the Bath Iron Works will be put overboard.

The Outstanding Closed Car Value

1923 Five Passenger Six-Cylinder Sedan—$1985

Measured by any standards you may choose and for every kind of motoring, the Buick five passenger six-cylinder sedan is easily the outstanding value in a closed car.

It is a handsome, richly appointed sedan; tasteful in the quality of its interior fittings and in the comfortable luxury of its wide, easy seats with their fine plush upholstery.

Every driving convenience is found in this car, so perfectly arranged that each function is recorded before the driver's eyes and every control is at his finger tips.

And in addition, there is the dependable, enduring performance and the economical, satisfactory motoring that always has been so marked in the Buick chassis and the famous Buick valve-in-head engine.

PERFORMANCE, NOT PRICE TRUE MEASURE OF VALUE

EVERY Apperson is a better motor car because of the many thousands of Appersons built before it. A quarter century of creative effort is reflected in each motor and chassis unit. In their production, the skill of Apperson mechanics has kept pace with the refining and simplifying of mechanical principles and details. The result is the most sturdy and accessible 8-cylinder motor car manufactured. Its superiority of performance, endurance and road comfort is definite by comparison. A telephone call will bring the Apperson demonstrator to your door—today.

IN ROUGH SEAS

Capt. Rich Saved the Steamship Effna By Calmness and Judgment.

The U. S. S. B. Effna arrived in New York harbor the other day after an adventurous voyage from Cardiff, Wales, where she loaded coal for New York.

Leaving Cardiff September 21, the Effna ran into a hurricane on the 24th, in latitude 50.35 North, longitude 21.43 West, the wind reaching a velocity of 120 miles an hour, and the seas attaining mountainous height. The Effna was evidently in the center of the hurricane, as the barometer fell to 27.98.

The terrific wind, and tempestuous seas soon worked havoc. The decks were swept clean of all gears, and three life-boats were demolished. The Effna's two bridges were smashed in, and stairways leading to bridges were washed overboard. The auxiliary steering gear was entirely demolished and carried away.

The steel decks of the Effna developed several large crevices, due to the strain on the vessel while riding out the hurricane. For a time it was feared the vessel would founder. The officers and crew made heroic efforts to secure the hatches, and saved one life-boat from being demolished.

Capt. Charles Rich, of Rockland, through his efficient seamanship and good judgment, weathered the storm, and spoke highly of his officers and crew. Arthur Popp, second officer, displayed rare courage in "securing" the one remaining life-boat and lashing down the hatches, while tremendous seas were breaking over the vessel.

Capt. Rich spoke very highly of his radio operator, George H. Beachard, who stuck to his post throughout the hurricane, and kept the officers advised as to the weather conditions of other vessels in the vicinity, notwithstanding the fact that seas were continuously breaking over the radio cabin, and the life-boats and other gear on deck were crashing against the radio-cabin.

Capt. Rich stated that during his long years on the seas, he never experienced a storm as violent as occurred Sept. 24 and 25, and remarked that he hoped he never have to go through another like it.

WAS NOT FOUL PLAY

Cleothias Bruneau, Found Dead In Stonington, a Former Lime Worker Here.

The discovery of the dead body of Cleothias Bruneau in a pool of blood in his rooms at Stonington Tuesday, occasioned many rumors of foul play but the mystery has been cleared by the authorities, who after a complete investigation and an autopsy, decided Wednesday that the death was due to natural causes, Bruneau having suffered a rupture of blood vessels at the base of the brain, hemorrhage from the ears and nose following.

The investigation was made by Medical Examiner Charles C. Knowlton, Sheriff Ward Wescott and County Attorney Whiting.

It appears that Bruneau, who was a French laborer, came to Stonington some time in July and worked for about two months, having since been out of employment. He was seen about town Sunday but not having been seen from Sunday to Tuesday, neighbors called at his rooms on the first floor of an old house and through a back window saw the man on the bed. Entrance was made through a window and it was found that the man was dead in a pool of his own blood. The authorities promptly conducted

HERB HAVENER REVISITS US

Denver Man Pleased With Improvements In Rockland, But Is a Big Booster For Colorado In General and Denver In Particular.

When Herbert C. Havener of Denver, Colo., visited his old Rockland home a year ago, he was rather inclined to think that it might be the last time he would ever make that long journey. But the pleasant memories of that visit were not winter killed, and when his wife started East the past summer his grip had long been packed, and he too was a passenger on that train.

The couple spent the summer in New York, and then their pathways temporarily diverged—Mr. Havener coming down to Rockland to look up his old cronies, while Mrs. Havener remained for a visit with nieces in Wakefield, R. I. Mr. Havener completed his visit here yesterday and joined his better half in Wakefield. They are rather undecided at present whether to spend the entire winter in New York, or to hit the trail just before the holidays for the Pike's Peak country.

"It has been just a dandy time for me," declared Mr. Havener to a Courier-Gazette reporter on the eve of his departure. "I am more pleased with the changes that have taken place in Rockland since my last visit, than those which had been made in the 30 years of my absence. The streets are all slicked up, and Rockland certainly does look good to me. There's no reason why it should not be made a great tourist city. The thing to do is to pull together the way they do out West. Good Lord! They have no attractions out there that can compare with your harbor and coast—not to my way of thinking. Get some parks and a live band! Run some excursions! Do something to attract strangers, and let them know what you have down this way."

Among the old friends encountered by Mr. Havener on this visit were George A. Sherman, Roscoe G. Ingraham (with whom he used to play in the band), Arthur B. Crockett, E. W. Berry, Charles E. Bicknell, E. A. Knowlton, Alden A. Stover, Frank D. Rich, Samuel A. Burpee and Richard C. Hall. All of them, and others not included in this list did their level best to make his stay a pleasant one. "Things are booming out in Colorado," said Mr. Havener, "and especially in Denver, where the population has increased 14,500 since the first of the year. Denver now has about 380,000 inhabitants, its industries are prospering, and there's lots of building, both in the way of residences and manufactures. Carpenters are receiving $8 for a day of eight hours, while bricklayers and plasterers are being paid $10 a day. The cost of living is about 25 per cent lower than in the East, especially for meats. There has been a 10 per cent cut in groceries since last spring.

"Crops are abundant all over the West. Sugar beets are raised extensively in my State, the production ranging from 10 to 20 tons an acre. This industry had its inception about 20 years ago; today there are sugar factories on all sides."

The coal question is not disturbing the people of Colorado, who use bituminous coal and pay $8.50 a ton for it. Mr. Havener says that bituminous coal is all right for furnaces making a hot fire and a safe one, with the use of reasonable care.

Colorado is one of the many Western States which cater to the so-called "Tin Can Tourists"—motorists who travel about the country with camping apparatus attached to their cars. Hundreds of camping places are provided for these tourists, together with cooking accommodations, etc. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are annually left in Denver by the "Tin Canners," who enjoy the beautiful drives and the fine macadam roads, and who find it easier to understand why Denver is called "The City Beautiful."

Denver is also noted for its sunshine and its balmy weather. Sometimes, in winter there is a snowfall of four or five inches, but soon comes a chinook, or warm wind, which eats the snow up in three shakes of a lamb's tail.

Mr. Havener is a Republican—staunchest of the staunch, and he is firm in the belief that Colorado is going that way in next month's election. The average Westerner, he says, is well satisfied that the administration has done the best possible in very trying times; that President Harding has weathered the worst of it, and that when his term expires the Republicans will be retained in power. Mr. Havener is inclined to the belief, however, that Mr. Harding will not care to undertake a second term.

Denver is happy in the prospect that it will soon have direct rail communication with the Pacific Coast. Some 15 years ago, according to Mr. Havener, David H. Moffitt, a millionaire, advanced the idea of a Denver, Salt Lake and Pacific line. He built a road from Denver to Craig, within 75 miles of the Utah line, then found that even millionaires can run short of funds. He invoked the aid of Wall Street, but it was thought that such a line would interfere with the Union Pacific, which Wall Street has a vital interest in, and assistance from New York's big financial thoroughfare was not forthcoming.

Crossing the Continental Divide with this railroad would mean excessive cost and would be an unprofitable venture, the engineers found and instead it has been decided to tunnel through James Peak, the estimated cost of that undertaking being between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000. A bill has been introduced in the Colorado Legislature enabling the promoters to bond the northern counties, and by that means raise the necessary money for the completion of the road.

The road would mean a great boom for Denver, says Mr. Havener, as it would open up a large undeveloped territory. The money is in sight for the completion of the line to Salt Lake, where it would connect with the Southern Pacific Railroad. It will take about two years to complete the project.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad is now building shops in Denver at a cost of $1,500,000, and it is the belief of many that when the tunnel is completed the C. B. & Q. will take the road. There would then be a through line from New York to the Pacific through Denver.

THE SECOND TERM RUMOR.

In a statement issued in Columbus, Ohio Wednesday, Attorney General Daugherty, declared that "publication and propaganda" to the effect that President Harding does not expect to be a candidate for re-election "are for a purpose altogether dissociated from any information as to the facts." Mr. Daugherty said that while his statement should not be taken as an official announcement, he could say that President Harding's candidacy for a second term has not yet been given any consideration.

On the crest of the recent warm wave records were broken with marks of 85.

ROCKLAND'S SALVATION ARMY

Organizing For a Greatly Enlarged Work Among Our Poor and Unfortunate—$10,000 To Be Raised.

The Salvation Army of Rockland, which has so faithfully served our community for 30 years in rented quarters, has been preparing to conduct a campaign to raise funds which will purchase, remodel and equip the building in which it now pays rent at 477 Main street.

It is proposed to remodel the second and attic floors into modern Salvation Army quarters, remodel the outside of the building, put in a new front, and increase the number of stores. This will not only improve the appearance of the building and the street but it will give the Salvation Army the necessary equipment for its work.

The Army now occupies its own home in every city in the State of Maine with the exception of Rockland. Its experience has been that regardless of the efficiency of its work in rented quarters, this efficiency is always increased at least 150 per cent, when the work is conducted in its own building. Rockland's present rented quarters are now in such poor condition, and the work has grown to such proportions, that it can no longer be carried on successfully under existing conditions.

In order to carry out this program it will be necessary to raise $10,000 in Rockland, which will also include current expenses for the coming year. The magnificent initial gift of George Warren Smith of $3,000 has greatly encouraged the committee, who feel that with the help of all of the other citizens of Rockland this modest sum will be speedily realized.

The work of organization is now going forward and it is hoped to begin the actual campaign about October 30.

It is expected that the actual drive will not consume more than three days. The plans of the Salvation Army called for putting on this campaign early last summer but in order not to interfere with the hospital campaign then in contemplation the effort was postponed until the present time.

Campaign headquarters have been opened at the Salvation Army rooms at 477 Main street, and a building fund committee headed by President George B. Wood, of the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corporation has been organized and is now at work. The other members of the committee are Walter H. Butler, H. A. Buffum, Mrs. A. J. Bird, Mrs. Adriel U. Bird, Valentine Chisholm, Arthur B. Crockett, C. H. Duff, W. O. Fuller, Frank W. Fuller, A. W. Gregory, A. S. Littlefield, H. M. McDougall, Albert S. Peterson, G. W. Roberts, Homer E. Robinson, G. M. Simmons, Mrs. B. B. Smith, William D. Talbot and M. E. Wotton. Homer E. Robinson of the Rockland National Bank is campaign treasurer and all contributions should be sent to him.

The complete working plan of the campaign will be published in these columns in an early issue.

General Chairman Wood, who is also president of the permanent advisory council of the Salvation Army in Rockland, is anxious for workers and requests that all men and women who will be willing to assist in this campaign kindly telephone campaign headquarters at Rockland 514. This will not be a long-drawn-out affair, but will be completed within three days from the opening meeting which will be announced soon.

ODD FELLOWS' WEEK

What the Various Grand Bodies Did In Sessions At Portland.

The 79th annual session of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Maine was convened in Portland Wednesday by Grand Master Willard S. Lewin of Houlton. Reports of officers presented during the sessions show a membership of 29,588, a net gain of 437 in the 135 lodges of the State. Loss by death during the past year has been 450 and 185 by withdrawal. Total receipts of the lodges for the year were $302,489, with expenditures amounting to $275,828, of which $91,931 was paid out in benefits and relief. Invested funds of the lodges total $1,280,152.

Fred A. Millett of Portland was elected grand master. Among the deputy grand masters appointed were Luke S. Davis of Rockland, Alexander Fuller of Union and Harry Candage of Stonington.

Dr. Ellery P. Blanchard of Portland was elected grand patriarch of the Grand Encampment, W. S. Richards of Camden was appointed district deputy grand patriarch. Mrs. Inez S. Crosby of Camden was elected president of the Past Presidents' Association of the Rebekah Assembly, the 18th annual meeting of which was held at the Congress Square Hotel. Mrs. Crosby presided, in the absence of the president.

The 26th annual session of the Rebekah Assembly of Maine was held in Odd Fellows' hall Tuesday. The reports showed a membership of 26,692, which is 1392 more than last year. The invested funds of the 145 lodges amount to $47,221. Mrs. Alice M. Palmer of Monroe was elected president of the Assembly. Mrs. Crosby of Camden was appointed to the committee on memorial.

Mrs. Palmer, the new president of the Rebekah Assembly, appointed among her district deputy presidents Carrie Cummings of Union and Addie Bucklin of Vinalhaven.

CONQUERED CONGOS

The Universalists struck their stride in the Church Bowling League at the Star Alleys Thursday night, and took the Congregationalists into camp by the generous margin of 194 pins. Lamb and Cottrell hit a fast pace for the Union street church. The losers appeared to be suffering from stage fright, even that seasoned old veteran, Barnard. The summary:

WHO WANTS THREE KITTENS?

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— If the janitor of your office finds mice or rats about the place, will he accept my three fine tiger kittens? They are five months old, great pets, remarkable for their intelligence, with no faults, about half shag, all marked alike, fat and healthy kittens. Perhaps not salable, but too good to have killed is the reason of my strong appeal for some one to take them gratis off my hands. L. A. Cole. Union, Oct. 18.

[This office regrets that it does not find itself a favorable place for these pets, but wishes some of our readers may be interested. If so let them communicate with Miss Cole.—Ed.]

