"PAY IN ADVANCE"

President of Woman's Educational Club Doesn't Mince Dues Question.

Not "Pay As You Go" but "Pay In Advance" is of necessity the rule of the Educational Club, and members are reminded to bear in mind that dues for the coming year must be paid at April 17 meeting and proper advance credit will be given by the faithful treasurer, Miss Alice Hovey, who uncompromisingly and accurately does the bookkeeping freely for this club of over 300 girls and women.

It is lots of bother to collect such a small sum from so many, so please do your part by coming early next time and paying up to date (and ahead as far as you like and as so many have already done).

This club's executive board consisting of Mary Perry Rich, president; Rebecca Ingraham, Clara Spaulding, Nettie Stewart, vice presidents; Winnie Horton, secretary; Alice Hovey, treasurer; and Kitty Coburn, auditor, is seriously considering limiting its future membership, strictly to the 300 who are most prompt to pay their next year's dues.

But if you feel the present dues are too high or that you aren't receiving your money's worth, and if you lack the public spirit to help to maintain an educational agency of which you can't just now fully avail yourself, be sure to drop out and tell the collector that you've "been a member long enough" and "never received much good from it!" This line of talk will put new heart and courage into the workers, who of course all have some base and sinister motive for putting time and effort and money into such a selfish enterprise! Refuse flatly to have one single thing to do with encouraging any club which is so silly and foolish as to persist for five years in furnishing a course of lectures each season from Maine's best State speakers for the extortionate sum of 2½ cents (cents, not dollars!) for each advance for each member! This is a proceeding too imbecile to be tolerated in this money-loving age by practical, sensible people, who have the common sense to realize that a similar, or less amount of time and worry and care and energy put into "something different" would and could be turned into gold—yes, into real American dollars! Anyone visionary and impractical as to undertake and persist in a plan such as the Woman's Educational Clubs, as hitherto conducted—for the purpose of interesting folks in a higher, better and more enlightened, better informed citizenship, to promote a better informed patriotism, as well as a greater interest in world and local affairs—deserves censure and rebuke, deserves to be "turned down" and hard to! Such an idea arouses instant suspicion deservedly, for where does such a plan, one so utterly lacking in shrewdness and foresight, get anybody to pay for the burdens it involves? The wise slogan is "Down with the Educational Club" and sooner the better!

Artemus Ward said, "Nuff said!" The list of numbers on the treasurer's books and receipt stubs for each of the past five years, during this club's existence, is a permanent, unerring record and index as to the promptness with which each member meets her club financial obligations, an ineradicable register.

How about a new vision of individual responsibility?

Mary Perry Rich.

AT THE STATE CAPITOL

Proposition To Pay the State Prisoners Is Defeated—Adjournment Seems To Be Near At Hand.

Augusta, April 8.—Representative Thompson of Rockland took from the table Monday night the act relating to assistance for aged persons under certain conditions and moved its indefinite postponement. Speaking on his motion Representative Thompson stated sarcastically that in the first place the bill does not provide for a stenographer and no bill is a good bill that does not provide for a stenographer at a good salary. Further statements by Mr. Thompson were to the effect that he was against the cost and the main idea of the act which would provide a pension for needy persons over the age of 65 years, under certain conditions.

Wing of Auburn called attention to the wording of the bill which appropriated the sum of $5000, for the year 1925 and the sum of $15,000 for the year 1926, saying that he did not think that this legislature desired to appropriate money for past years.

Representative Holmes said that though he did not wish to table this matter he wished that on account of the lateness of the hour the matter might be set aside till Tuesday.

Representative Thompson stated that this was as good as any time and that the House might vote just as well then as any time in the future.

Representative Holmes argued against the motion for indefinite postponement explained that the seeming error in the bill was probably copied from a similar bill which was presented to the 81st legislature and which was passed by the Senate but failed in the House. He did not think that the error was fatal for the committee had passed the bill without hesitation. Continuing Representative Holmes said: "This is a measure of liberal measure and is almost universally misunderstood because of the application of the term pension which is attached to it. This is not merely a humanitarian measure but also an economic measure and is not new as some would have you think, but has been worked out successfully in Pennsylvania. It will do away with the poorhouses and the almshouses which are not at all economical. These institutions cost the towns and cities a great deal more money than would come out of the passage of this bill. Figures obtained from the State Board of Charities and Corrections show that the average per capita for the 593 persons which are taken care of daily in almshouses of this State amount to $7.02 a week. And these figures are not computed with interest nor with the amount of labor of the paupers. Over a million dollars is tied up in poorhouses and houses and their property in this State.

"Money can be saved," said Mr. Holmes, "to say nothing of saving self respect. The State and municipalities cannot be deceived. We are not pensioning anybody. We are taking care of the aged poor at less cost, probably. We will abolish poorhouses within a few years. We will preserve the self respect and decency of aged people."

Others who favored the bill were Rep. Davitt of Millinocket, who said it was endorsed by labor organizations, and Cummings of Portland, Winn of Lisbon and Stitham of Pittsfield, who said that while the committee on labor was divided on the merits of the pension provision, it was unanimous in voting to submit the bill to the people.

Representative Thompson's motion was carried 64-40.

Representative Thompson also moved indefinite postponement of the bill to allow four-round amateur boxing bouts, with decisions. "I have no personal interest," he said, "but this bill is amendment to a section that comes under the criminal laws. The first two sections apply to assaults and riots. The present law is as strong as it should be."

