THE KNOX ACADEMY

A State Institution for Knox County and Eastern Maine

Has the Backing of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce and Leading Business Men in this Section of the State

HAS ALREADY $18,000 WORTH OF PROPERTY IN LAND, BUILDINGS AND COLLECTIONS BUT NEEDS $25,000 MORE TO COMPLETE THE FIRST UNIT OF ITS MUSEUM BUILDING.

It is proposed by the Council and Board of Regents of the Knox Academy of Arts and Sciences to raise $25,000 by popular public subscriptions, between this time and October 15.

If everybody will contribute from one to one hundred dollars, we shall go "over the top" in no time. Don't wait to be called on, but when you lay this paper down pull out a dollar bill, a five, or ten spot, write a check for 25 or 100 dollars, slip it in an envelope and address same to the Treasurer of the Academy, Arthur L. Orne, Rockland or the Secretary, N. W. Lermond, Thomaston. You will receive in return a blue card as receipt and free passport next season, and seasons to follow, to the Arboretum and Museum. (Those not contributing now will be charged an admission fee.) Acknowledgment of receipt of contributions will be made in the columns of this paper (those not wishing their names printed will so state when sending in contributions).

Those who have visited the Arboretum know that we have, right here at home in Knox County, a most wonderful place—the only one of the kind in Maine—easy of access by electric and by autos. It simply lacks funds, for development. As the "Prattler" once said: "We stood there fascinated by the beauty of this spot of which Knox County will soon be exceedingly proud." And Mr. T. D. Hatfield, for 38 years head landscape gardener for the Hunnewell estate in Wellesley, Mass., and who visited the Knox Arboretum three summers ago, had this to say: "The natural conditions of soil and tree growth are simply ideal for a botanic garden and Arboretum, far better than we have at Wellesley or even at the Arnold Arboretum. The citizens and summer residents of Knox County and near-by counties, should furnish the necessary funds for its upkeep and development."

What We Already Have

Already a fine collection of trees and shrubs—124 species of the former and 104 of the latter—have been assembled here and are, for the most part, labelled with the common English and scientific Latin name. It also serves as a wild flower garden, on a rather large scale, and a bird sanctuary. The plan the Director of the Arboretum has in view is to finally bring together, within the confines of this 60-acre tract, every species of tree, shrub, fern and wild flowering plant that is found growing anywhere in Maine, and supplement these with hardy trees, shrubs and plants from other states and foreign countries. The United States Department of Agriculture is supplying several of their introductions from Siberia, China, Japan and other countries. This will be an experimental ground to try out these new plants and of great value to farmers and garden clubs. So much for the Arboretum. Now, as to the Museum. As nearly everybody hereabouts knows, the foundation walls and first floor have already been constructed of reinforced concrete at an expenditure of $3,400. As soon as the first story has been built, of fire-proof material—granite, field rock and brick—the many valuable scientific collections of minerals, fossils, shells, mammals, birds, nests and eggs, butterflies, moths and other insects, reptiles, corals and other marine animals, herbarium specimens, etc., now on hand will be placed in cabinets and suitably displayed in fine show-cases and all plainly and correctly labelled, thus providing an interesting exhibit for the general public and a place for school children and students to go to study the wonders of nature. One room in the building will be stocked with books on natural history and scientific subjects and used as a reading room and library.

A Summer School

The Knox Academy also proposes to conduct a summer school for nature students and for artists, with proficient and capable instructors. Portland members of the Academy urged that such a school be opened this past season and said they would come and board at the Rockland, Thomaston and Warren Hotels. It must also be remembered that the Academy for the past two years has been and is now, publishing a journal or magazine. The Maine Naturalist—devoted entirely to the fauna, flora and geology of our own State, with professors of our Maine Colleges and other eminent scientists and naturalists as editors of the several departments.

Research Work

The Academy will carry on research work in all fields of nature and science, and who knows what discoveries may be made to enrich the State. The President of the Academy, Prof. Edward H. Perkins of Colby College, has spent the past summer in a geological and mineralogical exploration of sections of Maine.

There will be special laboratories in the museum building for chemical and microscopical study, experimentation and investigation.

What some of our leading business and professional men and women say of this State institution.

I have read over your prospectus and the general purposes of this institution commend themselves to me very strongly. I feel that we cannot do too much to "get back to nature." Your society has a special opportunity in these days, when the whirl and buzz of machinery make people blind to the wonders of nature.

C. D. GRAY,
President Bates College.

The State of Maine is known the country over for its natural beauty. For this reason, it has become in many ways a vacation state for people from all over the United States. Such an organization as the Knox Academy of Arts and Sciences does an enormous amount to fix the attention of the educated people of the State upon these natural resources with an idea of encouraging their appreciation to the full.

C. C. LITTLE,
President University of Maine.

The maintenance of the arboretum and museum and the free publicity of statistics and research work, will do much to bring the growing school children of Maine to a fuller appreciation of value of Maine's natural resources. If Maine is to grow commercially it is of first importance that the younger generation of its people be taught to realize the possibilities of our woodlands, the value of Maine's natural resources. If Maine is to grow commercially fish and natural minerals resources,

G. B. WOOD,
President Rockland & Rockport Lime Corp.

Whatever we may read in the term "Nature" it is true that her gifts to Maine have been most lavish, and equally true that we have wasted and destroyed many of them. It is almost too late to cry a halt, because some things are already extinct.

The next thing to do, if we are interested, or at least patriotic, is to provide a sanctuary, that the coming generation may not be deprived of its lawful heritage of beauty, of inspiration, and of knowledge.

We have with us a society formed exactly for that purpose—The Knox Academy of Arts and Sciences. Its mission is to provide a sanctuary for wild life, that the beautiful in tree, flower, and birds may not perish from our locality. Here it is planned to gather the beauty we have driven out, and to keep it safe.

No education is complete without a love for the beautiful world made for us; so in asking aid for the Knox Arboretum, we believe we are making a plea that every thoughtful citizen should consider.

ANNA E. COUGHLIN,
Principal Rockland High School.

The efforts already made by a limited group of nature lovers for the development of the Knox Arboretum and the Academy of Arts and Sciences, is worthy of more general support. What has been accomplished is promise of what will be, and the future value as an educational and development force in the State of Maine can be hardly estimated.

It is not local or provincial as many may infer from its name. We may call attention to the fact that while its real estate holdings are in Knox County, it is not the Knox County but the Knox Academy, named for one of the great characters of our revolution, the close friend, and chief arbiter of the immortal Washington and all the Continental Armies. In its name it belongs to the whole country.

Maine, not so rich in revolutionary heroes as some other states, may well consider the work of this society as its own, educationally worthy of its financial support, and at the same time a memorial to its leading revolutionary hero who was so important a character as to be a citizen of our whole country and its first Secretary of War.

A. S. LITTLEFIELD,
Rockland, Me.

The State of Maine as a whole and the people residing on the east coast of Maine particularly should be proud in their great possession which is in their midst and which so few realize. This possession that I speak of is the Knox Arboretum. To my mind this institution can be made one of the greatest scientific schools in the east and it is indeed a surprise to me that the general public and particularly the business men of the towns and cities along the east coast of Maine have not seen the possibilities which are present today.

I firmly believe that if suitable buildings were erected so that classes might be held that a summer school could be established with very little trouble and it would mean a considerable return to the communities living in the immediate neighborhood of the Arboretum. I found upon investigation that a great many requests had been made from all parts of the United States that a summer school be held but on account of not having suitable buildings in which to display the vast treasures which they have which are of immense scientific value this has not been made possible.

