THREE TIMES A WEEK

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
Rockland, Aug. 28, 1924.
I, the undersigned, being the publisher of the above newspaper, do hereby certify that the circulation of the same for the week ending August 24, 1924, was printed a total of 3,346 copies.
Before me, FRANK B. MILLER,
Notary Public.

When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee.—Isaiah 43:2.

We hope the business men of the city and vicinity read President Whitehead's presentation of the merits of his Chautauqua which filled a page of the Tuesday's issue of this paper. What the organization consists of and the place it occupies in the life of a community was admirably set forth. A paragraph or two are worth repeating:

"There is a popular misconception abroad about the nature of Chautauqua in general. Some think it is sort of a revival service with dry lectures. Others think it is something the church people bring to town to convert sinners. Some think it consists of study classes and others think it is a high-brow entertainment good only for the intellectuals. Now, whatever other Chautauquas may be, I want to correct right now my impression of this sort about Community Chautauquas. We have this year what I regard as the best talent in America. Our dramatic performances, our musical programs and our speakers represent the highest standards of merit heretofore achieved anywhere in the United States."

Further reference—we recommend turning back to the Tuesday issue and reading all of the announcement—points out in some detail the high-grade character of the entertainment which is offered to our people for the coming week. Let us give hearty support to the group of citizens who each year for the public good guarantee the financial success of the enterprise.

We venture to believe that the presence in our harbor of that magnificent battleship the West Virginia arouses in the breast of Rockland citizens no emotions of a warlike character. We say to ourselves as we look upon her splendid lines with their suggestions of irresistible power, that here is something that stands as a safeguard to our family and homes, should occasion ever arise that for any reason they should be put in peril by any other peoples. It is akin to the feeling of protection that one enjoys when he sees the uniformed policeman going quietly about his business of protecting the community of which he also is a citizen. The rightly balanced man or woman feels the same pride in an efficient navy and army that he entertains for an efficient police force. He desires them for individual and national protection and not in any particular for the processes of aggression. The professional pacifist who would reduce these protective agencies to a point of inefficiency is an enemy to organized society.

Now is the season when all over this corner of Maine the "family reunion" flourishes—an institution of high merit, calling together from widely scattered points the members of a common kindred in renewal of happy associations, and the recalling of past days tinged with the romance of those things that relate to far-off times. We have been told that the "family reunion" had its birth in Knox County many years ago. Can any reader tell us if it is so? We dare say it may be, for it is the sort of thing with its hospitality and good fellowship that is native to our county people.

Had Tuesday's tempest been staged a little later the weather sharps would have wagged their heads as they catalogued it as "the line gale." The Atlantic seaboard was heavily visited and far out at sea shipping received severe handling—but here on the Knox County coast we haven't much of a serious nature to record. We rarely do get these things in excessively severe form.

Senator Brewster is the regularly constituted nominee of the Republican party and as such is entitled to the full support of every man and woman who is allied with that political organization. We do not find anything in our candidate's record, or in his utterances in the present active campaign, that departs in the slightest particular from sound Americanism or from absolute loyalty to the Republican platform, state and national.

COOLIDGE IS THE MAN

[For The Courier-Gazette]
John Davis looks distinguished. And is handsome as can be. But handsome is as handsome does. And Cal's the man for me.

A plain New England product. No furbelows, no frills. But as solid in foundation. As the green New England hills.

Pure gold is his inheritance. Not honest, true, straightforwardness. And naught of craven fear.

A heart for home and country. A mind that thinks and dares. A hand outstretched in trouble. And a shoulder for all cares.

Yes, Coolidge is the man we want. To rule the next four years. And over the top we'll take him. With votes and roaring cheers.

Rockland, Aug. 28.

POLITICS IN MAINE

Congressman Hersey Shows Up Some Pattangall Fallacies—Other Topics of the Day.

Hon. Ira G. Hersey of Houlton, Republican candidate for re-election to Congress from the Fourth Maine District Tuesday night vehemently asserted that the Klan is not an issue in this State or the national election. Congressman Hersey said in part:

"I was present at the Republican convention in Maine last spring when its platform of principles was adopted, which principles I approved. I had read very carefully the state platform of the Democratic party adopted in the State convention last Spring."

"The issues set forth in the platforms of both parties were sharp and distinct and I had a right to assume that this campaign would be conducted upon the issues raised by those platforms between the Democratic and Republican parties, as such campaigns had been conducted in the past."

"But after primaries and at the opening of the campaign I find the Democratic candidate for Governor of Maine, Mr. Pattangall, disregards his own platform and that of the Republican party, and attempts to raise an issue outside of either platform and one that has not been presented to the people by either party. This issue is being used by him to blind the voters, and thus obtain by any kind of means his election."