When the act to prohibit posting of signboards on the highways of the State came from the House, Monday afternoon, the Senate moved to accept the majority, "ought to pass" report of the committee on Judiciary on motion of Senator Hinckley. It was passed to be engrossed and then reconsidered on motion of Senator Maher. Senator Maher said it would prevent political candidates from posting publicly on the highways; prevent Y. M. C. A. and like organizations from advertising special events; and in all was a foolish piece of legislation that the folks back home would not approve of. Senator Hinckley said there were two good reasons for prohibiting such signs, the effort to beautify the State for visitors and aid to prevent traffic accidents.

The House Monday, upon motion of Oakes of Portland, indefinitely postponed the act making it unlawful for any person to have intoxicating liquors in his possession in any public place. The motion to postpone was carried by an overwhelming majority on a voice vote. Winn of Lisbon said that the Legislature should go on record as against any more prohibition laws until such laws as we have are properly enforced. Greenleaf of Auburn said if he was bringing home a bottle of vanilla, to use in baking a cake for the church supper, he would be liable for arrest under such a law. Sturgis of Auburn said that in such a case he would run his chances of being arrested.

The resolve proposing a constitutional amendment, providing for an increase in road bond issues from $10,000,000 to $16,000,000 was tabled in the House, Monday evening, on a voice vote in which there was a scattering of noes.

The minority report, "ought not to pass" was taken up in the House Tuesday upon the act relative to the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy providing that the State accept the provisions of the Sheppard-Towner law passed by Congress. Mrs. Allen of Hampden, the only woman legislator, spoke for the acceptance of the minority report, "ought not to pass" and said this is the same kind of a measure which was vetoed two years ago by Gov. Baxter. "What is money received from the Federal government compared to a home of your own, undisturbed by Federal interference?" Mrs. Allen asked. "What control does a mother have over her children? If we pass this act we are starting in to control the child before it is born." There was a long debate upon the measure.

Senator Holley of Somerset took the committee reports on the bill from the table and moved to accept the divided report, "ought to pass," signed by five members, including himself, of the taxation committee. He explained the act, which grants additional powers to the State Board of Assessors. On a voice vote, the bill was postponed.

The so-called intangible tax bill was indefinitely postponed in the Senate Monday, on motion of Hinckley of Cumberland.

By a vote of 15 to 5, the Senate refused to join the House in the indefinite postponement of the resolve in favor of an amendment to the Constitution of the United States to prohibit the employment of women and minors in industry more than 48 hours per week. The resolve was then passed to be engrossed on motion of Sen. Smith of Somerset. The 48-hour law, which was passed to be engrossed in the Senate in non-concurrence with the House, was returned to the House on Monday night. Holmes of Lewiston moved that the House insist in its former action which was indefinite postponement and ask for a committee of conference.

Hale of Portland moved that the House adhere to its former motion, which would have the same effect as indefinite postponement. This motion carried without a dissenting vote.

The co-operative marketing bill was passed to be engrossed in the Senate Monday without debate.

On motion of Senator Foster, supported by Senator Carter, the Senate reconsidered its vote to concur with the House in the indefinite postponement of the bill permitting the pensioning of treasurers and assistant treasurers, savings banks, and money market for a committee of conference.

Hale of Portland moved that the House adhere to its former motion, which would have the same effect as indefinite postponement. This motion carried without a dissenting vote.

The Senate again insisted on its action to pass the act authorizing certain persons to represent this State in hearings on proposed changes in freight rates and for the second time appointed a committee of conference.

On motion of Oakes of Portland, the bill relating to amateur boxing contests was tabled pending consideration of another bill relating to a State Athletic Commission.

Without a dissenting vote, the House, Monday night concurred with the Senate in the indefinite postponement of the intangible tax bill. The motion to do so was made by Holmes of Lewiston after a motion to table by Leland of Sangerville had failed to carry.

The Senate gave final passage to the emergency act relating to application for licenses to buy or extend wharves or fish wharves by a vote of 25 to 0, and also finally passed the act to incorporate the Personal Finance Company.

Total appropriations of $82,200 for the first year and $61,200 for the second year, of the next two fiscal years, are being asked for the maintenance of the academies of the State. The committee on Education has reported "ought to pass" on a blanket resolve. George Stevens Academy at Bluehill asks for $1,200 for each of the next two years; Lincoln Academy at Newcastle asks for $500 for the first year and $1,000 for the second year.

The Senate, Tuesday afternoon by a vote of 18 to 8 accepted the minority report of the committee on banks and banking, "ought not to pass" on the act to include contracts for fur bearing animals within the provisions of the so-called Blue Sky Law.

The act providing pension for treasurers and assistant treasurers of savings banks, repealed the last Tuesday, having been killed by the House and Senate.

The Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court returned to the Legislature Tuesday the questions propounded to them on March 23 regarding the rights of citizens of the State to go on the unenclosed woodlands of another without his leave to hunt and fish or for any other purpose, to cross such lands to fish or fowl, and to camp temporarily on such lands, without answer. The justices say the questions are important but the situation outlined does not constitute a solemn occasion.

A new draft of the act creating the Maine Power Authority and defining its duties, introduced by Representative Norwood of Warren, is a measure of more or less interest.

