FAVORS ONE TERM

President Cummins of U. S. Senate Thinks It Should Be Presidential Limit.

A federal amendment limiting future presidents to one term is advocated by Senator Albert B. Cummins, R., Iowa, president pro tem of the United States Senate.

"Of course President Harding would have been renominated had he lived," Senator Cummins said, "but I always have believed that one term is enough. The great responsibilities and the tremendous strain of the office are more than any one man can stand. The President of the United States is obliged to exert himself almost beyond the bounds of human limitations. His cares and worries break him down. Human frailties are too great to stand the strain which the presidency places on a man."

We should limit the president to one term. It might be made a six year term, but I am not sure about that even.

"Our theory of government that the president should be the chief executive of the nation has been extended to make him the political leader of his party. President Harding gave his life to his country and party. His death only proves the magnitude of the position. He was so conscientious and yet so human that it hurt him to hear criticism of his efforts and false presumption of his motives and the things he had in mind."

One of the big problems confronting the Republican party in selecting a presidential candidate is in determining the type of man to be nominated.

"That question was not in dispute in 1920," Senator Cummins said. "It was known definitely what type the nation needed then and that type was personified in Harding. We will have a dozen candidates next year. What type of man do we need?"

"Wisdom and propriety demand silence on the question at this time," Senator Cummins believes.

"We must recover from this terrible shock. But our next convention will be a hotly contested one. The next session of congress will be tremendous."

"If President Coolidge adopts the Harding policies there will be no extra session. I know that President Harding had decided that conditions at this time do not warrant a special session. The wheat and coal problems are pressing and vital but there has been no crystallized opinion for relief for the wheat farmer or in the coal situation."

COOLIDGE'S CHANCE

May Reunite Discordant Elements of Party—If So, Nomination Awaits.

A despatch from Washington says that political leaders there are agreed that President Coolidge has the chance of a life time to reconcile warring elements within the Republican party, to subdue the radicals of the Northwest and to put the party in shape to make a successful campaign next year.

Incidentally, if Mr. Coolidge can do this, it is believed he will bring about his own nomination for the Presidency, but if he does not, he will either lose the nomination or if nominated will have little chance of election.

These predictions are made because Mr. Coolidge is a farmer and a laborer, because he has a sympathetic view of both farming and laboring conditions and because it is believed the farmers and workers of the country, not necessarily union labor organizations, are already looking on him, as a friend who understands their problems.

In the preceding issue The Courier-Gazette retold the story of the two visits to Rockland made by President Coolidge when he occupied the office of Vice President. Allusion was made to a group picture taken by Sam E. Connor, of the Lewiston Journal, of the distinguished visitor and the official reception committee that called upon him at the Samoset Hotel, a copy of which picture is printed above. The names reading from left to right are:

Front row—Congressman Wallace H. White, Jr., Mrs. G. L. Crockett, Mrs. E. M. Lawrence, President Coolidge, Mrs. W. O. Fuller, Miss Anna E. Coughlin, Mrs. Beulah S. Oxtun.

Second row—Hon. Elmer S. Bird, Ivan A. Trueworthy, Fred R. Spear, Postmaster G. H. Blethen, Lewis Herzog.

At the top—Frank A. Winslow.

BOOMING FRANK HOLLEY

Some Republicans Who Would Like To See Speaker Nominated For Governor.

Frank H. Holley of North Anson, speaker of the House of Representatives, is being mentioned with frequency in various parts of the State, as a possible Republican candidate for Governor, says the Press Herald.

Mr. Holley has not announced his candidacy, although he has been frequently urged to do so. Advocates of Mr. Holley's candidacy say that he would receive strong support from all parts of the State, if he should enter the field. They also assert that his thorough acquaintance with State finances as well as his experiences as Speaker of the House, would give him special qualifications for the Governorship.

Mr. Holley began his legislative services in 1917 and has been a member of each succeeding Legislature. He was House chairman of the Appropriation Committee in 1919 and 1921, was a member of the Budget Committee in 1921. He was also a member of the Cole Committee which, during the recess between the Legislatures of 1921 and 1923, investigated proposed changes in the State departments in the interests of economy. Mr. Holley is a native of Farmington and the owner and manager of a successful drug business in North Anson. He is a thirty-second degree Mason, an Elk and an Odd Fellow.

IT IS NOT DEATH

[For The Courier-Gazette]
It is not death to die,
Forgetting earth awhile,
Lying so silently
With closed eyes and a smile
On lips that do not speak,
With all life's weary pains
Brushed from the cheek.

It is not death to lie
With quiet, folded hands,
With heart that cannot sigh,
Forgetting earth's demands,
So often fraught with tears,
It is not death to pass
Beyond the years.

It is not death to sleep
Under the earth's soft green
Where the warm sunbeams dance
And blue skies lean;
It is not death, but rest,
This dear, long sleeping
In the earth's warm breast.

'Tis but to sleep, and waken,
And feel God's hands
In love's strong hands;
To walk in gladness in the Deep places of God's love
Is not to die.

WALDO FIELD MEETING

The annual field meeting of Waldo County Pomona will be held at the St. George trotting park in Montville Friday, Aug. 17. Program for the day: Speakers, Congressman John F. Nelson and Rev. Mr. Forgrave, past lecturer of Wisconsin State Grange. McKen's orchestra of Belfast, solos by Mrs. Maud Bryant Dutch, Mrs. Pearl Richardson and Robert Betts, readings by Mrs. Georgia Parker, and character songs by Bert L. Davis of Belfast. Come early and spend the day. Ice cream, cold drinks, candy, etc., will be on sale at the park.

SCRAPPING THE SCRAPPERS

Scrapping of the hulls of the last ships—Indiana and South Dakota, left uncompleted on the ways at the Brooklyn Navy Yard when the Naval Limitation Treaty was signed, was ordered Monday by the Navy Department.

Hundreds of tons of material obtained in the scrapping, will be sold at auction. The Indiana and South Dakota were to cost $70,000,000 and would have been the world's largest battleships.

SELFISH POLITICS

Cyrus H. K. Curtis Gets Poor Impressions of Ambassadors and Other Diplomats.

Ambassadors and other diplomatic officers were severely arraigned on their present methods of conducting the affairs of their offices by Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Philadelphia publisher, who arrived in Portland Monday aboard his steam yacht, Lyndonia.

"I have talked and mingled with many diplomatic officers," said Mr. Curtis, "and they are all playing a selfish game, with themselves coming ahead of anyone or anything else."

"I have found in my relations with ambassadors that their first aim is to hold the job to which they have been appointed; second, to protect the interests of their country, and lastly to bring about closer trade relations. But in case of any difficulty, they will do their utmost to hold their position, and let the interests of their country suffer."

"They are all playing a game of politics, not only the representatives of nations of Europe, but our own diplomatic officials as well. Often they are men with little or no training in foreign diplomacy, and there is bound to be some reflection on the government whom they represent."

"The time is not far off when it will become necessary to revise the diplomatic service, the world over. Men especially trained for the service, and who will not put themselves ahead of the welfare of their country, must be found to supplant those who are representing the nations in foreign courts today."

That that time comes and men are found whom we can implicitly trust, we shall never feel exactly at ease always having the feeling that through the blundering of some diplomatic officer, we might be embroiled in some serious difficulty, which might eventually throw us into war."

Mr. Curtis, who just recently returned from a trip to London and Paris, said that he found conditions, both politically and economically, shaping exceedingly well.

WAS NATIONALLY KNOWN

Death of Deborah Knox Livingston W. C. T. U. Worker Who Had Often Spoken Here.

News of the death of Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston on Sunday at her summer home in Osterville, Mass., was read in Knox County with profound regret.

The Livingston home is in Newton Highlands, Mr. Livingston now being general secretary of the Evangelistic Association of New England. Their son, David Knox Livingston, attends Newton High school.

Mrs. Livingston suffered a nervous collapse last spring and was brought to her summer home, where she grew steadily weaker. She was born in Scotland, 48 years ago and came with her parents to this country when about 10 years old. She went to school in Pawtucket, R. I., and later for a short time taught school in southern Rhode Island. At this period she was introduced to what was to prove her life work by Frances Willard, then National President of the W. C. T. U.

In her early temperance work Mrs. Livingston was secretary of the old Boston W. C. T. U., and later was president of the Rhode Island W. C. T. U. Her executive ability won her a high place in the councils of the national organization and she undertook many lecture campaigns. The most recent being a trip to South Africa, which lasted six months.

She was widely known as a lecturer before women's clubs and for four years was a force in the movement to bring about countrywide prohibition. She was a member of the Temperance Alliance and National Director of Christian Science and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

WHEN OLD JACK DIED

When old Jack died, we staid from school they said.
At home, we needn't go that day, and none of us ate any breakfast—only one.
And that was Papa—and his eyes were red.
When he came round where we were, by the shed
Where Jack was lying, half way in the sun
And half way in the shade, When we begun
To cry out loud, Pa turned and dropped his head.
And went away; and Mama, she went back
Into the kitchen. Then, for a long while,
All to ourselves, like, we staid and cried,
We thought so many good things of old Jack,
And funny things—although we didn't smile—
We couldn't only cry when Old Jack died.

When Old Jack died, it seemed a human friend
Had suddenly gone from us, some face
That we had loved to fondle and embrace
From babyhood, no more would condescend
To smile on us fondly
With tearful eyes above him, interlace
Our chubby fingers o'er him, romp and race,
Plead with him, call and coax—aye, we might Send

The old halloo up for him, whistle, hist,
(If solo had let us) or, as willy vain, he Snapped thumbs, called "speak," and he had not replied:
We might have gone down on our knees and kissed
The tumbled ears, and yet they must remain
Deaf, motionless, we knew—when Old Jack died.