We, that are such firm believers and who can so readily see the possibilities of summer business should use our every effort to help to have suitable buildings erected in this most beautiful and educational place.

E. W. MACDONALD,
Secretary Rockland Chamber of Commerce.

The subscription list has already been started with a paid contribution of $100 from the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corp., $100 from Ira Feeney of the Deep Sea Fisheries, $2 from Miss Clara L. Anderson of Warren, $2 from George L. Howland of Warren. Let us have a good big list of contributions for next issue of this paper. Remember, we want everyone to "chip in" at least one dollar. Some day you will be proud of the fact that you helped to make possible a Great State Educational Institution for Knox County and Eastern Maine.

THE JAPANESE FUND

Free will contributions continue to be received at the office of the Knox County Red Cross and are immediately forwarded to headquarters. No further publicity is to be made in New England with view to urging subscriptions, the response everywhere having been so spontaneous and liberal as to render such action unnecessary, but there will be good use for any belated contributions that may come to hand. Additional subscriptions are listed below.

Dr. E. A. Farrington, head of the Bancroft School, writes to The Courier-Gazette:

"We have been much interested in the local quota for the Japanese Relief Fund. According to your paper, Owl's Head was not assigned any amount, but South Thomaston was requested to raise $50. In order to put Owl's Head on the map, we have held a little bazaar here at the school, entirely among our own people (employees and pupils) and from it we realized $55.18, which we have turned over to be sent in with the Owl's Head quota. This will bring Owl's Head close to $120."

The Knox County subscription to date is as follows:

We looked out of our window this morning and saw the lawn covered with birds, two or three varieties of them, dropped down for a little visit while on their southward flight—a charming thing to look upon. We hope every one of the little chaps will return when spring once more comes up this way. Some of them will get back, some will fall victim to the regions where the laws for bird protection are not properly recognized—though it is encouraging to note that no country in the world is so thoroughly organized and has such advanced laws for bird protection as the United States, and that many of our methods are being adopted abroad to meet European conditions. At a convention held in London last year a movement was launched for an international league along the lines of the National Association of Audubon Societies of this country, regarded as of high necessity if much of the valuable bird life is to be saved from despoliation. Some of the noted men of Europe, including Earl Grey and Lord Buxton of England, are at the head of the movement. We have been delighted to observe on several occasions a knowledge of birds exhibited by Knox County school children, the result of instruction received in nature studies in the public schools. This is also one of the things brought about by the Audubon Societies.

A GREAT AND WORTHY WORK

The announcement of a financial campaign in behalf of the Knox Academy merits the endorsement of every progressive citizen in these parts of Maine. Readers of The Courier-Gazette should be pretty familiar with the work of that devoted naturalist, Norman W. Lermond, in the creation of the Knox Arboretum, for the details of his unselfish labors have been told at length in many issues of this paper. His gift to the people of sixty acres of magnificent woodland is a generous act without parallel in Knox County. That these labors of a lifetime of this gifted and large-hearted man shall not have been in vain and that a great work shall here be saved and perpetuated is the purpose of the movement as set forth upon the first page of this paper. It deserves to be crowned with the largest measure of success.

The firm foundation of all liberty is the protection of the individual against the wrongdoing of others. All liberty is based upon justice, the fair dealing between man and man. It is the law of unselfishness. Its basis is equality. Any class, any organization undertaking to secure for itself privileges not open to any other class or organization, is hostile to American institutions, and a menace to American liberty.—Calvin Coolidge.

In many parts of the country are being formed Coolidge Clubs, whose purpose is the solidifying of the sentiment favorable to the nomination of the distinguished son of New England at the National convention next year. Rockland should join the procession. A Coolidge Club ought to appeal to a great body of our citizens.

One of the early acts of the coming session of Congress will doubtless be the enactment of a law providing for the examination of intending immigrants before they get their passports in their native countries. That will save a lot of trouble and expense for both them and us.

COMPANIES THANKED

Adjutant General Adds His Commendation For Work of Guardsmen At Prison Fire.

From the office of Adjutant General J. W. Hanson has been issued circular letter No. 15, which contains a commendation of Batteries F and G, for work done at the State Prison fire, and which is directed to all organization commanders. The communication follows:

"The Adjutant General takes this occasion to congratulate the members of Batteries F and G, 240th Artillery, for the efficient performance of a difficult duty during this very trying time; for the preservation of public property and the splendid order and discipline maintained while on duty at the Maine State Prison."

[Here follows Warden Eaton's letter, which was published in Tuesday's issue of this paper.]

"The following letter received from the warden of the Maine State Prison in appreciation of the service performed by members of Batteries F and G, 240th Artillery, during the recent fire at the State Prison, is published for the information of all concerned. It will be read to each command on the next regular assembly night and posted on the bulletin board."

COOLIDGE IS CERTAIN

To Receive Presidential Nomination Says Postmaster General—Logical Man, Says Borah.

"Harry S. New, postmaster general, declared Thursday that he was certain that President Coolidge will be the Republican party Presidential nominee in 1924. 'There is no doubt whatever in my mind,' said Mr. New, 'but that Mr. Coolidge will be, as he very rightly should be, the nominee of the party in 1924. That seems to have been taken by unanimous consent and approval.'"

Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the leaders in the Progressive wing of the Republican party, was a guest of President Coolidge at dinner Wednesday night at the White House. Afterwards the executive and the senator had a general conference, with conditions facing western wheat growers as the principal theme of discussion. Senator Borah recently visited the wheat states and has some views to present as to legislation designed to relieve the situation. The meeting of President Coolidge and Mr. Borah was their first since Mr. Coolidge became chief executive. Before returning to Washington, Senator Borah declared his belief that Mr. Coolidge was the logical man for the Republican Presidential nomination next year and called upon the public to "give him a chance to make good."

LITERARY SHORT NOTES

Rollin Lynde Hartt, formerly of Boston and now an editor of the Literary Digest, has written a study of Christ, "The Man Himself," which Doubleday, Page & Company are publishing this week. Mr. Hartt is a graduate of Andover Theological Seminary and was for a time on the staff of the Boston Transcript. He married Miss Jessie Knight of Rockland, who died several years ago.

John Clair Minot says in his Boston Herald literary column:

Few of the documents that come from the executive offices of a state capital are so interesting and appealing as one that reaches our desk from the State House in Augusta, autographed with the familiar signature of Gov. Percival P. Baxter. It is "My Irish Setter Dogs," and it is the Governor's own story of the canine friendships that he has enjoyed for the past 37 years. When he was nine years of age, his father, the late Mayor Baxter of Portland, gave him his first pup, and from that day the descendants of that pup have been his inseparable companions. During his four years in Bowdoin, his setter "Duke" was always with him, even in the classroom and at the morning exercises in King Chapel. Since he has been Governor, "Garry" was his inseparable companion at the Capitol until his death, and now "Erlie" has taken his place. It was the lowering of the Capitol flag after "Garry's" death that brought sharp criticism of Gov. Baxter in certain quarters. This little pamphlet completely blunts the edge of that criticism. As a tribute to the dog, it will take its place among those earlier classics, Bishop Doane's poem and Senator Vest's speech.

RECRUITS WANTED

Chance To Join the Local National Guard Company, Which Is Making Such a Fine Showing.

Battery G, 240th Artillery, which is the new name of the 305th Company, C. A. C., is engaged in a drive for new members, which ought not to be so very difficult after the organization proved its usefulness in such a conclusive way during the State Prison fire.

