ECHOES OF THE STATE PRISON FIRE

Clearing Away the Ruins In Order That New Buildings May Rise—Warden Eaton's Thanks To the Military—Arguments In Favor of Moving Prison Site Are Futile.

The work of clearing away the debris inside of the State Prison walls has progressed to such a satisfactory extent that Warden Lester D. Eaton will be ready to lay brick for a new blacksmith shop Monday morning if he receives the necessary authorization. It is planned to build the blacksmith shop first, in order that the iron work may be done there for the other new buildings.

The ruined walls have all been torn down, including that of the guard room, which was tottering dangerously. All of the debris in the blacksmith shop has been cleared away and the men are now working on the harness shop ruins. The blacksmith shop will be a duplicate of the fine building which was destroyed Saturday, if the present plans are carried out. "I could have men working there in two months," Warden Eaton told The Courier-Gazette last night, adding, as an amendment, that it could be done in six weeks with good luck.

The paint shop and wood shop would be next in order. All of the buildings will be constructed of brick, steel and cement—modern, conveniently arranged and fireproof.

In the new East Wing of the Prison is room for 60 more cells. The last Legislature was asked for authority to put them in, but the economy urge was too strong. Bids have already been secured from one concern—the Van Dorn Iron Works of Cleveland, Ohio, which agrees to have the cells completed within 120 days of the receipt of the order.

No West Wing will be built this winter.

The one woman inmate of the State Prison is being cared for at the residence of Chaplain Webber. There were two other women, who had been turned over to the State Prison from the Warden's Reformatory in Skowhegan. They were brought to the Knox County Jail soon after the fire, but will be transferred to some other place shortly.

Warden Eaton's gratitude to the two companies of Coast Artillery Corps which did guard duty during and after the fire is expressed in the following communication:

Maine State Prison, Warden's Office, Thomaston, Sept. 18.

Captain Ralph W. Brown, Coast Artillery Corps, Rockland, Maine.

I wish to thank you and your men for the wonderful work which you did for me and the State of Maine during the terrible fire which occurred Saturday, Sept. 15.

I do not know what we would have done, had it not been for these companies, and the excellent discipline which was maintained throughout all the excitement is surprising.

Please have this letter read to all your men. There will always be a warm place in my heart for these companies, and if there is ever anything that I can do for any of them, please have them call on me.

Gratefully yours,
L. D. Eaton, Warden.

Captain Brown was in command of the military situation by virtue of being the ranking officer of the two companies. Edward R. Veazie, 1st Lieutenant, and Albert S. Peterson, 2d Lieutenant, were assigned to duty under him.

The men realized the responsibility of their position, but perhaps did not fully sense the seriousness of it until they received from Captain Brown this order: "If anyone undertakes to leave this yard or to enter it, without permission, command him to halt. If he fails to do so, repeat the command. If he does not halt then shoot to kill." This may not have been the exact military language, but it was the meaning of it, and much as they may have shrunk from the thought the men were prepared to obey instructions to the letter.

In the event of attempted rebellion on the part of the convicts at the State Prison fire the spectators would have had an opportunity to see what modern warfare is like, for four Browning rapid fire guns were mounted at strategic points, and could have opened death dealing volleys upon the men striving for liberty. Fortunately there was no occasion for such slaughter. The prisoners behaved splendidly, and have received due credit from as high authority as the governor himself.

The first thought that many folks

"The condition of the prison at Thomaston has long been a State scandal. It was an old archaic structure, unfit for human habitation and should have been rebuilt long ago. We are not among those who believe that prislous to Augusta and existing conditions are flaunted in the face of no one. Legislators and Governors have known that something ought to be done, but something had to be forgotten and the State Prison was the most convenient thing to forget. All this is probably perfectly natural, and we are offering no criticism of those who, indirectly at least, have been responsible for the neglect.

"But the fire has changed the situation. It is not now a question of a poor prison or a better one, but of a fairly decent one or none at all. Governor Baxter has been the first to act. With commendable promptness he hurried to Thomaston after the fire, looked the situation over and will immediately take steps to have the prison rebuilt along more modern lines.

"We assume that the much discussed contingent fund will be drawn upon to carry out the plans that the Governor had when the fire developed into a conflagration was that there would be a renewal of the efforts to remove the State Prison to some other locality. The turning down of the Kennebec Bridge proposition, and the removal of the Atlantic Trail from the seacoast to the interior of the State have imbedded a suspicion in the minds of some of us Down Easterners that men who have bristles in place of whiskers are trying to skin us out of the small share of privileges we do have.

ons should be made especially comfortable or attractive. A term in an institution of that sort should be a punishment. But the State has no right to treat those who violate its laws inhumanely or in a manner to destroy or undermine their health. If half what we have been told about the State's Prison is true, the serving of a term there is by way of being a cruel, if not unusual punishment, and therefore unconstitutional.

As a matter of fact the prison ought to be located at some place other than the little village where the fathers