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Whatever your occupation may be and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry. —Charles Elliot Norton

THE GOLDEN MILE-STONE
Leafless are the trees; their purple branches
Spread themselves abroad, like reefs of coral,
In the Red Sea of the winter sunset.

From the hundred chimneys of the village,
Like the Afreet in the Arabian story,
Smoky columns
Tower aloft into the air of amber.

At the window winks the flickering firelight;
Here and there the lamps of evening glimmer,
Social watch-fires
Answering one another through the darkness.

On the hearth the lighted logs are glowing,
And like Ariel in the cloven pine-tree
For its freedom
Groans and sighs the air imprisoned in them.

By the fireside there are old men seated,
Seeing ruddy cities in the ashes
Of the Past what it can never restore them.
Of the Future what it cannot give them.

By the fireside there are youthful dreamers,
Building castles fair, with stately stairways,
Social watch-fires
Of the Future what it cannot give them.

By the fireside tragedies are acted
In whose scenes appear two actors only,
Wife and husband,
And above them God the sole spectator.

By the fireside there are peace and comfort,
Wives and children, with fair, thoughtful faces,
Waiting, watching
For a well-known footstep in the passage.

Each man's chimney is his Golden Mile-stone;
The central point, from which he measures
Every distance
Through the gateways of the world around him.

In his farthest wanderings still he sees it;
Hears the talking flame, the answering night-wind.
As he heard them
When he sat with those who were, but are not.

Happy he whom neither wealth nor fashion,
Nor the march of the encroaching city,
Nor an exile
From the hearth of his ancestral homestead.

We may build more splendid habitations,
Fill our rooms with paintings and with sculptures,
But we cannot
Buy with gold the old associations!

—Henry W. Longfellow.

RAISING THE DEAD:—Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God should raise the dead?—Acts 26:8.

DESERVES OUR HELP

We believe there will be a quick and warm response to the appeal of the Salvation Army for an equipment that shall enable it not only adequately to carry on the work to which it is dedicated among the unfortunate classes of our city, but also measurably to increase that highly commendable form of service. Rockland is the only city in Maine where the Army headquarters are maintained in a rented building. Even as the churches own their buildings, so under its modern businesslike management should this allied agency for service among the poor. The plans to be carried out, as alluded to in the article printed upon the first page, have been prepared by the official architect of the Salvation Army, and provide for the remodeling of the building upon a basis that shall both furnish adequate modern quarters and provide for maintenance through the income from rented stores.

Whatever good is accomplished in our city through the various agencies of a humanitarian character—and there is a great deal of good done—the place of the Salvation Army is unique, for it works through methods of its own among classes that not otherwise would consistently be reached. Thirty years of its consecrated labors here has demonstrated both its efficiency and its need to the community. It should be not alone the duty but the high privilege of each one of us to lend a hand to this forward movement which is being directed by the New England officials of the Army.

From the side lines it looks as though the canvass of Henry Cabot Lodge was progressing most auspiciously. His meetings are marked by large attendance and everywhere the people of Massachusetts give evidence of a purpose to re-elect their distinguished fellow-citizen by a majority relatively as great as that recorded for him in the primaries. In his speeches Senator Lodge is dealing with practical affairs in a highly common-sense manner of which the following is illustrative:

"If there is any doubt in the framing of the tariff I want it in favor of the American workmen. If there is any work to be done for us, I want it to be done by American workers. I do not want the United States isolated, I want her to serve the world, keep her prosperous. If we were to fail it would mean the beginning of the downfall of civilization. Our first duty is to make the United States prosperous, to build her up in order that she may serve the cause of humanity in the interests of peace and righteousness."

A cablegram from Paris states that a poll taken in Paris of 1619 American citizens upon the subject of cancellation of America's foreign loans resulted in a vote of 5 to 2 against any cancellation. The prevailing sentiment among those voting was that cancellation of foreign debts by the United States would only give European countries that much more money to spend making war on each other.

As a result of the findings of the Navy department, two naval yards and several shore establishments will be closed provided Congress acts favorably upon the recommendations of the department. According to the department there is no need for their continuance and any appropriations for their continuance will be indefensible from the standpoint of public welfare and economy.

The money lent Europe to finance its war was supplied by the people of this country who bought Liberty bonds. These bonds, principal and interest, somebody has got to pay. Who shall do the paying, the people who furnished the money or those who used it? The answer is easy.

But let us take cheer. This snap of cold weather is only by way of a suggestion on the part of autumn of what it can do when in a humorous mood. There's a whole block of Indian Summer just ahead of us in November. Winter is still far down the horizon.

The work of resurfacing Mechanic street its entire length, long needing to be done, is about completed, in excellent manner, bringing joy to the hearts of all citizens who have business taking them over that much-used thoroughfare.

In the autumnal season of wet and leaf-strewn roads, with the frequent accompaniment of fogs, double caution in driving is urged by the automobile associations. Safety first.

Stories of old Knox county houses are always interesting. The Courier-Gazette prints one of them today and will always welcome others.

Europe is all right, soon as she gets done, expecting too much from the United States.

NOVEMBER ELECTION

Not the Slightest Fear of the County Returning To Democratic Rule.

Washington, Oct. 19.—"When 245 out of 259 Republican candidates for renomination can secure a vote of confidence from their constituents, it is perfectly clear that there is no widespread dissatisfaction," declares the Republican Publicity Association. "But even if there were a large number of defeats for Republicans for renomination, this would be no source of encouragement for the Democrats. Because Republicans prefer one candidate rather than another for their own ticket, is no sign that they will prefer a Democrat rather than a Republican as their Representative in the National legislative body. The oft-repeated assertion that the country is dissatisfied with the Republican administration is conclusively disproven by the records compiled by Chairman John T. Adams of the Republican National Committee showing that out of 259 Republicans who sought renomination for Congress, all but 14 were given a vote of approval by the members of their party. The number defeated is no greater than usual. In every primary, some members of Congress go down to defeat, and this is true of one party as well as the other. Local conditions and issues always result in retirement of a few members of Congress by their own party primaries."

The issue in the coming November election is not whether the people of the country are entirely satisfied with each and every act of their spokesmen at Washington. No one expects the record of any member of Congress to be perfect. So long as opinions differ and human nature is less than omnipotent, just so long will some of the people disapprove of some of the acts of their chosen representatives.

The real issue in the November elections is whether the country wants to go back to Democratic administration of National affairs. There is nothing in the Republican primary vote to indicate that the Republicans of the country have any intention of voting for a return to Wilsonism, for in the proportion of 245 to 14, they have voted approval of the record of their representatives and in the 14 instances they have nominated men who meet their ideas of what a representative should be back to a Democratic regime is a prospect that the people of the country would regard with feelings of consternation. Men who kept in touch with public affairs will remember that in the eight years of its incumbency, the Democratic party broke every pledge it made in its platforms, while in the two years the present administration has been in power, it has fulfilled every pledge it has had time to fulfill. It has not yet pulled the country and the national finances out of the deplorable mess into which they were thrown by Democratic mismanagement, but far greater progress has been made than anyone believed possible.

Going back to a Democratic regime has a definite and specific meaning. It means restoration of the socialistic tendencies with which the Democratic party is permeated. It means renewed effort to compel the United States to make the "supreme sacrifice" to the Europe-controlled League of Nations. It means extravagance in national expenditures, wastefulness in conducting government business, increased domination by bureaucrats, inefficient service, and constant meddling with private business. It means use of the diplomatic service for the rewarding of "deserving" Democrats who have no fitness for their position. It means return to the dictatorship of Gompers, continuous assaults upon the welfare of the agricultural interests, and restoration of the policy of buying foreign goods instead of domestic production.

There is not the slightest chance of a popular vote in favor of return to Democratic rule.

REMEMBERS HURRICANE ISLE

In Its Days When There Was Something Doing All the Time

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Will you please send me copies of your paper of Sept. 5, containing a history of Hurricane Island, where I used to live about 30 years ago, when every house and boarding house was full of people. Many a good dance have I enjoyed in the old town hall. I grieve to think of it all falling down and no one there. Five years of my life were very happily passed on that little rocky island.

Mr. Philbrook is mistaken when he says there never was but one street bearing a name and that one Broadway. I remember that street, and a Main street, High street and Shore Road, Dean street, the Valley Road, Lover's Lane—and I lived on Pleasant street. I also remember the bands of that time—not the ones he remembers, for they must all have gone away before his day. I have a picture of one of the bands most of whose members are dead. I will get it when I return to my home in Vinalhaven and send it to you for printing in your paper if you care to so. I hope Hurricane may sometime come to life again and I think it will, for there is still a lot of granite there waiting to be quarried. (Mrs.) Edna Swears, Dover-Foxcroft, R. F. D. 1.

HONORS FOR ALBEE

A Newcastle doctor has been paid high honor by the French surgeons. Dr. Fred H. Albee, New York, a Newcastle boy, was invited to open a discussion of the French surgical congress in Paris last week. The liner Mauretania was delayed and Dr. Albee was not able to be there. But the program was rearranged so that the Maine doctor had an opportunity to speak. Dr. Albee with Dr. Rudolph Matas of New Orleans was given a special place on the new program to present the results of 2000 case of bone grafting.

WILL FLY TO POLE

Capt. Roald Amundsen plans his flight from Wainwright, Alaska, across the North Pole next May or June, according to Capt. S. C. Cochran of the Coast Guard cutter Bear, which was at Seattle Tuesday from a long voyage into the Arctic ocean. Ice in the Arctic is the worst since 1906. Capt. Amundsen intends to go to Nome, Alaska this winter by dog team and return to Wainwright for his flight with Lieut. Oskar Orndahl, he told Capt. Cochran.

POSTAL MATTERS

Getting Ready for Holiday Rush—Part Of Coal Supply Arrives—Department Details.

It seems quite a far cry to the holidays, but up at the big granite building in Post Office square Postmaster Blithen is already laying plans for the Christmas rush. One of the new features will be a parcel delivery window, the effect of which will be to lessen the congestion around the general delivery window. The arrival of a carload of coal, 37½ tons, sent by the Department, was hailed with satisfaction this week. The building requires about 70 tons a year.

The postmaster has been requested by the Department to place his order for stamps to be used during the Christmas holidays at once. Requests must be forwarded not later than Nov. 13, that supplies may be forwarded.

During the war many thousands of three-cent stamps were issued for mailing first-class letters, that being the charge an ounce for first class mail. To reduce the supply postmasters are requested to use the three-cent stamps on parcel post mail, as there is no call, of magnitude, for stamps of that denomination. Wholesale use of three-cent stamps will practically dispose of all stamps of that denomination.

Postoffice department officials believe that use of out-of-date mailing lists and city directories accounts for so many undeliverable letters. Political candidates who use the mail to garner in the sheaves by stamping letters should be sure they are sent correctly. The increase of dead letter material received during June, July and August, in which many primaries were held, showed an increase of approximately 25 percent over the same months last year and it is believed that the greater part of it is political.

Postal employees are to get free medical examinations. The department is doing this in connection with the United States Public Health Service and specialists will do the work. Postmaster Blithen is hoping to have Rockland named as one of the places where examinations are made. It is the natural center of a large territory.

Postmaster Blithen has received a notice from John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general, regarding the handling of Christmas mail. The letter urges organization of forces and perfection of plans for the prompt and economical handling of the holiday mail. He tells Mr. Blithen not to take for granted that the plans heretofore in vogue at this office are not susceptible of improvement, but they should be checked carefully in the light of experience and new methods or plans adopted which would tend to expedite the mails and reduce the cost of handling. He suggests that equipment should be inspected and necessary repairs be immediately made. Also that arrangements be made for a sufficient number of substitutes and he suggests high school and college students as ideal temporary help and says preference should be given to men who have helped before and proved useful and efficient. He devotes a paragraph to wrapping and addressing parcels. Supply correct, complete and legible addresses, affixing requisite amount of postage, mailing a number of days in advance according to the distance to be covered. Two or three weeks before Christmas Postmaster Blithen will seek the co-operation of school authorities and on some certain day the children will be given a message by teachers to take to their homes, urging immediate mailing of parcels in order to avoid the last few days' rush. For about one week preceding Christmas the local office will be kept open as usual as business warrants. Suitable signs will be placed in the lobby to indicate to the public where various features of business are transacted so no time will be lost. The mail, both incoming and outgoing, must be handled upon receipt, thus precluding any possibility of congestion and a complete clean-up must be made daily.

RED CROSS WORKERS

Vote To Continue the Important Work of Miss Reilly, District Nurse.

When Miss Maude A. Reilly was engaged by the local chapter of the Red Cross, as district nurse, it was with the distinct understanding that the arrangement could be terminated at the end of three months if it were the desire of either the chapter or Miss Reilly that this be done.

The three months were up Thursday, and a joint meeting of the executive board and nursing committee was held. Those present were unanimously of the opinion that Miss Reilly has given absolute satisfaction, and her services will be continued as this also coincides with her own views in the matter.

At Thursday's meeting Miss Reilly gave an accounting of her September labors, showing that she had made 159 visits (125 of them nursing calls); that there were 16 new cases for the month, and 10 carried over from last month; that four of the cases are being handled in conjunction with the Metropolitan Insurance Co.; that 12 cases have been dismissed; that six cases have been reported by the families in which they occurred, five by physicians, two by Metropolitan agents, and four from other services. Miss Reilly was able to turn into the Red Cross fund $10 received from regular cases and $10.50 from the Metropolitan cases.

The nursing committee will support Miss Reilly's work by forestalling winter needs in the way of warm clothing, layettes, etc. This district nurse, herself, is not allowed to fund such assistance, but it will be done by a production committee, not yet appointed. The selection of that committee has been left to Mrs. W. O. Fuller, Mrs. A. J. Bird, Mrs. L. N. Littlehale and Mrs. Arthur F. Lamb. Any reader of this article who knows of clothing, etc., available for such purposes will facilitate the work by notifying Mrs. Lamb.

Miss Reilly's activities have also included some school work of importance to the pupils, and the Red Cross is lending its assistance to the baby clinic which will be held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. in Grand Army hall next Wednesday.

