Rockland, Nov. 22, 1923.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who on oath declares that he is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of Nov. 20, 1923, there was printed a total of 6,202 copies. Before me, FRANK B. MILLER, Notary Public.

BE VERY COURAGEOUS:—Only be thou strong and very courageous, that thou mayest observe to do according to all the law, * * * that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest.—Joshua 1:7.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

As President of the United States and as President of the American National Red Cross, Calvin Coolidge issued a proclamation designating the period from Armistice Day to Nov. 29 as the period of the annual Red Cross roll call. Reviewing the activities of this great organization during the World War and since, President Coolidge adds:

"It is upon popular membership that the American Red Cross relies for strength of organization and for funds to carry on its work which is so essential to the good of our country, and it is a privilege to our people to hold membership in and have a part in the work of this truly American organization. I therefore urge a renewal of all present membership and enlistment in the American Red Cross by all not now members."

Throughout every State there is now being carried on this roll call campaign and the several branches of the Knox County Red Cross Chapter are taking part in it. The canvass by the Rockland Branch is to take place the coming Saturday. Under the direction of the local executive board, Physical Instructor Philip A. Jones of the High School staff has taken over the organizing of the teachers and pupils of that school, who beginning Saturday will make a systematic canvass of the city for renewals of present members and the enlistment of new.

Each of the seven wards will see a house to house canvass made by a team of boys and girls under the direction of a teacher. They will solicit the renewal of present membership and strive to enlist new members. The headquarters of organization will be in the American Legion building.

The annual dues are only $1. The 1923 membership has been 1100. The coming year will surely not run below that number. Have your dollar ready when the canvasser calls.

Following his announcement of removal from Rockland Harmon Davis announces a great Sacrifice Clearing Sale of Ladies' suits, coats, dresses, skirts, blouses and furs, the entire stock of the Davis Garment Shop, at sacrifice prices. Don't miss the opportunity of a lifetime to obtain great bargains—adv.

FOUND DEAD IN UNION

Medical Examiner Frohock was summoned yesterday to Union where two men had been found dead.

He personally investigated the case of Perley Eiter, 52 years of age, who had been found dead at his home in East Union. He had evidently been stricken the night before while preparing supper. The body will be forwarded to Framingham, Mass. by Crozier & Bowes.

Solomon Mank, aged 75, was found dead in his barn at Shepherd Hill, the body lying underneath his horse, with the face bruised. It is believed that he was a victim of heart disease, as he had long complained of a bad heart trouble. The facial bruises were probably caused by the horse lying upon him. There was money upon his person, and no suspicion of foul play attaches to the case in the opinion of Dr. Frohock, who did not go to Shepherd Hill after a careful inquiry into details. Mr. Mank had been living alone since the death of his wife.

You know there's a Glenwood in the cellar

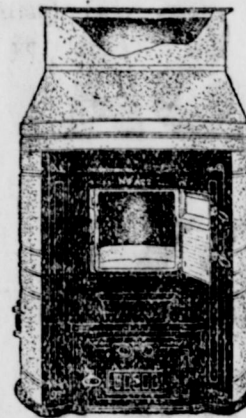

SO much depends on proper heating in a modern home. A poor heating system leaves chilly corners in one room and hot, stagnant air in the next. But in a house that has a Glenwood in the cellar you will notice a difference almost as soon as you are inside the front door.

The modern Glenwood is the Single-Pipe Heating System. From its one big radiator it keeps a steady flow of warm air circulating through the house. It does not heat the cellar, which is a great advantage in country homes where a cool cellar is essential for the storage of fruit and vegetables. You can burn any kind of fuel in this modern heater—wood, coal, soft coal, coke and even rubbish.

The feed doors are wide enough to admit large logs, and the new wood grate will keep them burning night and day as steadily as a coal fire.

The low cost of a Glenwood Single-Pipe Heating System will surprise you. We shall be glad to have you come in and ask us for particulars. We can save fuel for you this winter.

Pipe models of this same furnace may be had in several sizes for coal or wood.

CAMDEN

News has been received of the death of Mrs. Ruby A. Cross who died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ernest W. Branch in Quincy, Mass., Nov. 20, after a long illness. She was the daughter of the late Amasa Gould. Her husband, Rev. Wellington R. Cross who died many years ago, was a former pastor of the Congregational Church of which she was an active and consistent member. She taught in the Camden schools and was always interested in educational lines of work having been a member of the Monday Club and Friday Club during her residence here. She leaves besides her sister with whom she made her home, a brother, Robert and a sister Lizzie, both of whom reside in California. They will all accompany the remains to Camden to be present at the funeral services which will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Congregational Chapel, Rev. H. L. Holt officiating.

The Friday Club will postpone its meeting this week, owing to the funeral services of Mrs. Ruby A. Cross who was a charter member of that organization. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. E. F. Stahl, Nov. 30. At the regular meeting of Maiden Cliff Rehearsal Lodge Wednesday evening there will be work on several candidates.

