BELFAST RELUCTANT

To Release Supt. E. E. Roderick—A Week's Consideration.

A Belfast correspondent has this to say about Edward E. Roderick, who has just been elected superintendent of Rockland and Rockport schools:

At a meeting of the Belfast school board Monday night the members failed to come to any agreement as to the release of Supt. Edward E. Roderick, whose term expires, under a verbal agreement, next June, but who has tendered his resignation asking to be released having been offered a position in Rockland. The board adjourned to next Monday night when the matter will be decided.

Mr. Roderick has been with the Belfast schools eight years and his going will be a distinct loss to the city and rural schools but his friends are, on the other hand, pleased that he should have such an offer from the Limerick City, which came to him utterly unsolicited, he having stated that he was not a candidate. There were many applicants for the position it is said, but the choice was Mr. Roderick. His work with the Belfast-Searsport union has attracted a Statewide attention and Belfast will feel the loss keenly, if he is released.

The school board regrets deeply that this situation has arisen and dislikes very much to release Mr. Roderick at this time as he is under agreement to remain until next June, the end of the school year, and it is in hopes that in the week's interval he will have time to reconsider the matter and withdraw his resignation.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters will meet with Mrs. Nellie Lurvey, 22 Scott street, Monday evening. All past chiefs who haven't already joined are invited to attend.

THE STATE PRISON EPISODE

As Set Forth In Affidavits of Officials—"Discipline Worst For Years"—"Gambling, Intoxication, Narcotics"—Officials Threatened—Religious Favoritism Alleged.

The sensational charges in regard to the Thomaston State Prison, embodied in Gov. Brewster's communication to the Executive Council, and the prompt decision of the Council to make a thorough investigation, is today the subject of statewide discussion and the opinion is virtually unanimous that if the picture is as bad as it has been painted by the State's Chief Executive, that vigorous measures should be adopted to remedy the alleged evils.

Thus far only one side of the case has been presented—a powerful arraignment, to be sure—backed by the affidavits of officials who ought to be in a position to know whereof they speak.

In justice to all concerned, however, it would seem to be good judgment on the public's part to maintain an open mind until the charges have been thoroughly sifted. If the conditions constitute a public menace something should and will be done, but in fixing the responsibility it will be well to avoid snap judgment and hysterical action.

Warden Lester D. Eaton was asked yesterday by The Courier-Gazette if he cared to make a statement in regard to the charges.

"Not now," was his reply.

The alleged prison expose was given to the public yesterday through the medium of the following newspaper story embodying Gov. Brewster's charges.

A condition of affairs in the Maine State Prison at Thomaston sensational in the extreme and deplorable almost beyond belief was revealed Tuesday in a communication submitted by Gov. Ralph O. Brewster to the members of the Executive Council, who ordered an immediate sweeping investigation.

The revelations are contained in a series of 21 affidavits from employees at the prison which have been submitted to the Governor. They involve charges that prisoners have keys to cells, with grave abuses resulting, gambling among prisoners, cases of intoxication, presence in the prison of large quantities of narcotics, visits made by prisoners to houses of resort in Rockland, escape of prisoners and assaults on prisoners, and in one case upon a man who was present at the prison on a business errand.

In his communication the Governor said that the financial condition of the prison is in a deplorable state and is growing worse from month to month.

He said the indications were that there would be an overdraft of $50,000 before the end of the present year.

Broom Business Fails

He further said that the broom business for the first six months of the calendar year was a disastrous failure, leaving accounts heavily involved.

There are large quantities of harnesses for which there is no sale, and the Governor said in his communication that the per capita cost of food at the institution is 25 percent higher than that of any other State institution. In conclusion, the Governor said: "Matters now seem to have reached a point where, in justice to the prison and those responsible for its conduct, as well as to the citizens of the State, a thorough investigation should be made."

The affidavits state that religious differences are to some extent involved in the alleged breaches of discipline and several of those subscribing to the statement accuse Lawrence J. Colgan, the deputy warden of being in part responsible for conditions now existing in the prison.

The affidavits presented to the Governor were signed by Harry S. Russ, overseer, Lester C. Lufkin, Harry R. Young, Frank F. Harding, Percy M. Averill, H. L. Thomas, Frank S. Lunt, Levi F. Jones, William K. Bunker, Roscoe Staples, Frank H. Allen, James A. Gilchrist, Arthur D. Kallio, Hiram A. Constock, Leonard C. Stetson and Percy J. Clifford. There was one other not signed. With two exceptions, these affidavits were sworn and subscribed to before a justice of the peace.

Blame Prisoner Control

Held responsible for the alleged lack of discipline at the prison and for the terrible conditions existing if the statements contained in the affidavits are true, is the form of government instituted in the prison some time ago under which discipline in the institution was placed in the hands of a committee of prisoners chosen by the prisoners themselves by vote.

The system is a modification of that employed by Thomas Mott Osborne in prisons over which he has had charge. It is alleged, however, by those familiar with prison matters that the authority placed in the hands of the Maine prisoners is far in excess of that contemplated by Mr. Osborne in his plan.

The chairman of the Maine State Prison committee is Daniel R. Fallon, who was convicted of killing a negro, at the time of the labor troubles in Portland several years ago. It is charged that Convict Fallon has conducted matters with a high hand and has had authority over the officers of the prison.

The members of the prison commission, while admitting that the charges were true, pressed to believe that everything could be straightened out without any further steps being taken.

The Governor's Report

The Governor in his report said: "To the members of the Executive Council:

"There are attached hereto 21 copies of sworn affidavits which have been filed with me relating to the conditions now existing at the Maine State Prison. These affidavits are executed by old and long trusted officers of the State who are in a better position than anyone else to know of the conditions whereof they speak. They are executed by a very large majority of those now associated with the conduct of the prison after repeated reports of unsatisfactory conditions to those immediately in authority, which re-

MAYOR SNOW A CANDIDATE

I would not have my statement, which was printed in the Oct. 22 issue of this paper, leave any doubt in the public mind as to my attitude with respect to the approaching Mayoralty campaign.

Because of a sincere belief that the honor of nomination to public office should come from the voters of a party, I have not sought, either directly or indirectly, a renomination to the office which I now occupy. Following my statement, in which I endeavored to make that attitude clear, I have received such assurances from citizens as satisfies me that there is a real desire that I should again be a candidate for the office.

In the light of such assurances, I regard it as not only my duty, but a high privilege, to have my name brought before the Republican caucus, and I shall regard myself as greatly honored thereby.

Carlton F. Snow.

Rockland, Oct. 29.

on the basis of the cash receipts and disbursements for that period there would be indicated an over-draft of over $50,000 for the current year. Large stocks of harnesses have been accumulated for which there seems to be no sale. The broom business for the first six months of the calendar year was a disastrous failure and has left the accounts heavily involved.

"Food costs per capita at the prison are approximately 25 percent higher than those of any other institution in the State. The prisoners have not participated in the association of the purchasing agents which now makes practically all purchases for State institutions on the basis of open tenders and competitive bids.