Emphasis is again laid on the fact that Miss Reilly's work is not altogether of a charitable nature. True, she gives her services in families which are not able to pay for it, but her services are available in the families of the well-to-do, just as are those of the regular nurses. Miss Reilly works on a stated salary, and the money she receives are turned into the Red Cross treasury.

Miss Charlotte Simon, field superintendent of nursing, was present and gave suggestions at Thursday's meeting, which, by the way, was the first to be held in the new Red Cross rooms at Knox Hospital. Through the courtesy of the Knox Hospital directors, the use of these rooms is given without charge, and through the kindness of Sibley Hospital the Chapter has a well supplied loan closet. Other things are much needed, for instance, chairs, rugs, sofa pillows, book shelves. Maybe some well disposed persons will supply these wants.

The Red Cross Chapter is looking ahead to its annual roll-call for members, which will be made Nov. 11-25. The Chapter at present has 1100 one-dollar members and the continuance of that number is very necessary for the retention of the district nurse.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Where United States Would Be Had It Accepted the Mandate For Armenia.

[Kansas City Times]

Suppose the United States had gone into the League of Nations and accepted the mandate for Armenia, as was proposed in Europe and urged by many idealistic Americans. In the light of subsequent events, what would have happened?

This country would have had to maintain a large army in Asia Minor for the last four years at enormous expense; or it would have had a war on its hands. Probably it would have had the war even with the army.

The whole theory on which the league was founded is one that won't work because it runs against human nature. Part of the theory is that if nations get together and talk things over they will yield to reason without fighting. That is the first part of the theory. The second part is that if a nation should be blind and stubborn as to refuse to listen to reason it will yield to the show of superior forces by the league.

In both these respects the theory is wrong. Highly civilized nations are willing to arbitrate most disputes. There are certain questions, however, that even such nations refuse to arbitrate. The less civilized nations are less amenable to reason.

Moreover, these nations often act like individuals. They will be aroused and strike out blindly, even against what seems to be superior force. Or they will strike out craftily, calculating that when it comes to a showdown the powers that are seeking to restrain them will refuse to fight.

The earnest gentlemen who urged the United States to accept the Armenian mandate were confident the Turks wouldn't fight. The Turks were exhausted, prostrate. Greece put a large army into Asia Minor on that assumption and discovered its mistake.

The United States, accepting the mandate, would have been called on to maintain an army of at least fifty thousand men five thousand miles from home. It would have been menaced. Reinforcements would have been sent. By the time we had one hundred thousand or perhaps two hundred thousand soldiers there, we should have had a first-class war on our hands; a war such as Britain has recently shrunk from. Also we should have had another big bond issue.

Would the American people have consented to sacrifice their sons, and to pour out taxes, in a quarrel which they had no hand in creating, and in which they would have no interest? Would the very people who were clamoring for the league and the mandate four years ago have been willing to send their sons to fight in Anatolia?

Let us be thankful for the senators who made the fight to save America from the entanglements—yes, and wars—into which the impractical idealists would have plunged her!

PARK THEATRE

The piquant Shirley Mason is unquestionably one of the most popular of film stars among all classes of people and both sexes. She is to be seen at the popular Park Theatre today (Saturday) in "The New Teacher," a production that has been greeted with much enthusiasm because of the refreshing acting of the charming young star supplemented by the very interesting story she helps to tell.

Clyde Cook the extremely funny acrobatic clown in a comedy feature and a travelogue to strange lands complete the program.

Monday—Harry Carey in "The Kick Back," a Western picture with a punch. Tuesday, an exceptional picture, story and cast will be presented for approval of Rockland movie fans. Marjorie Daw, Tully Marshall, Pat O'Malley and Noah Beery head the all star cast appearing in Marion Fairfax's latest screen contribution "The Lying Truth."

A newspaper story is always a powerful story and a manner in which Bill O'Hara conceives and executes a fake murder in "The Lying Truth" is further proof of Miss Fairfax's ability to keep human appeal in her writings.—adv.

Many Millions Lost Annually

BY CHECK RAISING

It has been reliably estimated that from thirty to fifty millions of dollars are being stolen annually from bank depositors who do not protect their checks.

It may never have happened to you—yet your next check may be raised.

It is next to impossible to write a check that is safe, unless protected with a modern device.

Remember—that in these days, every class of crime is constantly increasing and unprotected check is a dangerous asset. No matter to whom you give your check it is not safe, for it may be transferred to another party or stolen from the mail or get into the hands of a dishonest employee, who by using a few drops of acid or by clever pen changing can make over your check so that you would scarcely know it.

Do you know that your signature represents every dollar that you are worth? Is it not worth a few dollars of your money to protect it?

Don't put this matter off another day—but write for interesting literature on check protection. It does not obligate you at all. A post card will do.

Members of Rockland Lodge, B. P. O. E., are requested to meet at the Home at 1 o'clock today to attend the funeral of the late Fred J. Simonton, a past exalted ruler of the lodge. Mr. Simonton was initiated into the order Feb. 11, 1907.

In spite of Wednesday's warning hardly anybody expected to arise yesterday morning and find the ground white with snow. Neither did they expect to find frozen water pipes, but that's what they did in some instances. Has winter arrived, or is it a false alarm?

Arthur D. Welch of the Portland Lodge, has been invited to deliver the eulogy on the occasion of the Elks Memorial Sunday exercises to be held the first Sunday in November in Park theatre, under the auspices of Rockland Lodge, B. P. O. E.

The Rockland High School football team goes visiting again today, and while not over-confident as to the result, it may be at least that Coach Crosby's men are not indulging in any undue worry. The team plays in Belfast, and has already won one very decisive victory over the eleven which represents that city.

The trial of John A. Breen in Rockland Municipal Court yesterday forenoon lasted a little less than 30 seconds. Frank A. Tirrell, Jr., counsel for Mr. Breen, waived examination, and the respondent pleaded not guilty to the charge of having intoxicating liquor in his possession for illegal sale. He was found guilty, fined $500 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail. He appealed and furnished bail.

Rockland Lodge, B. P. O. E., meets next Monday night, with banquet at 6:30. The notice to members says: "The summer vacation season is now over. Let's settle down to business and help boost Rockland Lodge. We have already taken in more new members since the beginning of the present lodge year than has been taken in any one lodge year since 1910. The chair officers of the lodge have got their minds set on not less than 50 new members on or before April 1, 1923. Get your shoulder to the wheel and help all you can. Now's the time to propose your candidate."

Supt. A. P. McAlary of the Camden and Rockland Water Co. has received from W. J. Brennan, director of the Division of Sanitary Engineering, a letter which places the department's official kick on the drinking water supplied by the local corporation. Director Brennan's report says: "A complete chemical and bacteriological example of sample No. 207, taken from your public supply, shows the water in Mirror Lake, at the time of the examination to be free from harmful bacteria and also to be free from chemical evidence of a contact with polluted material. As long as the water maintains its present conditions, you may consider it fit for all uses." So drink hearty.

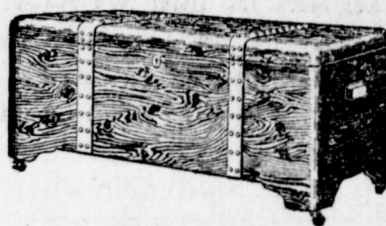

Sporting Editor Oliver of the Bath Times holds aloft both hands in holy horror at the mere suggestion that Bath sports were giving odds of 5 to 2 on the game between Morse High and Rockland High in Bath last Saturday. "Never heard of such a thing," says Arthur—and without attempting any flattery it may be said that there isn't much going on in Bath sporting circles that he doesn't hear about. "Of course Morse was happy," he adds. "They knew Rockland has a team with Crosby at the helm and he has certainly developed a football eleven the short time he has had the boys in charge. Another season and Rockland will speak right out in meeting with the best of them." The report that Morse High was to play in Rockland Armistice Day is denied by the Times, which says that the Morse manager is trying to get a game with Biddeford, and that Rockland is second choice.

Pleasant Valley Grange meets with Mrs. David F. Haskell Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a sewing circle for the Grange. The men folks are invited to supper from 6 to 7 o'clock, whether or not they have any relatives in the circle.

An Alpine Sun Lamp, said to be the nearest thing to Old Sol, has been installed in the office of Dr. A. W. Foss. It is an X-ray device, especially designed to detect symptoms of intestinal tuberculosis. It has been used very successfully at Saranac Lake for several years, and among those who responded favorably to the treatment was Jerome Burrows of Rockland.

The P. J. Simonton Co.'s dry goods store is closed today as a mark of respect to the late president of the corporation, Fred J. Simonton, whose funeral takes place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence of Henry B. Bird, Broadway. The store will reopen Monday morning.

Female members of the recent party at Mrs. Sadie Leach's cottage say that somebody was nature faking when the story of Charlie O'Connell's alleged wildcat was told. They have spent much time in that vicinity without seeing anything that remotely resembled a wildcat and without wishing to cast any reflections upon Charlie's claim, go on record as believing that the animal which made his back hair stand on end was a plain onyx skunk. Wildcats in Rockport? Rattle snakes in Cushing! Next.

The girls of Rockland High School have also become much interested in cross country runs, and Coach Crosby has quite a squad of them in training. Seven of the fair damsels went over a two-mile course, Thursday, and four of them ran the entire distance. The leader, not a bit flustered, amazed Mr. Crosby with the calm remark: "Now I'm going to walk to Owl's Head. The students who daily traverse the rough and hilly course between Owl's Head and Rockland, would seem to have a pretty fair start in the way of training."

The Universalist church has announced another series of Sunday evening picture services to begin Sunday, Oct. 29. The pictures which were shown last year were enjoyed by large numbers each Sunday evening and this announcement will be welcomed by many. The list of pictures up to January first will be as follows: Oct. 29, The Passion Play of Oberammergau; Nov. 5, A Bill of Divorcement; Nov. 12, Turn to the Right; Nov. 19, Wake Up, Jonathan; Nov. 26, The Prisoner of Zenda; Dec. 3, Peter Robertson; Dec. 10, Nice People; Dec. 17, Orphans of the Storm; Dec. 24, Ben Hur.

Plans are complete for the Universalist anniversary celebration next Wednesday. The anniversary tea in the afternoon for the members who attended services in the old church promises to be an interesting feature and will bring together the older church members. The chaplain class will serve the anniversary supper at 6:30, and the evening service, which is open to the public, will not only have as an attraction some noted speakers, but a special program of music will be rendered by a double quartet composed of the following persons who are well known in Rockland musical circles: Sopranos, Mrs. Katherine Veazie, Mrs. Loretta Bicknell; contraltos, Miss Gladys Jones, Miss Lena Lawrence; tenors, Chester Wyllie, E. R. Veazie; basses, John Robt. son, Charles A. Rose, Jr.

There are now 332 students in Rockland High School. Some of the old grads will recall that it used to be considered a full house when there were only a few more than 100 students.

The Waldoboro bowling team comes to the Star alleys next Monday night for a return game. The local candlepin artists plan to give the visitors a proper trimming, but otherwise to use them very nicely.

The Chapin class is asked to meet in the vestry at 10:20 Sunday morning and attend church in a body. It is hoped that all members will make an effort to do this, as it is desired to make the 80th anniversary service a great success.

The dramatization of "Esther" to be given at M. E. church under the auspices of Miss Burdette Strout, has been postponed until Oct. 28. The characters are: King Ahasuerus, Rev. E. V. Allen; Queen Esther, Marie Brown; Haman, David Beach; Mordecai, R. U. Clark; male servants, Harrison MacAlman, Winston Fifield; female servants, Elizabeth Winslow, Herman Toothaker. The music is in charge of Miss Marianne Crockett.

However plentiful and bold the rats, they want to be careful how they invade The Courier-Gazette office in broad daylight when Danny Sullivan is on deck. It was a wild chase yesterday afternoon, for a printing-office rat has many dodging places, but it's got to be a more than ordinary rat that is quicker than Danny.

F. S. Philbrick of Thomaston street, who confesses to being 78 years young, recently returned from an extended visit in Boston and vicinity, replete with happy memories. In addition to the attractions of Boston proper it was his privilege to attend the Boston Fair, to make brief visits in Haverhill, Marlboro and Hudson, and to take the ride through Exeter and historic Concord, out over the Daniel Webster road, (a memorial to the noted statesman) past the Webster home and the building where he first practiced law. On this ride, which extended to Lake Winnepesaukee, he saw the interesting relic of Indian habitation, the stone hollowed out like a bowl capable of holding a half bushel or more, where the Indian women came for miles around to grind their corn in the days before equality of the sexes was thought of. Mr. Philbrick plans to return another year, if only to visit Brockton, Fla., which he declares can not be well done in less than three days.

At the Congregational church tomorrow morning Mr. Rounds will preach on the subject "What Christianity Has To Say To The Curious Person." Church school at noon.

At St. Peter's Church, Episcopal, the Sunday services are at 7:30, 10:30, and 12:15. The evening service is in Thomaston. Holy day service Saturday, Oct. 28. The parish notices are as usual printed on the first page.

First Church of Christ, Scientist Cedar and Brewster streets, Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock. Subject of lesson sermon, "Probation After Death." Sunday school at 12 o'clock. The reading room is located in the new Bicknell block, and is open every weekday from 2 to 5 p. m., Saturday evenings from 7 to 9.

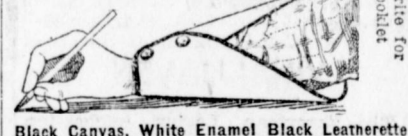

Sunday will be observed as Rally Day at Littlefield Memorial Free Baptist church. Pastor Stuart's address at 10:30 on the subject "The Gospel A B C's" will be a special message to the children. All children in the vicinity are urged to be present and occupy the front seats. The choir will sing the anthem "Jesus is the Friend You Need." The church school will convene at 12 and there will be a Rally Day concert at 7:15. The "Seedtime" evangelist services will open with service Monday evening at 7:30.

The service at the Universalist Church Sunday morning will be a part of the Anniversary celebration. The pastor will give the historical address at the hour of the morning sermon which will review many interesting periods in Rockland history and the activities of the Universalist church. The choir will sing two anthems, "Coronation," Schuler, and "O Love Divine," Francis. Miss Gladys Jones will sing a contralto solo. The kindergarten meets at the same hour as the church service, and the Sunday school at 11 o'clock. Tuesday evening comes the regular religious service and the teacher training class. Wednesday is the day of the Anniversary celebration.