Peek into the southern window of the Fuller-Cobb-Davis store if you would see what the paraphernalia of a coast artilleryman is like. See the Azimuth instrument, the telescopic site, the fuse display board, the artillery telephone, the diagram of projectiles, the diagram of recoil cylinders, the Browning automatic rifle, the U. S. magazine rifle, signal flags, etc., etc.

See how Battery G justified its existence by winning the cash prize of $150 offered by the regiment to the company which would make the best showing at the State encampment at Fort Williams. This highly coveted prize is supplemented by Gov. Baxter's own cup, offered for the same purpose.

The display of cups also includes the instructor's cup won at the recent Auburn shoot by Sergeant Robert Bridges, and the Col. Walter H. Butler trophy and the Col. Foxg trophy won by Battery G's rifle team.

The battery wants as many recruits as it can get, and would like to have a waiting list. The service offers young men a chance to earn some spending money, and a chance to improve his physical and mental condition. The members drill 1½ hours a week and receive $1 a night. They get regular army pay at the State encampments. Enlist now!

NOW FOR UNION FAIR!

Big List of Entries For Next Wednesday and Thursday—New Bridge Is Ready.

Yes, we have Union fair next week.

To many persons in Knox County, and towns which adjoin it, this is the biggest event of the year. Last year the popularity of the institution was attested by an attendance of 7,000 on the "big day," and it is more than likely that this record will be broken next week if Union fair has good weather as the other fairs have had.

This year the North Knox Agricultural Society took out rain insurance to the amount of $3500, which it is estimated, will cover its losses if stormy weather prevents the big show. But the officials don't want insurance money; they want good weather. They want to see the crowds come and they want everybody to have a good time.

This year the crowds will pass into the fair grounds over the new bridge which the town has just completed. This structure is 60 feet long, 20 feet wide, and built of steel at a total cost of $5000. No longer will there be a grand hold-up while a long line of vehicles is crossing the bridge single file.

H. L. Grinnell, whose services as secretary of Union Fair are absolutely indispensable, was in the city yesterday, and brought several interesting bits of information concerning next week's fair.

On Wednesday there will be races in the 2.25, 2.25 and 2.15 classes. Thursday's card calls for events in the 2.22 and 2.15 classes, the total amount of purses on the two days being $1350. The stables are already full, and W. E. Perry, president of the Fair, was declaring yesterday that he would erect some new ones if he had the materials on hand.

H. H. Lee of Augusta, who has been getting 'em away on some of the big tracks this summer, will again officiate as starter, and it's almost a safe wager that he will wear that familiar bandanna kerchief around his neck.

"Don't come down ahead of that pole horse," thunders Lee, "and they don't."

Some envious folks say, however, that Lee would stop a race any time to barter for an apple orchard.

Alongside the judges' stand a new platform has been erected since the last fair, and admission pastedowns will be issued from a new ticket office.

Secretary Grinnell was regretting yesterday that there is not room enough in the exhibition hall to accommodate all who would like to make use of it this year. There will be a full midway, high class vaudeville and the Waldoboro Band.

Above all things please remember that there's no fair on Tuesday, and there's no program.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

I SAW AUBREY HEAL

at the recent Camden-Rockland game, and the former sheriff seemed to be deriving the quiet enjoyment out of the contest which is so thoroughly characteristic of him, whether the game is baseball or politics. "If I go to one game," said Aubrey, "I've got to see 'em all"—and why not, for the season is short and the games none too plentiful. The husky Camden man has a big following of friends down here in Rockland, as well as in Camden, and everybody was sorry when he left the Court House and went back to his native heath.

The referee's whistle will blow at 2:30 this afternoon and two husky football teams will be unleashed on the new Broadway Athletic Field for the first game of the season, and the first regular game on the new ground.

Rockland High is said to be light and fast; what Waterville High will bring is not so well known, but Waterville generally has one of the strongest teams in Central Maine. The fans should not be disappointed if a defeat is in store—but Coach Jones is not.

going into the contest with any such intention.

The New York Yankees Thursday clinched the 1923 American League championship, their third successive pennant victory, by defeating St. Louis, The Yankees, who have made a runaway of this season's race, now can lose all of their remaining 13 games and still finish at the top, even if Cleveland, in second place, wins all of its remaining 19 games.

By clinching the pennant Thursday two and a half weeks before the scheduled end of the season, the Yankees have scored one of the most decisive victories in the history of the league. They now hold a margin of 17 games over the second place Indians. The Yankees have set the pace practically from the start and have not been seriously threatened since mid-season. Challenged first by Connie Mack's Athletics, who spurred sensationally in the Spring and later by Cleveland's rally, the Yankees stood off these threats and maintained a championship stride while their rivals fell by the wayside.

MAINE COAST WORDS

Prof. Charles Wilbert Snow Prepares Glossary Which Will Benefit Our Readers.

Charles Wilbert Snow, a Maine poet whose home is at Spruce Head, has published a book of poems which this Bowdoin graduate of 1907 had called, "The Maine Coast." The foreword indicates his intention to give in narrative and lyric form the life of the small coast villages on Penobscot Bay. The characterizations profess to be true to life and his verse suggests the beauty and color of Maine coast with those dramatic touches possible whenever a poet deals with sea-faring men. To many readers, especially here in Maine, Mr. Snow's "Glossary of Maine Coast Words," which appears at the end of the volume, is of peculiar interest.

From this list we have chosen some of the most interesting; and we venture to predict that very few people who look this over can define all of the terms. Here are a few:

Barrel—an oilcloth garment worn on the lower part of the body when hauling traps.

Boln—knot.

Ditty-box—a sailor's thread and needle case.

Grunk-hole—anomatopoeia an imitation of the sound of rough waves under headland cliffs.

Grout-bank—pile of chipped-off stone.

Gurry—scum and slime on lobster pots.

Poppel—stones—beach pebbles smoothed by the waves.

Quawk—the quail bird.

Room of—instead of.

Spilder—frying pan.

Touss—disturbance.

White ash breeze—the use of oars. Some of these terms are so familiar to us that we do not consider them colloquialisms; the last four for instance. Can our readers add to the list—such words as Tunket, Runnet, etc.?

Yesterday's rain came too late to interfere with any of the agricultural fairs, and was something of a boon in communities which had "gone dry" for other reasons than the Volstead law. Much more rain is needed, however, before the situation has come to anything like normalcy.

Another contestant in the 1923 potato race is George Hamlin of 55 Gay street who planted two and a half pecks of spuds last June and has harvested them far 13 bushels of good quality with half a peck of little ones. In one hill he had four perfect tubers with a combined weight of over five pounds.

One of the excellent reasons why the debris from the State Prison fire was cleared away so quickly was the part played by Fred M. Blackington of Rockland with his indispensable tractor. The walls and chimneys were toppled over in big time, and the vicinity of the prison yard was no place for a nervous person.

"Ike Jim, the Clamhound," who is on the final lap of his annual vacation from the Courier-Gazette office, acknowledges the receipt of a clam gun from his associates in the job room, but expresses regret that he cannot use it, as they put salt on clams' tails when they dig any up in Newport, Me. "Ike" reminds "Sucker" Blake that there's a dollar due him on the Dempsey-Firpo fight when he gets home, to which "Sucker" replies by saying it's time "Ike" won. And Neil smiles sweetly and quietly all through the controversy, much more quietly than Danny does.