"For six months rumors and reports regarding these conditions have been accumulating and have been a matter of discussion with those in authority but repeated assurances have been given that all was well.

"Matters now seem to have reached a point where in justice to the prison and those responsible for its conduct as well as to the citizens of the State a thorough investigation should be made without delay."

Worst Convicts In Power

Harry S. Russ of Thomaston in his sworn affidavit says: "I have been employed as overseer in the workshop for about 11 years and in my opinion the discipline at present is the worst I have ever experienced in all that time. The entire discipline of the prison rests entirely with five convicts who are without doubt the worst in the prison."

Lester C. Lufkin of Thomaston in a sworn statement relates a story of a "scrap" which he witnessed in the upper prison. "I went up and found Dan Fallon in another prisoner's cell beating him up," his statement declares. "This man who was one of the warden's, had the key to the cell block, covering about 64 cells in that block and the same number of cells on the other side of the prison."

Lufkin further deposes: "A prisoner who committed the crime of assault on a woman, during a struggle through her body, is allowed to deliver wood outside of the prison walls in spite of much adverse comment of the citizens of Thomaston. The discipline of the institution is far below that of former years and prisoners often use profane language to officers without any correction from officers of the prison."

Frank F. Harding in a sworn statement declares: "The discipline of the prison has been going from bad to worse since Deputy Warden Lawrence J. Colgan entered the prison. He has had charge of one of the corridors, named the cell of Leroy Morgan and brutally assaulted him. He has insulted and threatened nearly every officer in the prison, including the warden and deputy warden. He has publicly in the dining room and chapel made threats against both officers and inmates and is practically dictator of the policies and regulations of the prison."

Prison officials who signed affidavits, as above indicated, were promptly suspended until the result of the investigation is known. The prison commissioners lost no time in visiting the institution after the charges were made public, and while there gave out the following statement:

"In connection with the charges made and the investigation pending over the affairs of the Maine State Prison, the commissioners ask the public to reserve judgment until a full hearing is had."

The investigation was to have begun at 10 o'clock this morning, and will be conducted by Gov. Brewster and the Executive Council.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

"Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your soul with a bit of poetry.—Charles Elliot Norton.

THE LAST LEAF

I saw him once before,
As he passed by the door,
And again
The pavement stones resound,
As he totters off the ground
With his cane.

They say that in his prime,
Ere the pruning-knife of Time
Cut him down,
Not a better man was found
By the criterion of his round
Through the town.

But now he walks the streets,
And he looks at all he meets
Sad and wan,
And he shakes his feeble head,
That it seems as if he said,
"They are gone."

The mossy marbles rest
On the lips that he has pressed
Long ago—
That he had a Roman nose,
And his cheek was like a rose
In the snow.

But now his nose is thin,
And it rests upon his chin
Like a staff,
And a creak is in his back,
And a melancholy crack
In his laugh.

I know it is a sin
To me to sit and grin
At him here;
But the old three-cornered hat
And his cloak, and all that,
Are so queer!

And if I should live to be
The last leaf upon the tree
In the spring,
Let them smile, as I do now,
At the old forsaken bough,
Where I cling.

The Courier-Gazette
THREE TIMES A WEEK
CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
Rockland, Maine, Oct. 29, 1925.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who on oath declares that he is pressman in the office of The Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of Oct. 27, 1925, there was printed a total of 6,466 copies.
Before me, FRANK B. MILLER, Notary Public.

Let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow.—Isaiah 1:18.

Mayor Snow's statement, which appears upon another page, will remove from the public mind any uncertainty as to his attitude with respect to a second term. Satisfied that there is a desire upon the part of a considerable body of voters that he shall be allowed to help carry forward the good work begun during the present administration, he will feel honored to have his name brought before next month's Republican caucus.

Faced by problems arising under previous administrations and having to deal with many others growing out of a new city charter, this administration of a Mayor and seven Aldermen, whose term of office is soon to end, has established a record for faithfulness, efficiency and modern municipal progress such as few could hope to surpass.

It has been the custom of the local Republicans, a custom scarcely departed from in the seventy years of their history, through nomination for a second term to set the seal of party approval upon an outgoing administration. This is a matter for the party caucus to determine. The name of another gentleman, a successful business man and loyal party worker, is to be presented at the caucus for the voters' consideration. Whoever is there named for his candidature will receive the loyal support of the party at the polls.

The story of the State Prison, published with Gov. Brewster's official backing, makes sorry reading for the people of Maine. The matter calls for thorough and severe probing, and that has today been put in operation.

President Coolidge's official designation of Nov. 26 as Thanksgiving Day is marked by a flavor of those earlier proclamations when the anniversary came in for a more general observance upon its religious sides.

"The season approaches (he says) when, in accordance with a long established and respected custom, a day is set apart to give thanks to Almighty God for the manifold blessings which His gracious and benevolent providence has bestowed upon us as a Nation and as individuals."

"We have been brought with safety and honor through another year, and through the generosity of nature, He has blessed us with resources whose potentiality in wealth is almost incalculable; we are at peace at home and abroad; the public health is good; we have been undisturbed by pestilence or great catastrophe; our harvests and our industries have been rich in productivity; our commerce spreads over the whole world, and labor has been well rewarded for its remunerative service."

"As we have grown and prospered in material things, so also should we progress in moral and spiritual things. We are a God-fearing people, who should set ourselves against evil and strive for righteousness in living, and, observing the Golden Rule, we should, from our abundance, help and serve those less fortunately placed. We should bow in gratitude to God for His many favors."

Whereupon the President recommends "that on that day the people shall cease from their work and in their homes, or in their accustomed places of worship, devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received, and to seek His guidance, that they may deserve a continuance of His favor." We can recall when in Rockland the churches used to come together for such suggested purpose, with practically everybody showing up at the service, possibly excepting certain women folks whose business it was to remain at home and superintend the preparation of a rousing turkey dinner.

General Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, declares that Congress by permitting the sale for profit of sacramental wine and whiskey for medicinal purposes has "placed upon government agencies an almost impossible enforcement task." The druggists desire to be relieved of the responsibility for liquor distribution. How about the churches? We had understood in a general way that for the chief part they had renounced the use of fermented wine in observing the ordinance of the Lord's Supper. It is difficult to believe that any church in this advanced day should wish to rest under an imputation such as the statement by Gen. Andrews conveys.

Among the bewildering number of "weeks" that we are asked to give heed to, none makes stronger appeal (we had almost written appeal) than New England Apple Week, which is scheduled for Oct. 29-Nov. 7 and is sponsored by the Boston Chamber of Commerce and the agricultural department of each of the associated six States. Asserting that the flavor of a New England apple cannot be surpassed and adding to it the candid statement that "You cannot eat too many apples," these sponsors lay down a platform entitled to our unqualified support.

THREE OF CREW LOST
Schooner J. O. Webster Had a Tough Time In the Recent Storm—Towed To This Port.