"He says the only issue in this campaign is the Klan and that a vote for Brewster is a vote for the Klan, that a vote for him is a vote for the State of Maine. I thus find myself at some loss to meet such a false issue and to throw light upon the methods used by this wily politician."

"Mr. Brewster, the Republican candidate, says he is not a Klan member, that he stands upon the Republican platform, and in all his speeches he does not mention the Klan nor discuss these false issues thrust into the campaign by Pattangall, and I think he is right."

"The great questions of State and good government in Maine have nothing to do with the Klan. 'Pattangall is the Democratic party of Maine. When the Democrats elected Plaisted and Curtis as Governors, Pattangall was the real governor. Today he says 'A vote for Pattangall is a vote for Maine.' He is the whole thing he believes. He writes the Democratic platform in Maine but does not mention the Klan. He nominates himself in the primaries. He makes speeches throughout the State and never in one of these speeches does he say a word in favor of any other candidate except himself, but when he says the Klan is the only issue in Maine he speaks for himself only and not for his or any other party."

"It is merely an attempt on the part of Mr. Pattangall to delude the voters of Maine by a false issue and turn their attention from the real issues."

"—Good Government in Maine and in the Nation. It is an attempt, and a very unfortunate attempt, to drag religious prejudice into politics because one man had no issue and wants one to win—not that the Democratic ticket can be elected in Maine, because it cannot, but Pattangall hopes that the head of the ticket on the Republican side may be slaughtered and he be elected Governor of Maine so that Calvin Coolidge, whom everybody trusts, may be handicapped and defeated in the election."

OSCAR H. EMERY
Attorney and Counsellor-at-Law
Camden, Maine

To the Citizens and Voters of Knox County:

As a candidate for County Attorney on the Democratic Ticket, I fully appreciate the fact that the candidates for the minor county offices are not apt to be given that careful consideration that would be given them in a purely local election. Our State Election held either than county and state officials, together with one U. S. Senator and four Representatives to Congress. The election held in November is the election at which the President is elected. They are two distinct elections.

I hold that a public office is a public trust and each voter is given the opportunity to elect (or hire) a public official. The same good judgment should be used in doing this as in hiring any other servant. Unless the trust delivered into the hands of a public official is abused, the public official usually fills the position to the best of his or her ability.

I feel that I do not need to say that as a Judge of Probate for four years and as a member of the legal profession in the county for thirteen years I have faced my duties having in mind the one thing, to give the public the best I had. A lawyer is a public servant at all times.

I simply wish to call your attention to my candidacy in the September 8th election. The office of County Attorney if I am elected will be filled to the best of my ability.

Most respectfully,
102-105 OSCAR H. EMERY.

November, because Maine in this election forsook and abandoned a New England candidate for President by electing a professional politician on an issue not before the public.

"I cannot believe that the State will so dishonor itself, that those churches of Maine which support sectarian schools will permit Pattangall to deceive them, or that this election has anything to do with their interests or their future, but that the election of Ralph O. Brewster, clean and honest, standing on the Republican platform will assure by great majority the election of Calvin Coolidge, the idol of the people, the statesman of the age."

The stuff that the Democrats are putting out on the eve of the September election is very amusing. A fair sample is the despatch which quotes Candidate Pattangall as naming "several prominent Republicans who have announced themselves against the Klan, and whose votes he expects to receive."

Well up in this list of "prominent Republicans" is the name of President Sills of Bowdoin College. If memory serves aright, President Sills is a Democrat and ran for United States Senator on the Democratic ticket not so very long ago.

Another man mentioned was Associate Justice A. M. Spear, who writes thus to the Lewiston Journal: "Mr. Pattangall's speech as interpreted by the paper from which you clipped the same, gives the impression that because of my well known attitude towards the K. K. K. as Grand Master of the Masons of Maine, I had promised Mr. Pattangall that I was going to vote for him at the approaching election."

"I have read what Mr. Pattangall actually said, and I have no occasion to criticize it. But the distortion of this into an inference that I am going to vote for Mr. Pattangall is unwarranted and erroneous. I never split a Republican ticket in my life. I see no reason for doing it now. I see every reason why I should not. And moreover, I shall with great pleasure, and with absolute approval vote the entire ticket of the Maine Republicans at the polls in the coming election."

Ralph O. Brewster, the Republican candidate, spent $1,288 in the primary campaign, according to his statement of expenditures filed at the department of state under the law. There were two items, $1197 for printing and $91 for newspaper advertising. Frank G. Farrington, in a statement filed when it appeared that he had defeated Mr. Brewster, gave his expenditures as $1,674 of which $753 was for printing and $296 for clerk hire.

