A GREAT PITCHERS' DUEL

Seen In Saturday's Game At Oakland Park When Rockland Defeated Camden 4 To 3.

I SAW ELMER DAVIS

at the Knox County championship game Saturday. An 18k baseball fan is this popular young banker, and he's so much interested in the sport that he forgets to take along his radio set—the faithful companion of all his other travels. My earliest recollection of Elmer places him as a kid, setting 10 candles on 10 black spots, meantime, entertaining the bowlers with a voice that gave considerable promise. Events have moved swiftly with him since those days, and he is now treasurer of the Security Trust Co. The Country Club appreciates his services as chairman of the house committee, but as a golfer and conversationalist he surrenders to Jimmy—The Sporting Editor.

The local baseball season closes next Saturday when Rockland again faces Camden, this time in Camden. Many things have intervened to prevent a successful season, but in spite of them there have been many good games, and Saturday's dramatic climax leaves all the fans hungry for a continuation of the sport when the frost comes out of the ground in the spring of 1924. The fact that the Twilight League did not complete its schedule should not be taken as an indication that there will be no Twilight League next season. On the contrary, its advocates should be able to profit by the mistakes of the past summer, and frame a league which should not encounter similar difficulties. Local baseball is all right, but the fans are now educated to a desire to see more than one or two games a week. They enjoy those evening gatherings, the excellent brand of baseball which can be provided, but for the sociability which they offer. This is the day of the automobile, and residents of two counties now mingle where there is a Twilight League game. Folks are becoming better acquainted, and learning that there is a lot of life in which they had not suspected. If the Twilight League can accomplish this, by all means continue its existence.

It is fair to assume that the new Broadway Athletic Field will be the scene of baseball operations next summer, though not the exclusion of Oakland Park, where a large sum of money has been expended in the development of a good baseball park—without which Rockland would have had practically no baseball the past two seasons. If there is a Twilight League next season why not play on alternate nights at the two parks?

Also if Rockland is to be a real factor in baseball why not start in the early summer as Camden does, and arrange a season's schedule? It is true that Rockland has no baseball benefactor like Edward W. Bok, but if Rockland cannot support a local ball team in a brief new park let's get out of the game, and pitch horseshoes. The Sporting Editor will welcome any communications along this line.

Rockland 4, Camden 3

Knox County sporting circles were well represented at Oakland Park Saturday afternoon when Rockland and Camden met there to fight it out for the county championship. Camden sent down a large delegation to cheer for its representative, and it may well be proud of the splendid showing made by Captain Cottrell's loyal crew. The good plays on both sides were cheered impartially and while the spectators were strongly partisan in their hopes there was an entire absence of the ill-feeling which has too often marred the contests between the shire town and the Megunticook town. The presence of the new fact figures speak for themselves. Camden made only four hits off Feehan, but they were for a total of nine bases. Rockland made six hits off Foster but they were for a total of only eight bases. Feehan struck out 11 men to Foster's 13, but Foster gave two bases on balls to Feehan's one, and contributed two wild pitches to the latter's none. An expert would probably call that a pretty even contest, and about the only way out of it seems to be to call it a draw.

and give both hurlers the praise that justly belongs to them.

Interest in the game was sustained not only by the excellent playing, but by the fact that the teams were alternately in the lead. It was in fact "anybody's game" until the last inning when Oney made that wonderful one-hand catch of Cottrell's ferocious liner. "I didn't have time to get both hands on it," Oney told the writer. What Cottrell said about it is not quite so printable. He saw the prospects of victory take wing in that play and with it the county championship.

The game opened rather auspiciously for Rockland. Camden was first at bat and Feehan struck out the first three men to the scratch. When it came Rockland's turn Oney led off with a clean single. McDonald's sacrifice sent him to second, and he scored on a passed ball and wild pitch. Well he did, for the next two men fanned.

Best Cottrell could do in the second inning was to hit an easy one to pitcher. So did the next man, Foster, but Feehan's fingers were all thumbs this time and Foster was called safe. He scored on Wardwell's triple, but the latter player was thrown out at the plate.

Rockland again took the lead in the third, when McPhee doubled, and Oney's second single sent him home.

Camden tied it up in the fourth inning. Cottrell knocked a screaming grounder close to third base. Kenney got a belated start for it, evidently, judging it to be a foul, and the hit went for a triple. Cottrell scored on Foster's double, but Bill was nabbed at third, to the delight of the yaggers who were out after his scalp.

Camden passed into the lead in the fifth inning, after two men had been retired. Chandler was passed, but was at second, Feehan to McDonald, Plaisted having fanned. Meantime, Willey, who had reached first on the forceout, stole second, and was scored by Ferris Thomas's long line hit.

This run asked awful big until the last half of the sixth, when Kenney's double scored McDonald who had reached first on an error and Dimick who had singled. And then the music of the Rockland cohorts submerged the stentorian shouts of the soloist who had been rooting so enthusiastically for Camden.

Neither side scored in the last three innings, the features of which were the running catch by Mealey and Oney's catch, already noted.

The score:

LEGION CONVENTION

Col. Butler Re-elected State

Finance Officer—Healey a

Delegate To San Francisco.

At the State convention of the American Legion in Presque Isle last week John G. Towne of Waterville was elected commander. The other officers include Walter H. Butler of Rockland as finance officer, Leslie Dyer of Vinalhaven as member of the State executive committee from Knox county; and Dr. James Laughlin of Damariscotta, member of the State executive committee from Lincoln county.

William S. Healey of Rockland was elected delegate to the national convention in San Francisco. Franz Burkett of Portland, a former Union boy, will also attend the convention as a delegate.