At the First Baptist church the pastor will speak at 10:30 on "Contentment." At 11, during the hour of worship, will occur a dedication of infants and young children. In the evening at 7:15 Mr. Browne's topic will be "Fitz Leaf Aprons." The service opens with a song feast. Sunday school convenes at 11:45 with well organized departments for all ages. Miss Helen Gregory will conduct the C. E. at 6:15, the topic being "How To Behave In Church." The Tuesday prayer meeting will make, it is hoped, a still nearer approach to the goal of 200. Last Tuesday there were 175 present. The topic will be "Another 'I Am' of Jesus." The men's monthly prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening in the church vestry.

The topic for the morning sermon at the Pratt Memorial M. E. church Sunday morning will be "Men and Stars." The musical program will include the anthems, "I Am Alpha and Omega," Stainer, with incidental solo by Mrs. Triuma Stanley, and the solo, "Death Triumphant," Scott, by Miss Marianne Crockett. The Sunday school meets at 12. The Epworth League at 6 will feature a half hour of Bible study in which the pastor will conduct the study period. In the evening service the pastor will speak on the topic "The Signs of the Times, or Is the World Growing Worse?" In addition to the praise service, Lewis O'Brien will sing "His Salvation Is Nigh," from "The Woman of Samaria." Bennett. Prayer meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30.

MAINE'S RESOURCES

The State Chamber of Commerce, through Phillip W. Blake, the newly-arrived assistant to President James Q. Guinac, is conducting a survey into the resources of Maine which presents some staggering figures.

Maine people have patted themselves on the back with the reflection that the State has been progressing sanely and conservatively in the past 70 years will find says the Portland Express much to surprise them in the results of this survey, which are being carefully charted by the State Chamber, but on the contrary the figures point so conclusively to the possible remedy for the situation as it stands that they can find no excuse for permanent gloom.

The significant figures assembled by Mr. Blake show that excluding 18 cities in the State of Maine which are classed as industrial, Maine has approximately an average of only 1,000 people per county since 1850. Excluding Aroostook county, which is practically devoted entirely to agriculture, the other 15 counties show an average loss in population per county from 1860 of approximately 3,700.

More significant than this, however, is the disproportionate increase of population has been increasing very slowly, its valuation has mounted by leaps and bounds, heavily increasing the per capita tax.

While the population increased but 10.6 per cent between 1900 and 1920, the valuation increase for the same period is 89 per cent. A study of conditions in Maine between 1900 and 1920 makes it difficult to understand whence arises this marked increase in valuation.

For instance there are nearly 100,000 acres less of improved farm lands in the State today than there were in 1850 and from the year 1900 to the year 1920 there has been a reduction in improved lands of over 17 per cent.

Likewise the number of farms operated decreased from 60,015 in 1910 to 43,227 in 1920, a total of 11,788, or 19.6 per cent. This meant an average decrease of 1,179 farms per year, 98 per month, or 3 1/4 per day. The number of acres farmed decreased with proportionate swiftness. In 1910 there were 6,296,859 acres of farm land, and in 1920 there were 5,425,968 acres—a decrease of 870,891, or 13.8 per cent, an average decrease of 7,089 acres per year.

While the acreage of farm lands was decreasing, the mortgages on farms were steadily mounting. The amount of mortgages on Maine farms increased from $11,738,529 in 1910 to $18,595,225 in 1920—a total of $6,856,696. The average mortgage debt per individual farm increased from $345 in 1910 to $1,506 in 1920—a total of $661. That this decrease in acreage and increase of indebtedness was unnecessary is indicated by the fact that Maine is capable of producing, and produces more yellow corn per acre than either Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska or New Jersey, which are famous wheat producing states. Likewise it produces more oats per acre than Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, or New Jersey.

The low value of farm lands in Maine, as compared with other agricultural states, is another significant fact which the State Chamber has brought out in its survey. In Maine this value is approximately $21 per acre, while the average of the same class of land throughout the United States is $57 per acre. Land values in other states as compared with Maine farm land values may be gathered by the following statistics: Ohio's average of farm land valuation per acre is $85; Wisconsin's $73; Illinois's $109; Indiana's $104; Michigan's $50; Minnesota's $2; Iowa's $19; Missouri's $73; Nebraska's $78; New Jersey's $61.

Unfortunately the industries of Maine have not fared much better than agriculture in the last several years, as State Chamber of Commerce figures also show. Out of more than 2,800 industrial organizations in the State of Maine more than 1,000 reported a combined deficit of over $9,000,000 in income for the year 1921.

Advocates of Beer and Wine Will Work in the November Election.

Plans for an organized campaign to increase the ranks of beer and wine advocates in Congress were announced in Washington Tuesday by the association against the prohibition amendment.

Declaring a fighting machine already had been put into operation in every state, the announcement presented a preliminary list of 202 candidates for the Senate and House, who are to receive the support of the organization in the fall election.

Members of both the Republican and Democratic parties appear on the list of acceptables and in some cases the names of two opposing candidates are given. In such instances, the announcement said, the tendency will be to favor the incumbent.

LIST OF RADIO STATIONS

Copies of the new list of Commercial and Government Radio Stations of the United States, edition June 30, 1922, will soon be ready for distribution and may be procured from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. at 15 cents per copy. The new list of Amateur Radio Stations of the United States will be ready for distribution about the same time or a few weeks later. The price of this publication is also 15 cents per copy. A list of the broadcasting stations in operation on June 30 last will be included in the first-named publication. The list of experimental stations, technical and training school stations, and special amateur stations (special land stations) will be in both publications.—Scientific American.

STATE'S VALUATION

Expected To Show Increase Despite Depreciated Livestock.

It is expected that the new valuation of the State will show an increase but probably not as great as two years ago, when nearly $60,000,000 was added to the valuation. Chairman Clement S. Stetson of the board of State assessors makes this prediction and bases it on two facts.

The 80th Legislature passed a law to tax shares of bank stock directly from this department," said Mr. Stetson. "This law takes this whole matter out of the hands of local assessors and therefore out of the State valuation. As there is about $10,000,000 bank stock in the State the valuation is lowered by so much at the outset."

"Livestock in Maine has depreciated in amount and also in value noticeably within the last two years," continued Mr. Stetson. "There are at least 25,000 fewer cows in Maine now than in 1920. Whereas the average value of a cow two years ago was $50, it is now about $35. A similar situation prevails in all classes of livestock."

Questioned as to the reason for this slump, Mr. Stetson declared he believed it mainly due to the failure of the hay crop in 1921. "Hay last year averaged $40 a ton," said Mr. Stetson, "and much of it was poor quality; grain was also high and people were forced to sell their stock."

Real estate valuation should show some increase in the opinion of Mr. Stetson.

The board of State assessors began Tuesday the task of revising the valuation of the State, the revision to stand for the years 1923 and 1924. The law provides that the board shall each two years make revaluation of all property, real and personal in the State, after it shall have collected all possible information and data concerning the same.

Hearings are held by the State board every year in every county at which the local assessors present such information in regard to their respective towns and cities as they have obtained. In addition to meeting the local assessors, the State board meets the owners and managers of most of the larger industries and business, has inspected a large number of farm properties and has visited some portions of the State's ten million acres of wild lands.

Having amassed the data, the task before the State assessors is to equalize the valuation, including personal property, so as to insure taxation upon as just and equitable a basis as may be. Chairman Stetson states his belief that the board has more and better information this year than ever before and will accordingly be enabled to make more rapid progress. He expects the work will occupy about six weeks.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Labor measures will have a strong champion in the new Senate in the person of Clyde H. Smith of Skowhegan, one of the State senators elect from Somerset county. As a member of the last Maine House of Representatives, Mr. Smith championed the bill providing a 48 hour week for women and children in place of the present 54 hour provision, and expects to renew efforts in the same direction at the coming session of the Legislature. He also plans to introduce an old age pension act.

Thursday evening the Armory presented a pretty scene with its autumnal decorations and blaze of lights when the Silent Sisters gave their harvest ball dance. The feature of the evening was the balloon waltz, large quantities of confetti and many colored balloons being thrown from the balconies and causing much merriment among the large number of dancers.

A delicious lunch was served at intermission. The first prize was awarded to Albert Osgood. Music was furnished by the Arion Orchestra. Will the holder of the second ticket, No. 10, please call at the store of E. C. McIntosh and receive the prize.

Herbert F. Raymond died very suddenly at his home Tuesday. He was born in Vinalhaven, the son of Dura and Louise (Bennet) Raymond and his age was 56 years, 7 months and 4 days. Mr. Raymond was a farmer, an honest upright man. He also has served on the board of selectmen of this town. He is survived by his wife, sisters, Mrs. Levi Anthony, Mrs. Chris Holbrook and Mrs. Anna Philbrook; also two brothers, William of Virginia and Ezekiel of the West. Services were held at the home Friday.

Kenneth Black leaves Monday for Clarion, Pa., where he has employment.

Mrs. Langtry Smith entertained the Pals Wednesday evening at her home. A fine luncheon was served.

The subject of the lesson sermon next Sunday at the 10:30 service of the Christian Science Society, will be "Probation After Death."

"FIRST STOP, LADY"

By MYRTA ALICE LITTLE.

(© 1922, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Little Mrs. Lane shaded her eyes from the bright sunlight that flared against the car windows, and tried to discover whether the jolly train was really nearing the station, or just halting for nothing. If only daughter had told the timid little traveler how long the trip to the city was.

Trembling fingers drew a letter from a worn bag. Her spectacled eyes, swaying to the motion of the train, read: "Mumie Dearest: Hal has broken our engagement or he let me break it. I'm lonely and hurt, and I need you. I want to lay my head in your lap and have you tell me why he did it. I care so much, Mumie, and I can't understand. I would come to you, but there's my position. And I promised to tell you if I needed you. Just get on the morning train and get off at the first stop. It's a big place. You can't miss it. First stop, and I'll meet you at Track 9. I'll expect you Tuesday. MAIDA."

The white head bent lower over the trim black dress, bobbed a bit from side to side, pillowed itself against the red velvet cushions. The blue eyes quivered shut. Little Mrs. Lane was asleep.

Then came a terrific jolt, a crashing bang of noise, and the train stopped. The door and both iron gates were open, and the brakeman stood on the ground at the right.

"Is Benton the first stop, sir?" quavered the weak little voice.

"First stop, m' lady," shouted the brakeman, signaling forward.

So there was not a moment to lose. Mrs. Lane mustered all of her courage and climbed down the steps at the left, and stood, a frightened little figure on the ground that crunched with cinders beneath her feet. The train moved out. So this was the "big place," but there was nothing in it.

Over the brown open country trotted a white horse drawing a buggy. A man was driving. He came nearer the patch of cinders, sighted Mrs. Lane, stopped, got down and began speaking as a woman might speak to a child.

"How's this? Lost out on the ranch? Well! well! We'll have to see about this."

Then little Mrs. Lane poured forth a part of her tale to him, about her daughter in Benton sending for her and the train's first stop, and the girl's not being there to meet her, and her being afraid, and would he please tell her how to find her daughter.

"You'd better come over to my shack, first, little lady," said the man. "You've got off some 20 miles by rail this side of Benton."

"And it isn't Benton? I didn't get off right? He meant the next stop was Benton, and he didn't call this a stop at all?" trembled the puzzled voice. "This ain't no place at all, sir?"

The man smiled. "It's not your fault. Get into this rig here and I'll drive you over to the shack, give you some tea and get word to your daughter somehow, and we'll take the next train. How's that?"

Over the tea the little guest's confidence increased in feeble wisps. But her wonderings about Maida grew and she voiced them.

"She's such an independent girl, sir, is Maida," she quavered. "She's never willing to rest too hard on other folks. I expect that's the trouble with the man that let her give him up. I ain't never seen him. But likely he decided that she was unfeeling when she was tryin' to be strong for the two of 'em. Ain't you drinkin' no tea, sir? 'Twould steady your nerves, mayhap. Maida Lane is what I call a thoroughbred, so to speak, if she is my girl!"

The man sprang to his feet. "I'll tell you what I'll do, little lady," he said. "I'll take my car and drive you into town the short cut over the hills."

The old eyes lightened. "You're awful kind to a stranger," said Mrs. Lane. "I was coming on track 9."

"Glad to help you get there. Lonesome out here. Came out myself to forget."

During the drive the man was silent. The little lady dozed among the cushions he had piled for her. Just as they came in sight of the station she awoke. And surely that was Maida walking briskly toward track 9. The man's halloo stopped her, but she evidently saw her mother before she saw him. She rushed toward her and took her in her arms.

"I got off at the wrong place, but it was the first stop. He's been awful good to me," said the mother. "I don't know his name."

Then Maida looked, gave a sharp little cry and her pride and control gave way in one swift instant. But the man's arms were already about her.

"I was a brute not to understand when you wouldn't kiss me that night and when you sent me home and told me to stay. I do understand now. Don't tell me. But I thought you didn't care, Maida—so I—"

"Care?" cried Maida. "If I told you how much I cared I'd have crumpled all up in a heap and cried forever."

"So you built your wall of ice and stayed behind it. Your mother made me see."

At first the little lady in black had been puzzled. But slowly her eyes grew bright.

"So I did get off at the right place, dearie, after all?" she whispered.

"The first stop was the right one, Mumie," Maida breathed. "The only one the gods would let you make."

Who Pays the Fiddler?

There is an old saying that "Those who dance must pay the fiddler." The same thought applies to other things as well.

For example, we have here a homelike community which we all appreciate and enjoy. But what would happen to our pleasant community if we all stopped replenishing the fund out of which the expense of upkeep is taken? Our community would soon go to rack and ruin so that we should be ashamed to call it our own.

For every dollar that is sent out of town, somebody has to pay more taxes, because that dollar has gone to do its work elsewhere. The dollar spent with a local dealer pays its share of the cost of local improvements, helps to reduce your taxes and to make your home enjoyable.

QUARRY AND KILN

Some Peppy Points From Clark's Bi-Weekly Concerning the Lime Industry.