Next Tuesday the Garden Club will meet with Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Hayden. Mr. Hayden will talk on "Community Gardens." The Congregational ladies are to hold a Thanksgiving sale of cooked food at Prince's furniture store Tuesday. A fine opportunity to purchase mince pies, pickles, cranberry sauce, fruit cake, brownies and other good things. Frank L. Harris is at Knox Hospital for X-ray and observation.

The annual inspection of Seaside Chapter, O. E. S., will be held Monday.

The prettiest stretch of sidewalk in Rockland is the new cement walk on Park street, from Union street to the brook. Small wonder that the residents of other streets are envious.

Mrs. C. M. Allen of Tenant's Harbor kindly sends The Courier-Gazette a cluster of crimson ramblers which she picked outdoors Monday, Nov. 19. Thirty days hath November, and most of them have been cuckoos thus far.

Although it is pretty generally taken for granted that the bulldog will win, there seems to be no lessening of interest in the Harvard-Yale game which takes place in Cambridge Saturday. The Crimson has a few backers locally, but they are mostly mislead in wats.

"How is the fishing on old Chickawaukie Pond," writes Capt. John Stearns, from Sailors' Snug Harbor. The question is directed to Phil Thomas, an acknowledged authority. "I suppose Knott Perry is up to his old tricks of catching all the pickerel," the captain adds.

W. Adelbert Smith of Vinalhaven who recently became proprietor of a hardware store there, was in the city Tuesday on his way to Boston, on business. Fifteen years ago this young man was clerk in Ord E. Davies' jewelry store, this city, and his business success in his home town is very gratifying to the many friends he made here.

A Great Profit Sharing Plan

We have inaugurated a unique profit sharing plan which will go a good way toward reducing the cost of living for you.

Our Plan Is This: We are going to make 90 combination packages of Canned Goods and Groceries to the amount of $1.00 each. Every package will be marked as to its contents and price of each article, so you will know just what you are getting. In one package out of every 10 we shall conceal a crisp new $1.00 bill, thereby giving you an opportunity to not only get your money's worth in goods, but also give you a chance to get $1.00 in cash, or your money back, so you can spend it all over again. In addition to the combination packages there will be 10 Bags of Flour, one of which will contain a $1.00 bill. The regular price of this flour is $1.00 a bag and every bag is guaranteed to give satisfaction; in fact all the goods are guaranteed.

In no instance will there be any increase in the present price of any article unless future prices compel it; but in some goods the price will be lower than what we are now selling for. Sugar will be included in each package at a reduced price.

ARTHUR H. BERRY

News was received in this city Tuesday of the death of Arthur H. Berry, a former Rockland business man, which took place in an Augusta hospital. A paralytic shock last April was followed by a second shock, and the patient's rapid decline. Death came peacefully, as one quietly falling asleep.

The deceased was born in Rockland 66 years ago, a son of the late John T. Berry 2d, after whose death he became associated with his brother Edward W. Berry in the boot and shoe business, under the firm name of E. W. Berry & Co. This concern was for a long time located in the old Spofford building, where the firm of Burpee & Lamb now has its stand. The subsequent location was in Spear block where the L. E. Blackington shoe store now is.

In his younger days Arthur H. Berry was a member of one of the best amateur baseball teams the city has ever produced, his position being second base. He never lost interest in the sport, at which he had given such a good account of himself. Mr. Berry was a member of Rockland Lodge, B. P. O. E. Although long absent from his home city Mr. Berry was not forgotten by many kind friends, and his interests were devotedly looked after by his surviving brother. He is also survived by a sister, Hattie A. Berry, of Rockland. Funeral services were held in Augusta yesterday at the Knowlton & Hewins Funeral Home. Rev. A. Francis Walsh of the Universalist church officiating. The Augusta lodge of Elks sent a goodly representation, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Berry and Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Robbins were present from Rockland. The burial was in the Col. George W. Ricker lot, one of the most attractive in the Augusta cemetery.

ROCKPORT

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Haverer returned Tuesday to Kittery Point after spending a few days with his mother Mrs. Gertrude Haverer. Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Spear have closed their home on Central street and will spend the winter with Mrs. Spear's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Payson.

Mrs. Charles Berry motored to Martinsville Tuesday where she called on relatives. The regular meeting of Harbor Light Chapter, O. E. S. was held Tuesday evening and was attended by a large number of members and visitors. Supper was served at 6:30 and enjoyed.

The meeting of the Village Improvement Society which was held Monday evening at the High School Building was one of the most largely attended and most enjoyable meetings that the Society has ever had. The Latin play entitled "A Roman School" was given by the pupils of the High School and in a manner highly creditable to themselves and the instructor Miss Charlotte Cross. Those in the cast were Catherine Kaler, Marion Upham, Josephine Brown, Augusta Whitney, Ross Spear, Raymond Payson, Rita Packard, Alton Crane, Harold Graftman, Doris Ballard, Gudran Heistad, Marion Ingraham, Langdon Crockett, Wesley Morton, Henry Bolindell, Helen Clancy, Ruth Packard, Lloyd Rhodes, Herbert Crockett. The play was given in costume.