Retiring Commander Perley Ford was presented with a handsome gold past commander's ring by the convention and expressed his appreciation of this gift of remembrance.

The Maine department took a firm stand in support of the French occupation of the Ruhr, the convention passing with a cheer and a rising vote this resolution in support of their late comrades in arms.

Whereas Alvin H. Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, has on several separate occasions set forth in no uncertain terms his view that the French occupation of the Ruhr territory is under the present circumstances fully justified; whereas declaration in support of the action of France has been made by the national executive committee of the American Legion, be it hereby resolved that the department of Maine, the American Legion, in convention assembled, commands National Commander Owsley for his stand and places itself wholeheartedly behind France in its effort to obtain satisfaction for reparations debt from Germany."

The convention also called on all public officials, citizens and newspapers to give their support to the movement initiated by the Legion to call an international conference to end the race among the nations of the world for supremacy in military air armaments and pledges its whole-hearted support to bring about such a conference in the immediate future.

The citizens of Presque Isle left nothing undone in the way of hospitality. The next convention will be held in August.

Sergeant George J. Wood represented the local Post at the convention.

HELP FOR THE JAPANESE

Never has there been quicker response to calls of distress than that made by America to supply the needs of stricken Japan. In less than a week two-thirds of the $5,000,000 called for by the American Red Cross has been subscribed. But no cause ever appealed more earnestly to our sympathies. As announced in the Saturday issue of this paper, the Knox County Chapter is to make no personal canvass for the $900 which is its quota of the nationwide fund. The appeal is so direct and urgent that it ought easily to be cared for through offerings of freewill. The following contributions have been received in Rockland:

Foreign tourists who visit the United States should not form their opinions of the liquor situation from the lurid accounts of the exploits of bootleggers and rum runners which appear in the newspapers. Let them follow the legislative history of prohibition in this country for the past 75 years, beginning with the Neal Dow movement in Maine. During all of that period the movement for the suppression of the liquor traffic has been growing stronger. State legislatures have enacted numerous and varied prohibition laws, and finally popular opinion in favor of prohibition became so strong as to control the Congress. As limitation, and finally prohibition, of intoxicating liquor has gained the upper hand it has been bitterly fought by the wet interests, but they have been unavailing to turn the trend of public thought. The present struggle for the enforcement of the law will bring many discouragements, but that it will eventually succeed is just as certain as the success that attended liquor laws of less far-reaching application that preceded it.

The story of the Ku Klux Klan in Maine, as told by a representative of the Boston Herald sent here to report upon the rise and growth of the "invisible empire," makes interesting reading. So far as we are able to judge the reporter is presenting the details of his investigation without any attempt to color them one way or another. We conclude from the manner in which the Herald is early "sold out" at the news stands that its series of articles is arousing much attention.

The holding off of frosts with the resultant retained freshness of flowers and foliage lengthens the summer to a degree that vacationists highly appreciate. It is too bad that the "city people" have to run home just as Maine's always beautiful autumnal season is getting into its stride.

A question for the Grange debaters: Which is the more entitled to public esteem, the cat that kills birds or the dog that kills cats?

Capt. M. M. Brown of Camden, who is convalescing in the Masonic Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial Hospital at Utica, N. Y., writes to The Courier-Gazette: "The inhabitants of Utica were craning their necks last week watching an aeroplane stunt which was quite a novelty. Skywriting was the game. Lieut. Bradley, in the interest of the American Tobacco Co., wrote the name of a brand of cigarettes in white smoke ten thousand feet in the air, on two consecutive days. The letters were a mile high and were very distinct against the background of blue sky and 'stayed put' nearly a half hour. The smoke is produced chemically and issues from the tail of the airship in a straight stream. After a letter is completed the smoke is cut off for an interval while the operator gets in position to form the next letter. It was a very interesting exhibition."

NEW CHARTER IS ADOPTED

Citizens Show Scant Interest, But Majority Is Affirmative—Lower Board Abolished—Elections Will Be Held In December Biennially.

Rockland voted yesterday to accept the new city charter authorized at the last session of Legislature. The total number of ballots cast was less than 20 per cent of the city's total voting population, and the advocates had only a margin of 48, but the result is as effective as though everybody had voted, and the new regime which many business men believe to be synonymous with progression will become effective on the first Monday of March, 1924.

The tabulation of yesterday's vote shows the following summary:

Ward	Yes	No
1	29	23
2	45	29
3	79	59
4	56	29
5	36	22
6	31	48
7	21	39
Total	297	249

Five of the seven wards voted in the affirmative, those which preferred to retain the present charter being Wards 6 and 7. In Ward 1 there was a difference of only six votes in a total of 52.

The citizens appeared to take little or no interest in the election, as evidenced by the fact that the total vote of the seven wards was 12 less than was cast in Ward 3 alone at the municipal election last March. It was a matter of comment that even the advocates of the new charter did not appear to be making any special effort. The hours dragged wearily for the officials in charge of the polling places.

The City Government elected last March, and the subordinate officers elected by that body will serve the full term for which they were chosen. The first election under the new charter will be held next March, at which time a new City Government will be elected whose term of office will not expire until the first Monday of January, 1926.

What New Charter Means

An extended description of the new charter appeared in Saturday's issue. With the mass of detail the public concerns itself but little, yet there are some changes which are highly important, and with which the voters are destined sooner or later to exhibit a keen interest. Briefly summarized, they are:

Abolition of Common Council. The desire to do away with the so-called lower board manifested itself long ago, the argument being that it is cumbersome; that it is very difficult to get a quorum after the first few meetings; and that Common Councilmen are selected mainly in the interest of this or that candidate for city office. At the election next March there will be chosen a City Government consisting of a mayor and one alderman from each ward.