The first session of the Missionary Society of the First Baptist church was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Sleeper, Spring street. The president, Mrs. H. I. Hix, presided. Short sketches of the work of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, and its growth in Europe, were read and a part of Dr. Carter Heim Jones' letter on his visit to Czechoslovakia, which appeared in "Missions" last year was read by Mrs. F. S. Kallach. Mrs. Hix read a paper, which she had prepared for a former occasion, on "Czechoslovakia," which was very instructive and interesting. She told something of the story of its political as well as of its religious history. It was the story of its struggle for its rights and freedom all through the centuries. It was too bad that there were not more of the members present to receive the good which is always found in these meetings.

E. C. Jones of Adams square, who has been coming to the house with blood poisoning in one of his hands, the past five weeks, is now considerably improved—on the mending hand, so to speak.

King Hiram Conant is planning a big meeting for Oct. 25, at which time Cyrus N. Blanchard, grand principal conductor of the work will make his official visit.

The organ concert and moving picture performance at the Strand Theatre Sunday night will be for the benefit of Knox Hospital. The feature is entitled "Grand Larceny," and the stars are Elliott Dexter and Claire Windsor.

A. W. Brewster and family who have been summering at Crescent Beach are to occupy Mrs. Jennie Curtis' house at Ingraham Hill after Oct. 1st. Mr. Brewster's own house on Maple street being still tenanted by Dr. N. A. Fogg.

The walls of Strand Theatre, unpainted since the construction of the building, are being tinted a shade of green, in water colors. The dado is being painted a mahogany shade. The effect is not only extremely pleasing to the eye, but will enhance the effect of the pictures.

Mrs. Nina Crockett Brown is at Sibley Hospital in a serious condition as the result of a peculiar accident. She was removing a kettle of boiling apple sauce from the stove in her home when it slipped in some way and scalded her arm. H. S. Wright, field engineer of the Portland Cement Association, with headquarters in Boston, was in the city Thursday on business. To emphasize the growth of the Portland cement industry Mr. Wright stated that the rated capacity of mills for its manufacture is now 150,000,000 barrels a year. Its uses have increased so rapidly that the shipments went from 98,000,000 barrels in 1921 to 115,000,000 barrels last year. Present indications point to the shipment of 130,000,000 barrels this year.

Students at Rockland High School will soon be able to boast that they belong to the "Four Hundred." Yesterday the enrollment had reached 397, which is 15 more than the highest previous enrollment, and Supt. Hull was blantly confident that it will pass the 400-mark. The entering class has 133 students, which is considerably larger than the whole school used to be. There is also an enlarged enrollment in all of the grades. "Where do they come from?" asks Supt. Hull, and answers his own question with: "I don't know."

The First Baptist church scored another victory Thursday night when nearly 25 members, headed by the pastor, Rev. Benjamin P. Browne and Rev. H. R. Winchenbach of Rockland, and Captain H. E. Dixon as special guests, stormed Dutch Neck with an old-fashioned revival service that brought back the days of Wesley and John Knox. A special feature of the meeting was the deep, convincing message of Rev. Mr. Browne, which brought to light one of the most remarkable incidents in the life of Maud Ballington Booth, who encountered one of the most notorious and desperate criminals in the State of New York and brought him to Christ during her prison work. The local church at Dutch Neck furnished a delightful supper of clam chowder. Sept. 20 will be remembered by Rockland and Dutch Neck church-goers.

The first convocation at the McLain Building was held yesterday. The students took their places naturally under the leadership of the schools new principal, Miss Ellen J. Cochrane, and showed aptness and pep when Coach Philip A. Jones instructed them in the yells which they are to touch off this afternoon at the Rockland-Waterville football game on the Broadway Athletic Field. Coach Jones soon warmed up to his duties to such an extent that he threw off his coat and got into the game like the football warrior that he used to be. An inspiring figure is Coach Jones. Supt. Hull contemplates the opening of the new school year with a great deal of satisfaction. "I feel that we have good prospects for the most successful educational year in modern times," he told a Courier-Gazette reporter. "Considering the number of vacancies we had to fill the situation is shaping up in good style."

AS TO COOLIDGE CLUBS

Gov. Baxter's Suggestion Meets With Favorable Response From All Parts Of State

Gov. Baxter was much encouraged at the almost unanimous response which came to the telegrams and messages that he sent to a number of prominent citizens in every county of the State suggesting the formation of the Coolidge Club of Maine.

Gov. Baxter said, "Almost without exception the replies were in favor of a Coolidge Club, and of all replies received only four evaded or evaded the project. These four, however, spoke approvingly of the President but thought it best to wait before a formal organization was perfected."

"The steps that have been taken will no doubt give President Coolidge a clear field in Maine, and will prevent any other candidate from coming into this territory. That is the purpose of those who sponsor the club. Later on, when occasion arises, the organization will be perfected and then active work can be done if necessary, in every county."

"President Coolidge's friends in Maine intend to have a solid delegation sent to the Republican National Convention and the formation of this club ensures that that will be done."

"The officers of the club will be chosen later on, and I believe it would be best to have officers who do not at the present time hold political office. I shall be glad to go into the ranks and do my part in furthering President Coolidge's interest, for I believe that his nomination and election will be for the highest interest of this country."

Mrs. Ellen Crocker, medium, will be at 31 Union street, from September 19th until further notice to give readings and treat the sick. Telephone 799-M. 112-1f

"BUNDLE DAY" TUESDAY

What the Salvation Army Is Doing to Alleviate Terrible Suffering Among The Japanese

The Salvation Army has received an appeal direct from Japan for immediate relief in the matter of clothing, etc., and unless response is made to this appeal there will be a tremendous lot of suffering through the winter, so the Army officials say. The Red Cross will devote itself chiefly to the providing of food and drugs. It is not likely to give much attention to clothing. The commander, therefore, has decided to institute a bundle day, when throughout the country the Salvation Army will make a concerted effort to gather together all the new and used clothing possible to be shipped immediately to Japan where it will be distributed by the Army's own people.

It will not be possible for the local Army to make calls Tuesday because the force is needed to receive the bundles. So if possible will donors please leave their bundles at the service No. 3 in the Salvation Army Building.

"Surely out of our abundance we can spare something for suffering humanity," says Captain Dixon. "Inasmuch as ye do it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye do it unto Me."

ROCKLAND'S PUBLIC LIBRARY

What's What and Why in the Present Rules and Regulations.

Because of recent changes in the regulations of Rockland's Public Library, a brief statement of the rules as they now stand will be of value to its patrons. All regulations are made with the service of the library to the public as first consideration. Every effort is made to have the rulings as simple as existing conditions warrant and the librarian will appreciate suggestions which may tend to bring about better service and eliminate red tape.

(1) The library is absolutely free to any citizens of Rockland. Special arrangements are made whereby non-citizens may enjoy all the privileges of the loan department. The reading and reference departments are free to anyone.

(2) The hours are from 9:00 a. m. until 9:00 p. m. weekdays, and from 2:00 until 5:00 o'clock on Sunday afternoons. Open all holidays from September until June, observing Sunday openings on Thanksgiving and Christmas.

(3) The one regulation in regard to borrowing books is that no person shall be loaned a book unless he presents a borrower's card. Anyone presenting this card may take out as many books as he wishes.

(4) "Fourteen Day Books" include non-fiction books and all fiction books which may have been owned by the library for more than one year. These books may be renewed, reserved or transferred.

(5) "Seven Day Books" is the term applied to books of fiction which have been owned by the library less than one year and which are loaned for a period of seven days. These books may not be renewed but may be reserved or transferred.