QUARRIES—Business in flats seems to be good at present. Four flats a day, exclusive of Thomaston was the schedule last week. A small slide occurred at hard rock 1 Sunday of last week, breaking an iron delivery pipe on its way down, which was the only damage done. About 15 drags of dirt went in.

ROCKPORT—No. 9 kiln filled out for repairs last Wednesday. Zeb Knight left for Ripogenus Saturday night, for a week or ten days, with a hunting party. What have been known as the "old gas kilns" are being demolished. These kilns were erected about 18 years ago, but have not been operated since the first three years after their erection. The new bridge opened for traffic Wednesday of last week. The settlement of an estate made it possible for the corporation to acquire a small strip of land, so that this short distance haul could be accomplished. The bridge is a great convenience and a labor and time saver. "Ad" Payson with his two-horse dump car was the first team to cross. The upper bridge has been taken down, the tabernacle moved, and new walks made on eastern side of pier. While the work was in progress Western Wall slipped an fell from bridge into the water, getting a good ducking but otherwise uninjured. About the last man to cross this bridge was H. Robbins, who sustained considerable damage to his leg when it went through while he was passing over and was extricated with difficulty.

MILLS—George Dewey Tripp and Byron Small are new men added to mill crews. Foreman Knights completes a two weeks' vacation this week, part of which was spent in Boston and vicinity. Installation of mixer is about completed. It has been placed back of digester on first floor in mill 2, where the mixing and bagging will be done. The hopper mixer at the second floor, where the hair picker and other parts will be situated. Night watchman Jimmy got through Saturday and sails for Italy Sunday. With the departure of Jimmy the night watch at mills will be suspended, the new Yale locks and watchman Tower attending to the watching.

POINT—All the kilns are now on hard rock. Repairs on No. 4 kiln finished last Friday and the kiln is filled for operation. Frank Chiles returned to work last week as jobber and spare kiln man. He has been out for a long time on account of sickness. William Stone, machine tender in cooper shop has quit. William Staples takes his job and Bill Young, Jr. goes from shed to the cooper shop. Walter Strout has been out with foot injury received while unloading heads and A. Hastings with blood poisoning resulting from hand injury received while loading hoops. Production ran pretty good the past two weeks, with totals of 4,653 and 4,728½ for the four kilns. Two or three days of what Jake calls "that dam red stuff" cut down the figures somewhat. No. 5 had one good week with a total of 1,446½, which is nearly up to high record mark.

L. R. R.—The track snow plow is in the repair shop, being made ready for action. Frank Smith, recently of the gas kilns, joined the Tibbets crew last week as section man and spare brakeman. Herbert Robishaw is firing for James L. on the quarry train. He takes the place of Walter Rogers, who is now registered as spare brakeman. H. Tibbets' section crew is getting ready for winter by ditching and lifting track. During the past season 1,500 new cedar ties have been put in and five sets of new leads put in with hard pine ties. Eugene I went on the main line Wednesday of last week, in charge of Engineer Jesse Smith and Fireman Jack Dow. This engine has been thoroughly rebuilt during its seven months' sojourn in the machine shop and is practically as good as new. Austin Huntley returned from his auto trip to Massachusetts safe and sound, which was quite remarkable, as Austin claims his machine hit up 70 miles an hour on some of the good stretches of road. He attended the Brockton fair one day and had his fortune told.

FIVE KILNS—Arthur Marks moved from Water street to Crescent street. Barge 702 docked Wednesday morning to load, and will go to the Point to finish. Kiln 5 attracted a lot of attention Monday, it having been gaily decorated with bunting Sunday night to celebrate the big week's work of this kiln. Last week's average production per kiln was 1,109½ barrels each. The figures are: No. 2, 1,045; No. 3, 1,153; No. 4, 1,069; No. 5, 1,171½. Can you beat it?—No. 5 kiln, heretofore known as the "coffee pot," has been rededicated. It will hereafter be known as the "perculator." The reason for this is the high production record last week of 1,171½ barrels, which is beyond any previous figure for this kiln. No. 5 is the smallest kiln on the line and due credit for its remarkable performance should be given the crew in charge, who are Charles Nystrom, Ed Smart and John Flagg. No extra fireman had to be put on, either.

GAS KILNS—Frank Smith, who has been in charge of the rock hoist since installation, has resigned. James Seavey has his position as button presser and a lot of other things. Foreman Bert Smith has bought the Fullerton residence, 160 Pleasant street, and has moved it. Supt Packard completes his two weeks' vacation this week, part of which he spent in auto trips around the State, visiting friends and relatives and seeing the sights. Foreman Bert Smith had charge during his absence.

BY PRODUCTS—Ralph Doherty is running a crane at the Clark Island quarries. A party of 20 fellow workmen gave Foreman Rosario Timpane of the Gregory a farewell reception at the Boston boat, when he left on his trip to Italy last week. SOUTH THOMASTON

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark, who have been on an extended visit with relatives in Union, returned home recently and have since visited their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Foster, in Camden.

Mr. and Mrs. Lendon Jackson of Rockland were callers at the Morgan home Sunday.

Mrs. George Green has gone to Lynn, Mass., for the winter, where she will stay with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Hodson. Mr. Green and Mrs. Lizette Rollins will remain here until sometime in November.

The O. E. S. party, given in Sleeper's hall last Friday night, was a pleasant affair and was remarkably well attended.

Donations are still coming in for the memorial bridge. This week thanks are due Al. Dean of Portland for $10 and Fred Allen and Eugene Harrington, town, each $5. A donation has also been handed the treasurer by Harry French of Rockland, which to say the least is very much appreciated and the donor has the gratitude of all concerned.

Plans are in progress for another trip to the big woods for big game by Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln McEae, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Boody, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Witham and Mr. and Mrs. L. Newton Morgan. Oct. 29 is the date set for the departure.

Byron Wotton has purchased the Alexander homestead and Mrs. Alexander has been in town this week disposing of her household furnishings.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bassick recently. Owing to inclement weather only a small number of those planning to attend were present but the report was a most cordial reception by our newly wedded couple who are also new neighbors. A very pretty clock was presented the couple which was set in motion by another recent bridegroom, Charles Graves. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wiggin, who have been guests of Mr. Wiggin's father, attended the Farm Bureau meeting in Warren Wednesday.

A meeting for the making of Betties is to be held in Grange hall Wednesday, Nov. 1. All those desiring Betties made will confer with Mrs. Bertha Holbrook at least a week before the meeting as material has to be ordered for them.

Mrs. James Woodbury Tripp of New York has been the guest of relatives in town after having visited at her former home in Bucksport. Mr. Tripp, who is an Episcopal pastor, has a new pastorate in New York State to which they are moving.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Wiggin of North Jay, who have been visiting his mother in South Thomaston, left on Tuesday night's boat to visit in Newbury, Mass.

John Deane and family with guests of Biddeford are in town for two weeks at their summer home on Church street. They are passing the time fishing and hunting.

WALDOBORO

Miss Gertrude Newbert of Jefferson has been the guest of her sister Miss Annie O. Well.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Stinson of Wisconsin were in town Monday.

Van B. Hagerman has returned from a trip to Canada.

Mrs. Augusta Achorn, who has been in Sheepscot several weeks, returned Tuesday.

Mrs. Brainerd R. Winchenbach of South Waldoboro has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Oldis this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll T. Cooney arrived from New York Tuesday and motored back in their car which they had left at "Glenhurst" on their return after the summer season.

A chicken supper will be served in the Old Fellows Hall for the benefit of the Methodist Church Thursday night, Oct. 26. These suppers are always a source of joy and net the church a comfortable sum of money.

Mrs. Annie Emley, who has spent the summer here, returned to New York Monday.

Glenwood Creamery of Whitesville, Mass., is visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. George Poore and Miss Edna Young motored to Belfast last week.

A set of attractively bound books containing the history of the 21st Maine Regiment has been received at the library. Company A, the first full company of this regiment at Augusta, was organized in Waldoboro. The officers were: captain, Isaac W. Comery; first lieutenant, Aaron W. Wallace; second lieutenant, Daniel W. Demuth.

The citizens of Waldoboro procured regulation uniforms for these officers by Hon. Isaac Reed on the camp ground at Augusta. This company was mustered into the United States service Oct. 13, 1862. Capt. Isaac Comery was mustered Senior Captain of the regiment, having previously declined a commission in the navy, discharged with his regiment after having conducted and lived to be over ninety years of age. Sanford T. Gentner, who died last week at the age of eighty-one, was with this regiment from 1861 to 1864. As accurately as can be learned only one member of this regiment resides in Waldoboro at the present time. George Vose served with the regiment, was discharged with regiment, re-enlisted in Co. F, 14th Maine, was promoted corporal and served until end of war.

COLLINSVILLE
Howard Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Collins called on friends and relatives in Camden and Rockport last Sunday.

NORTH HOPE

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Perry have received a letter from their son, L. H. Perry, who started from Camden in his scallop boat, the Nina and Ida, Oct. 7, bound for New York, that he arrived Monday, Oct. 16. He made the trip the first of August in a smaller boat in 51 hours, but this time had weather conditions, both wind and fog, made several delays. Mrs. L. H. Perry and two children and Ida (Perry) Wentworth and her two children started for New York by auto Oct. 7, arriving at their destination safely Oct. 11. Capt. Perry and family have located at Highlands, N. J., and he will scallop down the Jersey coast about a four hour run from New York city, which is his market.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wentworth motored to Livermore Sunday. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips while there.

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Perry and Donald Perry were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Tiffany, Camden, Sunday.

Loring Athearn has returned from a gunning trip among the islands of Penobscot Bay.

Miss Thelma Fish is working for Mrs. George Athearn, who has been quite ill. We are glad to hear she is better.

Appleton Grange is invited to visit Hope Grange Oct. 21.

Who has lost a part Collie dog? He has white fore legs and hind feet, white on neck and tip of tail. Most of the rest of his body is tan mixed with black. He followed A. I. Perry home from Camden Sunday and nothing would induce him to go back or leave since he came. Word has been sent to the owner of the lost Collie advertised in Tuesday's Courier-Gazette, but no investigation has been made. This dog wears a collar with no name on it.

EAST UNION

Will Lothrop of Deering, was a guest of his sister, Mrs. Rebecca Davis recently.

Miss Christina Welina, cook at Beaver Camp, has returned to her home in New Jersey after a brief visit with Mrs. Lottie Wellman.

Mrs. Priscilla Young of Warren, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Young. E. C. Payson and family were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Payson.

Eugene Stubbs and bride are occupying at present his home at this place. A dress form meeting was held in the Grange hall Oct. 17 under the supervision of Miss C. E. Herick, Home Demonstration Agent of Warren and a very satisfactory amount of work was accomplished. Miss Herick gave an instructive talk on the good work being done by the women's committee of the Farm Bureau.

John Deane and family were present at this meeting and a branch of the Farm Bureau was organized in the interest of the Home Demonstration work with the following committee: Chairman, Mrs. Jennie Payson; secretary, Mrs. Mary F. Robbins; clothing project leader, Mrs. Mary Payson; food project leader, Mrs. Bertha Esany; household project leader, Mrs. Maud Wellman. The next meeting will be held Oct. 24 and the first meeting for 1923 will be held Jan. 9.

GLENMERE

Mrs. Washburn and Mrs. Covall entertained Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith Sunday by motoring through the country, stopping at Unity and Jefferson. A very pleasant time was reported.

Rev. and Mrs. Howes are attending the Sunday school convention in Augusta this week.

Eugene Smith has had the telephone installed in his house—line 9; ring 23. Donald Watts has employment in Portland.

Miss Edith Harris has returned from New Hampshire, where she has had employment this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Daggett are spending a few weeks at their home, which they recently purchased of Allen H. Bond, before returning to Massachusetts for the winter.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets
If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—your face is sallow—feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for cod liver oil—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like cod liver oil yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

MONTHS OF SUFFERING

How a Baltimore Girl Recovered Her Health

Baltimore, Maryland.—"For several months I suffered with severe backache and general weakness. I could not sleep comfortably at night for pains in my back. I found your book at home one day and after reading it began at once to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very good results and some of my girl friends are taking it now. You may use this letter to help other girls, as the letters in your book helped me."—ROSE WADSWORTH, 3018 Roseland Place, Baltimore, Md.

That is the thought so often expressed in letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These women know what they have suffered, they describe their symptoms and state how they were finally made well. Just plain statements, but they want other women to be helped.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine made from medicinal roots and herbs, and without drugs, to relieve the sickness women so often have, which is indicated by backache, weak feelings, nervousness, and no ambition to get anything done or to go anywhere. It has helped many women. Why not try it?

SHIPBROKER IS FREED

Capt. Osgood A. Gilbert Swears That He Knew Nothing About Rum Running.

Osgood A. Gilbert of 75 State street, where he is engaged as a ship broker, was discharged Wednesday by United States Commissioner Hayes following several hearings, although he had been indicted by the Federal Grand Jury of New York with 15 others.

The charge against Capt. Gilbert was that he was engaged in a conspiracy with the 15 others in chartering the steamer Karona and clearing from New York for Piraeus, Greece, with a cargo of alcohol, and that the steamer went around to Long Island Sound, where the cargo was transferred to the barges City of Boston and City of Malden and brought back to New York.

Capt. Gilbert testified that he is a master mariner and that he, as a ship broker, hired the two barges as he had supposed to engage in the oyster shell business, and that he had no knowledge of the intent of the others indicted to engage in illegal business in transporting liquor. Commissioner Hayes believed the captain's story and discharged him.—Boston Globe.

SOUTH WARREN

Mrs. Olive Gray was the guest of Mrs. Rose Marshall Tuesday.

Horace Leonard is home from Parmachenee Lake where he has been the past season. He and his sister, Mrs. Laura Copeland, are now on a pleasure trip to New York. On his return he will be employed as chef at the Thorndike.

L. B. Wood and wife were guests Sunday of Mrs. Grace McFarland in Union.

The bridge is finished and travel is resumed once more.