Biennial elections: The election next March is the last which will be held on that month, as the new charter provides for elections on the first Monday of December every other year, the first election under this arrangement to be held in December 1925.

Remuneration: The mayor will receive a salary of not less than $1500 a year. The aldermen will be paid at the rate of $5 a meeting.

Subordinate Officers: The department heads will be appointed by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the Board of Aldermen, and serve for two years.

School Committee: The superintending school committee will be elected by the people, and have representation from each ward.

FORTY-EIGHT HOURS

You Vote On Oct. 15 On An Important Act—Have You Studied It?

Every person should vote one way or the other on October 15 on the proposal to limit the hours of work of women and minors in the industries of Maine to 48 hours a week instead of 54 hours a week as at present.

The result will be to limit the operation of all industries where women are employed to continuous operation to 48 hours a week. The proponents admit this; they are not working for women alone; they desire to limit the operation of cotton-mills; shoe-shops and other industries to the 48-hour week.

This proposed act, which will become a law if the "Yes" vote predominate on October 15 next, affects mills, shoe-shops, laundries, hotels, printing shops, newspaper offices, makers of proprietary medicines, shirt factories, bakeries, paper-mills, toy-factories, makers of wood novelties, makers of clothing and women's skirts, cigar-makers, manufacturers of moccasins and hammocks, hair-goods, medicinal plasters, sausages, thread, silks, gloves, clothespins, flavoring extracts, horse-nets, mattresses, candy, paper-boxes, wooden boxes, veneer shooks, ice cream, cake, canned goods, extracts and spices, running twelve months in the year: creamery, extracts and essences, upholstery, jewelry makers, machinery-shops, metal-seal factories, bottle covers, overall and jumpers makers, makers of pickles and condiments, rugs, screens and game-boards, sardine factories and other packing companies (that run throughout the year and have no special seasons); toilet preparations, stove polish, soft drinks, etc.

The total number of people employed in industries in Maine, is 110,875 (see Maine Report of Commission of Labor and Industry, 1920). In 1918 the number was 113,410—showing a drop-off of about 2,500. Of these 30,000 are women workers.

A reduction of six hours a week means a reduction of 11 per cent. in the production of all industries that are dependent on women's work to maintain a present output. It affected 60,000 people, it would mean the wiping out of the product of over 6,500 people in Maine. Proponents of the measure say that as much would be done in 48 hours as is now done in 54 hours. Statistics are prepared on this point. They do not indicate this is the fact. But statistics may be worked in many ways. It is for the average person to use his own judgment on this point.

Opponents of the bill assert that it will damage Maine. They say that it will not fail to attempt to force it on Maine by initiative. It has been twice or three times refused passage by the Legislature. The Legislature has said that it's willing to pass this law when the South and the West pass it; that Maine is at great disadvantage now in long hauls and heavy freights and has a hard time to keep her industries. Only one industrial state making our goods has such a law and that is Massachusetts. Massachusetts is having a hard time to hold her industries. Her supremacy in cotton-manufacturing has passed to the South.

facturing has passed to the South. The bill is rapidly taking a great lead, with 55 hours working condition and 60-hour legal working hours and in many states of the south no restrictions whatever. They say that Maine should not be made the goat through the initiative. New Hampshire and Rhode Island have declined to pass such a bill.

The friends of the bill say that it is a measure of reform and in the interest of health and morals of women. The opponents of the bill say that the condition in our industries is good; they are thoroughly inspected; there are practically no minors employed; that the labor is not damaging the health or the morals of women. No woman can now work over 54 hours in any one week.

The opponents do not oppose the principle of the 48-hour week; they say that Maine should not be forced to go to 48 hours when no effort is being made by proponents of the measure to put over such a law in states where the legal hours of work are sixty or are unlimited.

The ballot is on October 15th. Every-one should look into the subject and be ready on that date.

Quick and easy to install, burns anything. The Glenwood Single-Pipe makes heating easy

If you phoned to us today you could have a Glenwood Single-Pipe Heating System completely installed the day after tomorrow. In most cases two men can put it in complete in a single day.

That would put an end to your fuel troubles for the rest of the winter. For you can burn any kind of fuel in this modern heater—wood, coal, soft coal, coke and even rubbish.

The feed doors of the Glenwood Single-Pipe are made extra wide. You can use large logs. The new wood grate will keep them burning night and day—just like a coal fire.

A Glenwood makes the most of every ounce of fuel. It sends the heat where you want it—not down cellar, through the walls and up the chimney.

Ask us for particulars. We can save fuel for you this winter.

WEATHER THIS WEEK

Weather outlook for the week beginning yesterday in Atlantic States: Generally fair early in the week but with probability of local showers; moderate temperature.

Ernest Crie enters Wentworth Institute, Boston, this fall.

Seems a pity to waste such good weather with no outdoor sports.

Charles Shadle has moved from 27 Pacific street into his new bungalow.

The second story is being boarded in at the N. B. Cobb building on Main street.

Libby Paladino is to occupy the Mont P. Trainer house at the corner of Park and Lisle streets.

Harry Berman and party motor Wednesday to New York where they will see the big fight.

King Solomon Temple Chapter will work the Mark Master degree at a special meeting Thursday.

Edwin Libby Relief Corps holds its regular meeting Thursday with work in the afternoon, and picnic supper.

There were 11 arrests in this city during the month of August, nine for intoxication and two for non-support.

Albion Lovejoy, a well known resident of The Meadows, died Sunday. The funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 o'clock.