(6) "Newest Fiction" is the term applied to works of fiction which have been owned by the library less than two months. These books may neither be renewed, transferred nor reserved. "Seven Day Books" are designated by a yellow sticker on the outside cover. Newest Fiction is designated by a date, written in ink upon this yellow sticker. After a book has been in the library for two or more months it becomes a "Seven Day Book."

Any book except "Newest Fiction" of which the library owns but one copy, may be reserved.

The phone call is 564-V. Attendants are always glad to reserve books and answer reference questions by phone. Kathleen M. Snow, Librarian.

More Grip on the Road!

Buick Four-wheel Brakes

Buick four-wheel brakes give all 1924 Buick cars twice the amount of grip on the road, thereby doubling their braking efficiency. It is the friction or grip of the tire on the road surface that brakes or slows down the car.

Buick four-wheel brakes not only provide a greater power to stop in case of emergency but, because of this four-wheel road grip, reduce skidding dangers to a minimum.

In turning, Buick four-wheel brake construction automatically releases whichever is the outside or guiding front wheel so it is instantly responsive to the steering mechanism.

Buick four-wheel brake construction distributes braking friction over four drums and four wheels. This reduces wear on brake linings and tires, thereby assuring their longer life and greater efficiency with fewer adjustments.

Buick four-wheel brakes [on all models] together with countless other distinctive features of the 1924 cars further establish Buick as the Standard of Comparison.

FARMER AND WORK

Why 48-Hour Law Deeply Concerns the Non-industrial Communities.

The State of Maine has declined to pass a 48-Hour Law several times in the Legislature, or even submit it to the voters in referendum. It so declined in the Legislature that met last winter at Augusta. The present 54-hour law, similar to that of Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Hampshire, and in many other industrial states, has been in operation in Maine only eight years. It was thought that it was too soon to make another violent change of this sort.

The referendum on the law for 48 hours was forced by the "Initiative" so-called, that compels the Governor to call an election when 12,000 people sign a petition to that effect. This petition, circulated under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor, has brought about this referendum. New Hampshire and Rhode Island declined last winter to enact 48-hour laws. The reasons were that it would jeopardize the chief industries of those states that are already being curtailed by competition of the South.

Only one northern state has a 48-hour law (Massachusetts). Five Boston textile mills closed their business in Massachusetts Aug. 23, 1923, and gave up the ghost.

The farm surely depends on industries for its values. If industry languishes or dies, all real estate values, farms included, also languish and die. If wages are cut or lessened in gross output, then the market is damaged.

It has been openly announced by the American Federation of Labor that it will not be satisfied with a 48-hour week. Its goal, at present, is 44 hours a week.

About 100,000 people are employed in Maine industries—one-seventh of the population. If there are 15,000 families in Maine and two representatives of each family in the industries are concerned, then 50,000 families, or one-third of Maine, is concerned in this change.

The manufacturers say that if productive hours are cut six hours a week, or 11 per cent, then wages must be cut; for under competition such as it is, machines are speeded to their limit, and the latest automatic machinery is being used. Nothing more can be done.

The referendum comes October 15th. The ballot will read so that a "NO" vote will be against enactment of such a law.

In overcoming disease and making the sick well, "Fruit-a-tives" or "Fruit Laxo Tablets" get their rare and unusual powers from the method of combining the fruit juices.

Paige—Champion Hill-Climber of All

Wins First Place in "Free-For-All" Event at Albany Contest

At the annual Albany, N. Y., hill-climbing contest, in the event open to all cars, Paige won first place. And mark this—Paige won against a field of America's quality cars—accepted as leading fine cars. The hill is 4 5/8 of a mile long—covered by Paige in 1 minute and 18 2/3 seconds—the fastest time made in any class. A standard car was used, loaned by an owner—against cars specially prepared for this test.

This added proof of Paige's remarkable performance was not needed. You know that Paige out-performs other cars. Owners are proving it every day in passing other cars on hills—pulling away first in traffic—driving from 2 miles an hour in high to as fast as they care to go—always silently and smoothly. How do they do it? More power for its weight—only 11.4 pounds per cubic inch of piston displacement! That means far more power than in most cars and far more ability to perform. Yet this great power is perfectly controlled under any guidance. That's because of the gentle Paige clutch; easy, quiet gear shifting; and ball-bearing steering spindles.

Paige rides as you have always wished your car would, for Paige rear springs are more than 5 feet long. Think of it! Comfort on any road at any speed. With snubbers front and rear, and Paige long wheelbase of 131 inches, can you imagine any other car nearly as comfortable? Just compare them. Paige bodies are soundly built. Body squeaks and rattles are prevented by double strips of patent leather keeping metal from touching metal or wood. Deeply cushioned seats and ample foot room invite rest.

Paige cars are completely equipped—no extras to buy. Think of all the accessories you must buy for other cars—see the list below—standard equipment on your Paige. Add the cost of these—$300 at least—to the price of other fine cars, and then compare them with Paige. This extra value in Paige cars is the result of overhead costs saved on Paige by quantity production on the Paige-built Jewett. Paige is a $3000 car selling at $2450.

Check all this by seeing and driving the Paige. There is no obligation to buy. Just telephone or call for a demonstration whenever you like. Convenient purchase terms if desired. [509-A]

REALLY EQUIPPED!

Paige prices include following equipment for which others charge extra on top of advertised prices—Two extra cord tires, tubes, rims and covers, mounted forward and locked on; spring bumpers front and rear; snubbers, stop-light; folding luggage carrier; motorometer; Walham clock, gasoline gauge and cigar lighter on the dash; automatic windshield wiper; sun visor; rear-view mirror; transmission lock.

GOING TO BOSTON?

It Is a Glorious Place To Visit In These Fine Autumnal Days.

Here is something that makes appeal to a wide circle of people who read The Courier-Gazette.

Whatever your bent or inclination, Boston is a very interesting place to visit these crisp fall days. Stores, amusements, fairs, historic sights and relics, they are all made doubly alluring by the special low round trip rates just announced by the Eastern Steamship Lines for all points on Bangor and Mt. Desert and Bluehill Lines.

Following the practice of previous years special reduced tickets to Boston will be on sale from October 1 to 30 inclusive, at a cost for the round trip averaging only a little more than the ordinary one-way fare. These special tickets are good returning 15 days from date of sale.

Boston is a place you can visit again and again and still find interesting. There is always something new, something different, something you have not seen before. Many get much enjoyment out of the excellent theatres and movie houses. The Brockton Fair, October 2 to 6, promises many unusual features, also the National Health Show will be at the Mechanics Building, Oct. 6 to 13 inclusive, and Boston Food Fair at Horticultural Hall Oct. 8 to 29 inclusive.

Opportunities for sightseeing there are no end. The city is honeycombed with buildings and places, ancient and modern, of world-wide renown. The Public Library, the new Art Museum, Harvard University, and Custom House, the State House, Charlestown Navy Yard and the Bunker Hill Monument are some that you should not miss. The old State House, Faneuil Hall, Old North Church, Old South Church, Paul Revere's House, Quincy Market and the sites of the Boston Massacre and the Boston Tea Party will cause you to reflect on the deeds of your ancestors. When you tire of these, merely wander along the Charles River Embankment or in the Fenway or through the stately dignity of Beacon Hill or Commonwealth Avenue will bring refreshment to body and spirit.