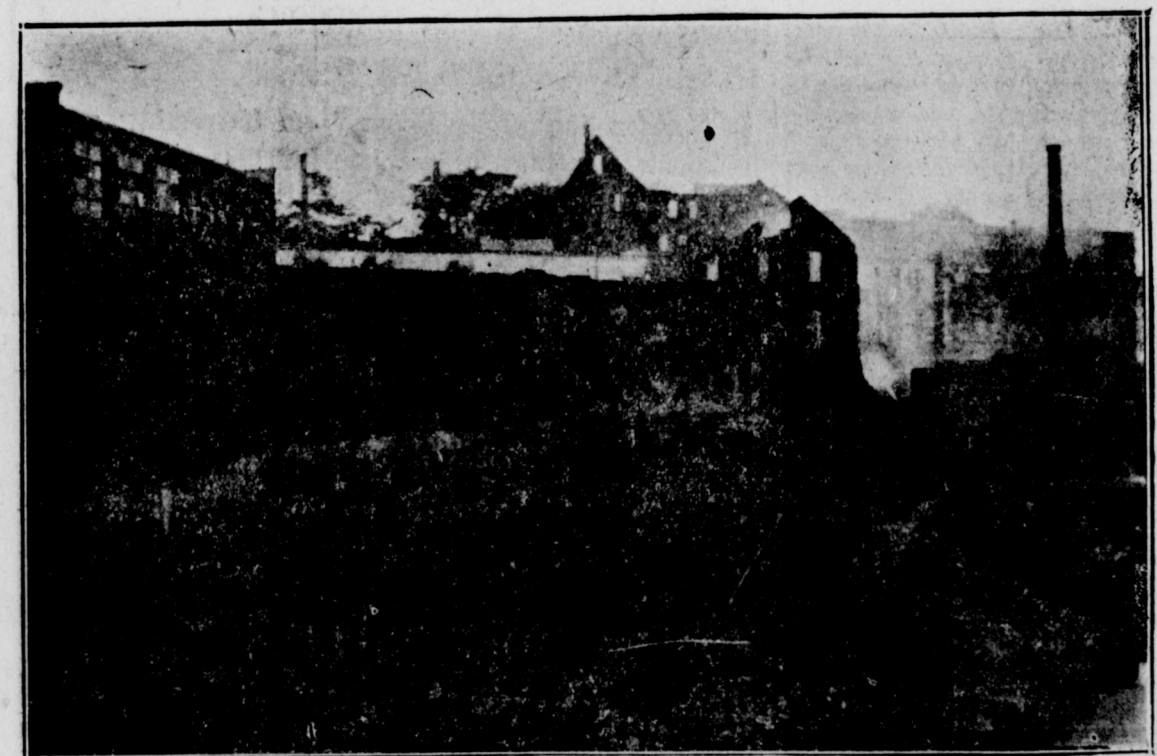

And so the suspicion that somebody would try to steal the prison was not unfounded. The Press Herald hinted at it editorially Tuesday morning, and the evening Express in an editorial the same day made no bones of the matter. The Express said:

"So far as we can find out the State been permitted to continue at the Thomaston institution has not been due to ignorance. Every other winter the members of the Legislature and the Executive have been informed concerning them and there has been no lack of pleas for an improvement. But there has been no improvement for the placed it. But the State institutions in Maine have a way of 'staying put,' and Thomaston shows a dogged determination to hang on to its prison. Besides that, it would probably cost too much money to erect a wholly new prison anywhere else."

—Photographs by Jack Pillsbury.

Prison fire resulted in a lot of buildings being burned down which should have been torn down. Of course some property was destroyed that was worth saving, but apparently the major part of the half million dollar loss was no loss at all, but a gain.

reason that an appropriation for the prison has been about the easiest thing to cut out of the budget when the time has come for stripping that document to bare poles.

"The institution has no friends, the prisoners are deterred from sending a taken time by the forelock, and while the envious and the greedy were casting about for some means of accomplishing the purpose, he was arranging the preliminaries for reconstruction. He is entitled to much credit for his prompt action.

RECEIVED BROKEN HIP

Orrin Davis of South Waldoboro, aged 74, was struck by an automobile driven by Austin Winchenbach Saturday night and one of his hips was broken. Mr. Davis was walking down Waldo Hill and when the machine approached from behind, he became confused and stepped directly in front of it. BIBLE THOUGHT —FOR TODAY—

Bible Thoughts memorized will prove a precious heritage in after years.

GOD OVER ALL:—The eyes of all wait upon thee.—Psalms 145:15.

The work that is being carried on from year to year by the Maine Historical Society should commend itself to every citizen who indulges a natural pride in the achievements of his ancestors and the progress which the years have recorded since they laid the foundation of what has grown to the greatest nation the modern world has known. The story of Maine's relation to this march of events becomes more and more fascinating as the details of it are pieced together by the men and women gifted with the spirit of research. The annual field days of the society, such as that held this week at Pemaquid have a special value in directing the public attention to what the organization stands for and its great value in the regions of local and national history.

Former Premier Lloyd George will visit the United States about the first of October, it is understood, and will make a series of addresses while here. Much water has passed over the mill since he dominated the peace conference at Paris, and skillfully maneuvered Mr. Wilson out of every one of his fourteen points while throwing him the league of nations. It will be interesting to listen to Mr. Lloyd George's comments on present conditions and hear his opinion of the Versailles treaty, the league, and the policy pursued by the United States since the armistice. But his remarks will be merely entertaining as coming from the lips of a great figure of the World War period. Americans have ceased to attach weight to the theories advanced by British lecturers, knowing that they are inspired chiefly for the welfare of Great Britain.

One of the favorite arguments of the proponents of unrestricted immigration is that under the literacy test crooks and other undesirable can get in—being able to pass the literacy test. The falsity of such an assertion is readily apparent. The literacy test does not admit any person who would be inadmissible on other counts. It merely adds one more requirement as a qualification for admission. A man of vicious character, an anarchist, a diseased person, a pauper, would be inadmissible regardless of the literacy test. Passing that test gains no man admission who would be otherwise excluded. If the literacy test superseded all other tests, there would be some ground for criticism, but the literacy test merely raises the general standard of immigrants.

Mr. Gompers does well to endorse a protective tariff notwithstanding he always supports a Democratic national ticket. He and his followers know perfectly well that but for the present tariff law this country would be flooded with cheap foreign goods that would put American factories out of business and reduce present high wages to almost no wages at all, in many lines of industry.

The meek and lowly householder is assured that his winter coal is to be vouchsafed him—at the price. Not much longer, we are confident, is he to be kept the goat of the two factions, the operators and the miners. Oil heating is on the way, a system that with the huge supplies of oil available must result greatly to the advantage of the average citizen.

Knox County has a number of members in the Maine Historical Society, but it should have more. Our community is the field of a large amount of matter associated with the beginnings of New England and the days of the colonies.

Now the rich autumnal days are upon us, lengthening the season which the early departing summer tourist misses out on. We who remain extend to him at once our regrets and the assurance of our distinguished consideration.

The Atherton Furniture Co., which has branches in Portland, Lewiston, Waterville and Rockland (Burpee Furniture Co.) besides several in Massachusetts, opened its new store at the corner of Free and Center streets in Portland Tuesday. The new store has a frontage of 160 feet on the two streets. LeBaron Atherton, founder of the Atherton Company began his career in the furniture business by pushing a cart at $3 a week. "Furniture that makes friends" is the slogan of his company and its practice has played an important part in the rapid growth of his business.