The Pythian Sisters will hold their regular meeting Wednesday night. Important business will come before the order.

Neither Rockland High nor Camden High appears on Morse High School's schedule this season. "Smatter? Are the Knox county teams too soft, or too tough?"

Upper Limerock street has some handsome posy beds, as was demonstrated yesterday, when Mrs. John E. Brewster brought to this office a magnificent bouquet of dahlias—large sized and beautifully colored.

There will be a special meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday evening at the club rooms, Elm street, for the purpose of voting on the proposed amendment, also any other business of importance that may come up. All members please attend.

The National Safety Council will hold its 12th annual national safety council at the Statler Hotel in Buffalo, Oct. 15. One of the speakers Oct. 2, in the mining section, will be J. F. McWilliams, electrical engineer of the Pennsylvania Coke Corporation, Crescon, Penn. Mr. McWilliams is a former Rockland boy who has been advancing rapidly into the coal regions.

Knox Pomona Grange holds its next meeting with Highland Grange, East Warren next Saturday. The patrons are requested to carefully look over the little year book, and they will see that every one present has a part on the program. The host lecturer will provide the balance of the program, either from her Grange or the neighboring Granges.

A joint meeting of the Standard Bearers and Women's Foreign Missionary Society will be held in the Methodist vestry Thursday at 7.15. This is the annual meeting and the mite boxes will be opened. At 8 o'clock, Miss Tweedie, a missionary from Japan, will give a lecture on Japan, with slides. The public is cordially invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

James A. French, trackman for the Street Railway, is having his annual vacation, much of which he is devoting to Mrs. French's wonderful flower gardens on Maverick street. Mr. French bore down on The Courier-Gazette office bright and early yesterday morning armed with a large bouquet of the most beautiful gladioli imaginable. Such delicate coloring does not exist on any other flower that grows in a Maine garden.

Two important events were staged yesterday—the city charter election and the eclipse of the sun. The blase public did not seem to be much interested in either. A few noted, if somebody reminded them of it, and now and then somebody ran into the street with a piece of smoked glass and gazed at the poor old sun, which did not appear to be having much of a chance, between the clouds and the moon's shadow. The eclipse was only partial, and lots of folks didn't feel that they had received their money's worth.

In one instance the bookkeeper paid him $5.50, the amount asked, although the device was worth only a few cents. It might be well for Rockland business men or telephone users to be on the watch.

Nineteen members of the Rockland Band, with Secretary MacDonald of the Chamber of Commerce as a special guest, embarked on the high seas Sunday, with Green's Island as their destination. Fish lines were hove overboard in the vicinity of that resort and the bandmen engaged in lively piscatorial competition. Everett Richards won the prize for catching the first fish, and Ed. Young the prize for hauling in the largest fish. After partaking of a lobster stew and fixings, on the island, the boys still had strength enough to indulge in an informal concert. There was also an expedition to Hurricane Island. After giving the granite ledges the once over, the musicians concluded not to buy the place, and started back home well pleased with their outing.

FOR JAPAN'S AID

Red Cross Contributions Coming In—Thomaston, Camden, St. George Over.

Knox County is making a satisfactory response to the appeal of the Red Cross for aid in the succor of Japan. The county quota is $900, and several towns are already over. As stated in the Saturday issue Thomaston promptly volunteered her $100, with more if necessary. Camden has now handed its full allotment of $200 to the treasurer and St. George has completed its assessment of $50.

Rockland is progressing steadily toward its $300, a total of $181 being reported this morning, as per another column.

Contributions may be sent to this office or pledges telephoned or to President Gregory (J. F. Gregory & Sons Co.) or to the Red Cross headquarters, 297 Main street. Checks should be made payable to American Red Cross Japanese Relief. As there is to be no canvassing done the contributions must be voluntary.

The Salvation Army in Rockland collected over the weekend $50 to be sent to stricken Japan. The local Army is very grateful to the people of Rockland for their generosity.

While news from the country is scarce, the national leaders are doing all within their power toward mustering aid for the suffering peoples. The commander is holding in readiness an amount of $5000 to be cabled immediately to the devastated area as soon as communications can be made with the Japanese officers. The General has also requested Lieut. Commissioner Gifford to send a similar amount by cable to the scene of havoc and every effort is being made to get in touch with the center of Salvation Army operations in Tokyo, Kobe and Kyoto. Meantime, the prayers of all people are requested for those who were made homeless and are now in want of food throughout the stricken cities.

The evening picture performances at Strand theatre begin at 6.45 and 8.30.

The Carpenters' and Joiners' Union has its regular meeting at 7.30 tonight.

Donald L. Karl and Theodore E. Perry of the Postoffice staff are having their annual vacations.

Barge Tullehooken is discharging 100 tons of soft coal for M. B. & C. O. Perry.

Radio fans are looking forward to a treat Friday night when the Dempsey-Firpo fight will be broadcasted.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cables, Jr., have moved into the Oscar Blackington house, 198 Broadway.

Charles Mitchell is moving into one of the Berliawsky houses on Amesbury street.

E. H. Crie is doing some fancy sign work on the southern side of the store occupied by M. B. & C. O. Perry.

Alfred Staples, who has been spending his vacation in Vinalhaven, has resumed his duties in the carpet department of the Simonton dry goods store.

U. S. S. Pequot arrived in the harbor yesterday. She is a cable ship and the purpose of her present visit is to lay a cable to the Rockland Breakwater Light Station.

The joke is on the Chamber of Commerce secretary who went home to lunch an hour early yesterday, forgetting that the city of which he is supposed to be chapereone had reverted to standard time.