When Old Jack died, it seemed to us, some way,
That all the other dogs in town were pained
With our bereavement, and some that were chained,
Even, unslipped their collars on that day
To visit Jack in state, as though to pay
A last, sad tribute there, while neighbors
craned
Their heads above the high board fence, and deined

To sigh "Poor dog!" remembering how they
Had cuffed him, when alive, perchance, because
For love of them he leaped to lick their hands—
Now, that he could not, were they satisfied?
We children thought that as we crossed his law,
And o'er his grave, 'way down the bottom-
lands,
Wrote "Our First Love Lies Here," when Old
Jack died.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, Me., Aug. 9, 1923.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lynde, who on oath declares that he is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of August 7, 1923, there was printed a total of 4,990 copies. Before me, FRANK S. MILLER, Notary Public.

THE IDEAL WAY:—They helped every one his neighbor; and every one said to his brother, Be of good courage.—Isaiah 72:12.

A MEMORABLE WEEK

This is a week of solemn days for the Nation. The funeral car of the dead President has been greeted by multitudes standing in silent grief as it rushed by on its journey from the western coast to the city of Washington. There under the dome of the majestic Capitol the body of the stricken ruler has lain in state and yesterday in the presence of hosts of great personages took place the solemn and impressive funeral service. Today all that is mortal of Warren Gamaliel Harding is being borne to his home town in Ohio, where tomorrow old friends and neighbors who loved him deeply will take part in the final ceremonies of interment. All business on that day the country over will be suspended and everywhere men and women will gather in memorial services. There could be nothing finer than the manner in which the whole land has testified its sorrow and affection for the splendid citizen who has met his death in the line of patriotic duty.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

There will be a general suspension of activities in this city tomorrow, for in common with all other places throughout the country Rockland will observe the day of mourning and pay tribute to the memory of the late President Harding. On page 2 of this issue will be found the program of the community service which is to be held on the Children's Playground at 3 p. m. Sports of all kinds will be abandoned on this sacred day and the moving picture theatres will close for the afternoon.

One day—Monday, Aug. 20 is the day indicated—ought to be time enough in which to raise by citywide canvass the annual budget of our local Red Cross. We think our people have a pretty satisfactory knowledge of what has been achieved in the city the past year through the bedside ministrations of the Red Cross nurse and her health work among the pupils of the public schools. No home into which she has gone on her errands of mercy but will gratefully sound its praise for the work; no parent whose child has a part in the life of the public schools but will wish to see carried forward the work now just begun. The city officials are equally of this way of thinking, endorsing the plan for engaging a second nurse whose entire services shall be given to the schools. Every bill for the past year's Red Cross work has been paid. The coming year's budget calls for the raising by popular subscription of approximately $4000, every dollar of which will be expended here at home. The Courier-Gazette believes it will be raised in a jiffy.

A correspondent in position to express a sound opinion recommends us not to go into hysterics over the coal situation and pay exorbitant prices for fuel. According to dispatches from New York, "There is every probability that reserve stock will be greater Sept. 1 than at the beginning of last year's suspension. Householders will unquestionably have more than at the end of the winter in 1922. . . . Production this year to Sept. 1 will approximate 57,000,000 tons (anthracite) if mines continue at present rate of output during August. Average annual output the past ten years is 66,000,000 tons." Lay in a supply of coal, but don't force yourself to pay a high price by helping start a wholly needless stampede.

Rockland people who met Mrs. Coolidge on the occasion of her visit to the Samoset last month were charmed by her friendly and gracious manner, a wholesome, everyday New England sort that wins wherever it is encountered. President Coolidge is fortunate in having in his wife an aid to his success as chief executive. Possessed as she is of marked tact, an unusual faculty for marking herself popular with her associates, and a high degree of personal grace, she is certain to bestow upon the White House a charm equaling that which has distinguished any "first lady of the land" who has preceded her.

The summer of 1923 sees the Rockland Country Club prospering in particular with respect to its non-resident membership, which is larger than ever and growing steadily. Summer visitors find the club attractive by reason of social advantages, and especially its admirable golf course, all of which become available through this form of membership. And meantime the club continues to carry an active membership waiting list, indicating its increasing popularity at home.

WHY IS THE KU KLUX KLAN?

Prof. Farnsworth Explains To Big Rockland Audience And Urges Protestants To Organize.

Interest in the Ku Klux Klan, or curiosity about it—call it whatever you will—resulted last night in a crowded house at the Arcade, when F. Eugene Farnsworth, State organizer, came to explain why the Klan was organized, and what it expects to accomplish. Prof. Farnsworth is a skilled platform orator, and his witty sallies greatly amused the crowd. At times he rose to heights of eloquence which swayed his hearers and brought forth bursts of applause. There were other times when his zeal for the cause led to bitter invective which some of the more conservative members of the audience apparently did not relish, although they took no open method of showing their disapproval.

Prof. Farnsworth was limping badly as the result of a serious accident in which he had figured Monday, but which did not appear to have affected his voice or his enthusiasm. The first speaker was Dr. Witham of Portland, who introduced himself as the first recruit obtained by the three Ks in Maine. Masonry, he said, was prohibited from doing the work of the Klan because its ritual specifies that religion and politics shall not be discussed in the lodge room. The other orders also have their own work. The result was the organization of a society that will take up the vital question of the day—which is politics. The Ku Klux Klan was summed up by Dr. Witham as an organization for Protestant people, and its object to pool the vote. "Then we can get what we ask for," said Dr. Witham. In Portland the Klan has more members than all of the other organizations put together—the Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and that other small organization known as the Knights of Columbus.

"We have got to make a stand in our own country. We must get together for one grand cause—the American people. Why should alien enemies come over here and dictate to our public schools?"

Dr. Witham predicted that it would be only a very short time before the Klan would be in control in Maine, and said that of every 100 who have come into the order in Portland 75 per cent are Masons. The balance are mainly Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias.

"Consciousness of danger is responsible for this uprising," said Prof. Farnsworth. "The crisis we are facing is clearly before us. America is filled with alien enemies—enemies because they do not believe in our government or our American creed; they do not believe in free speech, or our public schools. Any man who does not believe in our public schools is an enemy to the government."

"We have opened the doors to riff-raff, but I can't find anything in our history where we promised to give them America. We have not given them America; they have taken it from us."

"Protestant mentality is the superior mentality of the world. We are afraid of an enemy small in numbers, but large in ignorance."

Mister Foster Getting Decidedly Stingy With Hits—Rising Has a Trouble Day.

at last night's game, and he was occupying his familiar seat on the northeast corner of that famous "Forty" section. By means of a figurative porous plaster I drew out of him the fact that he formerly pitched for the Gouldsboro team, and with little thought that he was to figure in the "I Saw" column, he told me how his team once went to the "Island" where there was a team of which the inhabitants were very proud, curved pitching, however, was brand new there, and the 27 "Gott's Island" batters never hit so much as a foul. Fourteen years ago Mr. Dolliver pitched for the Samosets against Rockland, and he still has the clipping which shows what The Courier-Gazette said about him.—The Sporting Editor.

Snows 4, Lime 0

Billy Foster held the Lime Company to a solitary bingle last night, and the Snows won 4 to 0. It was the second time within three days that Foster has pitched a no-run, one-hit game, and rather disproves the theory which some were entertaining that Billy is slipping. His work this week is the kind of slipping that most managers would like to have.

Although the Lime Company was outclassed, it was one of the best played games of the season, the one error being Wotton's throw where Spiller wasn't. This cost a run, however, and one run proved enough to win that game.

Wotton was batted hard in only one inning—the third, when a single by Mealey and doubles by Brackett and M. Foster produced two more runs. The Snows' fourth and last score was made in the fifth by Brackett, who, after being passed, stole second and third and scored on M. Foster's single. From which it will be seen that M. Foster was Johnny on the spot last night.

The star play of the game was Mealey's long running catch of Rogers fly. The Snows' fielding ace ran down from his position in deep center to short left field taking the ball on the dead run.

Rokes made some spectacular catches at first base.

What happened in Lewiston Tuesday, when Elmer Rising pitched for the Easterns against Star the Taxis was what might reasonably be expected. A Lewiston dispatch says:

"Rising, the schoolboy phenomenon from Rockland, did not last against the Taxis at the Lewiston Athletic Field this evening. Belmer, the first man up, shot a line drive at him, which he got his hands in front of and stopped, but which apparently unnerved him, for he passed the next two men. Then Comerford hit safely. Wilson lifted a long fly to center which Elbridge muffed. Gaudette hit a slow one to second which Parent threw to the plate but too late. Then McGraw hit for three, cleaning the bases, and with six runs in Rising was sent to the showers, and Hackett replaced him."

An analysis of this Lewiston report shows that young Rising was probably injured by the first ball hit. Approximately the same thing happened in Brewer, and Rising afterward told the writer his pitching hand was so numbed that it was some time before he could throw a curve. This may have been the situation in Lewiston. Further analysis of the dispatch shows that most of the six runs made off Rising were due to a muffed fly and slow fielding. But assuming that Rising was entirely at fault what else could fairly be expected from a boy still midway of his school career, who was sent against a team strong enough to be in the Eastern League, and which on the previous day had beaten the strong Livermore Falls team 17 to 13.

The Pejepeps which play in Camden Saturday afternoon, defeated the Worumbos in Brunswick yesterday 3 to 5 in an 11-inning game, which is described as a peach by Curtis Bok, Carey Bok and Charles Combs, who motored from Camden to see the contest. Parent of the Pejepeps made six hits, including two homers.