Even the Democrats admit that only a tidal wave can defeat Mr. Fernald, the Republican candidate for United States Senator. His Democratic opponent, Fulton J. Redman of Ellsworth is not well known, and there seems to be no reason why Mr. Fernald should not receive the normal Republican vote.—Boston Globe.

Tuesday was a day of rejoicing for Ralph O. Brewster, in the continuation of his campaign speech making, for he spoke during the day time at Dexter, his former home, and in the evening before nearly 2,000 people in the city hall in Bangor. Such audiences naturally inspired Mr. Brewster to his best efforts, and he was received with cordiality.

At Dexter, where he spoke in Liberty Square, his father and mother, and two small sons, were in the audience. It was very significant that many during the course of his remarks here he took occasion to assert at some length that he stood "squarely for the promise of religious liberty and tolerance as contained in the Constitution of the State. The observance of the spirit and the letter of the constitution is a protection for the rights and privileges of the people. On that promise I stand; any qualification beyond that is designed to serve the interests of individual rights, rather than the State. Here where we have grown up together I wish in these dubious times to make my position clear."

I SAW "PUT" BICKNELL

at last night's Rockland-Camden game. Everybody has a favorite seat at a ball game, and Mr. Bicknell's is on the western end of the southern bleachers. I am seated there when I do not see him there, but it is seldom that he disappoints me, because he is a fan from the ground up. In Rockland High School he donned football togs. A year at Colby and he was obliged to leave school on account of ill health. Today he is the successful manager of the Livingston Manufacturing Co.

Rockland 9, Camden 3

The Camden team resembled nothing so little as a Bok prize contender last night, and Manager Wotton's men walked away with the seventh contest of the Knox county championship series. First was battled to the four corners of the field, a total of 17 bases being made off him in seven innings. Dimick led in this onslaught with two singles and a triple. In spite of this Price had 11 strikeouts in the seven innings.

Cunningham pitched his first game for the season for Rockland, and except for one inning was completely the master of the Meganticook swatters.

The game was late getting under way, hence only seven innings. The tropical storm of the previous day and transformed night had left a haze where Richards and Wahle performed mermaid stunts for the edification of the bleachers.

Another storm center of the game was "Blueberry" Burke, who had a most unhappy evening in the role of "ump." Seventy percent of the products may have been wholly unpermeated, but the other 30 percent would have worried gray hairs onto a less volatile personage than "Blueberry" Burke appears to be.

The verbal clash between those two stentorian orators, Bill Flint and John Beaton, also furnished lively diversion. When Rockefeller Wood joined in the chorus it was a conspicuous trio.

Don Gregory again pulled off some spectacular plays, one of them being a marvelous catch of Gacy's wild throw to second. Had the ball gone afire the error would have cost two runs. The score:

The Port Clyde boys were quick to respond to Friendship's challenge, and in the game at Port Clyde Monday were victorious by a score of 2 to 1. They will meet again in Friendship Saturday.

The recent game in Camden which was marked by the Gregory-Magee incident at first base, has been eliminated from the Knox county championship series, which now stands 5 to 2 in favor of Rockland. Camden will make a last ditch stand in two Labor Day games. By winning both she would still have a chance for the pennant. Morning game in Rockland at 10 o'clock; afternoon game in Camden at 3 o'clock.

The office of the United States Immigration Commissioner is being moved from Montreal, Canada, to Newport, Vt. This item is of local interest from the fact that Miss Ernestine Davies, formerly of this city, is a clerk in the department.

"Some hot and dusty out here," writes F. Leslie Whitney, who was in Casper, Wyoming, at the time of mailing his postcard to a member of The Courier-Gazette staff. Mr. Whitney had just visited the scene of the Teapot Dome oil scandal, and expected to be in Yellowstone National Park last Monday.

This section was visited Tuesday by what may have been the tail-end of the big tropical storm which has been sweeping up the coast for several days. It began with a moderate rainfall, which gradually gathered intensity until it seemed to be a cloudburst and cyclone rolled into one. Many cellars were flooded, and much damage was done to shade trees, fruit trees and gardens.

E. Carl Moran, Jr., arrived this morning from a fortnight's business trip to Massachusetts, New York and New Jersey. Between whiles he witnessed some of the games of the New York-Detroit series.

Orchard Inn, the popular tea room near Glen Cove, will close immediately after Labor Day, much to the regret of the many patrons, who say there is no surpassing the home cooking of Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory. Mrs. Gregory, after a well earned vacation, will continue to supply lunches and to serve meals which have been specially ordered.