The city store on Spring street has been mistaken for almost everything else, but not until Sunday night was it taken for a postoffice. A woman who had dropped a letter in the slot was informed of her mistake, and the letter was eventually reclaimed.

The baseball fans will be tickled pink to know there is to be another game. Rockland plays in Camden Saturday, and Foster and Peehan will battle once more for a decision. Needless to say that there will be a big gathering of the fans.

Guy Dimick, proprietor of the Park street bowling alley, brought back from the Lewiston fair a mascot in the form of a seven-foot snake, which is guaranteed to be kind to women and children. Up to the present time Mr. Dimick seems to be the only person with whom the reptile is popular as a playmate.

The luckiest fisherman in Penobscot Bay this morning is Ira Tupper of Crie-haven who caught between 8,000 and 9,000 pounds of large mackerel in a Matinicus cove late last night. It is understood that he sold them at wholesale to a local firm this morning for three cents a pound. Mackerel have been very scarce on the Maine coast thus far this season.

Barber Elwell walked up Main street yesterday morning with his head among the clouds and failed to see the stazing in front of Masonic Temple. He was brought out of his dream in lively fashion when he collided with the framework and smashed his straw lid. He broadcasted a few remarks which sounded as if they came from Station HL.

MRS. ELIZA SNOW PACKARD

Mrs. Eliza Snow Packard, who died Sunday morning at the home of her daughter on Talbot avenue, was born in Thomaston Oct. 14, 1835, youngest of the 19 children of Elisha Snow, 2d. The mother was Hannah Day Eaton, who was Mr. Snow's fourth wife. She was the last surviving grandchild of the Rev. Elisha Snow of South Thomaston, soldier of the Revolution, who was the first of the family to settle in Knox County. She married Oct. 17, 1852, Nathan A. Packard and they removed to Searsmont, later going to Pensacola, Florida, where they were living at the outbreak of the Civil War and had much difficulty in getting to their northern home, having to slip away at night in a vessel bound north. Thereafter they lived in Rockland, on Masonic street, where Mr. Packard died several years ago.

Four children were born to them, two of whom died in infancy, the survivors being Annie (who married Charles P. Simmons) with whom the mother for the past 19 years had made her home, and Frank M. Packard of Boston. Mrs. Packard at an early age joined the Baptist church in South Thomaston, where she sang in the choir, and afterward transferred her membership to the Baptist church in Rockland. She was a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The funeral takes place at 2 o'clock this Tuesday, Rev. Benjamin P. Browne officiating.

MRS. LYDIA STAPLES

Mrs. Lydia Staples died suddenly last Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Miss Emma Titus, in Brighton, Mass. The deceased spent most of her life in Rockland, being married early in life to Wellington J. Titus of this city, who died about 25 years ago. Of this union was born one son, Daniel W. Titus, who resides in New York. About 14 years ago she became the wife of Leander Staples of Brooks, and resided there until his death, five years ago. Since that time she had lived in Brighton, Mass., with her adopted daughter, Miss Emma Titus, who gave her a daughter's devoted care. Last spring she had a severe illness and only by the most careful attention survived. She seemed to be improving in health, therefore her sudden passing away was a great shock to her relatives and friends. The remains were accompanied to Rockland by her son and daughter, and the funeral services were held at the residence of S. S. Waldron, Fulton street Friday afternoon, Rev. B. P. Browne officiating. The floral tributes were very beautiful. The bearers were G. Herbert Blethen, George W. Blithen, Harold H. Waldron and Roscoe Staples. The interment was in Sea View cemetery.

POISON IN GALVANIZED IRON

Warnings not to allow food or drink to stand for even a short time in a galvanized iron vessel, and not to use such utensils in making preserves or jellies, or as containers for cider or other fruit juices, have been issued by the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture. Some of the zinc with which the buckets or utensils are galvanized may dissolve, and not only give the food an unpleasant taste but cause sudden and dangerous illness.

Twelve men at the Guam Naval Station recently drank bottles of root beer and immediately became ill. Chemical examination of the contents of three bottles, transmitted to the Bureau of Chemistry for analysis, disclosed the presence of substantial quantities of a salt of zinc. Experiments carried on by Federal chemists with quantities of lemonade, milk, carbonated water, Washington tap water and distilled water, held over night in galvanized iron buckets, proved that zinc contamination occurred in each case.—New York Times.

SAVE LARGE LOBSTERS

"Thinker" Says We Begin At Wrong End In Protecting Lobsters—The Calf Analogy.

This communication from a North Haven resident which takes a view of the lobster question radically different from that commonly held is worthy of thought.

North Haven, Sept 10, 1923.
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:

We hear much these days about the lobster, the crustacean that is becoming almost unknown and, in fact, is unknown to a large majority of our people even on the sea coast. Yet only a few years ago one could find them under all the rocks along the shore and they sold for one-half cent per pound.

We are lead to inquire into what has caused this scarcity in so short a time. We hear all kinds of opinions expressed and at each session of the Legislature we see the law makers and would-be law makers wrangling over the case. Laws are made and money is appropriated to enforce the laws while each year we see lobsters growing scarcer and scarcer and the price growing higher and higher, until they have now become so scarce that only a few can enjoy what was once so common that all might eat their fill. It seems as though the laws made and changed, and all the money expended to have them enforced, have not accomplished what was expected of them and it seems that in a few years the lobsters will be like the wild pigeons that used to be on every hill side, or the buffalo that once roamed the vast prairie by the thousands, gone, and only known now by name.

I am not a fisherman and never expect to make my living that way and never received over five dollars in trying to have the laws on lobsters enforced, so what I may say will be purely as an outsider looking on, wishing that I might once more hook them from under the rocks at low tide.