Wilson lifted a long fly to center which Elbridge muffed. Gaudette hit a slow one to second which Parent threw to the plate but too late. Then McGraw hit for three, cleaning the bases, and with six runs in Rising was sent to the showers, and Hackett replaced him."

An analysis of this Lewiston report shows that young Rising was probably injured by the first ball hit. Approximately the same thing happened

A memorial service for the late President Harding will be held at St. Peter's Episcopal church at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

The hollyhocks growing in luxuriance on the Limerock street side of the Sprague house delight the eye of every passerby.

The good old lumber schooner William H. Jewell, which has been coming to Rockland so long that it is almost a grandfather to the other hookers, was at the Glover wharf yesterday discharging some nice looking boards.

The Camden Board of Trade will conduct a public memorial service with appropriate exercises, in Camden Opera House at 8 o'clock Friday night. Chief Justice W. R. Riddell of Canada will be the principal speaker. It is probable that a number will go from Rockland.

Herbert B. Barter, a local building contractor, has been awarded the job of raising the Burnt Island Life Saving Station and putting a concrete foundation under it. The contract, which also includes repairing and grading, will occupy about two months, and the work will be under the personal supervision of Mr. Barter.

Under a new arrangement the police now have one day off in seven. The schedule is like this: Monday, Patrolman Niles; Tuesday, Patrolman Price; Wednesday, Patrolman Lamb; Thursday, Patrolman Berry; Friday, Deputy Marshal Fernald. The new patrolman, yet to be appointed, will have Sunday. All of the officers work Saturday.

Harry Wiggin of the Worcester Hotel, Asylum street, Hartford, who is spending a fortnight's vacation in South Thomaston was in the city yesterday looking up old friends, trying to find "Huffy," and explaining that a badly sunburned eye was the result of a fishing trip with Cleve Sleeper. He has as guest Samuel B. Hall of Hartford, a son of the late Leverett Hall of South Thomaston. Mrs. Wiggin has been in South Thomaston some weeks.

George Carter of Bluehill was fined $10 and costs in Rockland Court Monday on the charge of intoxication. The total amount of $19.82 was somewhat beyond the state of his exchequer, and Judge Miller suggested that the alternative was 30 days in Hotel Rokes. Carter demurred at this proposition and asked the privilege of earning the necessary money working at his trade as stonecutter. Judge Miller consented, but Carter's liberty was brief for it was found that he had skipped from the Men's Reformatory in South Windham, and Supt. Donnell, who was in the city reclaimed him. The way of the transgressor—

New and Second Hand Furniture bought and sold at Braggs, Rankin Block. Shoes, Clothing, Crockery, Household Goods at Braggs. 95tf

The exterior work on H. L. Oxtown's new bungalow on Camden street is practically completed. Signs point to an attractive structure, quickly erected.

The golf course at the Country Club will be closed Friday from 3 to 4 o'clock daylight time, coinciding with the hour of the burial services of the late President Harding at Marion.

Mrs. Gladys Smith has bought the William S. Healey house at 323 Broadway through L. W. Benner's real estate agency. Mr. Healey will continue to occupy the house until October.

Judge Miller presided over 31 hearings in Rockland court during the month of July, or an average of one a day. And this does not include numerous "chews" on the part of complainants who did not reach the stage of signing a warrant.

Gulls appear to be unusually numerous on the Rockland waterfront this season. "There would probably be much more sickness but for these scavengers," says Frank W. Collins.

The concert by Rockland Band is to be given at the Children's Playground tonight. The new lights are in place and the bandstand will be bright as day with plenty of seats for the listeners.

A correspondent wonders if the ponies which have become so fashionable in Rockland this summer are not occasionally overdriven, or overloaded by grown-ups "piling in" the carts. The Courier-Gazette pony editor is not sufficiently versed in pony lore to offer any opinion, further than to express a general understanding that the little animals are tougher than nails—and cuter than all git-out, as our New England ancestors used to say.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR

Local dealers were selling only one ton of hard coal to a customer.
 Old Home Week was on. The Knights of Columbus defeated the Elks 13 to 5 on the Broadway ground.
 Mrs. Henry Payson fell from the piazza of her residence in Hope, fracturing her left hip.
 The City Government voted to improve Park street.
 James Welch sold the Nut Shell Restaurant to James Hanley.

The Park and Empire Theatres will be closed Friday afternoon.

St. Peter's Guild will meet at the rectory, High street, tonight and decide several important business matters.

The Samost Club is giving a dance in Glen Cove Grange hall next Monday night, with music by Marston's Orchestra. There will be a prize waltz.

The Village Improvement Society at Lincolnville is raising a sidewalk fund. One of the events to this end is this afternoon's annual sale in Community hall, followed tonight by a dance.

This is the day of the Children's Playground picnic at Oakland Park. The youngsters left at 10 o'clock via automobiles volunteered by accommodating friends and plan to return about 4 o'clock. The formal raising of the Playground flag will be held sometime in the immediate future.

Tonight's band concert, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, will be held on the Children's Playground, instead of in Postoffice square. The public will have a chance to sit instead of roosting on the Postoffice fence. Electric lights have been provided.

One of those late Saturday afternoon ball games in Camden brought grief to two Rockland fans, who were so eager to get home to hear the results, forgot all about Charlie Wentworth until hailed into court to answer to the charge of wreckless driving. It cost each $31.37, which somewhat diminished the "Wall Street" profits of one Twilight League fan. But he was reconciled by the thought that the "fish" are still biting.

Both Times: Wilson B. Kerne of Rockland, director of operations for the United States Shipping Board, was in Bath Friday morning for a few hours during which he conferred with Commissioner Edward Plumer of the Shipping Board on the eve of his departure for Portland to inspect the new pier. Mr. Kerne is a Maine boy who has made good in the commercial world and his ability is recognized by Shipping Board officials who hold him in the highest esteem.

County Treasurer William S. Healey yesterday forwarded his resignation to Gov. Baxter, for the reason that he is leaving within a few weeks for California. Mr. Healey goes primarily to attend the national convention of the American Legion, but he has a keen desire to see what the West is like, and may conclude to locate there. Failing to do so he has other plans in view which make it very unlikely that he will remain a resident of Rockland. The American Legion convention is Oct. 15-19, but Mr. Healey plans to leave Oct. 1st.

Another event looming high on the social horizon of local Masons is the day to be held at Skowhegan Aug. 15. The day's schedule calls for arrival at Skowhegan Masonic hall at 12:30. Dinner and business meeting at 1:00; motor trip to Lakewood Grove and points of interest at 2:30; luncheon at Arcadia Tea Room at 6:00; theatre. "East is West" at 8:00; good night at 10:15. The famous Lakewood Stock Company is especially good this year and "East is West" is written and directed by a member of the colony, John B. Hymer.

Apologies of the Payson-Fogler reunion which will be held at Penobscot View Grange hall, Aug. 22, Freeman W. Smith of Verona, writes: "All of the Paysons in this part of Maine descended from two brothers, Ephraim and Samuel, who arrived in Cushing 144 years ago. Ephraim settled in Hope; the descendants of Samuel are largely in Cushing, Warren and Union. The majority of the present members of the Payson reunion are descendants of Ephraim and they would be very glad to have more of Samuel's people attend the reunions."

Francis Saville of the Rockland Grange placed up and down Main street yesterday in a Studebaker Special Six of the 1924 vintage, and the dazzling paint on the new machine reflected many an admiring glance. The car was one of three lately received by the Rockland Grange—one of the three having already been sold to E. A. Banks of Belfast. Mr. Saville had all of its catalogued fine points at his fingers' tips but a brief ride in the machine left certain special impressions—such as the newly designed comfortable front seat; the new style hood and radiator; the rapidity with which the extra large service brakes work; and the superior riding qualities over any kind of a road. The car is 2½ inches lower than the former design. Mr. Saville will be glad to say a word about four-wheel brakes.

There will be no frigid feet in the Courthouse this winter if the large boiler installed by the I. L. Snow Co. yesterday performs its functions in the expected manner. New heating equipment became an absolute necessity this year, and the county commissioners determined to put in a plant that would be adequate for many years to come.

The better mice by the I. L. Snow Co. is 16 feet long, four feet in diameter and weighs seven tons. It was toted up from the Snow boiler factory by means of the company's mammoth wheels, and hoisted up over the terraced Court House lawn with the same ease that John Woodbury Webster manipulates the official lawn-mower. In honor of the big visitor's coming a portion of the rear basement wall of the Court House was removed, and through this aperture the boiler was slid slick as a whistle.

Miss Bicknell has needle work of many charming designs in her sale Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 11 and 12, at 12 Knox street. 95-1t

There will be a baked bean and cold meat supper at Community Hall, Spruce Head, Aug. 14, for benefit of the cemetery.—adv.

The Lime Company and Knox Electric will fight it out on the Oakland Park diamond tonight. Game scheduled at 6:15.

Douglas W. Fuller, U. S. N., of Rockland has received promotion from the rank of lieutenant commander to that of commander, dating from June 8. Commander Fuller was one of 60 lieutenant commanders picked by the Naval Selection Board for promotion.

Mrs. Susan Tarr, Mrs. Smith Carnes and granddaughter Lillian Wadsworth returned Saturday to their home in Milford, N. H., after two weeks visit with Mrs. Carnes' daughters Mrs. S. P. Wadsworth, Mrs. George Judkins and Mrs. Hermie Thayer.

Master George Friese yesterday took any possible monotony out of his summer visit in Rockland by intercepting the Public Playground swing and receiving thereby a cut near the eye, necessitating a visit to Dr. Wadgatt and a number of neat surgical stitches.