The new draft created the Maine Power Authority and vests with it the to all the power resources available for the generation of hydro-electric energy in or upon the St.

Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell who on oath declares that he is president in the office of The Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of April 7, 1925, there was printed a total of 6,380 copies.
Before me, FRANK R. MILLER,
Notary Public.

A particularly valuable chapter of Mr. Flint's "memories" is printed in this issue, presenting as it does a personal story connected with the first real attempt to bring about an international agreement for peace. The credit for this momentous bit of diplomacy belongs to James G. Blaine, and if for no other reason, the future historian will be bound to write the word Statesman after his name. The vision of the man from Maine is shown in his invitation to the conference, in which he said: "It's sole aim shall be to seek a way of permanently averting the horrors of cruel and bloody combat between countries or even the worse calamity of internal commotion and civil strife; that it shall regard the burdensome and far-reaching consequences of such struggles; exhausted finances, oppressive debt, onerous taxation, ruined cities, paralyzed industries, devastated fields, ruthless conscription, the slaughter of men, the grief of the widow and orphan; with a legacy of embittered resentments that long survive those who provoked them and heavily afflict the innocent generations that come after." In these later days such aspirations find echo on every side; but thirty-four years ago, when Blaine boldly gave utterance to them, all the world was steeped in the policy of war. His was the bugle call of a prophet and a leader of men.

Has the poor man no opportunities in this country? The sensational speaker and newspapers love to declare that he is under the heel of the men who through success have become wealthy. But arguments upon the other side are numerous and convincing. A writer presents one of them in the case of Roland Hayes, the sensational negro singer, a laundry boy whose mother was a slave, but who has reached the heights of a great art and become one of the most popular singers in the world. Inequalities of life are inherent in human nature and will exist in spite of the most highly paternalistic government. The socialistic idea that all that is necessary is to pass more laws and take wealth from those who have and give to those who have not will never create the utopia of human equality. All over our country are men and women, who like the negro laundry boy are overcoming handicaps of poverty, ignorance, racial inequality, social ostracism by their native ability, capacity for work, endurance and character. Individual effort helped Roland Hayes to scale the heights of success, and the door of opportunity still opens freely to those who knock. Preaching discontent to bring about class conflict and social revolution will probably continue to be the favorite and profitable occupation of demagogues.

It is a pleasure to record that the only woman member of the Maine Legislature should declare herself in emphatic disapproval of the provisions of the Sheppard-Towner law, which Congress enacted and Maine is asked to adopt—the so-called maternity act which Gov. Baxter two years ago vetoed. We hope if the bill unfortunately gets favorable action at the hands of the present Legislature it may receive a similar veto by Gov. Brewster. It forges one more chain to fasten Maine to the chariot wheels of the government at Washington and for that if no other reason it should receive defeat. This bright Hampden woman, Mrs. Allen, attacking the measure on the floor of the House, wanted to know: "What is money received from the Federal government compared to a home of your own, undisturbed by Federal interference?" she added with keenness of perception, discussing other features of the act. "What control does a mother have over her children? If we pass this act we are starting in to control the child before it is born."

There are no better spots in Maine for summer camps for girls and boys than the picturesque regions of Knox County supply. It is good news that Phil Jones is to run such a camp for boys, under the shadow of Hatchet Mountain. If there is any man in the world capable of doing the highest good to boys in such a connection we should think it was this popular and efficient physical director of the Rockland public schools.

More Criminal Work Presented Than Was First Thought—The Elks Win a Verdict in the Circus Case.

The traverse juries organized Tuesday with Dexter Simmons of Rockland and Bowdoin Leimond of Thomaston as foremen. Frank M. Payson of Hope was excused temporarily and Llewellyn C. Ames of Rockland, Chester J. Melvin of Rockport, Albert V. McIntyre of Warren and Frank L. Newbert of Rockland were excused finally. The two juries are made up thus:

First Jury—Dexter Simmons, foreman, Rockland; John H. Andrews, Rockport; Mrs. Annie Burton, South Thomaston; James L. Curtis, Rockland; Camden; James L. Curtis, Rockland; Irvin A. Grant, North Haven; Henry Jones, Thomaston; Elden E. Madocks, Appleton; Charles Montgomery, Oxb's Head; Frank M. Payson, Hope; Randall Robins, Union; Richard R. Babbidge, Rockland.

Second Jury—Bowdoin A. Leimond, foreman, Thomaston; Riley W. Davis, Cushing; James L. Dodge, Isle au Haut; Walter Dorgan, Rockland; Sidney Dow, St. George; Frank W. Hopkins, Vinhaven; Arthur W. Marsh, Rockland; George L. Newcomb, Warren; George Pottle, Friendship; Daniel D. Weaver, Washington; Carl C. Whitehouse, Camden; Walter L. Young, Vinhaven.

The excusing of so many jurors left but two on the supernumerary list—Leon Crockett of Camden and Albert Simmons of St. George. On special venire the following additional jurors were drawn: William A. Blake, Charles E. Rhodes, F. Winfred Robbins, Percy L. Small and Laurence Smith—all of Rockport.

Among the attorneys present on the opening day are two who do not belong to the Knox Bar, but who enjoy a state-wide reputation—Col. George E. Fogg and James T. Williams. J. H. Montgomery, president of the Bar, was one of the first to make his appearance in the attorney's room, a statement which would be close to the truth for about 150 terms. Col. E. K. Gould convalescing from a gripe attack was downtown for the first time.