Prin. R. A. Burns spoke relative to reopening the Y. M. C. A. building. He said in part "Rockport needs the building. In order to keep up the community spirit such a building is needed. The Village Improvement Society has been formed and we are going to keep it alive. The High School Building will not hold the people who are interested in community welfare. We need first to establish a community forum to discuss all kinds of public questions, a place where lecturers will be brought in, local topics discussed and indoor sports enjoyed. There stands the shell of the best Community Hall in Knox County. I have faith in the people of Rockport to deal justly with themselves and the future of the town. Give the boys and girls a chance to use the best basketball floor in this section. The only thing needed to start with the placeless furnace. Ten basketball games would pay for the heater. The High School boys and girls and the local boys and girls are anxious for a place. Where there is nothing ventured there is nothing gained. The matter was open for discussion, and remarks were made by L. True Spear, Arthur B. Packard, Mrs. Farrow, Rev. J. C. Palmer, Rev. Andrew Young, Mr. C. M. Dunbar, Mr. Wesley Thurston, Mrs. M. W. Spear. The meeting was presided over by the President of the Society, H. L. Withee, and on motion the Y. M. C. A. Building, Mrs. Emma Torrey, Secretary and Treasurer of the Society read report of the last meeting. The next meeting will be held Monday evening, Nov. 26, at the High School building at 7:30 a. m.

News has been received of the death of Lemert Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. John Erickson of Rockport which occurred Monday, Nov. 19 at Hebron Sanatorium where he had been for a short time for treatment. He was thirty-three years old and is survived by a wife and three small children. Mr. Erickson was a young man well known and respected in the community and the news of his death brought sadness to the hearts of many who extended sympathy to the bereaved family. The funeral will be brought to Rockport to the home of his parents on Huse street, where funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He also survived by a sister Mrs. Stanley Ireland of Mattawonekeag. At this writing funeral arrangements had not been made. Interment will be in West Rockport.

WALDOBORO

The Ladies Circle of the Baptist Church will give a supper in the vestry Fe. 14 night. This announcement is sufficient to insure the success of the supper and the success of these affairs in the past know the treat in store for them.

The Past Noble Grand of Rebekah Lodge held a sale in the Odd Fellows' dining hall Tuesday afternoon. Although they had arranged only for a small sale the sum raised was over $40. Aprons, cake, candy and an amusing grab bag were among the money-raising features.

A tiny yellow and white kitten was rescued from under the wheels of an automobile near the Library Saturday night. The owner was gratefully welcomed at the store of J. T. Gay where the youthful feline has found a luxurious home.

"The Snow Bride" to be seen at the Star Theatre Saturday night is unlike any Northern picture shown in town. It is a story of the greatest avalanche thrill in it ever seen in a picture. Alice Brady has a part she can play to perfection. It is a love story of two people who become involved in the death of the villain and who are saved in the most unusual manner ever put on the screen. The comedy entitled "A Spooky Romance" is all that the name implies and then a few more. The body of Mrs. Mary E. Allen of Somersworth, N. H., was brought here Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services were held in Somersworth Monday and a short service was also held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Allen's cousin, Mrs. J. W. Sanborn. Mrs. Allen was born in Waldoboro 71 years ago. The daughter of John and Caroline Clark Jackson. She was the widow of William L. Allen. She resided in Rockland a number of years moving from there to Somersworth, N. H., where she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas P. Hayden. Mr. and Mrs. Hayden were the last to see Mrs. Allen. She was placed in the family tomb in Central Cemetery.

Fred E. Feyer passed away suddenly Sunday evening at his home on Franklin street. Feeling ill he went to the telephone to summon a physician but died before one could reach the home. Mr. Feyer, who was a native of Waldoboro, lived in Worcester, Mass., for a number of years but always held a fondness for his birthplace. Returning here a few years ago he renewed old friendships and made many new ones. He was always interested in charitable movements and showed his public spirit by contributing to every worthy cause. Funeral services were held at his late home Wednesday afternoon with Rev. O. G. Barnard officiating.

ALLEN'S LUNG Healer Sent to France

To Save a Lynn Boy From Consumption

Did It Do It? Here Is the Doughboy's Own Statement

Lynn, Mass. Aug. 27, 1919.

I have used Allen's Lung Healer for several years for colds and coughs and always found it very effective. I had a bad cold when I entered the army, which stuck to me in spite of all I could do. After reaching France I was under the care of army doctors for two months, but continued to get worse. The cold had developed into a severe lung cough which cut like a knife and phlegm which I coughed up was streaked with blood. I was pretty well discouraged and wished many times for my old reliable remedy, Allen's Lung Healer. Finally I wrote to a friend in Lynn to send me two bottles by mail. When it came, I began taking it and to my great relief, I began to improve at once, and before the first bottle was gone the cough and soreness disappeared and I began to feel like a new man. I am now a well man. This statement may be hard to believe, but it can be proven by reliable witnesses.