W. K. Jordan and Charles Maxey attended Topham Fair. Mr. Maxey enjoyed a flight in an airplane while there.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hatch, who are visiting at John Spear's celebrated their wedding anniversary Wednesday evening by a trip to Camden, followed by the guests of Mrs. Hatch's brother, Ray Spear.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Spear have employment in the shoe shop in Warren Village.

Good Will Grange annual fair will be held on Wednesday Oct. 25, afternoon and evening. Articles to go on sale at 1 p. m. There will be a baby show in the afternoon. Supper will be at 6 p. m. and there will be a dance in the evening.

C. E. Overlock is making many improvements on his buildings. John Spear is doing the carpenter work and Capt. A. D. Chadwick of Thomaston the painting.

Master George Bucklin of Thomaston is stopping with his grandparents, Capt. and Mrs. L. R. Bucklin, during his mother's absence in New York.

The boat house on the opposite bank of the river is a fine looking building 84ft. x 40ft. and 14ft. posts. More will be added to the main building later on.

TENANT'S HARBOR

H. F. Kallach was the recipient of many pretty birthday greetings from the members of the church circle and other friends on his eightieth birthday, Oct. 18.

Mrs. Fernie Rice and son Richard, and Mrs. Josephine Phinney have returned to Boston after spending several months with Mrs. Rice's parents, Capt. and Mrs. R. R. Pierson. After visiting friends and relatives in Boston a few weeks, Mrs. Rice will return to her home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Elmer Allen was one of the Topham fair sports also, his name being omitted in the previous list of names reported.

The Baptist Ladies' Circle will hold an all day session in the church parlor next Tuesday, Oct. 24, each lady to bring one cooked article. A quilting party will be the principal work of the day. Every woman who is interested in the success of the Circle, whether a member or not, will be received with hospitality. Do not stay away because you cannot quilt, there is plenty of other needlework to do, or if you cannot sew at all, come prepared to assist in the culinary department.

SILK EMBROIDERED CLOTH

A quiet and rich straight-line dress that will please the matron, especially if she is stout and likes long lines—is made of a smooth-faced cloth and embroidered in silk in two colors, one of them matching the dress. Its sleeves are uneven at the wrist and faced with crepe de chine to above the elbow.

SOME MEASURE OF SUCCESS

Collector Got His Half of Debt, but Creditor Is Wondering Where He Comes In.

A Vancouver man tells of a sea captain who, ashore, makes his home in that city, and who had loaned a sum of money to a neighbor. The latter, after the loan was a year or two old, made no effort to pay it.

Now, the captain began to look up on the debt as a bad one, indeed. On one occasion, however, upon his return from a voyage, he heard of a debt collector noted for his ability to extract money from such delinquents. Accordingly, the captain called upon this collector and advised of the circumstances.

"If," said the skipper, "you can collect that debt, I'll give you half of it."

The collector promised that the thing would be done. The captain sailed away on another voyage, and, on his return, sought out the collector again. "Any success with that bill?" he asked.

"Well," said the collector, "I haven't collected the whole of it; but I did collect my half. He hasn't paid me a cent since. I keep after him, but it's just as you said when you gave me the bill—he hasn't any conscience about it."

Modeling in Rags.

It was the fashion of a little time ago to think scorn of the woolwork screens, the paper flowers, or the wax figures made by the women of the past, but now they are eagerly sought and added to collections of articles illustrating home life.

History repeats itself, and to this busy athletic age has come a wave of the old finger-work fashion. Rags it was pictures made with feathers, now it is little figures made from latex. These last were the idea of Mme. Volkoff, nee Princess Troubetskoy, formerly of the Russian imperial court, when at Petrograd, where the little figures were sold for the benefit of Russian soldiers. Since Mme. Volkoff has been in England she has modeled little statues of well-known people, all in characteristic attitude and lifelike appearance. Odd pieces of rag have been manipulated to make these charming little figures, which vie with the paper modeling and the wax groups of the past.—Christian Science Monitor.

Breaking a Land-Clearing Record.
A total of 18,000 acres of land in Marinette county, Wisconsin, were cleared during the season of 1920. This is a record, and the increase will represent at least $1,000,000 a year in crops. The closing of the task was marked by a great blast of an acre of stumps near Wausaukee. At this point 158 sticks of dynamite were set off simultaneously as an electric impulse was transmitted by a presiding official who closed a switch. A land clearing school and 57 educational meetings were part of the campaign that made their efforts so successful, and explosives to the extent of 14 carloads were used in the undertaking.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

White Gold as Platinum.
It is an easy matter for the metallurgist to make an alloy with gold as a basis that has all the appearance of platinum and in London, recently, a great many persons have been "taken in" by the composition, paying platinum prices for jewelry afterwards found to be an inferior material.

For Japanese Women.
An important advance toward the emancipation of Japanese womanhood was made recently when the house of representatives in Tokyo adopted a bill granting women the right to attend political meetings.

TAKE HER ON YOUR LAP.
The marriage ceremony reads: "To have and to hold."
Well? If some men would hold their wives occasionally they'd have 'em longer.

TRUE.

—Tit-Bits.

Objection Sustained.
"But, my love, it was only a little game of poker."
"Didn't it last all night long and wasn't it still going on when you left at daybreak?"

"Why—er—yes."
"And you call that a 'little' game. I wish you had the same idea about giving me money to run the house with."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Considerate Woman.
Hostess—Now, professor, I want you to have numerous platinissimo passages in your selections for the musical.

Professor Pounder—You are fond of the sentimental, then?
Hostess—Not especially; but my guests will want to hear themselves talk once in a while.—Boston Transcript.

An Expert.
"Who's the editor of your 'Advice to Lovers' column?"
"The fat man over there at the corner desk who is smoking a pipe."

"Umph! What does he know about heart affairs?"

Soft Melodies.
"Why are angels always represented as playing on harps?"
"Probably," replied Miss Cayenne, "to keep our minds as far as possible from thoughts of the customary music provided by a phonograph in an adjacent flat."

In the First Person.
"This typewriter!"
"Formerly belonged to a celebrated pugilist. He fought many a battle on this machine."

You can see that by the battered condition of the letter 'I'.

AMONG BEADED BLOUSES

One of those pretty crepe de chine blouses with a rich embroidery of bugle beads, that are with us in force this fall, is shown here.

The women of the two counties have been organized less than a year, they have accomplished a great deal of work. Miss Claire Herrick, the home demonstration agent, is very active and is receiving fine co-operation among the women in all the organized communities. Within the 10 months 116 dress forms were made at a net saving of $98.61. The number of garment patterns made was 112, value $112; hats remodeled, 71; and 10 new hats were made, net saving $254.55; fireless cookers made, 16; total cost, $415.71; food calendars started, 716 fruit and vegetable demonstrations completed, 39; milk demonstrations completed 39.

Speakers in the afternoon session were Arthur L. Deering, state leader of county agents, and A. L. T. Cummings, agricultural editor, University of Maine. County Agent Wentworth and Miss Herrick, home demonstration agent, reported for their committees the following proposed programs of work for next year, both of which were unanimously adopted:

Accounts: farm and poultry accounts, farm survey.

Clubs: Boys and Girls' agricultural and home-making club work, county contests.

Crop: Manure supplementary demonstrations, milk testing circles, "better sires" campaign.

Orcharding: Pruning and fertilization demonstrations.

Poultry: Poultry management, selection of breeders, demonstrations in canning, killing and dry-picking.

Clothing: Dress forms, foundation patterns, clothing construction, millinery.

Household management: Household accounts, home conveniences.

Foods: Nutrition, demonstrations.

FARM BUREAU FACTS

Annual Meeting of Knox-Lincoln Association a Live One—Year's Progress Summarized.

Warren, Oct. 19.—If the members of the Knox and Lincoln Farm Bureau have their way, Maine will not affiliate with the American Farm Bureau Federation. Their reason for taking a negative view of the matter is their belief that the present plan of conducting the Farm Bureau affairs, in close co-operation with the College of Agriculture extension service, is entirely satisfactory, and that to disturb it in any way when so much progress is being made would be unwise.

This question was under discussion here yesterday, at the annual meeting of the Knox and Lincoln organization, in every other county in Maine it will also come up for consideration this fall, the action of a majority of the bureau of the State to settle the question of whether Maine shall affiliate with the national organization. The vote taken was almost unanimously negative.

At the annual election of officers of the bureau, which was the concluding action at the meeting, these were chosen: President, R. P. Conant, Rockland; vice president, E. B. Denny, Damariscotta; secretary-treasurer, John N. Giddens, Newcastle; leader in crops project, W. C. Swift, Thomaston; of dairy project, A. M. Mayo, Thomaston; of poultry project, H. N. Wheeler, Camden; of farm accounts, C. N. Light, Waldoboro; of orcharding, W. P. Young, of boys' and girls' clubs in Knox county, H. H. Nash, Camden; of clubs in Lincoln county, E. M. Johnson, Waldoboro; of household management, Mrs. W. P. Young, Camden; of foods, Mrs. W. A. Vannab, Winslow's Mills; of clothing project, Mrs. H. H. Nash, Camden.

The meeting was held in Glover hall. In the early forenoon the solicitors in the membership campaign got together and discussed with County Agent Ralph C. Wentworth and Arthur L. Deering, state leader of county agents in the College of Agriculture extension service, ways and means of enrolling new members and securing new.

The solicitation of members was begun today and will be kept up intensively for a week. The present membership in the two counties is 661. In 18 communities there are 224 women enrolled, and in 15 communities 437 men have been connected with the bureau this year and taken part in its activities.

The annual reports of the officers and project leaders showed that the year just nearing an end has been a period of progress and accomplishment in agricultural and home economic development in the two counties. These reports were submitted at the afternoon session, following a dinner served by the women of Warren range.

In the poultry project, 41 culling demonstrations have been held, in which 2244 hens were examined and 539 of them culled. As a result of these demonstrations poultrymen in the two counties examined 15,993 hens from which 5329 were culled as unprofitable layers and were marketed as poultry. Twenty-four members of the bureau have selected 2474 of their best birds for breeding purposes.

In the orchard work 24 pruning demonstrations were held on 24 farms and as a result 75 men pruned 6550 apple trees. Tests of the use of sodium nitrate as a tree fertilizer were made with satisfactory results. Eleven sprayings of 13 orchards of boys and girls were made and 2474 of their best birds for breeding purposes.

Three demonstrations of use of lime for improving soil land were held and a number of soil tests were made. In club work, 13 clubs of boys and girls were started and they made a fine showing throughout the season.

Through the orchard planting plan 1200 trees were ordered and fully as many orders have been placed for spring delivery next year.

VEGETABLES FORM ESSENTIAL PART OF DIET DURING WINTER

A Good Prescription—Vegetables Every Day in Year.

Vegetables are just as necessary a part of the daily meal as bread, if the body is to be kept strong and healthy. Housekeepers sometimes forget this in winter when fresh vegetables are hard to get and the family is tired of all the kinds on hand. Too often the diet is allowed to become one of the meat-bread-and-potato type, which does not give children all the things they need to make them grow and develop normally, and which is unsatisfactory for adults as well. It needs to be supplemented by plenty of milk, eggs and other vegetables besides potatoes.

Cause of "Tired Feeling."

"Spring fever," or the tired-out feeling that comes at the end of winter, nutrition experts lay to the lack of sufficient fruits and vegetables in the winter diet. Certain it is that many persons have an unusual craving for "greens" in the spring which they probably would not have if meals during the winter included an abundance of vegetables, and when vegetables and fruits are entirely lacking in the late winter, as in some northern regions, severe illness is often noted.

Preparing the familiar kinds of vegetables in more appetizing ways, that are perhaps new to the family and teaching the children to eat kinds that they are prejudiced against are at least two ways in which the housekeeper can solve her problem of what to have for dinner in winter.

Moreover, many persons make the mistake of cooking vegetables too long. This makes those with delicate flavors tasteless, develops strong flavors too much, destroys the agreeable texture of some, causes others to lose their attractive coloring, and in most cases cooks out too large a proportion of the mineral salts, one thing which makes vegetables especially valuable as food. If the strong ones, such as onions, are cooked in a rather large quantity of water in an uncovered vessel, they will have a more delicate flavor. The following ways of cooking some of the winter vegetables are recommended by home economics specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture:

Cabbage has long been a winter standby, but many persons do not like it because it is often cooked until it is a limp, colorless mass. It is generally one of the cheapest of the winter vegetables, and also one of the richest in calcium (lime) and iron, substances that every one needs to keep the body in good working order. It should be boiled only 20 to 30 minutes, in salted water. It may then be seasoned with salt, pepper and butter or cream; or, scalloped with cheese, it makes a substantial dish, suitable for the main dish at lunch or supper.

Scalloped Cabbage and Cheese.

1/2 medium sized 1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter 1/2 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons butter 1/2 cup grated cheese
2 tablespoons flour

Wash the cabbage thoroughly, put it into boiling salted water, and cook for 20 or 30 minutes. Drain it and keep the water in which it has been cooked for use in soup, if desired. Make a white sauce from the butter, flour, milk, salt and pepper, and stir into the grated cheese. In a greased baking dish place alternate layers of the cabbage and sauce, cover the top with bread crumbs that have been combined with a little melted butter or other fat, and bake for 15 minutes or until the crumbs are browned.

Onions are another rich source of body-building mineral substances. To suit most persons they, too, need to be cooked in such a way that their flavor becomes milder rather than stronger. Here is a recipe for an appetizing soup, easy to make and so hearty that with a substantial dessert and plenty of bread and butter, it will be enough for luncheon or supper.

Onion Soup Without Meat.

1 large onion, 1/2 pint milk, half 1/2 tablespoons butter and water and half 1/2 cup milk, or water alone

Salt and pepper as desired.

Peel the onion under water to prevent the volatile substance from getting into the eyes, cut it into small pieces and cook it slowly and carefully in the fat. When the onion is tender increase the heat and brown the onion, stirring it all the time to prevent burning. Add the milk or other liquid and seasoning, bring the soup to the boil, and serve poured over a piece of toasted bread. If desired, especially if no milk is used, sprinkle the toast generously with grated Swiss or American cheese.

AMERICANS' DIETARY STANDARDS CHANGED

People Are Eating Great Deal Less Meat.

Recent Survey Made by Department of Agriculture Shows That More Milk, Butter and Cheese Are Being Consumed.