The calling of the docket resulted in 12 assigned cases and 11 were placed on the unassigned list. The impressive prevailed, however, that there would not be many actual trials. There were 41 new entries.

The following divorce entries, additional to our Tuesday issue, have been made:

Dorothy Cain of Rockport from Edie R. Cain of Rockport, married at Camden April 29, 1924, cause of complaint, cruel and abusive treatment. Libellant asks for custody of minor children, Harold L. Helen C. Oswald and Elizabeth R. Threlk of libellant.

Eddie R. Cain of Rockport from Dorris G. Cain of Rockport, married at Rockport, April 29, 1924, cause of complaint, cruel and abusive treatment and adultery. Montgomery for libellant.

Obed H. Muller of Camden from Sarah F. Muller of Seabrook, married at Union, March 4, 1923, cause of complaint, cruel and abusive treatment. Montgomery for libellant.

Harold L. Steison of Thomaston from Leone S. Steison of Thomaston, married at Rockland, Sept. 15, 1917, cause of complaint, cruel and abusive treatment. Libellant asks for custody of minor children, Harold L. Helen C. Oswald and Elizabeth R. Threlk of libellant.

The first civil case to be tried was that of the New England Fair & Carnival Co. vs. Rockland Lodge No. 1008 B. P. O. E., and was opened to a drawn jury with Bowdoin Leimond of Thomaston as foreman. The Carnival Company sought to recover $858.88 on a bill of merchandise which it sold to the Elks during carnival or circus week. The plaintiffs operate a specialty house, selling candies and other articles for affairs of this kind. The goods sent for the Rockland circus were consigned to the company itself, and an agent was sent here to receive them.

Boys' interclass basketball opened Tuesday night with two snappy games, the Seniors beating the Freshmen 8 to 5 and the Juniors stealing a 13-10 march on the Sophomores. Probably young Marsh featured the Senior-Freshman mill, upsetting the aged ones at will and almost making possible a victory for the youngsters. Orne was the outstanding figure of the Junior-Sophomore tussle not only securing a majority of the points but showing an accuracy and speed that promises well for the future. Violet was picked yesterday on a Claremont street banking.

Manager Joseph Dondis of Strand Theatre has been in Boston this week.

Knox Lodge of Odd Fellows will have work on the initiatory degree next Monday night.

Rev. Fr. J. A. Flynn of St. Bernard's Church is attending the Holy Thursday services in Portland.

Roger Ludwig has a new position with the Knox Woolen Co., Camden, where he has charge of the stock department.

Floyd N. Henner of Thomaston has been serving on the grand jury at the April term of U. S. District Court in Portland this week.

Gen. George W. Goethals returned to New York Tuesday afternoon. He was in his usual uncommunicative mood as to the nature of his errand down in this neck of the woods.

Nathan, Flanders after spending the winter in this city, has gone to Waldoboro to his old home and to see his brother William Flanders at North Waldoboro, who is very sick.

Anthony Smalley's restaurant on Myrtle street has been in the hands of painters this week and now presents a much more attractive appearance. And the patrons are not unmindful of that new door latch.

A plugged sewer has been leading workmen a strenuous chase in the basement of the Court House. The excavations would remind one of scientific operations in King Tut's tomb.

Members of the James F. Sears Hose Co. have been highly encouraged this week by the success of their ticket sale for the levee which will be held in Waverlet hall one week from tonight. Twenty-six, excepting the five southerners are to give. The Rockland Band of 20 pieces will foot it up for the parade.

The fire department was called to the "Golf Links" on Winter street yesterday afternoon by a grass fire which was being bristly fanned by the heavy breeze. The course was pretty well burned over, and will be in fine shape when the season really opens. Quite a number of dead soldiers were found among the ruins.

Dr. C. H. Jameson, late of the Silas Hospital, is to have the Dr. A. K. P. Harvey offices in the Camden & Rockland Water Co.'s building during the next two months, pending the completion of his new offices over The Courier-Gazette office. He announces office hours from 2 to 4 p. m. and by appointment. Dr. Harvey is to relinquish active practice during the summer, and will take a rest which is much required.

The sardine season opens next Wednesday, but it will be quite late in the season before operations begin locally, owing to the fact that a considerable portion of last season's pack in this State remains unsold. A Portland newspaper says: "It is thought only a small quantity is likely to be left over by the first of May." A year ago opening prices paid the fishermen at the eastward was $12 a hoghead, but this was cut to $6 by the East Coast cannery a little later in the season. It is generally believed that the opening price this year will be $10 in Canadian waters, where the bulk of the fish will be caught. There are 46 sardine factories on the Maine coast, and indications point to a heavier pack this season than that of 1924.

Claremont Commandery, K. T., will attend divine services at the Universalist church Sunday forenoon and have invited all Masons in the city to accompany them. The members of Aurora and Rockland lodges are requested to be at the Temple at 9.30 a. m. sharp for that purpose.

A Lewiston Journal "State Chat" item says: "Adella F. Venzie is running a Nature Column in the Rockland and Courier-Gazette, which is being more and more widely read. Her problems a-field are often interesting. Last week's letter was mostly on 'creeping things' however—a rather interesting defense of snakes."