Foot of Spring street from 12:30 until 3:30 yesterday afternoon? A man with plenty of time and a recording meter kept run and recorded 812. This was on a quiet midweek day. The experiment will be repeated Saturday when he may be "Cheyne" busily clicking away if there are no fires to distract him. Watch Tuesday's paper for the answer.

Waldoboro took a vigorous stand on the Atlantic Highway change Monday night when a largely attended indignation meeting was held. Plans to cooperate with the other towns in protesting the change were made and a petition committee of four prominent citizens was appointed comprising J. B. Welt, Alfred Storer, Fred W. Scott and John T. Gay.

The Art Association announces arrangements to bring a group of paintings and water colors here from Boothbay Harbor, containing work of several brilliant young women painters of the Philadelphia School of Design for Women and many of them prize winners in the Pennsylvania and New York Academies. These paintings include lovely landscapes, still life and flower pieces and are representative of the best of the so-called modern tendencies in art. These are only a few of the group to be hung, which will include work of many well known artists, besides something of local interest from our local group. The formal opening of the exhibition will be Wednesday afternoon and evening, Aug. 15, in the Public Library.

City Government Passed Resolutions On Death of President Harding.

At the monthly meeting of the City Government Monday night the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The Divine Ruler has seen fit, in His infinite Wisdom to take from us our President, Warren G. Harding, be it Resolved, That we, in meeting assembled, bow to the will of our Creator, and hereby express our reverence to the memory of Warren G. Harding, President of the United States, whose death has saddened the nation.

Resolved, That this memorial minute be adopted and incorporated in our records and become a part of them. F. M. Ulmer, R. F. Saville, Committee on Resolutions

BROKE TAIL SHAFT

Steamer Vinalhaven Lay Helpless In Fog In Mid-Penobscot Bay.

Steamer Vinalhaven of the Rockland & Vinalhaven Steamboat Co., broke its tail shaft on the afternoon trip to Rockland Thursday. The accident occurred in the Narrows between the two bell-buoys off the North Haven shore and the steamer was helpless in a dense fog. The distress signal, four blasts of the whistle repeated, was heard by the steamer Gov. Bodwell of the same line, whose captain Harry C. Gray, reported to agent Basil H. Stinson at Rockland by telephone. The Bodwell was unable to render assistance because of an automobile on her bow deck which affected the compass.

Agent Stinson was unable to secure a tow-boat on such short notice but the government buoy tender Hibiscus chanced to be at Maine Central wharf under steam and promptly went to the rescue. When she arrived she found that passengers and mail had been landed at North Haven wharf via gasoline boats. The Vinalhaven was towed to Rockland and Friday morning taken to Camden to be hauled out. She will be laid off a week or ten days during which time the company will do its best to maintain service, though a substitute steamer had not been obtained this morning.

The steamboat company is very grateful to the buoy tender Hibiscus for its prompt service and its admiration of the fine work being done by the Lighthouse Department, under Capt. Sherman, is increased. The Hibiscus, it will be recalled, was a valuable factor in helping open Penobscot Bay to navigation last spring.

LAST OF CLIPPERS

With the Glory of the Seas
Ends a Romantic Chapter of the Sea.

The old American clipper, Glory of the Seas, was recently hauled up on the beach at Seattle and burnt, this being the cheapest way of getting out of the hull the copper rivets, which were the only things of value left about her. Her timbers, unlike the oak and teak of which British wooden ships were built, had long been entirely worthless through the action of water and decay.

She was quite a remarkable ship in herself, having made in 1875 a fine passage of 35 days from "Frisco" to Sydney. But what makes her passing specially notable is the fact that it writes "Fins" to one of the most interesting chapters in the history of shipping.

She was the last ship ever built by the famous builder, Donald Mackay, whose clippers, both in the China tea trade and in the Australian emigrant trade, were among the finest creations of their kind the world has ever known. Mackay's ships bore the indefinable stamp of genius. No two were ever quite alike. And none was ever a complete failure.

Among the masterpieces turned out by the Boston yards may be mentioned the Staghound, his first clipper; the famous Flying Cloud, which sailed on one occasion nearly 430 miles in 24 hours; the monster Great Republic whose career was as unlucky as that of most "great" ships, and the four magnificent ships built for the Liverpool Black Ball line, renowned in sea song and story.

These four vessels, James Baines, Lightning, Champion of the Seas and Donald Mackay, stand in a class by themselves. They were especially designed to carry a full complement of passengers to the Australian gold fields during the "rush" of the 1850's, and they combined strength, size and speed in a remarkable degree. The China tea clippers were their equals in speed, but they were mere yachts in size beside the Blyth Butlers, and, the Blackwall frigates, for all their seaworthy qualities were never built for speed like the Mackay clippers.

It is a curious fact that a very great proportion of Mackay's ships came to an end through fire. Staghound was burnt at sea when carrying a cargo of coal; Flying Cloud met a similar fate when loading lumber at St. John, N. B.; Great Republic was badly damaged by fire at the beginning of her career; James Baines was burnt in Huxford dock, Liverpool; Lightning in harbor in Geelong, and Donald Mackay survived a long time as a coal hulk at Madeira, only to meet a fiery doom a few years ago, her fine figurehead of a Highlander in the Mackay tartan, being the only relic of her which survived.—C. Fox Smith in London Chronicle.

CLARK ISLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Mank returned to their home in East Union Tuesday.

Robert B. Makune of Rockland has been doing the steam fitting at the granite company's new power station.

Michael Halligan and family were Sunday guests of Mrs. Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fiske and family of Attleboro, Mass., returned to their home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon White and friends of Rockland spent Sunday at the bathing beach.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mank, Miss Barbara Keefe and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foster of Tenant's Harbor attended a family reunion Sunday at the home of A. E. Mank, East Union.

Many of the young people from this place attended the popular Saturday night dance at Spruce Head. They say the new floor is o. k.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucius York of Rockland were in town Sunday.

Thanks to the fog, the blueberry crop will be fairly heavy and the later berries are ripening slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Gershom Rollins, Miss Hazel Nutt and Gwen Condon of Rockland enjoyed a picnic lunch at Lone Pine Grove Sunday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Doherty.

Work is progressing steadily at the new power station where the granite company is also erecting another blacksmith shop, down the track, for the tool sharpeners.

Donald Cameron is spending his vacation at North Jay.

The attractive little cottage which is being erected on the main road by Mr. Allard of South Thomaston, owner and builder, is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Caven and little granddaughter and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hart motored to Hallowell Sunday.

WALDOBORO

George Benner of Waldoboro has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lendon Waltz.

H. H. Kuhn and C. B. Stahl were in Portland last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cox left for their home in Onondago Saturday.

A large citizens caucus was held in the Engine Hall Monday night.

This meeting was for the purpose of making arrangements to cooperate with other towns in protesting against a change in the Atlantic Highway.

Joseph B. Welt presided. Many stirring speeches were made showing how strong was the feeling against the decision of the State Highway Commission in changing the route from the seashore line. That petty party politics are working to the disadvantage of Knox, Lincoln and Sagadahoc counties seems to be the general feeling in town. The conviction seems to be that the Kennebec bridge plays no small part in the ignoring of the interests of the three counties. But even these reasons fail to explain why a highway named "Atlantic" should be built through the center of the State. A committee of four was appointed to circulate petitions protesting against the change. J. B. Welt, Alfred Storer, Fred W. Scott and John T. Gay make up this committee.

Mrs. Jennie Harrison Libby of South Boston has been the guest of Mrs. Jessie Achorn.

Mrs. Susan Benner visited friends in Thomaston last week.

Miss Jennie Comery of Boston has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Malvina Comery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sheaf have been in Norridgewock the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doe and son Billy of Jamaica Plain and Clarence Walts of Springfield, Mass., have been at Broad Cove.

Mrs. Norman Gray and son John and Miss Hazel Gray of Hallowell were at W. C. Flint's for the weekend.

Miss Sarah Storer has been spending a few days at Martin's Point.

Miss Kate Duane has returned to Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Benner went to Portland Sunday and returned with Miss Cora Burnes of Malden, Mass., who will be their guest.

Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Calderwood of Boston have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Reed. Dr. Calder-wood, who was a physician here many years ago, was heartily welcomed by his friends.

Mrs. Ella A. Benner of Hallowell, Conn., is spending several weeks in town.

Mrs. Beatrice Douglass and Miss Virginia Douglass of Boston are visiting relatives in town.

Charles Wallace of Frenchboro has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. Isadore Hoffer.

Mrs. Harold Smith and Miss Ellen Smith were in Augusta last week.

Mrs. Lillian Seavey Frost, Miss Mildred C. Palmer and Leonard Seavey at Bath were in town Saturday enroute to Martin's Point.

Mrs. Dudley Hovey and daughter Virginia have returned to Bangor.

Miss Helen Jones spent the weekend in Portland.

Miss Betty Brown, who has been at Mrs. Dora Howard York's several weeks, has returned to Portland.

SOUTH WALDOBORO

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Winchenbach, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Wallace and son Lowell visited relatives in Port Clyde Sunday.

Mrs. Caroline Winchenbach was the invited guest of State Secretary Libby on a motor trip to Burketville Saturday with Mrs. William Vannah and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Spear and son of Winslow's Mills. The following morning this merry party met at the home of Mrs. Winchenbach and were entertained by Secretary Libby's humorous speeches and good old Grange songs. A collection of ice cream and cake was served.