A telegram was received here Tuesday afternoon stating that the schooner J. O. Webster had been picked up by the Coast Guard Cutter Red-Wing 100 miles N. N. E. of Peaked Hill Bar and was being towed to this port. The vessel arrived at 4:30 p. m. and the three surviving members of her crew came ashore on the tug J. C. Morrison to find temporary shelter on a schooner docked at Snow's wharf.

Tragedy rode in the wake of the storm, through which the Webster had passed, for of the six men who originally composed her crew, only three are here to tell the tale of their wild 48-hour experience. Capt. Beryl Bradford's son, Stanley, 18, a resident of Eastport, was drowned before his eyes, and there seems to be little hope that his fate was not shared by the cook Fred Murray and seaman Clarence Jesteron, who heroically launched the lifeboat in the face of the furious gale and storm in an attempt to save him.

Capt. Bradford and the other surviving members of his crew, Vincent Kendrick of St. John and Peter Franklin of New York believe that the would-be rescuers were dashed ashore on Cape Cod.

"We were bound from St. John for Miami, Fla., with laths," Capt. Bradford told a Courier-Gazette reporter. "We sailed Sunday, the 18th, and ran into the storm Saturday at midnight, with Cape Cod bearing 15 miles W. N. W. The wind came into the eastward and we took in our spunk, foresail and flying jib.

"While tying up the flying jib my son slipped off the foot-ropes and disappeared into the sea. As soon as we could we lowered the life-boat, with cook Murray and seaman Jesteron aboard.

"We stood off from 5 a. m. to 2 p. m. Sunday, in the vain hope that we would see some trace of the lifeboat and its occupants. Under the circumstances the boat could not have helped drifting onto Cape Cod, unless it foundered.

"At the time my son was drowned and the lifeboat disappeared we were in longitude 69° 55', latitude 42° 18'.

"The storm lasted from midnight Saturday until 5 p. m. Monday, rain falling heavily part of the time. I have been told that the wind was blowing 120 miles an hour while the storm was at its height. The gale carried away our staysail, flying jib and mainsail and broke our main sail. Fifty thousand laths were swept away from the decks. Except for her jib the schooner came under bare poles, towering about 70 miles from the time we began to drift. The report that the schooner was unmanageable is not correct, but the Coast Guard Cutter Red Wing looked good to us Tuesday morning when she picked us up.

Fred Murray, the missing cook, was a resident of Penfield, Charlotte County, N. B. He is 35 and has a wife and five children. Clarence Jesteron belonged in the same town. He is 18 and not married. Stanley Bradford was making the trip before going into the employ of the General Electric Company, Lynn.

PARK THEATRE
Today will be the last opportunity to see "The Circle" featuring Eleanor Boardman and Malcolm McGregor, a two-reel act comedy entitled "Spanish Romeo." Fables and news will complete an excellent program.
A big double feature program will prevail at the Park Theatre on Friday and Saturday. Harold Bell Wright's western classic "A Son of His Father," a Paramount picture with Bessie Love, Warner Baxter and Raymond Hatton. The other feature picture is "Thank You." The cast includes George O'Brien, Jacqueline Logan and others.
The story of "A Son of His Father" is the fascinating one of a desperate uphill battle against invading smugglers who attempt to gain possession of a ranch. Many of the extra players engaged on the location actually took part in the real encounter between the ranchmen and the smugglers.
"Thank You," adapted from the John Golden stage success, owes its unique title to the manner in which the Rev. David Lee, the chief character, accepts the "charities" doled out to him by his miserly parishioners. It is the only way he can pay them—"thank you!" is his legal tender, for the parish refuses him more than a meager $800 a year salary and even threatens to cut that to $600.
Come early and avoid the crowd.—adv.

STRAND THEATRE
A picture of unusual merit was shown yesterday and will be repeated today at the Strand Theatre, the Tiffany production "Souls for Sables." Featured in this picture of modern life is the beautiful Claire Windsor and Eugene O'Brien. The former never looked better than she did in this, her latest, screen appearance, and the gorgeous array of clothes worn by her must have cost a fortune.
For Friday and Saturday Mgr. Dondis has picked a double feature bill, "The Dangerous Flirt," and "Scar Hanne," a Western thriller.
"The Dangerous Flirt," which comes forth without mincing matters and shows us in smashing dramatic terms how mothers of America can better safeguard their daughters—and their sons as well—by taking them into their confidence and revealing to them the fundamental truths of life. The picture is "The Dangerous Flirt," to be shown at the Strand Friday and Saturday and in which beautiful Evelyn Brent steps forth as a full-fledged star—a position won by brilliant work in some of the best photoplays of the last few years.
Added attraction Yakima Canutt in a Western thriller.—adv.

EMPIRE THEATRE
Today will be the last opportunity to see two big features at the Empire Theatre, which includes Charles Ray in "Some Pumpkin," and George Walsh in "American Pluck."
"The Scarlet West," an epic of American frontier and Indian fighting days is the Friday and Saturday showing. This picture was produced in Colorado on a huge scale with a cast that included more than 4,000 Indians and soldiers.
Although frontier stories have frequently been brought to the screen, the theme of "The Scarlet West" is new, as, for the first time in picture history, an Indian is seen as the hero. There is a reproduction of Custer's Last Stand. Some 2000 Navajos and Utes were permitted by the United States government to appear in the picture, which was made in southwestern Colorado, and as many cowboys and soldiers were used to oppose them in the battles. There will be a school of instruction for Chapter Masons next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in Gardner. Members of King Solomon's Temple Chapter have received a hearty invitation to be present.

"Tickets for 'To The Ladies,' the comedy to be presented Nov. 16 in Strand Theatre under the auspices of the B. & P. W. Club, are going well, as befits such a production. High praise is written of it wherever presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stubbs of Schenectady, N. Y., are guests of E. M. Stubbs at the farm in Union. Mr. Stubbs, a former Rockland boy, is now assistant to the general manager of the Adirondack Light and Power Co. of Schenectady.

K The Klan is the conscience of religious America awakened to the necessity for action.

Ku Klux Klan.

Arthur Dodge, aged 17, and Bernard Oakes, aged 15, were before Judge Miller yesterday, charged with stealing a tank from a motor boat owned by Elmer Eaton, and selling it for junk. The case was continued a week, in order to give time for making restitution.

Former Rockland people who recently attended a movie performance in Hollywood write home not to miss Charlie Chaplin in "The Gold Rush" if that attraction comes to Rockland. It is a dramatic comedy in "ten mammoth parts." We shall certainly take it in if it comes our way.

The Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., had a very satisfactory September, the surplus reaching $261,223 as compared with a September surplus of $202,425 in 1924. The corporation's operating revenues for the first nine months of the year were $5,823,343, and the total income was $1,184,363.

Alderman Charles L. Chase, H. N. Brazier, Fred Snow and Forrest Brazier have returned from their hunting trip to Chesuncook Lake, where their ardor was dampened somewhat by an almost continuous fall of rain or snow. But in spite of these handicaps they had a good time and "H. N." brought home a good sized buck.