Charles A. Thomas, a former well known Rockland resident, who during the last of his residence in this city, was proprietor of the Lindsey House, died April 6 in Dorchester, Mass., at the age of 73 years. He is survived by two sons, Guy and William Thomas and one daughter, Mrs. Clara McLeod, with whom he was making his home.

Last evening ushered in the Feast of Passover, which will be observed by the Jewish people the world over. According to the ordinance of the Bible the festival is to last seven days, only the first and the seventh to be kept "holy" by total abstention from labor. Orthodox Jews, however, observe the festival for eight days, the first two days and the last two days being considered "holy."

A Grand Lodge certificate belonging to Martin Schmidt of Aurora Lodge, F. & A. M., has been forwarded to Secretary A. H. Newbert, by Charles B. Davis, grand secretary of the Grand Lodge. Mr. Davis writes that it was picked up on the Dutch steamer "Commewijne" by the first officer of that boat, who happened to be a member of Iquiduld Lodge, No. 523 of Curacao, Dutch West Indies, a lodge legally constituted and working under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of England. The certificate was given to the secretary of that lodge, who, with a very kind and courteous letter, forwarded it to Secretary Davis, with a view to having it returned to its rightful owner. Secretary Newbert learns that Mr. Schmidt is at present in South America, and will take steps to have the certificate forwarded to him.

Col. George E. Fog of Portland, commanding the 240th Coast Artillery, inspected the Camden battery Tuesday night, the Rockland battery last night and will pay a similar visit to the Thomaston battery tonight. He found the personnel of the Camden company in good shape, with well trained men in the key positions. Captain Brown's Rockland organization also impressed him most favorably. "The Coast Artillery has shown a decided improvement in the past three years, both in members and interest," Col. Fog told a Courier-Gazette reporter, "and is rapidly coming to the point of efficiency that the national authorities desire. The government is leaning more and more on the National Guard, and under the national defense act is now in the first line of defense. It must be mobilized and be in readiness at the same time as the standing army. The 240th Coast Artillery goes into camp at Fort Williams July 6 for 15 days." Col. Fog is accompanied on his present tour by Lieut. Robert De Meritt of the regular army.

CARRY AWAY TEN

Federal Officers Make a Quiet Visit and Get a Full Game Bag.

Shipping one across on the prohibition officers is not always as easy as it looks, and strangers are not always what they seem. These are the lessons learned by last night's round-up in this city, as the result of which 10 residents are today making a personally conducted trip to Portland. The "conductor" is Deputy U. S. Marshal Simeon Harriman. The persons who will leave on the 1.10 train this afternoon in his custody are: William Armstrong, William Hall, Andrew Shea, Harvey Cline, Daisy Lewis, Mabel Hamar, Charles Robinson, Roland Gilchrist, Frank Powers, Albert Forrester. The above are charged with violations of the national prohibitory act, and will be arraigned in Federal Court, Portland next week.

"Put a penny on the drum and I'll see that it is saved," said Mrs. R. L. Knowlton yesterday in referring to the Jazzman's dance which is to be given at the Thorndike Hotel Monday night to provide funds for a piano in the new High School gymnasium. "Do you know we don't have to pay for anything for this dance. The hotel is free, the 14-piece orchestra too. Mr. Fickett is giving the use of a piano, Phil Jones is to sing, Adelaide Cross dance and the Flanagan sextette do a number as well as a contribution by the Aylward-Curtis-Saville trio, all for nothing. We are going to sell cake and candy and dance to that jazzman's music."

Commencing tonight there will be a rearrangement of beats in the police department. Deputy Marshal W. J. Fernald will retain his present route—Elm street to Masonic Temple with station duty. Patrolman E. U. Price exchanges with Patrolman Stetson, covering the beat from Berry Engine House to Maverick Square from 6 a. m. to 5.30 p. m.; Patrolman Charles S. Stetson, going on at 11.30 a. m. and off at 11 p. m. will have the Point section until 5 p. m., and then from Masonic Temple to Rankin block; Patrolman Alfred B. Lami will have the North beat from Elm street South; Patrolman Harold Phillips will have the North beat from Rankin block north; Patrolman J. Raymond Fogarty will substitute for the regulars on off nights and will be an extra Saturday night.

The Easter circle supper at the Methodist vestry last night had a very large patronage and was a decided credit to the housekeepers as to quality of food and excellence of service. An event not down on the program was the presentation of a handsome wedding cake to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gregory, who were observed serving their 17th anniversary. The cake was made and presented by Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory and was viewed by many pairs of admiring eyes. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory were also presented with a bouquet of jonquils.

It is the first time the Appersons have attempted this type of motor car, but have "struck 12" as usual. The car is a straightaway eight, with balloon tires, four-wheel brakes, disc wheels and the complete equipment that goes with a modern car. It is painted dark blue, and is a beauty with the price $2825, delivered.

COURIER-GAZETTE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square in the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white spaces to the next black square below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

This village has lost another old resident, neighbor, friend and associate in the death of Mrs. Mary Catherine (Porter) widow of the late William McLaughlin, who died in Rockland, March 31, at the home of Mrs. McFadden who had been caring for her. She was born in this place 78 years ago and had always lived here. A good woman respected by all, a kind friend and neighbor, a faithful wife and mother, who will be missed in this community whose old residents are passing out one by one into that unknown land where none return. Funeral services were held at the church here conducted by Rev. J. P. Browne of the First Baptist church of Rockland.