Capt. Solomon Simmons, aged 67 years, a life long resident of this place, died Aug. 2. Capt. Simmons was one of our loyal and most respected citizens and his passing is generally regretted. For years he followed the sea and was one of the ablest sea captains along the coast. A few years ago he changed his occupation, and bought a farm in this section and was always busy and interested in the farm work. Two years ago his health began to fail and though he had the best medical attention that could be given including the famous radium treatment was in April he went to live with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Pitcher, who made his last days comfortable and gave him all the care and attention possible. Beside his daughter and three grandchildren, he is survived by three brothers, Cyrus, Samuel and Horace, and two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Hysler and Mrs. Abbie Fernald. Funeral services were held Sunday at the daughter's home, Rev. S. E. Packard officiating. Interment was made in the family lot at South Waldoboro cemetery.

NORTH APPLETON

Misses Mary and Etta McIver called on old friends on the Ridge recently.

Mr. Bartlett of Montville is haying for Minnie Brown.

P. S. Collins is cutting the hay on the old Collins place.

Miss Maude Fuller returned Saturday from Vinalhaven where she spent the week with friends.

Harry Conant called on Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Fuller Sunday.

Harry Conant and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Fuller and daughter Eleanor called on Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Hall recently.

Miss Mary Meserve spent the week-end at home.

1924 Models Are the Finest
Big-Sixes Studebaker Ever Built

The enthusiasm with which the new 1924 model Studebaker cars have been received locally is an indication of the reception they have enjoyed throughout the country.

No wonder. They are emphatically the most compelling values Studebaker ever offered and the public knows that Studebaker has been a consistent leader, year after year, in the amount of intrinsic value per dollar invested.

The Big-Six Sedan and the Coupe are the finest cars that have ever borne the name Studebaker. They provide all the performance, all the comfort, and all the dependability that any car will give—at a price that smaller producers cannot approach.

Everything for which one can wish in motoring convenience, comfort and utility has been provided—even to the extra disc wheel with tire, tube and tire cover (two on Sedan); handsome nickel-plated bumpers, front and rear; large, roomy trunk; automatic gasoline signal, and many other features. There is nothing more to buy.

The prices of the Sedan and Coupe are moderate because of Studebaker's large production, vast physical and financial resources, the manufacture of all vital parts in Studebaker plants, and the accumulation of experience and prestige gained through 71 years of building quality vehicles.

OUR GRANGE CORNER

Knox Pomona Grange held its August session with Medomac Valley Grange last Saturday and it proved to be one of the most interesting meetings for the year. The lecturer presented an excellent program and the song service was led by E. H. Libby, secretary of the M. S. G. Mr. Libby spoke at length on "Doing Good" and "Speaking Well of Others."

Walter Ayer introduced the question of the 48-hour law, and Mr. Libby explained and gave many reasons why the people of Maine should oppose such a law. E. E. Light presented a resolution relative to same, which was tabled for discussion at the coming meeting of Sept. 1st. The Grange voted to instruct the secretary to ask every subordinate grange to discuss the measure and to notify the Pomona secretary of said vote before Sept. 1.

Visitors present from Lincoln County were so delighted with the program that they felt well paid for making the effort to be present on such a hot day.

The people of Knox County are looking forward with much pleasure to the big day with Pleasant Valley Grange, Aug. 18. It will be a treat to have here U. S. Senator Bert M. Fernald as the speaker.

EVELESS PENINSULA

That's What They Call Athos of Greece—It Is a Queer Community.

"The Athos Peninsula in Greece, to which the Patriarch of Constantinople, head of the Greek Church, has retired because of pressure from the Turkish government, is one of the queerest communities and has one of the strangest governments in the world," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"On the 200 odd square miles of this rough peninsula which lacks little of being an island, it has been unlawful since 1045 for a woman to set foot. Moreover, so far as sex discrimination extended that female domestic animals are barred! Even the eggs and milk that the good monks of Athos eat and drink must come, therefore, from farms safely across the border of the strange monastic republic that Athos harbors.

Preserves Treasures of Byzantium
The entire peninsula is given up to monasteries of which there are twenty, mostly on the slopes or cliffs of Mt. Athos, the 6,250 foot promontory that rises near the outer end of the headland. There are one or more monasteries for each of the countries, or in some cases the communities that accept the Greek rite—Greece, Russia, Serbia, Bulgaria, Anatolia, Constantinople and many others. The religious communities of Mt. Athos were the pampered children of Byzantium in its later days, and great wealth was showered on them by the emperors, a number of whom sojourned there. The monasteries are today one of the richest repositories of the illuminated manuscripts, statues, paintings, mosaics and other works of art produced in the heyday of that gilded Eastern Rome.

"The monks of Mt. Athos have traditions of the beginnings of their establishments as early as the days of Constantine the Great, about 300 A. D. But history tells of the foundation of the earliest of the present monasteries, that of Lavra, in 969. The latest was established in 1545, a century after the fall of Byzantium.

Monasteries Fortified
"Athos is rough and heavily wooded, with many caves and indentations, but with few landing places. The monasteries are in every conceivable situation: some on gentle slopes near the sea, some on lofty crags overhanging the beating surf, and others inland on shoulders of the Sacred Mountain. All consist of walled spaces in which are churches, chapels, dwelling houses or dormitories, guest abodes, libraries, and in the case of the establishments under a non-individualistic regime, refectories. The East has always been turbulent, and Mt. Athos knows its East; so all the enclosures are fortified. Around the monasteries are olive groves, vineyards and other fruit plantations, worked by the monks and the lay brothers who together make up practically the whole population of this strange region.

"The government of Mt. Athos has been republican in form for more than 550 years—since 1069, 9 years before the Normans conquered England. Each monastery elects a representative who is sent to the centrally situated village of Karyes which is the capital. There the delegates occupy a dwelling owned by his abbey and constituting a sort of 'embassy' building. The twenty representatives sit at the Most Blessed Assembly of the Sacred Mount, a parliament more venerable than that of London, if that body be dated from the recognition of the elective principle. The executive of Mt. Athos is a body of five monks chosen by the monasteries voting in groups of four. Four of these executives each keep in his custody a quarter of the great seal of the 'republic' and the fifth, the secretary, carries a handle which locks the fragments together.

Ring Only Bells in Turkey
"Until the Balkan Wars which preceded the World War Mt. Athos was in Turkish territory. But ever since the advent of the Turks in Europe, the community has been privileged. It submitted to the Sultan Murad II even before the fall of Byzantium, and was dealt with leniently, though required to pay tribute. The monasteries of Athos for a long time had the only bells permitted to ring in the whole Turkish Empire, for bells are an abomination to the Moslem. But the use of bells is limited by the Turks, and the monks fell into the habit of pounding a suspended board instead. In many of the Mt. Athos monasteries it is still the dull thumps and whacks of such a bell-substitute that call the monks to rise in the mornings and to gather for religious services."

Mrs. Evelyn Smith, Lane's Island, spent last Saturday at the lighthouse, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robinson.

MATINICUS ROCK

Fog days have arrived for the usual attention.

Miss Pauline V. Beal has gone to Jonesport for her vacation.

We are yet watching two lights at this station and think it is perfectly all right. We know that in the near future work is to begin and one light will vanish. It is very nice to sit down and see the work can go on just the same but it looks like a big job to us when they take one man from here especially when the days get shorter and two men are required to make the trip after mail and supplies, one man at the waters edge when the boat gets back to the slip landing and one man in the boat house to run the engine.

There has been lots of company with us this summer. Mrs. A. J. Beal has entertained Mrs. Daniel Stevens of Monhegan and Mrs. Theodore B. Walcott of Greenfield, Mass.

Mrs. F. O. Hill has entertained her sister Mrs. S. G. Robinson of St. George and a nephew E. H. Robinson, his wife and son John from Somerville, Mass.

Keeper and Mrs. Freeman Beal had for company Rev. Mr. Brewster of Rockland.

Miss Julia Young, the Misses Jennie and Nola Young, Miss Ruth Young, Miss Evelyn Belcher of Matinicus and Miss Doris Temple of Reading, Mass., were guests of Mrs. Beal and Mrs. Hill.

For the weekend Capt. Hill entertained his brother Cyrus from St. George and two uncles, Fred and Peter Hill from Thomaston—kind of a family gathering. Mr. Hill's father has been living here since last November. We all call him Grampa. He was pleased to meet his son and two brothers on the Rock. The trip out here will not be forgotten by the Hill family.

boys from Thomaston, who are in the 70s, and who sure enjoyed the trip. Special mention must be made about Uncle Fred. He was just carried away with the Rock, expressed a great desire to live here, and if he was just a wee bit younger we would expect to hear he had entered the service and was waiting to get a job on the Rock. We had hard work to keep him out of a boat, the whistle made him sleep. His one great wish was to capture a rum-runner to take to America as a souvenir. On their return trip they were accompanied by Grampa Hill, who has gone for his vacation.

The next stop was at the home of Charles S. D. Godfrey, who writes the interesting Waterman's Beach letters for The Courier-Gazette. We had a pleasant chat with him and some neighbors who were there. These proved to be old friends of Mrs. Hall's. His mother Mrs. Ellen Conant, was with them and they are old friends and neighbors, also relatives of Mr. Hall. Mrs. Ellen Conant's brother, Fernando Philbrick, makes his home with them, a remarkable man of his 80 years. Mr. Philbrick is building an addition on the house, doing nearly all the work himself.

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Perry enjoyed a delightful motor trip Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Hall. The weather was fine and Mr. and Mrs. Hall such good company, coupled with a comfortable Buick, a bounteous lunch, an ideal spot, that it made a perfect day. THE COUNTY FAIR

Preparations for the Thomaston County Fair on Aug. 23, are in full swing, and while by no means all of the attractions are planned yet, or the committees settled, we can present the names of some of the chairmen so that you may know to whom to telephone that bright idea of yours:

Morning Street Parade: Miss Ida Elliott and Miss Nida Vesper.