Round about Boston itself are ranged a host of delightful places to visit, all easily reached by sightseeing cars and automobiles. Lexington and Concord are perhaps the most famous objectives, but Plymouth is of even greater historic significance. Cambridge, Salem, the Blue Hills, Marblehead, Gloucester and Middlesex Falls also offer rewarding trips.

October is an ideal month in which to travel. Boston is a fascinating destination and current low rates present an exceptional opportunity.

The prize pup to which the President has promised a home is a descendant of a long line of blooded dogs, according to Dr. Howard. He was sired by Princes Hill Seion, champion, champion of Belgium and England, while his mother was Lady Babbie, a descendant of Wycolay Boy.

MRS. DANFORTH WON

Skowhegan Woman Was Winner Of Office Which Mary Perry Rich Sought

At one of the most hotly contested elections ever held in the history of the Maine Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Florence W. Danforth of Skowhegan, first vice president of the Federation, was elected president Thursday, defeating Mrs. Mary Perry Rich of Rockport. Miss Anna Witherell of Castine was elected first vice president and Mrs. John F. Shollfield of Portland second vice president.

Mrs. Clara Sampson of Dover-Foxcroft was elected recording secretary and Mrs. Edna Hutchins of Corinna treasurer.

There were 217 votes cast at this election the most the Federation has ever known. A lively interest was shown all through the convention as to who would be elected and when the polls closed at the afternoon meeting excitement was keen. The vote was announced at the opening of the evening meeting.

It was announced that the Maine Writers Research fund given the Federation $300 to establish a new scholarship to be called the Cora Belle Bickford Fund in honor of Miss Bickford of Saco, a former member. A contribution for the endowment fund was received during the afternoon from Gov. Baxter. Mrs. Huddleston received a telegram from him in which he said "Understand you are raising an endowment fund. I am pleased to contribute $50 and wish you success." This brought the contributions up to $675 which raises the total sum to about $7,000. The Federation is aiming at $7,000.

THIRTY-THIRD DEGREE

Al. Mather Took It In New York Tuesday and Was "The Baby Of the Class."

A member of the Courier-Gazette staff of the Northern Maine Jurists' meeting message date-lined Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, Wednesday, Sept. 19. And this is how it read:

Rode the Goat last evening, 33 times, and made the goal all right with out a scar visible.

There were 76 candidates, from all parts of the Northern Maine Jurisdiction. Maine had a special feature. When the candidates registered they had to state their age. I looked over the list to see how many "old fuffers" were in the bunch, and I topped the list. I remarked, "You are going to work a class of kids," and they dubbed me the "Baby of the class," and the little stuck to me.

Ole New York is some town. Always the same old Mather.

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Muskegon, Mich.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

WITH THE RADIO FANS

(By Maud U. Lutton).

Two very welcome letters have been received recently from Dr. L. W. Hadley of Union. Dr. Hadley is an ardent radio fan and is going to give my new favorite, the Haynes DX Circuit, a try-out. In answer to a few questions the doctor tells me that there are about 14 receiving sets in and around Union, all of which are giving good service. Also that code interference which bothers us occasionally here on the coast is not so noticeable in Union. He also adds that about the worst kind of interference there, is that which comes from nearby oscillating receivers. It's the old story that comes from every locality where sets are near together and where operators tune in stations on the whistle. Dr. Hadley's favorite hookup is a vario-coupler, two variometer receiver, which is very selective, and an unusually satisfactory all around receiver.

A Boston paper tells us that WGY signals suffer more from fading than most other stations in the East. I had noticed this, but thought it an exception rather than a rule, and was blaming local conditions. It appears now to be universal, however.

Local fans who have received Chicago this summer consistently have been doing what is termed good long distance work. Station WWJ of Detroit has been listed by many as a record on their list but I have found this station, although more difficult to pick up, to be some 250 miles nearer us than is Chicago.

WGL, Medford Hills; WMAF, South Dartmouth; WJAR, Providence; and WGR, Buffalo, were all sending around 350 meters the night of the Dempsey-Firpo bout. Things were not much better up around WJZ's wave, either. I received the bout from WEAF, New York City, and called it good. Others reported the best reception from WCAP, Washington.

Speaking of the fight, as received by radio, leads me to believe that on that memorable night many new radio fans were made, inasmuch as hundreds listened in who had never worn a pair of phones before. There wasn't a set of extra phones in the city that wasn't working that night, that I know of. I entertained Jack Pillsbury and he showed the same spirit that he does when seated at the ringside. When Firpo was counted out Jack cheered so loud that he woke up all the "kids" and I dashed to the telephone to notify a number of sports who had sold Dempsey short. The first round bell may have saved the crown for Dempsey but I believe you have got to hand the boy credit for dropping the "Wild Bull" five times in that round.

DX work is improving every day now. I am expecting many letters from readers this week telling me of new records which have been made during the last few nights. Personally I am rather modest in laying claim to long distance records because this column is written for you readers more than it is for my own use. However here is what I believe to be pretty good for this time of year.

On Saturday evening Sept. 15, after receiving the time signals from KDKA I worked a few in the East and adjusted my grid-leak for the clearest reception; then at 10:21 I picked up a piano solo that seemed to be coming from considerable distance. I lost the announcement following this, by code interference, but after the code had stopped I got an old familiar ticking note. I increased the regeneration as far as I dared to and listened. The ticking note continued for about two minutes and at 10:23 1/2 p. m. that well remembered voice which I had not heard since last winter announced the station. It was station WPX at Havana, Cuba. A baritone solo followed, and at 10:27 the announcer's voice came through again. Following this was another interval of ticking and then the announcer continued for about four minutes in Spanish. What he said was later revised in that period round sound English of the Spanish announcer. He told of having much rain in Cuba recently, spoke of the recent eclipse and went on at length regarding Cuba's weather and said they were all glad to have the "sunshine smile on happy Cuba again."

He then gave data on the number of days of sunshine each month for last year and stated that out of the 365 days there was sunshine on 335 of these. I felt pretty pleased and went along setting down everything in the log opposite the exact time by my watch. The musical program was then continued and I switched along the line to the next station which was a new one for my log. I didn't get the first few announcements but along around 10:50 I got "Yes We Have No Bananas" which was followed up by "That Red Head Gal." Next announcement came through informing me that it was station WCZ, which I understood to be located on the Nickle Range Hotel, some where in Canada. The announcer then told of his regret in not being able to broadcast the fight returns owing to the fact that the power to supply the station had not been available on Friday night. These two stations were enough for my DX appetite for one evening so I quit and went to bed. I had covered two stations both of which were outside the United States and all on one tiny UV 199 tube. I have written for verification from the Havana station. If any one can give me the location of station WCZ and the power of their output I will be pleased to write to this station also.

The Maine Music Co's announcement in last Saturday's Courier-Gazette that they will carry a complete line of radio equipment this winter brought joy to the hearts of many fans. Rockland has long needed a fully equipped radio store in the heart of the city.

Few local radio fans have the real technical and mechanical knowledge of the inside of radio whys and wherefores as my old friend Ed Sansom. Whenever I want to know something for a fact I hunt out Ed at the Post-office and take him secretly to one side and whisper my ignorance to him. He never fails me in coming through with a solution to my troubles. Mr. Sansom has been in the game for several years and is even now constantly studying on the theories and facts of radio.

Several fans have written saying that WLAK of Bellows Falls, Vt., is not the Tulsa Radio Co. but is the station of the Vermont Farm Machine Co. Thank you boys for calling attention to my errors. This is just what I want you to do. I am not infallible, but just an interested fan like yourselves. This is your column and your letters are most welcome.