Visited by one Mr. Frank McLaughlin of New London, Conn., who with his wife and daughter were here to attend the funeral. She is also survived by a brother, Charles Porter, a resident of Rockville. Flowers, beautiful emblems of love and respect, covered the casket where she slept so quietly. Interment was in the family lot, Rockville cemetery.

"Men and Ships and Sealing Wax"—The Story of a Thomaston Boy Who Made Good.

(By Charles R. Flint)

Chapter XI—Pan-American Diplomacy

In 1889 the Harrison Administration invited the independent nations of the western hemisphere to send delegates to an International American Conference to be held in Washington for the purpose of cementing diplomatic and political relations and extending commercial and financial relations among the conferring nations.

The United States delegates to the Conference were U. S. Senators Davis and Henderson, William Henry Trescott, T. Jefferson Coolidge, Cornelius N. Bliss, Andrew Carnegie, Clem Studebaker, George H. Hanson, Morris M. Estee and myself. I was the youngest delegate to the conference, having been appointed on account of my seventeen years' active experience in international trade. The official name of the conference was the International American, but it became popularly known as the Pan-American Conference. Congress appropriated $100,000 to cover expenses, and the Wallack Mansion was rented for our use.

The first important matter requiring official action was the election of a president. A few days before the date of the official opening, all of the delegates assembled at the Wallack Mansion. While we were talking informally in groups, Mr. Trescott came to me and suggested that the United States delegates should retire in order that the Latin-American might meet by themselves. I replied: "As we are meeting on the basis of equality and fraternity, I see no reason for separate meetings." Mr. Trescott then told the other United States delegates and me that the Latin-Americans had requested this privilege.

An intimate friend, a Latin-American delegate, warned me that the idea of electing Trescott president of the conference was taking shape. It seemed that something was up.

JOHN F. HALCROW, of Portland, Me., who was almost a physical wreck when he began taking Karnak, declares he is now in perfect health from head to foot.

The ravaging effects of indigestion on the system and the quick and thorough way in which the famous new medicine, Karnak, overcomes this health-wrecking trouble and restores one to a condition of healthy vitality and vigor is forcefully demonstrated in the case of Mr. John F. Halcrow, 26 Locust St., Portland, Me.

"I am more than glad to give Karnak my unqualified endorsement," states Mr. Halcrow, "for, thanks to this new medicine, I am now able to eat a good square meal and not suffer torment afterwards. Before I got hold of Karnak my stomach was in such a terrible condition I would become nauseated after meal-time and I could scarcely retain a thing on my stomach, and was just miserable from bloating. I had such awful bilious spells that my head felt like it would burst, and I had to be always taking strong physics for constipation."

"I hadn't taken two bottles of Karnak before I was eating hearty and without a particle of trouble. I haven't had a bilious attack since I started on Karnak, don't have to take any more physics, and feel fine from head to foot."

Karnak is sold in Rockland exclusively by the Corner Drug Store, in Thomaston by McDonald's, Hoxall Store, in Union by Gordon-Lovejoy Co.; and by the leading druggist in every city.—adv.

election, which is that he has not been appointed a delegate to the conference."

"Yes," they replied, "that is our only objection."

"I will settle this difference," I quickly said. "I am the youngest member of the United States delegation; I will resign tonight and Secretary Blaine will be appointed a delegate so that he can be unanimously elected president of the conference at the meeting tomorrow."

I had worked hard and against many aspirants for the honor of being a delegate of the United States to this conference, and when I made that proposition I felt I was making a great personal sacrifice. But I had in mind that Dr. Quintana had admired a black pearl I had worn. As is the custom between Spanish gentlemen, I had said, "It is yours." And, like a true Hidalgo, he had returned it to me. When I offered to resign Dr. Quintana, high spirited Spanish gentleman that he was, handed me back my "verbal pearl."

"We have come eight thousand miles," he said, "to attend the first meeting of this conference and we know that another meeting is not to be held for two months, but rather than have you, a friend of Latin America, resign, we will be too late tomorrow to attend the conference. Then Secretary Blaine can be elected president, unanimously, and you can remain as United States delegate."

Before this I had had only one interview with Secretary Blaine, but when the other United States delegates told him of this incident, I naturally brought about an entente cordiale between Secretary Blaine and myself, and from that time on, although I had been appointed as a Tilden Democrat, I enjoyed his entire confidence.

The day after Blaine's election he asked me to call at what was known as the Red House, in contradistinction to the White House.

"The most serious purpose of my life," he told me, "has been the creation of means to prevent war, and now the height of my ambition is to bring about the celebration of a treaty by which all inter-American disputes will be settled by arbitration."

He added that within a few days he would formulate such a treaty, which he had every reason to expect would be adopted by the conference.

In reviewing the history of the efforts which had been made to bring about international arbitration, I found that in 1881—eighteen years before the establishment of the Hague Tribunal—Blaine, then Secretary of State, foreseeing the danger of industrial greed, initiated a movement to bring about precisely such a world court.

Realizing that America should take the lead in this, as she had in the development of representative government, Blaine had sent invitations to the American nations to participate in a general peace conference. He seemed to have a vision of the frightfulness of a world war and its calamitous consequences, which he expressed in his invitation, written thirty-three years before the world war, defining the purposes of the conference.