It has been learned that Senorita Montoro (Mont Trainer) and her diminutive partner, Monsieur Pe-taire (Albert Peterson) are to take part in the Forty Club Black and White Revue. Last spring in the Minstrel Show this combination actually brought down the house. Their act this time will be even better.

In spite of the storm there was an excellent attendance at the Klan lecture in the High School auditorium last night. Chester Rush of Ohio, a speaker of national reputation, addressed the meeting on "The Principles and Purposes of the Ku Klux Klan," refuting many wrong impressions which have gained circulation regarding the organization. The session was open to men only.

The chicken pie supper at the Methodist church last night won a most favorable verdict from the many patrons. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Mae Gregory, chairman, Winnie Henderson, Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. Combs, Nettie Packard, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Landers, Lizzie Gregory, Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Kirk, and to their efforts is due a great part of the success of the occasion.

One of the season's notable pictures, "The Circle," is being shown at the Park Theatre today, and for the weekend comes another popular double-header—"A Son of His Father," starring Bessie Love and Warner Baxter; and "Thank You." The Park features for next week: Monday and Tuesday, Raymond Griffith in "He's a Prince," Wednesday and Thursday, Bessie Love and Neil Hamilton in "New Brooms"; Friday and Saturday, Marion Davies in "Lights of Old Broadway," and "Fighting Heart." Something for every taste in the above offerings.

At the close of the Odd Fellows Grand Lodge session in Portland last week it was voted to present jewels to the three oldest living past grand masters—George W. Goss of Auburn, who served in 1887-8; George A. Gilpatrick of Kennebunk who served in 1892-3, and Reuel Robinson of Camden, who served in 1893-4. As none of the three past grands was present, the Grand Lodge designated prominent Odd Fellows to make the presentations, and it fell to the pleasant lot of Past Grand Master Frank B. Miller to bestow the jewel upon Judge Robinson. This was done at Tuesday night's meeting of Mt. Battle Lodge, to which Judge Miller was accompanied by District Deputy Luke S. Davis and Past Grand Guardian Oliver B. Lovejoy. Judge Miller made the presentation speech and the jewel was pinned on by District Deputy Davis. Judge Robinson made a fitting and graceful response. There was a large attendance at the meeting, after which refreshments were served.

Absentee voters should be numerous in the city election, Dec. 7. Any person planning to be away at that time should cast his or her ballot now.

The Ulmer house on Rankin street owned by Mrs. Asa P. and Mrs. George L. St. Clair has been sold by Annie F. Hahn to Eugene R. Spear of Belfast.

There is nothing superstitious about the dance committee of Knox Lodge, I. O. O. F. They will resume their popular winter series at I. O. O. F. hall on Friday, Nov. 13.

That famous four sale of M. B. & C. O. Perry called out the reserve traffic officers and probably made a time rec. d. In 35 minutes 635 bags of Norman R. were disposed of.

This is the evening of the get-together of the Rotary Clubs of Belfast, Camden and Rockland, in which members of the order and ladies to the number of 150 will sit down to a supper served in Temple Hall at 6:30 o'clock by the Eastern Star. Speakers, music and fun will make up the evening's program.

A hunting party comprising Herbert L. Oxtun, William E. Reed and James Doherty of Rockland and Eugene Thompson of Camden is back home, each hunter having shot a deer. The snow was deep and the animals had to shovel out several times. They were hailed out by a team. Hunting conditions were reported very good.

The annual inspection of Edwin Libby Relief Corps was made Tuesday night by State Inspector Mrs. Della Bryant of Freeport, assisted by P. P. Mrs. Gertrude Prague of the Freeport Corps. The work was exemplified on four candidates: Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Etta Dimick, Miss Helen St. Clair and Mrs. Bernice Hatch. Mrs. Bryant was outspoken in her praise of the manner in which Edwin Libby Corps carried out the work, paying high compliment to President Mrs. Clara Thomas. The buffet lunch served in the banquet hall was delicious as would be the case ever with such housekeepers as Mrs. Rebecca Ingraham and Mrs. Amanda Choate. A fitting remembrance was presented to the inspecting officer by the local president in a clever speech.

The City Government held an unofficial session in the dining room of Hotel Rockland Tuesday night, and devoted itself to an entirely harmonious discussion of the excellent menu which Proprietor Keating had placed at the City Fathers' disposal. The custom of having some sort of a get together at the end of a municipal term has been followed by the City Government of recent years and is one of the happy features in the closing hours of an administration. All of the members of the City Government were present with the exception of Alderman H. M. De Rochemont of Ward 5, who had surrendered to an attack of grippe. The special guests of the occasion were the heads of department and a representative of the Third Estate. There was no speechmaking. When the feast was over Mayor Snow unloosed his favorite pipe and the banquet adjourned sine die. In the party were: Mayor C. F. Snow, Aldermen Charles L. Chase, Frank M. Ulmer, John M. Richardson, Harold H. Hanscom, Oscar S. Duncan and Oliver W. Holmes; City Clerk E. R. Keene, City Treasurer C. H. Morey, Tax Collector Robert U. Collins, City Auditor Herbert W. Keep, Chief Engineer Albert R. Havener, Commissioner of Public Works J. S. Gardner and F. A. Winslow.

A rare treat to local theatre goers is "To The Ladies," a play to be presented in Strand Theatre, Nov. 16, under the auspices of the B. & P. W. Club. This play has made a great hit wherever staged, and will duplicate its many successes during this Rockland engagement. The B. & P. W. Club has done much to put this city on the map and their efforts should be liberally supported. Be at the Strand Nov. 16—adv.

Commencing next Monday Train No. 280 will leave Rockland at 4:35 p. m. instead of 5:30 p. m. and arriving in Brunswick at 7:45 p. m. will connect with No. 43 (Pine Tree Limited) leaving at 8 p. m. for Waterville; and trains leaving for Lewiston and Portland.

At the Monday night rehearsal of the Forty Club Black and White Revue Phil Jones directed several numbers with a pep and verve that promise well for the production. Phil has a great song this year, one that gives that velvet baritone of his full play. A rehearsal is called for tomorrow night beginning at 7 o'clock sharp. Tickets are on sale and going very well. The dates are Nov. 9 and 10, Strand Theatre.

The Accident Agency Journal of the Employers Indemnity Corporation has this appreciative item concerning its local agents: "E. C. Moran & Co., our new general agents for the State of Maine, under contract one month and first among the leading producers for September. We hope that the old election slogan: 'As Maine goes so goes the nation' is right, for our Maine agency is going at top speed! Mr. Moran has been introduced to the Agency Journal readers previous to this issue, but we want to repeat that Moran & Co. is one of the old established Maine agencies, with headquarters at Rockland, and that we are expecting them to make a head race for all contenders for first place among the producers during future months." As a special reward for their fine showing E. C. Moran & Co. will soon install a new radio set, with the compliments of the Employers Indemnity Corporation.

Few people appreciate their good truck but complain much of their misfortunes, most of which could be prevented.

good power not to mention the wear and tear on the human patience.