Central Maine Power Company does. It owns at least 150,000 horsepower of undeveloped power.

THE FIELD DAY

At Pemaquid Was a Great Day For the Maine Historical Society.

That the Maine Historical Society should be able in a long look ahead to fix upon such a day of perfect weather as Tuesday presented for its field day at Pemaquid is a testimonial to the shrewdness and ability of the gentlemen under whom the affairs of the society are given direction.

The crowd in attendance doubtless exceeded in numbers any former affair that the society has held. The light-house tender Hibiscus brought 117 from Portland. Some set the total figures as high as 1000—a little stout perhaps, but surely there were more than half that number of visitors, who examined with deep interest the work that has been carried on in the development of the discoveries and listened to the several speakers, and in particular the informing lectures by Prof. Warren K. Moorehead of Andover, who has supervised the work of excavation carried on by Walter B. Smith of Bangor and Ernest O. Sugden of Orland. To these three earnest gentlemen in particular great credit and a great debt of gratitude are due for their intelligent and sustained labors. Nor will recognition be withheld from those ardent members of the society, William D. Patterson of Wiscasset and Dr. Alfred Johnson of Brookline, Mass., through whose efforts in great measure the details of the field day were organized and carried out. They were assisted at the grounds by a large reception committee, of which E. B. MacAllister, Ernest C. Davis and W. O. Fuller of Rockland were members. The guests were escorted to the reservation by a number of young people who represented historic characters. Priscilla Mullins was impersonated by little Jane Patterson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Patterson, and John Alden by Robert E. Creamer of Wiscasset, a descendant of John Alden of Plymouth. Carlisle Macard of Wiscasset represented the noted pirate Dixie Bull. Charles G. Chase, son of Mrs. Walter G. Chase, took the part of a colonial character. Master William V. Pratt, Jr., son of Admiral Pratt, U. S. N., of Belfast, represented the English navy of the Colonial period. All these and a large group of other young folks were arrayed in Indian costumes, as were also members of Mavoshan Tribe of Red Men, imparting a striking note of color to the exercises. The visitors in a great group were conducted over the ground by Prof. Moorehead, who told the story of the excavations, as he pointed out the location of the many long-buried cellars on either side of a creek, having ancient pavements, which he has traced for a distance of 1160 feet. If readers of The Courier-Gazette will turn back to the issue of last Saturday, Sept. 15, they will find the story in detail of this work and what it means to those to whom the facts and romance of history appeal. In all this region of interest Prof. Moorehead figured brilliantly.

The visitors had for the most part brought luncheons and these at the noon hour were opened in the neighborhood of the ancient fort on the shore and partaken à fresco, reinforced by clams baked in seaweed on the rocks. Then the visitors gathered in the Pemaquid Casino for the literary program, which was under direction of the Historical Society's distinguished president, Dr. Kenneth C. M. Sills of Bowdoin College, who extended greetings and saw to it that the exercises were kept within bounds by limiting the time of the speakers. These included Secretary Patterson and Dr. Johnson, Judge Clarence Hale, State Superintendent of Schools A. O. Thomas, Prof. Moorehead, Congressman Robert Luce of Massachusetts, Rev. Fr. Kealy of Lewiston (representing Bishop Walsh), Prof. W. O. Sawtelle of Cranberry Isles, and Dr. Burrage. The speaking was excellent.

Judge Hale related some of the early history of Pemaquid. Dr. Thomas emphasized the value of the recourse to original sources of history, and announced that prizes are to be offered for the best essays on Pemaquid written by students in Maine colleges, academies and high schools. Several prizes are to be offered to the schools in each class. Dr. Burrage briefly reviewed the history of the early exploration and settlement of the coast of Maine, and heartily commended Dr. Thomas' suggestion for the study of history from original sources.

Miss Virginia Whittingham of Short Hills, N. J., the young lady who revived interest in Pemaquid spoke briefly and Professor Moorehead described to the gathering the work which he has done thus far. Congressman Luce, who has a summer place not far from the scene of the excavations, made a reference to the early transfer of 25,000 acres in this region by the Indian chief Sagoyewew to John Brown for a consideration of fifty skins. A marker is to be seen today which commemorates this transaction.

The field day was a huge success. Those present from Rockland included Judge Frank B. Miller, E. K. Gould, E. B. MacAllister, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Buffum, Mrs. E. B. Silsby, George E. Torrey, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Stubbs, Nelson B. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Davis, Mrs. Retta Dunton, Mrs. Adriel U. Bird, Miss Myrtle Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Fuller, Mrs. Mary F. ## Quick and easy to install, burns anything. The Glenwood Single-Pipe makes heating easy

If you phoned to us today you could have a Glenwood Single-Pipe Heating System completely installed the day after tomorrow. In most cases two men can put it in complete in a single day.

That would put an end to your fuel troubles for the rest of the winter. For you can burn any kind of fuel in this modern heater—wood, coal, soft coal, coke and even rubbish.

The feed doors of the Glenwood Single-Pipe are made extra wide. You can use large logs. The new wood grate will keep them burning night and day—just like a coal fire.

A Glenwood makes the most of every ounce of fuel. It sends the heat where you want it—not down cellar, through the walls and up the chimney.

Ask us for particulars. We can save fuel for you this winter.

Pipemodules of this same furnace may be had in several sizes for coal or wood.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

Will Have Able Advocates At the Universalist State Convention Next Week.

Sunday school work will receive special emphasis at the Universalist convention next week. On the program are two well-known educators of children. Rev. Francis W. Gibbs of Pittsburgh, Mass., vice president of the Universalist Sunday School Association, is a specialist in the teaching of the Bible to children. His services are sought for summer schools and institutes and he devotes much time to giving lectures on the Bible and Sunday school work. He has been instructor at the Universalist Institutes at Ferry Beach, Maine, on a number of occasions. Mr. Gibbs speaks Tuesday morning at 10.30.