The speed boat formerly owned by Jack Taylor, said to be capable of doing better than 25 knots, has been bought by H. C. Baxter & Bros., of Brunswick. The boat has been put in first class condition by Oliver Perry and looks spic and span under its new coat of varnish. The I. L. Snow Co. overhauled the engines. The boat was launched Monday, and will be used in Merrymeeting Bay and the Kennebec river.

"Here is a picture of the Summer White House," writes William A. Donovan on the back of a postcard which shows a picture of the farm buildings where President Coolidge took the oath of office. "Instead of the ocean there is nothing but landscape—mountains and valleys," writes Bill, who probably had in mind the beautiful home of Charles Dana Gibson, where candidate John W. Davis spent his summer vacation. Mr. Donovan, as usual, has chosen of the Western Union press arrangements at the "Summer Capital"—which is in Plymouth, Vt.

Rockland has every reason for congratulating itself on the projected visit of the superdreadnaught West Virginia. It is a matter of local pride to have the mightiest ship of the American Navy spending a fortnight in the harbor, and a matter of pleasure to have such a general lot of sailors ashore. From a commercial standpoint alone the West Virginia's visit has been a big thing for Rockland, because the boys have spent money with a lavish hand—either in the pursuit of pleasure or for useful articles. It will be at least 10 years before another ship of the dreadnaught type comes here for trial, and it is hoped that all concerned will make the best of it.

Next week is Paramount Week at Park Theatre, an annual event to which the patrons of this establishment can well afford to look forward with interest. Park Theatre has long carried the Paramount releases and to its patrons the stars seem like old friends. The bill for Labor Day and Tuesday will be headed by "The Wanderer of the Waste Land," a Zane Grey story featuring Jack Holt and Kathleen Williams. The feature for Wednesday and Thursday will be "The Sideshow of Life," with Ernest Torrence and Alice Nilsson starring. Paramount Week will close with "The Boy of Mine," with Alexander Storey and an all-star cast. Jimmy Evans' Musical Comedy Co., with Jimmy Evans himself comes for the week of Sept. 22.

When Manager Dondero advertises one of his unique dancing events at the Oakland Park Casino it takes something worse than a tempest like Tuesday night's to keep the crowd away. The management's injunction to "meet the dearest girl and the dearest boy" proved irresistible, and there was a big crowd on hand when it came time for making the selections. Daurice Plumer proved to be the dearest girl, and was found by Lawrence Leach. Joseph Walker was the dearest boy and was found by Evelyn Kaler. Prizes aggregating $20 went to the fortunate ones. In connection with "Dearest" night Art Spaulding sang "Dearest You Are Nearest to My Heart." Tonight Myer's Orchestra again furnishes music, and on Saturday evening the patrons will dance to strains played by "Six Kings of Harmony." "Our next attraction will surprise" is the way Manager Dondero phrases it in his advertisement today.

MADE A SPEEDY TRIAL

Superdreadnaught West Virginia Did 21.66 Yesterday—Patoka, Which Has Mooring Mast for Shenandoah Is Here.

The West Virginia ran her first complete standardization on the Rockland course yesterday. Runs were made at the following speeds: Three at 9 knots, three at 12, three at 15, three at 17, three at 19, three at 21, and five at full speed.

All trials were completed satisfactorily and there were no casualties. The fastest run over the measured mile gave a speed of 21.66 knots an hour, with 132 revolutions. The maximum horsepower developed was about 35,000. The displacement for the first standardization trial was about 33,500 tons.

Later there will be standardization trials at heavier displacements, and sandwiched in between these events will be a great variety of other tests. The 12-hour full speed run was to have been made today, but the West Virginia had not left her anchorage when this paper went to press. Anchored alongside at that hour was the U. S. S. Patoka, whose coming is of special interest locally, for the reason that she is equipped with a mooring mast to be used for experimental purposes on the airship Shenandoah. Pictures of the Patoka are being shown in Kinograms at Strand Theatre today.

The Patoka will act as an additional tender until the completion of the West Virginia's trials.

The destroyer Putnam also arrived this morning.

The trials of the West Virginia are under the direction of the Board of Inspection and Survey, the president of which is one of the Navy's most brilliant officers, Rear Admiral Guy H. Baggley. The recorder is Commander J. H. S. Dessez.

It is rumored that the West Virginia may stay here until Sept. 8.

CURES MOTOR ILLS

Camden Concern Has Produced a Preparation For Removing Carbon.

Every automobile owner knows that sooner or later a motor will develop carbon trouble, because it is subject to carbon deposit due largely to a low grade of gasoline. Thus affected the motive power decreases while fuel consumption is increasing. The cost of removing this deposit varies during the season from $10 to $30.