STRAND THEATRE

"Enemies of Women." Cosmopolitan Corporation's production of the Vicente Blasco Ibanez story of the same title, with Lionel Barrymore and Aling Rubens featured in the two leading roles, opened yesterday, a remarkable engagement which will continue through today and Friday. With many of its scenes taken on the actual locations of the story in Monte Carlo, Nice and Paris, and with a lavishness of production never surpassed the film excels the average "super production" in every way. Blasco Ibanez proved in his brilliant "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "Blood and Sand" that his stories have particular screen quality. Perhaps his ability in colorful description of characters and scenes is responsible for the ease with which his stories have been brought to the screen. In "Enemies of Women," the drama of regeneration of man and woman, is laid in the background of Russian society life, shifting to Monte Carlo, and thence to Paris. Under the revels of Russian courtesans, the tragedy of the gaming tables at Monte Carlo and the love of a man and woman, there is the constant rumbling of the cannons of war. The story has practically every element in it required for a great screen drama. Joseph Urban has designed magnificent settings for the Russian Palace of Prince Lubimoff, the French villa of Alicia, a replica of the Casino, and the Monte Carlo home of the Prince. Besides the two featured players the cast includes Pedro de Cordoba, W. H. Thompson, Garret Hughes, Gladys Hultie, William Collier, Jr., Mario Majeroni, Paul Panzer and Betty Bouton.

"Perils of the West," billed for Saturday's performance is a western picture with a splendid combination of drama, romance and thrills, with such high points as a western roundup and Rodeo contest in which a girl proves herself the master rider of bucking bronchos. A graphically told story abounding in interest and unusual situations that rise to the highest drama. William K. Hackett is the star.

This theatre will observe "Goldwyn Week" next week—adv.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Buster Keaton claims to be the champion film sportsman on the Pacific Coast. Buster plays three different roles in his Metro picture, "Three Ages," his first big six-reel feature comedy which is now playing. He is cast as a mad scientist in the stone age, as a gladiator in the Roman era and as a ninety-pound quarterback in a stirring football game in the present age. And off the movie he is a champion of the game of basketball which plays championship games around Los Angeles.

Jack Hoxie, star of "Men in the Raw," new Universal Western play, featuring the famous riding star in some of the most thrilling feats in his dashing career, will be seen Monday. Hoxie is a hard-riding, hard-fighting cowboy, leading a series of thrilling episodes, a sensational feat of building a steer, a remarkable plunge down a high cliff, and other thrilling incidents mark the swift progress of the new play. There will be the ninth chapter of "In The Days of Daniel Boone."—adv.

PARK THEATRE

Richard Harding Davis, the eminent American journalist and novelist, is the author of "The Exiles," with John Gilbert starred, which will be shown for the last time today.

One is privileged to witness intimate New York court proceedings and proximate views of the seraglios of Tangiers, Africa. There is variety in setting and story events. Lush and fast, the scenes move amid situations marked by good performing. John Gilbert steps into Richard Harding Davis' chief character with aplomb, delineating each phase of that complex personality with much evidence of technique.

Added to the feature picture there will be round four of "Fighting Blood," International News and the Pabst.

The cast of "Times Have Changed," the William Russell attraction which will be shown on Friday and Saturday contains many notables whose work in past productions augurs well for their performance in this new comedy-drama. In addition to William Russell, there is Mabel Julienne Scott, a leading lady whose work with Thomas Meighan has established her as one of the screen's leading luminaries. Allene Ray, a vivacious type of ingenue, entered the portals of screen stardom via the beauty contest route. She is seen in "Times Have Changed" in a character which suits her ideally.

There is also a two reel comedy and Starland Review.—adv.

PARK THEATRE

On Monday next, matinee and night, the famous Evans Musical Revue will open a one week's engagement at the Park Theatre. The revue is a combination of elaborate scenery and costumes presented by a company of 20 performers of unusual talent. In the art of singing, dancing, trio harmony, and headed by a comedian of note direct from a summer season of 10 weeks in the city of Boston.

Miss Grace Gould, the prima donna, possesses a voice of unusual range and power while Jimmie Evans is a comedian of the younger generation who is just brimming over with rich refined humor, who will become a prime favorite in Rockland in short time. The cast of principals includes the very best dancers on the stage today, and some of the finest harmony singing will be heard from a trio of male voices of superb sweetness.—adv.

THOMASTON

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barker of Vinalhaven were recent guests of Mrs. Ernest Bunker.

Mrs. A. P. Heald who was operated on for appendicitis Monday is very comfortable at the Knox Hospital.

Mrs. C. A. Creighton left Tuesday for a few days in Boston.

The Ladies' Circle will hold a cooked food sale Friday afternoon at the Baptist vestry at 1 o'clock.

John Alden of Boston was in town recently on business with the C. A. Morse &amp; Son Boat Shop, where he is having five boats built.

The Guild of St. John's church will meet with Mrs. Della Masters Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. On Tuesday an all-day session will be held in the parish room for the purpose of making Christmas wreaths. Orders for these may be left with Mrs. John E. Walker or at the Pillsbury dry goods store.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Carter and family, formerly of Lubec, are occupying the rooms over the Bowdoin lunch room.

A. H. Libby of Lewiston, who has been spending the past two months in town, returned last night.

It is hoped that parents, teachers and all interested citizens are planning to be present Friday evening at the Baptist vestry at 7:45 (note the correction in time) to greet the new Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Lord and Mrs. Lord, and to enjoy an evening together at the first Parent-Teacher's Association gathering of the season. A delightful program has been arranged.