Another prominent Sunday school worker on the program is Mrs. Stella Marek Cushing of Arlington, Mass. Mrs. Cushing comes to a Maine convention for the first time to promote interest in Sunday school music. She is known to the people of Boston and vicinity as a violinist and gives much time to professional work. For some time, however, she has been interested in a program for the development of better music for Sunday school children, and has recently published a children's hymnal which is being introduced in many schools. Mrs. Cushing will speak Wednesday afternoon at 2.30.

FEAR NO SHORTAGE

Administration officials expect no shortage of anthracite as a result of the 20 days suspension of the workers in the hard coal fields. The shut-down now is expected to afford a greater opportunity for continuous employment in this industry during the next few months. The ability of the railroad to furnish the necessary cars for quick movement of anthracite is regarded at the White House as an encouraging feature of the fuel situation.

Patrons of North Knox Fair will christen the new bridge which the town of Union is now completing at the entrance to the fair grounds.

William S. Healey completed his duties as county treasurer yesterday morning and turned over the office to his successor, Edward R. Veazie.

A New York car, staggering along under the weight of its license number, 1474756, was sighted by Otto Hatch in Camden yesterday. Otto wins the glass crow-bar.

The City Government should set a buoy at the corner of Main street and Tillson avenue, since the change that has been made by painting Ulmer block in such a radical change of color.

Something out of the ordinary in fair exhibits is promised those who visit the Knox County Motor Sales Co. booth at Union next week. Part of the show is a saw mill in full operation.

Sunday marks the first day of autumn and the last day of the seven-trips a week schedule of the Boston boats. The curbside of rail and water transportation service is one of the unpleasant features of approaching cold weather.

The land around the front of the Camden and Rockland Water Co.'s new building has been cleared of debris and graded. Workmen were hauling away the unused bricks from the new Courier-Gazette building and part of the upper staging at the Masonic Temple has been removed.

ROCKLAND HARDWARE COMPANY

Rev. Howard A. Welch, formerly of Rockland, has been elected secretary and treasurer of the Bangor Ministerial Association.

There will be a social meeting at Ingraham Hill chapel Friday evening at 8 o'clock, conducted by the young people. The public is invited to come and share in the evening's subject, "Cheerfulness."

The joke is on the Norther book-keeper who last night went to her chamber prepared for dreamland, only to discover the door locked and the key at the office. It was necessary to rout out brother Irving and his car for the rescue business.

The big noise on the streets the past two days is caused by the new rescue wagon of the Fireproof Garage. Its red-white-and-blue paint seems to give it right of way. Nothing in war times ever had anything on it by way of camouflage.

Marriage intentions have been filed by the following: Willie Roland Lufkin and Alice Louise Engelson, both of Rockland; Alden A. Stanley of Rockland and Gertrude Hunt of Thomaston; Guy Clifford Douglas and Carrie May Clough, both of Rockland.

The spirit of the Public Library is well put in a neat card freely displayed bearing this legend—"The Rockland Public Library extends to all guests in this vicinity a cordial invitation to make liberal use of its reference and magazine departments. All parts of the library are open to the public daily from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. and, except from June to September, on Sundays and legal holidays from 2 until 5 p. m."

Fred A. Blackington and crew are resurfacing the New Athletic Field. Mr. Blackington is happily surprised in the soil which he finds much higher than he had expected in sand content. This condition is ideal for such a field as there is sand enough to avoid excessive slipperiness, yet clay enough for a binder. The gridiron will be laid lengthwise of the field and will be christened at Saturday's Rockland-Waterville game. As yet there are no bleachers, but these are of little value in fall sports anyhow and will be erected before the opening of the baseball season.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Veteran Firemen's Association will serve supper in Golden Cross hall Friday evening for 25 cents—adv.

Mrs. Robert G. Brewer has received a letter from Viareggio, Italy, informing her of the death of her grandmother, leaving behind a valuable estate of which Mrs. Brewer is a joint legatee with her cousin Signorina Inez Oliveri, of Viareggio.

Dancing in the Arcade will be resumed next Monday night, with music by Marston's Orchestra. The Arcade has the largest dancing surface in Knox County, and the floor has been put in first class condition. Dancers in this city and vicinity are looking forward to the event.

Numerous local motorists have lately driven over to the Kennebec region to view the wrecked steamer City of Rockland. To get close enough to the spot, cars have to drive across land belonging to a citizen, who is making a neat income by charging each car 25 cents for the privilege. Thrift, thrift, Horatio.

By order of Gov. Baxter the designation of the First Coast Defense Command, Coast Artillery Corps, Maine National Guard has been changed to 240th Artillery (C. A. C.). The Knox County companies will be known thus: 303d Company, Camden, as Battery E; 304th Company, Thomaston, as Battery F; 305th Company, Rockland, as Battery G; 302d Company, Vinalhaven, as Battery H.

Frederick A. Shepherd of Waterville, well known in this city, who has been under observation as to his sanity, at the Augusta State Hospital, was sentenced by Judge Beane in Kennebec Supreme Court Tuesday to a year in jail for indecent liberties with young girls. Three other indictments were placed on file on the condition that he leave the State at the termination of his sentence.

FIRST CANDIDATE

Alderman W. Raymond Erskine Seeks the Democratic Sheriff Nomination.

The opening gun of the Knox county political campaign for 1924 was fired this morning with the official announcement of W. Raymond Erskine that he will be a candidate for the Democratic sheriff nomination.

"The workers here have said that they want me to run, and they believe that the sheriff should come from Rockland," said Mr. Erskine this morning. "That being the case I have consented to become a candidate."

Mr. Erskine is serving his third term in the Board of Aldermen, and has also been a member of the lower board. He is a lifelong Democrat.

The names of several other Democrats have been unofficially mentioned, among them Arthur U. Patterson of Vinalhove, City Marshal Gilchrist and Aubrey S. Heal of Camden.

Now that Alderman Erskine has broken the ice it remains to be seen whether there will be a contest.

FOR JAPAN'S AID

Local Salvation Army Is Planning a Special Effort On Saturday.