Someone writes me how to increase the resistance of a grid leak is the higher value. Also what is the proper value of phone condenser to use in a single circuit set? Unless the grid leak is of a variable type I do not think it advisable to try to increase the value of the resistance. Instructions come with variable grid leaks as to how to increase and decrease their resistance. If yours is the fixed type you may add another of the same value in series with your present one to double the resistance. A .002 is the size usually used for phone condensers, but this does not mean that you are obliged to use this size. My suggestion would be to use the smallest capacity that would permit a good smart oscillation over the entire wavelength range. I have used as little as .0005 with good results. If you use a transformer for audio amplification in the first stage you will probably be told on the data sheet accompanying the transformer about what value to use for best results.

Almost impossible receiving conditions have prevailed now for nearly a week. The disturbances commenced abruptly after two perfect nights and conditions have continued poor every night since. Afternoon reception has been reported good, with no static or other interference, but as soon as darkness comes on there is a most exasperating lack of pep to the different stations with almost absolute impossibility of clearing any of the high wave stations. WEEL has remained the most constant for local fans, but a constant roll of static has made reception from this station not very enjoyable. Pity the poor radio service man who has served two perfect nights and turned it over to the owners for trial on one of these nights. Only the most broad minded fan will ever admit the set to be as good as ever. Better to shut your newly serviced set right off entirely and wait for a good night than to make comparison tests on a poor night like those of the last week or more. It's a waste of time.

I am now fully established in my new quarters in a small room in the rear of Pillsbury's Studio where I am servicing sets to all who care to bring, or send them in. Besides this I am conducting my usual line of servicing sets in the home and all you have to do is to give me a call and I will go to your house. Expect to have the telephone next week and will run the number with my ad so that you may know where to call me.

David Sarnoff, Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr. of the Radio Corporation of America, says: "We are on the heels of international broadcasting. The Radio Corporation of America in a series of notable broadcasting experiments which it will launch during the coming months, will invite the public to join in the laboratory of the air. When electrical science will have wrested from the air concerts broadcast from London, from Berlin and possibly from other European cities, when the American farm family will sit in for the first time on an operatic performance broadcast from London, the exultation of the pioneer will come to hundreds of thousands, or even millions of Americans who will have participated in these experiments."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Instant Beauty

Gleamy, Thick, Wavy Hair in a Moment

Girls! Try this! When combing and brushing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can dress your hair immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy, an abundance of gleamy, wavy hair, sparkling with life, incomparably soft, fresh, youthful.

Besides beautifying the hair, a 35-cent bottle of refreshing, fragrant "Danderine" from any drug or toilet counter will do wonders, particularly if the hair is dry, thin, brittle, faded or streaked with gray from constant curling and waving which burn the hair, lustre and very life from any woman's hair.

"Danderine" acts on the hair like fresh showers of rain and sunshine act on vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, stopping falling hair and helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

EAST UNION

Miss Maud B. Hilt

The funeral services of Miss Maud Hilt were held from her late resi-dence in East Union, Sunday after-noon, Rev. E. N. Webster officiating. The beautiful floral tributes gave their silent messages of love and esteem. Although deceased had been in ill health for a number of years, she had taken an active part in the work of the home and going about among her friends, until a few months ago. Since the death of her mother in March, her health had been failing, and about a week ago she was taken to the hospital in Rock-land, where all that medical aid could do was done, but to no avail.

Miss Hilt was of a cheerful and sunny disposition and showed re-markable courage and patience dur-ing her long period of invalidism. Her pleasant and cheerful ways and her earnest desire to be helpful to others had won a place in the hearts of all who knew her. She is sur-vived by one brother, Ira M. Hilt, to whom much sympathy is extended. She was 32 years of age.

Although deceased had been in ill health for a number of years, she had taken an active part in the work of the home and going about among her friends, until a few months ago. Since the death of her mother in March, her health had been failing, and about a week ago she was taken to the hospital in Rock-land, where all that medical aid could do was done, but to no avail.

Miss Hilt was of a cheerful and sunny disposition and showed re-markable courage and patience dur-ing her long period of invalidism. Her pleasant and cheerful ways and her earnest desire to be helpful to others had won a place in the hearts of all who knew her. She is sur-vived by one brother, Ira M. LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

John J. Flinn, C. S., of Los Angeles, Speaks Upon "Christian Science: A Positive Faith."

At the Christian Science Church on Brewster street, before a good-sized audience, was given a lecture entitled "Christian Science: A Positive Faith," by John J. Flinn, C. S., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The speaker was introduced by Frank R. Richardson, who said:

"It is now 27 years since I first became interested in the Christian Science movement. At that time Christian Science was regarded by many as a woman's fad, that would soon die out. On the contrary it has been steadily increasing, until at the present time it numbers among its adherents thousands of men and women from every walk in life. Why have so many people been attracted of this movement? I will answer out of my own personal experience. It is because they have found through its teaching that 'Loving Father,' who forgiveth all thine iniquities, and who healeth all thy diseases."

"One of the very important aspects of the Christian Science move-ment is known as the Board of Lec-tureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, Mass., composed of men and women who are qualified to speak in-telligently on this subject. We have with us this evening a member of that board and I take great pleas-ure in introducing to you John J. Flinn, C. S., of Evanston, Ill., who will address you."

Mr. Flinn said in part:

Christian Science makes no con-cession to error in any of its phases, forms, or manifestations. It does not admit the reality of evil. It recognizes no power in the universe but God, good. In the midst of doubt, anxiety, alarm, fear, want of confidence in church or pulpit lead-ership, Christian Science holds stead-fastly to the conviction, that since man is God's child, the reflection and image and likeness of God, he can-not be separated from his creator, deprived of his spiritual inheritance by any human belief, used as a foot-ball by chance, subjected to material mutation, or rendered helpless in the presence of sin, sickness, discord, dis-ease, or death.

Christian Science is not at all a blind belief. It is not a theological experiment, not a conjectural creed. It is not based upon legendary, tradi-tion, superstition, or fear of future punishment; it is a demonstrable faith that proves with mathematical clearness and certainty, to capable and honest investigators, its claim as the Christian Science. It is a living, un-derstanding of infinite intelli-gence, and of man's relationship to the Supreme Being, omnipresent, omniscient, and omnipotent divine Mind. It is an apprehension and understanding of God which admits of no limitation, question, nor doubt with regard to His all-seeing wis-dom, His all-inclusive power, His all-embracing love. It is living in the conviction that God made every-thing that was made; that He made everything good; that all of His creations reflect Him, and, therefore, that nothing unlike Him, infinite good, can be real. It is an absolute acknowledgment and a positive as-surance, supported by living evi-dence, that the God of our Bible—our God—governs and controls the universe and all that it contains, visible and invisible, including man, and that there is none other beside Him.