There comes to the rescue of the motorist a new preparation known as Nocarb, manufactured by the Nocarb Mfg. Co. of Camden, which will remove the carbon in a run of 100 or more miles, varying with the condition of the motor, at a running cost of less than 15 cents per 500 miles. Once the motor is cleaned by this process it will remain clean the Nocarb manufacturers claim.

Nocarb is a cylindrical container fitted on one end with a screw cap. The cap is removed and the Nocarb is poured into the vacuum line in the rear of the engine. The Nocarb can be fitted to the intake manifold or attached to the vacuum line. The cylinder is shown on the cut. The cylinder is charged with chemical tablets which give off fumes. These fumes, which contain a slight percentage of moisture, are taken up by the air that is drawn through the cylinder into the manifold, thereby becoming a part of the gas mixture, which not only cleans and prevents the formation of carbon, but has the same effect on the action of the motor as night driving.

Glowing testimonials are being received from those who are using Nocarb.

Some anxiety has been expressed as to the behavior of the new cult at the rear of the High School building under stress of a big rain. Tuesday's deluge saw it function to perfection.

Pessimistic Dame Rumor has it that Rockland's Tex Ricard-Valentino, Linwood Rogers, is to forsake the old home town and the insurance business in favor of Kirksville, Mo. and osteopathy. It looks like a dull winter.

Walter H. Butler, Earle J. Alden, Albert S. Peterson, Theodore Perry, Donald Kelsey, Herman Shannon, Thomas Shannon, Alton Libby and Leslie Dyer returned yesterday from Waterville, where they attended the American Legion convention, and incidentally the Central Maine Fair. The Waterville folks proved good entertainers, and our boys enjoyed their stay.

The 6600 volt transmission line which feeds the electric light service of the Northend broke with a sizzling roar about 7 o'clock Tuesday night on Camden street, just below Trinity and plunged everything north of Talbot avenue into darkness. The house service was soon in operation but it was a late hour before the street lights were got going. It takes just such a black night to make their worth appreciated.

William Wyman, of the Central Maine Power Company force, is learning the business from the ground up. Since coming here last January he has been in the inside wiring force, the line crew, inventory work, and now has been promoted to the accounting department. Peter Maher, formerly employed in the Belfast office, has been very busy the last three weeks on the new ledger system being installed by the Rockland division of this company.

Lotta J. Darling, the popular trance medium of 29 Park street, Rockland, is the daughter of the late Capt. Thomas Crockett, and sister of Captains George W. and Charles A. Crockett of Winterport. Years ago Thomas Crockett bought a new schooner in Rockland and asked his two little sons, George and Charles, 10 years of age if they thought they could take the old schooner from Rockland to Stonington without him. The said they could, and it is a well known fact the little fellows did so. Capt. Thomas and his two sons, Captains George W. and Charles A. Crockett of Winterport, were called three of the most fearless captains that ever sailed out of the Penobscot river—adv.

Did the Tuesday storm hit Crescent Beach? Anyone of the 10 Robt. Jones Cruises marooned in the A. C. Jones cottage all that night will answer in the affirmative. It happened that guests of the Harry Pearsons were leaving on the afternoon train and were taken to the city by A. C. Jones in the family car, the Pearsons coming to the Jones cottage meantime. Other guests were brought back and in making a landing (the cottage was surrounded by water) had to go barefoot as the machine went hard and fast ashore in the channel (driveway). Kenneth Blackington undertook to salvage the sunken craft, but in turn mired his smaller machine and the 10 people cheerfully faced the prospect of a night marooned. In the morning a W. H. Glover & Co. crew rowed to the cottage and set the guests ashore on the steps of the Pearson cottage. The two mired machines were cleared with difficulty, the workers winning success only after several hours work under a broiling sun in bathing suits.

The September meeting of the City Council will be held Wednesday night of next week, as the date for the regular meeting comes on Labor Day.

Metro-Goldwyn Putting Out Wonderful Production—Some Coming To the Strand.

In view of the fact that Manager Dondis has signed up with Metro-Goldwyn for the coming year's features, the following from a Boston newspaper's movie column will be of interest.

Twenty-three of the motion pictures which will be released by Metro-Goldwyn this year have been finished. Expectation is that the total number for the season will be between 50 and 60, probably nearer 60. This includes productions made by Cosmopolitan as well as those made at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for Louis B. Mayer presentation and by independent director-producers and stars. At the present time, also, eight other pictures are under way, and two others soon will be.