It seems to me if the farmers used the same methods and the law makers pursued the same course that has been taken with the lobster, in as short a time as it has taken to use up the lobsters the "cattle on a thousand hills" would become as scarce and beef would be enjoyed only by the few who could pay the price.

If the farmer should go and kill all his cows and only let the calves live, and keep it up, how long would it be before there would be no cows to kill? Now they allow the fishermen to catch all the large lobsters and let the little ones live. You say "O, no. We let all the seed lobsters go." Very well, then, we will let each cow that may have a little calf by her side go, but kill all that would be mothers in a few months. It would take a little longer time to use up all the mothers, but in the end they would all be killed.

The same result in the case of the lobster. I asked a lobster fisher-

The guarantee that goes with every sack of "Norman R" means just this:—If you find after using some of the flour in your baking, that any one of the qualities you want most in flour is missing, you may return the unused portion and get your money back. man—a man over 60 years of age—one that has caught thousands of lobsters—how many short lobsters he ever caught that had spawn on them, and he said he did not remember of more than two or three in all the time he had fished. Has any one ever caught very many?

I have helped shell out quite a number of large lobsters in the spawning season and have found in many cases that if the lobster could have lived a few weeks out of the water it would have been a seed lobster—and, allowing that all fishermen let the seed lobsters go—would have been protected under the law.

the father, let all of the larger ones go for a few years and see if it would not work out as the beef question works out. Kill some of the calves, yes, kill them all for a few years, but do not kill all of the mothers and fathers. It seems to me on the lobster question we have been working from the wrong end.

DODGE BROTHERS TOURING CAR

The comfort and beauty of this new touring car are instantly apparent.

Long underslung springs, deeper seats and greater body length have resulted in an unusual degree of riding ease.

The body is exceptionally trim and graceful. Swung low to the road, with long, straight hood-and-cowl effect and tasteful appointments, the car reveals new value and sound workmanship in every detail.

The engine—which remains essentially the same—needs no eulogy. It has proved its power and economy to nearly a million owners.

The price of the Touring Car is $3800

and shift gears without taking the hand from the wheel or the eyes from the road.

Those who have driven the new Apperson Six say this mechanical gear-shift is unquestionably the greatest step forward for easier, safer and more enjoyable driving.

Apperson's Mechanical Gear-shift removes all the tenseness and strain from driving in congested traffic and gives greater confidence in the ability to drive anywhere at any time—eliminating all possibility of "clashing" gears or blocking traffic.

Merely move the selector handle on steering wheel post to the gear desired, and throw out the clutch—the gears are shifted mechanically—easily and quickly.

The entire mechanism is no larger than a man's hand and is bolted to the top of the transmission case. It is simple in construction with nothing to get out of order.

Drive this Apperson—it will give you a new experience in driving.

In London they were discussing advertising. "Great stuff, these electric signs on Broadway," said the Yankee. "They've got one advertising Wrigley's gum, runs a whole block, 250,000 electric bulbs."

"How many?" cried the astonished Londoner.

"Two hundred and fifty thousand," answered the Yankee.

The Londoner observed, "But I say, old chap, isn't that a bit conspicuous?" —The Kan-Sun.

Hundreds of Rockland Readers Find Daily Toil a Burden

The hustle and worry of business men.

The hard work and stooping of workmen.

The woman's household cares. Often weakening the kidneys. Backache, headache, dizziness. Kidney troubles, urinary troubles—frequently follow.

A Rockland citizen tells you what to do.

Fremont L. Robinson, 55 N. Main St., says: "I am a mason by trade and so much stooping and heavy lifting made it hard on my kidneys. I had no control over the passages of the kidney secretions and was forced to get up many times during the night. The secretions were discovered. I had attacks of backache and it laid me off work two or three times. As one of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results, I made up my mind to get some at the Drug Store. I used four boxes and the yrid me entirely of the trouble."

TOO MANY STYLE CHANGES

Too frequent changes in footwear were deplored in resolutions adopted by the New York State Shoe Retailers Association at Ithaca last week. Some dealers reported ordering shoes and having them go out of style before arriving.

Satin and Satin "Fulgurante"—a brilliant crepe fabric dominates the silk frock. It appears in the Miller streamer bodice style, in the cape-back satin gown with the draped tie-front sash, in the wrap-frock or in the one-sided flare gown. The latter is an entirely new fall silhouette. Tiered frocks are a dozen of the mode and come in the daring versions in wide or narrow tiers, the Dry Goods Economist says.

Gossip of Singers and Players Well Known To Music Lovers In These Corners of Maine.

While to venture into filmland may seem like digressing from the realm of music to which this column is supposed to be devoted, usually those interested in music are interested in all the other arts. The fine pictures that the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation are going to give us during the coming season would seem to come under "art," and we think our readers will enjoy looking over the partial list of these productions.

Hollywood—a James Cruze special. Salome Jane—with Jacqueline Logan in the name part. Lawful Larceny—an Allan Dwan special. To the Last Man—a Zane Gray special, with Lois Wilson and Richard Dix in the leading roles. Ruggles of Red Gap—a James Cruze production. Zaza—in Allan Dwan production with Gloria Swanson as Zaza. Woman-Proof, from the story by George Ade with Thomas Meighan in the lead. His Children's Children—from Arthur Train's fine novel, with Bebe Daniels playing the lead. The Light That Failed—from Rudyard Kipling's immortal novel. The Spanish Dancer—with Pola Negri and Antonio Moreno in the cast. Argentine Love—by Vincente Blasco Ibanez with Gloria Swanson in the leading role. Every Day Love, adapted from Julian Street's novel. "Hitt Coventry," a William de Mille production. The Humming Bird—starring Gloria Swanson, an Allan Dwan production.