The local Salvation Army every year devotes a week to the collecting of vegetables from the farmers, and merchandise from merchants, for what is known as a Salvation Army Harvest Festival Effort. The proceeds of this work are devoted to local winter relief supplying the needy similar to the Christmas effort. This year the General has requested every Salvation Army Corps to put forth an unusual effort so that the proceeds will go to the Japanese relief fund. Commander Evangeline Booth writes:

"Such an appalling stupendous disaster requires a world response, and after the utmost has been done the residue of unrelieved suffering must be enormous. Whatever can be gotten for this appalling need will be transmitted without delay right to the seat of disaster and suffering. The blessing of God and of those that are ready to perish will be upon you."

One of the stores in the new Salvation Army building will be utilized, and the farm produce and all articles of food donated sold to the public. There will be a fancywork table, a rummage table as well as food tables. Saturday—All day—the Salvation Army kettles will be on the Main street of Rockland to receive freewill offerings for this cause.

The Salvation Army has already begun extensive relief toward stricken Japan.

Mrs. Jane Black of Tillson avenue was knocked down at the corner of Park and Main streets Tuesday by an automobile operated by Samuel E. Fouts of Washington, D. C. She suffered little injury and Mr. Fouts was in no way blamed for the incident.

Miss Helen Hobart, Field Secretary for the World Wide Guild of the Northern Baptist Convention, is to be at the First Baptist church Friday afternoon and evening. At 2:30 she will have a conference with workers with children; at 4:00 a meeting with the children between the ages of 5 and 12 and at 7:30 in the evening there will be a World Wide Guild rally. At 6:00 o'clock the Guild Chapters of Knox County will give a supper. All young ladies interested in Guild work are urged to be present. Miss Hobart travels in every State in the Northern Baptist Convention and has many interesting things to tell the girls.

At the meeting of Ruth Mayhew Tent, Daughters of Veterans, Monday evening it was voted to hold a supper the next regular meeting night, with a lot of good things and if possible a full attendance of the Tent. They will serve anyone outside the order if it should be desired the same as the other orders. It is hoped that the members will have their families out to this supper, as it is to be in the nature of a get-together and get acquainted affair, more than a money making venture this time. The date is Monday, Oct. 1. This order needs money and intend to make it, so an auction party has been in motion. Wednesday Oct. 10 is the date for that, and with the committee chosen the public will be sure to hear about it.

Dr. Mildred Tuttle, osteopath, will have office hours from 9 to 9 Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings at her home, 149 Limerock street, Rockland. Tel. 524-R—adv.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

I SAW EVERETT SPEAR

at the last ball game in Camden, and I didn't wonder that he felt the need of a little relaxation, for Everett L. Spear, building contractor, is as busy as the busiest man in Knox county—indeed I would not be surprised if he is entitled to that distinction. Mr. Spear did not share actively in school athletics, and afterward was too busy learning the fundamentals of the building trades to follow sports very extensively, but his opportunity came with the Twilight League, and today he would not shy at the title of fan. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. —The Sporting Editor.

After nearly five months of baseball, the king of summer sports gives way to the king of fall sports—football. Rockland High School has a splendid schedule and will begin its season Saturday afternoon, when the first official game of any sort will be played on the new Broadway Athletic Field. Rockland's opponent on that occasion will be the strong Waterville High School team, and the game will be a very severe test of Coach Jones' outfit.

A. C. McLean has been assisting in the coaching this week, and his son John has been working, but will return soon to Choate School. Ginsberg, a former distinguished member of the University of Maine team, gave the boys some valuable tips the other day, and incidentally told some of the school's supporters that they had drawn a star in Coach Jones.

The two most interesting bits of gossip connected with the Rockland team, this week, concern Captain Herbert Baum and Eto Massalin. The former has been shifted from tackle to the backfield, and the latter after a summer of intensive farming, up back of Camden, has returned to school and the team.

The fall squad, as today composed, is made up thus:

John Andrews, Lyford Ames, Rowland Ames, Alexander Bath, Jasper Chapin, Charles Chapin, Edwin Chase, Haven Cassens, Robert Dow, Elmer Emery, Thomas Faies, Foster Fifield, Wilbur Frohock, Jerome Frye, Earl Grant, Carl Herlick, Wallace Kent, Howard Ludwig, Sherman Lord, Patrick McAuliffe, Kenneth Nosworthy, Raymond Perry, Richard Snow, Wm. St. John, Fred Stewart, Frank Stewart, Theodore Sylvester, Edwin Webber, Chester Mason, Arnold Nelson, Eto Massalin.

"If they ever fight again bet your shirt on 'Demogog,' says James Dondis, back from the big scrap. And yet some of the sporting writers profess not to see it in any such light.

General regret is expressed in sportdom over the misfortune which befell Richard Reed Friday night when he sustained a broken ankle in football practice at Coburn Classical Institute, Waterville. Young Reed was captain of the Rockland High School team last year and recognized by the state papers as a "comer." His accident deprives him of his chance to star for Coburn in football and probably in basketball.

"Back! Gaudette, who pitched two games for Togus against Rockland this season, and who is also said to be one of the best second basemen in the state, will be given a try-out by the New York Americans next season.

Andrew Coffey was in New York at the time of the Firpo-Dempsey fight, and, as might be expected, was at the ringside. He writes home that the crowd seeking admittance was a veritable mob, and policemen's clubs flew in lively fashion.

FIRE IN CALIFORNIA

Fire sweeping over the hills east of Berkeley late Monday laid waste the Cragmont and Euclid avenues districts, destroying at least 600 residences in one of the choicest residential sections of the city, with damage estimated at $10,000,000 and rendering homeless approximately 2400 persons. Among the residences destroyed was that of Capt. and Mrs. Albert F. Pillsbury, formerly of Rockland, according to a message received yesterday by Mrs. Pillsbury's sister, Mrs. Lillian Sprague Copping. The residence was located at 1547 Spruce street. Capt. and Mrs. Pillsbury, who have been visiting in New York since leaving Rockland, leave for home today, with the distressing knowledge that it will be a homeless homecoming. Mrs. Dorothy Pillsbury Stetson, and her husband and children were temporarily occupying the Spruce street home, but are said to be safe. Hundreds of frenzied residents fled as the fire swept down the slope of the hills, and burned its way through the prosperous residential section of sixty blocks. The advance of the fire, which broke out at 1:47 p. m. in Contra Costa County, was heralded by ugly gray clouds of smoke which swept over the brow of the hill, driven by a brisk wind and blanketed Berkeley throughout the day. The fire was one of a series of forests, brush and grass fires, fanned by strong north winds and fed by undergrowth baked to a tinder by the prolonged summer drought, which raged in nearly every county in northern California Monday.