Five of the finished pictures have recently been released in the larger cities. They are: Rex Ingram's "The Arab," Marshall Neilan's "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," Reginald Barker's "Broken Barriers," "Bread" and "Revolution."

Marion Davies in "Janice Meredith" has just begun an indefinite pre-release Broadway run at the newly redecorated Cosmopolitan Theatre; Jackie Coogan in "Little Red Riding Hood" has his world premiere in Los Angeles; a couple of weeks ago, and will be at Loew's State for his Eastern premiere to precede the general release.

Finished pictures still awaiting release are Hobart Henley's "Sinners in Silk," Fred Niblo's "The Red Lily," with Ramon Novarro; Marion Davies in "Yolanda" (pre-shown at the Cosmopolitan Theatre), Laurette Taylor in "One Night in Rome," "Circe the Enchantress," starring Mae Murray; "The Navigator," starring Buster Keaton; "The Beauty Prize," starring Viola Dana Sunday with her "Greed," "Tom Terriss," "The Bandolero," "Hugo Ballin," "The Prairie Wife," and Robert Vignola's "Mrs. Paramor."

The eight pictures being made are: "The Silent Auctioneer," "The Great Divide," "The Great Divide," "The Great Divide," "The Great Divide," "The Great Divide," "The Great Divide," "The Great Divide."

STRAND THEATRE

A powerful photodrama is presented today under the title of "The Mark of the Beast." Dr. David Hale, a scientist who delves into the mysteries of psychic analysis to discover the unconscious power within, which impels human beings to strange actions over which they have no control, finds the key to this unconscious mind in the power which guides his sweetheart, Ann Page, in her sleep walk along a narrow ledge. Two late Hale wakes to the fact that the woman he loves is held by a strange power within that does not reason—the beast instinct within calling to beast. He seizes the address in the mountains and hastens to their retreat. He finds Ann and endeavors to reason with her, but she is infatuated with Don, Don's nature begins to assert itself, and when she accidentally finds the spoils of his work, he admits that he is a criminal. A terrific scene ensues in which the beast predominates.

THE APPLE MARKET

Some Timely Advice To Shippers—Receipts Are Heavy; Market Not Swift.

Boston, Aug. 26.

Receipts of apples are fairly heavy and the market is not very swift. It looks as if there were plenty of fall apples but not so many later apples. MacIntosh in particular being light yield.

We would not advise the shippers in Maine to send their fruit along until it gets fair size and color.

The prices quoted below cover most of the sales although occasional lots of extra fine quality sell above quotations. Transparents from Massachusetts are about done so we are omitting quotations covering them, although some good ones would sell at $1.25 to $1.50.

There is very little demand for sweet apples yet.

Good hard Clapp pears are selling well and we think Bartlett's should sell well when ready.

Dutchess hand picked, bxs. $1.00 to $1.50
Williams, hand picked bxs. $1.25 to $1.75

EMPIRE THEATRE

Elmer Glyn's "How to Educate a Wife," featuring Mary Provost and Monte Blue will be shown for the last time today.

Holbrook Blinn, star of Edwin Carewe's "The Bad Man," a First National picture which comes to the Park Theatre beginning Friday for two days, is the original "bad man" of both stage and screen.

Blinn, up to the time of the release of "The Bad Man," was the only actor who had ever played the role. This is a unique achievement in itself, because seldom is a stage actor good in the films as he is on the stage and keep them on all day, appearing at the theatre in the evening in the same make-up—adv.

During the making of the film in Hollywood, Blinn was also appearing in the stage version of the play at a local theatre. For nearly a month the only clothes he wore were his "stage" clothes. He would don them in the morning for his film scenes and keep them on all day, appearing at the theatre in the evening in the same make-up—adv.

Promising the best possible talent for the Maine Music Festival and urging the cooperation of all who have been connected with former festivals, Director W. R. Chapman has written the following letter to members of the chorus:

"No words can tell you how anxious I am to make this the crowning festival of my life, and I certainly want your help and cooperation more than ever, and I know you will give it to me. I hope if you have not commenced your rehearsals that you will do so at once, for time is short. Remember you have the greatest American prima-donna in Grace Garrison. She is the star soloist of the Worcester Festival this year, and all the other artists are superb. I am very happy to announce that Mme. Reduced rates on all the railroads are assured. Don't forget to look over the Halle-lujah Chorus and my Saneus, as I am anxious to have both of these numbers go well. Please drop me a line at Shelburne, New Hampshire and let me know that you realize the importance of these rehearsals and will commence them at once. You should hold two a week the last two weeks, in order to perfect yourself on the opera."

It's up to you--- FOR Maine or against it?