The Bangor News had a lengthy and enthusiastic write-up of Director Chapman's recent visit with the chorus in Bangor. Mr. Chapman emphatically declared that "You will all say this 1923 Festival will be the best ever for sure! I have never given you such a list of stars, all new, young, beautiful, great, each one better than the other, because each sings a different role. They may be new to you, but they all made a high-water mark last winter in New York and wherever they appeared. Just think of the opening night, with the marvelous Oregan, the greatest voice of the century, acclaimed by all critics to be the sensation of last season, and the star of the Metropolitan Opera House. The second night the greatest Liszt player of the world, with marvelous technique and power, absolutely perfect fingering and execution—Nyiregyhazi (pronounced Near-edge-hazi) who will play with the orchestra the difficult Liszt concerto in E flat. The third night will eclipse all previous efforts in presenting Grand Opera in real opera form, with scenery, costume and action, rendered by star artists, four of them from the Metropolitan Opera House. Faust is to be the opera."

Los Angeles is planning to erect a municipal auditorium as a memorial to the boys who died in the war. Its Civic Music and Art Association is attempting to co-ordinate all the various efforts which are being made to spread the gospel of good music throughout the community, making special use of music among the foreign-born, "hoping to assist these groups in becoming more useful citizens by participation in community activities through the medium of music."

No better form of memorial can be built than an auditorium which will express the idea of the immortality of heroes by sending an ever-living current of music down through the years, uniting all kinds of people with its magic—Bangor News.

The prominent musical artists are beginning to arrive from their tours abroad. Among the recent arrivals are noted Rosina Galli, premiere dancer of the Metropolitan; Edward Johnson, tenor of the Metropolitan; Vladimir de Pachmann, veteran Russian pianist; Marie Tiffany, soprano, of the Metropolitan; and Father Finn, conductor of the Paulist Choir.

The Sept. 1st issue of Musical America has a charming picture of Percy Grainger, the Australian pianist, who has recently returned to New York after a year's absence abroad. Mr. Grainger gave 58 piano recitals in a tour of Norway, Denmark and Holland, and spent a great part of his time in collecting Danish folk-songs and in harmonizing some of these melodies for chamber programs. In collecting these Danish folk-songs, Mr. Grainger traveled in company with Evald Tang Kristensen, now more than eighty years of age, well known for his interest in the folk-lore of Denmark. They made a tour through the agricultural districts, visiting the old peasants, some of whom were very aged, to sing their melodies into the recording instrument. A collection of eighty of these songs was made. Among the melodies, Mr. Grainger says, are several of striking charm and when he has completed the settings, these will be published. Mr. Grainger's American tour will be one of the busiest he has ever entered upon in this country. It opens in New England about the middle of October, and for the remainder of that month he will give recitals throughout New York and New Jersey. Then later come engagements in the Middle West and Canada, then back to Boston and New York, and finally a trip through the South, which is to be a long one.

Last week we told of the wonderful impression Galli-Curci made at a recent concert. It is interesting to note what Mephisto has to tell us about this artist, which happens to be in line with what we had previously written:

"A friend of mine, whose opinion I value for the reason that he has had considerable experience in hearing singers, tells me he recently heard Galli-Curci at a concert she gave in Ocean Grove, N. J. He writes that she not only scored a triumphant success, but gave evidence of being in fine condition. She also sang better than ever, having, it appears, pretty well eliminated those peculiarities for which she was criticized when she first appeared among us and created a national sensation. Did you know that for some little time past she has been coaching with Frantz Proschowsky, who has a studio in Chicago where she met him? Madame Galli-Curci, who is very frank, publicly credits Proschowsky with thoroughly understanding the true art of bel canto. She also makes particular mention of the intelligent simplicity of his 'elucidations' as she calls them, through which she has been able to discover and use new beauties in her own voice."

Bangor: Harry Whitefield Lait, Canadian baritone, who recently opened a studio in this city, suffered injuries in an automobile accident during a visit in Quebec, and is now in a hospital in that city, according to a telegram received here by his brother, Rev. R. E. Lait. His injuries are not regarded as serious.

Felix Salmond, cellist, played an attractive program at a recital in the Building of Arts, Bar Harbor, on the afternoon of August 11. His fine tone and splendid technique were warmly applauded. "The Londonderry Air" proved especially popular among the numbers on his program.

Feodor Chaliapin will make guest appearances at the Vienna Opera in the coming season.

Ernestine Schumann-Heink, sang at the Harding Memorial Services in San Diego, Cal., Aug. 9. Fully 30,000 persons heard her sing "O Rest in the Lord."

STRAND THEATRE

Edith Elsom is starring today in "Just a Mother." The comedy is "This Way Out."

There's a new screen thrill to be had from Goldwyn's melodramatic thriller, "A Blind Bargain," which comes for Wednesday and Thursday. The thrill is a mixture of horror and fascination, guaranteed to attack the most rigid of spines. A noted surgeon has reached the borderland of insanity through his researches and experiments to prove the truth of the theory of evolution. He has come to the conclusion that he can turn a man back into his ancestral prototype through transplanting into his body the glands of a live monkey. He has wrecked the minds and bodies of several men upon whom he has experimented. In "A Blind Bargain," a struggling author sells himself to a surgeon to be experimented upon in return for the aid which shall procure his dying mother's restoration to health. Before the day when he must stick to his bargain arrives, the author has fallen in love with the daughter of the publisher who has accepted his book and he tries to buy his release from the doctor. But in vain; he is seized and strapped to the operating table. But the doctor has not counted upon the superhuman strength developed in one of the wrecks of men in his private dungeon, and when he goes there to get a monkey—but see the climax.