It requires so many stamps to send a letter out of Germany that there is scarcely room on the envelope to write the address. Frank L. Lewis, in Brooklyn, which is decorated with 25 10-mark stamps, 10 40-mark stamps and a 50-mark stamp. This would seem to indicate that the contents were of tremendous value until one stops to think that the mark is an insignificant animal, scarcely as valuable as a "scrap of paper."

In Social Circles

The arrival and departure of guests during the vacation season is of interest both to them and their friends. We are glad to print such items of social news and will thank our friends to supply us with information in this connection.

TELEPHONE 778

Mrs. Cora Crockett left Tuesday morning for Boston and Worcester, Mass., where she will visit a few days before going on to Casper, Wyoming, where she will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Cyrus W. Hills.

Miss Harriet Rawley of Auburndale, Mass., is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Elmer Benner, Limerock street.

Mrs. Maurice O. Wilson left Sunday by automobile for Boston, where she will visit for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Farrel leave today on the Canadian trip, visiting Quebec and Montreal and returning by way of Niagara. Mr. Farrel is taking a fortnight's vacation from business and will drive his Moon car on the journey.

Mrs. R. W. Messer, who has been visiting friends at Phillips Lake, returned Tuesday night. While away she took a motor trip to Mt. Desert, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Rawley. They visited Bar Harbor, Seal Harbor, Somes Sound, Southwest Harbor, Northeast Harbor and other places. On her way home Mrs. Messer visited her sisters and brother in Belfast.

Dr. F. S. Powers is on a month's visit at his former home in Deer Isle.

Mrs. John G. Snow is home from Machiasport, where she has been making a visit of several weeks.

Mrs. Frank Sholes of South Portland with children Rita, Ruby and Lillian, has been visiting her mother.

Mrs. Amelia Taylor of Tenant's Harbor spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Edgar Brown, in this city.

Theodore Perry and Donald Kelsey are doing Boston this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard S. Johnson of Boston are guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Healey, Broadway.

Mrs. Frances Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamb and daughters Margaret, Lenora and Rosamond of Okmulgee, Oklahoma, have been spending the past week at Lucia Beach, occupying the cottage which is owned by Orel E. Davies, a cousin of Mr. Lamb. The latter has seen the Pacific Ocean but this is the first time that he has ever disported himself in the Atlantic, and the first time that the other members of his family had ever seen salt water. They have blistered their hands digging clams; have learned that the lobster's original color is green, and have had just such a good time as one might imagine in such a favored resort, and with Orel as mentor. Eventually they will discover that he has drawn the long bow in some of his yarns, but at present they believe that all of his pronouncements are gospel. The youngest sprite in the party is Mrs. Lamb, aged 90, who is as ready for a frolic any moment as the other members of the jolly party.

Mrs. Donald P. George goes to Boston on Friday night's boat to begin her studies at the New England Conservatory of Music. Mrs. Jennie W. Bird goes with her for a short stay.

Mrs. Beulah S. Oxtom, who has been in a Massachusetts hospital, has returned home and is now in the Silsby Hospital for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Parker of North Cambridge are spending a week in the city, renewing old acquaintances and visiting relatives. They are making their headquarters with Mrs. Parker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cross, Fulton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Spear return today from four days' duck hunting in the Molasses Pond region. The trip was made by motor.

Maynard G. Flanders of Bradley, Me., formerly of South Wadoboro, visited his sister and niece, Mrs. L. J. Flanders and Elizabeth M. Leavitt, of this city recently and called on some of his friends in his home town, South Wadoboro.

Samuel H. Doe, who has been seriously ill at his home at the Highlands, and in the care of a trained nurse, Miss Alice Whitney, shows some improvement.

The executive board of the Rockland Business and Professional Women's Club, consisting of Mrs. Emma Carver, president, Mrs. Olive Sylvester, Miss Doris Hyler, Miss Annie Blackington, Mrs. Emily Stevens, Mrs. L. E. Foss, Miss Ethel Payson, Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory, Mrs. Mary Wiggin Spear, Miss Kathleen Snow, Miss Gladys Jones and Mrs. Dora Crockett, were entertained in a most delightful manner by the executive board of the Belfast E. & P. Women's Club at their rooms in that city Monday evening of this week. A delicious luncheon was served and the evening passed happily in getting acquainted, exchanging ideas and advancing plans for the coming season which might prove of mutual advantage. The hours flew all too quickly for the Rockland guests, who departed with expressions of appreciation of the cordial and charming manner in which they had been entertained. The Belfast women have a very attractive club room, which they have made inviting, cozy and homelike with comfortable furniture, pleasing pictures, bright rugs and pretty draperies. A victrola and a piano add a great deal to the room. Merchants, friends and members have shown their appreciation of these ambitious young women by gifts which have materially aided them in making the club a successful and useful institution. That the club is a live wire is proven by the fact that there is something "going on" in their rooms nearly every night in the week—lectures, courses, card parties, luncheons, entertainments, etc. One established feature has proven a great success—the Saturday night suppers for the club members who work in stores and elsewhere on that evening. The Rockland board got many ideas and inspirations for their work for the coming season, which they sincerely hope may work as a stimulus, not only for new members and enlivened interest in the old members, but for the community at large, to make Rockland people realize and appreciate that such a club does really fill a need and accomplish a purpose.

Mrs. Irving Elwell, who was quite ill the latter part of the week from ptomaine poisoning, has recovered sufficiently to go out, but is still very weak.

Mrs. Lucretia Kaler of Wadoboro is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Addie Lawry.

Misses Marion Brawn and Julia Anderson went this week to Lewiston, where they entered the Freshman class of Bates College.