"Its sole aim shall be to seek a way of permanently averting the horrors of cruel and bloody combat between countries, or even the worst calamity of internal commotion and civil strife; that it shall regard the burdensome and far-reaching consequences of such struggles; exhausted finances, oppressive debt, enormous taxation, ruined cities, paralyzed industries, devastated fields, ruthless conscription, the slaughter of men, the grief of the widow and orphan; with a legacy of embittered resentments, that long survive those who provoked them and heavily afflict the innocent generations that come after."

Unfortunately Blaine was succeeded by a Secretary of State who withdrew this invitation, so the International American Conference of 1889-90 came to Blaine as a long awaited opportunity and he felt that the practical operation of an inter-American arbitration treaty would prove an object lesson to the old world.

Realizing the dangers of competitive armaments, Blaine was never deceived by the propagandist argument of the European munitions profiteers that increasing military power is a guarantee against war.

After a few days, I again called on Secretary Blaine and he handed me his proposed Inter-American Arbitration treaty to read.

The treaty suffered the usual fate of being translated literally into Spanish for the benefit of the Latin-American delegates, which eliminated all of the genius of expression which Blaine had put into it. Very naturally the eloquent rhetoricians among the Latin-Americans, having only the Spanish translation, felt that Blaine had not done the subject full justice, and they drew up a treaty in Spanish, of course a very creditable document, but, which, on being turned over to the official

Traveling Man Finds Priest's Remedy a Necessity While On the Road

41 Dwight St.,
Dedham, Mass.,
Jan. 1, 1924.

Mr. R. K. Priest,
Priest Drug Co.,
Bangor, Maine.

Dear Sir:

I desire to express a word of appreciation for your wonderful indigestion powder.

On several occasions in years past I have found relief from a very uncomfortable and annoying condition of the stomach and digestive organs brought on and aggravated by constant changing of food such as is inevitable when one is traveling about ten months in the year.

I had not been troubled in this respect for over a year until recently when I suddenly noticed a recurrence of the old complaint.

Nothing seemed to give me much relief although I tried several so-called "cures" and also several prescriptions from reputable physicians.

Finally I recalled having used your indigestion powder with success before and I was fortunate enough to locate a bottle of it in Boston.

The results were immediately and emphatically gratifying and I shall take good care to keep some of the powder in my grip from now on.

Gratefully yours,

G. J. Corbett.

translators, met the same fate as the Blaine draft, being robbed of its eloquence when reduced from Spanish to English.

Dr. Mendonca, the Brazilian Minister, and I took this English translation to Secretary Blaine at the Red House. Dr. Mendonca was a loyal friend of the United States and was treated by Secretary Blaine with great frankness. Blaine did not hesitate to show before us his disgust at this translated copy. He tore it into bits and threw it up in the air. But that was only an incident.

Most of the delegates represented in the conference, appreciating the generosity of the United States in subordinating its superior power to arbitration, and foreseeing the great benefits to be gained, expressed their desire to enter into the treaty; but the signature of Chile was necessary for its execution.

Now the Chilean delegates had in general favored arbitration, but unexpectedly, the junior member of the delegation announced in a long speech that Chile would not sign the treaty at this time. The Chileans realized that such an agreement would fix territorial boundaries in the Americas, and might interfere with plans to unite Chile with land recently won by conquest from Peru by annexing a portion of Bolivia.

Secretary Blaine, presiding, ordered a recess. I went to him to ascertain his views regarding the unfortunate refusal of Chile to sign the arbitration treaty. He told me that Blaine had been of opinion that Chile had been sense of humor to which, like Lincoln, he often had recourse in illustrating the true inwardness of political situations.

"Flint," he said, "I am reminded of the position finally taken by Isaiah Smith of Augusta at a revival meeting. Isaiah listened to the fervent evangelist night after night until he took a seat under the pulpit, and at last declared to a friend: 'I've made up my mind to line the church, but as I have a woman scrape on hand, I don't want to line just yet!'"

That evening the Chilean delegates invited me to dinner, and were anxious to obtain from me the views of my government as to the refusal of Chile to sign. I said I would state its views provided they would agree to cable them to their Minister of Foreign Affairs in the exact words of our Secretary of State. This they promised to do—so that Blaine's illustration may now be solemnly posing in the archives of the Chilean Government!

The itinerary of the 5200 mile trip made by the delegates included three days in Chicago. On our arrival at the railway station, guns boomed and a regiment of soldiers escorted us to the Grand Pacific Hotel where the Mayor delivered an address of welcome. After that we were taken in charge by a reception committee composed of prominent citizens. It was manifest to me that, while Chicago in any event would have entertained the representatives of the nations of the Americas most generously, our hosts were not neglecting the occasion to further their claims that Chicago was the best place in which to hold the World's Fair in 1893. The delegates were entertained privately by the members of different committees, much champagne was opened, and late suppers were enjoyed, always with the hope that one of the Latin-Americans would express his opinion that Chicago was the ideal place for the World's Fair. But my Latin-American colleagues were all experienced diplomats and they dodged every trap that was designed to evoke from them any expression of opinion regarding the purely domestic question in which their Chicago hosts were interested.