A Neglected or Ignored Duty

It is always difficult, sometimes impossible, to follow the arguments of those good Christian people who feel it to be their duty to attack Christian Science, or to follow the reasoning upon which their argu-ments are based. The remarkable thing is that so few of them, in view of all that they are learning in these words regarding the failure of ortho-dox doctrines and teachings to meet the present and urgent needs of the people, are able to see that the heal-ing of the sick, suffering, and sor-rowful, no matter how long needed, or unemployed, is one of the most important functions of the Christian religion, and that there can be no human reservations, restrictions, nor limitations when man is leaning up-on the power and mercy and love of God.

These good people profess unquestioning allegiance to the New Testament, and absolute loyalty to the words and works of Jesus Christ, yet they find fault with Christian Science because it brings these words and works down to the twentieth century, and makes them as actual and as useful to the men, women, and children of our day, as they were to men, women, and children in the time of the Galilean Prophet.

Truth admits of no conditional ex-pression nor acceptance. That which is almost, or nearly, or partly true, is not true. Christian Sci-ence is truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Here its take stands. It abhors loose thinking, loose reasoning, and loose talking; it is in as little need of patronizing apolo-gy. Inasmuch as it is based upon divine Principle, nothing short of admission of its absolute truth will satisfy. This is why it is so frequently called upon to correct well-meaning but mistaken remarks by those who think they are speak-ing kindly of it.

The Medical Attitude

Take, for instance, statements of many doctors of divinity and many doctors of medicine, than whom, as a rule, there are no more conscien-tious men in the world. It is no un-common thing to have them concede a great deal to Christian Science. Some of them go so far as to admit that it abhors loose thinking, loose reasoning, and loose talking; it is in as little need of patronizing apolo-gy. Inasmuch as it is based upon divine Principle, nothing short of admission of its absolute truth will satisfy. This is why it is so frequently called upon to correct well-meaning but mistaken remarks by those who think they are speak-ing kindly of it.

ning flash, through Christian Science, from wrong right thinking, healed of sick and sinning beliefs, released from pernicious tendencies, relieved of slavish habits, liberated from bondage, and restored to the liberty which belongs to all of God's chil-dren; and these are ever ready and willing to give direct testimony to the healing power of Life, Truth, and Love, as demonstrated in Christian Science, and to offer heartfelt grati-tude to Mary Baker Eddy, who led them by her teachings from darkness into light.

The Paramount Mission of Christian Science

It must never be forgotten that Christian Science is engaged first and last, and all the time, in the task of restoring to the world the Word and continuing the works of Christ Jesus; that its highest mission and its greatest joy is to labor unceasing-ly for the bringing back of primi-tive Christianity in all its purity, simplicity, and grandeur, and to re-establish, in a world sorely in need of it, that assurance of present-day salvation from error and its conse-quences, which the Master promised to all who would keep his command-ments. He came with healing in his thought, with healing in his voice, with healing in his touch—with heal-ing in his heart—and he went about everywhere doing good, yet sorrowing in his labor of love over the ig-norance and perversity of men. Now, as in his day, the Word through Christian Science, is healing all manner of disease and all manner of discord, yet Christian Scientists know that, as in Jesus' day, the heal-ing of physical ailments is a means rather than an end.

Because of the stiffness of their necks and the rebelliousness of their will, in our times as was the case twenty centuries ago, the great ma-jority of human beings must be im-pressed by some tangible evidence, suitable to their understanding, of the all-important part which spiri-tual law plays in regulating their lives, their affairs, occupations, and circumstances; in determining the success of their careers, in solving their minor as well as their major problems. Only thus are they brought to recognition of the ever-presence of God, and to a realization of the fact, that the paramount mis-sion of Christian Science is not the healing of sickness and disease, but the destruction of ignorance, of sin, and sin, which lie at the root of all human sorrow and suffering.

WHAT BUILDS BABIES?

By Dr. Dorothy Reed Men-denhall, Children's Bureau, U. S. Dept. of Labor.

(No. 6)

In pregnancy eating meat more than once a day may be injurious to health. The physician may advise cutting meat out of the diet; if so, an egg dish may be substituted. Beef, mutton, lamb, poultry and fish are more digestible than pork.

Overeating is dangerous in preg-nancy, and it will not increase nor even help maintain the milk supply. The average woman of normal weight should not gain more than 20 pounds during pregnancy; the overweight woman may be better for gaining less or not at all.

Breads and cereals should be made of whole grain because of its high mineral and vitamin content. Whole wheat, oats, corn and other grains can be obtained in flour or cereal form. Cereals may be used for breakfast foods and in mush, muffins, puddings and soup. Butter or cream served on food adds greatly to the vitamin as well as the fuel value of the diet.

The green leafy vegetables such as spinach, chard, lettuce, endive, cress, cabbage, kale, collards, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, string beans, dandelion greens, turnip tops, and beet tops have a value in the diet far greater than tubers, such as potatoes, or root vegetables, such as carrots, or legumes, such as peas and beans.

Now is the time to stock with Three Crow Pure Ground Cloves, for fall and winter use—adv.

The leafy vegetables, and fruit, either fresh or dried, should be used freely by every mother. They are not fat-tening. The overweight woman should reduce her use of sugar, po-tato, bread and cereal.

Plenty of fruit and vegetables, with the help of whole-grain breads and cereals, makes the diet laxative.

CONCERNING APPLES

The nation's apple crop this year is forecast by the Department of Agriculture at 164,000,000 bushels compared with 179,000,000 bushels last year.

Although Thanksgiving is nearly a month away, the first offer of a delicacy to grace the White House dinner table, huge apple pie, has been received by Mrs. Coolidge from the Girls' Club of the University of Vermont, her alma mater.

Edwin Reynolds, a farmer of Constantine near Falmouth Cornwall, has a tree on his place which this year, according to his account, yielded 1,000 apples. The crop weighed one ton and a third. The tree which is about 70 years old stands 30 feet in height. The yield in 1921 was 16,000 apples. The apples are small and only good for cooking.

A MACKINAC CASE

George Mullen, assistant engineer on the steamer Mackinac, wrecked by a boiler explosion at Newport, R. I., Aug. 18, with a death toll of 53 persons, went on trial yesterday before federal steamboat inspectors in Providence on charges of negligence. Mullen, following the explosion, was in a Newport hospital with severe burns and his case was delayed until he was physically able to appear. The case of Capt. George W. McVay of the Mackinac will be reopened in connection with Mullen's trial.

THANKSGIVING DATE

President Coolidge has proclaimed Thursday, Nov. 26, as Thanksgiving Day when gratitude should be expressed for "many and great blessings" which have come to the people during the past year. "The nation has been brought with safety and honor through another 12 months," the proclamation said, "at peace at home and abroad, with the public health good, with harvest and industries productive, and labor well rewarded."

Mr. and Mrs. Blithen were presented with 14 bowls and 14 large cups to match. The moon was just showing from behind the clouds when the five automobiles left for home.

THE FLORIDA MAGNET

Is Drawing Deposits From Many New England Savings Institutions.

The small saving bank depositor in common with the depositor in the commercial banks of New England, is taking his turn at speculating in Florida real estate. Bank officers said they had only incomplete data as to the designation of withdrawals but the aggregate sent south had assumed enormous proportions.