Children's Parade: Mrs. Ruby Peabody.

Music: A big band concert in the evening: Miss Anne Hanley.

Afternoon Entertainment after the Children's Parade: Miss Vidua Gardiner.

Sandwiches: Miss Anna Dillingham.

Sandwiches No. 2: Mrs. Abbie Feyler.

If you're in doubt about which of these 28 committees meet your case, or if you want—well, anything in general about the County Fair—try Miss Mary McPhail—she knows.

When you remember that some of these separate committees will use the services of 10, 20 or more people (mercy, yes! each of the parades runs 'way up into the scores!) you realize that the County Fair is some little undertaking for a town of our size. But it is precisely because it is the whole town's enterprise, in which the co-operation grows more hearty and effective every year, that it is possible at all, and gives promise for 1923 of being bigger and better than ever.

The Committee.

The funeral services of the late Jacob U. Farrington, Civil War veteran, and long time resident of Rockland, were held Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. Farrington's sister, Mrs. F. W. S. Langmaid, 351 Old County road, Rev. E. V. Allen of the Methodist church officiated. The burial was in the Rockland cemetery.

The deceased was born in this city in 1844, a son of Silas and Elizabeth Farrington. He left the farm, like many another Maine lad, when the Civil War broke out, enlisting in 1862 as a private in the Second Maine Battery. He participated in most of the many battles in which this battery was engaged, and remained in the service until the close of the war. His specific duty was to drive the horses which drew one of the guns.

Returning to Rockland he worked on the farm in the quaries and as lumberjack teamster. This city was practically always his home, and the 79 years of his life meant the accumulation of a very large number of friends, who all were found "Jake" true blue and possessed of sturdy citizenship qualities. He seldom missed the reunions of his battery, and at the 50th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg was one of 15 veterans from this section who visited the famous battlefield. His failing health was first noticed a few years ago; a shock July 27, was speedily followed by his demise.

Mr. Farrington was twice married, his first wife being Anna Martin of Seabrook, and the second Elizabeth Moore. He is survived by one son, Maynard Farrington, of Somerville, Mass.; and one sister, Mrs. Langmaid.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. S. Cobb and Miss Helen Cobb are spending a few days in Bangor. Miss Ruth Cobb, who has been enjoying the summer abroad, sails from England Aug. 25, and will spend the balance of the season in Rockland, a pleasure which not even the fascination of a European tour would make her willing to forego.

Dr. and Mrs. Dexter Clough of Portland were in the city this week, and called on their cousin, Mrs. Gardner Wheeler, 34 Holmes street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Armstrong of Malden, Mass., motored to Rockland this week. Mr. Armstrong returned to Malden Thursday. Mrs. Armstrong remains for the rest of the summer with her sister, Mrs. Gardner Wheeler, 34 Holmes street.

Mrs. Frank Smith and son Bobbie of Boston, accompanied by Mrs. Smith's brother-in-law, Harry Gilladette of Coopersville, N. Y., arrived Wednesday and joined Mrs. Gilladette and son for the remainder of the summer at the J. C. Jordan home, Gay street.

Miss Alsy Hemenway has returned to Boston after passing three weeks as the guest of her parents.

Mrs. John C. Beggs has returned to her home in Vinalhaven after a short visit with her sister, Mrs. E. V. Talbot, Main street.

Miss Martha Wight is prolonging her visit in Baltimore until September, when she plans to come to Rockland. She is stopping at present at 3214 Auckentorly Terrace, Baltimore.

Miss Hazel Spear, who has been employed as stenographer for several years in Bangor, leaves Bangor, Aug. 27, for Pasadena, Calif., where she may conclude to locate after a visit with Mrs. Alice Penner. She will make the Western trip with Miss Lucile F. Winslow, who is returning to Pasadena, after a home visit of several weeks.

Dr. Leland Gilchrist and sisters, Miss Daisy Gilchrist and Miss Ida Gilchrist arrived Monday from Montclair, N. J., and are occupying the Rose cottage at Crescent Beach for a month.

The Chapin Class had an enjoyable picnic at Cooper's Beach last evening, with Mrs. Maud Glidden as hostess. A wienie bat was the feature of the evening.

George R. Ricker (son of Aimee Marsh Ricker) and two companions of Savin Hill, Dorchester, Mass., made Rockland harbor Monday night on George's yacht, the Sport, about a week on the passage from Boston. After taking supper at 73 Broad street, the young man rejoined his crew and the party proceeded to Camden.

C. W. S. Cobb and Arthur B. Richardson are at Moosehead on a short fishing trip.

Miss Verle Lattin, Betty Cusack and Anne Fitzpatrick of Baltimore left for home yesterday after a week of Maine summer which they found entirely to their liking. During their Rockland stay they were guests at The Laurie.

Ira Sidelinger is spending a few days in North Wadoboro, the guest of his brother, James A. Sidelinger.

Mrs. Lovina Whitehouse who has been spending several months in town, the guest of Miss Imogene Parker, returned to Tenant's Harbor yesterday.

Miss Mary A. Smith and brother, Robert S. Smith of Northampton, Mass., are visiting their sister, Mrs. A. M. Clark, Sea street place. Mrs. Smith has been 40 years a printer, joining the staff of the Northampton Daily Herald, when that paper was only three weeks old. She remained with the Herald 19 years, and is now employed in the printing establishment of a Northampton box factory. Mrs. Smith was a welcome caller at The Courier-Gazette office Tuesday.

Mrs. Frank W. Frost of Lawrence, Mass., arrived in the city yesterday for a two weeks' visit with her sons and mother.

All members of the Methewese Club are invited to the home of Mrs. Charles W. Sheldon, 56 Masonic street, Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, to meet Mr. Sheldon's mother, Mrs. Sarah Sheldon of Dresden, who is their guest.

Capt. George Arey of the Sailors Snug Harbor, N. Y., is visiting his daughter Mrs. Clara Stream, Fulton street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. S. Morse entertained a family party at their home on the corner of Main and Broadway. As the guests were present with their husbands and wives, the affair was in the nature of a family reunion. A large table was set under the trees and dinner and supper thus enjoyed in the open.

Miss Maria B. Tolman of Worcester, Mass., arrived Sunday morning for a two weeks' vacation which will be spent with her sister, Mrs. F. L. S. Morse and her cousin, Mrs. A. J. Moody.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clinton Robinson of Aspinwall Hill, Brookline, announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine to William Tarbox, of New York City. Miss Robinson made her debut in Boston, spending several winters in social life here and in New York and then became associated with many philanthropic and educational interests in her home city. She will best be remembered as an active public speaker in the suffrage campaigns in Massachusetts and New York. She is a member of the Sewing Circle and the Vincent Club, but the past few years has spent much of her time travelling. Mr. Tarbox was formerly associated with the Eastern Steamship Company and now assistant manager of the Prince George Hotel in New York. The wedding will take place in Boston in October after the return of Mrs. Robinson who has been travelling in California and the Northwest since last April.

Mrs. A. G. Boynton and daughter Inez of Woburn, Mass., are visiting Mrs. Charles Lindsey, Brewster street.

Dr. F. O. Bartlett leaves Sunday for a fortnight in New York City, during which he will take a well-earned rest and incidentally browse around among the big hospitals.

Mrs. Willis Kossuth and daughter Arlene of Vinalhaven were visitors in this city Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtney E. Foster of Roxbury, Mass., and Miss Mary Southwick of Lynn, are the guests of Mrs. W. H. Thomas, Masonic street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Berry are cottaging for a week at Cooper's Beach.

Miss Charlotte Buffum arrives home today from a visit of three weeks with relatives in Woonsocket, R. I.

Mrs. G. Milton Friese entertains this afternoon with three tables of auction at the home of her mother, Mrs. Annie F. Simmons.

Miss Elizabeth Breardon is in St. John, N. B., where she went with her sister, Mrs. Malcolm Morris. Mrs. Morris was a guest in Rockland when word was received Sunday of the sudden death of Mr. Morris.

The many friends of Kitty McLaughlin, a Rockland girl who has won a large place in the musical world, will be pleased to learn that she is to spend a part of the summer in her home city, where she expects to arrive about August 14, to remain until after the concert at the Universalist church on Aug. 21.

The arrival of steamship Southern Cross in New York Tuesday, from Brazil, is of interest to friends here, as Mrs. Harold Karl and children were passengers and are expected to arrive in Rockland directly.

Leo Bova, proprietor of the Hotel Lorraine in Boston, has been shaking hands with old-time friends, who are always more than glad to see him, recalling the far-off days when he lived among them as "Levi Bow." Mr. and Mrs. Bova and their son are on a motor trip, guests at the Owl's Head Inn, and return to Boston next Monday.

One of the most enjoyable picnics in the history of the Rubenstein Club was held yesterday, when 43 of its members and guests motored to Owl's Head and had dinner at the Owl's Head Inn, followed by an extremely happy afternoon at the cottage of Mrs. Ruth McBeath. Preceding the dinner, when the members were seated, Mrs. Copping spoke briefly of the late President, then lying in state in Washington, and all bowed their heads in silent tribute to that great and good man.

A most delicious dinner was served. Mrs. Ruth Sanborn favored the club with several plain selections. The afternoon at Mrs. McBeath's cottage was particularly delightful, the cloudless sky, refreshing breeze, and the congenial atmosphere of this gathering serving to make it a happy memory. Sandwiches, small cakes and tea were served. The guests in departing expressed their appreciation of Mrs. McBeath's courtesy and also gave a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. Katharine Marshall for the able way in which her committee had made and carried out the arrangements for the picnic.