Whether it is because of the increased cost of meat or because people's tastes have changed, the fact remains that Americans are eating 8 per cent less meat than they were 20 years ago. This is disclosed in a recent dietary survey made by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In this survey 2,000 dietary records, each covering a period of 7 days, were collected from 1,425 families and 575 institutions in 46 states. Sixteen nationalities and many occupations and incomes were represented, as were also both urban and rural localities.

From a summary of 500 of these family records it appears that last year the average cost of food per man per day was 46 cents, with an average return in food value of 3,225 calories, 96 grams protein, 118 grams fat, and 405 grams carbohydrate. These figures are in fairly close accord with the dietary standards ordinarily used in discussing such problems of general nutrition.

A comparison of the foodstuffs purchased by the 500 families with the amounts of the same food purchased by 400 families about 20 years ago shows that the amount of meat in the American diet has decreased about 8 per cent, and the amount of grain products about 11 per cent. People are eating more milk, butter and cheese than they were two decades ago, for the amount of dairy products consumed has increased about 6 per cent. Four per cent more vegetables and 8 per cent more fruit is being eaten now.

Some individual food habits undoubtedly need to be corrected, but, judging by these studies, it seems fair to conclude that the average diet seems to be adequate.

ACID REMOVES ZINC STAINS

Metal Should Be Scoured With Bath Brick and Kerosene, Washed and Wiped Dry.

Zinc darkens with use, but may be brightened by the use of scourers. Zinc on floors, under stoves, and in like places, should be scoured with bath-brick and kerosene, washed and rinsed with water, and wiped dry. Zinc on tables, or wherever likely to come in contact with food, should be scoured with bath-brick and water. Acid, as in vinegar or lemon juice, may be used to remove stains on zinc, but should be thoroughly washed off; otherwise, the zinc will tarnish again very soon.

All Around the House

Cheese pared thinly, smeared with butter and wrapped in a cloth will keep soft in a cool place.

RICH, NEW AND ELEGANT

A very handsome wrap of black duvetine, with a large collar and band trimmings of caracul fur, is pictured here. It will compel many a lingering and longing look from those who appreciate its rich appearance, its elegance and warmth. The sleeves are cut in one piece with the back, and have a very wide flare. Narrow silk bands for trimming emphasize the cape-like lines of the body of the coat.

In Social Circles

In addition to personal notes recording departures and arrivals, the department especially desires information of social happenings, parties, musicians, etc. Notes sent by mail or telephone will be gladly received.

Mrs. Jennie W. Butler, who has been making an extended stay in London with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Richardson, arrived at New York Tuesday as passenger on the steamship President Monroe and is now visiting her sister, Mrs. Mary A. C. Norton, in Norwich, Conn.

Mrs. Ray Erskine and Mrs. Alice Spear were the guests Thursday of William Lash, in Wadsworth.

Mrs. H. V. Tweedie attended the recent New England Missionary Convention in New Haven, Conn. A year ago the same organization held its convention in Rockland, and Mrs. Tweedie heard some very complimentary remarks about it while in New Haven.

Mrs. William W. Graves of Malden, Mass., is making a brief visit with her sister, Miss Annie Blackington. She motored to Rockland with Mr. and Mrs. George Keene, who continued to Orono to visit their son.

Mrs. Carrie Knowlton of Passadumkeag is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Young, Limerock street.

Mrs. Ida Patterson, Miss Reta Patterson, Mrs. Helen Knowlton of Rockland, Mr. and Mrs. John Peers of Camden were guests Sunday of Belfast relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Peers will leave soon for Kentucky, where they will make their home and will be accompanied by Mrs. Knowlton, who will spend the winter with them.—Belfast Journal.

Arthur Lawrence has been home from Bangor for a few days.

Mrs. Perley Damon and Mrs. Albert R. Havener are spending the weekend in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Clafin of Manchester, N. H., this week have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Norris at 7 Talbot avenue and incidentally making motor trips to Bangor and Augusta. Mr. Clafin's skill in verifying led him to depict a number of features of their journey, among them being a spot well known to all who motor in these parts of Maine, of which he says:

Wadsworth Hill is a very steep hill. It's half a mile up and half a mile down. And a good long mile if you skip the town. There stands a cop in the midst of the hill. He makes you stop whenever he will. His gloves are white and his suit is blue. And whatever he says you have just got to do. Wadsworth Hill is steep and it's high. And the top sticks up into the blue sky. I move for a tunnel for Wadsworth Hill. One mile long and we'll make it with skill. We'll light with our headlights as we pass through. And we'll dump the cop in his coat so blue.

Miss Minnie Knight of Lake City, Minn., is visiting relatives in this city and Owl's Head for an indefinite period. She was the guest in this city of her cousin, Mrs. Charles R. Magee.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Peers of Camden leave next week for Ashland, Kentucky, where they will make their home. They will go in their motor car, accompanied by Mrs. Peers' sister, Mrs. Helen P. Knowlton, who will spend the winter with them. Mr. Peers will work at his trade as mechanic in Kentucky.

Mrs. Caroline K. Rowe, who has been the guest of Miss Addie Snow, has returned to her home in Winthrop, Mass.

The Women's Business and Professional Club held a very successful auction party at the home of Dr. Mary E. Reuter, Summer street, Thursday evening. There were nine tables, and prizes were awarded thus: Mrs. J. A. Burpee, toilet water; Miss Maud Knowlton, cards; Mrs. A. S. Black, basket of flowers; Mrs. Samuel A. Burpee, angel cake; Mrs. J. S. Jenkins, apron; Mrs. Arthur Snell, towel; Mrs. George Wooster, towel; Arthur Orne, ash tray; I. J. Shuman, ash tray; J. S. Jenkins, cards; Mrs. F. E. Follett, bowl with bulbs; Mrs. I. J. Shuman, bridge table numbers and Miss Hortense Wilson, vase. Refreshments were served under the supervision of Miss Pearl Bogerson.

Miss Mary Costello left Monday for Somerville, Mass., where she will make a visit of about two weeks.

Charles Dana Gibson, the artist, and his family who spent the season at his country estate on Seven Hundred Acre island, are now at the winter home in New York. They usually remain at the island late in the fall, but returned earlier than usual this year on account of the arrival of a grandson.

Mrs. R. W. Messer of this city and Miss Laura Whitmore of Lynn, Mass., are visiting Miss Fannie Welch in Belfast.

Mrs. W. G. Butman returned Thursday from a two weeks visit with relatives at Round Pond.

Miss Castera Cushman of Brooklyn is visiting her mother, Mrs. Ellen Cushman, Maverick street. Mrs. Cushman will return to Brooklyn with her to spend the winter.

Herbert C. Havener of Denver, formerly of Rockland, was the guest Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. George Sherman. They spent part of the day in Mr. Sherman's Dodge car touring the city, calling on friends and visiting old landmarks.

Mrs. J. F. Cooper, president of Edwin Libby Relief Corps inspected the Union Corps last night, and tonight will perform a similar duty in connection with the Damariscotta Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Beverage are visiting in Providence, while Mr. Beverage is having his annual vacation as cashier of the American Railway Express Co. C. O. Brazier is substituting.

The Past Noble Grand's Association held its regular monthly meeting with Mrs. N. B. Allen, Limerock street, Thursday. The president, Mrs. Lizzie French of this city, presided and gave a very interesting story of the Portland convention. Mrs. Nettie Stewart acted as secretary. There were 17 past noble grands present: Mrs. Eliza Jones of Rockport, Mrs. Finlay Calder of Camden, Mrs. H. Russell of Warrenton, Mrs. Mary Mills of Vinahaven, Mrs. Boyles of Tenants Harbor, Mrs. Nellie Wade, Miss Mabel Hard'g, Mrs. Minnie Clark, Mrs. Lizzie French, Mrs. Helen Clark, Mrs. Nettie Stewart, Mrs.

Fannie Heald, Mrs. Eva Flint, Mrs. Florence Nye and Mrs. N. B. Allen of Rockland and Mrs. Stanley and Mrs. Doliver of Swan's Island. Supper was served at Odd Fellow's hall. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Allen Nov. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Drake, Mrs. Henry Colburn and Miss Elizabeth Colburn leave today for a week's visit in Boston. Miss Colburn is having her annual vacation from the Burpee Furniture Co.'s store.

Miss Mildred Ryan, who has been spending part of her vacation from the Fuller-Cobb-Davis store, at her Lake Megunticook cottage, is now the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Milton W. Weymouth in Pittsfield, N. H.

Mrs. Sherwin Forbes, who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. James Aylward, has returned to Portland.

Mrs. J. W. Oliver entertained the S. S. Club Wednesday evening with an Italian supper. The evening was devoted to cards. Mrs. Josephine Lothrop and Mrs. Charles Wade proved to be the champions, winning every game but one. Mrs. Mildred Moran and Mrs. Agnes Shepherd were presented with booby prizes.

Miss Carrie Fields is making a ten days' visit with Miss Mildred Fields in Boston.

Miss Vernita Whitman is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. W. Nelson, in Sanford.

The Fortnightly Club met with Mrs. N. B. Allen Wednesday afternoon. The hostesses were Mrs. Leroy F. Chase and Mrs. Austin Moody. The prizes were won in the following order: Mrs. Samuel Jenkins, Mrs. Ira J. Shuman, Mrs. Austin Moody and Mrs. Herbert W. Thordike. There were four tables. A buffet lunch was served.

Mrs. B. C. Perry, Jr., is the guest of her mother, Mrs. William R. Kalloch, in Malden, Mass.

Arnold Rogers has returned from his vacation trip to New York.

Charles Copeland of Boston, one of the best known water-color artists of New England, was the guest last week of Hartwell L. Woodcock at his cottage at Lake Umbagog in Seabrook. Mr. Copeland was a former Thomaston man and spent the summer in that town. Although he has been unable to do much work for the past two years on account of illness, says the Belfast Journal, he painted several fine autumn scenes while Mr. Woodcock's guest. Mr. Woodcock now plans to sail for Nassau, N. P., the last of November or the first of December.

Mrs. I. J. Shuman and Mrs. Nellie Dow were prize-winners when the N. M. I. Club played auction at Mrs. C. A. Packard's home this week.

Robert V. Stevenson and daughter Ruth are spending the week in Boston and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Orel E. Davies and Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory left this morning for a fortnight's stay in the big woods bent on having a good time, and getting as much game as may be. They leave their car in Bangor and proceed by train to Wytopitok. From there they travel 13 miles in a motor car to Reed plantation. This is not the journey's end, however, for they have more miles to travel, three of them by canoe.

Thomas J. Fleming has been visiting in Portland this week as part of his vacation from the Fuller-Cobb-Davis store.

The Kallioch Class of the First Baptist church will meet next Monday evening with Mrs. Frank Ulmer, Gurdy street.

Mrs. E. J. Heller and Mrs. Ensign Otis entertained in honor of Mrs. M. Pillsbury of Portland at a sewing party Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Heller's Talbot avenue residence. About a dozen intimate friends sat down to a delightful afternoon, a very pleasant feature being the dainty lunch served by Mrs. Heller's daughters, Misses Alice and Margaret.

Mrs. Harold B. Burgess and Miss Mildred F. Ross entertained eighteen of their friends last evening at Marsh Brook Farm, South Thomaston. A chicken pie supper was served at 7 o'clock, followed by music and dancing. The party adjourned at a late hour satisfied that the evening had been well spent.

The Women's Association of the Congregational church will hold an important meeting Thursday at 3 o'clock in the church parlors. Among the matters to be arranged will be the making of the dates for the circle suppers. All the members are asked to be present.

The Rockland Country Club was the scene Tuesday night of a dinner and entertainment held by the Rockland Teachers' Association. The dining room was tastefully decorated and the dainty place cards were the handiwork of President Ansel B. Sterling. After dinner a delightful evening was spent with the time honored Halloween games and other amusements. This affair took the place of the regular October meeting of the Association and was the most ambitious ever attempted by this progressive organization. It shows the fine spirit of the new president and forecasts an interesting year.

Mrs. H. N. McDougall arrived home yesterday afternoon from a three-weeks absence, a part of which included attendance with Mr. McDougall at the National bankers convention in New York. Mrs. W. S. Rounds and Miss Alice Erskine were her motor guests on yesterday's trip from Portland.

Miss Mary Peabody of Matineus Rock, returns to her home today (Saturday) after spending a week with her sister, Miss Beal at the home of Mrs. Samuel Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Harrison, who have been residents of this city for several months are leaving soon for their home in Rahway, N. J.

Rhodes; secretary, Miss Gladys Jones; treasurer, Miss Lena Lawrence. In addition to these officers committees were appointed to take care of the social, devotional and membership activities. A busy year is planned, with work for local charity as well as many social affairs.

The Jolly Eight were delightfully entertained Wednesday evening by Miss Ruth Rogers at her home on Ambsbury street, this occasion being a surprise on one of the club members, Mrs. Lillian Harrison, who is soon to leave town, and in whose honor a delicious supper was served. The dining room was attractively decorated, the lights arranged to cast a rose glow, calculated to dispel the gloom of fall. An electric doll was the centerpiece. Vocal and instrumental music constituted the program for the evening, and the guests departed at a late hour, having lived up to their name in jollification.

The first of the season's suppers at the Country Club was staged last evening and nearly 70 members sat down to a very fine menu served by Steward's Leach. The decorations were pine and red berries. In the auction that followed the favors were taken by Miss Charlotte Buffum, Mrs. B. B. Smith, Mrs. G. A. Lawrence, Mrs. Horace Lamb, Harold Jackson, Lloyd N. Lawrence, Arthur Lawrence and A. C. McLoon. The evening was in charge of the gentlemen—husbands of the ladies of the house committee—who did the decorations, assisted in serving the supper and rendered themselves generally agreeable. They were Arthur F. Lamb, F. W. Fuller, Homer E. Robinson, W. H. Spear, Elmer C. Davis, M. E. Wotton and Horace E. Lamb.