One Boston savings bank president estimated that $2,000 a day was being sent to Florida, by customers who confided their plans to the clerks. A suburban bank estimated its Florida land withdrawals at $10,000 a week. One of the larger commercial banks estimated that its customers had sent $1,000,000 to Florida. Springfield, Worcester and other cities and towns reported similar withdrawals.

At a Boston savings bank, it was said that a real estate speculator had complained that most of the people with whom he had been doing business had "gone to Florida, and there's nothing in my line."

Fur Coats Now
Flare at Bottom

NORMA SHEARER

FOLLOWING the fashionable edict of the fared silhouette, the new fur coats are being cut in many ways that tighten the bodies and give a graceful flare to the skirt. This charming coat of natural ermine, which fur, by the way, takes its place among the smartest furs this season, is tight fitting at the waist, to flare out gracefully at the sides. A collar of white fox fur and a border of white fox on the side flares add additional chic. Worn by Norma Shearer, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, whose next production is "The Tower of Lies."

APPLES AND INDIANS

Warren Pupils Showed a Marked Ability At the Joint Session.

A meeting for rural teachers was held Friday afternoon at the Oyster River School where the teachers were the guests of Miss Castner and her pupils. Some good thinking was first done on a few riddles. The two hottest letters in the alphabet were guessed. K. N. But when there would be 25 letters in the alphabet could not be answered. "When U and I are one. In the two lower grades each pupil told the story liked best. Rita Starrett told "The Three Bears." Martha Anderson, "The Fox and the Grapes." David Oxtun, "The Man Who Lost His Hat." Lee Oxtun, "The Dog and His Shadow." They then dramatized "The Three Pigs." A welcome guest at this meeting was Mrs. Mildred Gould of Camden, who still retains her interest in Warren schools. Mrs. Gould was persuaded to tell a story to these grades which she did in a most pleasing manner, to the enjoyment of both children and teachers. A rapid review of some of the recent spelling words was given and the children then took their seats and with letters had a race to see who could make the greatest number of the words.

The pupils of the third and fourth grades had made a grocery store by passing upon a large sheet of heavy cardboard pictures of all sorts of goods that are found in such a store with their prices. Thelma Oxtun was chosen store keeper and each member of the class came to buy goods, using toy money, the change being made for each purchase. Another of the store was made with Hilda Anderson as the merchant who asked each purchaser to how much their goods amounted. These grades then did a few examples in mental arithmetic involving small numbers in the four fundamentals. The sixth and seventh grade English class was asked if they enjoyed Halloween and if they were making any plans for the day this year. After some discussion, numerous topics having been thought important, the following outline for the story was the result. Paragraph 1, getting ready; 2, the pleasant evening; 3, our surprise; 4, home again. Volunteers were then asked for, using this outline, to tell what they expected to write. Carl Oxtun told a fine story. Marion Oxtun not only wrote an interesting story but had artistically drawn on the side of her paper a small cut of the costume that she was planning to wear Halloween night, and attractive it was.

In Geography the sixth and seventh grades were studying France. The pupils were asked what they thought was the most important topic in the lesson and why. This is a good beginning question or opening question for a large part of history and geography lessons, as it helps the child to realize that in any lesson there are some things that are important and others that are not. The child needs to be helped in selecting the important and leaving the unimportant as he will have to do in his reading later in life. Especially, carefully and well were the pictures studied and discussed.

The first two grades played several language games which were enjoyed and the language used was surprisingly good. The sixth and seventh grades were reading the story of Washington's journey from Virginia to the French forts along the Ohio. Instead of the usual oral reading, eight questions had been written on the blackboard and these questions were answered and the story discussed. Several times it was necessary to refer to the books in order to satisfactorily answer the questions. This method of reading calls for careful silent reading and aids pupils to be more accurate in getting the thought from the printed page, which they will have to do all of their lives. These grades wished also to read a few jokes which they were permitted to do occasionally. Dr. E. K. of Teachers' College, Columbia University, says that this is one of the best ways of improving expression in reading. If a joke is not read well enough for it to be enjoyed by the class a pupil is very conscious of the fact and tries especially hard to bring out the point. One of the best jokes was read by Carl Oxtun: Young Harry—"Mother, may I have five cents for a man who is out in front of the house crying?" Mother—"Yes dear and how thoughtful of you to want to do something for one who is in trouble. Here is the money. Why is he crying?" Harry—"I don't know, but he is crying. 'Peanuts five cents a bag.'"

The first two grades next played several number games. One, in which each represented a number and in turn told their number and asked for help to make a larger number, called for thought on the part of those playing. The sixth and seventh grades next solved some practical arithmetic problems. One of them gave trouble to some in the class and the problem was acted by the pupils. The problem was: John had three bushels of apples which he sold to Tom for $2. Tom sold them for 40 cents a peck. How much more did Tom get than John? One pupil acted as John, who after getting his $3 helped Tom load the apples into his truck and get started for home. The other pupils then came and bought the apples of Tom, paying 40 cents a peck. After the steps are acted in such a problem the pupils can generally work the problem with no difficulty.

OAK HILL GRANITE

More business for Waldo County is predicted from the sale of the Oak Hill granite quarries in Swanville, idle for more than a quarter century, which have just been sold to John Harkins and Edward Mollinson of Hancock County, experienced stone men who are to put their purchase into commission at once. This will mean the reopening of one of Waldo County's oldtime industries and the new company will employ some 200 or more men. Paving stone will be cut and shipped to the New York market where much from this source has been used in the old days, having the record of standing the tests of wear equal to any in the country. Oak Hill granite is said to never glaze, an added virtue.

RECEIVERS NAMED

For the Gordon Black Fox Industry—Much Money Invested.

Justice Dunn of the Supreme Court appointed Hon. P. H. Gillin of Bangor, a prominent attorney and County Attorney Artemas Weatherhead of Lincoln as receivers of Frank H. Gordon Incorporated, proprietor of silver black fox ranches and conducting fox ranching business at various ranches in Maine and elsewhere.

The justice set Nov. 17 as the date of a hearing on the matter of making the appointment of receivers permanent.

It is expected that action will be taken at once looking to the feeding of the foxes in the ranches. The investigation of the books of the corporation will undoubtedly be one of much labor and requiring much time, as the sum of $1,570,000 is said to have been paid into the corporation treasury by purchases of silver black foxes by people in many States, ranging to such far distant points as Texas, California and other States on the Pacific coast.

An assigned mortgage on $50,000 worth of silver black foxes and their progeny, in the possession of Frank H. Gordon, Inc., held by Debra C. Perry of Milbridge, was foreclosed Tuesday. The mortgage was from Frank H. Gordon to Roland J. Murray of Frederick, N. B., dated sometime in June, 1924, and breach of the conditions is alleged in the foreclosure. It was claimed that there was a balance due under the mortgage which had not been paid. The mortgage property, 50 pairs of foxes and their progeny, has been transferred from the Gordon fox ranch in Milbridge to the Perry ranch in the same town, under assignment from Roland J. Murray to B. C. Perry, which assignment has also been recorded in the office of the city clerk of Bangor.