Elmer Joyce of the Security Trust Co. staff is commencing to talk of installing a set for the winter.

Clarence Ratcliff of the Keag reports fine reception on his home made single tube set. Mr. Ratcliff is using the Haynes DX circuit.

Writing from her new home at 705 Knickerbocker street, Madison, Wisconsin, Mrs. Frank Roy Miller (Miss Ruth Bird) says: "Now that I am away out here I feel that I must have the home paper, so send me The Courier-Gazette. We had a wonderful ten-day trip here in a Ford, traveling 1500 miles over the Mohawk Trail, through the Adirondacks, up the St. Lawrence, the Thousand Islands, Niagara, through Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo and Chicago. The best of it was the marvelous scenery that we had not a bit of engine trouble! Next summer we plan to visit Rockland."

The new long coat is one of the most successful costumes of the autumn. It is very straight and narrow-looking, easy through the body and with wrapped as close as possible to the hip and held by the hand, a small clasp, an invisible hook or a narrow string tie. Many of these coats are embroidered, some are trimmed top and bottom, with rows of stuffed tubing, others are made of cashmere borders and edged with beaver fur. They are smart in black with fabric trimming or in cocoa brown with beaver fur.—From the October Delineator.

MUSICAL NOTES

A short time ago we told how the critics are all conceding that Mme. Galli-Curci is singing more wonderfully and in a more finished manner than ever before in her career, and that she gave credit for this improvement to Frantz Proschowsky, with whom she has been coaching. In a recent issue of Musical America appears the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Proschowsky:—Having been associated with you for the past eight weeks, let me express my appreciation of your thorough understanding of the true art of singing and the intelligent simplicity of your elucidations, through which I have been able to discover and use new beauties in my own voice. It is with a feeling of great satisfaction that I commend to you those artists and students who seek the truth in singing—the beautiful and lasting art of 'Bel Canto.' Gratefully yours, Amelita Galli-Curci."

It is said that "The Rosary" is still the world's best selling song, in spite of the fact that it has been scorned by critics and denounced as a mere pot-boiler which no first class singer would include in a repertoire. The words have been translated into every known language, even Esperanto. More than 80,000 copies were sold in America alone last year and this of course was a small part of the total. It has earned more money than any other song. To hear Mme. Schumann-Heink sing "The Rosary" would convince the sternest critic that it is a gem; her interpretation is a thing never to be forgotten. It is said that she considers this song one of the most beautiful ever written, and she has written an article on this point. We recall that she analyzed therein both the words and the song—told us that it is written like a cross—"The hours I spent with thee, dear heart, are as a string of pearls to me," forming the first arm. "I count them over, every one apart," forming the column, and then "My Rosary, my Rosary," forming the other arm, and so through the remaining two verses. This is especially striking in the last verse.

Many stories are told in connection with the writing of this song, one relates that Edvard Nevin wrote it when suffering from the loss of his wife. Another tells us that he wrote it on his deathbed. Probably the real story is not known. In any event it remains and doubtless will remain always one of the most loved songs, and any singer who includes it in his repertoire is sure to reach many hearts.

With all the fine artists who are to appear at the coming Maine Festival should be considered worth hearing, the greatest interest naturally centers around Mme. Sigrid Onegin, who will be the soloist in Portland on the opening

Miss Sybil Dunbar and Miss Harriet Howard of Winslow motored to this city Thursday and are guests of their aunts, Misses Ada and Lena Young.

L. A. W. Clark of Damariscotta Mills was a visitor in the city Thursday.

Capt. Fred S. Packard, who had been hoping for an extended leave of absence, goes tonight to Boston to resume command of the steamship Agawam, which has just arrived there with 75,000 barrels of oil from Mexico. So Capt. Packard finds his vacation limited to three weeks, instead of the hoped-for three months.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Orcutt and son leave Sunday night for a visit in Boston.

night, Oct. 8. It is said that New York musical reviewers, usually spare in their praise, have dug deep in their stock of adjectives to find encomiums for the amazing voice of this young woman. Here are some of the opinions that have been expressed by leading critics. Henry T. Finck of the Evening Post compares her voice to a "Norwegian waterfall," that pours forth from her throat with as little effort, as the noonday sun on Africa." He described Onegin's breath control as "firm as Gibraltar." Deems Taylor of the World maintained that one "could almost see Mme. Onegin's voice as it rolled through Carnegie Hall with huge effortless power." G. W. Gabriel in the Sun observed that her voice was "destined to sweep some cobwebs from the stained rafters of the Metropolitan Opera." Paul Morris of the Evening Telegram found a comparison in the orchestra. "A voice of stentorian power," he said "capable of imitating the most caressing clarinet tones as well as the most thrilling trumpet blasts." We recall that a reviewer of one of her recitals in Carnegie Hall likened her voice to an organ, that it rolled out in gorgeous richness and almost brought her audience to their feet by its glorioussness and grandeur.

The home of Christine Nilsson in Madrid, where she lived a time after her marriage to Comte de Miranda, was decorated in the most singular fashion. Wreaths, garlands and faded bouquets presented to the singer covered the walls of the dining room; the drawing room was papered with the scores of different operas in which Mme. Nilsson had sung, while another room was hung with laudatory notices cut from the newspapers of all nations.

MANY UNIVERSALISTS COMING

To the State Convention Which Meets At Church of Immanuel Next Week—A Big Program.

The stage is all set for the Universalist State Convention which will be held with the Church of Immanuel in this city next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The Universalist Banner, an official organ of the church, devotes considerable space to the approaching gathering, and from this material the following is quoted:

"The Church of Immanuel of Rockland, is one of the old reliable parishes in Maine. Its history dates back to the early years of the nineteenth century. Among the first preachers were: Rev. Sylvanus Cobb, Rev. Mr. Farrow and Rev. Mr. McFarland. The first regular pastor was Rev. N. C. Fletcher who came in 1833. The first church building was erected in 1835. The cost of building and equipment when built was $25,000. The property is much more valuable today. The parish is well organized and thoroughly alive. Rev. John M. Ratcliff, the present minister, is one of our young, live-wire ministers. He is on his third year in Rockland, and growing in favor with his own people, the city and God.

"Rockland knows how to entertain the State Convention, for this will be the eighth time our State Convention has met with these faithful people. The previous dates are as follows: 1843, 1857, 1877, 1884, 1897, 1906 and 1917.

"Monday is Young People's Day. The Y. P. C. U. will hold its convention Monday afternoon. The Unionists will have an informal banquet-supper, and the evening program will be in the interests of the Young People's Work and our Church Schools.

Tuesday morning at 10:15 is the Sunday School Convention. It is a busy two hours. It will be full of thought and action. Tuesday afternoon is the Woman's Convention. This is one of the very best programs of the convention. The W. U. M. S. is doing real things for our church. You will be enthused over its accomplishments and vision. Tuesday night is the time for the Ministerial Relief offering, the Holy Communion and occasional sermon. These are great and inspiring. They will put us into the right mood for the great Wednesday business sessions.

Wednesday is "Men's Day." The program of the State Convention will conclude with two addresses, one by Mrs. Stella Cushing of Massachusetts and Rev. Harold Marshall, D. D., of Boston. Then comes "Comrades Night," a great banquet, with Comrade Robert L. Whitcomb acting as toastmaster. The only program will be the after-dinner addresses and songs. We have never concluded a program with a banquet. This time we are going to try it. There will be four five-minute speakers, each one a real live layman of our denomination, and the concluding address.