Word has been received here of the death in Denver, last week, of Miss Florence Levensaler, who in former years was a frequent visitor in town, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Levensaler, resided. Miss Levensaler for a number of years previous to her death was matron of a private hospital in Denver. The remains are being brought to Thomaston, where funeral services will be held upon their arrival. Interment will be in the family lot at the Catholic cemetery.

The charge for publishing a Card of Thanks is 50 cents, cash to accompany the order.

In Social Circles

In addition to personal notes recording marriages and arrivals, the department especially desires information of social happenings, parties, musicals, etc. Notes sent by mail or telephone will be gladly received.

William D. Talbot and Mrs. David Talbot are in New York this week in the interest of the W. O. Hewett Dry Goods Co.

Favorable reports continue to come from Knox Hospital, where A. S. Littlefield is receiving treatment. His confinement there is expected to last about two weeks longer.

Class 9 of the Pratt Memorial Sunday school was entertained at a social at the home of the class president, Carl W. Sewall, 29 Gay street, Monday evening. The entire class, including George B. Orcutt, teacher, was present. After a business meeting, a social session was enjoyed until 10 o'clock. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Addie B. Webb is now the guest of her daughter Helen (Mrs. Mayland H. Morse) at 165 Prospect street, Berlin, N. H., the house lately purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Morse. Enroute to Berlin she visited Mrs. George Pettre in Lewiston. In January Mrs. Webb will go to Brooklyn for the rest of the winter, visiting her daughter Alice (Mrs. Frank P. Wight) at 136 Hicks street.

Adriel U. Bird left yesterday for Boston, with the intention of attending the Harvard-Yale game at Cambridge.

The music starts at 8.30 sharp tomorrow evening at the Country Club, the occasion being a dance for the members and their guests.

Miss Gladys Jones entertained the "neighborhood children" Saturday afternoon at her home at The Highlands in honor of her little niece, Arlene Haverer. Eight little boys and girls were present, and the afternoon passed quickly and happily with games. The pretty white birthday cake with its six lighted candles and the accompanying ice cream seemed to be the chief feature of the occasion, however. This part of the party "lasted quick" but appeared to be the happiest portion of the afternoon.

Although still confined to one position as the result of her recent accident Mrs. W. O. Steele at Knox Hospital is fortunately suffering little or no pain, and is glad to welcome callers.

Mrs. Fred S. Powers leaves tonight for Boston and New York, where she will visit friends for several weeks. On her return she will be accompanied by her brother, David W. Pitts, who will make a fortnight's visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Torrey and Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Trask of Tenant's Harbor were in the city Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Freeman spent the weekend with Mrs. Fred Partridge, Beach Hill.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church served its regular circle supper last night in the vestry, entertaining 40 past grands and past noble grands who had been holding a meeting at Odd Fellows hall. The three-linkers added an extra note of jollity to the occasion. Class 26 was in charge with Mrs. Martha Koster as supper chairman.

Mrs. Nellie Wiley of Lincolnville is the guest of Mrs. P. A. Smith, Union street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keith of Waterville were weekend guests of Mrs. A. D. Morey, Claremont street.

Herman L. Fitzgerald, assistant in O. H. Tripp's civil engineering office, left this morning for West Palm Beach, Fla., where he will spend the winter.

Hector Brown Tyler and family, who have been making their home in Burlington, Vt., for some months, are expected home Sunday. They will reside on Orange street.

Harry A. Buffum leaves tomorrow for Boston with the full expectation of seeing his alma mater, Yale, tack a substantial defeat onto Harvard.

William B. Symonds of Somerville, Mass., has returned home after spending a short vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Achorn, Granite street.

Alex Chisholm, the popular pro of the Portland Golf Club, celebrated his weekend visit to Rockland by having a tonsil operation performed at Knox Hospital. His temperature was normal Tuesday and he has since left the hospital.

Miss Stella Comery entertained a small company of young lady friends at her apartments in Davis block Tuesday evening. Picnic supper was served.

Mrs. Homer E. Robinson entertains the N. M. I. Club and invited guests at picnic dinner and auction at the Country Club today.

The Fuller-Cobb-Davis crowd had a jollification at the Davis Farm Monday night, well up to the standard of their super-extra good times. This gathering was notable for two things—the fish chowder supper and the marvelous whist playing of Della Pease. Before the accounts were closed she had won everything in the kitchen except the sink, and George Ryan and Albert Peterson were complete nervous wrecks as the result of their stevedore labors. One hand in particular brought out a new brand of wireless when Della made the bid diamonds with three in her own hand and seven in that of her partner.

THE UNIVERSALIST FAIR

Ladies Scored Another Big Success—
Christmas Tree Grabs Made a Hit.