The Chicago entertainment ended with a great banquet at which I spoke as the United States delegate to the conference. My speech dealt with the proposed inter-continental railway, with the unification of the customs regulations, and with the establishment of inter-American arbitration. It was not until I neared the close of my speech that I took advantage of the anxiety of the Chicago Committee to get an expression of opinion regarding the World's Fair. Feeling my way, I made the commonplace remark that while we had had an excellent opportunity of forming an opinion as to the manufacturing industries of the United States, the best opportunity of judging the products of our farms and factories would be at the World's Fair in 1893. This commonplace reference provoked applause. As soon as the diners became quiet, I ventured the statement: "All of the men with whom I have talked seem to think that the best place in which to hold the World's Fair in 1893 is the City of Chicago!"

The audience went wild, they rose and waved their napkins, and the Chairman of the World's Fair Committee stood on his chair and proposed three cheers for the Honorable Charles R. Flint! I then held up my hand and said: "A moment, gentlemen, I desire to explain. I have talked with only three on the subject and they all live in Chicago."

This was followed by much groaning. I then proposed a toast, having in mind the fact that the Latin-American delegates had accepted the invitation of the United States to meet us at the conference in Washington as a demonstration of good will, that Inter-American peace was to be assured by a treaty of arbitration, that the great constellation in the heavens of South America stood for that sentiment, and remembering that the Latin-American nations had modeled their constitutions and forms of government after their Big Brother of the North, and that the best known constellation of the North was called Great Bear, I proposed a toast in Spanish: "El Cruz del Sur—emblema de Paz y Concordia la Estrella del norte—un guía seguro." Following in English: "The Southern Cross—Emblem of peace and good will; the North Star—a sure guide."

James G. Blaine, while a man of remarkable ability, did not have a command of the English language. Webster and Grover Cleveland. He was, however, impressive, and magnetic. He had a genial nature, was tactful, and had a wonderful memory which enabled him to recall names of persons and incidents of special interest to his listener. He had a fine sense of humor, and I found it a great pleasure to work with him. And he assumed that he would sometimes read between the lines!

At one time Blaine was being attacked by the New York Times. I told Mr. Blaine that I was on good terms with its editor and that I thought I could exert some influence in causing the newspaper to be more careful in the attacks that it was making on him, to which Blaine quickly replied: "Don't take the trouble, Flint, I don't mind being abused so long as I am not forgotten."

It was the irony of fate that Chile, the one country which refused to sign at the International American Conference, should be the first South American nation to need the benefit of arbitration. Early in 1892 some citizens of Valparaiso assaulted the crew of the U. S. Cruiser Baltimore. "Fighting Bob" Evans was in command, and when he learned of the outrage he remarked: "This may end in a row; but if they fire on my ship all hell will smell of garlic."

Shortly after this Mr. Blaine telegraphed me, asking if it would be convenient for me to come to Washington. On my arrival I went to the Hotel Hamilton. To my surprise he did not specifically explain the object of his telegram.

He merely said, "It is unfortunate that the President is writing a message to send to Congress, bulldozing the little republic of Chile, which will have a very bad effect on all the Latin-American states and to a large extent will nullify the work of the International American Conference in furthering friendly relations with the Latin-American countries."

There was no question as to the soundness of Blaine's views. Also there was no question but that President Harrison intended to follow his own.

I realized the delicacy of Blaine's situation, and bade him good morning. I knew he had said all that he could say. From the Red House I went to the Brazilian legation where I told Dr. Mendonca, the Brazilian Minister, of the proposed message of President Harrison, and suggested to him that it was his duty, with his complete knowledge of Inter-American politics, to send a cable advising his Government to offer mediation between Chile and the United States.

Mendonca replied: "It is the invaluable rule that before a Minister sends a cable of that character he must receive the approval of the Government to which he is accredited."

I told him that I was familiar with that fact, but there had been cases where strong able men had made exceptions to the rule.

"This is your opportunity," I pointed out, "you can render a service not only to Brazil but to all the nations of the Americas."

He finally asked me to write out a message that I would recommend him to send, which I did, as follows: "War possible between Chile and United States unless Brazil offers mediation to both countries in order to settle matters by arbitration in accordance with existing American international law."

The cable went out. And of course Blaine knew about it. He then called President Harrison's attention to his address as Secretary of State to the Latin-American delegates in closing the conference.

In these closing hours the Conference had but one duty to perform, we should dare call the world's attention to the deliberate, confident, solemn dedication of two great continents to peace and to the prosperity which has peace for its foundation."

The differences between the United States and Chile, which Blaine called "our younger sister," were finally removed without the employment of menace or force.

COMEDY and KINOGRAMS

STRAND THEATRE

The famous comedy "Listen Lester" heads today's bill although there are really two features, both of which you will like. "Listen Lester" concerns a phantasmagoric millionaire and the trailing Arbutus. The millionaire has left some dangerous letters in the hands of this siren and the plot is devoted largely to the love affairs of two couples and the comic efforts to recover the letters. The mixtures change hands at least fifty times and there seems to be a different formula for exchanging them on every occasion. It is this freshness and originality that keeps the picture so constantly funny. There is just enough serious love making in the pictures to add the element of romance without which no film is complete.

The companion feature introduces our old friend, Franklyn Farnum in "The Fire-Brand," a live picture for live people.

The Friday and Saturday feature is "The Sword of Valor," starring Snowy Baker, whose deeds are always the personification of valor. This is one of his best pictures.—adv.