The family of Alfred K. and Mary E. Crockett, formerly of the Highlands, held a reunion at the home of Adelbert E. Crockett in East Warren Sunday. Through the effort of Mrs. Emma Anderson, the only daughter among ten children, the family with wives and children, scattered though they were over New England and New York State, were united for the first time in 16 years. Forty-six were present—Bert and family of East Warren, Frank of Rockland, Clifton of New York, Mark and family of Waltham, Mass., William and family of Rockport, Emma (Mrs. George Anderson) of New York, Alfred and family of Portland, Roland and family of Rockport, David and family of Camden and Elmer of Rockland. The well known musical talent of this family found expression in an orchestra of seven pieces, the personnel of which was: Adelbert, clarinet; Mark, cornet; George and Norman (sons of Mark) mandolins; David, drums; Alfred (son of Alfred), mandolin; Evelyn, (daughter of David), piano. How many other families can furnish an orchestra of this size from their own membership? The reunion was such a complete success that there was no dissenting vote when it came to deciding upon a similar gathering in 1924.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday evening when Doris M. Smith of Camden became the bride of Charles W. Greene of Rockland. Rev. Walter S. Rounds officiated, using the double ring ceremony. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O. Rector. The bride was very attractive in blue silk, with corsage bouquet of yellow cosmos. ### SATURDAY'S DRIVE

Considerable Interest Developing In High School's Effort to Finance Its Football Team

The High School is organizing its forces for Saturday's big drive for funds to finance the football season. The schedule this year is extraordinarily hard, and the team to meet its obligations must be properly equipped. In past seasons Rockland has faced one heavy eleven but this year must match her strength with several, among them Deering, Orono, Brewer, Waterville and Camden.

The cost of bringing these teams to Rockland, and the uncertainty of gate receipts at the games, makes the drive necessary. The school has been carefully combed for efficient workers and these will descend upon a public willing to give support Saturday. Coach Philip A. Jones and treasurer Frank A. Stack have done the bulk of the organization work and the girls' teams working Saturday will be in charge of Mrs. Jones and Miss Ida Carey.

Mrs. Ellen Crocker, medium, will be at 31 Union street, from September 19th until further notice to give readings and treat the sick. Telephone 789-M. 112-1f

LOOKED UP COMRADES

Found One Farming, Another Aged, But All Glad To See Mel, Alf and Tom.

Last Friday Thomas Benner and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Strout of Thomaston, Capt. and Mrs. Melvin Cook of Bridgton, with Alfred Strout, 24, at the wheel, started out to visit their comrades of the First Maine Co. B who were unable to attend the reunion in Lewiston the week before. The day was ideal and after a delightful ride the first comrade was found at the Head-of-the-Tide, Belfast—Comrade Richards, who was busily engaged in gathering beans, although claiming to be 84 years old. Perhaps he was not pleased to see them all, but his actions belied it, and they were all urged to stay and spend the day. Comrades Gurney and Beckwith were the next on the list and both were so happy to meet their buddies that their years slipped back as they reminisced of days of youth and vigor. The party were obliged to tear themselves away, and after dinner partaken of in Belfast the ladies separated to call on their friends while Mel, Alf and Tom looked up the boys in town. Those proved to be out of town, and about 3 o'clock they turned homeward and wended their way up into the Hope hills.

Comrade Ripley has been crippled with a broken back for years and that day was in bed with a attack of rheumatism; but his spirit was far from broken and his blue eyes had not lost their sparkle. As they were leaving his comrades told the ladies that he was a proud and handsome youngster in those bygone days and "he didn't know the meaning of fear." At last they started for home and the bride of

'64 started to sing in a sweet clear voice the campfire songs that she had sung during those days of waiting and praying. The day had been a perfect one for the boys and they just listened, each busy with the recollections the day had brought forth.

DAY OF ATONEMENT

Local Hebrews Are Celebrating Yom Kippur—The Significance Of It.

The Jewish observance of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, began yesterday, and continues through today. Everywhere on this day Jews will assemble in their houses of worship for meditation, prayer and fasting and abstinence of all worldly thoughts. By this means they will seek to cleanse their hearts of sin and by true repentance be better qualified to discharge their responsibilities toward humanity. The day of atonement is mentioned in a number of places in the Bible. In Leviticus XVI. the elaborate priestly ceremonial of atonement is described and in the 23d chapter, Yom Kippur is represented as a sort of Sabbath of solemn rest whereon the people shall afflict their souls.

In the Pentateuch the day of atonement was set aside as a day when the high priest expiated the sins of the people. First he sought forgiveness for his own sins, and those of his household and then for the people. Two goats were sacrificed. One for the Lord and one for Azazel, the demon of the wilderness, who was thus supposed constrained to carry away the people's sins. The rabbis have introduced a far more rational conception. Atonement they showed could no longer be obtained by the priest by means of sacrificial blood, incense or the scapegoat. God's pardon could only be obtained by the personal repentance of the sinner. So the intent of the modern service is to quicken the conscience of the worshipper so that he will approach God in true humility imploring His pardon and promising to amend his ways.

At the afternoon service forgiveness is sought for all mankind as fervently as for the individual Jew. The Scripture reading is from the book of Jonah which tells of God's all forgiving mercy to the entire race of the children of men. There is a touching memorial service where the departed are evoked and honored. Besides, the worshipper is reminded that death is the consummation of life and not to be feared. All who have by their career contributed to the establishment of justice and righteousness have brought nearer the advent of the Kingdom of God when sickness, war and famine shall be abolished forever.

FOR SALE—7 room house in excellent condition, electric lights, cement cellar. Lot contains 3 acres, shade and fruit trees, raspberry bushes, strawberry plants. Stable 20x24, garage, henhouse, all in good repair. An opportunity to purchase a comfortable home less than one-half it would cost to replace buildings. R. R. LUDWICK, 51 Oliver St., Tel. 322-11

STRAND THEATRE

The patrons today see Colleen Moore in a new role. The picture is called "The Sign of the Cross." Mr. Hughes has blended much comedy in the story of pretty Perla Quarenta, daughter of an Italian organ grinder, who is given a vaudeville engagement with Carlo Bruni's "charter dance act" when one of the girls becomes so fat that her wire which supports her in the air is likely to break. John Krug, Bruni's stage mechanic and wire-man, discovered Perla and took a poignant interest in her, expecting an amorous reward. But Perla did not welcome his advances and Krug pointed against her—he plotted to get her put on more avirapoles than a butterfly girl should have—Perla was simply devoted to food—and then have a supporting wire break. But Bruni himself in love with Perla, discovered Krug's treachery and the fight which ensued landed both in jail. But upon Bruni's release, Perla married him and their career leads them to the Metropolitan Opera House, but always they had to scheme the food and the sweets they loved for the sake of their art.