All the traditions of that successful institution, the Universalist Fair, were in force yesterday except the customary storm. The vestry and parlor were more beautiful than ever, as dressed in evergreen, red berries,

Thanksgiving emblems and native bark treatment by Mrs. Florence Thurston and Mrs. Helen Lamb. The flower booth and the cashier's desk were particularly attractive. The machinery of the big fair went like clock work under the capable chairmanship of Mrs. Nina Beverage. All the booths were tastefully decorated and heavily laden with attractive wares. The committee as named in the Tuesday issue of this paper functioned perfectly. The grab Christmas tree, in charge of Miss Josephine Thorndike and Miss Lena Thorndike, made a tremendous hit with the kiddies. Mrs. Lucia Burpee, cashier, reported a highly satisfactory attendance. Music was furnished by the Marion Marsh Orchestra and the supper—well, consider Mrs. Hester Chase in charge of the kitchen forces and Miss Lucy

Rhodes leading the dining room staff and no further word is necessary. The first table seated 100 and the second delegation of equal size was in waiting. Final financial returns were not available this morning but the figure will certainly repay the hard weeks of preparation.

Keystone Cigars—Mild, Sumatra Wrapper, Long Filler. At all stores.

The Law Court handed down reports yesterday giving judgment for the State in the criminal cases in which William Mallett, Frank C. Power, M. Frank Donohue and John H. Breen were respondents. All were liquor cases.

Miss Leah Nicholson of 29 Summer street was the first beneficiary of the profit sharing sale so extensively advertised by the Payson Co.

Following his announcement of removal from Rockland Harmon Davis announces a great Sacrifice Clearing Sale of Ladies' suits, coats, dresses, skirts, blouses and furs, the entire stock of the Davis Garment Shop, at sacrifice prices. Don't miss the opportunity of a lifetime to obtain great bargains—adv.

THE ROMANCE OF A DAHLIA

Flower Christened By President Harding's Wife Out In Alaska, Leads To Probable Identification of Rockland Woman's Long Missing Brother.

Forty-five years ago Charles O. Walker of Belfast went to California in company with his father, the late Charles P. Walker. He remained two years in that State and for the next 16 years was located in Portland, Oregon, maintaining the while a fairly regular correspondence with his relatives back in Maine. In the last of these letters he announced his intention of going to Alaska, but whether he went has ever been a mystery to the family for in the 26 years that ensued no word came from him directly, or indirectly. How the mystery of his disappearance has been solved, or apparently so, through the visit of a President's wife to "The Most Northern Florist in the World" constitutes a bit of romance not often found outside the pages of fiction, and furnishes a further illustration of how really small this great world is. The story unfolded herewith would have interest for the most blasé reader, but to it is attached an even stronger local interest for the reason that the C. O. Walker, whom it concerns, is undoubtedly the long missing brother of Mrs. Edward W. Berry of 40 Broad street, Rockland.

It was a strange coincidence, but fitting perfectly into a strange story, which decreed that it should be a former Rockland man to take up the tangled threads of the Walker romance—stranger still that this man should be a boyhood chum of Mrs. Berry's husband, who was official referee of the games played by the famous H. M. B. polo of which the former Rockland man was a member.

Introduce now Everett Chapman of Meriden, Conn., a brother of Mrs. R. Norman Marsh, who also is a resident of Broad street, only a few stone throws from the Berry homestead. Mr. Chapman, who was formerly in the detective service, and has played a part in some of the most important cases of recent years, is now superintendent of one of the cottages in the School for Boys at Meriden, Conn.

He saw recently an article in the New York Times describing the visit of the President's Harding's party to "The Most Northern Florist in the World" at Skagway, Alaska, and telling how Mrs. Harding had christened a dahlia.

Desiring to get some hardy northern bulbs for the extensive gardens connected with the School for Boys Mr. Chapman wrote to J. M. Tanner, a former chief of the Northwest Mounted Police, with whom he was acquainted, asking for the address of the proprietor. In due time came the following reply from Mr. Walker.

Skagway, Alaska, Sept. 5.
Mr. H. E. Chapman, Box 706, Meriden, Conn.

Yours bearing postmark of August 27, came in today's mail, and in reply I beg to say: Your letter is most interesting all the way through, and you surely must have a task that requires time, and much patience.

Our townsman, J. M. Tanner, was with me when I went to the Post office today, and he had told me that he had given you my address some little time ago, and in all probability you would write me about bulbs, as it was your desire to get hardy bulbs that are grown in the far North.

Now as to my flowers—I grow many varieties, and I specialize in dahlias, gladioli and tuberose begonias. I have the world's largest collection of them to all parts of it. The many thousands of tourists who come to Alaska during the summer months, nearly all make a visit at my place, and a great many select the kind of bulbs they want from the plant while it is growing and in blossom. Many others send for a bulb or two, and others send for a collection and leave it to my discretion, and in such cases I always give my personal care in making such selection.

My price on collection of choice dahlia bulbs of one dozen is $10; tuberose bulbs, $1.50 each and gladioli at $10 a hundred. This includes parcel post, insurance and delivered to those buying them. I do not issue catalogues, as I have all the business I can handle without any.

You mention that your boys take an interest in the agricultural work, and that your expectations are to devote more time and space to the growing of flowers. I will say of this occupation that there is no more fascinating, or remunerative work, and besides, one can have the satisfaction of living close to nature, and if one is interested in the work he will never tire.