Lon Chaney contributes two marvelous bits of acting as the half-mad surgeon and as the simian hunchback, authority or vividness been seen upon stage or screen. Others in the cast—all of whom do excellent work—are Jacqueline Logan, Raymond McKee, Fontaine LaRue, Virginia True Boardman, Aggie Herring and Virginia Madison. One of the most beautiful screen spectacles ever seen as the soap bubble ballet in the ballroom scene where the young author's engagement is announced—adv.

PARK THEATRE

Today will be the last showing of "The Toll of the Sea." For the first time in the history of motion pictures, people and backgrounds have been photographed directly in their natural colors. The result of the Technicolor process is seen in "The Toll of the Sea." "The Toll of the Sea" will be the attraction for Thursday and Friday. The cast of the "Paramount picture 'Hollywood' is composed of players practically new to motion pictures. They are Hope Drown, leading woman; Luke Cosgrave, G. K. Arthur, Ruby Lafayette, Harris Gordon, Bess Flowers, Eleanor Lawton and King Zany. The "support" includes Coco R. DeMille, Pola Negri, Thomas Meighan, William S. Hart, Agnes Ayers, Jack Holt, Walter Hiers, Leatrice Joy, Jacqueline Logan, Nita Naldi, Betty Compson, Lile Lee, May McAvoy, Theodore Kosloff, Lois Wilson, Mary Astor, George Fawcett, Noah Beery, Owen Moore, William de Mille, Ricardo Cortez and 35 other big names. Regular prices will prevail—adv.

MATINICUS ROCK

The so called dog days are over, and the fog at times is so thick we cannot see the boat slip from the dwellings. Capt. Dunn and crew from Whitehead U. S. C. G. S. No. 6, came to the Rock Aug. 27 after Keeper Freeman W. Beal and family. Mr. Beal was in for medical treatment and advised by the physician to take 10 days rest. He isn't able to return to his duties yet. Hilt and Beal the two old standbys are "Holding the Rock," giving their best and forfeiting the time they chose for vacation days.

Yes! they have no nap. In engine room four hours. Then four hours for a nap. The rest of the time in towers. But yes! they have no nap.

A picnic was in order last Friday. Spreading our tables on the lawn Nature provided the residents enjoyed the picnic as if it had been on the finest lawn ever made. There were only 10 in the "crowd"—the present number on the Rock.

Pauline V. Beal will again attend school in Rockland.

Willard R. Hilt and Eleanor M. Beal two jolly chums and the life savers of birds were out hunting one of Willard's missing little ducks Friday night, finding it way down in a crevice of a rock where it had to be fished out with wires and sticks, but they got in just the same. They find all the crippled wild birds and give them the best of care.

With sadness we learned of Langdon Gibson's death at Oribahaven, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson called often at this station through the summer months and were very welcome visitors, the children enjoying their visits with the rest. Their last call here was Aug. 30, with friends due to sail on the mail boat that day. The friendly calls will be missed. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

An evening's entertainment, the lessons of which will be with you always. You must see it. A high class comedy and review on the same program.

The attraction for Wednesday and Thursday will be Ethel Clayton in "The Remittance Woman."

Miss Clayton is seen as a fast stepping society girl who is sent to China on a remittance by her frate father. In Canton, as the possessor of a vase which has reputed powers to give the owner the power to rule the Nation, the girl is the prey of countless contending factions, and is led through a series of adventures that are guaranteed to send shivers down the spines of even the most cape-hardened fans.

The usual short subjects will be shown on the same program—adv.

Why You Should Think Before You Vote October 15 on the 48-Hour Law

On this day we either do or do not commit Maine to a law that makes it illegal for a woman to work more than 8-hours in any one day or more than 48-hours in any one week.

VOTE AGAINST IT FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS:

1. It will tend to drive our factories and shoe-shops out of Maine. It will harass and complicate the Agricultural interests of Maine. It will interfere with continuous employment in every industry in the State. IT WILL DAMAGE MAINE.
2. Only two industrial states in the Union have any such law. Our cotton mills are moving to the South, where they can work SIXTY HOURS A WEEK.
3. IT WILL MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR MANY INDUSTRIES TO EMPLOY WOMEN AT ALL. Where there are certain seasons of RUSH WORK, as in shoe shops, in which women are largely employed, it is essential that women have the right to work extra time. They can not do so under this law. If they do so they are liable to punishment. They are certain to be displaced by men as they have in Massachusetts to so large an extent.
4. The present hour-of-labor laws are reasonable and work no hardship. THERE HAS NEVER BEEN ANY COMPLAINT ON THE PART OF WOMEN.
5. The passage of such a law for Maine is a DISCRIMINATION AGAINST MAINE INDUSTRIES, in favor of other states.
6. Any such law when passed should apply to ALL STATES ALIKE, not to a state whose industries are slipping and whose struggle in competition is weakened by distance from market; extra freight and shipment rates and cost of coal and materials.
7. WOMEN SHOULD HAVE AN EQUAL CHANCE WITH MEN TO EARN A LIVING. The foundation of the proposition to limit them and not limit men is weak; the proposal is unjust. "GIVE THE GODDESS OF LIBERTY A MAN'S CHANCE."

Vote Against This Discriminatory law on October 15, Mark your Ballot "No"

(Signed)

Enlarged Committee Associated Industries of Maine
L. M. Carroll, Norway, Maine, Chairman.