Mrs. Rodney Weeks entertained at luncheon Wednesday at the Edwards cottage at Ash Point.

Miss Hazel Reed of Bangor is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Reed, 117 North Main street for a three weeks' visit.

Mrs. Mary Perry, Mrs. N. F. Cobb, Mrs. Merrick of Greenville, S. C., and Miss Ada Perry are guests for the week of Mrs. George Pattee at her cottage at Lake Auburn.

Miss Carrie Quinn of Hope is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Payson for a few days.

Miss Caroline Stahl who has been the guest of Miss Edith Bicknell returned to Tenant's Harbor yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young and son Henry of Southboro, Mass., and Miss Hannah Hill of Boston arrived yesterday and are guests of Mr. Young's sisters, Misses Ada and Alena Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Andrews entertained a party of friends at a picnic dinner Sunday at their home on Norton's Island. A delicious dinner was served on the shore, not forgetting the watermelon and clams. Edward Gonia, Ray Easton and George Brackett made a very attractive picture in their rubber boots digging clams, while others enjoyed themselves in a game of baseball. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Andrews, daughters Thelma, Dorothy, Catherine and Marguerite, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gonia, Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Choate and daughter Dorothy, Mrs. Stillman Choate, Mrs. H. L. Higgins, Mrs. H. R. Mullen, daughters Marion and Vivian, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Easton and daughter Vera, George Brackett, Charlie Higgins and Celia Dyer. Out of town guests were Miss Nina Marble of Boston, Mrs. Humphrey of Florida, Mr. Perkins and son Edward of Boston.

THE DEAD POET

[For The Courier-Gazette]
"You exile me but not my song."
A poet once sang an immortal song,
Sweetly his notes were pealing loud and long;
The world took up the song with eager tone,
But left the singer standing all alone.

Still at their feet he threw the gems of thought,
Bright, sparkling, as by angel fingers wrought,
Poured out his soul in music from his throat,
Gave his whole heart to each word-pleasing note;

And starving in a garret day by day
He struggled on and worked his life away,
Sent his sweet music ringing far and wide,
Laid down his pen—and there alone he died.

A marble shaft is towering toward the sky,
In beauty shining great and grand and high,
Speaking the praises of a lordly name—
Dead he is great, in life unknown to fame.

EVERYBODY HAPPY
At Lawn Party On N. B. Cobb Estate Yesterday — Eighty Present.

This is the invitation which made possible the story below:

MADELINE CYNTHIA AMES
ALBERT COBB PETERSON
CLARENCE AMES PETERSON
Will Entertain at a Lawn Party
Wednesday, August 8, 1923
5 Granite Street
From 3 to 5 P. M.
And Would Like to Have You Come

There was a gathering of the clans of Rockland's youngest social set on the N. B. Cobb lawn, corner of Granite and Main streets yesterday afternoon which proved to be one of the biggest events in Kidland's 1923 social calendar.

Some eighty youngsters were invited and long before the appointed hour of 3 o'clock the eager ones began to arrive. They found the beautiful lawn with the handsome Cobb residence for a background in gala attire. The white fence was wreathed in pine and green crepe streamers and multi-colored balloons floated from every picket. The lawn itself was liberally carpeted with rugs and plentifully supplied with chairs of all sizes. The new sun dial came in for its share of attention and a brass cannon, recently imported from Belfast, (Maine) had many ardent admirers.

The great center of interest however was the cake table, a delicate study in pink and white, bearing four rose-hued cakes with a pin clad doll, the childhood possession of one of the hostesses, Mrs. Albert S. Peterson, serving as a centerpiece with numerous pink and white streamers extending to all parts of the table. Here the youngsters gathered wearing their gaudy paper hats and bearing balloons like Joseph's coat, while Mrs. Lucia Burpee cast the birthday cakes.

Refreshments of strawberry ice cream, animal crackers, cookies and lollipops were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Ralph Merrill and daughters Eleanor and Fay. Mrs. Flora Ames, Mrs. Mary Mendell, Mrs. Agnes Shaw, Mrs. Frances Gray, Mrs. Edna Dunbar and supervised by the proud and beaming father, Albert S. himself. Such a deliciously happy afternoon as the children had must be accompanied with some parental dilemmas and some ludicrous incidents. An example of the first was the desperate attempt of three score parents to stop all conversation while the official picture was taken and a side splitting incident followed when a white clad and well starched youth from a neighboring town attempted to swim across Granite street after the motor sprinkler passed.

Mrs. Albert S. Peterson, Mrs. Avaughn Ames and Miss Madeline Ames were hostesses for the charming affair. Aug. 8 is the birthday of Albert Cobb Peterson and Madeline Cynthia Ames, while the natal day of Clarence Ames Peterson was so near that he agreed to celebrate with them. It developed that Aug. 8 was also the birthday of Ruth Spaulding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spaulding and Miss Ruth promptly became an honor guest with the discovery. The story of the affair would not be complete without mention being made of the happiest person in all the big gathering, who kept modestly in the background as is his custom, N. B. Cobb.

The roster of youthful guests reads: Barbara Derry, Lucille and Glenia Rankin, Pauline Healey, Mary Jones, Nathalie Jones, Marjorie and Billie Smith, Priscilla, Donald and Robert Saunders, Eleanor Tibbets, Geraldine Roberts, Katherine and Mary Cole, Bobby and June Miles, Perry and Dorothy Howard, Ruth Marston, Rose and Richard Whitmore, Virginia Proctor, Virginia Wilbur, Norma and Lucille Condon, Eleanor Look, Ruth and Fred Spaulding, Stewart McAlman, Herbert Stover, Russell Campbell, John Crockett, Russell Smith, Grant Davis, Tracy Healey, Richard Ellingwood, Gordon Richardson, Charles Mitchell, Neil Little, Leslie Kaler, Genevieve Bradley, Russell Hewett, Ruth Packard, Robert Hills, Charlotte and Priscilla Staples, Samuel and William Glover, Richard and Maxine Perry, Maude Peterson, Eva Jane McKay, Sterling Morse, Cynthia Greeley, Barbara and Dorothy Perry, Valerie Hovey, Alana North, Virginia McMinn, Francis Havenor, Ralph Tyler, Catherine and Howard Chase, Albert Frederick and Charles Richardson, James Lewis, Sammy Peterson, Rachel and Priscilla Brown, Milton and Ruth Weymouth, Fiske Gove, and Chester Merrill, Jr.

CIGARETTE HAZARD

Insurance Commissioner Cites Carelessness In Rumford Where Big Fire Occurred.

Insurance Commissioner Spencer, declares that every industry is honey-combed with the cigarette hazard. Every automobile or other conveyance scatters it and every individual knows its existence and ignores it.

"A few weeks ago I had occasion to visit Rumford on business in company with other members of the industrial accident commission, continued Commissioner Spencer.

"While there I noticed several valuable building lots made vacant by recent fires and also noted two instances of unjustifiable carelessness on the part of Rumford citizens. One was that of a young man cleaning electric globes in a public hostelry, who lit a cigarette, took a few whiffs from it and left it to burn out on a wooden settle. The other was that of a professional man, of age and undoubted experience, who, while in the town hall, threw a partially consumed cigarette butt into a basket half-filled with waste paper. Neither one of these cases happened to result in a conflagration, but either might have been the occasion of a great fire loss.

This week fire started in a tenement in Rumford and could not be subdued until it is reported to have swept out of existence fifteen mercantile establishments and destroyed thirty homes.

We cannot prove that a cigarette did create this vast amount of devastation, but it easily might. What is true of Rumford can be demonstrated in every city or town in New England.

Whether the cigarette is the cause of a conflagration or not, it is prevalent everywhere and always presents alarming possibilities. What the stealthy club does to terminate life the unsuspected cigarette does to destroy property.

The first cost of cigarettes and lighters is large enough in itself, but no one can estimate the price that the public unwittingly pays for fire losses and replacements.

"A great percentage of the fires today can be traced directly to the careless use of cigarettes and tobacco, not only in the case of buildings and contents but in woodland and forestry districts.

"It does not require investigations by me to convince citizens of Maine that they are confronted by an insidious enemy. They can see daily instances of negligence in this respect anywhere in the State, in all the professions and industries. What can be done? Must the State be destroyed by fire? If every home must be constantly fumigated with smoke from nicotine products and there can be no contentment of mind or enjoyment of life without the cigarette and its attendant rival, the "safety" match, can the people be trusted to use care themselves and admonish others in their use?

"Why not take a lesson from the Rumford fire, whatever its cause, and move forward instead of backward in the development of Maine?"

BEWARE POISON IVY

How Summer Vacationists May Distinguish It and How Poisoning May Be Averted.

Poison ivy is perhaps the plant most frequently encountered by the unsuspecting city visitor to the country, says the Public Health Service. Yet it may be easily distinguished from other creepers by its three divided leaves. The harmless creepers have five leaves. This one distinguishing mark if borne in mind will protect the vacationist from poison ivy. Poison oak is a shrub or small tree with broad leaves very much resembling the leaves of the oak tree.

The part of these plants to be feared is the resinous sap. When a plant is injured this sticky sap exudes. It comes in contact with the skin and sets up an irritation which is distinguished by its acute character. This irritation frequently begins between the fingers.

The symptoms of ivy poisoning are comparatively easy to recognize. A more or less mild attack may be ushered in by a burning or itching of the skin. Within twenty-four hours after the skin is exposed to the poison of the plant, a red rash appears. This is followed by more or less swelling and itching, then small blisters filled with serum make their appearance. The parts of the body affected may swell to enormous proportions.