EVERY dollar that Central Maine Power Company nets from the sale of its 7% Preferred Stock helps to build a power plant—or helps to make that power available along its lines.

A factory comes to your town, attracted there by reliable power at a fair rate—more people, more homes, more pay rolls.

But every dollar which goes into the securities of some out-of-state power company, or industrial, means just the opposite—some other state gets the new industry, more people, more homes, more pay rolls—all at the expense of Maine.

Which dollar then ultimately does the most for you and for the State of Maine—the dollar you invest to draw industries away from Maine or the dollar you invest in a Maine power company to have the necessary power ready for any industry which is looking for a place to locate?

And what Maine power company is doing more to develop this necessary power to have it ready than our own Central Maine Power Company?

Already over 11,900 Maine people are associated with them in this work. These people have received their part of the earnings in the form of dividends four times each year—71 consecutive times in the past 18 years.

If you too can see where it will pay you better to invest in Maine—in a successful and well established Maine hydro-electric company, buy the 7% Preferred Stock of Central Maine Power Company.

The price is $107.50. The yield is 6½% net.

A POTATO SLOGAN

Chance For Boys and Girls To Earn Nice Price By Writing One.

Fifty dollars in cash prizes will be awarded to the three members of the Farm Bureau or Boys' and Girls' Agricultural clubs who submit the best slogans for use in the improved potato seed campaign. First prize will be $25; second, $15; third, $10. The money is being offered by the Maine State Farm Bureau Federation to arouse interest in the campaign and show their staunch backing.

The improved seed campaign is being run in nine counties this coming year for the purpose of encouraging the planting of improved potato seed stock, thereby increasing the yield per acre and reducing the cost of production per barrel and to interest as many farmers as possible in the practice. The advance publicity to advertise this project includes a poster. Now the question is what combination of words will make a slogan for this poster that will encourage the widespread use of improved seed in Maine? The Federation at a recent meeting in Orono, decided that the 13,000 Farm Bureau members and the 2000 club members must have some mighty good thought on the subject. Therefore, the Federation has put it up to these persons offering the above generous prizes. After reading over the conditions governing the contest, as printed below, it is expected that every Farm Bureau and club member will set his thoughts in motion and devise a slogan that will put Maine in the front rank as a producer of improved seed.

Eligibility—Any member of the County Farm Bureau for 1924; any member of a Boys' or Girls' Agricultural club for 1924.

Length of Slogan—The space devoted to the slogan is limited to 23 letters and spaces between words. That means that two words of not more than 22 total letters can be used; three words of not more than 21 letters and so on. Of course the slogan can be shorter than the maximum length.

Time—The contest will close Oct. 10, at which time all contestants must have submitted their slogan to the county agricultural agent. No slogan will be accepted after this date.

Awards—In making the county and State awards, the following standard for scoring will be followed: Originality, 10 points; simplicity, 15 points; conception of purpose as indicated by relationship to the use of improved potato seed, 25 points; appeal 50 points.

In case two or more persons in the county submit the same slogan the first one received will be considered. In case the State slogan selected is submitted by two or more counties the amount of the prize will be divided among the contestants.

O. P. DILDON

Reviews Political Situation and Finds Everybody Is Going To Vote Republican.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Well, it does seem good to get home again. During my absence many changes have come to the great old town—Razorsville by name. I visited Henry Ford and his good wife Elizabeth—Lizzie for short. He said to me: "Say, Dill, as he always calls me, 'why don't you run the old Cadillac into our shops and have water wings put on the old critter, and mud hooks, then you can go anywhere on land or water. Also we will put some windmills and propeller balloons on her and the devil himself couldn't catch you.'"

I talked the political situation over with Henry and Lizzie and I guess I had got home earlier I might have persuaded Lizzie to let Henry run for President, but Henry told me—sort of on the sly when we smoked down back of the shed to smoke, so the wimpy folks wouldn't know it—that Lizzie was a rank Coolidge and Dawes man (woman I mean) and she wanted him to run for something on the Republican side, for she wouldn't want him to run and get beat. Henry and I both knew that it was a Democratic scheme to put his name on the Republican ticket a few weeks ago, just to bother the Republicans and try to start something against them. Henry said:

"Dill, when you get home let me know how politics is getting on down east. 'That Petty-Gall, he says 'seems to be a big bag of wind—he never gets anywhere in his speeches.'"

I says, "Petty-Gall, why he is all gall—that's all there is of him." Henry says, "I thought by what he told them there people at the Democratic National Convention that he was the thing down in Maine all bottled up. Petty-Gall (Henry insisted on calling him by this name) said all he had to do was to get a good jealousy wedge into the Republican camp in Maine, and if he could do that he believed he could win, spite or thunder."