This is the preliminary season of three-piece suits; for the Paris model makers, in their endeavor to break away from the one-piece chemise dress are renewing the fashion of separate blouses. These blouses, however, for the most part are made in matching material with the jacket and skirt, and thus give the effect of the well known one-piece dress. Lanvin in particular, features these three-piece costumes in wool fabrics, with slipover blouses of the same fabric reaching just to the line of the hips around which they fasten snugly. Renee still favors long, Russian blouse effects, these made in crepe de Chine elaborately embroidered in ribbon and in metal, or in pleated chiffon, fur trimmed and ornamented with buttons. All of the Renee blouses are made with rounded neck line and three-quarter length flare sleeves. Many are tucked or pleated, and button straight down the center of the front from a rounded or straight neck line to the lower edge of the garment. For sport, Chanel features hand knitted wool blouses in slipover styles with pointed neck, worn with or without belts, and just covering the hips. Pockets are a marked feature on sport blouses, also on blouses for tailored wear. Practically all the blouses shown are flat, simple, untrimmed, and like the bodices of one-piece dresses.—Dry Goods Economist.

BLACKINGTON-PYNE

Miss Marion Tresel Pyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Pyne of 24 Cheltry street, Lynn, Mass., and Alton Hall Blackington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller Cook Blackington, 71 Bonair street, Winter Hill, Mass., were married in Jaffrey, N. H., at 12 o'clock Wednesday noon at the parsonage of the Congregational church, by Rev. David C. Torrey.

Miss Pyne graduated from the Lynn Classical High School and Burdett Business College. She is now connected with a New England advertising agency in Boston. She belongs to the line of Aymars, who are descendants of one Jean Aymar, a French Huguenot, who left France at the time of the Edict of Nantes.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS

Are Beginning To Show—Manager Templin Getting Latest and Best Pictures.

With three weeks of day and night work by carpenters, painters and cleaners, Park Theatre begins to take on the appearance of a new creation. The color scheme of both the Empire and Park will be old rose, ivory and gold, with draperies and furnishings to match.

A new lighting system has been installed which eliminates the dark and dingy appearance while shows are in progress, the light being of sufficient strength to enable patrons to find their way and see about them though a soft glow of shaded light.

New safety devices will be installed on all exit doors. The upstairs exits have been rebuilt and made safe for passage. The entire system of wiring has been changed, new picture machines installed and Park Theatre, from down stairs dressing rooms to front lobby, presents a neat and clean appearance. Gas pilot lights for emergency use have also been installed to obviate any inconvenience in the failure of electric power.

The present owners and managers are to be congratulated on providing for Rockland a pleasant, clean, cheerful place in which to be amused and entertained. Manager Templin states that many big pictures are to be shown in the very near future, including "Prisoner of Zenda," "Clarence," "Burning Sands," "Broadway Rose," "Monte Cristo," and others.

After the completion of the remodeling it is planned to have a week of celebration, in which extra fine programs will be shown and consistently maintained.

It may be interesting to Park patrons to know that most pictures now shown are new and the larger productions are presented date and date with Portland and Boston. The response to this plan has been shown by the increased patronage at the Park of late, and the steady growing patrons from Camden and Thomaston.

Manager Templin says: "This is a friendly theatre, and we want our patrons to know that there is an extra long latch string out with 'welcome' on the door mat. Courtesy, cheerfulness, and cleanliness is our creed."

AMONG THE NEW HATS

Three models, as shown here, reveal the distinguishing features of the new season's hats. At the top a wide-brimmed velvet hat bears handsome Japanese aigrettes, set under a jeweled bar across the front. Below it a distinguished hat of metal cloth and velvet illustrates the graceful placing of feather ornaments. A simpler round hat finishes the group. It is made of velvet in two colors.

THE OLD TOBEY HOUSE

Built By Retired Sea Captain More Than Century Ago, and Hale and Hearty in Its Old Age.

Builders of houses are usually very careful to have the foundations run in lines conforming to the nearby highways. If it is placed remote from the highway, the builder usually has the house face one of the cardinal points. But driving from Union toward North Union, after passing Cook's hill, we came to an old house that faces neither the east, south, north nor west, but angularly set, cornerwise to the nearby road. Those of strict obedience to the customary square and compass method wonder why the house is placed in this odd way. But, as it happens, a wise man built this house to satisfy his own inclinations, and as it suited him, we are left to adjust our minds to his manner of doing things.

In 1791, nineteen years after Union was settled, Capt. John Tobeys came to the town. If he built this house that same year—which he doubtless did—it is one of the oldest houses in Union. History tells us he was the son of Samuel and Rebecca (Hatch) Tobeys and was born in Falmouth, Mass., in 1768. He came to Union in 1791 and married Mary West, who was born in Tisbury, Martha's Vineyard. She died in 1832 at the age of 60. In 1835 Capt. Tobeys married Mrs. Melmont Wingate.

Why did Capt. Tobeys build this house in such a unique position? Let us stop in front of the old house and look about. Here we are in view of mountains, hills, broad fields and wooded tracts of land, sectioned here and there with fence lines showing where the first surveys were run and later marking the various owners' pieces of land. Capt. Tobeys from where we stand saw Seven Tree Pond and nearer to his view, one mile away, Round Pond. Tradition says he built this house to get a full view of the water of these two ponds, an opinion generally shared today. Poor man—could the view of the water of these ponds afford the slightest comparison to the grand old ocean that he had sailed for sixty years?

This house is now owned by Delwin Miller. The immense old rafters and beams are of oak. Some of the boards are very wide. In one of the unfinished chambers, when some of the previous owners wanted to make a door, they tore up a board of the floor and saved off the desired length, which made a full width door. The house has very large rooms, low studded, with broad, slanting roof. We are sorry the big central chimney and the oldest windows have been removed. It has been modernized for comfort and extra floor space, yet the general outline of the original plan has not been spoiled.

The diminutive white monument erected on the Tobeys cemetery lot is near by the farm. This lot is cared for by a granddaughter, Mrs. Rebecca Tobeys Hall of Jefferson. Mrs. Hall is proud of her ancestry and says she would not change that monument for any larger one that might ever be erected in its place.

Back in those early days, when it was the custom of neighbors to spend their evenings together, we can picture that old fireplace of Tobeys as drawing the story-tellers around its hospitable open fire. In those times when daily papers were unknown, Union minds had to be awakened by exciting war or animal stories. The sea yarns of Capt. Tobeys must have added variety to the listeners.

The witchcraft of Salem carried its excitement to a certain degree into Union and Capt. Tobeys's sailor knots are woven into the story of the fastening of the bewitched horse. Some claim that the old Tobeys barn was the "witch barn."

Now we come to a real bear story in which Tobeys figured and in reviewing the incident, we are brought on the ground of the present North Knox Trotting Park. The story is reproduced from Shibley's History of Union as follows:

"When Capt. George West, about the year 1795, lived on the hill, afterward owned by Capt. Bachelor, his cattle frequently swam the river to browse and feed on the Robb's Neck" (North Knox Fair grounds). "One evening just before dark all except a very fat beef cow came home in a great fright. It seems that a bear had killed the cow on the brink of the river, exactly opposite to the West house" (near the bridge leading into the fair grounds) "and the other creatures had escaped. It was obvious that the bear was then on the Neck. The alarm was given and the Philistines prepared to come down upon him. Men assembled the next morning and several of them stationed themselves at short distances from each other on the west side of the river, to intercept him where he would be likely to cross it. A party was sent on to the Neck" (fair grounds) "to stir him up. Samuel Martin maintaining that the bear would go as far as he could on the land before he took to the water" stationed himself near the outlet of Bowker brook" (near the bend of the river west from the end of the grand stand.)

"After a time he saw Bruin on the Neck across the river. The distance was immense for a shot to take effect, but thinking it his last chance he fired. The bear made off and crossed the river within a rod or two of Capt. Tobeys, who being more of a sailor than a hunter, did not think to fire at him. Thus Bruin got safe into the meadow, where several persons were making hay. All started after him upon the run, old Uncle Sam Hills, then a comely, portly young man chasing him with a rake. Bruin, however, escaped. The party came back to West's tavern to get something to drink, provoked with Martin for firing and with Tobeys for not firing and poking fun at them both. Martin, however, insisted that when he fired he saw the bear plunge forward. Many words passed and many jokes were cracked at the expense of Tobeys and Tobeys, till it was finally agreed to go to the spot where the bear was when Martin fired. It appeared that Martin was correct in his statement. One of the bear's large teeth, which the ball had knocked out, was picked up, and his course to the river was tracked by the blood. Some days afterward Bruin was seen in the vicinity of Muddy pond, the ball having passed through the mouth and cut off the tongue."

NEWS OF THE SCHOOLS

Items of Interest to the School World In and Outside Of Knox County.

Some years ago, before the day of the High School, higher education was supplied to various sections of the State by Academies, most of which have now passed out of existence. The Knox County Academy is said to have been located in Thomaston. Stories are also told of various private schools operated by individuals as business ventures in which education of the stern old fashioned sort was administered. The youngsters of today, accustomed to well lighted, heated and ventilated school rooms with free supplies and aw fettered teachers would be out of place under the old regime. The change goes to show the enormous difference in the standards demanded today and yesterday.

Almost all of the readers of The Courier-Gazette know where the old town pump was located but how many know where the first school house was built and how many know where the oldest building ever used for school purposes in the city, now stands? Who can tell what became of the old schoolhouse which stood on the site of the present McLain School? What are the five biggest names in Rockland's educational history?

Two years ago at about this time a nud smeared, mole skin clad figure neandered down the middle of Main street with a sign on his breast announcing a football contest the following day. There is nothing remarkable so far, but in his hand he held a large ball and bell, and a famous one. This ball has called many a youth to his studies for it was swung outside the High School building doors for many long years.

A good example of present day teaching psychology was shown last Saturday by Miss Harriet Trask of Grade SA, Rockland, who took her class in an all-day picnic at Oakland Park because of perfect attendance records the preceding month.

The Eastern Steamship Co. has offered special rates for Rockland for those attending the Bangor Convention, $3.90 round trip, with boats running at the three trip schedule.

Oliver S. Bryant asks an interesting question in The Courier-Gazette of Oct. 9 when he inquires for survivors of his class in Union High School, Class of 1880, Fred Daniels, principal.

Port Clyde has proven her progressiveness by putting four or five hundred dollars into her school play grounds.

Deer Isle High School has a registration this year of 63. This is exceptionally high for a community of this size.

The faculty consists of I. M. Hodges, principal and Miss Maud S. Small, assistant. At a recent meeting of the student body Jason Snowden was elected manager of the boys basketball team and Gertrude Lowe manager of the girls' basketball team. With 55 pupils in attendance, Rockland, Camden, Thomaston, Bath, Skowhegan, Castine Normal and other teams in the girls' department of the game in 1919. Deer Isle has 63 students, therefore . . .

A Halloween social will be held in the town hall Oct. 30 for the benefit of the High School Athletic Association. A big turnout will be a help to the teams so every body is invited.

Union High

Miss Florence Bessey has returned to school after a week's illness.

The new tablet armchairs have arrived and are now in use. They are a great improvement over the old chairs which were in very bad condition.

Many of the residents of Appleton and Union were awakened one night recently by a terrible noise. Upon investigation they found that it was only that High School crowd on another of their famous school rides.

The pupils received their rank for the first month last week. Many were astonished at their low rank, but then this is a bad season.

Camden High

The score at Fairfield last Saturday was not entirely unexpected but was none the less disheartening to Coach Bresenham's plucky young charges. A green team, they have still several hard games to play, and defeats are not pleasant propositions. Next year however the team will be practically the same and a very different season can be forecasted.

The faculty overcame the disadvantage of a broken school week by closing Friday instead of Thursday last week. A mid-week holiday always causes lost motion and expense to the town.

A candy sale is being held today in the Curtis Furniture Co. store by the Senior class.

A second class of Sunday School Credit students has been organized. The first was in the Baptist church, the second in the Congregational. These courses are recognized and credit allowed by the Maine Colleges.

The High School has again undertaken a series of entertainments for the winter season. These have been very successful in times past and deserve support this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smalley were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Bacheider.

A heater is set in the floor, which connects with the exhaust pipe, and is regulated perfectly by the use of dampers, so that proper heat can always be maintained, thus allowing passengers to travel by auto comfortably, even in the coldest weather.

A business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society was held in the hall last week and new officers chosen. There will be a supper and entertainment Wednesday night, Oct. 25.

Sydney Andrews is repairing the main road through our village. J. M. Kirkpatrick and Sylvester Barrows with his team are assisting.

Mrs. Frank Miller of Rockland is the best of Mabel Oxtom.

A stranger called at my home last week. He did not come in, just stopped on the window sill and looked in while I was getting breakfast by lamp light in the early morning. It was a handsome party.

The weather man gave us a variety of weather Wednesday. Sunny and warm for the season the first part of the day, black clouds and fierce wind in the afternoon, and a snow squall in the early evening. The leaves fell from the trees by bushes and the ground was carpeted with yellow, red and brown. Every plant that was out got frozen and dahlia blossoms are no more. This has been a long season for them. I cut a large bunch of them Wednesday before the freeze.

Miss Olive Tolman has returned from Appleton where she has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Julia Gurney for several weeks.

Mrs. Fore's housekeeper and nurse has returned to her home. Miss Olive Tolman is filling her place for a while.

Both ladies, Mrs. Fore and Mrs. French, are slowly improving in health.

Mrs. Ella Cushman of Rockland and daughter Cassie of Brooklyn, N. Y., were guests of Mrs. Kirkpatrick Wednesday.

Mrs. Clara Weed of Union is visiting Mrs. Oscar Carroll.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Rawley are occupying their home for a brief time. Mr. Rawley has improved in health.

Miss Ada Fittingill is visiting her mother, Mrs. Annie Bucklin.

Clarence Lamson and family have moved to Rockland.

BIRD'S ROOFS

For the Man Who Pays the Bill

THERE'S one real showdown in roofing, and that is—cost-per-year-of-service.

You don't have to buy roofing on gamble or guess. There are many examples of Paroid Roofs in this neighborhood that have stood the test of weather for more than 20 years without a single repair. What Paroid has done for others, it will do for you.

Measured by the yardstick of Years-of-Service, the true test, Paroid is the cheapest roofing you can buy.

We know whereof we speak. Take the guess out of buying roofing. Come in and get the proof