At one time it was believed that many persons who had suffered from attacks of ivy poisoning would experience a recurrence of the attack if they passed through a wood or came into proximity with the plant even though the ivy itself was not touched. It now appears certain, however, that contact is necessary in order to produce ivy poisoning.

Ivy poisoning says the Public Health Service, may sometimes be averted even after these plants have been handled provided the parts exposed are washed thoroughly with soap, water and alcohol. This washing must, however, be thorough, otherwise it will only tend to spread the irritating poison.

The treatment of ivy poisoning is simple and easily administered. One of the best treatments is bathing with salt water. Sea water is best if it is available. Another good application consists of one teaspoon of boric acid in a quart of hot water. The affected parts should be bathed with warm water every day, or two days, and carefully dried without rubbing. Bathing should be followed by another application of boric acid. The attack may subside in from four to six days. The best advice to vacationists is, study the poison oak, the poison ivy and the poison sumac, that you may distinguish these plants from their neighbors. Once you are able to recognize them you can scrupulously avoid them. Avoid the creeper with three divided leaves. Avoid the small shrub with the broad leaves like the oak. Give the sumac that grows in swampy places a wide berth. Persons who have suffered from plant poisoning do not soon forget the experience.

WITH THE RADIO FANS

(By Maud U. Lation)
Henry Ford and Marcus Lowe are the latest entrants into the broadcasting field. Lowe will establish an elaborate studio in one of his Boston theatres connected direct with one of the nearby stations which will furnish the waves. Henry Ford's venture will be a super-station at Dearborn, Mich., with as large an output as is permitted under Government regulations. Rumors that Ford would use the new station for political purposes has been stoutly denied by him, his statement being that the station would be strictly commercial. Owners of "diver" sets should hear well from the Ford station.

Local fans who had not given up last Thursday night before midnight had the opportunity of getting the first report of President Harding's death from station WOR at Newark shortly after midnight, when a supreme effort was made by this station to broadcast the sad news to the world. Receiving conditions were so bad locally that it is doubtful if many fans were listening in at that time although conditions had improved considerably from those of the early evening. For three hours the message: "The President, Warren G. Harding, is dead," was continuously broadcast from Newark. If anyone in Rockland received this message will he please write the editor of this column.

It has been said by electrical experts that a well protected aerial is as good as lightning rods on the house during a thunder shower. The first real electrical storm of the season of any consequence came last Friday afternoon and probably set many fans to thinking about their switches. It pays to be sure of one's own weather.

Yes, have the Ed Sanson hookup diagram now and will send a copy of same to all who enclose a stamp with their request. It's a great oscillator, a wonder for sharp tuning and a "bear" for distance. And it's fairly simple.

Some requests for the hookup used by Ellis Mills by which he secured the list of stations given in the last Thursday's issue of one tube have come in. I have not received a diagram from Mr. Mills but from his description I believe that the circuit is like the Greene receiver as featured by the Boston Globe last winter. Fans interested in this receiver can secure plans for building their own by writing the radio editor of the Globe and enclosing postage to cover costs and mailing.

It is understood from a letter received from 1B2S that station WMB has been off the air since January. This probably accounts for the fact that so few local fans have received this Maine station. Personally I wasn't incurably bitten by the radio "bug" until after that.

Elmer Davis of the Security Trust Co. carried a portable receiver with him on his vacation tour this year. He plans to spend one night listening in to station WGY at close range.

THE LEVIATHAN'S RADIO

Storage Batteries Hold Reserve Power For Emergencies—Mr. House Explains.

Elaborate precautions are taken to maintain, in the event of emergency, radio communication between the Leviathan and the rest of the world.

This system of emergency radio on the Leviathan is explained by Ernest House of the local Exide Battery Service Station. Should the main set, which is the greatest ship's radio in the world, become disabled, an emergency set will provide the means of communication with the nearest stations. This set is equipped with an Exide battery of 60 cells, which is held in reserve, ready at all times to furnish the current that may be needed in case of trouble to send broadcast the call for help.

This emergency power equipment, according to Mr. House is not the only provision to insure uninterrupted service from the electrical equipment of the Leviathan. Incidentally, its electrical equipment is probably the most elaborate of any ship's today. For instance, 600 inter-cabin telephones furnish facilities for the passengers to converse with one another from their staterooms. These, as well as the interior communication system, are operated by Exide batteries.

Another of the many emergency units of storage batteries is that held in reserve in the event of the failure of the mighty generators, which supply the current for the thousands of lights throughout the ship. Should these generators fail, a sufficient part of the lighting load would be automatically taken up by an Exide battery of 120 cells. Thus, confusion and possible panic that might follow the failure of the lights would be prevented.

One of the many devices which make the Leviathan the safest ship in the world for ocean travel is the "clear vision screen." This is a glass disc, electrically driven at 2000 r. p. m. It enables the Leviathan's officers to see through rain and mist. Exide batteries, floating on the power line, insure unfailing power for this and many other of these devices with which the Leviathan is equipped for safety purposes.

WOMEN USED TO FAINT

When They Heard Voice Over Telephone Wire—Too Much For Fair Sex

The woman radio enthusiast who thrills with wonder when she succeeds in picking up a concert broadcast from some distant point probably does not realize that her sister of a generation or two ago experienced fully as marked an emotional upheaval when she first heard a voice over an ordinary telephone.

Sometimes these first experiences with Bell's invention were attended by results that were almost serious, according to W. D. McKinney, a pioneer telephone man of Columbus, O., who entered the business at the bottom, in the days when boys were employed as operators.

"Why, when I first started to work, as a boy, women used to faint when they heard a voice on the other end of the wire," Mr. McKinney declares, "They thought it was supernatural." "The exchanges were bedlam," he says. "Girls were not employed. The old Bell and Edison companies in the twenties hired boys preferably thick-skinned, to handle the calls. At first there were no numbers and only names were used in switching the calls from line to line.

"We boys stood in a row along the switchboard. When a call came in, a boy would yell to another down the board: 'Give me Old Man Hawkins' and the calls had to be crossed between the different parts of the board." "The first 'multiple' switchboard, the forerunner of the telephone switchboard of today was put in service in 1879. Shortly after its appearance, women were first employed as operators and soon displaced the boy switchboard attendants.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Those who have not seen "The Woman He Loved" have missed a good picture and some splendid entertainment. It closes its engagement to-night. It is a splendid dramatic feature with plenty of thrills.

Tomorrow and Saturday our very own Dustin Farnum will be the featured player. Cast in the role of a western hero in which he always excels, you will enjoy the rapid-fire action as it unfolds to thrill you and entertain you. "The Barrier" will be remembered long after the engagement has passed for its splendid rugged story and he-man action. A Harold Lloyd comedy, Screen Snapshots and "The Social Buccaneer" complete the big weekend program.

Coming Monday and Tuesday, Gladys Walton in "Sawdust."—adv.

PARK THEATRE

Any time wife sits at the window listening for the rattle of the taxicab, and hearing, instead, the rattle of the milk cans, she visualizes hubby emmeshed in the silken coils of a lady exactly like the Vampire in "A Fool There Was," the great picture which ends its engagement today.

There are thousands of vampires in real life and tens of thousands of fools. Just take a look over the newspapers any day. In producing the 1922 version of "A Fool There Was," William Fox has kept his vampire up to date. You can read her story anytime in the newspaper reports.

Coming Friday and Saturday—Park patrons will welcome the news that "The Lamp in the Desert," Ethel M. Dell's "best seller," is to be the attraction. This picture is said to be a great attraction, since the popularity of the book rivals any other story of its kind. Miss Dell is declared to be the best-known writer of love stories in this country, and for this reason her first screen classic will prove a special magnet for regular patrons of the theatre, as well as others. It is a fascinating story and has many dramatic climaxes.—adv.

STRAND THEATRE

"The Glorious Fool," playing today lives up to all the good things heard about it. Mary Roberts Rhinehart, author of the story, has an uncanny sense of comedy values on the screen without ever becoming commonplace. For her latest Goldwyn picture, she has chosen the scene of her first professional work, a large city hospital, for the background. Here we find a pretty little probationer—Mrs. Rhinehart may have had herself in mind—whose sympathy for her patient is so deep that when, in delirium, he begs her to marry him so that his relatives who are waiting for him to die in order to inherit his wealth will be disappointed, she painfully consents. But the patient does not pass away. He takes a quick turn for the better and the poor nurse finds herself in a quandary. However, the patient is delighted. Love never stops at means. And in this case the man knows his own mind and sets out to help his nurse make up hers. How he does it, and at the same time helps his wife-nurse bring about the reconciliation of another patient with her husband, is delightfully told in "The Glorious Fool."

H. B. Warner has a powerful role

Friday and Saturday in "Dire of Destiny." "A man may be down, but he's never out!" Against Jimmy Doyle, the dice of life were loaded. Once out of jail he swore to go straight and care for the daughter of his old gang-leader. The "coops" had him labelled as the slickest, coolest, slipperiest and best-looking jewel thief that ever rubbed sandpaper on his fingers. The "bulls" sought the woman. If they "framed" him now, Jimmy threatened death to the chief hell-bounder. They did "frame" him! But the dice favored Jimmy! And at the climax second, when Jimmy had the detective, with his life depending on Jimmy's steady hand, Jimmy did the unexpected. He's a true-blue, big-hearted, romantic devil. Like his pal, "Alas Jimmy Valentine," he'll steal your heart and give it back to you. The Friday afternoon performance will be omitted out of respect to the late President Harding.—adv.