So I determined to start right out for home and see if I could help divide the sub-committees here in Razorsville, but I am like a dog's tail, always behind, for Sam Vanner had been home on his vacation and seen said he knew Cal. Coolidge, and a lot of that stuff, and Sam kept that candy talk going until every darned one, wimpy and men alike, are set on voting the Republican ticket and nothing can undo the mischief now. Sam he got into Sam's end, and some say they think it must have been brandy drops, for it beats the Dutch what that critter done.

I got home just in time to go to Island Park. I wanted to get the thing first-hand, for a good old Democrat said there wouldn't be over a hundred there, only to dinner, and he said they had invited two or three to preside, for it was going to be pretty hard work to get any one to do it—but, gosh, there must have been eight or ten thousand people there, or else I see double. And say, that man Farrington told how he loved Brewster, and Brewster told how he loved Farrington, and honest, I can't see a darned thing of show to get a division started, and I am about sick over it.

A lot of our good honest Democrats must of got into Sam's end, for they say they are going to vote the Republican ticket in September and November. They say like Jim is planning on coming home. If he does I'm going to light out, then when election is over they can't say I voted the Republican ticket, for Solinda says if I vote for Petty-Gall I'll want water wings and mud hooks on myself when I reach her humble sphere. Well, I guess they are about all agin me, except the few true and tried dyed in the wool Democrats. Gosh, I should feel ashamed if I did stay at home and persist in voting the old Democrat ticket.

I haint seen Uncle Major Razer nor Ambrose Davis to find out how they are going to vote, but I met Ian Neilson and old Uncle Swinburn and they said Tim Cunningham and William White told Bill Grotton and Link Leavitt that no matter what anybody said they should vote the Republican ticket. It will have to be practically all cash sales this year election day for John Baily said the cider was about all gone and this home brew and settin'-hen was beginning to be so near sure death and safe liquor had got so high it would be impossible for only a few to get a drink this year.

Well, I told Will Overlock and Major Farrar and Fred Jones that if electin' the Republicans was such a mighty nice thing it would help me just as much as it would them, but I says I'd vote the Democrat ticket if the devil himself was at the head of it.
Hon. O. P. Dildon.

FROM MARBLEHEAD

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
To one who has never visited the famous old town of Marblehead it would indeed be a revelation. The modern craft in the harbor, yachts, motor boats and others, and the modern buildings on Marblehead Neck, give one the impression of a very modern town; but a walk around the town itself will impart a far different impression. As you come into the town you notice a sign-board which reads:

"You are now entering Marblehead. The streets are narrow and crooked. Take due notice thereof and govern yourself accordingly."

The streets—most of them only lanes—run very irregularly everywhere. I have yet to find "the street called Straight." There is certainly a lure to it. Four times within a week I have taken the journey from Somerville to breathe the salt sea air and watch the yachts. Saturday, Aug. 9, there were 227 craft, from 40-footers to skiffs manned by 12 year old boys and girls, sailing at one time. There are several classes of small craft, yachts, brigs, boats, etc. The youngsters are the future yachtsmen of this country. They catch 'em young here and train 'em.

On my trip to Bar Harbor in July I noticed a good-sized steam yacht named the Pastime bound to the westward. She row lies here in Marblehead harbor. This is a great rendezvous for yachts from all over the Atlantic Coast. Bound east or west, they usually put in here.

As I write, I am looking at the Old Burying Ground, 1638. Built upon a rocky hill, it hardly seems as though there were such an old cemetery. Some of the inscriptions upon the slate tomb-stones are entirely in Latin.

Here was formed the first Marine Company in the country, by Capt. John Glover—web-footed soldiers, and now famous the world over.

This is one of the places that must be seen to get an accurate idea of it, so I am now going to watch the yachts race. This finishes my vacation and I must make the most of it.

Marblehead, Mass. Boze.

Robbins Family Held Happy Reunion With Hampton Robbins in Union.

About 40 relatives and friends of the Robbins family found a most hospitable reception at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Robbins in Union, Aug. 19. The day was all that could be desired and everything contributed to make the occasion a perfect success. Many absent ones were missed from this meeting—some were kept at home by illness and others by delayed having, but several new faces were present and many who had not met with the association for a number of years. The distinction of being the oldest member in attendance was accorded to Peter Adams of Danvers, Mass., whose age is 90 years. These family gatherings are especially enjoyable as they bring together many who would not otherwise meet to renew old acquaintance and to form new ties of relationship. At the usual time the tables were spread on the piazza with a bounteous repast including a generous supply of good things furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Robbins. Rev. Hesse F. Crowell invoked divine blessing.