"A sightseeing trip is planned by the Rockland parish. It will be worth taking. It will be Wednesday from 4:30 to 6 p. m. Autos will be provided for all. "We just want to mention a few of the speakers on our whole three-day program. We believe we have never presented a better and more well rounded out program covering the whole interest of our church than the program as now arranged.

"Rev. H. E. Maxwell is a man of spiritual vision and a preacher of distinction. He is the lead off man. Rev. Francis W. Gibbs is one of the best known and capable Sunday School men in our denomination. Rev. A. Francis Walch, the preacher of the occasional sermon, is so well known among us that he needs no word of recommendation. He has made a large place for himself in Augusta and has a 'key note message' for the State Convention. Rev. Hannah Powell of North Carolina, is a native of Maine. Her work among the mountaineers of North Carolina has been unusually successful. She has a thrilling story and she can be depended upon to tell it in the most fascinating way.

"Mrs. Stella Cushing is a new name and will bring a new face to our convention. She is a most enthusiastic Sunday School worker. Music is her hobby. Her violin is a close companion. She will present to us an attractive and varied program on "Music," using her violin to demonstrate a part of her talk. Rev. Harold Marshall, D. D., has spoken to our conventions before. No man can bring us a more timely message or stand any closer to the great vitalizing movements of the day than Dr. Marshall. We hope to have Rev. John Van Schick, Jr., D. D., who is now the active editor of the Universalist Leader, our denominational paper. He is famous for his work in Belgium for the Red Cross during the World War. He has just made a tour of the world, thus having a chance to study many people and many problems of the world first hand. He is a man of engaging personality and a speaker who leaves his hearer with a real message. You will never forget the man, and you will remember what he says. There are others who will make short addresses whose names are not mentioned, who will be worth hearing."

Rev. Harold Marshall, D. D., of Boston, is a speaker whom everyone will want to hear. He is, and has been for seven years, the manager of the Universalist Publishing House and the Universalist Leader. Before that he served as pastor in several of the Universalist parishes. Sometimes the greatest value in a church is found in what the church enables its minister to do outside. Dr. Marshall's message has always been for those outside the church as well as those within.

In Marshall Hall, in the Melrose, Mass., church, which Dr. Marshall served as pastor for 13 years, began under his leadership a civic forum that grew until it commanded the beautiful Memorial Hall, where the meetings are now regularly held. These Sunday afternoon forum meetings are intensely religious in the social sense.

Rev. Harold Marshall, D. D., Manager of the Universalist Publishing House, Who Will Speak Wednesday.

full of the spirit of democracy and brotherhood, and from being scarcely more public-spirited than many another suburb. Melrose in these recent years has grown into a real community with a general public spirit that makes every citizen put his shoulder to the wheel when help is needed. Dr. Marshall is a well-informed speaker. He will have a message to give the people assembled at the Convention, that should prove of great value.

Gov. Baxter Criticized Hancock County Sheriff in Bar Harbor Address.

Gov. Percival P. Baxter in an address at Bar Harbor Wednesday at the meeting of the Maine Federation of Women's Clubs, with relation to the enforcement of the prohibitory law said that he was often called upon to render aid to the different counties, but felt that the counties themselves should do this work. He said that the old time practice of shifting the responsibility had not entirely been done away with. Some of the sheriffs would like to shift the responsibility upon the State, while the mayors of some of the cities want to place it upon the sheriffs.

"As a matter of fact," said the governor, "the sheriffs and the mayors and police officers are under equal obligation to enforce the prohibitory laws, and I do not propose to have them place this burden upon the State government, for the State government has no officers of its own with which to do this work. There is not a county in the state that cannot be made practically dry if the sheriff of that county has enforcement at heart.

"The county in which this town is located has a very poor record at the present time, and the sheriff of Hancock county should be ashamed of the conditions that have prevailed in Bar Harbor and other places under his jurisdiction. It would not have been necessary for the federal officers to have come here and made their recent exposures if the sheriff of this county had done his duty. I know of no section in the state where enforcement conditions have been more lax than here, and there has been no genuine, serious effort to enforce the prohibitory laws. Some other sheriffs are not above criticism.

"The time has come when every public official should be a total abstainer and any official who is not willing to make this slight sacrifice should resign his office and let somebody else do the work. In the liquor question we have to use the tools at our command even though some of them are defective. Not a day passes without my communicating with some sheriff or public official in regard to doing something to improve conditions, and although there are many discouragements I shall continue my efforts until the last day of my administration.

Strand Theatre

Corline Griffiths is starting today in an especially fine production called "Moral Fibre." For five years Marion Wolcott cherished the thought of revenge. She had taken an oath in childhood and she felt duty bound to fulfill her promise. She prepared for the part with a large wardrobe and a finished education. She had her prey in her web and was ready to spring upon it when the great truth dawned upon her and she was powerless. The story is told in a stirring manner.

A film masterpiece is offered for Monday and Tuesday in "Dead Men Tell No Tales." The plot and subject matter by E. W. Hornung, author of "Raffles," provided the popular writer of crime fiction with excellent material for a sensational and enthralling novel of desperate adventures and extraordinary criminal operations on the high seas. The novel, in turn, gave Vitagraph an opportunity to produce an astonishingly impressive motion picture. Senior Joseph Santos stands as a singular figure in the literature of crime. He possesses the imagination and daring of his buccaner ancestors, together with the cold, calculating ruthlessness of the footpad who strikes down his victims in the dark. In his plot to loot the treasure ship, the Lady Jernyn, of cases of Australian gold Santos planned to cause the death of all the passengers and crew, because "dead men tell no tales." He concealed this part of his fiendish scheme from John Rattray, however, knowing that the adventurous young "squire" would not willingly connive at wholesale murder. The motion picture plays aboard in exciting situations and spectacular scenes, notably in the burning of the treasure ship at sea and the fighting in the smugglers' secret passage connecting the water front with Rattray Hall—adv.

Today will be the final showing of Harry Carey in "The Canyon of the Gods." Harry Carey has long made a specialty of risking his neck for the delineation of motion picture devotees. But it is doubtful if he has ever faced death more frequently than in his latest and greatest Western drama "Canyon of the Gods." Added to the feature picture there will be the latest comedy, "Full of Pep," also a Review.

For Monday and Tuesday of next week Gloria Swanson in "Zaza," a Paramount super special, will be the attraction. Gloria Swanson as "Zaza," and such a Zaza! Never have you seen a Gloria Swanson like this. With beauty, temperament, fire, humor, and heart stirring appeal, Allen Dawn has given it a lavish, spectacular, yet intensely human production. The supporting cast includes such artists as H. B. Warner, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Mary Thurman, Lucille LaVerne, Riley Hatch, Roger Lytton and Ivan Linow.—adv.

Empire Theatre

Today will be the last showing of Herbert Rawlinson in "The Victor," one of the best and most thrilling and most entertaining pictures Herbert Rawlinson ever made. On the same program there will be the latest comedy and also the last chapter of "Social Buccaneer" with Jack Mulhall.

Monday and Tuesday Charles Jones will be shown on the Empire stage in "Said Proof," which is said to be one of his best pictures. The story concerns an impulsive young man who runs a race, loses, and runs into his ideal girl. She is a movie actress, but Jack has no objections. In fact, he expresses his appreciation by becoming a movie actor. Lora Anson is Nadine his ideal girl. Added to this excellent picture there will be the newest comedy entitled "Why Pay Rent" and a Pathé Review.—adv.