You mention about getting something in the line of dahlia bulbs that were growing while President Harding was here. Mrs. Harding is an ardent lover of flowers, and seemed deeply interested in every one of the many kinds that I am growing, and looked the place over in detail, asking me many questions. I told her that I had a number of choice dahlias from my own growing that was yet unnamed, and that I had it in mind if I was honored with a visit from the Presidential party to name a very choice one in honor of the party. Mrs. Harding asked me to show her to that special dahlia and she would be its sponsor. I led the way to the back of my lot, through sweet peas, to a collection of dahlias of my own growing, and she said: "If this has been made possible, to grow such flowers out of a wilderness, and on the top crust of the world, wonders will never end." I showed her the dahlia and she said: "What name were you going to give it Mr. Walker? And before I could speak, she said: 'I will just name that myself. She knelt down and shook the plant, and said: 'I christen thee Lady Harding, this 11th Day of July, 1923.'"

She then asked the rest of the party how that would sound for a name. Those in the party were, beside herself and the President, the Governor of Alaska, Secretary and Mrs. Work, Major Bollinger, the military aid, a representative of the New York Times, a National Picture man, two maids and a doctor.

Mrs. Harding next went into the greenhouse where I had 1400 begonias in bloom, and she seemed overjoyed, and said they were the most beautiful sight she had ever seen in all her life, and wanted to buy one. I told her it would be a high honor to give her the whole greenhouse.

She made a selection of one, a deep maroon, and took it with her. She had her picture taken among the begonias and insisted that I should be with her, and I accepted. I presented her with a large bouquet of sweet peas, and she shows that in the picture. For a bouquet holder I had the stems neatly wrapped in tanned ermine skin, pure white and black tail, and when I presented it to her she seemed quite affected. I told her I was not going to make a long, tiresome presentation speech, was just going to say mine with flowers and furs, as this characterized my business—flowers in summer and furs in winter. She took a good rest in my house and greatly admired my valuable furs. She bought a fine sable, made up, and wore it away with her.

To relate all the honors that I received from the party, would make quite a book, and it all came to me so unexpected. Mrs. Harding seemed to know of many things and adventures that I had been through during my long residence in the far North, and how she learned it all is a deep mystery to me.

Now I will not write along this line further, but will say a few words for the good of your boys. You may say to them that there are a great many opportunities in the Great Northern Wonderland for the coming manhood, and that anyone who is square and upright can surely make good, otherwise he can not remain in this country. We are like one big family, having no crime. Doors are never locked, and our jails are empty. We all help one another, do not allow labor unions or Chinese in the country, and no one is wanted. Tell the boys that one who has spent nearly all his life in the far North sends them all his best wishes, and kindly thanking you for your inquiries, and trusting that I may be of still further service to you in the future, I am, sir,

C. O. Walker.

With the above letter were some snapshots made by Mr. Walker—interesting but apparently of no significance in this story.

Yet these snapshots led to the clue which has undoubtedly identified Mr. Walker as the missing Belfast man, for when Mr. Chapman wrote to him for further information he enclosed some snapshots which he (Mr. Chapman) had made during the summer's vacation in Penobscot Bay. The resulting letter from Mr. Walker disclosed the fact that "the most northern florist" was a native of Belfast.

This letter, hinting modestly at Mr. Walker's romantic career since leaving his native heath, follows:

Skagway, Alaska, Oct. 28, 1923.
Your delayed letter came several days ago, and as there have been no mails leaving for the south for several days I have not been in any hurry to send you an answer. And, again, this is a very busy time of the year, and I have a thousand and one things to do. I guess you find it that way at your place at this season.

Now as to the begonia and dahlia bulbs, will say that I have recorded your order, and they will go forward in about ten days, and I will send you a collection that I well know you will be pleased with, and in addition to the order will send you some extra bulbs as a greeting to the boys, and you need not pay for them until you have examined them and feel satisfied. The collection will be made up of different varieties and shapes and colors.

This has been a splendid year for the ripening of bulbs and I surely have a fine lot, and there is a ready sale for all of them. While I do not care to make a big profit on my flowers and bulbs, I grow them mostly for advertising, and it is the furs that get the money. And Mrs. Harding said, the flowers and furs make a good combination, and that they were both beautiful.

My main object is to grow flowers a little better than people have seen elsewhere, and this rule applies to the furs also. I do not offer any furs for sale, only the choicest specimens, and nearly every mail I have inquiries for furs from people whom I have never known or heard of. I can say that I have the first customer to hear from who is dissatisfied. It is the same way in my bulb and flower shipment. I will guarantee that any dealings we may have will always be entirely satisfactory.

As to the little snapshots, I always send one or more in every letter I write, as it interests many who have never been in the North, and any that I may send to you are complimentary.

You mention that the boys are interested to know how far I have to go after furs, some of them I get near this place, around the foot of the glaciers, and many of them are caught from 500 to 1800 miles from here. The fur seal that I get are caught out in the Bering Sea by the Eskimo seal hunters, and I get all furs direct from them.