NEXT TUESDAY'S ELECTIONS

Two Places in Congress and Two Governorships At Stake
—New York Elects Its Assembly.

From a national political standpoint, Election Day, Nov. 3, will not shine particularly brightly. Here and there will be held an election which may be interpreted as an indication of the swing of the political pendulum, but they are few and far between. This is an "off" year in politics, with no President and Vice President and no Congress to be elected.

Only two States, Virginia and New Jersey, will elect Governors. Two members of the House of Representatives will be chosen, one in Kentucky and the other in New Jersey, where vacancies exist.

New York State will elect its Assembly, 150 in number, but no State Senators. New Jersey elects its House and a part of its State Senate. Virginia elects its Assembly and part of the Senate. Kentucky elects its House of Representatives and one-third of its State Senate. Mississippi elects its House of Representatives and part of its Senate.

This enumeration covers the State and Congressional elections this fall. There are, however, a number of important municipal elections to be held in some of the great cities, and election of State judiciary, State commissioners of various kinds and county elections. Outstanding among the municipal elections are the fights for Mayor in Boston and in New York.

Gov. Al Smith, pride of New York Democracy, during the primary campaign for the Democratic nomination for Mayor took off his coat and worked for State Senator James J. Walker, Tammany's candidate against Mayor John F. Hylan, who had the backing of William Randolph Hearst. After a campaign of extreme bitterness, in which all kinds of charges were made by both sides, Walker won the nomination at the polls. The Republicans, with comparatively little difficulty nominated Frank D. Waterman, a business man.

The Republicans at present control the New York Assembly, although the Democrats have the Governor and control the State Senate. Gov. Smith naturally is urging the election of a Democratic Assembly so that his Legislative program may be put through, a program which has been blocked by the Republicans in the Assembly.

The voters of New York on election day will also vote on four proposed amendments to the State constitution. One of these authorizes a $100,000,000 bond issue, to be spent in amounts not to exceed $10,000,000 a year over a period of ten years for permanent improvements to State buildings.

A second proposed amendment would empower the State Legislature to create without further submission to the people a debt not to exceed $300,000,000 for the elimination of railroad grade crossings, which number about 4000 in the State. The cost of the elimination is to be divided as follows—25 percent by the State, 25 percent by the city, town or village in which the crossing is located, and 50 percent by the railroad company.

The Republicans are opposing both these propositions on the ground of economy, danger of waste and graft and that they would be a mistake in financing. A third proposed amendment calls for the "short" ballot, reducing the number of elective State officers from seven to four, and the fourth amendment, known as the Johnson amendment, would take out of the Constitution and place in the hands of the State Legislature authority to increase salaries of judges and amend the jurisdiction of certain courts.

In New Jersey there is a real fight for the Governorship, which at present is held by a Democrat. The Republican nominee is State Senator Arthur H. Hays Sulzberger, and the Democratic nominee, a Harry Moore. Polls taken in various parts of the State indicate a Democratic victory. Efforts have been made to get President Coolidge to mix in this Jersey fight, but without avail.

The election of a congressman from the Third New Jersey District, made necessary by the death of Representative T. Frank Appleby, Republican, will take place Nov. 3 also. The Republicans have put forward Stewart Appleby, son of the late Representative, and the Democrats have nominated J. Lyle Kinmonth, editor of the Asbury Park Press.

Representative Appleby was elected a year ago by about 23,000 votes. In 1920 Appleby was elected also by about 25,000 votes, but in 1922 the Democrats won this district by 522 votes and in 1916 it went Democratic by a narrow margin, while in 1918 it swung back to the Republicans. In recent years, therefore, the district may be said to have shown considerable republican strength.

The only other member of Congress to be elected Nov. 3 will hail from the Third Kentucky District where Representative Thomas, for so many years representative of that district, died not long ago. John W. Moore, a banker at Morgantown, is the Democratic nominee and the Republican is Thurman S. Dixon of Bowling Green. Thomas carried the district last year by about 3300 votes, a lead which the friends of Dixon think they will be able to overcome on election day. While Thomas regularly for many years, his margin of victory some times ran as low as 600, as in 1920, although in 1922 it ran up to 7000.

In Virginia the election of a Democratic Governor is as sure as the sunrise. State Senator Byrd has the Democratic nomination and the Republicans have put forward a candidate, but without a chance of success. The Legislature which will be chosen also will be Democratic.

If the Republicans should win both these Congressional elections, the political makeup of the new House, which meets for the first time in December, would be 248 Republicans, 182 Democrats, three Farmer-

Laborites and two Socialists. If the Democrats should win both these seats, then the Republicans would have 246 and the Democrats 184 members. No matter how these elections go, however, the Republicans will be overwhelmingly in control of the House and the Administration should have no difficulty in getting its legislative programs through that branch of the national Legislature.

Since the last Congress adjourned, March 4, the Republicans have succeeded in electing their candidates to fill three vacancies occurring in the House. One was the first woman to be elected to the House from New England, Mrs. John Jacob Rogers of the Third Massachusetts District, chosen to succeed her husband. A second is Joseph L. Hooper in the Third Michigan District, and the third is Henry L. Bowles of the second Massachusetts District, President Coolidge's own district. All of these districts are normally Republican.

Maryland, had it not been for a recent change in her constitution, would have had a State election this year, too, but this election goes over until next year. In Pennsylvania there is one State Supreme Court justice to be elected and county officers to be chosen. In Rhode Island there are some town and county elections, and the same is true in Indiana and a number of the other States.

As a matter of fact, although there are so few elections of importance to be held this November, there has been a great amount of campaigning during the summer and fall for the elections which are to be held next year. The Republicans have a real fight on to retain control of the Senate in the 1926 elections, and candidates for re-election in many of the States have worked like beavers to strengthen their fences.

There is a promise of a real row in Pennsylvania next year, when Gov. Pinchot is expected to make the race for the Senatorial nomination against Senator George Wharton Pepper. The leadership of Secretary Mellon of the Treasury Department in Pennsylvania is at stake, for Gov. Pinchot has attacked Mr. Mellon's record again and again, principally on the dry issue.

While several vacancies have occurred in the Senate since the last Congress, they have been filled by appointment, except in the case of Wisconsin, where Robert M. La Follette Jr., a Progressive, Republican to fill his father's seat, swept aside the regular Republicans in an overwhelming victory. In North Dakota the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Ladd has not been filled and will not be filled until next year. Gov. Sorlie, Non-Partisan League, elected as a Republican, failed to call a special election, and he has not appointed because he has not the power to fill vacancies in the Senate.

The Republicans will have a working majority in the Senate at the coming session, notwithstanding the fact that a Progressive bloc exists which might desire the Administration at any time. The makeup of the Senate will be: 55 Republicans, 39 Democrats, one Farmer-Laborite and one vacancy—from North Dakota.—Charles S. Groves, in Boston Sunday Globe.