PARK THEATRE

The final showing of the Paramount picture, "The Cheat," which opened at the Park Theatre yesterday to packed houses, will take place this afternoon and evening. Pola Negri is the star, with Jack Holt featured and Charles de Roche in support. George Fitzmaurice was the director. The story is by Hector Turnbull, and the picture has scored a remarkable hit, because of its drama, love appeal and happy climax.

Harry Carey in "Canyon of the Poole" will be the attraction for Friday and Saturday. Strong, swift drama that sweeps across the open country of the West, fine, clean romance and adventure with all the bracing tingle of a keen wind rushing through tall timbers, make Harry Carey's latest starring attraction "Canyon of the Poole" one of the really outstanding Western productions of the year. Added to the feature there will be the latest comedy and Pathe Review—adv.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Today will be the final showing of "Are You a Failure?" The picture lives up to its name of comedy drama by containing in its seven reels more laughs and tears than we have experienced in any film this season. Added to the feature there is a two-reel comedy and a scenic.

Friday and Saturday you will see on the Empire screen Herbert Rawlinson in "The Victor," a screen adaptation of Gerald Beaumont's popular magazine story, "Two Bells for Pegasus," and was filmed under the direction of Edward Laemmle by Clyde De Vinna. The play is essentially a drama and has plenty of dramatic interest, but most of its entertainment lies in its humor.

On the same bill there will be the last chapter of "Social Buccaneer," with Roy Stewart, and there is also the latest comedy—adv.

ENJOYED THEIR TRIP

Maine G. A. R. Delegation Had Fine Time in Milwaukee—Boston Next Year.

The Maine delegation to National Grand Army Encampment, numbering Past Department Commander E. A. Butler of Rockland among its members, arrived home last week from Milwaukee, very enthusiastic over its trip.

"The encampment was a notable one, veterans being present from all over the United States, despite the fact that nearly 60 years have passed since the Civil War closed. The ranks have been depleted, but the spirit of the men is strong and a surprising number still possess a vigor of body making it possible for them to continue to get together in annual reunions and encampments. Many of the old veterans who were scarcely able to march were determined to appear in line, determined to do their bit and carry on."

The convention went off successfully, as usual. Interest in this part of the country in next year's encampment is increased and widened in the fact that Boston was selected for the place of meeting. The five days spent in Milwaukee were delightful and the city certainly did all in its power to make the visit of the old veterans and members of allied organizations a pleasant one. Public buildings, places of business and private residences were appropriately decorated. Automobiles were placed at the disposal of veterans, and through the courtesy of the street railway management all veterans wearing the G. A. R. badge were carried free. The Boy Scout organizations had been in training to serve during the convention and the members rendered every assistance to visiting veterans and friends, a real service. There were beautiful drives about the city and surrounding country, and these were enjoyed by the visitors without charge.

Following the visit in Milwaukee, the members of the Maine party proceeded eastward, first visiting Chicago enroute, with headquarters at Hotel Atlantic. The Marshall Field department store, museums and theatres were visited with interest. The next stop was at Detroit, where Hotel Fort Shelby was the headquarters. Among the places of special interest visited there was the mammoth automobile plant of Henry Ford. Fifty-five thousand of the 80,000 men employed in the Ford industries are at the Highland Park plant, 10,000 at the Royal River plant, and 5,000 at the tractor plant, while in addition 10,000 are employed at the various branches throughout the United States. The company's present payroll at its plants is $462,000 a day. One is struck with the immensity of the plants, the cleanliness of the place, and the spirit of happiness and good will everywhere apparent. One big feature of the visit was a complimentary luncheon to the Maine delegation served in the big dining room at the plant, which came as a surprise to most of the party. The visitors left very appreciative of the courtesies extended them. From Detroit the party proceeded to Montreal, where a day and a night were spent. A ride about the city, to the top of Mt. Royal, also to Calvary Cemetery, the Shrine of St. Joseph, not to mention the visit to the large fur stores, were among the features of the Montreal visit. From Montreal the party proceeded direct to Portland.

The party was a jolly one, and the trip was happy in every respect. It was also representative. A mascot was "Auntie" Nash of Auburn, who is 91 years old. She received special attention throughout the trip. She was born in 1833 at the foot of Mt. Abram in Franklin County. Her grandfather was Sir William Trevillian of London. By way of personal reference, it is interesting to note that Mrs. Nash has earned her living since she was 12 years old, and before she was 15 she went to work in a mill in Lowell, Mass. When the cotton mills of Lewiston were started she went to work there and has the distinction of having woven the first yard of cloth for the Bates Corporation.

The party was conducted by James Merriek of Waterville, and his daughter, Miss Maud Merriek, also of that city and two weeks were spent at the convention and enroute, most enjoyable days, everything being successfully managed and a spirit of the utmost fraternity prevailing. At a special dinner given at the hotel in Milwaukee, at which Division Commander W. W. Jewett of the Sons of Veterans was toastmaster, Mr. Merriek and Miss Merriek were remembered with gifts of appreciation from the party.

DUTCH NECK'S COMPLAINT

As a result of a complaint alleged by Walter P. Quinen et als of Waldoboro to the effect that it is desirable that the Central Maine Power Company extend a branch of their electric lighting lines a distance of approximately three miles in a section of the town of Waldoboro known as Dutch Neck, the complainants, 27 in number, agreeing to subscribe when such an extension is made, the Public Utilities Commission has numbered complaint F. C. 513 and notified the Central Maine Power Company that if after ten days after the service of the notice the cause of the complaint has not been removed, an investigation will be made and a hearing will be ordered.