Anyone dealing in fur sealskin has U. S. Government regulations to comply with, as there are miles of red tape to go with each and every seal-skin. To begin with, only the natives are allowed to capture them, and they all have to be captured with a harpoon, and the natives are not allowed to catch any within six miles of the shore, and only during the months of May and June, and each and every skin has to be weighed, measured and recorded by the U. S. government. The government keeps gunboats out in the Bering Sea on guard duty at all times. The laws are very rigid governing the capture and possession of fur seals, and it is seldom that they are violated.

You mention that the boys are also interested in some of the things which Mrs. Harding took such great interest in, and you are asking me of some adventures during my life in the North. There are many, many things that I never recall, and little did I ever have any thought that Mrs. Harding or any one else outside of my old acquaintances ever knew about. How she ever found out so many things will always be a deep mystery to me.

She asked me to tell her of the time I lived alone for several months and never saw a human being, and was thought to be dead. She knew of a companion and myself going to the rescue of six men, after 16 others had been drowned. We saved the six. She also asked me about the great avalanche on Chilcoot Pass that I was in where we dug out 66 men who were killed, and I told her that I did everything to keep this thing from memory, and that these and like occurrences were only a part in making up our every day life as we then lived it. She said I was a lucky man, and hoped I would always be so.

To tell these things and stories in detail would make a book and it would be long and tiresome and uninteresting, and I always think best to let bygones be forgotten and let the tomorrow bring what it may.

I am quite interested in the pictures you sent, particularly the one of yourself and pal. Those expressions denote that there is peace and happiness in the household, and little on earth to worry about. That is the way I feel, and if I had the world to build over, just as I would want it, I would build it just as it is.

The other picture of the camp bungalow is just like a Yankee's Down East piece of work. I was born right near that, Belfast, and in my boyhood days had many a good clam bake, and have caught fine lobsters.

Now you just listen, while I comment a bit on the fishermen, I mean real sport, and the fish to verify it. Cod fishing would be very tame sport for a real fisherman in this country, where we have so many, many other kinds of fish in great numbers. We have the king salmon that often weigh 50 to 60 pounds, and they are easily caught on a trolling line, and it is some job to land them into the boat. For fly fishing, all the lakes, streams and rivers are alive with grayling and trout. There are many kinds of trout. In the big lakes there are trout that weigh up to 30 pounds, but the real game trout are those we have in the lakes near here, weighing from one-half up to six pounds, and they take the fly and one can catch all they want. Then we have the brook trout, spotted, that run from 4 to 10 inches, and all the small streams are full of them. And then in the rivers there are the dolly varden and salmon trout that are caught with bait. The kind of trout that we catch in the lakes on the mountains near here are as red meat as beef, and are the best of all.

We have salmon of many kinds, and you can buy a nice red one from the Indians for 15 cents that will weigh from 12 to 15 pounds, and if you don't want to pay so much you can go to the river bank and spear and get all you want. It is a wonderful sight at this season of the year to see the countless thousands of salmon going up the rivers to their spawning beds.

The Indians have racks along the river banks where they dry them for their winter supply. They dry tons of them. This dried salmon is also used for our dog food, and is nearly all the kind of food our Northern dogs will eat. You never have to keep a Northern dog inside in severe weather, as they much prefer to bury themselves in the snow, and when they want a drink eat snow and ice.

During the winter months I will make it a point to get some real winter pictures that may interest the boys, as well as yourself.

The above letter Mr. Chapman forwarded to his sister, Mrs. Marsh, with the suggestion that she ascertain if Mrs. Berry knew such a person. He was influenced in this act by the knowledge that Mrs. Berry was a former Belfast woman, and that her name was Walker.

Words cannot describe the state of excitement into which Mrs. Berry was thrown upon reading this correspondence, nor can they tell of the suspense which is here in the air. Mrs. Berry has written the three letters which she has already written.

Charles O. Walker, who would now be 65 years old, is a son of Charles P. and Mary E. (Salsbury) Walker, of Belfast. Mrs. Berry has another brother, Willard H. Walker of Belfast. The last Eastern acquaintance who saw Charles O. Walker was the late Russell Dyer of Belfast, who said that Mr. Walker was in the lumber business in Portland, Ore. and also had a desk in the bank, where he was weighing gold dust brought in by the miners. He was then considering going to Alaska. Mrs. Berry says that her brother was always a great lover of flowers, and had possibilities as an artist, being especially adept at modeling in wax.

EAT YOUR WAY TO HEALTH

How many kinds of cathartic pills or other so-called laxatives have you tried? Have any given you more than temporary relief? Drugs weaken bowel action, and the condition grows worse instead of better.

A practicing physician, realizing the serious dangers of constipation and the failure of drugs to prevent or correct it properly, has at last produced an appetizing, nutritious food that will positively relieve constipation. It is CEREAL MEAL. Cereal Meal does not contain any drugs but the results that follow its use are marvelous. People who have been constipated for years get immediate results from the use of CEREAL MEAL.

Try Cereal Meal. Know the joy of the perfect health that follows its use. Your neighborhood druggist or grocer should have Cereal Meal—if not, write direct to The Cereal Meal Corporation, 47 W. 42nd Street, New York City.
